City Officials Sworn In At Special Meeting

Mayor Cook Appoints Committees For Term

At a special meeting of the Town Council of the town of Klemme held last Saturday evening, all of the city officials for the coming two years were sworn in.

Serving as Mayor for a second term is V. A. Cook. A. R. Arnold is again Town Clerk, and Councilmen Henry Buseman, Frank Schulz and Roy Schaefer are adding two more years to the length of their service. Martin Barz, who was a member of the Council last term, is serving as Treasurer. Two new Councilmen are W. F. Pavey and Byrnes Lemke.

In addition to swearing in the city officials, committees and committee chairmen were also appointed by Mayor Cook. Following is a list of the various committees, committee chairman and members:

Parks and Sidewalks: Frank Schulz, Chairman; W. F. Pavey, and Byrnes Lemke.

Public Safety, Fire Department: Roy Schaefer, Chairman; Frank Schulz and Henry Buseman.

Streets, Alleys, Lights: W. F. Pavey, Chairman; Frank Schulz and Roy Schaefer.

Finance and Public Notes: Byrnes Lemke, Chairman; Frank Schulz and W. F. Pavey.

Sewer and Water: Roy Schaefer, Chairman; Byrnes Lemke and Henry Buseman.

Dr. A. H. Dulmes was appointed Public Health Officer.

These men give of their time, for very slight renumeration, in order that our town may be run in an orderly and efficient manner, and are deserving of all the cooperation they can possibly be given.

To Repair County Home

Hancock County Supervisors Monday granted a contract to the General Building Improvement Company of Mason City for waterproofing and repairing the Hancock County Home. The estimated cost of the project is approximately $2870. Work on the project will get under way when weather conditions permit.

Merten Resigns As County Engineer

Served County for Past 35 Years

Hancock County Engineer Charles F. Merten has resigned his position as County Engineer effective February 1st, 1954, after having served in that capacity for the past 35 years with the exception of time spent in the service of his country during World War II. Thus Mr. Merten has the distinction of having served the people of Hancock county longer in public service than any other previous county official.

When Engineer Merten took office on January 1, 1919, less than 10% of the highways in the county were surfaced and these on flat grades. The only paving in the county was on the streets of Britt. During his tenure of office he has seen Hancock county emerge from the mud until at present several hard surfaced highways cross the county and every farm in the county now has access to market on a gravel surfaced or paved highway.

Engineer Merten was born on a farm in Liberty township on May 6, 1883, and was educated in the rural schools, Garner high school, Charles City college and graduated from Iowa State College in 1910. His first employment as an engineer was in the fall of 1910 when he was instrumentman for Drainage Engineer C. R. Wood on the construction of present Hancock County Drainage district No. 3 and 4. Merten later taught school and on February 1, 1911, joined the US Reclamation service at Sunnyside, Washington where he served as engineer. Later in 1911 he was appointed as surveyor, Bureau of Lands, Philippine Islands, and spent the next four years in the Islands. Living and working conditions were pleasant but the tropical sun and torrid heat caused Merten to return to Garner in May of 1915 and spent the next two and a half years as a drainage engineer on various projects in Hancock and Winnebago counties.

Shortly after the opening of hostilities in World War 1, Merten applied for and received a commission in the U. S. Army and was ordered to report for duty on October 1, 1917, as a first lieutenant in the U. S. Army Engineer Corps. He was discharged in December of 1918 and remained active in the reserve and was recalled to service in World War II with a commission as major. He still is a member of the reserve on an inactive status.

In June 1918, Mr. Merten and Zora Mitchell were married and have made their home in Garner since that time. Mr. and Mrs. have always taken an active interest in church, civic and community affairs. Mr. Merten is a member of the First Methodist Church in Garner, a charter member of Gifford Post of the American Legion, which he served two years as adjutant and one year as commander. He is a member and past president of the Garner Lions Club, is a member of the Garner Library Board and has served on various other boards and committees. His sound and mature judgment is often sought by various groups.

Merten recalls the days when all highway construction was done by horse drawn equipment and is a great believer in keeping up with constant progress to meet the demands of highway traffic. Improvement in equipment and methods have resulted in lowering the cost of moving dirt today is no more than it was in 1919 with cheap labor and horses.

Merten's duties will be assumed by Charles Paulson, a former Garnerite, who began his duties on January 1st and served a number of years as assistant engineer in Hamilton County.

Mr. and Mrs. Merten will continue to reside in Garner where Mr. Merten intends to follow his profession on a semi-retired basis doing drainage and private engineering.

Following the completion of the annual road report for 1953, Mr. and Mrs. Merten plan to take an extended vacation in the southland. Hancock County citizens wish Mr. and Mrs. Merten well, following Mr. Merten's long period of service and echo the chorus, "Well Done Thou Good and Faithful Servant."

Joins Marines

Dean Burgess left on December 28 for Des Moines where he took his pre-induction physical and was sworn in as a marine. He is now stationed at San Diego, California, where, he is going through his training.

Final Boundaries Set On School Proposal

73 Sections Included In Area To Be Voted On In Near Future

The second hearing on the proposed Klemme Community School District, which was held at the court house at Garner Monday evening, brought forth some few objectors, but made little difference in the county board's final decision as to the establishment of boundaries. Originally planned to be made up of 73 sections, the plan will go to the voters with just that many sections included.

Since the proposal was first brought to the attention of the public, several changes in the boundaries have been made as the county board tried to take into consideration the wishes of the people. However, by giving up some territory in one place and taking in some in another place, the district has been kept at the size originally intended.

Date for the election on the proposal has not as yet been set, but information available indicates that voting will be done in the very near future. At that time each affected school district within the boundaries of the proposal will vote separately, and a simple majority is all that will be required to bring the individual districts into the proposal. But in order for the district to be formed, 75% of the districts included must vote favorly.

It is felt, however, by advocates of the proposed "Klemme Community School District", that the large majority of the voters within the district who signed the original petition, will vote as they signed and make the proposed district an actuality.

Polio Drive Now Underway In County

The annual "March of Dimes" campaign for polio funds started in Hancock county this week and Chairman Joe Osman of Britt released the list of township chairmen who are heading the drive in each area.

The goal for the county is $10,000.

Township and town chairmen are: Mrs. Ed Malek, Duncan and Garfield; Rev. L. W. Heiderman, Concord; Mrs. Ray Doughan, Boone; Mrs. Clarence Horstman, Erin; Mrs. Kenneth Schultz, Liberty.

Rev. Vernon Jaberg, Ell; Robert Schroeder, Magor; Mrs. Wendall Johnson, Amsterdam; Mrs. W. G. Hauge, Twin Lakes; Mrs. Amos Hanson, Avery.

Clarence Gorman, Britt township; Rev. Norman Langholtz, Corwith; Mrs. LaVerne Stewart, Crystal Lake and Crystal; Mrs. Don Flood, Garner.

Mrs. Amos Hanson, Goodell; Everett Sheets, Hutchins and Orthel; Mrs. Clarence Fosen, Kanawha; Mr. Helen Stille, Klemme; Martin Bleich, Miller and Ellington.

Mrs. Martin Smith, Woden; Mrs. Martin Smith, Bingham.

The March of Dimes continues through January.

Social Welfare Board

Mrs. Don C. Roe of Garner and Supervisors Clinton D. Daniels and Sam Barber were appointed as members of the Hancock county board of social welfare at the regular meeting of the board on Saturday. Supervisor Daniels succeeds C. A. Bird of Woden, who served on the board last year. Edith Elling is the director of Social Welfare in the county and Maxine Panosh is her office assistant. The board will meet shortly to organize for the year.

Claims Allowed

Hancock County supervisors Monday allowed claims on the Domestic animal fund of the county in the sum of $4929.50. County Auditor Schoneman advises that there are insufficient funds in the Domestic Animal fund to pay the claims in full and the claims allowed will be paid on a prorated basis of approximately 75%. Claims on the fund can only be paid from this fund which is created by dog licenses collected annually.

Bounties for 1954

Hancock County supervisors schedule of bounty to be paid during the year of 1954. Fox, $2.00; Groundhog, 25c; Crow, 10c; Pocket Gopher, 10c; Wolf, $10.00 and Wolf cub, $5.00.

NOTICE

Due to the death of the mother of Mrs. Trevett, the D & H Supermarket will be closed from 12 noon until 6:00 p. m. on Saturday, December 9.

Shamrocks Lose Thriller To Conference Foe

Both Boys and Girls Suffer Defeats At Hands of Dows Cagers

After a lay-off of nearly two weeks, the Klemme Shamrocks and Shamrockettes went back to the basketball wars Tuesday evening, meeting Dows on the local floor in North Star Conference competition.

In the curtain raiser, the Shamrockettes found the Dows girls too tough to handle and went down in defeat by a score of 53 to 26. The boys saw a much closer margin, however, and the two teams battled to the final gun with the game ending 54 to 52 in favor of Dows.

The Dows girls took command at the opening whistle and were never in danger, leading 39 to 18 at the half. Carol Bridges led the scoring for the game as she banged in 23 of the Shamrockettes' 26 points. Krietlow and D. Johnson handled most of the Dows scoring with 21 and 17 points, respectively.

The boys game saw the Dows cagers take an early lead of 12 to 3, but they were unable to maintain this margin. By half time the Shamrocks were still trailing by a score of 29 to 22, but the third quarter saw a big change.

After the half time intermission, the locals switched from their zone defense to a man-to-man pressing type of defense. Changing tactics slowed the Dows offense and good shooting put the Shamrocks on the long end of a 47 to 43 score by the end of the third quarter. They managed to hold onto it for half of the last period, but when Dows came to life again and in the final minutes forged ahead.

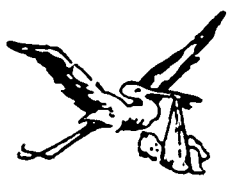
The Shamrocks were still fighting at the final gun, but time ran out on them, and they had to suffer another 2-point defeat. Their won and lost record is lopsided on the lost side. but all but two of these losses have been by not more than three points. The only team that has beaten them by more than this three-point margin is Fertile. The Indians handed them one 11-point and one 9-point defeat.

Leading the scoring for the Shamrocks was Graydon Barz. He hit for 18 points, while Terhufen got 13. Brannick of Dows was high for the game with 19 points, while his team mate, Meyer, got 17.

COMING GAMES

This Friday night the LuVerne boys and girls will be here for non-conference games with the Shamrocks and Shamrockettes, and next Tuesday the local cagers will journey to Ventura for more conference action.

Stork Club



Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Christians are the parents of a six pound, four ounce baby girl born at their home east of Klemme on December 24. The little girl has been named Jacqueline Rae. She is the second child for Mr. and Mrs. Christians, the other being a boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnett Waddingham of Clear Lake are the parents of a seven pound, six ounce son, Steven Ray, born December 29 at Mercy Hospital in Mason City. Steven has four brothers and one sister.

Miss Iowa Helps

Miss Iowa, Constance Mae Ver Hoef of Sheldon, adds her contribution to the 1954 March of Dimes. More support than ever before is needed in the current drive because of the costs of the new Polio Prevention Program of stepped-up gamma globulin supplies and massive testing of a polio vaccine during this year.

People living in the proposed Klemme Community School District are going to have a chance in the very near future to vote the district into being. Final boundaries have been set by the County Board of Education, and the 73 sections included in the proposal contain some 385 pupils pupils. This number is not too great to prohibit considerable individual attention for those who need it, and yet it is large enough to assure efficient and economical operation. A yes vote on this proposal will be a vote for good sound education at a minimum cost for future generation of the Klemme community.

Now that Christmas and New Year's holidays are past we can settle back to normal living. It always seems to us that through the month of December we live in a different world than we do the other 11 months of the year.

When John Chambers returns from Florida next spring it might be interesting to ask him how it feels to drive home and lock someone else's car in the garage. He had that experience on the afternoon of December 31. He came out of one of our barber shops, got into what he thought was his car, drove home and put it in the garage. Not until he was closing the doors did he realize that something was wrong. Closer examination prov- the car belonged to Rudy Endorf. John quickly drove it back to where he found it, got his own car and took it home. Guess he can be excused, though. He was in the process of getting ready to leave the next day for his southern trip. Must be some potent hair tonic these barbers use nowadays. We understand that Rudy isn't going to prefer any charges.

We hope that the Shamrocks are going to get two and three-point losses out of their systems pretty soon, and begin getting on the other side of the hump. The boys have a nice ball club, their games are always fine to watch, and they have plenty of fight. Just seems that things always break the wrong way at the right time. Maybe by tournament time they will be over the hump and headed in the right direction.

10 YEARS AGO—

A shower was held at the Elmer Schaefer home in Liberty Township Friday afternoon for Mrs. Melvin Schaefer, a recent bride. Refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. Schaefer, received a variety of nice gifts.

Mrs. John Clements received a package of souvenirs from her husband who is stationed in England. The package contained several British coins, a hand made locket and a cigarette lighter, items which John had made himself out of English coins.

Technician Corporal Elmer Langlitz arrived last Thursday to spend his first furlough in 2½ years, two years of which has been overseas service in the Caribean area, and is enjoying a visit with his parents who live west of Klemme.

One of the finest dairy herds in the county will be sold at public auction next Wednesday, December 12, when Emil Beier holds a closing out sale at his farm west of Klemme. Mr. Beier has been building up his herd since 1916 and has some of the highest producing cows in north Iowa.

20 YEARS AGO—

Lucille Stille visited her sister, Mrs. Arthur Carlson and husband near Clear Lake from Sunday until Tuesday evening. She also enjoyed a New Year's dinner at the Oscar Carlson home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Beier, Marcelle Blumer and Rev. Cook of Renwick were dinner guests Sunday at the Herman Gast home.

Ray Lange returned to his work as a cow tester near Garnavillo on Wednesday after having spent a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lange.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gruetzmacher and sons, Roger and James, left Tuesday for Iowa Falls for a visit with Mrs. Gruetzmacher's relatives after spending a few days visiting at the Frank Gruetzmacher home.

30 YEARS AGO—

We hear there will be a basketball game Friday night at the school gym between the business men on the north side of main street and those on the south side. Hurrah for the north side.

Worthy Usher, who has been visiting at the Tom Blank home over the holidays, returned to his home at Cedar Rapids, Tuesday.

Howard Wiles and Fred Arnold returned to Ames yesterday noon to take up college work again. The boys are taking a mechanical engineering course.

"Happy" Johnson and bride left last Friday for Spencer where they will begin housekeeping.

the Highway Story
IOWA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

Before the traffic record of 1953 fades completely into statistics, perhaps these incidents should be added for whatever small weight they may add to the balance between good and bad in the year.

A highway patrolman came up behind a car weaving dangerously from one side of the road to the other. Watching his chance, the patrolmen pulled up beside the car to get a look at the driver. He found a woman reading a letter as she drove down one the state's busy highways.

Students in driver education School doubtless will become classes in Pleasantville High well-trained adult drivers but may carry all their lives a touch of wistful dreaming in traffic.

They are learning to drive in Cadillac presented to the school for that purpose by a former student now living in Indiana.

And, speaking of teen-age drivers, there was the 18-year-old boy who had a record as an accident repeater and a listing as a poor insurance risk.

He won a teen-age safe driving contest with an exceptional display of skill. Which, we suppose, proves again the old theory that skill minus good attitude leaves nothing but a poor driver in the end.

On the credit side for the youngsters are the four teen-agers who stopped another on the highway and told him to start driving right, and the 17-year-old who voluntarily surrended his license after gently bumping the fender of another car.

He said he felt his vision was faulty and didn't want his license back until he had glasses.

And, finally, the woman of fashion who brought a large shopping bag to the courthouse to carry away her new license plates. The "new plates" are tags small enough to be carried in a coin purse.

Secretary Benson Lists Types of Loans Now Available to Farmers

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson today listed three types of loans made by the Farmers Home Administration that are particularly adapted to helping farmers and stockmen meet their credit needs for feed, seed, livestock, equipment, and other operating necessities. He said the agency also has other types of credit and services available for farmers whose needs cannot be adequately met by other local lenders.

Mr. Benson listed the regular farm operating loan program, the special livestock loans, and, in designated disaster areas, the disaster loan program.

Through the operating loan program, farmers may borrow to buy feed of all kinds and to meet other types of operating and capital expenses. Loans are made through local county Farmers Home Administration offices to farmers and stockmen whose proposed operations are on sound basis. The funds supplement but do not compete with other local credit. Operating loans may be on an annual basis for those on economic farm units who need only short term credit or for five to seven years where adjustments in the farming operations are needed to establish a successful system of farming Operating loans made for all purposes this year between July 1 and December 4 amounted to $55,971,000.

The special livestock loans were made available late last summer. The December 11 report by Administrator R. B. McLeaish of the Farmers Home Administration showed more than 2,100 farmers and stockmen had borrowed more than $21,719,000 in special livestock loans to buy feed and hay, obtain pasture facilities, replace livestock to normal levels, and to handle other needs brought on by drought conditions. The loans are restricted to established producers of cattle, sheep, and goats, and are to help farmers carry on normal livestock production rather than for expansion of operations. Most of the demand is coming from the drought-stricken Southwest although the loans are available throughout the country.

FHA Supervisor Irwin C. Christiansen maintains office hours between 11:00 A. M. and 12:00 noon, 2nd and 4th Wednesdays of each month at the Farm Bureau Office in Garner.

Other types of loans handled by Farmers Home Administration provide credit for buying and improving efficient farms and farm buildings.

Christmas At County Home Was Pleasant

Christmas 1953 was a very pleasant one for the folks at the Hancock county home according to a report from Mr. and Mrs. Herman Paul, steward and matron at the home. Hancock county citizens, church, civic and commercial groups were very kind in remembering the folks at the home and inmates at the home were recipients of many gifts and had numerous Christmas programs presented to them and carol singing was frequent. The management at the home and inmates are deeply appreciative of these many fine courtesies extended during the holiday season.

Groups an individuals visiting the home and remembering them with singing, service and gifts were: Women's Missionary Society of the Peace Reformed Church, Garner; Britt Commercial Club; Klemme Grandmother's Club; The Sunday School of the Britt Methodist Church; Britt Cub Scouts; Corwith Women's Club; The Happy Homemaker's Club, Garner; Jim Howie, Garner; Group of 4-H girls, Mrs Ray Durant, Leader; Britt Junior College Glee Club sponsored by the Kings Daughters of Britt; Peter Falada, Duncan; Christmas tree decorations from a Garner Variety Store; Madison Township Progressive Club; Garner Progressive Club; Garner Woman's Club; Garner Girl Scouts; Choir of First Lutheran Church, Britt; Garner Intermediate Girl Scouts, troop 123 and Brownie troops 119 and 122; Klemme Reformed Church choir; Kanawha Christian Reformed Church; Garner Rotary Club; Crystal Lake Lutheran Church choir; Youth of the American Baptist Church, Forest City; E. C. Buntenbach, Garner; Brueckner Drug Company, Garner; Carl H. Schneider, Garner; Mrs. Edna Thada, Klemme; Garner Bakery; Garner Chamber of Commerce, and two new TV sets, Garner Leader and Friends.

Regular Spreading Best For Handling Manure

There's no pat answer on just how to handle manure in the winter to best preserve its yield boosting value, says Paul Henderson, Hancock County Extension Director.

Whether you pile up the manure as you clean the buildings and stalls or whether you haul it to the fields right through the winter, there will be some loss of value, he points out. Some longtime experiments have shown a little advantage—in terms of greater crop yields—in hauling the manure to the fields as it accumulates in the winter.

There's some loss of nitrogen by either system of hauling, Henderson says. Urea in the liquid manure and the organic nitrogen compounds in the solid manure change to ammonia—as ammonia some nitrogen is lost by volatilization—and finally to nitrate, which is soluble is water. Water draining through the manure may leach out nitrate.

In the manure pile, leaching removes nitrate without a chance for recovery. But when it is leached in the field, it will go into the soil, provided there is not water runoff to carry it away.

Some loss of nitrogen that results when ammonia escapes can be prevented by distributing superphosphate through the manure pile is built up. However, Henderson adds, in typing up the ammonia, the superphosphate is changed to a form that is not as readily available to plants as it was in the original form. Some research shows that you save about enough nitrogen to pay for the reduced value of the phosphorus, and vice versa.

Some folks sprinkle about 50 pounds of superphosphate on top of each load of manure just before it goes to the field. Henderson says this doesn't offer much value in terms of saving nitrogen in the manure, but should be considered as a broadcast application of superphosphate for the soil. And a point to consider here, he adds, is that 8 tons of manure is about 400 pounds of superphosphate, which may be more than some soils need for most efficient returns from phosphate.

Jolly Workers Club

The Jolly Workers Club met at the home of Ruth Trampel for their December meeting. We had a pot luck dinner and gifts were exchanged. We all found out who our mystery friends had been for the year.

At our meeting we decided to send Billy Roths a box of candy as he is in the service. We also voted to send $1.00 to Penny's for Friendship, $2.00 to the Cheer Fund; $2.00 to Father Flannagan's Home; $2.00 to the County Home toward their TV set, and $5.00 to Margaret Oxley, of Corwith, who is a polio patient at Iowa City.

We sent cards to three shutins; Mrs. John Hippen, Mrs. Anna Janssen and Mrs. Chas. Barkema.

Our January meeting is to be at the home of Mildred Gruis with Reika Green as co-hostess.

All members are to bring their old cards to this meeting so they may be sent to Woodward Hospital for the children.

The Hancock County, Iowa, Board of Supervisors met in session on above captioned date pursuant to adjournment with Clarence Bird, Clint Daniels and S. A. Barber present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read.

On motion and second the application, bond and permit for a Class "B" beer permit for B & M Lunch at Hutchins, Iowa, is hereby approved.

Supervisor Barber is hereby appointed a committee to investigate and cause repairs to be made in D.D. No. 57, Main and D.D. No. 116 Main; Supervisor Bird in D.D. No 46-3.

Supervisor Clinton D. Daniels is hereby authorized to execute a contract in behalf of Hancock County, Iowa with Thorson, Thorson & Madson, architects of Forest City, Iowa and Waterloo, Iowa pertaining to a proposed Hancock County Courthouse Annex.

On motion and second the transfer of $5,000 00 from Emergency Fund to Poor Fund is hereby approved.

BEFORE THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF HANCOCK COUNTY, IOWA

This being the 21st day of December, 1953, at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, the date heretofore set for hearing on the petition of Carl Swanson and others for the establishment of sub-drainage district in Drainage Districts Nos. 1 and 2, and the proof of publication being on file, and the report of the Engineer and claims for damages having been filed by E. H. Olsen in the sum of $1,000.00, and claim of Jens Jensen having been filed in the sum of $500.00 for damages to the real estate described in his said claim, and the County Auditor having read the objections and claims for damages and the report of the Engineer, and after having reviewed the preliminary report of C. F. Merten, Engineer- wherein said Engineer finds that the proposed improvement will be conducive to public health, convenience, and welfare, and the benefits to the land included therein will be greater than the cost thereof, and the Board of Supervisors having fully considered the petition, objections and claims for damages.

Supervisor Bird read and offered the following

RESOLUTION

BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors acting for and on behalf of Drainage Districts Nos. 1 and 2 that C. F. Merten, Engineer, Charles J. Goll, and E. J. Steil, all of Garner, Iowa, they being persons in no manner interested in the establishment of said drainage district and having no real estate therein, be and they are appointed as a commission to examine the lands included within said drainage district or proposed district for the purpose of assessing damages to the lands of E. H. Olsen, Jens Jensen, and any others whose lands may be taken or damaged by reason of the proposed establishment, including any railways or highways, and that said commission shall file their report with the County Auditor on or before the 12th day of April, 1954; which said motion and resolution was offered by Supervisor Bird and seconded by Supervisor Barber who moved its adoption.

Whereupon Chairman Clint Daniels placed the motion upon said motion and resolution and upon call of the roll, the vote thereupon was as follows:

Ayes: Clarence Bird, S. A. Barber and Clint Daniels.

Nayes None.

Whereupon the Chairman declared the Resolution duly adopted, and the Auditor was directed to issue commission to the persons above named accordingly, and upon motion of Supervisor Bird, seconded by Supervisor Barber, further hearing upon the establishment of said drainage district was adjourned to April 12, 1954, at 1:00 o'clock P. M., at the Court House in Garner, Iowa.

Hancock County hog raisers can count on good hog prices until late summer, Francis A. Kutish, Iowa State College farm economist, predicted today. And the profits, after that, though less than this past fall, still should be fair.

Kutish based his prediction on the December 1 pig survey made by the United States Department of Agriculture. It showed that farmers had raised 9 percent fewer pigs this past fall than a year earlier. This means that hog marketings will continue well below a year ago all through the winter and spring.

But beginning in late summer, more hogs will be rolling to market. Farmers will raise about 6 percent more pigs this spring than a year earlier, if they follow through on their December 1 plans. Such an increase would have to be called moderate, however—in view of the current favorable hog prices—Kutish stresses.

Similar corn and hog prices relationships in the past have resulted in 15 to 20 percent boost in hog production. The big difference between 1954 and the past is wrapped up in one word. That's "uncertainty". Prices are good now. So farmers are inclined to take their profit by selling gilts for slaughter, rather than holding them for an uncertain hog market next fall. For they have a guarnteed market for their corn—the USDA corn loan.

While hog prices will not be as high next fall as they have been this past fall, the production boost planned by farmers is moderate enough to still make hog a paying proposition,, Kutish believes. Assuming no change in business, the planned production boost would pull hog prices about 10 percent below the levels of this past late summer and fall. We might get another 5 percent drop, due to a business slide-off.

It adds up to about 17-to-18 cent hogs at the bottom next fall, says Kutish. Of course, if business should slip faster than now expected the drop would be greater—perhaps to around 16 cents. One thing is certain, Kutish emphazises: It will pay Hancock County farmers to push hogs for early fall sale in 1954.

TOWN COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE TOWN COUNCIL OF THE TOWN OF KLEMME, IOWA

December 10, 1953

Meeting called to order by Mayor Cook, with Arnold, Buseman Schulz, Barz and Schaefer, members of the Council, present.

Purpose of the meeting is to confer with those signing a petition requesting the establishment of an alley adjacent to their property, said petition now being on file with the Town Clerk. A review of the petition was made and a letter containing certain objections prepared by Attorney B. C. Berge for his client Mrs. Emma Patet was read.

Attorney G. W. Templeton being present and representing the interests of the Town explained laws governing and legal procedures pertinent to matters referred to in the said petition.

No action was taken by the Council at this time, but at the suggestion of Mayor Cook, an informal agreement was reached that petitioners present should continue their efforts to effect a satisfactory arrangement for the establishment of an alley without involving the Town of Klemme, and themselves, in legal procedures which would be expensive.

Meeting adjourned.

Your Farm Problem

By Ezra Taft Benson
Secretary of Agriculture
Part II

Any effective solution of today's farm problem must provide methods for reducing our huge stockpile of agricultural commodities and at the same some accumulations.

Getting rid of these surpluses is only half of our problem. Even if we were able to bring them down to manageable proportions, we would soon acquire new hoards of wheat, corn, cotton and butter under the existing system of price supports.

We already have approximately $2.5 billions tied up in loans on farm commodities, in addition to an equal amount invested in goods which we own outright—$5 billions in all.

Our present program does not encourage the production shifts which are required to meet the changing market demands for various commodities.

Of course, we could destroy some of our surpluses. Remember the government's potato fiasco of a few years ago?

Or we might plow under every third row of cotton and kill little pigs. Remember the mid-1930's?

Actually, we would not even consider such wasteful practices.

We are attempting to move surplus food and fiber into foreign markets. World prices, however, are well below the figures at which we acquired these commodities under our price support operations. This means that we will be forced to take substantial losses on whatever we sell abroad.

At the same time we must avoid outright dumping, which would disrupt normal trade channels and bring down upon us the wrath of other friendly countries.

There are these other alternatives: We can make a real effort to move surpluses out of warehouses and into stomachs by promoting greater public consumption of some commodities. We can push forward in our research programs to uncover new uses for farm goods. We can throw our entire weight behind plans for expanding present foreign markets and finding new outlets overseas.

Such methods, while they will not produce results as quickly as dumping or destroying food, offer a far sounder approach to our basic problems.

Along these lines, I can report that our promotional campaign, undertaken with the meat industry and food stores, is producing real results. We are consuming beef this year at the rate of 75 pounds per person, the highest in our history.

Farm exports have turned upward since July 1, reflecting our emphasis upon expanding trade. Continued high employment at home, with national income at record levels, means a strong demand for farm goods in the United States.

Our population is growing at a rate of more than 2,000,000 per year, which means that by 1975 there will be 200,000,000 Americans. Our future farm problems may involve questions of shortages, rather than surpluses.

We cannot wait for an expanding populations to solve our immediate troubles, however. We need an interim program to encourage shifts to other crops. We must halt further build-ups of government stockpiles now.

Our urgent need is for a price support program which can be adjusted in terms of production and demand. One which will effectively reduce surpluses, with a minimum of government controls.

That is our immediate goal. Such a program will be offered to Congress by this Administration in January.

Supervisors Appoint

Hancock County Supervisors appointed Jake Helm of Woden as Hancock County Weed Commission for the year 1954. Carl Paulson of Garner was named as his assistant. The appointment was made Saturday at the regular January session of the board.

The board also appointed the Britt News Tribune, the Garner Leader and Signal, The Klemme Times and The Kanawha Reporter as official newspapers for the year 1954. The two last named papers will serve jointly as the third official newspaper and divide the fees of official publications.

Assessors Begin Listing Property

Homestead Credit and Military Exemption Applications Explained

The 1954 personal assessment got under way on January 4th with Field assessors J. B. Haan, of Crystal Township, E. H. Olsen of Britt and D. J. LaBounty of Kanawha listing property in Ellington township. The fieldmen received their instructions on Monday December 29 and supplies were issued.

Rural taxpayers this year again have four options from which to choose. Blanks have been mailed to each rural taxpayer and they make their return to the assessor's office by mail, they may appear at any of the places designated at the bottom of this item, they may have the assessor call and in this case the office should be notifed promptly, or they may call at the assessor's office in Garner.

Field assessors will call on urban taxpayers as soon as rural assessments have been completed.

Assessments are made on 60% of actual value. A property schedule has been formulated by a committee selected by the Iowa State Association of assesors and approved by the State Tax Commission, which schedule is furnished to all assessors and fieldmen and is to be used as a guide in making assessments but assessors are cautioned to use good common sense judgment in listing of personal property.

Application for homestead tax credit must be made with the assessor on or before July 1st of each year and evidence of ownership must be presented to the assessor. In any case property is purchased on contract, the contract must be recorded and show at least 10% of the purchase price paid at the time of application.

Military service exemptions are made with the county auditor and must also be made prior to July 1st. Once these have been made, however, it isn't necessary that they be made again but applicants should notify the County auditor or assessor if the property on which exemption is claimed in one taxing district, or if the class or kind of property is changed or additional property added.

Dog license applications must also be made with the County auditor with the field assessors and the assessors office accepting applications to facilitate the licensing of dogs by the County Auditor. Fees on dogs in 1954 are $1.50 for each male and $4.00 for each female in townships and in towns having no city license. In towns having a city license the county licenses is $1.00 for each male and $3.00 for each female.

The method of assessment used in Hancock county for the past six years is growing in popularity over the state and many additional counties are using the system. Some counties still employ a fieldman in each town and township. One of the difficult tasks the field assessor has is to catch many of the taxpayers at home and thus dates for meeting with field assessors has been provided in each townhip at which time both assessor and taxpayer are aware that the assessment can be completed.

In addition to fieldmen employed for the 1954 personal property assessment, three people will be on duty at the assessor's office, Assessor Fred C. Missal, Assistant Gus Pappas and Iola Blumer. All work on assessments must be completed early in April so that recapitulations can be made on all taxing districts for the County Board of Review which will convene on the first Monday in May and sit from day to day until the task of Reviewing all property assessed is completed. A school of instruction for the board of review will be held by the State Tax Commission probably sometime in the month of March.

Listed below are the dates and places where fieldmen will be available to assist taxpayers out in the nearby rural areas.

Dates of Field Assessment in Rural Areas: (Hours - 9 A. M. to 4 P. M.)

January 18 Avery Twp. (South Half) Town Hall in Goodell.

January 19 Avery Twp. (North Half) Fire-Station in Klemme.

January 20 Twin Lake Twp. (North Half) Fire Station in Klemme.

January 21 Twin Lake Twp. (South-half) Town Hall in Goodell.

February 3 & 4 Liberty Twp. Courthouse in Garner.

February 5 & 6 Ell Twp. Courthouse in Garner.

Are the results of cancer studies on animals applicable to human beings?

No, not directly; but they do serve to sort out ideas and theories that may prove useful from those that have no merit or may actually be harmful. It has long been common practice for investigators to test new drugs on animals to get some idea of dosage and possible unpleasant or dangerous side actions before they are given to human beings. In the present concentrated search for a drug to kill cancer or at least stop its growth, tumor-bearing animals are essential in screening preparations, the chemical nature of which suggests that they may be useful. Newer operative procedures are also frequently perfected on the larger animals in order to reduce the risk when employed on humans.

In fields such as the inheritance of cancer, most of our valid information has been obtained by selective animal breeding in animals with short life cycles. It has been possible to breed animals practically all of which develop cancer of a certain organ, and others that are practically immune to the same tumor. While such experiments demonstrate that there is a hereditary factor in cancer development, the results have little or no meaning in human cancer since there are no races so inbred as are those special strains of mice or rats.

Is there any known serum cure for cancer?

No, and it appears improbable that one will ever be developed. It is quite definite that cancer is not caused by a germ although there is still a chance that the disease, or at least some of its forms, may be due to a virus. Should the latter prove correct, the search for a protective or curative serum would stand a good chance of being successful. The "serums" that have been exploited until now have been disappointing, even though some of them have been developed by reputable physicians and scientists. Those advertised by quacks are useless.

For answers to cancer questions write American Cancer Society, Mason City.

A lot of farm accidents could be prevented if farmers were as concerned about good housekeeping in their barns as their wives are about the appearance of their homes.

The Klemme Times

For Good Health, High Spirits—

Be a Weight-Watcher

Keeping your weight tuned to the right place on your bathroom scales is one of the biggest boosts you can give your health and happiness. More than good diet is involved. Your weight and looking-glass score also depend on proper exercise, your interests, hobbies, posture and the way you dress.

Don't shatter your New Year's resolution to shed extra weight. If you keep that mighty resolution, you'll work wonders in your health, your happiness and the figure that confronts you in your full-length mirror.

You have lots of company if you're overweight, because 40 percent of Iowa homemakers over 30 weigh too much, according to a recent survey conducted by the Iowa Agricultural Station. But don't let that lull you into a false sense of seurity.

Health Is At Stake

Excess weight is a definite health hazard, according to Iowa State College extension nutritionists. It put an extra burden on the heart. In fact, for every 5 pounds of weight you gain, your heart has to pump blood through 3 miles of extra blood vessels. Overweight people are also more susceptible to gall bladder trouble, diabetes and complications following surgery. And their death rate is higher, at any given age, than among folks of normal weight.

Rewards of Normal Weight

But let's look at the other side of the ledger and see what the bright "rewards" of normal weight can be.

When you eat well and weigh what you should, you have a longer life expectancy, are less susceptible to the diseases mentioned above; have a better chance for a normal, uncomplicated pregnancy and are also a good surgical risk. You're not as apt to be plagued with foot trouble, will be more agile and active.. Because you'll have a well-proportioned figure, you'll be buying or making infinitely more attractive clothes and at less cost.

Seven Steps

Does it sound worth striving for? Then here are seven steps that may help you on your way.

(1) Consult your doctor. Let him help you decide how much you need to lose. (2) Follow, with his help, a safe and sensible diet. (3) Set a goal for yourself —normal weight by a certain date. Don't try to lose more than 1½ or 2 pounds a week. (4) Take up an interesting hobby or activity as a diversion for eating and for "snacking" between meals. (5) Interest some of your friends in enlisting for the battle of the bulge. It'll be easier if a group of you fight the battle together. (6) Stay as active as possible at work and play. (7) Work toward good posture and study up on the clothing styles that will look best on the "new you".

Unexpected Help

If you're within the WOI-TV viewing area, you're due for some unexpected help in the form of a program starting on January 7. "Weight Watchers TV", which has a slimmer you as its goal, will be carried each Thursday at 3 p. m. on the "Your Home Hour" program. The series will be concluded April 15.

With the idea that there's safety and determination in numbers, homemakers in many counties are organizing to view, discuss and take action on the programs together. Contact your own county extension home economist, whose office is located in your county seat town, if you wish to join one of these organized groups of weight watchers.

Auxilary Reports On Christmas Activities

Doris Back entertained the American Legion Auxilary in her home Tuesday, Jan. 5, with Neva Hartzell assisting her.

Cora Schaefer, president, presided over a list of new books purchased by the Auxilary for the Klemme Public Library. Sounds like some good reading!

Several letters of thanks for the Christmas packages sent to our servicemen were read.

Lydia Bock is to send a package to "our" boy at Woodward for January.

We are happy to report that nearly 2,000 Butternut Coffee strips were sent in at Christmas time. We wish to thank the Jolly Workers Club, the Klemme stores and all others who helped in the collection of the strips. We hope you will start saving your Butternut strips now for the 1954 project.

At the December meeting, held at the home of Ann Pavey, the rehabilitation chairman, Margaret Thomas, reported that $12.00 worth of Christmas gifts were sent to the Clinton Hospital. Cora Schaefer sent the package to Billy Joe at Woodward. Everyone brought homemade candies and cookies for lunch and to finish packing the boxes for our servicemen and some other folks in the community.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Leafy Coobs with Mary Ahrenkiel as assisting hostess.

Pauls Re-appointed

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Paul were re-appointed Steward and Matron at the Hancock County home for the year of 1954. The appointment was made by the Hancock County supervisors at the annual meeting on Monday.

GOT HIS DEER

To prove that deer hunting is not a sport strictly for young folks, Dr. H. Frank Givens of West Bend went out during the season, and bagged a 200-pound doe. Dr. Givens is 81.

Protect Freezer Foods During Power Failure

Along with winter storms, ice and high winds comes the possibility of power failure and danger to foods in freezer storage. Most home freezers full of food can keep a safe temperature for about 48 hours if you keep the door closed, says Jewel Graham, Iowa State College extension nutritionist. If power is off for any longer period, plan on using dry ice to further safeguard foods. You can sometimes buy dry ice from a local ice cream firm, but you'd better find out in advance where a supply is available.

Use gloves, such as heavy work gloves, to protect your hands when you use dry ice, Miss Graham cautions. Put large cakes of the ice in two or three different sections of your freezer for most efficient use of its cold.

It will help to insulate the freezer, too, if you cover it with blankets. But be sure to remove them just as soon as the power comes on again.

VANDALS

Ice-skating at Red Oak was delayed a bit recently. The swimming pool was filled, for ice-skating, and vandals threw beer-bottles and other debris onto the partially-frozen ice.

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER · KLEMME, IOWA, JANUARY 13, 1954 · VOLUME 59 · NUMBER 4

County Tourney Will Begin Next Week At Garner

Shamrocks to Meet Crystal Lake In First Round Play

Next Wednesday night, January 20th will see the annual Hancock County boys' basketball tournament get underway. This year's tournament should be quite a scramble, with several teams strong enough to be contenders for the title. Among those whom we would concede a chance for the title are Garner, Britt, Klemme, and Woden . . . and we can't forget that when it comes tournament time, Crystal Lake is always tough. At any rate, there should be plenty of good games and excitement at this year's meet.

In the upper bracket, Corwith meets Hayfield at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, January 20, and Garner and Goodell tangle at 7:45. Then in the lower bracket Klemme and Crystal Lake get together at 9:00 on the same evening. Due to the fact that Woden drew a "Bye", the winner of this game will have to play Woden on the following evening. That means that in order to get into the finals, either Klemme or Crystal Lake would have to play three games while any of the other teams will get by with two. The first round game will be between Kanawha and Britt at 7:00 p. m. Thursday, with Woden taking on the winner of the Klemme-Crystal Lake game at 8:15 the same evening.

On Friday evening, the winner of the Corwith-Hayfield game will take on the winner of the Garner-Goodell fracas at 7:00 p. m. to see which team enters the finals from the upper bracket. At 8:15 either Klemme, Crystal Lake, or Woden will play the winner of the Kanawha-Britt game to decide who will be the finalist from the lower bracket.

Consolation and championship games will be at 7:00 p. m. and 8:15 p. m., respectively.

Music Mothers

The Music Mothers will meet in the High School library Wednesday January 20, at 2:00 p. m. All members are urged to be present.

Mrs. Don Bacon, Pres.

Mother of Mrs. Trevett Dies at Mason City

Mrs. Rose C. Tiedemann, 64, mother of Mrs. Howard Trevett, died at a Mason City hospital last Wednesday evening following an illness. She had lived in Mason City for 35 years.

Mrs. Tiedemann was born January 26, 1889 in Germany. She had been employed at the Mason City Tent and Awning Company for 27 years, was a member of the Mason City Grandmother's Club and the National Association of Power Engineers Auxiliary.

Funeral services were held at the Major Memorial Chapel at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, with the Rev. C. A. Hinz, pastor of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church of Mason City in charge.

Paulson Assumes Engineer Duties

Takes Over After Merten Resigns

Charles K. Paulson, 33, this week assumed his duties as County Engineer in Hancock County, having recently been appointed to succeed Charles F. Merten, who retired after 35 years of service.

Paulson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Paulson, was born at Dike on July 6, 1920, his parents later moving to Garner where his father owned and operated a blacksmith and machine shop. Charles attended school in Garner, graduating from high school in 1938. He was active in athletics and a member of the Garner football squad from 1934 to 1938.

He served in the infantry in World War II with the Seventh Division in the Pacific Theatre and held a commission as First Lieutenant. Following his discharge from service he attended Mason City Junior College for one year and then Iowa State College where he graduated as a civil engineer in March of 1950.

Since his graduation he has been assistant County Engineer in Hamilton County.

He married Josephine Kowalski of Clear Lake on February 17, 1942. The Paulsons are the parents of two sons, David, age 4 and Stephen, age 2. Mr. and Mrs. Paulson and family are presently living at Britt.

Klemme School Election Will Be February 8th

Action Started By Petition In October To Go Before Voters

February 8, 1954 is the date set for the election on the proposed "Klemme Community School District". The proposal which was put before the public last October 30th, met with almost unanimous approval as petitions were circulated among the electors of the various affected school districts.

Since that time two hearings concerning the proposal have been held by the county board, and although changes in the boundaries have been made in order that the wishes of land owners and tenants might be followed as closely as possible, still the final boundaries, as fixed by the county board, contain 73 sections. This amount of land and the amount of students contained in the area will make for an efficient and economical school.

Communities all around Klemme have been reorganizing their schools, and in nearly all cases, the reorganizations have been approved by a wide majority of the voters. In fact, the only plan that we know of that the voters have turned down, is the one at Algona. Some of these districts are not in as good a condition to reorganize as is the Klemme district, either.

Klemme has an A-1 school plant, is already servicing nearly all the area which is in the proposed district, and should have no building problem of any consequence in the near future.

The election date is February 8th, and in subsequent issues of The Times, we will have information as to the time the polls will be open, and the locations of the polling places for the various districts.

Plan to vote. If you don't vote and the election results don't suit you, you have forfeited your right to complain.

"March of Dimes" Funds Help Educate Professional Personnel

The fight against polio is carried on by many people on many fronts—and "March of Dimes" funds are one of the biggest sources of ammunition in the fight.

One vital front, not too often publicized, is education and training of professional medical personnel and social workers.

As in previous years, part of the funds raised in this month's "March of Dimes" will provide fellowships and scholarships to help highranking students initiate or continue studies which will increase their abilities to treat or handle cases including, but not limited to, polio patients.

The National Foundation has granted more than $600,000 for the training of medical social workers alone, who according to the Foundation "are as important in the care of the patient with infantile paralysis as they are with many other types of illness. There is a very real shortage of such trained workers."

Thus, "March of Dimes" funds are not only helping to train and educate personnel to aid polio victims, but are enlarging and enriching the nation's pool of medical talent with general benefit to all.

Four Inductees to Fill January Draft Call

A call has been made upon the Hancock County Local Board to select and deliver for induction four registrants on 18 January 1954. The following registrants have been selected to fill the call:

Lyle Emery Zeigler, Kanawha, Iowa; Joseph Clinton Davison, Britt, Iowa; Ronald Dean Nielsen, Britt, Iowa; and Gary Dean Volding, Forest City, Iowa.

With the exception of Zeigler, the call is made up entirely of volunteers.

THIRD

Manson now has a third- generation retail firm. George Foley and David O'Leary have purchased, from their fathers, a firm originally founded by Mr. Foley's grandfather in 1881.

Nomination Papers

The following Hancock County officials this week began to circulate nomination papers seeking re-election to their respective offices in 1954. L. M. Brower, Sheriff; Maynard Schoneman, County Auditor; Edith Sonquist, County Recorder; C. A. Bird, Supervisor; Clinton D. Daniels, supervisor and Doris Young, Clerk of the Court. All are Republicans and seeking nomination at the Primary election in June.

To Attend Meeting

Rev. and Mrs. Egeland will be leaving sometime on Friday for Buck Falls, Pennsylvania to attend the annual meeting of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church which will open on Monday evening and close on Saturday noon. The Egelands expect to return to Klemme on Friday, January 29, and hope to get to New York City and Washington D. C. for brief visits on the trip.

Shamrocks Split Pair As Girls Lose Two Games

LuVerne Falls 75 - 71; Ventura Wins 51 - 50

Basketball action the past week saw the Klemme Shamrocks hold on to down LuVerne in non-conference action by a score of 75 to 71 on the local floor last Friday night. Then in a conference game at Ventura, Tuesday night, they fell 51 to 50 in a game that was close all the way.

The Shamrockettes went down 50 to 45 before the attack of the LuVerne girls and then at Ventura, Tuesday night took it on the chin by a score of 63 to 31. Carol Bridges led the scoring for the local girls in both contests as she rang up 32 points against LuVerne and 15 points against Ventura.

In the game with LuVerne, four of the Shamrocks scored well, with Ridder leading the way with 21 points. Thiemann had 17, and Terhufen and Haefner each got 15. Henderson, a sophomore flash for LuVerne was high man for the game. He banged in 35 points for the best individual performance on the local floor this season.

The Shamrocks led by a wide margin throughout most of this game, but in the last quarter they let down and the LuVerne cagers almost caught them before the final horn sounded.

In the game with Ventura, Terhufen led the Shamrocks with 13 points, while Thiemann had 10 and Barz 9. Monson and Kutzner led Ventura with 17 and 16 points respectively.

NEXT ACTION

Friday night will see the Shamrocks tangle with Garner on the local floor. They will be looking for revenge for the two-point defeat suffered at the hands of Garner earlier in the season. The Little Shamrocks will take on the Garner reserves in the curtain raiser.

Next Tuesday night, both the boys and the girls will journey to Dows for conference games. Here again, the Shamrocks will be trying to avenge a two-point defeat.

Wednesday night, the Shamrocks start play in the tournament, so there is plenty of basketball ahead.

Stork Club

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Veldhouse are the parents of a six pound, fifteen ounce baby boy born at the Britt Memorial Hospital on Monday, January 4. The new arrival has been named Larry Lee and is the third child for Mr. and Mrs. Veldhouse, as they already had a boy and a girl in the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bachman are the parents of a nine pound, four ounce baby boy born January 11 at the Mercy Hospital in Mason City. He has not been named as yet but he is the second child for the Bachmans. The other child is a girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Weaver are the parents of a girl born Monday, January 11 at the Belmond Hospital. The new arrival weighed eight pounds and four ounces and is the fourth child for the Weavers. They now have two boys and two girls in their family.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Hummel are the parents of a girl born Thursday, January 7 at the Belmond Hospital. She weighed in at nine pounds, three and one fourth ounces and has been named Diane Faye. This is the first child for the Hummels.

Barbara Trevett Bride of Mason City Young Man

Annoucement is made of the marriage of Miss Barbara Trevett, daugther of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Trevett, and Loren Hohenfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Hohenfield of Mason City, which took place in the First Methodist Church in Mason City.

Dr. Lloyd A. Gustafson officiated. The couple was attended by the bridegroom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Albright of Clear Lake.

The bride wore a dusty rose suit with navy accessories and a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. Her corsage was of red roses. Mrs. Albright had a green suit with black accessories.

After a short trip, the couple are at home at 934 8th S. E. The bride is a graduate of Mason City High School and has been employed at the D and H Grocery at Klemme.

Skating Rink Hours

The skating rink west of the Reformed Church is now run according to a time schedule, and is supervised during open hours. The rink will be open on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday nights of each week, with the hours at 6:30 to 8:00 reserved for children up to the seventh grade. From 8:00 to 10:00, the rink will be open to those from the seventh grade on up.

Ulrich Hired

The Town Council met Monday evening, and among other business they hired Richard Ulrich as night marshal as well as custodian. Ulrich was hired as marshal due to the resignation of Richard Finders, and will draw additional pay to compensate for the additional time that must be put in.

Stroke Was Fatal At Age of 51

Funeral services were held Monday, January 11, from the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church for Mrs. Irving Haupt, 51, with Rev. Vernon E. Jaberg in charge.

Mrs. Haupt suffered a stroke and on Friday of last week passed away at Mercy Hospital in Mason City. She had been an active church worker and a 4-H leader, and her absence from the community will be deeply felt.

Interment was in the Ell Township Cemetery, and pall bearers were Henry Ward, Fred Pringnitz, Edgar Buss, William Brand, Albert Kehl, and Walter Lauster.

The Wellemeyer Funeral Service was in charge of the arrangements.

An obituary of Mrs. Haupt appears on page seven of this issue of The Times.

10 YEARS AGO—

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Thompson, Mrs. Edna Thada and Miss Avis Barz went to the Twin Cities, Sunday, to buy merchandise for Thada's Store. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson returned home Sunday evening, but Mrs. Thada and Miss Barz remained there for a couple of days.

Pvt. Lester Neuberger arrived in Klemme, Sunday morning, from Trenton, New Jersey, to enjoy a furlough visiting with his wife and daughter, and at the home of his mother, Mrs. Lewis Neuberger, and at the Frank Schulz home.

Mrs. Asa Arnold, who teaches the 5th grade of Roosevelt Grade School in Ames, came Friday evening for a visit over the week end at the F. A. Arnold home. Mrs. Arnold's husband, Sgt. Asa R. Arnold, is now stationed at Fort Dix, New Jersey.

The Methodist choir met at the John Chambers home south of town last Wednesday evening and after the rehearsal, Miss Thelma Chambers entertained them to an old fashioned taffy pull. Later Mrs. Chambers and Thelma served a nice lunch.

20 YEARS AGO—

Helen Lemke left Saturday for Sioux City after spending the past month visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Will Lemke.

Richard Ax has gone out of the portable feed grinding business and we understand he has sold his truck to Gilbert Jones of Belmond.

Miss Elaine Buntenbach had a birthday Monday and to help her celebrate the occasion she invited in Carmen Kluckhohn and Emily Paul for dinner that evening.

Miss Agnes Galbreth spent Saturday evening and Sunday at Garner visiting with Miss Norma Barz.

30 YEARS AGO—

Ralph Elder, who is working in Mason City, thought he would drive to Klemme Saturday night. He did not get far before he was stuck in a drift and so went on back to Mason City.

Art Wellemeyer unwittingly furnished some good sport for the boys Monday. He rigged up a dummy dressed in clothing advertised in his sale bills and set the dummy out on the sidewalk. It made a fine target for snowballs and when the boys came home from school they at once attacked the innocent dummy. Art was once a kid himself and he took the joke good naturedly—and perhaps thought back a few years when he was a boy and snowball season was on.

Miss Lois Church returned to her home at Garner Friday after spending her vacation visiting at the home of her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Trees, south of town.

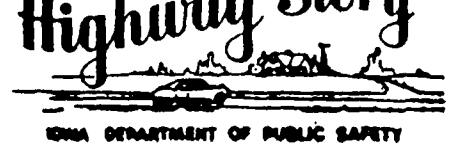
the Highway Story



IOWA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

Around the first of the year, a lighting engineer switched on some predictions for the automobile of the year 2054. Said the expert:

The car of the future will have headlamps ten times brighter than those today but, through some magic of polarization, they won't blind approaching drivers.

Infra-red lamps will keep windshields free of ice and snow and condensation. Instrument panels will be lighted by "electroluminescence". (This is an expert's word we don't dare look up. After all, some things are sacred.)

Also, there will be a swivel-type dome spotlight that will supply a concentrated beam which will not annoy the driver.

A small light on the left front door will shine down to illuminate the keyhole, give a white light to the front and a red light to the rear to serve as parking lights.

And there will be indicator lamps that will light up to show trouble, fluorescent lamps in the luggage compartment and over the engine, "black light" to illuminate fluorescent knobs and switches.

All these things are predicted for the well-lighted car of 100 years from now. But, please, Mr. Expert, may we have just one more lamp and may we have it pretty quick?

The lamp we want is one that goes on in the mind of the driver whenever the dark shadows of traffic-savagery creep in. Unless we have it soon, few will be brave enough to drive that brilliant car of tomorrow.

Divorces Decline

Marriage licenses issued in Hancock County during the year 1953 totaled 90, exactly the same number as were issued in 1952, according to a report released by Doris Young, Clerk of the District Court. Divorces dropped sharply in 1953 with five decrees granted as against 14 for the same period in 1952.

When Mrs. C. O. Moen removed her overshoes recently, she dislocated her shoulder.

Saving Corn Cobs

Cousin Ed shelled corn last week. Two trucks were loading from the sheller — one for corn, the other for cobs.

Reminded me of when Ed first started saving corncobs — his neighbors thought he was crazy. Then they saw the checks he got. Now they all sell their cobs. In fact, cobs are big business today, are used for everything from nylon to plastics.

Sometimes new ideas like that are hard for people to understand. They get prejudiced, or just plain stubborn — like one neighbor who put off using a tractor for eight years.

But in most things, we Iowans are pretty open-minded and proud of it. That goes for everything from our readiness to adopt better farm practices, to our right to choose between a good cup of coffee and a temperate glass of beer.

In a great state like this, there's a place for all kinds of ideas, tastes, opinions, and preferences. That's what makes it such a wonderful place to live. Open-mindedness.

Editorial

After almost two weeks of grand and glorious vacation we are now back at the old grind. Our thoughts may still be quite a ways away and at times we may stare out into space, but we are back at the books and as busy as bees! There's a happy and mischievous look on the faces of my schoolmates as they intimately discuss their facinating experience of the holidays.

"What did you get for Christmas?" and "What did you do New Year's Eve?" are common questions. There's a showing of new clothes and jewelry around school—even diamonds. Santa Claus— or somebody really must have been good this year. (See Feature Article for further details) So, now, that the gay parties, elaborate meals, gifts and festivities are over for another year, we can sink back into our familiar routine with enough happy memories to last until next year. In the meantime, though, we can also get rested up, save our money, do shopping, etc. But it's worth it! Hope you had as much fun as we did!

Eighth Grade News

We have a new set of books in our library, donated by the eighth grade.

In history we are studying about great depressions following war periods.

Basic skills tests next Monday and Tuesday, also our semester test will be given this Friday.

January 16, next Saturday, at 1:00 p. m. the Corwith boys and girls will be here to play a game with us.

The junior high played a basketball game Wednesday with Hayfield. The score for the girls was 22 to 23 in favor of Klemme. The boy's score went 46 to 34 in favor of Hayfield. Joyce Lassahn made 11 points for the girls. Roger Olson made 12 for the boys. Orfalinda played on exhaustive game defensively for the Hayfield girls.

Feature Article

This week we are having a list of the Christmas gifts that the steady in school received from their light-o-loves.

Lois Helps: Diamond.

Janice Swanson: Hand tooled shoulder bag.

Lois Jacobs: Hand tooled shoulder bag.

Daisy Schaefer: Clock radio.

Darlene Roul: 45 R. P. M. Record player.

Jo Ann Burgess: Sweater.

Jo Ann Bacon: Necklace, bracelet, and earrings.

Eleanor Priebe: Necklace and earrings.

Gracka Gerardi: Necklace, earrings and bracelet.

Carol Bridges: Necklace, earrings, and bracelet.

Ronnie Karsjens: White orlon shirt.

Shirley Barz: Necklace and earrings.

Graydon Barz: Sweater.

Donnie Thiemann: Shirt.

Noel Egeland: Fur lined leather gloves.

Joan Lemke: Dresser Set.

Winola Zwald: Necklace, earrings and bracelet.

Beverly Christiance: Musical jewelry box and earrings.

Lee Gruis: Sweater.

Pete Hummel: A fancy neck scarf.

Seventh Grade News

Believe it or not—everyone seemed rather glad to be back in school after a well-enjoyed vacation.

Since semester tests are on the program for this week, we are trying to review a little as well as cover some new work.

The girls are learning to knit and work on it during their weekly activity period. The boys are using the time to try their skill on scenery painting.

We just finished a science unit on rocks and took a test over it.

"You see that bird every day, and you don't know its name?"

"Well, he sees me every day, and he doesn't know mine."

Music News

Once again we are back at the old grind. For those who were fortunate enough to sleep late during vacation, they now find it quite hard to get up in time for that 8:30 band.

While we were home for vacation, the band coop received a new coat of varnish on the floor. It looks very nice.

On Monday quite a number of new pieces were on our stands. Some of them were, "Stars and Stripes Forever March", "The Worchester Overture", and a new march which if I heard right was composed by Mr. Whitford. There is a rumor that Art is composing a march also. We really have some music maestros, don't you think?

On Monday morning we heard the record "The Stormy Scene", from William Tells Overture. It proved quite stormy!

Cecil sure has gone overboard for that new skirt Gracka is wearing. According to Cecil, every girl in school should wear them.

About the only steady couples on our famous "Sidewalk to Band" are Noel and Shirley, Carol and Graydon. I don't believe Shirley is in band, but she always makes sure Noel gets there on time.

Oh, by the way, Mr. Whitford has a new stool. It's a high gray stool with a nice foot rest. He can really watch over us now.

Year Books

Sales for the 1954 Klemme High School Year Book will begin next Monday, January 18. The cost of the 1954 year book is $2.00, which is payable in advance. Reserve your copy as soon as possible for we have ordered a limited supply. Monday, January 18, ask any senior about reserving your book. Pay your money to the saleman and ask for a receipt which will show that you have your 1954 Klemme High School Year Book on reserve for you. The sale of year books will last for one week only, closing Friday, January 22.

Freshman News

My name is Carlson. I go to the KHS of Klemme (Knot Head Society of Klemme) which is a society for retarded knot-heads. They call us freshmen.

My conscience will not allow me to remain silent. I must tell the world the inside story of the KHS of Klemme.

English: Parts of speech.

Math: Solving equations by different methods and the like.

Science: Studying electricity, the dry cell, experiments and magnetism.

Home Ec: Cooking different varieties of eggs and making waffles.

Shop: Working on our projects as usual.

And there it is. I've said it and I'm glad. The inside story of KHS of Klemme.

Sixth Grade News

Christmas vacation seemed to be good for us. We came back ready for some good work. Right now we are busy getting in the mood for semester tests.

We are ready to begin a new unit of social studies and are planning a product map of Central Europe in connection with this unit.

Arithmetic is interesting right now. We are learning to multiply fractions and mixed numbers. Those mixed numbers are confusing.

Only nine dental cards have been returned this year.

? ? of the Week

What did you do New Year's Eve?

Berleen Bridges: We rode around to the different towns and came home and had a slumber party.

Tom Waddingham: Went to Garner to the first show and then to the midnight show. (Naturally he took Jo Ellen with him.)

Daisy Schaefer: Went to the play at the school house and then went to the Surf. More fun!

Janice Swanson: Went to Mason City and then we went to the Surf.

Lorraine Meyer: Stayed home and watched TV.

Joan Lemke: I baby sat.

Alan Neuberger: Went to a show. Then I went home about three hours later.

Kay Burke: Stayed home and watched TV.

Girls' Sports

Our first game after Christmas vacation was played here with Dows, Tuesday night, January 5. We were defeated with a score of 53 to 26. Carol Bridges led with 23 points for Klemme.

Fifth Grade News

With our Christmas vacation over, we find ourselves very busy with our school work. Last Friday we completed the unit, "Our Middle Atlantic States", in social studies with a test.

Eldon Nuehring returned his dental card. We now have eight cards returned. We hope the rest of the boys and girls will soon return theirs.

Before school our boys and girls are working on different hobbies. The boys are making model airplanes, cars, and ships. The girls are sewing.

Senior Interview

Eleanor Ann Priebe was born December 19, 1935 at Algona, Iowa. She has light brown hair and eyes and is five feet, five inches tall. Before moving to Klemme in her freshman year of high school, she lived on a farm about four miles southwest of Klemme and attended Twin Lake Number 1 School.

Eleanor's two main pastimes are sewing and listening to western and old time music. She says Slim Whitman and Hank Williams are her favorite singers and that "It's Been So Long" is her favorite song. The best movie she has ever seen was "Stalag 17", and Alan Ladd and Elizabeth Taylor are her favorite stars. Eleanor likes to eat fried chicken and chocolate ice cream. Coke is her favorite drink. Her pet peeve is people who think they're better than others.

In her sophomore year she was a school librarian. She was in the Junior Class Play and Vice President of the junior class, and this year is editor of the "Shamrock" and works in Mr. Andreae's office. Her future plans are to attend college, but she is otherwise undecided.

An interesting and unusual program will be presented at 12:40 on January 21 by Raymond G. Bogardus, Clay Sculptor.

A series of faces of famous men is created by Mr. Bogardus who uses about ninety pounds of clay for demonstration, and works entirely with bare hands. The faces are remarkable for their accuracy and for the speed with which they are created.

Interesting facts about clay and faces are brought out during the program, but as the program is designed for entertainment, anything of technical nature is carefully omitted.

Mr. Bogardus received his art training in Philadelphia and has presented his program before many of the leading clubs, colleges and schools in the eastern and central states. He is also well known for his pen and ink sketches and illsutrations.

This and That Around K. H. S. - -

It seems Jo Ellen and Tom just started going together and it is really getting to be pretty steady. Probably Tom will soon be missing a class ring and Jo will get one. Say, Jo, very personal, what happened to Doug Jones? Did he just floot out of the picture?

Have you seen Lois C. new partner, Clarence Johanas? He came to see her New Year's Eve, New Year's Day, Saturday afternoon and Sunday night Really quite steady right away, huh! Remember what you told Lois H?

Has that bus ride home from Rockwell blossomed into a new romance for Allan and Anita K? Another new couple was Denny and Leila. Tom and Jo Ellen (they're getting old and nearly steady by now). Naturally Carol and Ding, and Don and Jo Ann Bacon were there, too.

Does anyone know if Delwyn has gained a girl through Christmas vacation? I sure hope someone helps him learn the fundamentals of necking. We are getting tired of telling him. OOOH! That Delwyn.

We all had hopes up the night of the sophomore hayride. We thought that there would be some new romances, like Juda Stahl and Bob Larson. But, gee whiz! We sure got disappointed. How come, Bob?

I guess Robert Cavitt and Barbara Avery got tired of each other, for they've quit going together.

We heard that Bueford received a telephone call concerning Darlene E. Could this be a new romance in old Klemme High?

Janice S. and Gene W. are still being seen as a steady couple. True love is grand isn't it Gene? That's what Beverly C. and Pete, Larry and Sharlene S. think anyway.

Benny Harms hasn't been seen around lately. What's happened June? Is he two timing you?

County Nurse Budget

The Hancock County board of supervisors Monday approved the budget for the Hancock County Nurse for the ensuing year. The budget totals $4212 with the State to defray $633 and the county $3579 of the budget. The board was advised by Jeanne Strom, R. N. of Fort Dodge, State Department of Health Representative, that after July 1st, State supplemental aid will cease.

The board also approved the official bonds of Fred C. Missal, Assessor, and Drainage Engineer William Henschen on the preliminary survey on the establishment of lateral No. 8, Hancock County Drainage district No. 13, petitioned for by Nordahl Anderson et al.

W. S. C. S. Met

Regular meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service was held Thursday, January 7 in the Church Parlors. There were forty six members present.

Mrs. Robert Johnson had charge of devotions with Mrs. Dorance Day giving the lesson.

Lunch was served by the Esther Circle.

Spring Beover Season Set

In attempt to control damage by Iowa's booming beaver populations, the State Conservation Commission has announced a spring beaver season to extend from February 1, 1954 to March 15, 1954.

Many complaints have been received in recent years from farmers and landowners whose streams have been blocked by beaver dams, causing overflow ponds. During 1953 about a hundred such dams were destroyed by state area game managers and state conservation officers. In some areas beaver cutting has removed small trees to a serious extent.

LEGAL NOTICE

IN THE ADJOURNED MEETING OF THE COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION OF HANCOCK COUNTY, IOWA:

In the Matter of the KLEMME COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT of Hancock County, Iowa

FINAL ORDER RULING ON OBJECTIONS AND FIXING BOUNDARIES FOR THE PROPOSED SCHOOL CORPORATION.

BE IT REMEMBERED, that on the 30th day of October, 1953, a petition was filed with the County Superintendent of Schools of Hancock County, Iowa, signed by nine hundred eight qualified voters, which is more than one-third of the qualified voters residing within the proposed boundaries set forth in said petition as established by the affidavit thereto attached, said affidavit being signed by Ernest A. Gerardi, a qualified voter residing within such proposed boundaries, which affidavit shows the number of qualified electors in that part of the county included within the proposed boundaries, and, which petition asks that a reorganized school district to be named the KLEMME COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT of Klemme, Iowa, in Hancock County, State of Iowa, be established within and including the contiguous territory described and set forth in said petition. The said petition established that the Couny Superintendent of Schools of Hancock County, Iowa, is the proper official with whom such petition should be filed.

That within ten days after said petition was filed the County Superintendent of Schools of Hancock County, Iowa, did fix the 7th day of December A D., 1953, at 12:00 o'clock noon, as the final date for filing objections to the petition in the office of said County Superintendent and did give notice for at least ten days by one publication in the Klemme Times, a newspaper published within the proposed reorganized school district of Klemme, Hancock County, Iowa, in its issue of November 25, 1953, to all persons residing or owning land within the territory described in the petition or who would be injuriously affected by the change petitioned for, that all objections to the proposed reorganized school district must be in writing in the form of an affidavit and must be filed in the office of the County Superintendent of Schools of Hancock County, Iowa, at Garner, Iowa, before noon on the 7th day of December, 1953, the date fixed by said County Superintendent of Schools for hearing upon said objections.

That at the same time the County Superintendent of Schools of Hancock County, Iowa, fixed the 7th day of December, 1953, at the hour of 7:30 o'clock P. M. of said day, in the Courtroom at the Courthouse at Garner in Hancock County, Iowa, as the time and place of hearing on said objections, and a meeting of the County Board of Education of Hancock County, Iowa, having been called by the County Superintendent of Schools of Hancock County, Iowa, to act as a board for the hearing of said objections as provided by law.

That thereafter, the Hancock County Board of Education met at the time and place so fixed, the same being in the Courtroom in the County Courthouse at Garner, Iowa, at 7:30 o'clock P. M. on December 7, 1953, for the hearing of said objections. Objectors and interested persons were heard and after reviewing all objections and hearing all evidence in support thereof; and within five days after the conclusion of said hearing the board ruled upon objections and entered an order fixing boundaries for the proposed school corporation as, in its judgment, was for the best interests of all parties concerned, having due regard for the welfare of adjoining districts. The said boundaries were neither those petitioned for, nor those fixed by the county plan of Hancock County, Iowa, and thereupon the hearing was adjourned, as required by law, to the 4th day of January, 1954, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening of said day in the Courtroom of the Courthouse at Garner in Hancock County, Iowa.

The ruling upon objections and order fixing boundaries, above mentioned, was published in the Klemme Times, in the December 16, 1953, issue of said newspaper, and the County Superintendent of Schools of Hancock County, Iowa, gave notice for said adjourned hearing by one publication in the December 16, 1953, issue of said newspaper, as required by law, notifying all persons residing upon or owning lands within the territory described in said order fixing boundaries, or who would be injuriously affected thereby, that all objections to the esfablishment of the Klemme Community School District with boundaries as fixed in said order must be in writing in the form of an affidavit, and must be filed in the office of the County Superintendent of Schools of Hancock County, Iowa, not later than 12:00 o'clock noon of the 4th day of January, 1954, and of the adjourned hearing to be held in the Courtroom of the County Courthouse at Garner, Iowa, on the 4th day of January, 1954, at 7:30 P. M., to hear evidence and argument and to fix the boundaries for the proposed school corporation or dismiss the petition, which shall be final.

The tentative county plan of Hancock County, Iowa, was amended by the County Board of Education to conform to the boundaries fixed in said order of the Board pursuant to the request contained in the petition filed.

The adjourned meeting of the members of the County Board of Education of Hancock County, Iowa, for the hearing of objections, was held at the Courtroom in the County Courthouse in Garner, Iowa, commencing at 7:30 o'clock P. M., on the 4th day of January, 1954, and certain objections having been filed pursuant to said notice as follows, towit:

TWIN LAKE TOWNSHIP (Township 94 North, Range 24 West) Hancock County, Iowa:
Waneta M. Brass Out SW¼ of SW¼ Section 13, E 112 Acres of NE¼ Section 23;

Leonard Paca Out SE¼ Section 19, and E½ of SW¼ Section 19.

And now to-wit on the 4th day of January, 1954, the same being within five days after the concludsion of the adjourned hearing, the county board of education of Hancock County, Iowa, having made a careful review and investigation of the merits of all objections and having heard all persons who wished to be heard at such adjourned hearing, being fully advised in the premises and having due regard for the welfare of adjoining districts and having determined such boundary lines as will, in the judgment of the members of the board, establish the best possible reorganized school district the board does hereby rule on objections as follows:

RULING ON OBJECTIONS

1. That the objections of Joseph N. Menus, Wallace Gehrke; Phillip Neshiem; Roy W. Janssen and Flora Janssen; Joan Janssen and Merle C. Janssen; Wm. Janssen and Recka Janssen, Paul C. Veldhouse; Frank Paca and Leonard Paca; are sustained.

2. That the objections of Waneta M. Brass; Gerald Janssen and Ada Janssen; Fred Blank; Glenn W. Bier, Ardes Bier; Annie Van Buskirk, Loyd Van Buskirk, LeRoy Berhow; Harvey Harberts; Donald Haupt; Harold Cunningham and Marcella Cunningham; Owen L. Nuehring; Arthur Katter, Agent; Edwin H. Thiemann and Lillian Thiemann; are overruled.

3. That the written objection of John Watne was made as to the East Half (E½) of Section 24. He was present at the hearing and he stated it should have been the East Half (E½) of Section 15, Twin Lake Township, Hancock County, Iowa. His objections as to the East Half (E½) of Section 24 is overruled for the reason that he does not own and reside on said East Half (E½) of Section 24, and his objections as to the East Half (E½) of scetion 15 is hereby overruled.

FINAL ORDER FIXING BOUNDARIES

The Hancock County Board of Education does hereby finally determine and finally fix the boundaries of the Klemme Community School District, which conform to the amended Hancock County tentative plan of school district reorganization as follows to-wit: The perimeter of all the contiguous real property described as follows:

Obituary of Mrs. Irving Haupt

By Rev. Vernon E. Juberg

The sudden and unexpected departure of Mrs. Irving Haupt, nee Edith Haupt, is sincerely regretted and sorrowfully mourned by her family, loved ones and friends.

Mrs. Haupt or Edith as she was affectionately known was the daughter of Mr. Fred Haupt and Henrietta nee Priebe Haupt. She was born on November 16, 1902. As an infant she was received into the Christian Church through the sacrament of Holy Baptism administered by the Rev. A. Muehlmeier, Pastor of Immanuel Reformed Church of Klemme.

As a youth Mrs. Haupt attended the public schools of Klemme and later graduated from the Garner High School. She received advanced education and preparation as a teacher by attending the summer sessions of Iowa State Teachers College in Cedar Falls.

She was received into the fellowship of the church through the rite of Christian Confirmation by the Rev. William Thiel, at Immanuel Church of Klemme. She was confirmed on Good Friday, April 6, 1917.

On August 2, 1931, Miss Edith Haupt was united in Holy Marriage with Mr. Irving Haupt by the Rev. Mr. Kriete of Louisville, Kentucky. Mr. and Mrs. Haupt made their home on a farm south of Kanawha where they lived for a period of ten years and more recently have made their home in the vicinity of Klemme.

Mrs. Haupt was a very active and devoted member of Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church of Klemme. She served as a faithful teacher in the Sunday School, as church organist for a period of approximately ten years, as president of the Women's Guild, and last year was a teacher for the five week Daily Vacation Bible School. During the last year and a half she also served as a 4-H leader.

Mrs. Haupt had many and varied interests. She had an unusual interest in Bible History. This was manifest in the form of a Biblical History scrapbook. She was also a lover of beautiful flowers and poetry. She demonstrated an unselfish concern and regard for the aged and needy.

Mrs. Haupt suffered a stroke and was called to her eternal home on Friday, January 8, at 10:30 P. M. at Mercy Hospital in Mason City, having attained the age of 51 years, 1 month and 21 days.

Those who survive are her husband, Mr. Irving Haupt, one sister, Mrs. Bertha Schlei, two nephews, Mr. Dale Schlei of Klemme and Mr. Paul Schuldt of New York City, and one neice, Mrs. T. Dunmire nee Mable Schuldt of Titonka, Iowa. She is also survived by other more distant relatives and dear friends.

Mrs. Haupt was preceded in death by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haupt, and by one sister, Emile, commonly known as Mamie, Mrs. Herman Schuldt, and by one brother, Frederick, who died as a child.

EIGHTH

When little Nancy Rae Yearling was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Orville Yearling of New Hampton, she became the eighth daughter in the family.

SIXTIETH

At their farm home near LeMars, Mr. and Mrs. Elam Chapman recently observed their sixtieth wedding anniversary.

KILLED

A shotgun accident took the life of Kenneth Reese, 9, of near Lamoni. He was playing with a cousin when the gun discharged. They had believed it to be unloaded.

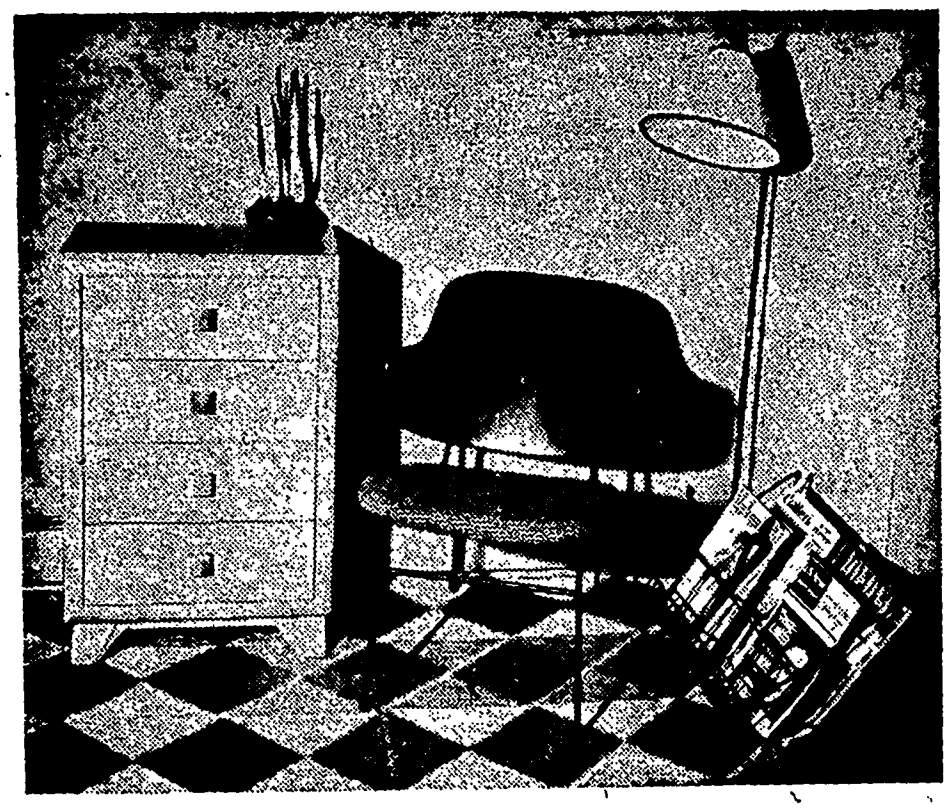
Consider Furniture, Pattern, Color—

Decorating a Small House



Much of today's furniture, in both modern and traditional styles, is designed to fit the limited space of a small house or apartment. It's small in scale, features a light-weight, up-off-the-floor look.

Whether you decorate your small house or apartment in the modern or traditional vein, you will find new furniture, fabrics and wallpapers a grand help. Small-scaled, versatile furniture and small-patterned wall coverings and fabrics make it easier than ever to achieve the illusion of more space, plus "double-living" from some areas.

FURNITURE CHOICE

Study the new furniture styles carefully in stores and magazines before you make your choices, advises Iowa State College Extension Home Furnishings Specialist Emelda Kunau. Chances are you'll plan to use regular small-in-scale pieces, a few dual purpose units, and some that can be stacked and combined in various ways. Many pieces are finished on all sides so they can be swung out into the room and used as space dividers.

Wrought iron, hidden base construction, blonded or bleached woods, glass and rattan help make possible the light-weight look. Upholstered pieces are less bulky through the use of foam rubber, lower backs and smaller over-all dimensions.

Versatility shows up in many ways. There are twin beds that can be converted to bunk beds for the smallest of bedrooms; sofa beds; chairs and serving tables on wheels for moving from one room to another on a moment's notice; clever extension tables and many others.

USE OF PATTERN

Small-patterned wallpaper or fabric is usually the best choice for a small room. And if you're new at the art of decorating, you'll find it safest to have only one dominant pattern in a room. Let that be your guide for color and repeat one of the hues in other areas of room.

New wallpapers feature a wide range of small-scaled designs, often two-color or tone-on-tone. There's less contrast of dark and light. There are provincial, informal or early American designs, as well as small abstract or geometric ones to use with modern furnishings. You can sometimes find drapery or slipcover fabrics that match these papers. And there are many lovely textured upholstery, slipcover and drapery fabrics in solid colors.

YOUR COLOR SCHEME

One of the best plans is to use two main colors and then a third color in small amounts for accent. Or use just two colors. Or work out an effective scheme with several different shades of one basic color. In general, the grayed, toned-down colors are most effective in small areas. But that doesn't mean you can't still use a bright dash of color or bold pattern for special emphasis in some part of your room.

The same color on your floors and walls tends to give a feeling of spaciousness. Woodwork the same color as the walls also helps give this effect by unifying the background.

Plain colored draperies also avoid "breaking up" a wall, making the room seem larger. If they match or tone in with your walls, they also seem to expand the wall space. Closely spaced vertical striped draperies can help too, by drawing the eye up and down instead of into the room. Simple floor length draperies are a good choice.

The busier your room and the more things you want it to provide space for, the more need there is for small pattern and quiet background colors to tie in together smoothly.

Building TODAY...

for Your Wonderful Electric TOMORROW!

A $38,000,000 PICTURE showing the POWER expressways over which millions of kilowatt hours will flow . . . assuring an ever more dependable supply of "on-the-spot" power to each Iowa community. It will mean you'll never have to worry about enough power for Iowa's "wonderful electric tomorrow."

ELECTRICITY
the family's greatest gift

Electricity enters into almost every phase of living today. It's one of the family's greatest gifts — because it does so many jobs so economically. Electricity is one of the few things that costs a family less today than it did before the war.

"SO LONG as there remains a single task being done by men and women which electricity could do as well, electricity must prepare to do it. Great days are ahead and electricity will have a great part to play."

These were the words of Thomas Edison, founder of the power industry and they are as true today as they were the day he said them.

Electricity does many more jobs today than just provide lighting. Who would have thought in 1900 that we'd cook with electricity? Use it to run washers, dryers, toasters, radios, even electric shavers? And electricity will be called upon to do many more jobs in the future, for who knows what the wonder-science of electronics has in store for us?

Not only will electricity do more jobs for you in your home, office and on the farm in the years to come, but more people, more schools, and more industries everywhere in Iowa will make increased demands on the companies that serve them.

Anticipating these increased demands for power, the eight major power companies of Iowa are cooperating with one another on the installation of a $38,000,000 system of high-voltage transmission lines called the "Iowa Grid" . . . for your electric future.

The Iowa Grid will form a network of power "expressways" for the movement of huge quantities of electric power between companies. It will mean that power can be fed to any section of the state from at least two directions. It will mean that no part of the state will ever be without all the power it needs. It will mean plenty of electric power for your "wonderful electric tomorrow."

ANSWERS YOUR QUESTIONS

Q. Can you put medicine for "colds" in drinking water?

A. Yes, Dr. Salsbury's Ar-Sulfa is a drinking water medicine that helps check sneezing, sniffling symptoms of poultry. Ar-Sulfa saves losses in egg profits caused by infectious coryza (often called a "cold"). Treat for 3 to 5 days. It is effective and economical. "Cold" symptoms usually disappear within 2 days. Keep Ar-Sulfa on hand.

Last Rites Monday For Robert Loock

Had Lived In This Vicinity For 66 Years

Funeral services were held at 2:00 p. m. Monday from the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church for Robert Loock, 82, with Rev. Vernon E. Jaberg in charge.

Mr. Loock had been in good health until Thursday, January 14, when he became ill. He was taken to the Belmond Hospital, where he passed away. He had lived in this vicinity for the past 66 years.

Interment was on the family lot in the Ell Township Cemetery at Klemme, and casket bearers for Mr. Loock were George Schoenwetter, Roy Schaefer, Alvin Bachman, Garland Brinkman, Herman Schmidt and Fred Schmidt.

Wellemeyer Funeral Service was in charge of arrangements for the service.

An obituary of Mr. Loock appears on page seven of this issue of The Times.

Red Cross To Give First Aid Course

Starting on Monday evening, February 1, the Red Cross will run a nine-weeks First Aid course at the grade school basement in Klemme.

Clarence Niemeyer of Garner will be the instructor for the course, and it is anticipated that much benefit will be derived from attending. It is especially recommended that rural school teachers attend.

Anyone caring to take this course should call either Mrs. Dwight Hummel or Mrs. Leonard Swanson before January 27th.

Only cost for the course will be 60 cents for a book.

LIMB

Henry Bolten, 17, died the day before Christmas at a Marshalltown hospital. A tree limb had fallen on him the day before, as he helped cut down a tree at Tama.

"March Of Dimes" Fund To Get Boost From Local Station Operator

The local "March of Dimes" campaign to aid in the fight against polio is now underway according to Mrs. Leafy Coobs and Mrs. Helen Stille, co-chairmen for Klemme.

These ladies ask that when the workers call on you, that they be treated with courtesy, and they hope that you will contribute generously to this worthwhile cause.

At least one Klemme business man is set to give the local fund a big boost. Don Schaefer, proprietor of Don's D-X Service, states that the money he takes in from service calls he answers with his Jeep during the remainder of the month of January will go to the "March of Dimes". This means that all the money he takes in from going out to start cars, fix flats, deliver gas to those who have run out, etc., he is going to contribute to aid in the fight against polio.

It is hoped that everyone will follow Don's lead and get behind this drive 100 percent.

Delwyn Brede Wins Trip To Chicago

Delwyn Brede, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Brede, who farm south of Klemme, returned January 14, from a three-day all-expense-trip to Chicago. He was awarded this trip on the strength of a field crop project by the National Committee for Boys and Girls 4-H Clubs in collaboration with the Chicago Board of Trade, and was picked from entrants from the whole state of Iowa.

Also making the trip with Brede were Jerry Marsson of Boone County, and George Boehnke, Assistant 4-H Boys State Club Leader.

Beauty Parlor

Mrs. Richard Finders is opening a beauty shop in Klemme and will be located in the rear of the building housing Duke's Cafe. Mrs. Finders will begin operation of her shop this Friday, and plan announcement of formal opening next week.

Some Facts About Coming School Election

Writ Fails to Stop Corwith School Election

The Honorable William P. Butler of Mason City, District Court Judge Friday filed his ruling in the Hancock County district court in the case of C. D. Barrick, et al, Plaintiffs, vs County Boards of Education of Kossuth, Hancock and Wright Counties et al, defendants. The plaintiffs sought a writ of certiorari and to stay the election in the proposed Corwith Community School District.

Judge Butler ordered, adjudged and decreed that a writ of certiorari issue in the above entitled cause and that Charles S. Whitney, Secretary of the joint boards of education of Kossuth, Hancock and Wright Counties, Iowa, defendants, make return thereto as prayed; said return to be filed in the office of the Clerk of the Hancock County Court on or before the 10th day of February, 1954, this cause to be submited and evidence to be taken and briefs submitted as nearly as may be in accordance with the rules or the submission of civil cases at the March 1954 term of the Hancock County District Court.

The Judge further ordered that all proceedings, except the elections to be held on January 11, 1954, be stayed as prayed upon plaintiffs filing a bond in the penal sum of Two Hundred Dolloars ($200.), said bond to be approved by the clerk of the district Court of Iowa, in and for Hancock County, and filed with said clerk.

Attend Conference

The Consistory of Immanuel and Evangelical Reformed Church attended a consistorial conference held at Latimer on Thursday. Those in attendance were Edwin Thiemann, Paul Lau, Ed Christians, Erwin Nuehring, Alvin Goll, Menno Albers, and Rev. Jaberg. The speaker and leader was Dr. Carl Klein of St. Louis, Associate Director of United Promotion of the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Shamrocks Lose To Garner Five Win Over Dows

Girls Lose To Dows 57 To 26

Last Friday night on the local court, the Shamrocks tangled with the Garner Cardinals in a game that was fast and furious from start to finish. Throughout the game the lead seesawed back and forth several times. However, in the last 2 minutes and 55 seconds, Garner put on a drive that put them out in front by 11 points as the final horn sounded, and they won by a score of 69 to 58.

Until that point in the game, it had been anybody's game with the score tied at 57-all when Garner went on their scoring spree. This was the second time this year that the Shamrocks had lost to the Cardinals.

Brooks of Garner was high for the game with 22 points, while his team mate, Daryl Jass had 20. Terhufen led the Shamrocks scoring with 18 points, while Ridder had 13, Barz and Thiemann, 10 and Karsjens, 7.

In the curtain raiser, the Little Shamrocks went down before the Garner reserves by a score of 47 to 40. The local reserves trailed 13 to11 at the end of the first quarter and were behind 17 to 24 at the half. They never managed to get caught up with the Garner Reserves, but they did come within three points at one time in the final quarter. Dulmes led the scoring for the Little Shamrocks with 10 points, while Kramer had 8.

KLEMME 58, DOWS 43

Earlier in the season, the Shamrocks suffered a 2-point defeat at the hands of Dows in North Star Conference competition. However, they avenged that one Tuesday night when they journeyed to Dows and came out on the long end of a 58 to 43 score. They led at the half by only 2 points, 26 to 24, but throughout the rest of the game, kept adding to their margin.

Terhufen led the scoring for the Shamrocks with 16 points, Karsjens got 13, Haefner and Thiemann, 8; Barz, 7; and Ridder 6. Brannick and Meyer led the Dows attack with 13 apiece.

The Shamrocketies again proved to be no match for the Dows girls and lost out by a score of 57 to 26. The Dows girls took command of the situation from the opening whistle and by the half-time had built up a nice 30 to 13 lead.

Kreitlow of Dows led the scoring with 21 points, while the scoring for the Shamrockettes was evenly divided. Carol Bridges got 9 points, for one of her lowtians also got 9 points, and Jo est totals this season, Lois Chris-Ellen Clabaugh got 8.

NEXT GAMES

This evening (Wednesday) will see the Shamrocks in action against Crystal Lake in the county tournament at Garner. The next action will be when both the boys and girls teams play Franklin Consolidated there on Tuesday, January 29, in North Star Conference action.

CASH

Elisabeth Dann of Toledo won a Shetland pony in a community drawing there recently. But she didn't want the pony, so an auction was held. It brought $138.

Supt. Ahrenkiel Gives Answers to Probable Questions of Voters

The proposal for the formation of the Klemme Community School District will come to a vote on February 8, 1954. This vote is the result of a few months work on the part of a local committee, and the wishes of the people. The proposal was circulated last October and at that time 908 out of a possible 959 eligible voters signed the petitions asking for the formation of the proposed school district. This petition was filed with the County Board of Education and since that time two hearings have been held to hear all persons who objected to the proposal as well as those who wished to be included in the proposal. The adjoruned hearing was held at Garner on January 4, 1954, at which time all objections were heard and acted upon by the County Board. The County Board then set the boundaries for the proposed district and called an election on February 8, 1954. The boundaries as set by the County Board are basically the same as were submitted in the original petition except for a few minor changes due to objections, either in or out of the proposal. The original petition called for nearly seventy-five sections of land whereas the present boundaries include seventy-three sections.

The election on February 8th will be held in five different polling places with six separate units involved. There will be a polling place in each of the following units: Twin Lake Township, Ell Township, Liberty Township, Klemme Independent, Avery Township, and Goodell Independent. Two of these units will vote at the same polling place they being Avery Township and Goodell Independent, although each will have its own separate ballot box. (Polling places in the respective units will be announced later). Each of the above units will vote separately and independently of each other on election day. Only the eligible voters within the boundaries of the proposed district will vote.)

The formation of the proposed Klemme Community School District rests completely with the voters. Each unit must carry by a simple majority to vote themselves into the proposed district. At least seventy-five per cent of the units involved must carry before the district can be formed. In other words before the district can become a reality it must carry by a simple majority in at least five of the six units. If one unit votes themselves out of the propoed district, the district will still be formed but will not include that unit which voted itself out of the proposed district. If two or more units vote themselves out of the proposed district, then the entire proposal has failed and no district has been formed.

The present proposal includes 73 square miles with a school census of approximately 385 students. The proposed district will have a total assessed valuation of approximately $4,200,000 with a bonded indebtednes of only $16,000. The classes would average around thirty-two students per grade. The curriculum will include more subjects to meet the interests and needs of the students. More activities are

We notice that the number of TV sets in our town is rapidly increasing We are glad to see this happen. Although there is much material on TV that doesn't suit everyone, still there is a lot of good entertainment and some fine educational programs. It's amazing how you begin to schedule your activities according to the programs that you want to see.

We wonder what the future TV set will be like. We remember when we were just a kid and radio was new. There were gadgets galore in order to assure the best reception, but look at radio now everything is contained in one little box. TV today is much the same as radio was years ago. Lots of gadgets that we imagine will be gotten rid of someday. Even with the gadgets that are required today, we wouldn't want to do without our set.

I don't think we ever will get over marveling at being able to sit in our living room and watch events transpire clear across the continent. We thing that TV can be a wonderful instrument to enlighten people in the world and keep them informed on current events, as well as a fine entertainment medium.

Garden and seed catalogs are beginning to make their appearance in the mails. Although this below zero temperature makes one think of practically anything but getting out and working the ground, still this is the time of year when one has to be doing his planning for spring planting. Waiting til the last minute to order seeds and fertilizers can be costly. Not only to the gardner, but to the farmer as well.

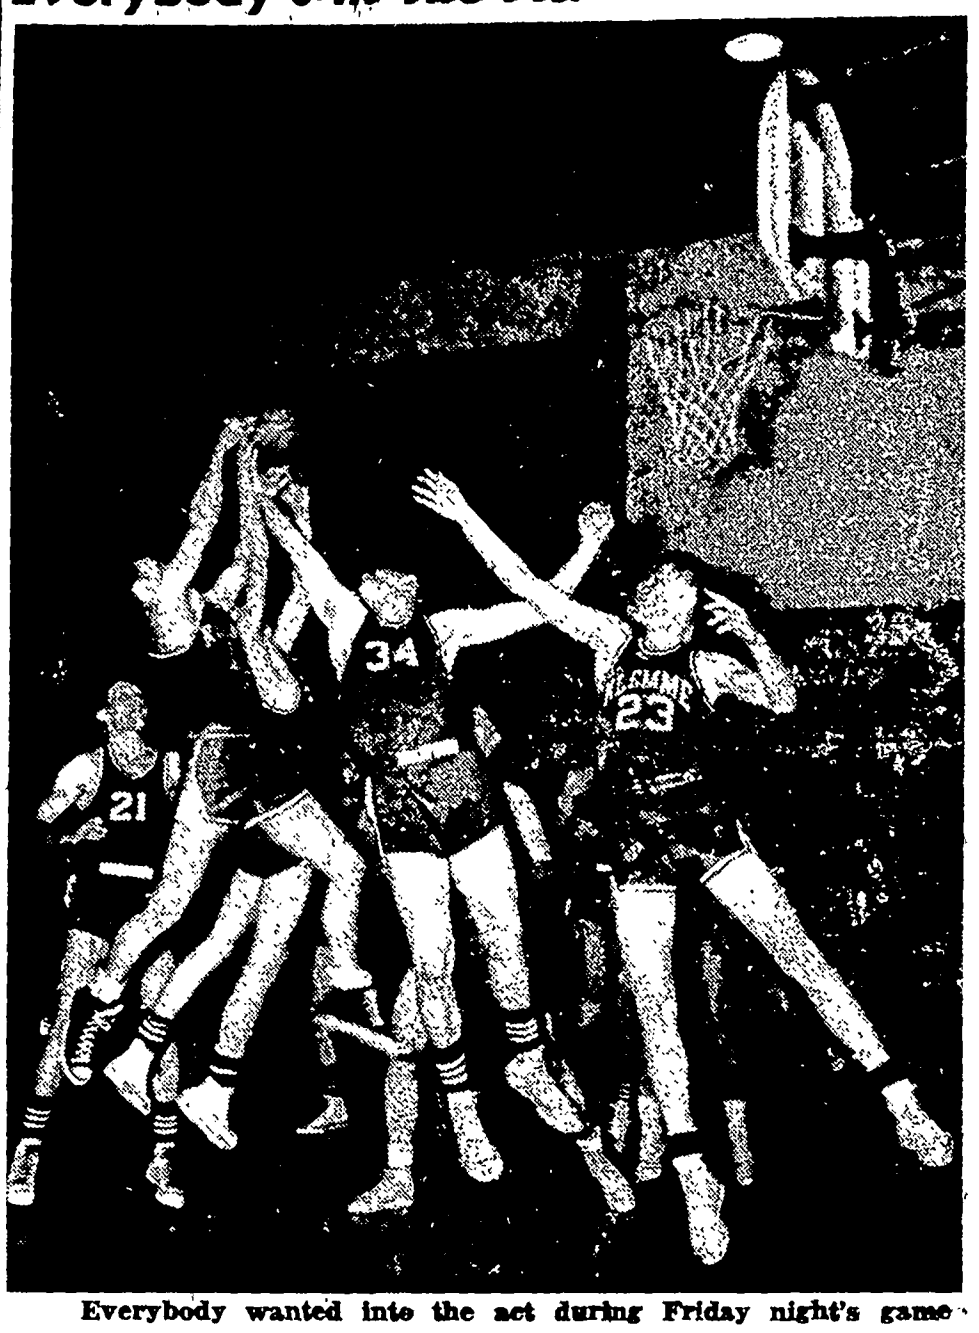
The political pot is beginning to boil and we have been getting a flood of publicity from candidates from the various offices. With feeling already running high, we imagine that for an off year this election will prove to be a humdinger.

This below zero weather that we are having at the present doesn't agree with us to well. We much prefer the green trees and balmy temperatures of spring. When Horace Greeley told everyone to go west, he made one mistake. He should have said, "Go South". Much as we all gripe about the cold weather and snow, though, I guesss it's still a mighty fine place to live.

How High Can You Get?

High in the air after driving in for a shot in Friday night's game is Duane Jass (31) of Garner. He missed the basket due to the fact that he was fouled by Denny Ridder (23), and then cashed in on one of the free throws. The three Klemme players watching the action are Roger Terhufen (left), Ronald Karsjens (center), and Don Thiemann (13).

Everybody's In The Act



Everybody wanted into the act during Friday night's game with Garner. This action took place early in the first half, and shows that nearly everyone on both teams was looking for a chance to get hold of the ball. Players whom we can identify are Brooks (21) of Garner, Thiemann (13) of Klemme, Snater (34) of Garner, and Ridder (23) of Klemme.

We saw the basketball game last Saturday night between Minnesota and Iowa. It was our first major college game and we enjoyed it. Saw some wonderul basketball, too. The only trouble was that Iowa's spirited but green team came out on the short end of 59 to 55 score.

The Iowa players are all pretty well off as far as height goes, and they are the rangy type. A year of competition should make a really tough team to handle out of these boys.

The Minnesota team was big, and we mean big. Their bulk didn't seem to slow them down any, though. On their bench they had the biggest man that we have ever seen, His name is Simonovitch. He is 6' 11" and weighs 275 pounds. He is not a freak, either. He is proportioned well. We think that he is only a sophomore, and a little experience could make him into quite a boy on the basketball floor.

Did you hear the one about the train conductor who got into trouble on his job and got fired? After that, he went from bad to worse, and was eventually tried and convicted of murder. When they tried to electrocute him, all the fuses blew out. He says, "Boys, the trouble is I'm just a poor conductor."

4-H Leaders to Attend State Recognition Meet

Hancock County's 4-H leaders and committee members will be represented by 4 delegates when a statewide recognition day is held at Iowa State College on January 25th.

Selected to attend the fourth annual gathering are Mrs. Erwin Nuehring, Twin Lake Go Getters; Mrs. George Gaskill, Boone Magor Pals; Dale Brede, Avery Twin Lake Hustlers; and Forrest Eckels, Orthel Eagles. They will be accompanied by Elsie Mae VanWert, county extension home economist.

The recognition day is held to focus attention on the contribution made by local leaders and committee members to the state's 4-H club program. During their visit to the college the leaders will hear several staff members speak on topics related to the general theme of "The Wheels of Democracy". Tours to points of interest on the campus will be arranged and a banquet will climax the day's activities.

Principal speakers at the banquet will be Dr. James Hilton president of Iowa State and E. M. Morgan, Des Moines, president of the Iowa Chain Store Council. A major portion of the funds for the dinner and the day's program are provided through a grant to the college by the Chain Store Council. A number of representatives of member companies are expected to attend.

College staff members who will speak during the day include Marvin A. Anderson, associate director of the agricultural and home economics extension service; Norman A. Graebner, associate professor of history and government; and Glenn E. Holmes, assistant professor of vocational education. M. W. Soults, assistant director of the extension service will preside at the banquet.

100% Return

The first rural school in Hancock County to report a 100 percent return on dental cards to the office of County Public Health Nurse Helen Lemke, showing all dental work complete, iss Orthel township district No. 5. Nine pupils attend this school. Mrs. Thelma Swanson is the teacher.

Why Everyone Should Go To College

Should I go to college? This is an age old question that has been asked hundreds of times and has received many different answers. But there is only one correct one—that is yes! Everyone should go to college and should go as long as he possibly can. Today, with a high school education you can maybe get a job that pays just as much as what a person with a college education is earning. However what assurance do you have that times will always be as good as they are now? What if prices should drop and jobs should suddenly become scarce? It has happened before in our country and it can happen again without warning. At a time like this, who do you think would be the first person to be unemployed? The one without a college education would naturally be. When jobs are really scarce it is impossible for a person who has just completed grade or high school to compete with a college graduate, so he is, of course, left without a job and probably broke!

Even if you aren't so well off financially, there are jobs you can get at the college that will help greatly to cut your expenses, and you can even arrange your classes so that you will have time to get a job elsewhere. Also many colleges assure you of a good job after you graduate, and you can then pay for your education in reasonable installments.

No matter what line of work you enter, a college education is invaluable—even if you go into business for yourself. And if you do this you will invest money in equipment and supplies, but the money you have invested in your education will be equally important and valuable. It is something no one can ever take away from you. Furthermore, not only will you receive business training, but you also will have more confidence in yourself, be able to carry on a more intelligent conversation, know how to talk and act in public, and will really be somebody instead of just a common laborer. In all, it will equip you for a much better and more enjoyable life. It is well worth any amount of time, effort, and money that you put into it, and there is really no excuse for anyone not taking advantage of it.

Second Grade

Merlin Bachman and Karen Nuehring have returned their dental cards. This makes a total of fourteen cards returned.

We are sorry Gregory Smith will no longer be with us. He returned to North Carolina with his parents.

Donna Lou Josten brought back some shells from her trip south. We enjoyed looking at them.

The Elves are now reading in their More New Friends and Neighbors reading book.

In language we are learning to use capital letters and periods.

Editorial

Let's have a party. We haven't had a party since October. I think it's about time for another one. It doesn't have to have a certain theme, just some food and a dance, or maybe a skating party. We just need something to break the monotony. Student Council, take this as a hint and start planning. It's time for a spree. Let's have a party quick before we get "Too Old To Cut The Mustard Anymore."

First Grade

The Bluejays have started their new book Fun With Dick and Jane.

We have started in our new arithmetic book and in our new workbooks. We are going to learn to add and subtract now.

We made snowmen for our room. They were fun to make. So far, our room is about the only place where there are snowmen as there's not enough snow outside to make any.

By Bob Hullihan

This is going to be a little exercise in the kind of figures never seen in the family book.

We were inspired to dig into these overwhelming digets by an editorial in the Marcus, Iowa, News. The writer of the editorial said it "is absolutely not true" that the Iowa traffic death toll is a disgrace.

He based the statement on a comparison between the number of miles traveled in the state and the number in traffic accidents last year. The editorial was a kind of lone marker pointing off in a seldom explored direction so we followed it a way with these results:

Breaking the gas tax income in Iowa last year down into gallons and multiplying the gallons by an average 15 miles, you get the staggering total of 12 billion 623 million plus miles traveled on Iowa's highways last year.

During the year, 600 persons were killed in Iowa traffic accidents, according to official records in the state safety department.

This means there was one traffic death for every 21 million plus miles traveled in Iowa last year. On that basis, one person could drive around the earth something like 80,000 times before he died in a traffic accident. Old age would take him first.

Looking at it another way, it's probably a safe assumption that most of the vehicles doing all that traveling in Iowa last year probably carried one passenger besides the driver.

This would mean one traffic death for each 42 million plus passenger miles traveled in the state in 1953.

Big as these figures are, they cannot cover and hide away the 600 who met death. But they do indicate that many drivers are doing a tremendously better job than they get credit for.

"I haven't slept for days".
"Why not?"
"I sleep nights."

? ? of the Week

Which test was the hardest? The easiest?

June Mayland: Math test was hardest; English and Science test was easiest.

Lois Heginger: I think the history test was the hardest and English was the easiest.

Ronald Hummel: One was just as bad as the next one.

Beverly Christiance: They weren't too hard or too easy.

Gary Day: They weren't too hard or too easy.

Harry A. The English test was the easiest. The typing test was the hardest.

Marlene Blumer: English was the easiest because we didn't have any. Typing was the hardest for me.

Carole Montgomery: English was the easiest one. Economics was the hardest.

Daisy Schaefer: English and Home Ec. were the easiest. There really weren't any hard ones, but history was the one for nerve wrecking.

Darlene Roul: Home Ec. was the easiest. English wasn't so bad. I think history was the hardest. It probably wouldn't have been so hard if I had studied a little harder.

Joan Lemke: My easiest was in English since we didn't have a semester test in that subject. My hardest test was economics and that wouldn't have been to hard if I had studied more.

Norma Draves: I think my hardest test was history and my easiest was English.

Beverly DeMerritt: History was the hardest because we never know what to study. English was the easiest.

Fred Arnold: History was the hardest, and algebra was the easiest.

Jim Karsjens: General Science was the easiest and math the hardest.

Girls' Sports

Our last two games have left us defeated, but, we're not giving up yet.

Our game with LuVerne Friday night appeared to be an exciting and well played game. Although the final score was 50 to 45 with LuVerne ahead, the girls seemed to have played a full game. Carol Bridges led Klemme's scoring with 32 points. We were pretty well neck and neck all through the game. LuVerne was at one time 9 points ahead of us, but Klemme didn't give up. They just came right up on them. We think everyone played a good game, but Leila seems to have done very well as a private guard. She really got on the gal and kept her from shooting and scoring more than she could have if she hadn't been watched. Keep up the good work, Leila. We need you.

Our Tuesday night game with Ventura was a defeat with a 63 to 31 score. We had a good start and played a pretty good first half, but everything seemed to have gone wrong during the second half.

Our next game is Tuesday, January 19, at Dows and if you all come and cheer for us we'll try to play like we did against LuVerne.

See you at the game!!

Hank: "The skunk is a very useful animal. We get fur from him."

Bob: "I'll say we do! We get as fur from him as possible."

"Did you ever tickle a mule?"
"No."
"You ought to try it sometime. You'd get a big kick out of it."

Tourist (in swimming): "Are you sure there are no crocodiles here?"

Native: "Absoluttely. All the sharks scare them way."

S O S Girls: Read This!

It seems a little bird talked to the girls in basketball last week and informed them that if a few more girls don't come out for basketball, there will be no girls basketball in the future.

Do you like girls basketball? Would you like to see it stay in Klemme? I'm sure most of you will answer "yes", so why don't you participate in this sport and make it possible to keep it in Klemme. Of course, this doesn't interest the seniors as much as the underclassmen as they won't be here next year, but couldn't a few of you others help the girls that like to play by coming out for this. Wouldn't it look silly next year for us to play a game with about 8 girls, 6 on the team and 2 subs? Some of you do have weak ankles and such, but I'm sure you all don't have them. If your boyfriend doesn't want you to play, tell him he has a chance to play and you're taking your chance. Come out and help those who want to play.

Boys' Sports

Friday, January 16, Klemme played Garner on the local floor. It was a close game. At the half the score was tied. The third and fourth quarters showed the same thing until the last two minutes. Then Garner found their way through the Klemme defense, putting on a big show. The final score was 58 to 69 in favor of Garner. Garner won the reserve game 40 to 47.

Fourth Grade

Ever since vacation we've been taking tests. We've had basic skills tests and first semester tests.

In social studies we started a new unit. We've had a lot of fun with it since it's about Iowa farms. Half of the class made two posters about farm animals. The other half made a bulletin board on farm fruits and vegetables.

We started to write with ink and pen in penmanship.

Senior News

Though the semester tests are over, their marked effects linger, especially on our report cards.

Getting back to our regular, we are studying in bookkeeping about the combining of the special journals to fit the needs of the business.

The events that lead to the emancipation of the slaves are being studied in American history.

We are studying exponents in algebra II.

Speech has taken the place of sociology.

The ever present dread of writing themes is present in English.

Eighth Grade News

We are busy reviewing our work for semester tests which we will have this Friday.

Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning we had Basic Skills tests. We are all glad they are over.

Junior High Basketball:
January 28 Hayfield, there.
February 5, Ventura There.
February 12, Ventura, Here.
February 22, Kanawha, There
February 27, Corwith There.

The Junior High girls are undefeated. They have played Thornton twice and Hayfield once. The Junior High boys have two wins with Thornton, and one defeat by Hayfield.

On January 6, Hayfield played us. The score was 23 to 22 in our favor. Joyce Lassahn was high scorer with 11 points, Dorothy Kroehnke, 9 points; Virginia Kudje, 1 point and Cozette Lau, 1 point.

Third Grade

Jerry Evans and Kathleen Koerner have had birthdays and treated us to candy bars since our last news.

We have been studying carrying in arithmetic. We thought it would be very hard work, but it isn't. We were surprised.

Monday and Tuesday we were very hard at work doing Basic Skills tests.

Gossip

A new romance is blooming in Klemme High. Guess who? None other than Roger B. and Berleen B.

Larry Hanson has more girl friends. But right now he's occupied mostly with Eva T. and Berleen B., especially on Saturdays.

Marcia and Lois seem to have a new attraction from Crystal Lake. Could there be some boys named Kenny and Gerald up that way, girls?

It seems Martin B. and LaVohn J. find the study hall dictionary very interesting.

planned so that all students will have an opportunity to take part in some activity of their interest.

The Klemme Community School District if approved by the people will then be under one school board which must be elected by June 10, 1954, and will take over the operation of the district on July 1, 1954 when the new district comes into being. It is hoped that the new school board will include representation from every township and the town of Klemme. The committee would like to have a member from Twin Lake Township, Ell Township, Avery Township, Liberty Township, and the town of Klemme. It is felt that in this way each township would have a voice in the operation of the new district and more unity could be attained.

When the new district is formed, all properties now owned by the respective townships and the Klemme Independent School District then becomes the property of all the people within the boundaries of the district under the jurisdiction of the new school board. The property includes the buildings, land, and all the equipment now owned by the various school districts. The assests as well as all liabilities of the various districts involved (within the boundaries) then is placed into one fund under the new school board. The new school board will make a budget for the 1954-55 school year for the entire operation of the school or schools within the district and the money needed for operation will come from taxes on land within the district. Building projects in the future that might be suggested by the new school board would have to be voted upon by the people before the board could do any building of any kind.

Things to remember when you cast your vote:

1. If you feel Klemme is your town, than you should vote for the proposal since this is the time to act if you wish to keep a school.
2. You the people will have more voice in the school.
3. The rural population can outvote the town population on any issue.
4. It will be your school which means you will have more interest and take a more active part in school functions.
5. That you the people elect board members to represent you.
6. That you the people must approve all building projects.

I have tried to answer a few of the questions in this article which people have asked me in regard to the formation of the Klemme Community School District. I hope by election time that we are able to give you a clearer picture on this proposal so there are no misunderstandings.

I hope all of the eligible voters in the proposed district exercises the treasured privilege of voting since we still live in a democratic country where our vote means something. I hope that we have a large vote for this election because only then will we know the wishes of the people. We don't want to tell you how to VOTE, BUT VOTE.

EVANGELISTIC YOUTH MEETINGS

The Rev. George V. Long, evangelist and youth leader of Elkhart Indiana, will conduct youth meetings at the Belmond Baptist Church, each night at 7:30 to 8:45 p. m. January 24 to 31. Mr. Long is affectionately known to thousands as "Uncle George", often drawing hunddreds to his meetings, which are highlighted by select moving pictures, gorgeous oil paintings, contests, prizes, and his "Thrill Book", with a surprise program daily—streamlined to the interest of youth, but interesting to the entire family. All are invited.

1953 Iowa Deer Season

During the 5-day Iowa deer season, 3,795 licenses were sold and a total known kill of 3,057 deer was made, the State Conservation Commission said today.

Of the licenses sold, the Commission said that 3,074 of the attached report cards have been returned by hunters, who reported killing 2,196 deer. Deer tags totalling 769 were issued to farmers removing deer from their property and to hunters killing two or more deer during the season. Early reports from conservation officers indicated that at least 92 deer were killed for which neither togs nor licenses were required.

At the beginning of the deer season the Iowa deer herd was estimated at about 18,000 animals, and the season's kill is believed to have been less than last year's herd increase.

Hunters' success was extremely high. From reports received to date, nearly two hunters out of three, or 65%, killed deer. From the present reports, 1,097 hunters reported no kills, 1,771 reported killing 1 deer, 183 killed 2 deer, 13 killed 3 deer, 6 killed 4 deer and 4 hunters killed 5 deer.

In the 45 open deer counties there were no hunting accidents and no reports of livestock or property damage.

Deer kills by farmers as compared to city hunters, average weights, ages, and sex ratios of deer and other information will be available after a complete analysis of deer hunt report cards.

"March of Dimes" Money Aids In Polio Research

Progress is the product of research.

That's as true in the fight against polio as it is in the other fields of science and medicine.

Research in polio has gained the limelight this year. It has produced a trial vaccine to be mass-tested next month. Research suggested the use of gamma globulin in prevention of paralytic polio.

Research inevitably costs money. Since 1938, "March of Dimes" funds have financed $20,500,000 worth of study and experiment in the diagnosis treatment and prevention of polio.

Polio prevention included more things than vaccines and gamma globulin. For example, Dr. Franklin H. Top of the State University of Iowa college of medicine received on additional grant last year from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to continue his investigations into the possible influence of tonsil removal on contraction of polio and the severity of the disease.

Even if the trial vaccine proves itself capable of preventing polio, research—and funds to finance the research—will still be needed in the field of polio treatment. At the close of last year, an estimated 66,000 were still under care. For some of them total or partial recovery will take months or even years. Polio treatment research can speed up recovery for some, and bring new hope of recovery to others.

Along that line, Dr. Harry M. Hines, also of the State University of Iowa, recently rounded out ten years of research into the atrophy and regeneration of skeletal muscles—research, financed by the National Foundation, which will benefit sufferers from other muscular diseases as well as polio.

Thus, "March of Dims" funds are adding to our stock of general medical knowledge at the same time they press the attack on polio—through research.

Corn Cob Now Is Source Of Many Items

The humble corncob, once burned or trampled as a waste product, has risen to a new throne of eminence in Iowa, through the efforts of an expanding chemical industry, the Iowa Developement Commission reports.

Iowa ranks first in the nation in value and production of corn, with a record production in 1952 placing the state first in the nation to produce a billion dollar corn crop. However, until recent years, the lowly corncob was considered valuable only as an ingredient in fertilizer and commercial feed and as a pipe bowl.

The modern miracle of chemurgy, the conversion of both primary and waste products of agriculture to industrial use through chemical processes, has found Iowa's rich and plentiful crops and boundless industrial opportunities ideal advantages in the manufacture of countless practical, usable props in our modern living.

Nylon, a synthetic product created through the genius of the late Dr. Wallace Carruthers of Des Moines, can be produced from corncobs, with one bushel providing enough nylon to make forty pairs of hose.

Furfural, the magic chemical once made largely from oat hulls and cotton seed hulls, can be produced from corncobs, as well, in the manufacture of nylon, synthetic rubber, resins for plastics, drugs, insecticides, weed killers, and in the refining of lubricating oil, diesel fuel, vegetable oils, and wood rosin.

The giant Quaker Oats mill, largest in the world, at Cedar Rapids, consumes 4,000 train carloads of Iowa corncobs each year and was, at one time, the only plant of its kind in the world to manufacture furfural.

The processing of corncobs for industrial uses is a vigorous young industry in Iowa, with two new plants established in the state, during the past year.

The Sonnenberg Processing Company has begun operation at Grundy Center, producing livestock feed and pellets to be mixed with brick for sound proofing.

At Sanborn, the Cornco Processing Company has been established to process cobs for production of various grades of grit, which is demanded for types of feed, polishing metal, cleaning raw furs, sweeping compound, chicken litter and construction work.

The Corn Industries Research Foundation reports that while in 1939, only one small plant was engaged in the processing of corncobs with an annual output of about 5,000 tons, 24 plants throughout the north central states are today grinding about 600,000 tons of cobs each month.

Although this record hardly ranks the corncob industry with others being a boost of several thousand per cent.

Moreover, the potential supply of raw material, in the tonnage of corncobs annually produced by nature, is virtually limitless.

The cob processing industry has processed a long way from the "barnyard briar" business of the past. According to the Wall State Journal, the idea of making pipes from corncobs first occurred to a farmer in the year 1869. Ever since, loyal smokers like General MacArthur, General Pershing, Mayor LaGuardi of New York, and critic H. L. Mencken, have clung to the traditional American product and seen much virtue in old shoes and other plain things which are functional, and unadorned.

However, science has taken the corncob from the pipe bowl to the test tube and created a host of other utilitarian creature comforts which have only begun to star in sharing agriculture's throne with industry in Iowa's balanced economy.

Card Of Thanks

The recent bereavement which has visited our home has brought to us a greater appreciation of our friends.

Special thanks goes to the ladies who helped with meals and lunches.

Such kindnesses and neighborly thoughtfulness can never be forgotten.

Following is one of Edith's favorite poems:

MY DAILY PRAYER

Dear Lord, I humbly come to Thee
And ask Thee to bestow on me
Thy love and kindness; make me pure—
Help me my trials to endure.

Lord, teach me how to watch and pray
Lest I should falter by the way.
Then teach me how to love and live
And how to pity and forgive.

Lord, all that's good I would instill
Within my heart, teach me Thy will
And never let me go astray
But keep me in the narrow way.

Lord, give me strength and courage, too
That I should e'er to others do
Just what I'd have them do to me
Help keep my conscience clear and free.

Then when my earthly toil is o'er
And I near the heavenly shore
Lord, may Thou take me by the hand
And welcome me to spirit land.

TRAPPED

At Corley, Art Boysen spent most of a bitter cold afternoon recently, trapped on top of his silo. He was taking the top off the silo, getting ready to feed it up, when the silage plugged up in the chute, blocking his exit. No one heard him yelling for several hours. His wife finally found him and dug out the chute so he could get down.

When Mrs. Stella Goodrich, of Coon Rapids, fed the birds near her home recently, a robin was among the feathered visitors present. News dispatches didn't indicate whether he was a left over from last season or the first arrival for next season.

Rabbit Season To Close

The 1953-54 rabbit season will close on January 31, 1954. Lack of snow and a low rabbit population have resulted in a generally poor rabbit hunting season, but Conservation officers report good number of rabbits in certain local areas.

ATTEST:
Maynard Schoneman
County Auditor

Clarence A. Bird
Chairman

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

Buy your baby chicks early for best profits, Iowa State College extension specialist advises.

Egg prices were above previous year's levels all through 1953, until the middle of October, Don Hunter, Iowa State College farm economist reports. Since then, prices have fallen below and stayed below the previous year's —save for couple of weeks.

The October drop in egg prices was partly due to heavy late fall production. Egg output on November 1 was 9 percent over the level of a year earlier, Hunter points out.

You need early pullets to get those early fall good egg prices. And that means early-hatched chicks. Late-hatched chicks won't come into production until the end of 1953 or early 1954.

That's why the Iowa State Vollee specialists strongly urge Iowa poultrymen who want to make the most money from this spring's baby chicks to buy them early. March 15 should be the latest. And the sooner, the better.

Turning to the more immediate egg outlook, Hunter points out that January 1 USDA reports showed about 2 percent more layers on farms than at the start of 1953. This prospective continued slightly higher egg output may keep egg prices slightly under last year's level during the rest of the winter and spring.

However, demand from egg breakers for freezing purposes may exert its price-strengthening effects just as early as last year. Storage stocks of frozen eggs are short. This new source of demand should soon be showing up on the Iowa egg markets, Hunter believes. Last year egg prices began to improve after late January.

If one has been "cured" of cancer, can he develop another cancer?

Yes. Having a cancer does not confer any degree of immunity, such as is commonly observed after infectious diseases like chicken pox or small pox. In fact, the incidence of many cancerous tumors is so large (3 to 5 per cent) as to suggest that possibly one with a cancer is more than ordinarily susceptible to the development of another. Assuming that there is an hereditary factor which predisposes an individual to cancer, it is not difficult to see how this factor might encourage other malignant growths, given the stimulas of chronic irritation or advancing age.

When the second cancer develops at or near the site of the first growth, which was "cured", it may be quite impossible to determine whether this is really a "new" growth or merely the reappearance of activity in some cells from the first cancer which had escaped removal or destruction but had remained quiet for years. In many instances, however, the second growth appears at a distance from the first cancer and presents a different microscopic picture so its designation as a new primary growth is not difficult.

The "follow-up" advised for all treated cancer patients is designed primarily to determine the efficacy of the treatment given but should also obviously help in the early detection of new growths. The person who has been treated for cancer should be under medical supervision for at least five years.

Other than in behavior, how do cancer cells differ from normal ones?

Chemically, very little is known abont the difference but under a microscope a great variety of physical differences have been observed. More than three hundred different kinds of human cancer are known. Each looks different and has a special form of behavior. Cancer cells usually resemble normal ones from the area in which they originate, since they are, basically, normal cells gone grong.

Obituary of Mr. Robert Loock

By Rev. Vernon E. Jaberg

The death of Mr. Robert Fred Loock is regretted by his neighbors, friends and acquaintances.

Mr. Loock or Robert as he was commonly known was the son of August Loock and Henrietta nee Holtz Loock and was born on Christmas Day, December 25, 1871 in the province of Pommern in Germany.

As a youth Robert attended the grade schools of his home community in Germany and when he was twelve years of age his parents and family came to America.

The Loock family lived in Hardin County in Iowa before moving to the vicinity of Klemme where they resided on a farm five miles west of town.

Robert and his brother, Frank, and sisters, Bertha and Mary, lived and labored faithfully and diligently on this farm for some 58 years and Robert and Mary have lived in Klemme for the past 13 years.

Mr. Robert Loock was a member of Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church of Klemme, where he attended the services of worship with regularity.

Robert enjoyed good health through the years. On Thursday, January 14, it was necessary that he be taken to the Belmond Hospital and it was there on Friday, January 15, that he was called to his Eternal Home. Robert reached the age of 82 years and 20 days.

Robert is solely survived by his sister Mary Loock.

He was preceded in death by his parents, brothers, Frank and August, and by sisters, Bertha and Hulda. The latter died as an infant.

He is also survived by many neighbors and acquaintances and friends.

"I am the Resurrection and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die." John 11: 25

January 31st Closing Date for Completion of Price Support Loans

The closing date for completing loans and purchase agreements on oats, wheat, soybeans, flax and barley under the 1953 Price Support Programs is January 31st, 1954, an announcement from the Hancock County ASC Office stated.

The 1953 crop of oats is supported at 78c per bushel, soybeans at $2.57 per bushel plus premiums up to six cents for beans of low moisture content, flax at $3.81 per bushel, barley at $1.25, and wheat at $2.30 per bushel.

It is suggested that producers desiring loans on these grains make application within the next week or ten days so that the sealing and loan papers can be completed before the closing date.

Purchase Agreements are available to those producers who wish price support, but do not wish CCC loans.

By signing a Purchase Agreement, a producer is not obligated to sell any of the grain covered by the Agreement to Commodity Credit Corporation, but is given an option to sell to them any quantity not in excess of the number of bushels signed for on the Agreement.

He is given a thirty-day period prior to the date that loans for the same kind of grain are due, in which to exercise his option to sell to Commodity Credit Corporation, by giving his County ASC Office written notice of his intention to sell the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Loans on sealed oats, wheat, flax and barley mature on April 30th, 1954; on sealed soybeans, the loans are due a month later—May 31st, 1954.

His Future is Up to You—

Your New Baby

With some background on what to expect and faith in her own intuition and ability, even a first-time mother instinctively does well by her baby.

There's no one more helpless and dependent than a newborn baby. About all in the world he can do for himself is breath, nurse, sleep, eliminate and cry to signal distress. And this very fact has shattered many a brand-new mother's confidence in her ability to look after his needs.

If your very first baby has just arrived, or soon will, and you have any such misgivings, take courage from what Dr. Glenn Hawkes, head of the Iowa State College Child Development Department, has to say: "Most mothers, with a little basic priming on what a small baby is like and how to take care of him, are wonderfully resourceful in handling their own child's individual needs."

Chances are you've already studied up baby care and will have someone to help you out the first few days you're home from the hospital. So have faith in your own ability, and in a mother's intuition and love to help you smoothly through those first weeks of getting to know your baby and understand what he requires of you.

GUIDING HIS GROWTH

Looking after his physical needs won't be difficult with your doctor nearby and modern-day knowledge on good nutrition and health practices. But he'll be growing by leaps and bounds emotionally and socially, too, adds Dr. Hawkes, and he'll need lots of help if he's to live up to his best potentialities.

You can learn much about your baby just by being with him day after day. But if you want to keep ahead of him and do the most for his development it will pay you to read up rather thoroughly on how babies grow and learn. This will help you to recognize the cues he gives you that he's ready for new learning and new experiences.

BOOKS TO READ

Three books Dr. Hawkes recomends highly are: "These Are Your Children" by Jenkins, Schacter and Bauer; "America's Baby Book" by Montgomery and Suydam, and "Your Baby" by Gladys Denny Shultz and Lee Forrest Hill, M. D.

Your baby will be ready for new experiences at a rapid rate. In the next 20 months or so, he'll change from a helpless little bundle to a complex individual who gets around under his own steam and has a mind of his own. He'll know whom he loves and trusts, he'll be quite sociable, he'll have made a start towards mastering a vocabulary. He'll experiment and explore endlessly.

ENCOURAGE HIS LEARNING

Your encouragement at the right time can help him tremendously all along the road to maturity, can boost his initiative make him eager for new adventures in learning. And if you get into the habit, from the early months on, of allowing and encouraging him to express himself—his moods, frustrations, anger, affection—you'll know him better and help keep his feelings out in the open instead of bottled up inside of him.

"When you come to realize all the things a baby has to learn, and why, in a short span of years, it gives you a great deal more patience and understanding in guiding him," explains Dr. Hawkes. "It's a fascinating, experience to watch a child grow up. It may put gray hairs on your head, but it will keep your heart young."

Two bushels of oats are equal in feed value to one bushel of corn.

ANSWERS YOUR QUESTIONS

Q. Does difficult breathing mean that my birds have "Colds"?

A. "Colds" are common in poultry this time of year. You can ease your birds' breathing by spraying or vaporizing Dr. Salsbury's Cam-Pho-Sal in the poultry house. It helps loosen accumulated mucus in the nostrils and throat. Cam-Pho-Sal is an inhalant that gives quick relief. In severe cases, use a nasal wash.

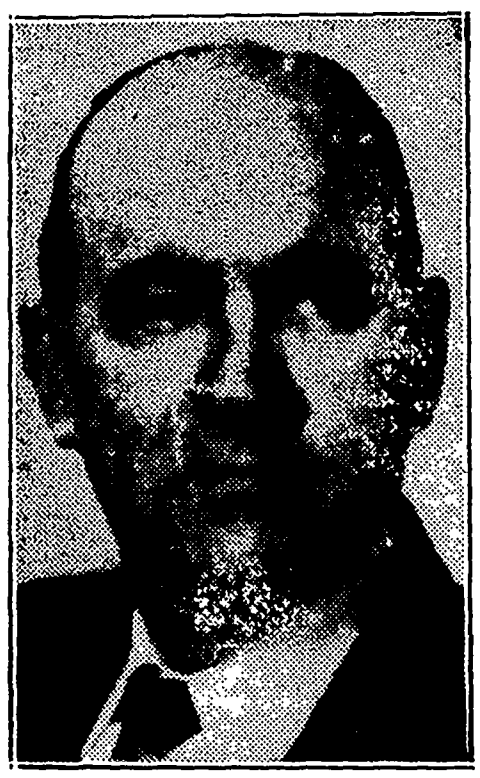
Rep. James I. Dolliver Candidate for Reelection

James I. Dolliver, now representing the Sixth Iowa District in the United States Congress today announced his candidacy for reelection. Mr. Dolliver will file for the Republican primaries to be held the first Monday in June



JAMES I. DOLLIVER

1954. As representative of the Sixth Iowa District in Congress he is an able member of the important Committee in Interstate and Foreign Commerce. The committee on which he serves has for consideration all legislation concerned with transportation, commuications, radio, television, public health, and many other subjects covering a wide range of jurisdiction. In addition to his committee work, however, he has given particular attention to legislation on agriculture, veterans, foreign affairs, and fiscal policies.

Dolliver was appointed by House Speaker Joe Martin as one of five House members on the newly formed Commission on Intergovernmental Relations. This commission has for its purpose the study and evaluation of the Federal, State and local governments. The findings and advisory report of this commission will greatly aid Congress and State Legislatures in passing legislation to correct overlapping of duties and expenditures among the many governmental agencies, both Federal and State. This appointment is considered a distinct mark of recognition of Jim Dolliver's standing and ability in the House of Representatives.

For more than a score of years before his election to Congress, Dolliver practiced law in Fort Dodge, and is a former county attorney of Webster County. He formerly served as a member of the Board of Education of the Independent School District of Fort Dodge.

Dolliver is a veteran of World War I, and a former District and State Commander of the American Legion in Iowa. He has personal knowledge of legislation governing benefits or servicemen, and has long been active in veterans' affairs. He is married, and has three sons and one daughter.

Girls Sectional Will Be at Hanlontown

Banks Close Year With Deposits at New High

Seven Hancock County banks had total assets in the sum of $14,299,865.84 at the close of business on December 31, 1953, according to recent published statements wnich is believed to be on all time high in Hancock county. The banks listed deposits totaling $13,183,257.30 as of December 31st and capital accounts totaling $1,112,542.29.

If deposits were distributed equally between the 15,077 Hancock county citizens listed in the 1950 federal census each would have had $874.39 on December 31st. Loans on corn and soybeans in the late fall and early winter of 1953 helped boost deposits to an all time high.

The seven banks whose totals were included in the countywide summary are: State Savings Bank, Goodell; First National Bank, Klemme; Hancock County National Bank, Garner; Farmers Bank and Trust Company, Crystal Lake; First State Bank, Britt; Corwith State Bank, Corwith; and the Farmers State Bank of Kanawha.

Last Rites Were Monday For John Christians, 83

Had Farmed Near Klemme Since 1912

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church for John P. Christians with Rev. Vernon E. Jaberg in charge.

Mr. Christians, who was born in Germany, came to America when he was 15 years old, settling first in Illinois, and then coming to Klemme in 1912.

He had been in good health until about a year ago when he began to fail, death finally coming on Friday, January 22, after he had reached the age of 83 years.

Interment was in the Ell Township Cemetery at Klemme and Mr. Christians was born to his final resting place by Wynton Christians, John Christians, William Neuberger, Jr., Clarence Christians, LeRoy Merkel, and Gary Smith.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of the Wellemeyer Funeral Service of Klemme.

An obituary of Mr. Christians appears on page seven of this issue of The Times.

Lions to Sponsor Athletic Banquet

Twenty-one Lions and one guest, Glen Osman, assembled Wedesday evening, January 20 for a regular dinner meeting. After a delicious meal, which was served by the Legion Auxiliary, reports were given by several chairmen of several of the club committees. In the business meeting which followed it was decided that the Lions would sponsor an athletic banquet for the high school basketball teams. Ernie Gerardi and T. G. Ahrenkiel were put in charge of the project. Plans are still incomplete but it is hoped that Frank "Bucky" O'Conner, head basketball coach at the University of Iowa, could be obtained as the guest speaker.

The meeting came to a close with the traditional singing of "God Bless America."

Commercial Club Elects Officers

Approves Plan to Sponsor Black Top

At a meeting of the Klemme Commercial Club held in the grade school basement last Wednesday night, officers were elected for the coming year.

Don Bacon was elected president; Howard Trevett, vice president; and A. R. Arnold, secretary. Mr. Bacon takes over in the place of Kenneth Kluckhohn, who was president for the last year, and Mr. Trevett, as vice president, has the position held by Mr. Bacon last year. Mr. Arnold has been secretary of the club since its formation a year ago, and was re-elected.

Chief among matters other than election which came before the meeting, was a decision by the club to sponsor a project to secure black top surfacing for the county road which runs through the north part of Klemme. Plans were made for the circulation for a petition which would call for surfacing the road from Highway 111 east to the Hancock-Cerro Gordo line. Money for this project would come from already established "farm-to-market" funds and would create no extra burden on taxpayers along the route.

Circulation of this petition was completed today (Wednesday) and it has been filed with the County Board of Supervisors. The Supervisors spoke favorably of the project, but is is doubtful if anything will be done this year. However, 1955 should see some action on the plan.

Mrs. Richard Finders Opens Beauty Shop

Getting underway with a formal opening this week Friday and Saturday will be Donna's Beauty Shop, a new business place for Klemme. The shop is located at the rear of the building housing Duke's Cafe, and will be open throughout each week except on Mondays. Mrs. Richard Finders, the former Donna Greimann, is operator of the shop. Her ad in this issue offers some nice prizes to some of those who visit her shop on Friday or Saturday of this week.

MRS. RICHARD FINDERS

She graduated from Klemme High School with the class of '49 and then attended the La James Beauty College at Mason City, graduating from there in March of '51. For 14 months after her graduation from the college, she was senior instructor there. More recently she has worked in the beauty shop at Younkers in Fort Dodge, and has taken an advanced course in hair styling from Mr. Rinse at Mason City.

Mrs. Finders states that she is glad to be located in her home town and established in a shop of her own.

Want to Pay

Some years back, Mrs. H. D. Leith was employed as a teacher in the Klemme Public Schools. During the time that she lived here, she of course availed herself of electric service from the Iowa Electric Light and Power Co. When she left Klemme, the company, for some reason, owed her money. They would like to locate Mrs. Leith in order that they might reimburse her. Anyone who knows her whereabouts would be doing a big favor to the light and power company if they would tell them where they might locate Mrs. Leith.

40th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gibbs celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary Sunday, and in honor of the event, their daughter, Mrs. Virgil Bridgeford, of Mason City gave a dinner. Those present other than Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs and Mr. and Mrs. Bridgeford were Mr. and Mrs Asa Gibbs and Jotham of Garner, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Gibbs, Ronna and Lura, Miss Minnie Lenz, Mrs. Clarice Arnold, and Mrs. C. A. Arnold.

Miss Isabelle Gibbs of Sioux City could not be present, but she called by telephone to congratulate her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs received a number of nice gifts as mementos of the occasion.

Woden County Champs; Down Garner 52 to 51

Shamrocks Lose to Crystal Lake in First Round Play

For the first time in the history of the school, Woden won the Hancock County Boys' Basketball Tournament. Their easiest game was their first one, which they won from Crystal Lake by a score of 51 to 40. Their next game was with Britt, and they had to come from behind to win in a double overtime by a score of 54 to 51. In the finals with Garner Saturday night they overcame a 29 to 18 halftime deficit, and with the aid of a last second basket by Ronald Evanson, won out 52 to 51.

Second place in the tournament, of course went to Garner, with Britt third, and Hayfield fourth.

Crystal Lake 49, Klemme 47

In their first round game with Crystal Lake in the county tournament last Wednesday evening, the Klemme Shamrocks went down to defeat by a score of 49 to 47 in a rather slow game. Crystal Lake jumped into an early lead but the Shamrocks fought back to within one point by the end of the half. After that the lead changed hands several times, but Crystal Lake held the edge when the final horn blew.

Don Thiemann led the offensive for the Shamrocks, as he pumped in nine field goals for a total of 18 points. Terhufen also scored well, collecting five field goals anl five free throws for 15 points. Helm of Crystal Lake got 14 points on five field goals and four free throws.

Snow Fall

The first snow storm of any consequence for this part of the state fell here Tuesday afternoon and evening. The snow fell without too much wind blowing and consequently did very little drifting. If it had, the four to five inches of the white stuff that fell would have piled up considerably.

So far, this has been a very open winter, and the weather report sounds good for the next few days.

Shamrocks in Cellar After Loss to Franklin Five

Lose By Score of 55 to 42 for Worst Loss of Season

In an earlier game this season, the Klemme Shamrocks downed the Franklin five by a score of 67 to 53, but the Franklin cagers got even Tuesday night by handing the local cagers their worst licking of the year by a score of 55 to 42. This victory took Franklin out of the cellar in the conference standings and put the Shamrocks in last place.

Throughout the first half of the game the Shamrocks, using a revised lineup, held pretty even with the half ending at 25 to 24 in Klemme's favor. However, in the second half, Franklin put on the pressure, and by the end of the third quarter were out in front 38 to 31. In the fourth quarter they kept increasing their lead until at the end of the game they had built up their 13-point victory margin.

Karsjens and Barz led the scoring for the Shamrocks with nine apiece, while Haefner had 8 and Thiemann, 7. Muhlenbruck led the Franklin attack with 19.

GIRLS LOSE

The Franklin girls again dumped the Shamrockettes, this time by a score of 58 to 34. At the end of the first quarter, the Franklin sextet had built up a 16 to 4 lead, and from there on they coasted, and were never in danger.

Carol Bridges was high scorer for the game with 26 points on five field goals and 16 free throws. Waskow and Kassebaum led the Franklin scoring with 19 points apiece.

NEXT ACTION

Friday night the Rockwell boys and girls will be here for conference games and then both the girls and boys sectionals will be played before their are any further scheduled games.

We are in accord with the Klemme Commercial Club and their decision to sponsor black topping the road that runs through the north part of Klemme. This is a project that has been needed for a long time. The road carries so much traffic, that it is almost impossible to maintain it properly with gravel surfacing. If this project can be carried through, then we will have a good road into Klemme from all four directions.

Molotov started things off in the usual Russian style, when he made his opening day speech at the big four meetings in Germany. He blistered everyone that was not under Russian dominance—especially the United States. It looks like they are out to make as much propaganda as possible out of these meetings, and then put the blame for failure to get anything done on the western nations We have a sneaking suspicion that they have it planed so that any good coming out of these meetings will be in favor of themselves. Personally, we have long believed, that the only way to make the Russians agree to anything, and mean it, is through the language of black eyes and bloody noses.

Although there are rumblings of recession, and we hear some talk of unemployment problems still we can't believe that the future looks too bad. Not when General Motors is embarking on a huge expansion program. Besides building cars, these people build a lot of industrial machinery and equipment, and if they saw anything very bad in the near future, they wouldn't be expanding their facilities to the tune of a billion dollars.

We don't know whether the pot is still boiling or just beginning to boil on school reorganization in this territory. We thought that as much as we have heard on the subject in the past few months, that it would soon all be over with, but new plans keep cropping out all around us. Ventura is out with a plan, and Garner and Britt are both beginning to talk reorganization pretty heavy. We'll be glad when it's all over with and we know where we stand.

While we're on the subject of school reorganization, don't forget the election coming up on the Klemme proposal on February 8. Much work has gone into getting this plan ready for the voters, and the hope is for a favorable vote come election day. Regardless of how you intend to cast your ballot, make sure that you do vote. If you don't and the election doesn't go to suit you, you have no right to complain.

Readers will recall that a few weeks back we told a story in this column about John Chambers driving Rudy Endorf's car home and nearly locking it in the garage before he discovered his mistake. Monday noon we were taking our after dinner siesta, when we heard Jack Shelley of Des Moines radio station WHO say that if John Chambers of Klemme were not in Florida for the winter, he would probably be in for considerable razzing. Then he went ahead to tell the story about John, and Rudy's car. We got a kick out of hearing our story quoted over the air.

the Highway Story

IOWA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

First comes the innocent man. He drives well if rather self-righteously, and he is proud of his safe driving record that goes back many years. But in his pride he is a little unaware, and he feels that good driving is merely a matter of self-preservation.

You see him there, driving along steadily until he comes up behind a truck. The big vehicle buffalos our man. He would just as soon pass but doesn't think it safe. He settles down to follow the truck, but he follows too closely—within ten feet. At this point, our innocent man becomes a trapper.

Behind him comes the unknown man—you? Me? He, too, is a good driver though he likes to get ahead through traffic as rapidly as he can with safety.

He settles down to follow the truck and the car until he can make his move. During the next few miles, he sees many safe opportunities to pass the truck, but there is no safe chance to pass both the truck and the car ahead at the same time. The distance is too great.

If the second man in line— our innocent man, our trapper— would slow down and fall back from the truck, the last man in line would have room to make two safe passes—one around the car and one around the truck.

After a few miles of this, human impatience begins to make our unknown man a victim. At what looks like a reasonable opportunity, he pulls out to make the double pass. He has a long way to go. Usually he makes it. Sometimes he doesn't.

When he doesn't make it he is blamed for lack of judgement, and the truck is blamed for bigness. But the "innocent" man, he turns up as a witness with no thought in the world that he played the part of a trapper.

DIED

For Dr. G. W. Yavorsky, of Belle Plaine, death quickly followed his retirement from active practice. He passed away just a week after announcing his formal retirement, after 48 years as a physician in Belle Plaine.

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

America's cattle feeders had 9 percent fewer cattle on feed at the beginning of 1954 than the year earlier. Feeders here in the corn belt had 10 percent fewer on feed. But the number still was the second highest on record for the Corn Belt, according to Francis A. Kutish, extension farm economist at Iowa State College.

Shipments of cattle from the corn belt lagged all summer and fall. But at the beginning of November they began to pick up. December saw 9 percent more feeders shipped into the nine Corn Belt states than a year earlier. This trend toward increased late shipments apparently has carried into January.

However, this USDA report confirms the belief that fewer cattle will be shipped to market during 1954, according to Kutish.

Corn Belt feeders had 22 percent fewer cattle weighing over 900 pounds on feed January 1, 1954, than the year earlier; they had 12 percent fewer cattle weighing over 600-900 pounds on feed; but they had 10 percent more, cattle weighing under 600 pounds than a year ago on the same date.

This should mean a relatively strong cattle market for the next 100 days, Kutish believes. Late spring and summer marketings of fed cattle also should be down from a year ago. But sales of fed cattle next fall should be even larger than in the fall just ended—because of the increased number of light cattle on feed.

This January 1, 1954, USDA Cattle Feeding Report lends support to the belief that we will see less than the usual summer and fall price rise for long-fed cattle, says Kutish. It would encourage feeders with heavy yearlings to force them along for the summer market—even to the extent of using less grass this year.

Sixth Grade News

The first semester is finished and we have been checking up. We find that Barbara Clayton, Buddy Evans, Miriam Hartbeck, JoAnne Jacobs, and Maurine Johnson have perfect attendance records for the semester.

JoAnne Jacobs, Randall Langlitz, and Ronald Kubly have earned an "A" grade in spelling for the semester.

The following students are on the honor roll in our room, having attained an average of "B" or better for the semester: Lowell Greimann, Maurine Johnson, and JoAnne Jacobs.

Visitors in sixth grade for the next week or two might think we have gone back to ancient times. We are designing shields, building a castle and making stained glass windows in connection with our study of feudalism and the crusades. We find this period of history very interesting, but think we'd rather be living in the twentieth century.

Year Books

Hurry, everyone, order your yearbook while you still can. sale is being extended until Friday of this week, but the supply is limited!

Our staff, which consists of the entire senior class, has been chosen, and now our main project is to try and give you the best yearbook we possibly can and that you have ever seen. So, hurry and get yours now. The price is only $2.00.

Music News

On March 1, many of our students will attend the Hancock County Music Festival. They will again present a concert in the evening at 8:00 P. M. in the Memorial Building at Garner. The guest conductors will be Gordon Bird of Drake University, who will direct the band, and Ralph Woodward, also of Drake University, who will direct the mixed chorus. Each school represented will also send a solo and ensemble which will be presented during the evening concert. Of course, it isn't all work but lots of play! ! ! The numbers the band will play are: Emblem of Unity (March), Landsighting, Arrangers' Holiday, a modern version of Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star, Fiesta Pasa Double, Eccossaisse, and Blossom Time Overture. The students going from here will be determined by tryout results Mr. Whitford stated on Tuesday.

The ensemble groups met Monday morning to work out some practice schedules. Everyone is plenty busy, but one way or the other, they'll find time I believe. We may even come back with some "Ones" at contest anyway!

Seventh Grade News

With semester tests and basic skills tests over we have made new resolutions to work harder and be ready for the end of the new semester.

As a whole, the class made good scores on the state tests. Individual graphs sent home with each pupil show how he stands in comparison to the other seventh graders in Iowa.

In our spelling semester test we had one perfect paper, that of Virginia Kudje, and almost perfect scores from Cozette Lau, Dorothy Roul, and Mardell Stadlander.

In arithmetic we are going to start the study of lines and angles. We will learn how to use a compass and protractor to construct and measure figures.

Fifth Grade News

Jerry Stokesbary and Daryl Kothenbeutal have returned their dental cards. This gives us a total of 10 cards returned.

Joanne Trampel wrote all her spelling words correctly in our semester test. These people also received A's: Sharon Bachman, Melva Johnson, Daryl Kothenbeutal, Duane Kramer, Gary Kubly, Claudia Neuberger, Dean Neuberger, Daryl Schlei, Patricia Ulrich, and Ellen Waddingham.

Report cards were given out last week. Many decided we better improve by the end of this next nine weeks.

In scoial studies we have been studying about the early wars the colonists were in.

Boys' Sports

The Klemme Shamrocks won their third conference game Tuesday, January 19. The Shamrocks traveled to Dows for the second meeting in the North Star Conference, and came out on top. The first, second and third quarters were evenly matched with Klemme out in front. The fourth quarter is when we started hitting. At the end of the game the score was 58 - 43 in favor of the Klemme Shamrocks. The scoring for Klemme was led by Terhufen with 16 points and Karsjens with 13 points.

Retraction

Under last week's feature article there appeared an article the title of which was "Why Everyone Should Go To College". The article was written by Eleanor Priebe and should have gone in the paper as an editorial.

Subject Changes

There aren't really to many subjects which have been replaced by other subjects this semester. Speech now takes the place of sociology for some of the juniors and seniors. Instead of economics the juniors are taking government. Some of the juniors or seniors who were to take economic geography are taking advanced typing or driver's training.

Also the report cards came out last Thursday completing our first semester.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE HANCOCK COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

This being the 11th day of January, 1954, a date heretofore set for hearing on the report of Wm. Henschen, Engineer, recommending that the contract of Ardell M. Smith of Hornick, Iowa, for labor on D. D. No. 151, Main and Lateral No. 1 be accepted as complete and final estimate in the sum of $321.60 be paid, the hour for said hearing having arrived, the proof of publication being on file and the Board being fully advised, said hearing was held as scheduled. There were no objectors present at the hearing and no written objections on file.

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors that the report of the Engineer recommending final payment on said contract be approved, is approved and final estimate ordered paid as by law directed.

On motion and second the official bonds of Fred C. Missal, County Assessor; Wm. Henschen, Preliminary Engineer on D.D. No. 13, Lat. No. 8; and the quarterly report of Thos. H. Thompson, Justice of the Peace for Amsterdam Township are hereby approved.

BE IT RESOLVED that the real estate tax be suspended for recipients of Old Age Assistance as recommended by Edith Elling, Hancock County Director of Social Welfare, all as provided by law, Sec. 1279, Code of Iowa, 1950.

On motion and second the 1954 budget for the County Nurse is hereby approved

On motion and second the report of Wm. Henschen, Engineer on the petition for establishment of a sub-drainage district of D. D. No. 18, petitioned for by Nordahl Anderson, et al, is hereby approved and date of hearing is hereby set for February 8, 1954 at the hour of 1:30 P.M. at the Courthouse in Garner, Iowa. No publication of notice is required, there being waiver of said notice on file with the County Auditor.

On motion and second notice of nonresidence is hereby ordered served on Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Weibelhaus and family of Britt Township and on Mr. and Mrs. Morris Wilson and family of Garfield Township.

WHEREAS the Hancock County Farm Bureau has requested the Hancock County Board of Supervisors to appropriate the sum of $5000.00 to the Hancock County Farm Bureau and $2000.00 towards the expense of either the County Extension Home Economist or the Youth Assistant for the year 1954, as provided by Sec. 176.8, Code of Iowa as amended, and

WHEREAS the certificate of membership, financial report and bond have been filed as by law directed and said Farm Bureau has qualified for such appropriation under Sec. 176.8 Code of Iowa 1950, amended.

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors that there be and is hereby appropriated the sum of $7000.00 as specified above, to the Hancock County Farm Bureau from the General County Fund of Hancock County, Iowa, for the year 1954, to be paid in four equal installments of $1750.00 each on February 1; April 1; July 1; and September 1, 1954.

The County Auditor be and he is hereby authorized and directed to draw warrants on the General County Fund of Hancock County, as hereinbefore directed in payment of such appropriation, all in accordance with Sec. 176.8, Code of Iowa, 1950 as amended.

The foregoing resolution was offered and read by Supervisor Daniels who moved its adoption, was seconded by Supervisor Barber, whereupon the Chairman, Clarence Bird, placed the motion of its adoption and upon roll call, the vote thereon was Clint Daniels, S. A. Barber and Clarence Bird ayes. Nays, none. Whereupon the Chairman declared the resolution duly adopted.

On motion and second the Board adjourned to January 18, 1954 at 9 o'clock a.m.

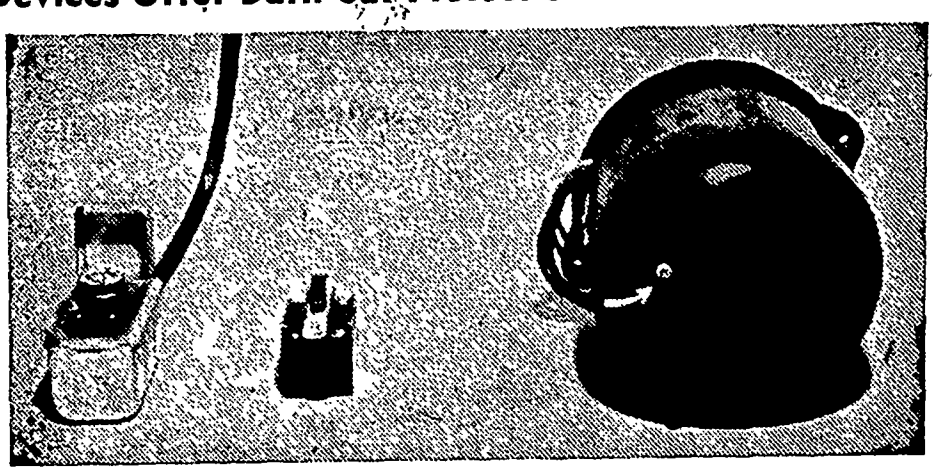
Devices Offer Burn-out Protection For Electric Motors



Three types of burn-out protection for electric motors. From left, time-delay type fuse, circuit breaker switch and motor with built-in thermal overload protection (arrow).

Cold winter weather is a rough season on electric motors that are doing heavy jobs like powering the pump on a farm water system. Stiff grease and oil may give the motor a heavier load than it was designed for.

A regular fused circuit doesn't offer any protection for overloaded motors. For one thing, according to Ken McFate, extension agriculture engineer at Iowa State College, the instantaneous current demand for starting a motor is several times greater than that required to run the motor during regular operation. You usually overfuse the circuit to allow for this insantaneous need. And, as a result, you don't provide the motor with burn-out protection in a regularly fused circuit.

You can get devices that will give motors protection from overload and subsequent burnout, McFate says. There are three types—time-delay type fuses, circuit breaker switches and built-in thermal overload protection. The first two are wired in the circuit that supplies electricty to the motor and the third is a built-in feature of the motor.

Each device serves the same purpose—it cuts off the power supply under overload conditions before the motor can burn out. This is your warning that the installation needs some attention. That attention may be changing lubrication in the equipment being operated, reducing the load on the motor or getting a motor that is designed to perform the heavier job.

The time-delay type fuses are available in different sizes which will protect any frational-horsepower motor. Circuit breakers are also available which will protect motors with different ampere ratings.

With the time-delay fuses, your warning is a blown fuse that must be replaced before putting the motor back into operation. To restart after a circuit breaker has cut the power supply you need to throw the switch. And to restart the motor with built-in thermal overload protection, you must reset the special button built into the motor. Until you have corrected the cause for overload, the devices will repeatedly cut off the power in order to protect the motor.

McFate says it's important to follow the manfacturer's recommendations on protection for electric motors. The metal name plate includes the ampere rating from which recommendations for time-delay fuses or circuit breakers can be made.

It's safe, McFate says, to use a time-delay fuse or circuit breaker rated about 20 to 25 percent higher than the operating current of the motor for those used on heavy jobs such as pumping water. For example, a motor with an ampere rating of 3.4 can be protected with a circuit breaker or time-delay fuse rating of 4 amperes. However, if the motor operates a light load, such as on a refrigerator, he advises using the motor current rating as the size for the protection devices.

McFate point's out that the time-delay fuse and the circuit breaker offer "short circuit" protection for a wiring system, as do ordinary fuses. And at the same time, they allow a heavier pull needed momentarily for starting motors without opening the circuit. Thus, he adds, they allow you to use fuses of lower raing which give "short circuit" protection and still allow for satisfactory motor starting and operation.

Iowa Light & Power Adds Wiring Department

An additional service is now available to north central Iowa customers of the Iowa Electric Light and Power Company. An Adequate Wiring and Lighting department has been organized in the north central district with headquarters at Garner.

D. F. "Dick" Talbott will be in charge of this special activity in the district. He and Mrs. Talbott, with their two children, plan to make their home in Garner.

The Adequate Wiring department will be co-ordinated with the central Iowa Adequate Wiring Bureau, which is an Iowa branch of the National Adequate Wiring Bureau.

Customers planning to build, remodel or make wiring improvements may consult with the Wiring and lighting department regarding their lighting and wiring problems. Service of this department are available to all home owners, contractors, electricians, school boards and store owners. Assistance will be given in the preparation of wiring diagrams showing proper wire size and recommended lighting installations.

H. O. Sandberg is Commercial Manager for the district.

Veterans Enrolling In Junior College

Twenty-three students who have not been enrolled in Mason City Junior College the first semester have registered for second semester. Since the second semester does not begin until January 25, it is expected that others will register before that time.

Eleven of these twenty-three new enrollees for Junior College are Korean veterans. Most of them have been released from service this fall.

Eighteen Korean veterans have been enrolled in Junior College the first semester and will continue the second semester.

Ell Tip-Toppers Met

The Ell Tippors met at the home of Doreen Lackore January 16. We began our program at 1:30 by folk dancing until 2:00 o'clock. We answered roll call by saying "What I Should Do To Improve My Appearance."

It was suggested that we buy a 4-H magazine.

A motion was made that we visit other clubs.

We had a discussion on "Good Grooming" with Jane Renner as moderator and her panel consisting of Roxanne Back, Maurine Johnson and Miriam Hartbeck.

Betty and Barabra Clayton gave a demonstration on how to sew on a button and fix a ruffle.

Doreen Lackore gave a talk on "Music".

Delwyn Brede Reports On Chicago 4-H Trip

Being chosen as one of the two top 4-H club boys of Iowa for having a crop project, I was awarded an expense paid trip by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work through the courtesy of the Chicago Board of Trade. This trip was from January 11 to January 14. We went from Ames to Chicago on the train and while in Chicago we stayed at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, the largest hotel in the world. I was accompanied by Jerry Musson of Boone County and George Boehnke, assistant Boys State Leader.

Our first visit was the Chicago Board of Trade. A welcome was given by Mr. John R. Murray in the directors room and at 9:30 we witnessed the opening of the trading in the 6 trading posts.

"The Story of the Market" presented by Miss Alice Haggans stated several things. The Board of Trade is where buyers and sellers meet. Companies such as General Mills can't buy a membership in the Board of Trade and only Commission buyers and sellers are allowed members with 1153 members all together.

There are two kinds of trading cash and future. Cash trading is where each carload holding 1899 to 2000 bushels, is represented by a sample of the grain. This grain is taken by a probe 5 different time and this probe has 11 holes in it. It is then tested and posted on the sample bag and sent to the cash table to be sold. Future marketing is where men are selling and buying on contract, with the grain being produced later on at the specified date.

When selling or buying grain, the men stand in a pit. There is a rule that everything has to be yelled out in the pits. All contracts are recorded. A farmer buying or selling grain can place a telephone call at his local elevator which goes through a branch office to the telephone on the trading floor of the Chicago Board of Trade, where it is answered It is then sold or bought and an answer is sent back to the farmer in less than 60 seconds.

A guided tour of the trading floor, grain grading, sampling, and brokerage houses was conducted. On the trading floor we saw the cash grain trade table, weather map tables, Dow Jones news service, and the markets in programs. The Board of Trade runs from 9:30 A. M. to 1:15 P. M It then audits its account after 1:15 P. M.

A commodity exchange is privately owned. There are 1422 member commodities. The commodities do the following functions: (1) Provides owners of the insurance of the commodities, (2) Provides for financing commodities, (3) Provides orderly sales of commodities.

A commission buyer receives grain and sells it. When a car arrives at Chicago, it is inspected and a sample is taken. All commission men get the same salary, this is 1½ cents per bushel sold or bought. The commission man pays the railroad charges and expenses, then sends the net return to the seller. A buyer must stand back of his contract. Commission men sell to the manufacturing plants, elevator terminals, merchandiser, or export buyers.

Hedging is a grain term which means protection against risks of price change. Through hedging people in the grain business can and do shift the price risks involved in the ownership of grain to minimize their losses. This permits them to operate under narrow margins of profit.

Chicago Board of Trade is the oldest and largest future market. It was started in 1840. It does 80 percent of the worlds business in future marketing with the idea, production goes on a short part of the year, but consumption goes on all year. Future contracts can run short or long periods of time. A future contract states that a seller promises to delivers a certain commodity to a person in the future. A contract may receive premiums or deduct for moisture on the grain.

Future and cash markets are effected by the same economic. The real risk bears are the speculators who speculate on the market. "Our Experience in 4-H Grain Program", was the title of a discussion group which contained boys from Colorada, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Ohio, Oklahoma and Texas. The following is in general what each state did to promote the program. They had grain demonstrations, tours of local elevators, grain yield contests, study of moisture control, judging of grains, writing grain essays, sampling of grain, 100 bushel corn club, test plots, 1 day country school, field days and tours of mills and terminals.

Does anybody know the difference between a terminal and a sub-terminal? The following was suggested to help the increasing of the crop projects:

1. Publicity. 2. Involve elevators for information. 3. Better informed county staff. 4. Need of more information. The final objective to work on was to interest as many new members as General Mills plant. We saw possible.

We also took a tour of the how Kix, Wheaties and Cheerio were made. We followed the process from the start to the finish. The next tour was of the Science and Industry Museum.

We were royally entertained entertained at several banquets. As a guests of the Chicago Board of Trade we saw "Cinerama", at Eitle's Palace Theater. Other entertainment consisted of a stage show and the Breakfast Club Broadcast at the Terrace Casino in the Morrison Hotel.

We arrived back in Ames at 10:00 p. m. via the City of Denver train on January 14th.

Avery-Twin Lake Boys Hold Dad's Night

The regular meeting of the Avery Twin Lake Hustlers was held on January 11, 1954 at Larry Lange's. Sixteen members and two leaders answered the roll call. The youth assistant Bob Wilson, was at our meeting. We had an illustrated discussion about what some of the most important feeding nutrients do for our animals in good livestock feeding, which was real interesting. The dads had been invited to come tonight, so at the close of the meeting a nice lunch was served. After lunch we watched television awhile.

Ranges for 1954

New 30-inch ranges carry many of the popular extras of large-size units. This particular model has a well cooker, push-button controls, easily accessible timer and thermostat control. These ranges have many advantages over the 24-inch apartment size ones previously designed for small kitchens.

There's lots of exciting range news for homemakers planning kitchen improvements this spring. Whether you have a too-small, large or regular shaped kitchen to plan for, you'll find a variety of style numbers from which to choose. So States Naomi Shank, Iowa State College extension home management specialist.

THIRTY-INCH RANGE

More manufacturers than in any previous year are making 30-inch ranges in both gas and electric ranges. Increased capacity for food preparation is coupled with such added deluxe features as: a well cooker with a "raise-up" unit that gives another surface unit when needed; a mechanized rotating spit that lends a barbecue effect to broiled meats; storage for keeping cereals and crackers crisp; easier-to-use timers, lighting at a height for seeing into pans, and push-button controls.

Many of the well cookers have stepped-up temperatures so they can be used for deep fat frying as well as for long, slow cooking. The divided range top make timers and switch control panels accessible for easy use.

SEPARATED RANGE PARTS

Range surface units and bake ovens are offered in stainless steel or enamel finishes in both gas and electric lines for custom installation at any location. There is a fine choice for physically handicapped home-makers who like to do their own cooking, as well as for extra-tall or short women who need working surfaces tailored to their own heights.

Surface units come in combinations of four and two. On some, control panels are separate so that they can be mounted at the safest and most accessible reaching height for the individual homemaker.

STANDARD-SIZE RANGES

Standard-size ranges have worthwhile new features, too, according to Miss Shank. More models have surface griddles of either the plug-in or permanent type. Double ovens, increased capacity ovens or two separate ovens are the rule rather than the exception.

Manufacturers are doing much to make ovens easier to clean. Some models have bake oven elements that can be swung up against one side while you clean the other oven lining surfaces.

COLOR, PRICE

The vivid colors which came in several years ago have been toned down to the easier-to-live-with pastel shades. Some ranges have the entire porcelain finish colored. Others have color trims on white porcelain.

Most manufacturers have reduced by at least one-half the style numbers available in their range lines in an attempt to hold prices at late 1953 levels. This limited style choice means fewer production line changes, less warehouse storage space, simplified bookkeeping and cut-back on needed dealer storage and display space—all of which contribute to keeping operating costs and retail prices in line.

The list price of the separate range surface units and bake ovens is comparable to the medium-price style numbers in most manufacturers' lines. However, some of these custom installation units are up in the deluxe class in both styling and price.

Best of Vegetable Varieties Listed

Specialist Names Those Most Suited to Iowa

When the seed catalogs begin to show up in mailboxes, the first stage of garden fever is here.

And Ben Vance, extension horticulturist at Iowa State College, says the big topic for garden talk will soon be vegetable crop varieties. Vance has drawn together the available information on variety performance in Iowa. These are his suggestions on varieties to get for both good quality and good production:

RUTGERS, MARGLOBE

Tomatoes—Rutgers and Marglobe are popular leaders. Sioux is a good early variety. Not all hybrids perform well in Iowa—Clinton Hybrid has been one of the best in trials here. Golden Jubilee performs well for a yellow variety.

Sweet corn— Marcross for eary variety; Carmelcross, Iochief, and Tendermost for midseason varieties, Iochief is excellent for freezing, and this 1951 All-American selection is a good producer.

Snap beans—Top Crop, Wade and Contender are excellent. Tendergreen and Stringless Green Pod are other good varieties.

LIMA BEANS, PEAS

Lima beans—Henderson Bush is one of best varieties for Iowa.

Peas—Alaska for early variety although quality is not as good as some others; Little Marvel, Thomas Laxton and Laxton's Progress are particularly good for freezing.

Cabbage—Marion Market for early, Globe for midseason and Wisconsin All-Season for late variety. All are somewhat resistant to cabbage yellows.

RED, WHITE POTATOES

Potatoes—Warba, a red variety, is good for early, and Cobbler white variety, is a little later. Osage, which was introduced last year by Iowa State College, is similiar to Cobbler.

Onions — Brigham strain of Yellow Globe and Sweet Spanish are leaders.

Cucumbers—For slicing varieties, Improved Long Green, Burpee Hybrid and White Spine; for pickling, Chicago Pickling.

Lettuce—Black Seeded Simpson, Slobolt (both are resistant to heat), Oak Leaf and Salad Bowl, a relatively new variety which has been well liked in Iowa for the past 2 years.

Peppers—World Beater, California Wonder and Harris Wonder are all good varieties.

Iowa Leads Nation In Bluegrass Seed

Kentuckys colonels might well be green as a mint julep with envy of Iowa's impressive bluegrass production average during the past several years, says the Iowa Development Commission.

Despite the fact that Iowa ranked only second in the nation in production of bluegrass seeds in 1953, the smallest national yield in seven years and 13 per cent less than originally forecast, the Hawkeye state remains foremost among states in production of this crop, which is as vital a source of pride to Kentucky as corn is to Iowa.

In a final report released by the Crop Reporting Board of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Iowa shows an average total production of 13,060,000 pounds of cured bluegrass seed, from 1947 through 1951, or over twice the average Kentucky production record of 6,960,000 pounds during the same period.

Iowa's contribution to the supply of bluegrass seed constitutes approximately 25 per cent of the national average of 53,968,000 pounds during the five-year period.

Iowa Has the Phones

Fred, who runs our phone company, is a great booster for Iowa — and for telephones.

"Over 90% of Iowa farms now have phones," Ed says. "That's more than TWICE the average for other states. We Iowans can really communicate!"

Yes, and that's another reason why this is such a grand state to live in. Because, telephones bring us all closer together.

And the better we know each other, exchange ideas, and appreciate the other fellow's point of view, the better our community, and our state. It makes us better citizens, more tolerant neighbors.

Cousin Ed owns a clothing store, thinks merchandising 24 hours a day. John operates a farm, worries about the price of corn and hogs. Ed likes his coffee, John his temperate glass of beer. They both recognize the other's preferences and that's the way it should be.

We Iowan's should be proud of our telephones, our newspapers, and anything else that brings us closer together in mutual understanding and tolerance.

Obituary of Mr. John Christians

By Rev. Vernon E. Jaberg

Mr. John Peter Christians whose departure from this life is sincerely regretted and sorrowfully mourned by his family, neighbors and friends was born on December 5, 1870 in Emden in the province of Ostfriesland in Germany.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Christians. His mother's maiden name was Miss Hebo Gabrants, and John was one of four children born to his parents. He received the Sacrament of Holy Baptism as an infant in the local Lutheran Church of Emden. He attended the schools of his community in Germany. As a youth he was received into the fellowship of the Christian Church by the rite of Christian Confirmation in the Emden Lutheran Church.

As a young man of fifteen years he left Germany and came to America and settled in Hartsburg, Illinois where he found employment on a farm. He was able to continue to pursue his education in the public schools of Hartsburg.

Mr. John Christians was united in the bonds of Holy Matrimony with Miss Sena Alberts on February 23, 1897. God in his providence blessed this marriage with five children: Peter, Harm, Grace, Edward, and John. Mrs. Christians was called to her eternal home in 1905. Mr. Christians was united in marriage with Miss Christine Ennega on September 8, 1909, and this union was blessed with ten children: Karsjens, Anna, Emma, Henrietta, Sena, Harold, Elsie, Duane; and Eldon and Adam who died as infants.

In the year 1912, Mr. and Mrs. Christians moved to Hancock County in Iowa, where they began farming on a farm two miles north and four miles east of Klemme. Mr. Christians was a very industrious farmer and a very cooperative neighbor and member of the community.

Mr. Christians was a member of Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church of Klemme and at one time served the church in the office of elder. He read the word of God each day and followed closely the church paper published in the German language, known as Der Friedensbote and Kirchenzeitung. He attended the worship services in the church until his health began to fail, which was approximately a year ago. During the past year the church has brought its ministry to Mr. Christians.

For the past six years Mr. Christians has made his home with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Christians and family. During the past three weeks he has received the care of a nurse, Mrs. Hattie Holck of Kanawha.

On January 21, Mr. Christians was taken to the Belmond Hospital and it was there that he was called to His Eternal Reward on Friday, January 22, having attained the age of 83 years, 1 month and 17 days.

Mr. Christians is survived by sons, Peter of Ventura, Edward of Klemme, and John of Denver, Colorado. He is also survived by Karsjens of Edina, Missouri; Anna, Mrs. Lloyd Smith of Hines, Minnesota; Emma, Mrs. William Neuberger of Ventura; Henrietta, Mrs. Art Tibbets of Clear Lake; Sena, Mrs. LaVern Christensen of Ventura; Harold of Klemme; Elsie, Mrs. Bill Wilson of Ventura, and Duane of Klemme. He is also survived by sons-in-law and daughters-in-law and by thirty-one grandchildren and fourteen great grandchildren and by many other relatives and dear friends.

Mr. Christians was preceded in death by his parents, his first and second wives, children, Harm and Grace and infant sons, Eldon and Adam. He was also preceded in death by sisters, Katie and Anna, and by one brother, Edward.

Liberty Boys Entertain Dads At Chili Supper

The Liberty Go Getters entertained their dads to a chili supper at their January meeting which was held at the home of Donald Kopacek. The following dads were present: Leo Jass, Clarence Lenz, Walbert Mayland, Frank Zrostlik, Jerry Psotka, Frank Hrubes, John Buzisky, Kenneth Zwald, Dick Farquhar, Lloyd Prohaska and Vincent Kopacek. We presented last year's leaders, Wiley Weaver and Leo Jass, who were special guests, each with a belt.

In our meeting we discussed feed budgets and have to start filling in our record books.

Publication Makes Possible Modernizing Of Local Ordinances

For the first time in the history of the state, all Iowa municipalities have a working tool with which to bring their local ordinances up to date with the latest legislation.

The tool is the first edition of Iowa Model Ordinances, published by the State University of Iowa after three years of work and research headed by Robert Ray, director of the university's institute of public affairs.

The model ordinances, now in the hands of community officials throughout the state, are intended to be used as guides in modernizing existing local codes or in writing new ones.

The long-range goal is uniformity. If that is accomplished, all Iowa communities would have the same basic ordinances in all fields of local government.

The result, especially in the area of traffic regulations, would be more safety, better enforcement and much less confusion on the part of drivers, state officials point out.

Representatives of the state safety education division are now conducting a campaign to urge use of the model traffic ordinances where they may be needed.

Publication of the model ordinances fills a long-felt need since local codes in many communities have not been revamped for 20 years or more and, in some cases, are not available in published form.

The Iowa League of Municipalities, the State University law school, and the Iowa department of public safety cooperated in compiling the model ordinances.

New Fishing Regulations

Several liberal changes were made in Iowa fishing regulations at the first 1954 meeting of the State Conservation Commission. Among them were the opening of a continuous open trout season and the setting of several possession limits of twice the size of daily limits, enabling fishermen to make limit catches on two successive days before full possession limits are reached. The new regulation will be effective March 1, 1954.

The possession limit of catfish was increased to 16, and a possession limit of 50 was set on bullheads. An August 1 to November 30 season was set on sand sturgeon, rock sturgeon and paddlefish, with a daily catch of 15 and a possession limit of 30. The new daily catch limit of walleyes is 5, with a possession of 10.

Perch were added to the continuous open season list, and their possession limit was raised to 30, as were the possession limits of crappies, yellow bass, warmouth bass, sunfish, bluegills, white bass and rock bass. The new daily catch and possession limits of northern pike were set at 4 and 8, and possession limits of largemouth and smallmouth black bass were set at 10.

Esther Circle Met

Esther Circle met at the Church basement, Wednesday evening with ten members present.

Mrs. Marvin Lemke led the devotions. The members sewed on aprons and mittens for a Korean orphanage.

Following the meeting, Mrs. Graydon Back and Mrs. Melvin Schlei served a delicious lunch.

Just to prove how little it costs to run this tractor for 6 months...

WE'LL BUY HALF YOUR FUEL OURSELVES

Yes, you read it right! Trade in your old tractor on a new Oliver Diesel wheel tractor, and we'll pay half your new tractor's fuel bill for 6 months straight. We mean any 6 months' work on your farm, even your six heaviest months, for the longest hours you want to work. Just bring in your fuel bills to show what you spent, and we'll give you a check for half.

why we're making you this offer

We figure if we offer to pay half your fuel, you'll keep track of your costs. That's all we want: for you to see how low they'll be. You'll find that you're burning only 6 gallons of fuel where your gasoline tractor burned 10—and buying your diesel fuel for a whole lot less!

We're betting you'll say you'd never go back to gasoline. Especially when you find that your upkeep is as low as your fuel cost. Your Oliver Diesel has the simplest engine ever put in a farm tractor—no carburetor, no plugs, fewer moving parts—very easy to keep in top working order.

no starting engine, no starting fuel

Oliver Diesels start and run on diesel fuel. They give you instant starts even in freezing weather. They withstand a longer lay-up than any spark ignition tractor. Best of all, Oliver makes a diesel in any size you want—two-plow, three-plow, four-plow—whatever size is best for your operations.

you're paying for a diesel, why not have one?

That's what users say: with the high fuel cost of a gasoline tractor, you're paying for a diesel whether you have one or not. That's why farmers by the thousands are going over to low-cost diesel power. You will yourself sooner or later. Why not buy your diesel now, start your savings now, while this special offer still holds.

BUY AN OLIVER DIESEL AND WE'LL BUY HALF YOUR FUEL!

Shamrockettes Down Swaledale In First Round Of Sectional

Face Meservey In Second Round This Thursday Evening

The Klemme Shamrockettes went into the sectional tournament at Hanlontown, Tuesday evening and were victors over Swaledale by a score of 43 to 34. The win takes them into the second round of the tournament and they will play again Thursday night against the strong Meservey team.

In Tuesday night's game, the Shamrockettes got off to a fast start and at the end of the first quarter held a comfortable 15 to 4 lead. By the end of the half, Swaledale had come to life somewhat, and the score stood to 28 to 18. The Shamrockettes still held a 10 point margin at the end of the third quarter, and Swaledale was able to gain only one point on them in the final period, as the final score was 43 to 34.

Lois Christians led the scoring for the Klemme girls with a total of 22 points, while Carol Bridges had 11 and Jo Ellen Clabaugh had 9. Ingham was high gor Swaledale with 19 points.

Services For Ben Netland Were Held Monday Afternoon

Had Been Klemme Resident 20 Years

Funeral services for Benjamin L. Netland, 67, were held from the Klemme Methodist Church at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon with Rev. Vernon E. Jaberg in charge in the absence of Rev. E. Morris Egeland.

Ben, who was section foreman for the Rock Island Railroad for thirteen years here, became ill in 1946, and since that time had been in poor health. He had been a patient in University Hospital at Iowa City, but died last Thursday, January 28.

Interment was on the family lot in Ell Township Cemetery at Klemme, and Ben was carried to rest by William Lau, Pete Paulson, Dan Kaduce, Martin Karsjens, Kermit Koerner, and Glen Bridges.

Wellemeyer Funeral Service was in charge of arrangements for the funeral.

An obituary of Mr. Netland appears on page seven of this issue of The Times.

To Be Married

MISS LORENA THOME

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Thome of Stacyville announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Lorena, to Raymond Pannhoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pannhoff of Klemme.

Miss Thome is employed by the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. at Garner. Mr. Pannhoff is employed by A. S. C. at Garner.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Egelands Return From Trip; Attend Funeral of Rev. Egeland's Sister

Rev. and Mrs. Egeland returned to Evanston on Tuesday evening following their attendance at the annual meeting of the Methodist Board of Missions at Buck Falls, Pennsylvania, from January 18 to the 23rd. The Egelands visited New York City and Washington D. C. following the conclusion of the Board of Missions meeting and called on friends and relatives m and near Perth Amboy, New Jersey.

On their way back to Klemme news reached them that Mr. Egeland's sister, Mrs. John Hofstad had been struck and killed by an automobile at Stoughton, Wisconsin, on the evening of Friday, January 29th. Funeral services were held in Stoughton on Tuesday afternoon, the Egelands returning to Klemme following these services.

Mr. Egeland also learned on returning from the east that his uncle, Mr. Julius Hilberg, had died suddenly on Saturday morning, January 23rd, following a heart attack. Mr. Hilberg was 87 years of age and had been visited by the Egelands on the occasion of his 87th birthday in September.

School Election Will Be Monday

Klemme Proposal to Go Before Voters In Special Election

Next Monday, February 8, is the date set for the special election on the proposed "Klemme Community School District". This election comes as the culination of a lot of hard work and organizing by members of the School Board, Supt. T. G. Ahrenkiel, and the Committee on Reorganization for the Klemme School.

Work on this project was begun clear back in October, and one reason that it has taken so long to bring the proposal to a vote is that those who have been doing most of the preparatory work have taken their time so as to see that everything would be taken care of as legally and as nearly to the wishes of everyone involved as possible.

On the back page of this week's Times you will find an and telling where each district will vote, with a map of the boundaries of the plan. This map will help you to locate the polling place in your district.

Have your say in what is to be done with the Klemme school. Get out and vote. The polls will be open from 12:00 noon until 7:00 P. M., and the date, again, is Monday, February 8.

Annual Meeting

The Hancock County Cooperative Oil Association will hold their annual meeting at 7:30 P. M. on Wednesday evening, February 17,, at the Garner Memorial Building.

According to Roy Railsback, manager of the Cooperative, there will be entertainment and fun for everyone. We will have more details of this event next week.

Pink and White Shower

A baby shower in honor of Diane Faye Hummel, daugther of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Hummel, was held at the Paul Goll home on Tuesday afternoon, January 26. Games were played during the afternoon and many lovely gifts were opened.

A delicious lunch in pink and white theme, was served by the hostesses Mesdames Sarah Goll, Carl Wille, Alvin Goll, Leroy Johnson, Leonard Kaduce, Donald Henricksen and Miss Lillian Wille.

Boys' Sectional Tourney To Begin At Garner On Monday, February 8

Next week Monday, play will begin in 96 sectional tournaments to decide who will be the champion boys team of the state of Iowa. The Klemme Shamrocks begin competition at Garner next Monday evening when they take on the Ventura team at 8:30. This should be a good game as each team holds a victory over the other.

On the same evening, Wesley and Corwith meet at 7 o'colck. Goodell and Meservey drew first round "Byes" and they will meet at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening. Winners of the Wesley-Corwith and Klemme - Ventura games meet at 7 o'clock on Wednesday evening, with the finals coming at 7 on Friday evening.

In Class "A" competition, Clear Lake and Kanawha meet at 8:30 o'clock on Tuesday evening, and Britt and Garner meet at 8:30 o'clock on Wednesday evening. The winners of these two games play for the championship at 8:30, Friday night.

Hancock County Plan For School Immunization Clinics This Year

Sponsored by the Hancock County Medical Society, County Public Health Council, County Public Schools, County Memorial Hospital, and the County Public Health Nursing Service, the following plan will be put into effect:

To offer immunization, consisting of triple toxiod (diphtheria, Whooping cough, and tetanua) and smallpox, this year to all grades in all county schools. Three clinics to be held at monthly intervals.

Primary or first grade children should have had either immunization or booster dose prior to school entry. This first year in particular, primary and first grade will be carefully checked so as to offer immunization or booster doses to those children not having this protection before school entry.

Planning is done in this way so that the preschool examination program will continue to function, and the health of the preschool child will be a parental responsibility.

Other school referrals will also be taken, such as children with no immunization, transfers from other schools, etc.

The number of referrals from first grade or primary and others should decline aften the first year, so that eventually about all that will need to be given will be a booster dose for 4th and 9th grade pupils.

Draft Call

The Hancock County Local Board has announced that it has received a call for two registrants to be delivered for induction on 8 February 1954.

The call has been filled and reporting on this date will be Lawrence V. Smidt of Britt and Forrest L. Burress, also of Britt.

Report Approved

Hancock County Supervisors Tuesday approved the report of W. F. Pavey, Ell township justice of the peace. The report listed a total of $142. in fines levied during the quarter with $88 91 in fines paid during the quarter ending December 31, 1953.

Frank Kluckhohn, 71, Passed Away Sunday

Funeral services are being held this afernoon (Wednesday) from the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church for Frank W. Kluckhohn with Rev. Vernon E. Jaberg in charge.

Frank had been in business in Klemme for the past 32 years and was well-known and well-liked. He was born on a farm near Klemme and spent his entire life here being known as "Bally" to everyone in the community. He had been in good health until some over a year ago, and since the time when his health began to fail, he had been taking his duties at the store a little easier.

On January 23, he was taken to the hospital at Belmond for observation and treatment and it was there that he passed away on Sunday evening, January 31.

Frank is to be buried in the Ell Towship Cemetery in Klemme, and casket bearers are old friends and neighbors. They are Fred Bell, Dwight Hummel, Herman Back, Ed Christians, Harvey Barz, and George Buseman.

An obituary of Mr. Kluckhohn appears on page six of this issue of The Times.

Thieves Break In At County Courthouse

The Hancock County of Garner was closed last Saturday as officers investigated a breakin made by thieves sometime the night before. The theives used a acetylene torch to force the basement window, and to cut a hole in the safe in the clerk's office.

They also attempted to cut into the safe in the treasurer's office, but apparently were scared off before they finished.

Some valuable county papers were destroyed in the clerk's office and in all probability, some money was taken. The thieves also broke into a soft drink machine in the entrance of the courthouse, and took what money was there.

The breakin was discovered by Earl Henschen, caretaker, when he opened the building about 7:00 a. m. Saturday.

The thieves also visited Hale-Phipps Motors in Garner, taking about $200 in cash as well as the torch they used in the courthouse robbery, and a Chevrolet coupe. The car was found Saturday in Garner with the torch in the trunk. Neither the car or the torch had been damaged.

Winners Announced

Mrs. Richard Finders, operator of Donna's Beauty Shop, announces the following winners in the guessing contest which she ran in connection with her formal opening last Friday and Saturday:

First prize of a $20 permanent went to Mrs. Merlyn Helps, second prize of a shampoo and hair style went to Mrs. Dwight Hummel, and third prize of a haircut went to Lois Christians.

First Aid Course

The first lesson of a nine-week First Aid Course was given at the grades chool last Monday evening with 22 attending. Those who were on hand were enthusiastic about the instruction being presented by Clarence Neimeyer of Garner.

Anyone else who might want to take the course but for some reason missed the first class, can still enroll and get full benefit.

Shamrocks Down Rockwell 49-43 As Girls Lose

Win Takes Shamrocks Out of Cellar; Puts Rockwell at Bottom

Friday night, the Klemme Shamrocks met Rockwell on the local floor and avenged on earlier 2-point defeat suffered at the hands of Rockwell by a score of 49 to 43.

The game started out with the Shamrocks in control. Playing good ball all through the first half, the locals held a 30 to 15 half-time lead. At the start of the third quarter they increased their lead to make it 34 to 17, and then Rockwell began to gradually pull up on them. Before it was over with, the game became quite a thriller, with Rockwell coming within four points of the Shamrocks late in the fourth quarter. However, a couple of crucial buckets by the locals staved off the Rockwell rally, an kept them ahead for the final score of 49 to 43.

This game took the Shamrocks out of the cellar, a spot which they occupied last week, and put Rockwell in that position in the standing. Klemme and Ventura have identical records of 4 wins and 8 losses to be tied for the spot just out of the cellar, and Rockwell has 3 wins and 9 losses.

Thiemann was the big gun for Klemme as far as scoring went. He got 19 points on 8 field goals and 3 free throws. Ridder had 8 points, Karsjens, 7, Terhufen, 6, Barz, 5, and Haefner, 4.

GIRLS LOSE

In a game that saw the lead change hands several times during the first half, the Shamrockettes, finally bowed to the sharp shooting Rockwell girls and went down by a score of 69 to 56. This was one of the better girls games of the season as far as fans were concerned.

Carol Bridges led the scoring for Klemme with 31 points, while Lois Christians also had a good night and hit for 20. Sturges of Rockwell had 39 to lead the scoring for the game.

"We're like 'Ike'! Check the coffee hike," says Ernie Gerardi. Ernie apparently got tired of the way the coffee price was going, and being quite a hand to boost local activities, hit upon the idea of giving the dairy industry a boost, and at the same time put a good drink out to his customers for a nickel.

Ernie has a big ad on page six of this issue, telling all about the new stainless steel milk dispenser he has installed in his cafe, and why he thinks his customers should make the switch from coffee to milk.

If you had happened along the main street of Klemme last Friday noon, you might have been surprised to see Henry Wessels perched on the roof of the Wellemeyer Building, smoking a cigarette and apparently taking things easy. However, if the truth were known, the cigarette wasn't the only thing that was smoking. "Hank" was probably a little hot under the collar, too.

He went up on the roof to shovel off some snow, and while he was thus busily engaged, a couple of jokesters took his ladder away. "Hank" put in considerable time wondering how he was going to get down before Eckard Zeidler finally came along and set the ladder back up for him.

The roof is a good place for a sun bath, "Hank", but this is certainly not the season for it. If you would like to get even with the pair that put you in such a predicament . . . well, we better not say anything more.

The GI's who switched over to communism and went behind the iron curtain have already been put to work making propaganda broadcasts. We have a suspicion that the day is not too far distant when they will wish they had stuck to the oath that they took when they were sworn into the service of their country. The commies are great believers in the purge. They don't hesitate to use it on their own people, and we are inclined to believe that when they are through using these poor deluded ex-GI's, they won't have much compunction about getting rid of them either.

For some reason or other a robin is spending the winter here in Klemme. He hangs out between Marie Blank's and Worthie Usher's and is doing alright. The Ushers see that there is feed out for him and they see him every day.

They don't know if he was hurt and couldn't go south when the rest of the robins went, or whether he just likes it here.

If there was nothing to keep him from going south with the other birds, we think he is just plain demented. If we had wings and could shift for ourselves as easily as the birds do, we would be "long gone" from this cold climate. Of course, we'd be back come spring.

Walter Blumer tells this for the truth.

He says that when he was down in Texas, he was being shown some of the country around Brownsville, and he saw a huge field of potatoes. The potatoes had about six inches of foliage above the ground.

Next day he was out riding around with John Neuberger, and wanted John to take him by so they could see them again. They drove and drove, but couldn't find the field. Finally John said, "I know what happened. We do things big down here . . . and in a hurry. Those potatoes have all been dug.

That's a tall one even for Texas.

The Russians are at it again! Just like always they want everything their own way. In the big 4 conference in Berlin, they are doing their best to block the west from doing anything to make for more freedom in the world. We still think that trying to get along with a group who is sworn to achieve the downfall of our government, and every other free government in the world, is a big waste of time and money. They apparently come to these conferences with everything thought out ahead of time and will settle for nothing less than exacly what they want. Phooey!

Don't forget to go and vote in the school election Monday. The outcome of that election is vital to everyone in this community.

Cub Scouts Met

The Cub Scout Pack meeting for January was held Wednesday the 27th in the grade school basement. There were about 60 persons present. This was the annual chili supper, which is held in January.

Following the supper, the meeting was opened with the introduction of the theme of the month which was "Puppets". Den II gave a skit with hand puppets and Den I gave a shadow puppet pantomine. Jerry Evans told the story of "The Three Billy Goats Gruff".

Each boy showed the puppets he had brought for the exhibit. Business was discussed. The meeting was closed with the Cub Scouts repeating the Promise, Laws, Motto and Benediction.

Be sure to watch for the Cub Scout window displays in the store windows during the Scout Birthday Week—February 7 - 13.

RED CROSS WATER SAFETY 40 YEARS OLD

Only forty years have passed since February 1, 1914, when the first Red Cross Water Safety courses were introduced to the world by the "amiable whale," the late Commodore Wilbert E. Longfellow (on running board). And, though styles in bathing attire have changed drastically in that time, the principles of water safety which the Red Cross has taught to 9,300,000 persons have remained constant. Waterproofing America has paid big dividends; since 1914 the drowning rate per 100,000 population has been cut in half. Water Safety is one of the many Red Cross services you support by your contributions to the annual Red Cross Campaign in March.

Ruth Circle Met

Ruth Circle met last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jacob Hess with Mrs. Edwin Josten as co-hostess. Mrs. Lester Neuberger had the lesson. During and after the business meeting the members worked on mittens and aprons to be sent to Korea.

Corn Allotment Notices In March

Farmers of Hancock County will receive notices of their corn acreage allotments for 1954 around the middle of March, it was reported this week by A. E. Rasmussen, chairman of the county ASC committee. The notices will be sent by mail.

Corn allotments were proclaimed January 20 by Secretary of Agriculture Benson in compliance with a law requiring such action because of the great quanity of corn and other feed grain now on hand in the nation as a whole. The allotments will be in effect in 834 commercial corn growing counties of 22 states. All Iowa counties will have corn allotments.

Chairman A. E. Rasmussen explained that commercial corn counties, where allotments will be effective, are those in which corn production during the past 10 years has averaged 450 or more bushels per farm and four or more bushels of corn per acre of farm land. Included also for allotments are neighboring counties which in recent years produced this amount of corn and; under normal conditions, would produce such amounts in 1954.

Farmers who comply with their allotments in 1954 will be eligible for 90 percent of parity price support loans and purchase agreements on corn raised this year. Those who plant more than their alloted acreage will not be eligible for price support loans or purchase agreements.

In non-commercial counties of the nation where allotments will not be in effect, price support for the 1954 crop will be limited to 75 percent of the rate in the counties having allotments.

The national allotment for the commercial corn producing counties in 1954 has been fixed at 46,995,504 acres, or nearly 10 million acres less than planted to corn in the 834 counties in 1953. This national allotment will be apportioned among the counties on the basis of acreage planted in the past 10 years, with adjustments for abnormal weather conditions, trends in acreage during the 10-year period and better land use programs. Counties of Iowa are expected to be notified of their allotments in February and each county ASC office will then be in position to compute the actual allotment for each farm.

Meantime the ASC community committees must review the corpping histories assembled recently for all farms in their own townships and establish a corn acreage base for each farm after making necessary adjustments to assure fair and impartial treatment for all. After this work is approved by the county ASC committee, the base for each farm will be used in apportioning the county acreage allotment.

Legion Auxiliary Met

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary met at the home of Leafy Coobs, Tuesday evening, February 2. The president Cora Schaefer presided over the regular business meeting.

$30 has been sent in for the USO Fund.

We voted to replace one of the rubber sheets for the Auxiliary bed.

Lena Lewis offered to send a gift to our sponsored child at Woodward this month.

Plans for the Winter Conference to be held in Des Moines February 7 and 8 were discussed. Some members hope to attend all or part of the session.

Following the meeting, lunch was served by the hostesses Leafy Coobs and Mary Ahrenkeil.

TINY

At Greenfield, a tiny two pound 10 ounce infant girl is making a fight for life, in a special oxygen air lock. The premature youngster is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Herr, of Stuart.

Protect your heat lamps from moisture and physical damage.

24TH

John Crees, 57, is the oldest Audubon county official in point of longevity. He's now beginning his 24th year as clerk of the court.

DIES

Capt. Dea Ray, U. S. air pilot who was recently killed in a crash in Nicaragua, is a native of Winterset. His mother is Mrs. Arthur Campbell of that city.

STRING

About three years ago, Hamburg postoffice custodian started saving the string with which issues of the Hamburg Reporter were wrapped. The ball of twine is now almost three feet across, and weighs about fifty pounds.

HEEL

As he stepped out of his automobile, Maynard Lucht of near Storm Lake shot himself in the heel with a .22 rifle. The injury was not serious.

44TH ANNIVERSARY 1954

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

Official Boy Scout Week Poster

The 44th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America will be observed during Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7 to 13, by more than 3,300,000 boys and adult leaders. Since 1910 more than 21,000,000 boys and leaders have been members.

Boy Scout Week will highlight the "Forward on Liberty's Team" theme which seeks to produce a greater functioning manpower and provide a higher quality program for an ever-increasing membership.

In countless communities, Scouts, their parents, local institutions and public officials will pay tribute to the leaders of 89,000 Units for the contribution they are making to the boyhood of America.

Preshrink Wool Fabric Before Starting to Sew

Lovely new lightweight woolens for dresses and moderate weights for spring coats and suits offer a rewarding sewing session ahead for homemakers who make part of their own wardrobe each year. But unless the bolt of fabric is labeled "preshrunk and ready to sew," you will want to be sure to preshrink the fabric yourself before you lay out and cut your pattern.

Here's the preshrinking cut edges of the fabric and selvages and baste together or pin together with rust-proof pins. Fold a full sized sheet lengthwise. Wring the sheet out in warm water and place it on a table. Place the wool fabric on the sheet, smooth out any wrinkles and fold the sheet over the wool agout 8 to 12 inches at one end. Then keep folding the fabric inside the sheet, smoothing it free of wrinkes as you fold.

Set the sheet-wrapped fabric aside for a few hours or overnight to let the dampness penetrate evenly. Then carefully remove the sheet and spread the folded wool fabric on a flat surface to dry. Smooth out wrinkles. When it's dry, it may need steam pressing.

Guenther, Britt Farmer To Run for Legislature

Nomination papers were being circulated this week for Gilbert Guenther, Erin township farmer as a Republican candidate for state representative from Hancock County in the June primary election.

Guenther, a successful farmer, community worker and leader, said he had been encouraged to run by many farmers in the county and by other friends. It is his first try at such a public office although he is serving on the Erin township school board and has been county Farm Bureau president.

Guenther moved to Erin township, eight years ago after purchasing a farm there. It is located seven miles northeast of Kanawha, nine miles norteast of Corwith and 7 miles soutwest of Britt. With the help of two other full-time men and his oldest son, the candidate farms 720 acres.

Guenther, 47, grew up in Page county on a farm and went to high school and junior college at Clarinda. He worked on a farm for 8 years before he married in 1934 and started out on his own.

He farmed near Ida Grove in Ida county from 1934 to 1946 when he moved to Hancock county.

Guenther is a member of the Methodist Church in Britt, is on the church board and has "taught Sunday school as long as I can remember."

He married Eleanor Coalter of Ida Grove in 1834 and they have five children: Virginia 18, George 17, Jeanette 15, Margaret 11 and Eugene 8.

The candidate was an early supporter of soil conservation and has done much on his farm to preserve the soil through a livestock program. He is a supporter of a farm program that will "allow a man to stand on his own feet" as much as possible and also advocates a more equitable method of taxation to support our schools.

The office of state representative was left wide open when Penn Eckels announced he would not be a candidate for re-election.

Twin Lake Go Getters

A meeting of the 4-H Twin Lake Go-Getters was held at the home of Carol Kurtz, January 16, with fifteen members answering roll call to "Tools We Need For Our Sewing Box."

Patsy Walinder and Patty Burke are two new members.

Mrs. Merle Janssen and Miss Nora Eliason are assisting Mrs. Nuehring as leaders because of the passing away of our leader, Mrs. Irving Haupt.

We decided to borrow some records for our club.

We gave a $5 memorial for Mrs. Haupt.

Mrs. Nuehring sent a letter to the national 4-H magazine about our booth of double duty hassocks, which may be of some help to other clubs. She then read a letter of reply from them.

The demostrations and talks were given as follows: Janet Lange and Susan Watne demonstrated "Measuring the Individual". A talk, "Pattern Alterations, Marcia Watne; "Colors Girls May Wear, Marcella Nuehring assisted by Marilyn Pals and Luanne Waage; Health, Marcia Watne; History, Luanne Waage; Gardening Tools, Betty Lauden; and Courtesy, Marcella Nuehring.

Those attending officers' training school were Betty Lauden and Marcella Nuehring.

Music training was attended by Marcia Watne, Betty Lauden and Marcella Nuehring.

Slides were shown on good posture, good grooming and accories. We also listened to the 4-H records that were played.

Reporter, Faye Janssen

New Electricity Project Started for 4-H Boys

A new boys 4-H project has been started for boys who have a high interest in electricity or for boys who live in town and cannot have livestock as their project.

This electrical project is entirely new and Hancock County is the first county to have Ken McFate, Iowa State Agriculture extension engineer, discuss the program with the 4-H leaders.

The boys will carry the electricity project just the same way as boys with livestock projects. Members may also carry it along with their regular livestock project. Boys will construct electrical materials like an extension ord, table lamp, pig or chick brooder on other numerous projects or they may receive credit for repairing or installing electrical wiring. The boys may sell any of these projects just like the boys with livestock.

The boys with the electrical projects will keep records on the cost of materials, the amount they saved by making the project rather than purchasing it. If the project is sold they have blanks to fill in the amount sold for and the net profit.

The boys will have regular record books just the same as boys with livestock and will have electricity sheets in place of the feed record sheets.

The local leaders will discuss this with the boys at the next 4-H meeting and any boys interested in this project should attend the next 4-H meeting in his township.

THE SHAMROCK

VOLUME NUMBE 5 KLEMME, IOWA, FEBRUARY 3, 1954 NUMBER 19

Feature Article

This week our feature article is about the hot lunch program. This year an average of 160 students eat there every day. The students can pay thirty-five cents for each individual meal, or can buy a meal ticket for six dollars which is good for twenty meals. The hot lunch program gets five cents for each meal from the state. An average meal is: meat loaf, mashed potatoes, gravy, string beans, peach sauce, peanut butter sandwiches, and milk.

Senior Interview

Ralph Draves, who has been attending Klemme High School December 1950, was born December 2, 1936, at Clarion, Iowa. He has blond hair and hazel eyes. Ralph stands five feet, ten and one-half inches tall and weighs 165 pounds.

Before he came here in his freshman year, Ralph attended the Rowan Consolidated School.

One of his favorite pastimes is sleeping, and his favorite saying is: "I refuse to answer on the grounds that it might incriminate me."

Ralph's favorite singer is Bing Crosby; his favorite actor is Allan Ladd; his favorite food is ice cream. When asked what his pet peeve was he replied, "A person who snickers when someone makes a mistake."

Ralph's plans are to attend college and study to be an electrical engineer.

Fourth Grade

We had a lot of excitement in our science corner last Monday morning. We watched a Cecropia Moth hatch and dry its wings. We have another pupa that we are hoping will open soon.

In social studies our class made a very colorful and interesting bulletin-board on farm machinery.

Those who have attended the first eighteen weeks of school without being absent or tardy were James Christians, James Clements and Billy Clabaugh.

Recent visitors in our room have been Mrs. John Clements, Mrs. Glen Bridges, and Miss Helen Lemke, the County Nurse.

In art we have started to decorate our room for February.

We are beginning to divide with three-figure quotients. We find they are easy, but they take a lot of room on our paper.

Freshman News

Well, your reporter decided to get down to some halfway sensible class news for a change. It contains a review of almost everything we have covered this year and tells a little about our semester tests also

In English we started out the year with themes, outlining them and how to make them more interesting. We then took up spelling, sentence constructions, and finished up the semester with parts of speech and theme writing.

Mathematics began with a review of percentage, discounts, margin, overhead, profit, interest, insurance and ratio. Then we went into geometry, measuring, metric measure, angles, constructions of many kinds, drawing designs, area, volume, etc. Then we drew graphs of different kinds and started on formulas, and how to find area, volume, circumference, perimeter, etc. by using them. We wound up the semester on equasions. Our semester test contained areas, volumes, exponents, and equasions.

We began general science with the things about us and experiments. We then took up energy, molecules, atoms, work, measuring works, inertia, the six basic machines, and horse power. We then studied air, air pressure, pumps, how air transmits sound, and how air is related to fire and lining things; we studied water, heat and light and finished the semester with magnetism and electricty. Our semester test was seven pages long and consisted of every test we had during the semester.

At the first of the year in home economics we studied good grooming, how to apply make-up, the steps in manicuring, shampooing, etc. After a few weeks, we started to prepare citrus fruits (oranges and grapefruit). We learned how to section an orange and grapefruit, how to peel an orange and how to broil grapefruit. Next we learned how to prepare dried fruit (prunes and peaches). After these we fried and baked apples and baked bananas. When we finished with fruit, we started with beverages. We made about five or six different kinds of cocoa, that is, we used cocoa and chocolate, evaporated, condensed, powdered, and the regular pasteurized milk. When we finished breakfast beverages we began making baking powder biscuits, bran muffins, and blueberry muffins. We made some candy before Christmas, (fudge, divinity, carmel, and fondant). We made waffles, pancakes, omlets, and popovers. We made different kinds of eggs (poached, creamed, and scrambled) and bacon rings. We have fixed a complete breakfast and are planing another. During the year we learned the composition of different foods usch as eggs, milk, and cereal. We learned how to set a table correctly. We studied different kinds of glass and silverware. We learned a lot of helpful things during the course of the year.

All during the semester when you would pick up the Shamrock and read the freshman news (I hope) you saw us working on our projects, week in and week out. Now I've decided to tell you what those projects are so here goes:

Robert Ausborn: Hall tree.
Martin Brinkman: Corner shelf.
Kay Burk: Magazine rack.
Arthur Carlson: Mail rack and dressing table lamps.
Herbert Greimann: Gun case.
Elmer Howard: Slicing board and knife holder.
Ronald Hummel: Magazine rack.
Roger Johnson: Magazine rack.
Marvin Josten: Magazine rack.
Jim Karsjens: Magazine rack.
Robert Larson: Hall tree and two bread boards.
Gary Lenz: Nail box.
Keith Nuehring: Wall shelf.
Marvin Sandry: Table and lamp.
Val Stromer: Box.

? ? of the Week

What would you do if you had a zobo?

Jo Ann Burgess: Burn it up.
Lois Boland: Leave it alone.
Dick Baack: Ship it back where it came from.
Merlyn Olson: Stay away from it.
Tom Waddingham: Go Sailing.
Harry Anderson: Find out what it is made of.
Ronnie Karsjens: Go crazy.
Anita Katter: Blow it.
Cecil Jacobs: I would give it to Mr. Andreae in algebra class.
Alan Neuberger: Take it home and put it in bed with Noel instead of me! !
Marvin Michelson: Throw it away.

Definition of a zobo: A zobo is a domestic cow raised in Asia.

Boys' Sports

Tuesday, January 26, the Shamrocks traveled to Franklin only to lose by a score of 42-55. The game started out with Franklin in the lead. This was the way it was in the first and second quarters. The second half started with Franklin slowly moving out in front. At the end of the third quarter, we were behind by 13 points. The fourth quarter started with Franklin slowly getting out in front. This was too much for the Shamrocks so that's how the game ended with 42-55 in favor of Franklin.

Girls' Sports

If we girls are ever going to run into a winning streak, it will probably be after the season is over. Our game Tuesday night with Franklin proved to be a 58-34 defeat. Carol Bridges led with 26 points for Klemme.

Our next game is Friday night at Klemme with Rockwell. Then the tournaments at Hanlontown with Klemme playing Swaledale the second night of the tournament, February 2. From what we've heard, we are pretty well matched with Swaledale. All of you come and yell and we'll do our best.

Third Grade

Mrs. Lau and Mrs. Virgil Waddingham visited our room last week.

Julie Stokesbary returned her dental card last week. This brings our total to 17 signed cards.

The Bluejays have started new reading books this week. We like the stories very much.

There was a tie in the report card return contest. The North and South both returned them all in two days. We now get a treat.

We have our Good Posture posters completed and up on the wall.

Second Grade

The Fairies began reading in their "New Friends and Neighbors" reading book, and working in their new workbooks.

The Brownies have finished reading the unit, "New Storybook Friends", and are beginning the unit "Work on Pleasant Street".

We are learning how to write a letter and an invitation in language.

In phonics we have had the short vowel sounds and are now beginning the long vowel sounds. Roger Schmidt had a birthday party on his eighth birthday.

Obituary of Mr. Frank W. Kluckhohn

By Rev. Vernon E. Jaberg

Mr. Frank William Kluckhohn whose passing is deeply regretted and mourned by his family, loved ones, friends and neighbors was born on November 2, 1882, on a farm north of Klemme, Iowa. He was the son of George W. Kluckhohn and Louisa nee Ell Kluckhohn.

As a youth he attended the rural school in the vicinity of the Kluckhohn home and later Frank graduated from the Garner High School. He then attended Ellsworth College in Iowa Falls, Iowa.

On May 14, 1914, Mr. Frank Kluckhohn and Miss Anna Liljenberg were united in the bonds of marriage at the parental home of the bridegroom. God in His providence blessed this home with three children, Kenneth, Franklin, and Carmen.

Mr. Kluckhohn or "Bally" as he was commonly known, entered business with his father in Klemme. For the past thirty-two years he has been in business with his brothers, Fred and Clarence, dealing in groceries and general merchandise. Frank was very diligent and faithful in fulfilling his responsibilities in his place of business and always had a friendly word of greeting for all who came in contact with him. On November 8, 1930, Mrs. Kluckhohn was called to her eternal reward and Frank had the full responsibility of caring for and guiding the lives of his children.

In recent months Mr. Kluckhohn has been in failing health. It was necessary for him to be relieved of his business responsibilities and on January 23 he was taken to the Belmond Hospital. On Sunday, January 31, he departed from this earthly life having attained the age of 71 years, 2 months and 29 days.

He leaves to mourn his departure his children, Kenneth and Franklin of Klemme and Carmen (Mrs. Lynford Back) of Klemme. Also surviving are two brothers, Fred, and Clarence E. Kluckhohn, both of Klemme and sisters, (Lola) Mrs. W. C. Keraus of Klemme and Sadie (Mrs. L. D. Turgasen) of State Center, Iowa. Obituary of Mr. Benjamin L. Netland

Mr. Benjamin Lars Netland, whose death is regretted and mourned by his loved ones, family and friends, was born on October 13, 1886, in Sheldal, Iowa. He was the son of Thomas Netland and Katherine nee Husken Netland.

He attended the public schools of Eagle Grove, Iowa, and as a youth he was received into the fellowship of the Evangelical Lutheran Church at Eagle Grove through the rite of Christian Confirmation.

On December 25, 1909, he was united in the bonds of marriage with Miss Mary Scheppler. This marriage was blessed in God's providence with four children.

Mr. Netland, or "Ben", as he was commonly known, worked for the railroad for a number of years and in 1934 Mr. and Mrs. Netland moved to Klemme where he was employed as section foreman on the Rock Island Railroad for thirteen years.

In 1946 Ben became sick and had been in failing health until the time of his death. Mr. Netland had been a patient in the University of Iowa Hospital in Iowa City, prior to his death. Ben died on Thursday, January 28, 1954, having attained the age of 67 years, 3 months and 15 days.

Mourning his departure are his wife Mary, two daughters, Ethel (Mrs. Fred Sobek), Mary Lou (Mrs. Elmer Bachman) and one son, Mr. George Netland. He is also survived by two brothers, Mike Netland of Lebanon, Oregon, and Tandrup Netland of Portland, Oregon; and two sisters, Eleda (Mrs. William Olson) of Eagle Grove, Iowa, and Jennie (Mrs. Albert Craig) of Webster City, Iowa. Also surviving are fifteen grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Mr. Netland was preceded in death by his parents, brother Elmer, and sister Thelma, and by one daughter, Irene.

Liberty Busy Bees Met

The regular meeting of the Liberty Busy Bees was held January 23rd at 1:30 P. M. at the home of Susan Haberkamp. Fifteen members and 9 guests including 3 members from the Ell Tip Toppers were present. After a short business meeting the following talks and demonstrations were given.

Talks: "Care of the Hair" by Marion Stromer; "Little Things about personal grooming", by Susan Haberkamp. Demonstrations: "Tying a Knot Without Tails", by Nancy Farquhar; "Measuring Materials of Aprons to Fit Individuals", by June Mayland; "Making Gathers", by Barbara Hughes; and "Putting a Band on an Apron", by Patty Greimann.

Our leaders discussed the individul goals found in our program books with us.

Miss VanWert told us some points to remember. We completed the afternoon with a workshop on making an apron. Every girl worked on an apron for herself. She is to complete this apron and wear it to the next meeting.

Our next meeting will be held February 15th at 7:15 p. m., at the home of Darlene Hrubes. The mothers who will help are Mrs. Gordon Greimann and Mrs. Jerry Psotka.

Lunch was served by the hostess and her mother.

Carolyn Jass, reporter.

Klemme Folks Help Celebrate Anniversary Of Texas Couple

Recently there was a 25th wedding anniversary celebration held at Brownsville, Texas, at which quite a few Klemme people were in attendance. Following is a story of the event sent to us from Brownsville:

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Neuberger celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary January 22nd with twenty-five guests present at a dinner in their home. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Neuberger of Klemme, Iowa, who are spending the winter here; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Blumer who have spent the past seven winters here and live at Garner, Iowa, also Mr. Kraus, who lives with them. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blumer, she is a sister of Mr. Neuberger, and their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Blumer arrived from Klemme, Iowa, for a short visit the day before, and were also present.

Guests from Brownsville included Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Osher, Mrs. Charles Phares, Mr. and Mrs. David Henry and family, Miss Billie Merle Renfrow, Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Anderson and son Duane, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Ax and Billy DeMerritt. Mr. Ax is a brother of Mrs. Neuberger.

After a bountiful dinner highlighted with a wedding cake baked by Mrs. Emil Blumer, a few of the guests surprised Mr. and Mrs. Neuberger with a short unrehearsed comic wedding. Emil Blumer attired in Mr. Neuberger's wedding suit was the sober minister, and Mrs. Anderson wearing Mrs. Neuberger's wedding dress was the sobbing mother of the bride. Mrs. Clarence Neuberger dressed as a groom. Mrs. Henry the bride. Duane Anderson was the ring bearer.

During the evening Ivan Blumer showed moving pictures he had taken in Europe. He just returned from Europe Christmas Day.

The occassion also honored Mr. and Mrs. Emil Blumer who were celebrating their 36th wedding anniversary the next day. Mr. Kraus' 85th birthday and Dr. Osher's birthday the same day as the event. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blumer had celebrated their wedding anniversary January 16.

The Neuberger men and their sister placed a long distance phone call and talked to their mother and father in Klemme, Iowa, whose 58th wedding anniversary was that same day. Mrs. Neuberger was Pearl Ax before her marriage.

The Neubergers were honored with many nice silver gifts.

Just to prove how little it costs to run this tractor for 6 months...

WE'LL BUY HALF YOUR FUEL OURSELVES

Yes, you read it right! Trade in your old tractor on a new Oliver Diesel wheel tractor, and we'll pay half your new tractor's fuel bill for 6 months straight. We mean any 6 months' work on your farm, even your six heaviest months, for the longest hours you want to work. Just bring in your fuel bills to show what you spent, and we'll give you a check for half.

why we're making you this offer

We figure if we offer to pay half your fuel, you'll keep track of your costs. That's all we want: for you to see how low they'll be. You'll find that you're burning only 6 gallons of fuel where your gasoline tractor burned 10—and buying your diesel fuel for a whole lot less!

We're betting you'll say you'd never go back to gasoline. Especially when you find that your upkeep is as low as your fuel cost. Your Oliver Diesel has the simplest engine ever put in a farm tractor—no carburetor, no plugs, fewer moving parts—very easy to keep in top working order.

no starting engine, no starting fuel

Oliver Diesels start and run on diesel fuel. They give you instant starts even in freezing weather. They withstand a longer lay-up than any spark ignition tractor. Best of all, Oliver makes a diesel in any size you want—two-plow, three-plow, four-plow—whatever size is best for your operations.

you're paying for a diesel, why not have one?

That's what users say: with the high fuel cost of a gasoline tractor, you're paying for a diesel whether you have one or not. That's why farmers by the thousands are going over to low-cost diesel power. You will yourself sooner or later. Why not buy your diesel now, start your savings now, while this special offer still holds.

BUY AN OLIVER DIESEL AND WE'LL BUY HALF YOUR FUEL!

February Will Be Iowa Heart Month

The Hancock County Tuberculosis and Health Association will observe February as Heart Month by distributing literature about the heart and heart disease to local club and organization, Mrs. Adam Jurigan, heart chairman, announced this week.

The project is one of many being conducted throughout the state during February to acquaint Iowans with the facts about their hearts, and to clear up many of the misconceptions that people have held for years about heart disease. It is being undertaken in cooperation with the Iowa Heart Association.

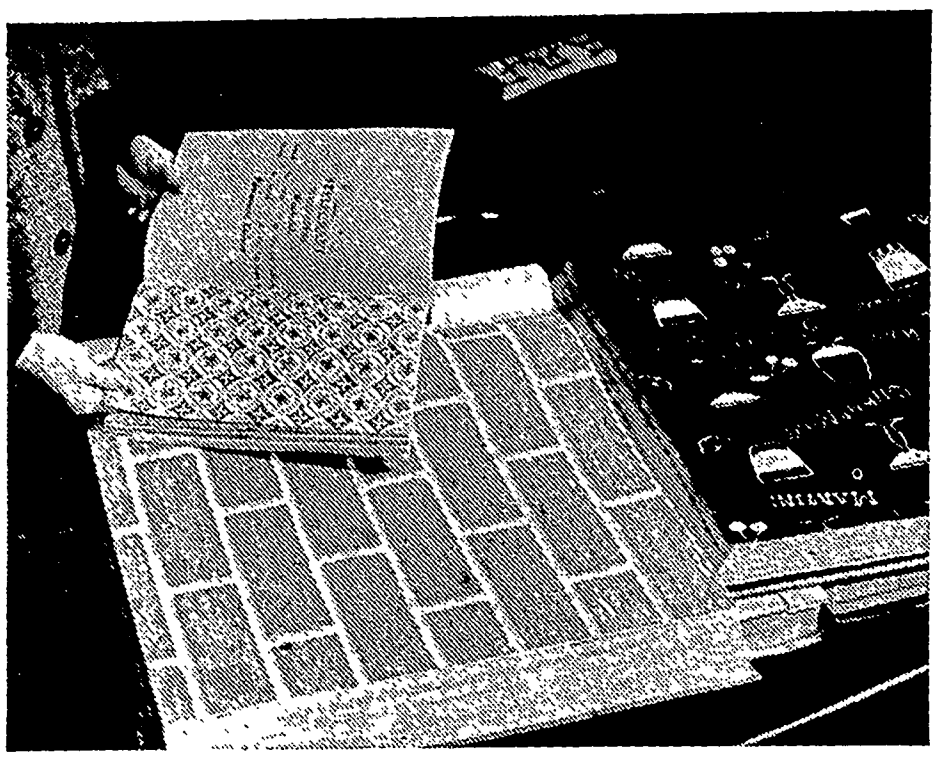
Mrs. Jurigan said that as many organizations as possible will be reached with the message during February, traditionally Heart Month, but that some might be overlooked. She suggested that organizations wanting to receive heart literature should call or write her at Garner, Iowa, giving the number of copies needed, and she would have the leaflets delivered as quickly as possible.

Several of the leaflets are of the quiz type, and concern the different types of heart disease, employment and heart disease, and living with heart disease.

The Hancock County Tuberculosis and Health Association represents the Iowa Heart Association in this community, and helps support the heart program through the annual sale of Christmas Seals.

Wallpaper Trends for 1954—

New Life for Your Walls



Here are just three wallpapers that give a clue to the wide variety of patterns and designs available—a small geometric design, a paper with the look of a brick wall, and a gay novelty print on a black ground.

Decorating with wallpaper is bound to be an exciting undertaking this spring, what with fresh new patterns, color combinations and textures appearing in most every sample book.

Although patterns run from small geometrics to bold floral, striped or novelty effects, there seems to be a trend toward many more small patterns, abtracts, line designs and interesting textures. Emelda Kunau, Iowa State College extension home furnishings specialist, also notes frequent use of two-color and tone-on-tone effects. Dark line motifs appear on light grounds, while colored backgrounds are used effectively with black designs.

There are designs that simulate wood paneling, rough-surface brick, or a cool garden wall of irregular shaped stones. But these are, after all, limitations and you may not like the effect, Miss Kunau cautions.

The long-ago feeling is captured in a medieval landscape with the look of a woodcut; airy sketches of old castles and abbeys: line drawing of New York streets in the horse and buggy days. Some rustic, modernized versions of rural scenes have a "Grandma Moses" look to them.

Circles, squares, ovals prisms, and bubbles are interpreted in a variety of fresh ways with a modern air.

You can find small-scale patterns that are right for any decorating period. The abtracts and geometrics look particularly well in a modern setting. Or you can locate geometric or scenic murals on a grand scale to dramatize a wall. If you have a special hobby, you can very often find clever novelty paper that depicts and rates a place in den study or play room.

DURABLE, EASY TO HANG

If you're looking for durability, you can find it in many of the new washable and plastic coated papers. A few lines are claimed to be stain proof. Some papers are given latex undercoats for extra toughness, flexibility and wear. Others have special non-soaking qualities that make for easier hanging and clean cutting around windows and moldings. Many houses are featuring pre-trimmed, ready-to hang papers and a kit to help you if you're doing the work yourself.

TIPS ON SELECTION

You may hit upon just the right paper your first trip through the sample books. But more likely you'll be confused by the endless parade of color, design, pattern and texture, says Miss Kunau.

It's very difficult to visualize just how a wallpaper will look in a certain room. Your best course of action will be to take home samples of several different papers. Perhaps your dealer will let you borrow a sample book or a large swatch of paper. Then study the different papers against the background of your room, its furniture, pictures, mood and colors.

If a delightful novelty motif catches your fancy, do remember to use it sparingly—on just one wall, or in a small area. Remember, too, that wallpaper can set the decorative tone of a whole room. A "busy" paper with interesting or colorful design can help fill a sparsely furnished room; a simple, textured one in subtle tones can add space to a crowded room. So give your decorating problem lots of careful thoughf before you make your choice.

Announcement Mode of Co chairmen of Cancer Fund for County

Annoucement of the appointment of Mrs. Ray Baker, Britt and Rev. Trevor Baskerville, Garner, as co-chairman for the 1954 fund raising campaign to finance the cancer control program in Hanock ounty was announced by Mrs. Arthur Ross of Garner, chairman of the Hancock county chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Last year Hancock county exceeded its assigned quota under the leadership of co-chairmen: Mrs. Baker and Rev. M. J. Klaus of Garner.

John J. Williams, Red Oak, serving his second year as state campaign chairman for the Iowa division expressed great satisfaction in the acceptance by Mrs. Baker and Rev. Baskerville of the co-chairmanship and responsibility of raising funds. Mr. Williams took the opportunity to express his gratitude to Iowans whose generous contributions in the past cancer crusades have enabled the Iowa division to maintain top ranking in the national ACS organization.

In accepting the appointment by Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Baker, acting as spokesman stated: "Our Cancer Crusade in April, designated by Congress as cancer control month, will have twin objectives: one—the promotion of an educational program designed to save the lives of some of us here in Hancock county. (25 residents died of cancer in 1952), and two—solicitation of funds to strike back at cancer through research (one out of six deaths in Iowa result from cancer).

"In this mannner we can save lives today through education and save still more lives in the future through the research being carried on today . . . much of it here in our own state.

"We are going to need the energetic and generous support of people of this county m an opportunity to service that is both a duy and a privilege, and typically American."

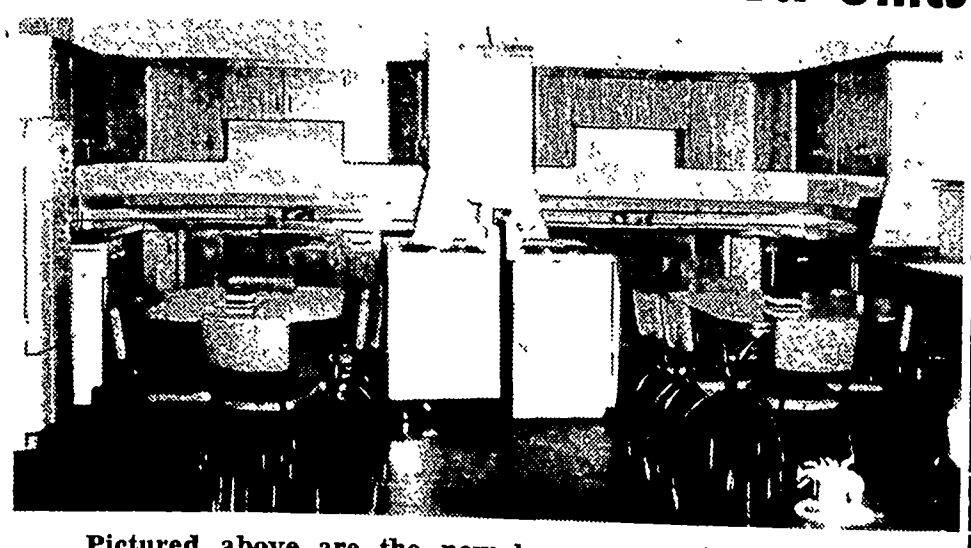
School Installs New Home Ec. Units



Pictured above are the new home economics units recently installed in the local school. Each unit is a complete kitchen including sink, stove, etc. The units are made of birch wood; the work surface has formica tops, and each unit has two solid maple cutting blocks. Each of the above units will handle six girls at once. Also, two dinette sets with six chairs each were purchased as well as two new electric stoves. The local school now has one of the better equipped home economics departments and the new units are a tremendous advancement over the old facilities.

Upon completion of the study of "Foods", the freshman home making girls, last Friday, prepared and served a breakfast for their mothers, making use of the newly purchased home economics units. The tables were prettily decorated with a Valentine centerpiece and place cards.

Pictured above are some of the mothers who attended the breakfast and in the background some of the girls in the class can be seen at work.

the Highway Story

IOWA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

A driver whipped through the stop sign, came to a crashing stop against another car in the middle of the intersection, then just sat there, bruised and dazed, while the crowds converged and the police came wailing up.

When the police asked the driver why he had driven through the stop sign he muttered, through a bloody mouth: "Sorghum molasses and hot biscuits."

It developed the man had bought a gallon of molasses and his wife had promised hot biscuits for supper. Hurrying home with his mind on the treat, he hadn't seen the stop sign.

That's a minor incident, but a true one, and it points up the contention of safety officials that the present high traffic death rate may be blamed, in large part, on the thousand distractions plaguing minds of drivers.

One of the most ironic examples of this occured when a well-known Iowa safety official was heading up an intensive safety drive. His mind was so taken up with details of the campaign that he drove through three red lights in the course of a week.

And another true incident. A driver coming home one evening was trying to decide whether to walk in the house and kiss his mother-in-law or hit her.

He figured if he kissed her it might patch things up around the house for a few days or, if he hit her, it would end his troubles neatly. While he was trying to decide, he drove through a stop sign with the expected results.

Plant diseases cost American farmers over 3 million dollars a year.

Martha Circle Met

Martha Circle met on January 28, in the church parlor with Mrs. A. G. Koerner and Mrs. Harry Draves as hostesses.

The meeting was opened with the song, "Blest Be The Tie". Mrs. Melvin Schaefer had the lesson, "The Sail". Mrs. Ralph Elder lead the meeting in the absence of Mrs. Henry Busse, who is recuperating satisfactorily and we hope will be back with us soon.

Twelve members were present and at the close of the meeting a delicious lunch was served.

Following is the lesson as prepared and given by Mrs. Melvin Schaefer:

The other night I was sewing carpet rags. A distasteful task as far as I'm concerned and I thought how much this resembled our lives.

At some time or other all of us stop and think over our lives We sort over the material. Then we piece them together, a little of this and a little of that. Then we have a big ball of our experiences.

We salvage something of good of our old things to make something still useful. So with our lives. Salvaging something of each experience hoping to better ourselves and our understanding of others.

Then the rug is woven with new warp—our hopes, our faith in the future. Now we have the rug to gaze on. There is a pretty strip—that one, I gave too much for it and it didn't wear well. So for an experience in our lives, we gave dearly and it wasn't what we expected. But we grew from the experience.

That one I gave little for it, but the happiness it gave. So for a strip of our lives. We gave little but it is a joy forever.

So the rug—our lives.

The weaver—God.

The warp—our hope and faith.

The strips—our memories and experiences.

Ell Midgets Make Rope Halters

The regular meeting of the Ell Midgets was held Monday night, January 25, at Jane Renner's. The meeting was called to order by saying the 4-H pledge. There were 21 members and 3 visitors present. We gave $3.00 to the International Youth Exchange.

The meeting was adjourned and Jerry Studer gave a talk on "Save that Extra Pig". Then we all made rope halters.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Ronald and Gary Kubly.

Abigail Hueneman Bride of Dows Man

Married at Peace Reformed Church

Miss Abigail Hueneman, daughter of Mrs. Victor Hueneman, Garner, and the late Victor C. Hueneman, became the bride of Robert S. Jacobsen. son of Mr. and Mrs. Sigurd Jacobsen of Dows, in a double ring ceremony performed at the Peace Reformed Church near Garner, Saturday evening, January 30th, at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. Chester Ploeger officiated.

Miss Lois Hueneman, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the bride's sisters, the Misses Rachel and Eunice Ruth Hueneman. Mr. Darwyne Jacobsen, cousin of the bridegroom, was bestman. The groom's attendants were Russel Brown and Charles Olson. Ushers were Gordon Guldberg and Franklin Bienert.

The bride wore a gown of white nylon net and chantilly lace, fashioned with bodice and long sleeves of lace. The scoop neckline featured tulle tucks under lace scallops outlined with iridescent sequins and pearl trim. Her full skirt of net was

Shamrockettes Lose In Second Round of Girls Sectional to Meservey

The Klemme Shamrockettes, by virtue of a win over Swaledale were advanced to the second round of the Girls Sectional Tournament at Hanlontown last week. However, here they ran into a meservey team that was too much for them and they got beat by a score of 58 to 31. Displaying some of their power, the Meservey girls went into a first quarter 20 to 8 lead, and from there on were never in danger. They went on to defeat the Shamrockettes by a score of 58 to 31.

After this defeat, the Shamrockettes met Thornton in the consolation game of the tournament, and although this game was much closer, still they were unable to gain victory. They started well and stayed with the Thornton girls until the end of the half when the score stood at 20 to 18 in Thornton's favor. By the end of the third quarter the margin was eight points as the Thornton girls led 34 to 26. Final score was 48 to 40.

Carol Bridges led the scoring for Klemme in both games, getting 18 points against Meservey, and 24 against Thornton. Lois Christians had 11 against Meservey and Jo Ellen Clabaugh had 13 in the Thornton game.

Meservey, who knocked the Shamrockettes out of the running in the second round, went on to win the tournament by defeating Ventura two points in an overtime game.

KILLED

John Von Liesen, Williamsburg, was killed recently as he sawed down a tree. The tree fell the wrong way, and a large limb pinned him to the ground, making it impossible for him to escape from the path of the falling tree.

Klemme Creamery To Hold Annual Meeting; King to be Speaker

The annual meeting of the Klemme Cooperative Creamery will be held on February 27th at the grade school basement. Karl Hueneman states that there will be entertainment and lunch as well as a speaker.

The speaker will be Earl L. King, Educational Director of the Iowa Institute of Cooperation. This institute is an educational agency representing all types of farmer cooperatives. It's primary purpose is to give factual information on the formation and operation of cooperatives to cooperative members, rural young people and the general public.

EARL L. KING

Mr. King has been connected with cooperatives since 1937 and his background in the field gives him a wealth of information upon which to talk. Mr. Hueneman thinks that his talk will be of special interest to the young folks of the community, but anyone interested in cooperatives is invited.

Smallest Margin In Liberty Township

Voters living in the six affected districts went to the polls Monday afternoon and approved the plan by a vote of 603 to 63. As a result of this action by the voters the new district will become an actuality rather than just a proposal on July 1st of this year.

A large number of voters turned out in nearly every one of the affected districts with that part of Liberty Township which was included in the new district casting nearly half of the no votes in the entire count for all 6 districts. Of the 63 no votes on the proposal, 28 were cast in Liberty.

Following are the figures on the voting by districts:

	Yes	No
Ell Township	91	3
Liberty Township	42	28
Twin Lake Township	57	14
Avery Township	105	8
Goodell Independent	3	2
Klemme Independent	305	8
Totals	603	63

That part of Goodell Independent which was included turned out 100 per cent to vote. The 3 to 2 vote in that district included all of the eligible voters.

Now that the voting is over with and the district has been approved there is still much work to be done before the district can be put into operation. Main thing as far as the voters are concerned is the election of a new school board to head the new district. As far as we know now, this will have to be done before June 10th.

We talked with Supt. T. G. Ahrenkiel, who worked hard in helping to get this organization through, and he was grateful to everyone who in any way helped in getting the proposal before the voters, and to the voters for their large affirmative vote.

Hancock County Co-op. Oil To Hold Meeting

Next Wednesday evening, February 17, the Hancock County Cooperative Oil Association will hold their annual meeting at 7:30 o'clock at the Garner Memorial Building.

On the program for the evening are free acts by the Marlo Entertainers. Lew Fine, The McNallie Sisters, and Jean Hamilton will be the feature entertainers. Charlie Selzer, Supt. of Schools of the Amana Colonies will be the principal speaker, and Bill Leichsenring, manager of the Ox Yoke Inn at the Amana Colonies will speak briefly.

Four directors will be elected for a term of two years, the auditor will give the annual report and dividend checks will be distributed.

All stockholders and member of the cooperative are invited to the meeting, as well as their families and friends.

Immunization Clinic

The first Hancock county immunization clinic to be held on a county-wide coverage for all twelve grades will be held at the Klemme High School building at 9:30 A. M. on February 26, according to a report released from Hancock County Public Health Nurse Helen Lemke. Other clinics will be held during March, time and place to be announced later.

More Funds Needed For Polio Drive

According to word from Mrs. Helen Stille, chairman and Mrs. Benn Coobs, co-chairman, more funds are needed for polio work. The drive for funds in the county is officially over and totals collected fell short of the quota.

Anyone who has not been contacted and wishes to make a contribution can do so by getting in touch with either Mrs. Stille or Mrs. Coobs.

Mrs. Stille and Mrs. Coobs would like to thank all who helped in the drive and all those who have contributed to the cause, and hope that some who were missed during the drive will see fit to send their contributions.

World Day of Prayer

This year's annual World Day of Prayer Service sponsored by the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church and the Klemme and Liberty Methodist Churches, has been scheduled for Friday afternoon, March 5th at 2 o'clock in the Klemme Methodist Church. Details of the program will be announced later.

Birthday Club

The South Liberty Birthday Club will meet on Wednesday. February 17th at the home of Mrs. Howard Spitler. Mrs. Elmer Beier and Mrs. John Eenhuis will be co-hostesses.

Down Ventura 47 to 45 In Double Overtime

The Klemme Shamrocks, who during regular season play had won one and lost one in action against Ventura, wo the big one from them Monday night in the first round of the sectional tournament at Garner. Facing what many considered would be their stiffest opposition of the tournament, the Shamrocks battled all the way in a tight game to finally come out on top.

At the end of the regular playing time the score was tied at 44-all, and after a three minute overtime it stood at 45-all. After this period officials put the game into a "sudden death" overtime period with the first side to make 2 points to be declared the winner. Denny Ridder's swisher from the side wound it up in Klemme's favor, and marked the first time this season that the boys had been able to win one of those close ones.

Ridder led the scoring for the Shamrocks with 16 points, while Terhufen had 11 and Karsjens, 10. Anderson was high for Ventura with 16, while Kutzner had 13.

This evening (Wednesday) will see the Shamrocks in action against a Wesley team which has been doped by some to win the tournament. If they get over this hurdle their chances of winning the tournament are very good. More power to them!

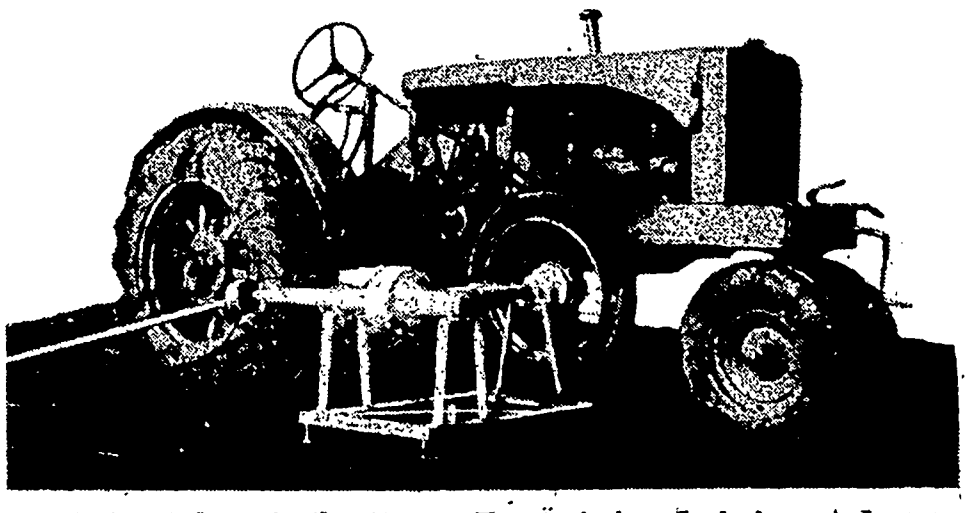
Roof Fire

The Klemme Fire Department made a quick run to the Dave Schwichtenberg home Friday evening to extinguish a roof fire. They made short work of it. By the time we got there with our camera, everything was under control.

Blacktop Contract Let

Hancock county supervisors, C. A. Bird, Sam Barber and C. D. Daniels, and County Engineer Charles Paulson, attended the letting held at Ames by the State Highway Commission on the bituminous surfacing of the road from Goodell to Kanawha, The letting was held on Tuesday, February 9. The project calls for blacktopping approximately nine miles of local road between the two towns.

Gets Patent On Power Transmission Jack



Pictured here is the Power Transmission Jack invented several years ago by Henry Ward, farmer living three miles south of Klemme. This jack furnishes ample power for portable elevators, with no extra motors, chains, pulleys, or belts. All that is required to put the jack in operation, is to drive a tractor into position with the belt pulley engaging the rubber tire on the jack. When the load is elevated, the tractor is then available to go after another load.

Mr. Ward has been manufacturing his Power Transmission Jack at the Langlitz Garage in Klemme and has sold many of them in the past few years. However, on February 2nd, he received patent rights on the device and is protected for the next seventeen years against anyone building and selling a like machine.

If you were watching the wrestling show from Marigold in Chicago on your TV set Saturday night and thought you saw Don Schaefer and Allen Barz in the picture, there was nothing wrong with either your set or your eyes. They were there. They and their wives were in Chicago for the week end and the two men took in the wrestling. We would like to know what Allen said to Don that made him laugh so while the camera was focused on them.

The abnormally warm weather that we have been having and everyone has been enjoying so much has really been causing a lot of comment around the country. Not only that, but it has given many farmers the urge to get into the fields. One farmer—partially retired—who succumbed to the urge was Carl Wille. He was out Tuesday with a harrow, knocking down some of the lumps in the fall plowing. He said he never saw the ground work any nicer than it did that day.

The voters showed that they were highly in favor of the "Klemme Community School District" which was voted into being Monday. We are glad they did. Some people have said that regardless of whether or not the reorganization proposal went through, we would still be able to keep our high school. We probably could have for a few years anyway, but the cost would have gotten to be rather prohibitive and we are afraid that eventually we would have gone the way that many of the smaller schools are going now.

Liberty Boys Met

The Liberty Go Getters decided to donate five dollars to the International Farm Youth Exchange during their monthly meeting which was held at the home of Donald Hrubes on the eve of February 1. After eleven members answered roll call, Bob Wilson handed out valuable information about the prevention of marketing losses. Each member is going to sell hog slappers and survey 5 farmers as to how they prevent marketing losses. Before the close of the meeting Mickey Brouwer talked on the construction and use of a farrowing pen, of which he had a scale model.

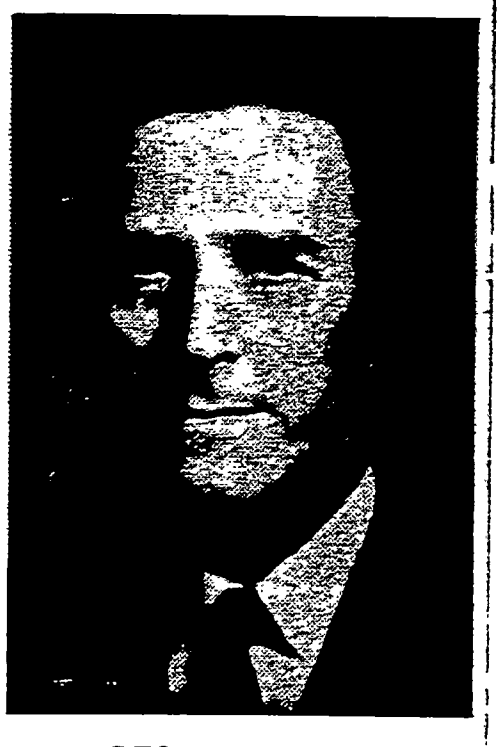
Attorney General Hoegh Candidate for Governor

Leo A. Hoegh, Iowa Attorney General, announced his candidacy on the Republican ticket for Governor of Iowa.

Hoegh stated: "Today I am announcing my candidacy for Governor on the Republican ticket. If elected to this position of trust, I will do my best to serve the people with integrity and honor.

As your Attorney General my policy has been based upon the principle of clean and honest government. The people are entitled to nothing less."



LEO A. HOEGH

Hoegh has had experience in the legislature, having served in the Iowa House of Representatives from Lucas County for three terms, 1937-42, ending when he was called to service. He was a member of the Interim Committee and the Republican Steering Committee.

On February 9, 1953, he was called by Governor Beardsley to fill the unexpired term of Robert Larson, Attorney General.

During his term at the State House he has been vigorous in his enforcement of the laws of Iowa, particularly carrying on the fight against gambling and illegal liquor traffic.

HEART RESEARCH COSTS MONEY

Dr. James W. Culbertson (left), director of the Cardiovascular Laboratory at the State University of Iowa Hospitals, Iowa City, receives a check from Dr. E. B. Floersch, Council Bluffs, president of the Iowa Heart Association. Results of studies made in the laboratory have benefited many Iowa heart patients. The studies have also contributed to the basic knowledge about the causes, treatment and possibilities of recovery from diseases of the heart and blood vessels. The funds which make this possible come from the contributions of thousands of Iowans who purchase Christmas Seals each December. Watching the transaction are Paul C. Williamson, executive secretary, and Norris C. Crosby (right), West Des Moines, president elect of the Iowa Heart Association.

Editorial

After much planning and discussing preparations for our annual Skip Day are now complete. Friday, April 23, we lucky seniors will begin our big day in the big city when we board our chartered Jefferson bus for Minneapolis.

We had originally decided on a trip to Chicago, but as some of the senior's parents objected to such a trip, we chose Minneapolis instead.

First, we are going to "visit" the Minnesota State Penitentiary at Stillwater for a one and one-half hour guided tour of the prison. From there we will go on to Minneapolis and spend the remainder of the afternoon exploring the "big city". For our evening entertainment, we have reserved box-seats for the beautiful Ice Follies of 1954. Don't you wish you were a senior?

Boys' Sports

The Shamrocks wound up their conference play by defeating Rockwell. This win gave the Shamrocks 4 wins and 8 loses the North Star Conference. Klemme played good basketball the first half. They were ahead 30-15 at the half time. Instead of Klemme having their usual third quarter sleep, they played all the way through. The last quarter Rockwell gained, but they couldn't out do the Shamrocks.

February 8, Klemme enters the sectional. They play Ventura the first round. The Shamrocks split with them in the regular play.

Feature Article

Last week we had another assembly program to break the monotony of school. Bogardus, a clay sculpture, using ninety pounds of clay, modeled famous faces out of it. Some of them were Mark Twain, Lincoln, Willim J. Bryant, and Joe E. Brown.

He also made a face of a boy and then the different faces of him as he grew older. He explained how different lighting affects the faces. By properly moving the lights, you can imagine you are seeing the eyes move. The clay has to be kept damp while you are molding the face. Unless the clay is baked when completed; it will only last for about two months before it starts to crack.

Fifth Grade News

Daryl Schlei has returned his dental card. We hope our other boys and girls will return their cards soon.

We are planning a Valentine party. Since Valentines Day is on Sunday we will have our party the Friday before. We have a very attractive box in which to put our valentines.

In social studies we are studying the North Central States. They are very interesting to us as Iowa is in this group. We have made maps to illustrate the farming regions, farm animals, and our large cities.

In arithmetic we are adding and subtracting unlike fractions. We must be very accurate as one small error in reducing will make our whole problem wrong.

Music News

For the Spring Concert the band students have been asked to wear white shoes. The appearance of the band is just as important as the basketball players or any other group. The old saying "Your shoes are showing" has a true meaning. At contests, the judge does not judge on sound alone! The personal appearance of the band counts a great deal. There's something snappy and perky about a marching band, their feet marching rhythmically down the street. Wouldn't it look a lot nicer to see the same colored shoes moving back and forth? Wouldn't a black or red pair of shoes or perhaps a white pair discourage the harmony? As the trim on our band suits is white, the Music Mothers thought white shoes would look the neatest. I hope everyone will go all out for white shoes, so we have a dressed up band at Festival.

We seem to have a so called "On Again, Off Again" chorus. There are enough of you kids that have last study hall twice a week, that we could have a larger chorus. What's the matter? Is it the music? I think everyone has been enjoying the Negro Spirtual we've been working on for the Festival at Garner. If you want more music like that, slip a note in the suggestion box, and I'll try to make your wishes known. The Music Mothers are behind us, and I'm sure if we want some new music, they will buy some for us. Let us know how you feel!

A girls' sextette composed of Gracka, Beverly, Sharleen, Ione, Ruth, and Winola and the girls' trio composed of Jo Ann, Ione, and Margaret have begun work on contest material.

LOST—Little Jerry Music Mouse seems to have run away. I haven't seen him for quite a spell . . . has anyone seen him? I think Gracka scared him away when she hollered so loud that one day last fall! His family has grown up and flew the coop.

Seventh Grade News

"Shoot to Kill" is the slogan chosen by the class for our campaign against a few of the most commonly made grammatical errors. We have fixed a bulletin board display with colored balloons bearing captions such as "I seen", "it don't", "I done", etc. An anti-aircraft gun is mounted at the bottom of the bulletin board and is shooting at the balloons. We are going to have a two week's contest between two teams to see which side makes fewer errors. We hope this will improve our grammar.

In arithmetic we are learning ways to send money through the mail safely.

Last week Myrna Barz, Gaylon Bridges, Judith Gilpin, Virginia Kudje, Jerry Lee LaFavre, Roger Meints, Dorothy Roul, Marlin and Mardell Stadtlander, Cozette Lau, and Robert Thiemann had "A" in spelling.

Stars in arithmetic Self Testing Drill were earned by Cozette Lau and Marlin Stadtlander.

DROWNED

An Iowa Falls marine was among the latest casualties of the Korean conflict. Jerry Hurst, a corpsman, was among 23 who drowned in Inchon harbor when their small landing craft capsized.

HALF CENTURY

C. C. Williamson of Sigourney has recently completed his 50th year of continuous employment at the First Trust and Union Savings Bank there. He started as bookkeeper, now is vice president.

Delwyn Brdee: Basketball players who have no urge to win the game.

Berleen Bridges: People who won't believe anything you tell them.

Leila Anderson: The basketball boys who have no respect for the basketball girls.

Jo Ellen Clabaugh: People who never cheer at the basketball games.

Girls' Sports

The girls won their first round of the Sectional tournament by a score of 34 to 43 over Swaledale. At one time during the first half, Klemme had a 15 point lead. The score at the half stood at 18 to 28 with Klemme out in front. High score of 22 points was held by Lois Christians. Carol Bridges made 11 points, Jo Ellen 9, and Eva 1.

Swaledale made a total of 8 field goals. There were 30 fouls called on the Klemme girls throughout the game.

Eighth Grade News

This week we have started our Civics course. The introduction to civics seems rather hard but it will be interesting to know our rights and laws.

We are continuing our science course for another semester.

Saturday January, 16, we played a basketball game with Corwith. The girls score was 24 to 26 in their favor. Dorothy Kroenhke made 15 of the points and Joyce Lassahn, 7. The boys score was 31 to 26 in our favor. Gordon Johnson made 9 points and Larry Ulrich, 8.

Monday and Tuesday we gave oral reports on the books we have been reading. Thursday we had an assembly program about forming sculptures.

Sixth Grade News

While reading limericks in language class we thought it would be fun to wirte some original ones. The following are samples of what happened:

There was an old lady of York
Who ate all her soup with a fork;
To roll her spaghetti
She used a machete,
And fed all the scraps to the stork.

Jo Anne Jacobs

There was a stubborn old cow,
More stubborn than I would allow;
She wouldn't eat oats,
But ate ladies' old coats
And she's up there in heaven right now.

Maurine Johnson

There was a fat boy with a crown
Who was always running down town.
He bought a big bat,
And caught a fat rat.
To scare all the girls out of town.

Ronald Kubly

We have started work in our new Iowa History books. The study of the formation of the land and the discovery of the Iowa territory has given us an interesting start on our new subject.

The girls are responsible for the bulletin boards in our room this month. They are working on them, and we think Washington and Lincoln are going to share the honors on one of them.

Has anyone heard about Robert C's. new flame? It seems he was sitting by Berleen at the Rockwell ball game. Could this be the beginning of a new romance? How about it, kids?

How are you getting along with your dancing lessons, Delwyn? The way it sounds you are getting along quite well. Especially doing the jitter bug.

Everyone was all excited when they discovered a new romance between Ralph D. and J. C. Some way or another we seem to have gotten our signals mixed; because it wasn't Ralph D. after all.

Say, Bueford, do you always have so much trouble finding an empty seat on the bus? It sure is a good thing LaVohn J. was handy.

Guess what! Art C. has a new heart throb. It is a little eighth grader named Donna C.

The big secret of the week! Who was it that Donny H. asked to go to the skating party Friday night with him?

Say Graydon, who is this new interest you have in Garner? Did you ever call her up like you said you were going to do?

It seems like another steady couple has broken up. I guess we won't be seeing a certain carin a certain drive-way so much any more. How about it, Lois?

We think maybe we'll have a new romance in Klemme High quite soon. Could this be so, LaVohn J. and Gary L.? They seem to get along just fine in study hall.

There's just never a dull moment for Carol Bridges any more. It seems she's got them all on the string. That's okay, Carol, as they say, "Variety is the spice of life."

As it was awful sloppy on Sunday afternoon, Gordon L. and the kids with him ran into a little too much slush in Morningside! Anyway that's how I heard it.

Have you seen Lyle P. new auto? It may not be new in years, but it is certainly a new one around school. Now you've got a car, Lyle, you'll have to get some cute little girl to sit beside you! How about it, Lyle?

Did you know Carol Bridges is a ground hog? Her brithday was February 2. By the way, she was 16 years old.

Tom has quite a carload of kids at noon. It seems Jo Ellen is always along. Then too, Donnie T. adds to the number by getting Jo Ann. Last but not least there's Janice and Daisy. Tom thinks he needs two steering wheels as there is a loose one in the back seat. How about that, Tom? Is it for the back seat driver?

Some of the basketball boys were pretty stiff on Tuesday. Could it have been those 89 laps they ran Monday?

Frosty Highways Cause Car Accidents Involving Three Klemme People

Thursday morning highways in this section of the state were covered with frost and were blamed for three accidents involving Klemme drivers.

One accident happened near the Ax farm 2½ miles north of Klemme on Highway 18 last Thursday morning when a car driven by Gerald "Barney" Garbutsen skidded into the path of a car driven by L. W. Spicer of Albert Lea, Minn. Both cars were badly damaged but none of the occupants received serious injury.

Not so fortunate was James Hummel who was enroute to school at Mason City in his patrol car last Thursday morning. She was driving on Highway 18 near the Mason City Airport when her car skidded into the path of a car driven by a Forest City man. Both cars were demolished and Miss Hummel received a fractured pelvis and cuts and bruises. She is still in Mercy Hospital in Mason City. The driver of the other car received some fractured ribs and cuts and bruises.

The third accident caused by frost also took place near the Ax farm. Arthur Veilleneuve was driving north Saturday on Highway 18 and when he came to the grove at the Ax farm he noticed that the pavement had just begun to frost. The first thing he knew his car was spinning around and around, and then he was in the ditch.

His car was sporting pretty badly in the mishap, but Art was unhurt.

School Masters Club to Sponsor Music Festival

The Hancock County School Masters Club is again sponsoring the annual Hancock County Music Festival. The club has scheduled the program at the Garner auditorium for March 1 at 1:30 P. M.

The band directors from the various towns within the county have chosen the numbers for the massed band and the massed chorus and are presently working on these numbers in preparation for the festival.

• WEDDING

Dressed with a white band of lace and trimmed in a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was attached to a pearl and flower silver-trimmed tiara. The bride carried a bouquet of red roses with white satin streamers and wore a pearl necklace which was a gift from the groom.

The maid of honor wore a gown of teal blue taffeta and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaids gowns identical in design to the maid of honor's gown, were of aqua blue taffeta and each carried a bouquet of white and pink carnations.

The bride's mother was dressed in dark teal nameless and the groom's mother wore a navy blue crepe. Each wore a pink rose corsage.

The groom was attired in a light grey business suit. His attendants also wore light-colored business suits. Each wore a white carnation boutonniere.

Baskets of white flowers decorated the church for the candlelight service. Music was provided by Miss Marian Zimmerman organist, who played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Mr Vincent Woodward, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Following the ceremony, a reception for 150 guests was held in the church parlors. Hostesses were Mrs. F. A. Lemke and Mrs. Ray Haberkamp. The three-tiered wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs Ruholf Bienert and Mrs John Jacobsen. Mrs Fermin Griggs and Mrs Carl Jacobsen poured. Waitresses were Misses Clara Ann Dodewell, Lois Haberkamp, Anita Kaiser, Marlene Olson, Sharon Jacobsen, Darlene Olson, Lean Haberkamp, and Elizabeth Lemke. Miss Jane Griggs had charge of the guest book and Mrs. Paul Sumner, Mrs Sterling Larson, and Miss Shirley Olson the gifts. Gifts were received from the guests and taken to the gift table by Jay Griggs, Gary Lenz and William Kaiser.

Guests from a distance were from Rapid City, South Dakota; Rock Island, Illinois; Spencer, Waterloo, Forest City, Ventura, Latimer, Coulter, Dows, Meservey, Alden, Rowan, Clarion, Hampton and Des Moines.

The bride is a former teacher in the Hancock County rural schools, and the groom, after two years in service, is engaged in farming.

After a wedding trip, the couple will be at home on a farm near Dows.

The program is designed so that approximately twenty of the more advanced students from each school can participate in the massed band, and nearly twenty-five from each school in the massed chorus. This gives the band an enrollment of one hundred and sixty students and the chorus a chorus of more than two hundred.

The students will arrive at Garner early in the morning and rehearse most of the day. The concert will be given in the evening for the public.

The School Master Club has hired two very fine directors from Drake University to conduct the rehearsals and the evening concert. Mr Woodward will direct the massed chorus and Mr Bird will be conducting the massed band.

Lions Club Hears Talk On Chinchillas

The Lions Club held a regular dinner meeting Wednesday evening February 3. The Band Mothers served a delicious meal on tables decorated with colorful valentines. Mayor Cook was the only absentee and there was one guest, Mr. Emil Kyhl, of Britt.

The program for the evening was an interesting and informative talk by Mr. Kyhl, who operates a Chinchilla Ranch. He had on display a pair of chinchillas and two of their young and also some fur pelts. He stated that most pelts go into the making of small fur pieces such as collars and cuffs for dresses and sweaters. We were surprised to learn that there were only 6 chinchilla fur coats in existence and each of them was valued at more than $100,000. After his talk, Mr. Kyhl answered many questions about the raising of this fur bearing animal. The meeting was then adjourned with the singing of "God Bless America".

Committee Chairman Announced for Methodist Spiritual Life Missions

Appointments of committee chairman in the North Iowa Conference area for the first statewide Methodist Spiritual Life Mission were announced by the eight district superintendents in the conference area.

Spiritual Life Mission is scheduled for March 6-12 in the North Iowa Conference, which comprises most of the northern half of the state.

Chairman of Algona district committees, named today by Rev. Britt, spiritual prepartion, H. E. Ortmeyer, are Maynard Bell, Whyte, Algona, finance, and C. C. Callahan, Fenton, publicity.

Purpose of the week-long observance of Spiritual Life Mission is to deepen the spiritual life of Iowans and to reactivate the membership of Iowa Methodist churches.

One out of ten Iowans is a member of the Methodist church, according to Dr. Wayne E. Nash, director of the Mission

Boost Your Hostess Rating With—

Low-Calorie Party Foods

Here's a tempting dessert that will make weight-watchers bless you for not enticing them away from their diets with calorie-packed cake or pie. Top a wafer or thin circle of toast with pineapple, a slice of nippy cheese and pop into oven just long enough to start cheese melting. Garnish with carrot curls.

How's your hostess rating? Iowa homemakers are a hospitable lot, according to Iowa State College Extension Nutritionist Jewel Graham. They're constantly having friends drop in, and serving an appetizing lunch or dessert at the drop of a hat. But most of this social eating tends to be on the high-calorie side, which is mighty hard on folks who are trying to keep their weight down or fighting a real "battle of the bulge".

So one of your big duties as a hostess should be to serve low-calorie foods and nibblers for weight-watchers. And there are many weight watchers here in Iowa where about 40 percent of the population over 30 weigh too much for their own best health.

Serve some of the following party foods and watch your hostess rating zoom.

Vegetable Nibblers

Your guests can nibble away to their hearts' content on crisp little vegetable tidbits. Serve them with tomato juice cocktail, or plenty of hot tea or coffee.

"Carrot-wiches"— Peel a large carrot and slice very thin. Put two slices together with a dab of cream cheese or seasoned cheese spread. Push slices together so that a bit of cheese squeezes out around the edges. Roll edges in finely chopped nuts or parsley.

Spring Posies — Peel or score a fresh cucumber and slice in thing rings. Put a small dab of cream cheese on slice, top with a slice of crisp radish, center with a small rosette of cream cheese, using a pastry tube.

Other good vegetable nibblers: carrot curls, radish roses, green olives, raw cauliflower buds, turnip slices or sticks, stuffed celery chunks. You might arrange a pile of each nibbler in a crisp lettuce cup on your tray.

Here's Miss Graham's recipe for tomato juice cocktail. Combine 5 cups tomato juice, 1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, ½ teaspoon celery salt, ¼ cup lemon juice and heat to boiling. Serve hot, garnished with sprig of parsly. This makes about 10 servings.

Hors d'Oeurves Piece

Another way you might serve these nibblers is on toothpicks stuck into bright apples, oranges or a large grapefruit. Other good nibblers to serve this way are wedges, of luncheon meat, shrimp, meat roll-ups cheese balls or wedges, chilled deviled egg slices, pineapple chunks, little sausages, apple wedges, pickled onions.

Cheese Tray

There are many ways to serve cheese, too. Mix several cheese spreads and serve along with thin wafers, thinly sliced rye crisp that guests can spread themselves. Or arrange small wedges or squares of several different kinds of sharp and mild cheese on a tray with crackers and wafers. Or mix up a cheese dip or large cheese ball, serve with wafers or carckers guests can dip or spread themselves.

Dessert, Salads

Fruit, raw vegetable or cottage cheese salads with a gelatin base are fine choices for party or afternoon bridge salads and desserts. You can make them just as fancy as you please Serve on crisp lettuce cups or in dessert dishes with wedges of cheese or low-calorie wafers. Using raw instead of canned fruits will cut down on the sugar content.

Costs of Accidents Can't Be Calculated In Money Alone

The state safety department Thursday handed Iowans an itemized "bill" covering the costs of careless driving in 1953. It is the annual traffic fatality summary.

Item—600 were killed in 526 fatal traffic accidents. Seventy-two pedestrians were killed, 271 died in motor vehicle collisions, 25 were killed in vehicle-train crashes, and 227 died when their vehicles overturned, ran off the roads or hit fixed objects.

Item—Of the 759 drivers involved in fatal accidents last year, 115 were teen-agers, 306 had previous records of accidents, traffic violations or both, 108 were drunk or "Impaired" by drink, and 30 were driving mechanically defective cars.

Item—410 of the fatal accidents occurred on straight, dry roads, most of them in the open country, and 116 fatal accidents happened within communities.

Every type accident except grade crossing crashes showed an increase over 1952, according to the report. Twenty-one were killed in vehicle-train accidents last year, compared to 32 in 1952.

The Iowa death rate last year was 5.4 persons killed for every 100 million miles traveled in the state, compared to a national traffic death rate of 6.8.

Commenting on the report, State Safety Commissioner Pearl W. McMurry said it represents "a cost in lives and happiness that can never be made up".

"The most tragic thing is that there seems to be no great general concern over paying this kind of price year after year." He pointed out that the January traffic death toll this year nearly doubled that of last year.

Seed Treatment Pays Well, Costs Little

Both experiments and practical farm experience continue to prove the value of chemical treatment for farm seeds.

As an average over a number of years, the protection given by chemical seed treatment has increased oats yields by 3 bushels per acre, reports Arden Sherf, extension plant pathologist at Iowa State College. The cost of seed treatment is so low that it would be hard to find an investment on the farm that would show such a high return.

Chemicals provide this protection, Sherf explains, by killing some disease organisms carried on the seed and protecting the seeds and new seedlings from soil-borne organisms.

Recommended for oat seed treatment this year are Ceresan and a new chemical called Panogen. Ceressn may be applied either as a dust or slurry. It is the material most commonly used by custom treaters and can be applied with simple equipment by the farmer himself. Panogen is a liquid mercury compound that requires special equipment. Some Iowa treaters will offer it this year, Sherf, believes.

Treatment rate for oats, according to the plant pathologist are ½ ounce per bushel with Ceresan as either dust or slurry and ¾ fluid ounce of Panogen per bushel. Treatment may be made any time between now and 48 hours of planting time.

About 300 custom operators in Iowa offer cleaning and treating service.

Visiting around Iowa

by Joe Marsh

Iowans Call It Dubuque

In an old 1846 geography, I ran into an item that should give folks around Dubuque a good laugh.

The author, named Olney, said that Dubuque should really be pronounced "Du-Book!"

Well, in spite of Mr. Olney, folks seemingly chose their own pronunciation. So we call it Dubuque.

Of course, that little story pretty well reflects our whole Iowa tradition. Our people certainly won't stand being dictated to—in pronunciation or anything else.

Take the word creek, for example. Some of us call it "crick," others "creak." Or tomato — some say "tomayto," others "tomahto." It's okay both ways. Our right to freedom of choice is what counts.

That even goes for such simple things as pronunciation, or preferring a temperate bottle of beer with our dinner, or choosing the kind of social club we want to join. Let's remember that the other fellow has a right to his preferences, just as we have to ours. As good Iowans, we all join in saying "No dictators, please."

Contracts Let for Handicapped Children's Home

A brighter future was assured for many of Iowa's handicapped children this past week when contracts were let for the construction of the Children's Building of the Easter Seal Rehabilitation Center. The building, to be built in Des Moines, will serve children all over Iowa.

In announcing the awarding of the contracts, Dr. Wendall Johnson of Iowa City, State President of the Easter Seal Society, said, "Many people have worked long and hard to make this dream a reality. When completed sometime next fall, the Children's Building of the Easter Seal Center will provide care and treatment for children who are not now being adequately served. It is a tribute to the people of Iowa that they make a center of this sort available to their handicapped children.

The Children's Building will cost about $166,000 and is of modified modern design. It is seventy-two feet by ninety-two feet. It will be built of brick and redwood. The two-story building has been designed to fit the contours of the land and will have ground leved access on both levels. This is being done so that handicapped children in wheel chairs can easily reach any room in the building.

The money for the contruction of this building has been contributed by people from every county in Iowa through their contribution to Easter Seals in past years. The planning of the building was directed by the Board of Directors of the State Easter Seal Society. These private citizens have given of their time and effort that the physically handicapped children of the State of Iowa may receive every care available from medical science.

Special features of the Children's Easter Seal Rehabilitation Center include extra wide doors for wheel chairs, special bars for aid in walking, special toilet facilities, areas where children can play together and other rooms where private treaments can be given, ramps for easy walking for children who are unable to climb stairs, and other features.

Dr. Johnson said, "I hope that every physically handicapped child in Iowa will know of this center and that their parents and friends will bring them to us so that we may help them if it is at all possible. No necessary expense is being spared that will make this a center that will really help crippled children to happier, fuller, more useful lives."

Annual Convention of Church Group Will Be At Belmond Church

The Iowa State Fellowship of the American Council of Christain Churches will hold its 1954 annual convention at the Fundamental Baptist Church of Belmond on Tuesday, February 16. It will be an all day session, beginning at 10:00 a. m. with a meeting of the executive committee at the church. The afternoon meeting, open to the public, will begin at 2:00 p. m. and close at 5:00 p. m. The evening meeting is scheduled for 7:30.

Host pastor at the convention will be Rev. A. T. Rollene, and the principal speaker at the meetings will be Dr. G. Douglas Young, Dean of the Theological Seminary, Northwestern Schools, Minneapolis, Minnesota. At 2:00 Dr Young will speak on "Fundamentalism and Education - Compatible?" and at 7:30 he will speak on "Fundamentalists, Apostles of Discord. What Needs Changing?"

DR. G. DOUGLAS YOUNG

Dr. Young was born in Korea in 1910, a son of missionary parents. He is graduate of Acadia University, Nova Scotia, Canada; of Faith Theological Seminary; and of Dropsie College for Hebrew and Cognate Learning, where he earned his Ph.D. For several years professor of Semitic languages, Dean and Registrar of Shelton College in New Jersey. he has become increasingly prominent in academic circles. He is currently president of the National Association of Professors of Hebrew. He is the author of a book entitled "Grammar of the Hebrew Language". Dr. Young has long been active in American Council work, having been identified with the separatist movement for many years.

Nebraska Man to Speak at Crop Improvement Day

Hancock County folks who attend the Iowa Crop Improvement Day in Ames February 15, will hear as headline speaker C. R. Porter, who is secretary of the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association and president of the International Crop Improvement Association.

Paul Henderson, Hancock County extension director received word this week that Porter has been secured as speaker following the sudden death of L. L. Compton, who was originally scheduled for the program. Campton was secretary of the Kansas Crop Improvement Association.

Porter's subject will be "The Philosophy of Seed Certification". Besides this talk, the Crop Improvement Day program will feature a number of reports of new findings in crop breeding, fertilization and weed control studies conducted by Iowa State College staff members.

The probram will begin at 10 a. m. in the Memorial Union on the Iowa State College campus.

Just to prove how little it costs to run this tractor for 6 months....

WE'LL BUY HALF YOUR FUEL OURSELVES

Yes, you read it right! Trade in your old tractor on a new Oliver Diesel wheel tractor, and we'll pay half your new tractor's fuel bill for 6 months straight. We mean any 6 months' work on your farm, even your six heaviest months, for the longest hours you want to work. Just bring in your fuel bills to show what you spent, and we'll give you a check for half.

why we're making you this offer

We figure if we offer to pay half your fuel, you'll keep track of your costs. That's all we want: for you to see how low they'll be. You'll find that you're burning only 6 gallons of fuel where your gasoline tractor burned 10—and buying your diesel fuel for a whole lot less!

We're betting you'll say you'd never go back to gasoline. Especially when you find that your upkeep is as low as your fuel cost. Your Oliver Diesel has the simplest engine ever put in a farm tractor—no carburetor, no plugs, fewer moving parts—very easy to keep in top working order.

no starting engine, no starting fuel

Oliver Diesels start and run on diesel fuel. They give you instant starts even in freezing weather. They withstand a longer lay-up than any spark ignition tractor. Best of all, Oliver makes a diesel in any size you want—two-plow, three-plow, four-plow—whatever size is best for your operations.

you're paying for a diesel, why not have one?

That's what users say: with the high fuel cost of a gasoline tractor, you're paying for a diesel whether you have one or not. That's why farmers by the thousands are going over to low-cost diesel power. You will yourself sooner or later. Why not buy your diesel now, start your savings now, while this special offer still holds.

BUY AN OLIVER DIESEL AND WE'LL BUY HALF YOUR FUEL!

Klemme Cagers Lose In Hayfield Games

Both the Klemme Shamrocks and the Shamrockettes went down in defeat before the Hayfield basketball teams Tuesday evening. The boys game was a thriller and was finally decided in an over time, the final score being 55 to 54 in favor of Hayfield.

Ridder led the scoring for the Shamrocks with 18 points. Terhufen had 10, and Waddingham and Baack each got eight. Tschirki was high man for the game as he dropped in 23 points for the Hayfield team.

In a game that was fairly close until the closing minutes, the Shamrockettes were finally out-gunned by the Hayfield girls and went down by a count of 44 to 36. The Klemme girls trailed by three or four points throughout most of the game but it was only in the last couple of minutes that Hayfield girls were able to get any kind of a comfortable margin.

Carol Bridges was high scorer for the game with 24 points.

Will Hold Meeting On March First To Discuss New School District

At 7:30 on the evening of Monday, March first, there will be a meeting held at the high school gymnasium in Klemme to discuss matters to be dealt with in getting the new Klemme Communiy School District under way.

This meeting will be for all citizens residing within the boundaries of the new district and should prove of value to those who have an interest in seeing the new district get off to a good start.

Among the probable items to come up for discussion will be the coming election of directors for the new district and possible candidates.

This meeting is open to the public.

Two Vacancies To Fill; Will Serve Until 1st of July

March 8th is election day for the Klemme Independent School District. Due to the fact that this district recently voted itself a part of the Klemme Community School District which will come into being on July 1st, this will no doubt be the last election held by the Klemme Independent District.

Two directors are to be elected. Normally they would serve for three years, but in this instance they will only serve until July 1st. At that time the board that is to be elected in the future for the Klemme Community School District will take over. The two vacancies in the Independent board are created by the expiration of the terms of Mrs. Fred J. Arnold and Everett Guth. The three members whose terms still hold are Lloyd Sherwood, Don Bacon and Milvern Barz.

Nomination paper for this election can be secured from A. J. Kudje, secretary of the board, and they must be filed with Mr. Kudje by noon, Friday, February 26.

Voters should not think that this election is for the board for the new Klemme Community School Distrct. This election is just for the Klemme Independent District. Another election will be held at a later date to give voters a chance to select those they wish to handle the reins in the Community School.

Guest Speaker At Methodist Churches

Mr. Wayne Gjerde, of Garner, and student at Waldorf College at Forest City will be the speaker at the morning worship services on Sunday morning in the Klemme and Liberty Methodist Churches, in the absence of Rev. Egeland who will be preaching at Scranton, Iowa. Mr. Egeland and other North Iowa Methodist ministers will leave on Saturday morning for southern Iowa where they will assist in a "Spiritual Life Mission" in churches of the Iowa Des Moines Conference of the Methodist Church. The visiting ministers will speak in services on Sunday morning and evening and each evening of the following week, Monday through Friday. Their sermons will center around "Holy Habits of the Christian Life", and will deal with such matters as church attendance, prayer, Bible reading, witnessing, and the stewardship of time, talents and means. They will also assist in a visitation of members of the various churches calling them to a greater devotion in religious living. The North Iowa ministers will return home on Saturday, February 27th, and then on March 6th to 12th be hosts to ministers of the Iowa Des Moines Conference who will help with the North Iowa Conference" Spiritual Life Mission." Guest speaker at the Klemme-Liberty Churches for this mission will be the Rev. Don Griffin of Rippey, Iowa.

Jr. High Teams Play

The Klemme Jr. Hi teams played the Kanawha Jr. Hi teams Monday evening on the local floor and broke even with them. The Kanawha girls won by a score of 37 to 31, and the Klemme boys won by a score of 52 to 28.

Shamrocks Win Sectional Crown at Garner

Will Meet Algona Parochial School In District Play

After a regular season that saw the Klemme Shamrocks turn in some very fine and some not so fine ball games, they finally hit their stride in last week's sectional tournament at Garner.

They dumped Ventura in the first round, rolled over Wesly in the second round, and after a slow start, came on to beat Meservey by 15 points in the final. The Ventura game, which was reported in last week's Times, was the toughest one the Shamrocks had in the tournament. They rolled up sizeable scores against thir other two opponents.

Klemme 74, Wesley 55

In their second round game against the highly touted Wesley club, the Shamrocks were never in danger. They took a 20 to 12 lead by the end of the first quarter, and increased it to 38 to 20 by the end of the first half. Wesly gained some on them in the third period and the margin was cut to only 13 points. However, the Shamrocks rolled again in the final period and won by a score of 74 to 55.

Terhufen led the scoring for the Shamrocks in this game as he dumped in 25 points. Ridder had 15 points, Barz and Karsjens each had 12, and Thieman and Haefner each had five. Froehlich looked best for Wesley with 22 points to his credit

Klemme 62, Meservey 47

In the final game against Meservey, the Shamrocks got off to a slow start and at one time were on the short end of an 11 to 3 count. However, they bounced right back and by the end of the first quarter had tied the score at 13-all. During the second quarter, Greer of Meservey gave the local club a bad time as he was hitting from all over the floor. The Shamrocks managed to outscore their opponents, though and the half ended 35 to 31 in favor of Klemme.

In the second half, defensive stratedgy was changed to cope with Greer, and after making 18 points the first half, he was limited to one field goal and a pair of free throws in the second half. The Shamrocks added a couple of more points to their lead in the third quarter and were out in front 45 to 39 at the end of the period. In the final quarter, they really clicked and gained nine more points to make the final score 62 to 47.

Terhufen really had himself a night from the field. He counted 34 points on 16 field goals and two free throws. A good share of his fielders came on the fast break, but he contributed several shots from out. Barz got 12 points, Thiemann 7, Karsjens 5, and Haefner 4.

Greer was high man for the Meservey five with 22 points.

Garner "A" Champs

By virtue of a 71 to 62 win over Britt, Garner advanced to the finals in the "A" class. Here they ran into Clear Lake. After a battle that was rugged all the way, they finally managed to come out on top by a score of 49 to 47. The game was tied at 18-all at the end of the first quarter, but second period, Garner was able to collect only three points and at the end of the half Clear Lake was out in front 32 to 21. However, Garner came back strong and gradually picked up points, getting the winning bucket almost at the final gun.

District at Garner

The district meet will be held in Garner and finds Klemme going into action next Wedesday against St. Ccelia's of Algona. The other two "B" teams in the meet are Alexander and Joice and they meet on Thursday night. The "B" finals will be played Saturday, February 27.

The "A" teams involved in the Garner tournament are Garner vs. St. John's of Bancroft on Monday night and Algona vs. Forest City, Tuesday night. The "A" final will be on Friday night, February 26.

Each tournament session will be for only a single game with all games getting underway at 7:30 p. m. That means that there will be a game of the tournament going on for each of the six nights next week.

When "Ernie" Gerardi recently ran an ad suggesting that customers drink good Klemme milk rather than worry about the price of coffee in Brazil, we forwarded a letter and a copy of the ad to Senator Guy M. Gillette who is at the head of the committee invstigating the coffee price situation.

Senator Gillette was kind enough to interrupt his busy schedule and send us the following reply:

"It was mighty nice of you to write me under the date of the 6th and enclose a clipping from your paper dealing with the action of Mr. Gerardi, a local cafe owner, in promoting the sale of milk. I am pleased indeed that so many of our people are taking this means of howing their displeasure relative to th heavy tribute we are paying to the coffee producing countries. While we want to be good neighbors to them and while we know their economy is based in large measure on coffee, yet there is no reason why our people should carry an unreasonable load of tribute and certainly there is no justification when the increase tribute imposed on our people goes in large measure to speculators and those who are interested in rigging the market in coffee for their own purpose".

We had a note from Mayor V. A. Cook, who is sojourning in Florida for the duration of the winter months. He says that he is getting the paper and it is nice to hear from home. He sent us a cartoon strip, apparently insp.red by the talk about adding fluorine to water as an aid to better teeth. One character in the strip thought it would be nice if lanolin were added to the water. Thought it might help his rapidly balding head. Another wanted sulphur and cream of tarter added to take care of that listless feeling that comes with spring. The last character in the strip wasn't to concerned. He came up with the comment, "Water? I don't care what they put in the water! I never touch the stuff myself!"

According to David Herrick, chief of the Iowa Highway Patrol, besides making arrests last year that brought in a total of $595,545.76 in fine, the patrol gave assistance to 23,483 motorists who experienced trouble along the highways. In making the arrests that brought in all this money to school funds in counties where the arrests were made, and in helping all those troubled motorists, the patrol drove a total of 8,870,248 miles. That amounts to a lot of driving to our way of thinking. That much fine money must have meant that an awfully large number of people got "pinched", too . . . and they did. 42,867 arrests were made and besides the fine money that was collected, a total of 77, 321 days of jail sentences were meted out.

Then we wonder why there are a lot of accidents! Look at the amount of people that do things wrong and get caught at it. Then think of the things that you have seen done wrong that weren't caught, and the things you have done for which you have not been apprehended. Wow! No wonder we have lots of bad accidnts.

Better roads would no doubt cut down the accident toll considerably in our state, but until such time as a little more horse sense is mixed with all the horse power we now have in our cars, there will continue to be too many serious accidents.

The Iowa Development Commission recently sent out questionaires to be filled out by Iowa concerns, the information to then be used in compiling a Directory of Iowa manufacturers. We filled ours out in the conventional manner, but they got a couple of sharp answers.

One publisher stated, "I am still dubious whether we are engaged in the manufacturing business . . . True, we do take virgin paper and from the raw stock make inky marks upon it —but there is every possibility that what we print thereon is every bit as raw as the original sheet."

Another reply announced that, "I am too small a business man to get on that list . . . I am owner, manager, sales manager, advertising manager, salcman, and a sheet metal worker part-time. When I am not busy, I peddle hog waterers".

If we had to think back to the time when we had enjoyed a more comfortable winter in this section of the country than we have this winter, we would be hard put to do it. Of course the winter isn't over yet, but it is coming the time of year that any bad weather that does come can't be too long lived.

the Highway Story

THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

Frank D. Duckback slouched down with his newspaper, silently blessed the quiet evening ahead, and started to read. He read to the last word the doings of a movie star bride and her baseball-famous husband. He read all the details of a double-murder in a distant city.

His eye touched a story that began, "Iowa's worst midwinter traffic death record in 15 years is . . . ." but that's as far as he went. The statements of a new and youthful football coach absorbed him next.

Later, floating in the thoughtless dreams of television for a couple of hours, he saw what promised to be a 60 second safety spot come on the screen. Duckback took the opportunity to leave the room.

Frank rather resented the next evening. It was taken up with a meeting of the civic club in which he was an officer. He had to attend. A safety representative was invited in to make a speech.

While the talk was going on, Duckback fixed his eyes in an attentive stare, but sent his mind drifting off to his wife's latest plan for remodeling the kitchen. Maybe he could distract her with the offer of new drapes. Cheaper.

When the talk ended, he applauded and he approved when the meeting chairman said, "Let's have a show of hands to let our speaker, Mr. Nameless, know that we are all behind this safety program."

Duckback raised his hand wondering if he was letting himself in for anything. Well, these things usually blew over without anyone getting too involved, he thought.

Driving home that night, he switched off the radio when an announcer started a safety appeal He'd been to a meeting. He'd done his part.

That night, two more died on Iowa's highways and the death toll continued double over last year. But it all rolled off of Duckback. These safety people, they were talking to someone else.

Senior News

In bookkeeping we are figuring the deduction of income tax and old-age benefit tax from the weekly payroll. Oh, us poor mixed up kids.

We have been working our fingers to the bone in English writing themes.

You'd think we were lumberjacks with as many logs as we toss around in algebra II working logarthm problems.

In shop we are making improvements on the gauges and mikes we make working on our projects.

Besides making our own history by deciding to leave for Minneapolis at 4:30 on skip day, we have been studying about the civil war.

I don't know what there is to learn about vegetables, but that's what the girls in home economics are studying.

Did you know that Old Faithful is a little squirt of water? It is according to one of the informative speechs given last week in speech class.

In advanced typing we are pecking away at business letters.

Beware pedestrians! The driver training pupils are on the loose.

Fourth Grade

To put the finishing touches to a world wide farm unit, we wrote and presented a radio and TV program. We named the program "World Wide Farm Facts". Jimmy Clement's dad made us a play microphone which made the program more real.

Jimmy Bock had a birthday and treated the class. His mother and baby sister were visitors during the party.

We had our valentine party on Friday. We had a lot of fun reading all the valentines, playing games and eating treats.

This and That Around K. H. S. - -

Say, what is going on in English class? It looks to the Jrs. like a new romance between Marlene and Cecil. The Junior class is watching these two love birds pretty close.

Who is this new guy that Harriet is so swoony over? I hear his name is Jack and is quite a guy. Looks like he has forgotten Jerry altogether.

It sounds like Lois C. is getting pretty serious about a little boy from Osage. Only he's not so little any more, is he Lois?

It sure seems like Lois J. is a fast worker. She gives one guy the "old heave ho" one night and the next she's got a new beau. I thought she was waiting for a guy in the army.

What's this about this mid-get Lois B. is running around with? That sure is a cute ring, Lois.

I hear that a certain Jr. girl is getting pretty disgusted with a certain Sr. girl. It seems like the Sr. girl thinks she knows all of the Jr. girl's business. This could lead to quite a battle.

Guess who Margaret H. and Ione R. were with at the skating party last Friday night? I would tell you, but I guess it's supposed to be a secret.

Joan Lemke must really rate around Klemme High. Clarence comes and gets her after school and at noon, besides coming down in the evening.

My spies tell me their was another new couple at the roller skating party Friday night. It seems that Barbara Shoop and Don Roberts from Fertile really enjoyed themselves.

I wonder who that certain someone was who was waiting for Lois J. after Bible Class on Sunday night?

It seems that Tom W., Jo Ellen C., Donnie T. and Jo Ann B. might have had car trouble Monday night! Pretty nice night for parking, right kids?

Poor Edward has been having a rough time lately. He never knows what time Daisy will be coming home from the ballgame.

Sharleen must prefer sitting in the Ventura section instead of with Klemme. Because at the girls' tournament it looked like she might be with Larry T.

I wonder if Gent W. is going with Janice or Berleen. Everyone thought he went with Janice but at the ballgame between Klemme and Ventura he was sitting with Berleen.

Noel must really have it bad. In English class he spends all his spare time thinking of different way to write the word Shirley on his notebook.

There's a rumor going around that Carol B. went with Roger T. to the show the other Saturday night. How about this, Roger? By the way, Carol, what happened to Dave W.?

Say, Marlene, I hear you have been receiving quite a few letters lately. I wonder who they are from? From what I hear they might be from a certain person in the Armed Forces.

Graydon must really be attracted to the town of Garner or is it just a certain cheerleader that lives in Garner.

Daisy, Janice, Lois C., Carol B., and Joan L. shame on you! telling those nice boys from Garner that Klemme beat Meservey. I hope they didn't take you seriously.

We have heard that Betty C. doesn't like Bueford P. We wonder why?

Why did Dorothy K. want to wear Roger O. jacket at the ballgame the other night? Karen wants to know.

How are Rosalie and Douglas coming along?

Did you know that Eva T. wore Larry H jacket?

It seems Bob A. and Berleen B. are getting along very well in study hall. Every half hour they get into a very close confernce.

We thought maybe at the freshman skating party some and sure enough they did. By the new romances would develop handfulls. One of them was Bob Larson and Lorraine Meyer. That Bob sure is changeable this year!

Gary Lenz has a crush on La Vohn J., and Art C. is starting to go with Donna C.

Music News

NOTICE

Attendance at Band

You will be excused from band under the following conditions:

1. Not in school.
2. If you have a legitimate excuse and see me first, not afterwards.

You will not be excused to do school work. If you can't get your school work done at other times than band period, you have no business in band. This means doing work in band also.

Signed: Mr. Whitford

When the suits come, the band will have their pictures taken for the annual. I'm sure the new suits the band mothers bought will look really nice.

According to the board of experts, Mr. Whitford is now the new Gerardi cribbage champion! When did this happen? Did you get a blue ribbon or a cup?

A little bird told me our director has moved to Klemme. It seems he will be the music editor's neighbor. Now he won't have an excuse of being unable to get his car started, because he can walk.

Gracka's got spring fever, or is it that new car her man's got? Anyway she has worn flowers everyday. Artificial of course, but real neat.

Did you know that no high school bands are allowed to play at the Sectional Tournaments? It's a fact!

It's not that we like to pick on you, Mr. Whiford, but we have been hearing a little gossip about you and a certain Garner teacher. Maybe you're just good friends. You should have the same interests though, as she's the music teacher.

Girls' Sports

The second game in the Girl's Sectional Tournament was being runner up to Meservey. This resulted in a defeat of 58-31. The score at the half time was 35-15 with Meservey leading. The loss of this game led us to the battle of the winning team for the Consolation prize. This game was played with Thornton. The winning score was 48 - 40 with Thornton out in front. The half time score was 18 - 20 in their favor. With only a minute to go the Thornton team was leading by 3 points, 43 - 40. We all had hopes of winning until four free throws were missed, and one of their forwards made a basket. The final score was 48 to 40, a win for Thornton, and a defeat for Klemme. Carol Bridges led with 24 points, and Jo Ellen Clabaugh had 13.

Eighth Grade News

February 5, we played a game with Ventura. The girls score was 24-20 in their favor. Dorothy K. had high score of 12 points. In the boys game, the score was 32 - 30 in our favor. Larry U. had high score of 12 points.

In civics we have been studying about various communities and city charters.

We are planning to visit the County Home for the aged at Duncan next week.

Third Grade

The County Nurse visited our room last week. We enjoyed answering her questions. We think she was pleased with all the things we could tell her about keeping healthy

Jerry Evans left our room. He moved to Toledo, Iowa. We hope he likes his new school.

We had a valentine box in our room. Many valentines were put in it this week. Friday we had a party and read all our valentines.

Feature Article

For the next few weeks we are going to have a series of interviews with the different high school teachers of KHS. Our first article is about Mr. Donald Smith, who teaches American history, general science, biology, speech and sociology. Don has taught in Klemme a year and one semester.

Mr. Smith was born in Des Moines, Iowa. He is 5' eight", weigh 155 pounds, has brown hair and blue eyes. He attended high school at Valley High, West Des Moines, and continued his education at Drake University in Des Moines. He has completed four years of college and is working on his Master's degree.

Donald's hobby and pastime is fishing and photography. His favorite band is Glen Miller and singer is Perry Como. His favorite actress and actor are Marilyn Monroe and John Wayne. As for movies, he says he has TV and doesn't see many. Don's favorite food, steak and French fries. His pet peeve is people who don't listen. (I hope he isn't referring to us seniors.) Mr. Smith lives in Klemme, is married, and has two children.

? ? of the Week

What is your favorite saying?

Dick Baack: "Holy Mackeral".
Lois Helps: "Holy Cow".
Jo Ann Burgess: "Honest to John".
Joan Lemke: "Gee Whiz".
Blanche Shoop: Don't work to Hard".
Darlene Eichorn: "Oh, Crumb".

Denny Haefner: "Come On".
Warren Terhufen: "Prove It".
Gary Day: "Oh, No".
Tom Waddingham: "Why".

Senior Interview

Robert Cavitt was born May 6, 1937, on a farm southeast of Klemme. He weighs 129 pounds and stands five feet eight and one-half inches tall. Robert has brown hair and blue eyes. Before starting to Klemme in his ninth year of school, he went to Avery No. 2.

Among the activities Robert has been in are baseball, 9 and 10; and Glee Club, 10 and 11.

Some of the pastimes Robert has are roller skating, going to the movies, and watching basketball games. He likes reading as a hobby.

He has no future plans.

My Dog Looks At Life

I can truthfully say that I, a dog, lead a very exciting, easy life. My name is Pat. I am a hunting dog. My master is always giving me something to do, but I always get plenty of rest. In the winter I always sleep in the warm barn and in the summer in my big dog house. My master gives me jobs to do, like chasing the cows or pigs but when my master isn't looking I chase the chickens; it is my favorite sport. My master also

NICE DOG

A dog managed to save at least part of the farm buildings at the William Elliott farm home near LeMars recently. The excited barking woke the family, to late to save the barn, however.

SCHOOL NEWS

goes hunting and takes me with him. I get the birds that he shoots, and he pats me on my head and tells me that I am a good dog.

I had a friend that was a wooly dog, her name was King, but she died last fall. We used to have a lot of fun together. Then I was all alon. But my master got another young dog. Her name is Rusty. She and I have a lot of fun but at first I didn't like her. Now she and I show off and try to be the better dog. We chase cows and pigs and have a lot of fun. We bark at cars and about everything else we see. It is getting dark now time to sleep and get ready for another big day. Yes, I and my friend lead an exciting life.

Thoughts of the Teachers Gradebook

Every morning as the pupils walk in the gradebook is laying on the desk. The other books are on top of it so if anyone should touch it the teacher could take finger prints. Then he would pick up the gradebook and write grades in it. The gradebook smiles at an "A" and cries at an "F". If there were over ten F's, the book would probably think it was a dumb class, but if there were more than ten A's it would probably say the class thought they were smart even if thy were stupid. Maybe the gradebook is blaming the wrong person. Maybe it is the teacher's fault because he writes the grade and teaches us. You know they could be stupid too. Day after day the book is laid on the desk. When the first semester comes the book kisses the kids or the teacher or maybe both. The gradebook probably thinks that the teacher never got a diploma. Maybe the kids were born with no brains. I sure would pity them if it was their fault. But the second semester is a little worse or better but if it is worse, I sure would have to be the gradebook. Yes, it is very hard on the gradebook, but the book will have happy times some day, I hope.

Jokes - - -

Among the spectators watching a bull fight in a Mexican border town was a weathered cow hand. The fight had progressed to the point where the bull fighter was showing complete mastery over the fierce "Toro". As the bull charged, the matador with his red cape fooled the beast time and again, each time avoiding the bull's horns by the smallest margin.

At last the cowboy could stand it no longer, and he yelled above the crowd, 'Fodner, you ain't never gonna git him in that sack unless you hold it still."

Woman driver to friend: "Look how close that crazy man is driving ahead of me!

Amos: 'Do you know what the last three hairs on a dog's tail are called?"

Andy: "No, what are they called?"

Amos: "Dog hairs".

A man was wearily trying to get a horse on a bus and the driver asked him why he was doing so. The man exclaimed, "They wouldn't let us on the subway.

Second Grade

Mrs. Reinhart, Mrs. Schmidt, and Mrs. Patterson were recent visitors in our room. We hope they will come again.

Merrie June Reinhart treated the room to candy bars on her eighth birthday.

We are sorry Bobby Evans will no longer be with us, as he has moved from the Klemme community.

Friday we had a Valenine party. Each of us had our own valentine box to decorate.

Janette and Janelle Greimann and Merrie June Reinhart have returned their dental cards making a total of seventeen cards returned.

First Grade

Marlene Rothenbeutal, Lyle Waddingham, and Nancy Reinhart have returned their dental cards. We now have 18 returned. We are having a race between the boys and the girls. So far, the boys are ahead.

The Cardinals have started their new reading books "Our New Neighbors."

Sandra Yerger has moved to a farm near Belmond and will attend school in Belmond. We are sorry to see her go, but hope she will enjoy her new school.

We had our Valentine party Friday in school. We had a nice time. We were happy Larry Baack was with us for the party.

Iowa Farmers Show Up Russia

Iowa farmers have made Russia's "dictator" farming system look pretty bad on still another score.

Figures now show that on Iowa farms we have SIX times more tractors per square mile than in Russia.

I think the reason why is pretty plain. Over there, a farmer has to take what the dictators decide. Over here, a farmer uses his own good judgment. He's an individual who stands on his own two feet, and thinks for himself.

If an Iowa operator prefers two tractors, or three, it's his right to back his own preferences. That freedom to choose for ourselves is part of our Iowa way of life.

It goes for choosing between Benton oats and Clinton oats, or between a temperate glass of beer or pop, or the question of which ticket we'll vote.

We've never had much use for dictators, professional or amateur, and that, too, has made this a better state to live in.

Every Family Should Understand the Reasons—

Why Budget?

Any couple with their hearts set on buying a house some day know that wishing won't make it so. It will take thought, long-range planning and careful juggling of the family income to make this and other dreams come true.

A sensible, flexible family spending plan—call it budget, if you will—can be your stairway to the stars. That's how Margaret Liston, head of the Home Management Department of Iowa State College, puts it.

And anyone who's ever been disturbed by the way a pay check disappears without taking care of all of the family's expenses; anyone who's contended with unexpected doctor bills; any couple who's brought a new baby home from the hospital and felt the added tug on the family purse strings; any family who's dreamed of remodeling the house, two week's vacation or helping to support a community enterprise— any and all of these times is pretty much on a cash basis.

In a sense, says Dr. Liston, you "buy" the kind of life you want with the way you spend both your time and money. Every time you spend money, you cast a vote for a certain interest in your lives and you naturally spend more on some interests than others. You buy according to your wants as well as your needs.

THE GOALS YOU SET

One family may buy a new car and remodel its home. Another may decide to get along with the old car and a change of draperies and take a family vacation instead. It depends how you look at things, on what you consider important, what goals you set for your family, what "stars" you're reaching for.

A workable spending plan is one that balances the interests and needs of the whole family and on which very member helps work out, according to Dr. Liston. So once you decide there's a real need for budgeting your spending, the next step is to get the whole family interested.

Training in money management should be a part of every youngster's education. By the time a child is about 10, if he's had some practice in saving and spending his own allowance, he can understand something of financial planning and be included in family money discussions, Then, as he grows older, he'll have an appreciation of just what the money resources of the family are, what goals are worth saving for, and what the limitations are, and why, on his own spending.

WHERE TO GET HELP

Your first spending plan may be pretty much trial and error. If you've kept a record of your expenses in the past, this can help you see where your spending has been wise and well planned and where it hasn't been. It's a good idea, on the whole, to underestimate your income and overestimate your expenses and try to build up some kind of an emergency fund.

You can get help, both in mapping out a budget tailored to your own family and in learning to live "with" it (not "on" it). The U. S. Department of Agriculture, in Washington, D. C. puts out a bulletin, "Guiding Family Spending," which you can send for free of charge. "Your Budget" and "Children's Spending" are two excellent booklets, 10 cents apiece, put out by the Household Finance Corporation, 919 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago. You can also obtain helpful booklets from the Women's Division of the Institute of Life Inurance, 488 Madison Ave., New York 22, N. Y.

So set your family goals, those "stars" you're reaching for. Then plan your budget, learn to live with it and you're on your way to the kind of life you want.

Soybean Support Rate Lowered for 1954

Prices for the 1954 crop of soybeans will be supported at a national average of $2.22 a bushel, which is 80 percent of parity as of last December 15, according to an announcement by the U. S. Department of Agriculture received by A. E. Rasmussen, chairman of the Hancock county ASC committee.

The price support level for the 1953 crop was 90 percent for the 1954 crop as a step toward keeping this year's soybean acreage in balance as nearly as possible with production needs without the use of acreage allotments for this commodity. It is also hoped, he stated, that the lower support level for soybeans will discourage a wholesale switch of diverted corn land to soybeans this year.

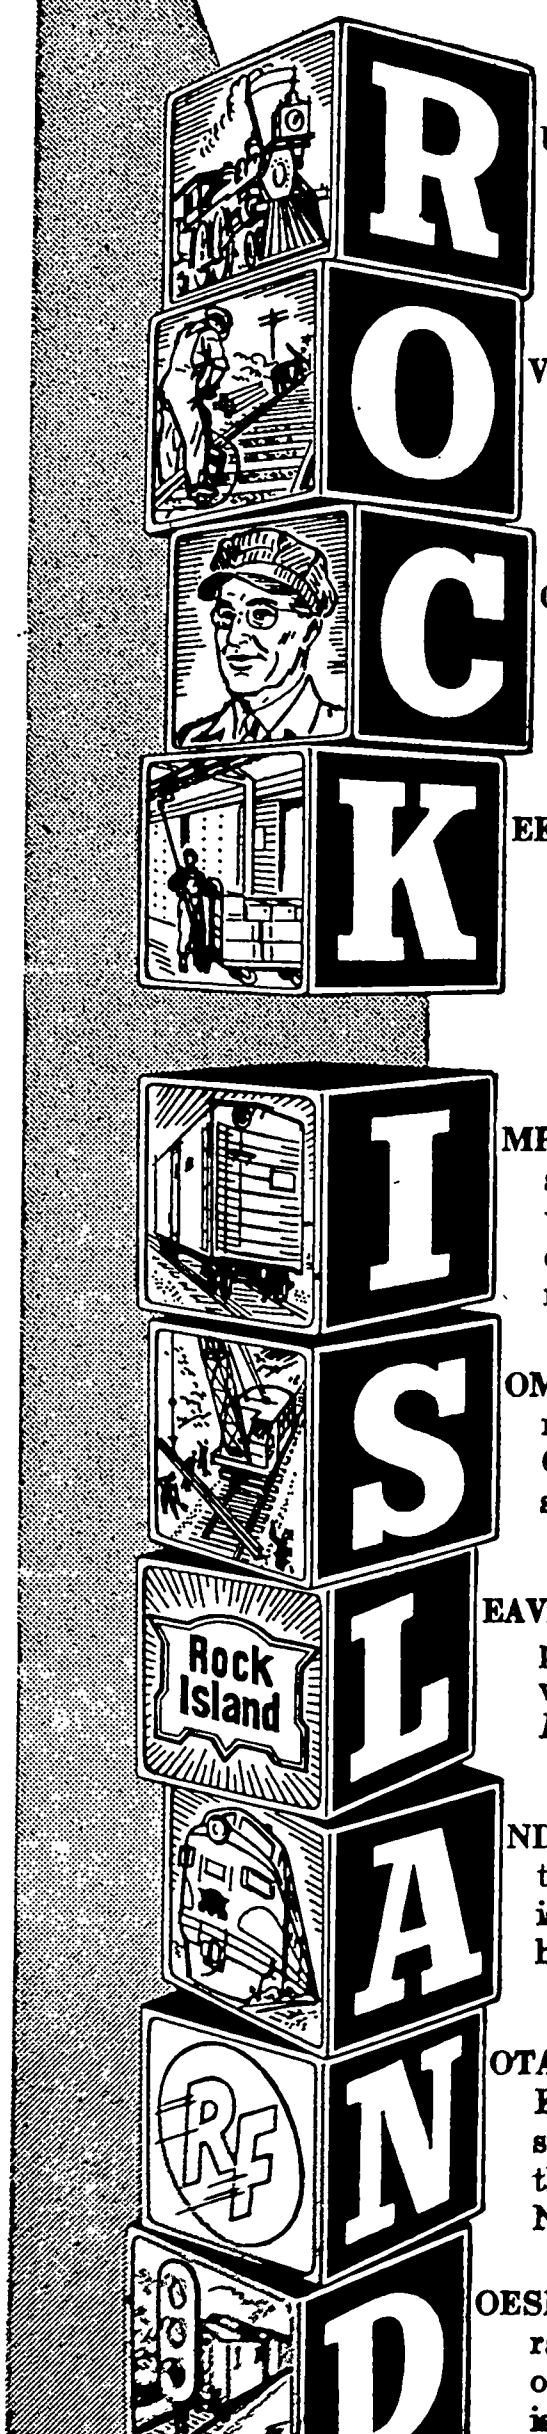
Price support for 1953 crop soybeans was at a national average of $2.56 a bushel. The rate in Hancock county was $2.57 and 163,617 bushels had been placed under loan and purchase agreement in this county when the time for price support applications on soybeans expired February 1.

70 YEARS

Mrs. Elizabeth Fox, who died at Wesley recently, had lived in that community 70 years.

Thoughts

about a 102-year-old Railroad and its Service to You



RUNNING a railroad is a big job. For the past 102 years we've devoted all of our time to it.

OVER this century-long period we've grown from a railroad of a few miles to an 8,000-mile system serving 14 states.

COMPETENT personnel has enabled us to attain this growth—a growth that parallels that of the communities we serve.

KEEPING these communities supplied with the things they need and taking to market the things they produce have always been our chief concern.

IMPROVEMENTS have been made constantly. Faster, more powerful locomotives, finer passenger equipment, more efficient freight cars—all adding up to a more satisfying service.

SOMETIMES a single improvement has cost millions of dollars. The Atlantic (Iowa) Cut-off, for example, which reduces grades, straightens curves, shortens distances.

LEAVING no stone unturned in our desire to provide the finest in rail transportation, we eventually became recognized as The Road of Planned Progress.

AND we derive no small satisfaction from the thought that today planned progress is as much a part of this railroad as heavy duty, diesel-powered locomotives.

NOTABLE among our trains are the ROCKET FREIGHTS (for shippers) and the streamlined ROCKET Fleet, including the GOLDEN STATE (for travelers). Nothing finer . . . anywhere.

DOESN'T all this suggest that this century-old railroad is as alert as ever to the needs of its patrons—that now, as always, ours is "A Service that Never Ceases—a Story that Never Ends"?

County Bang's Disease Tests Start February 22

Expect 1500 Milk And Cream Samples To Get Tested

Farmers who are supplying milk or cream to the milk plants, cheese factories and creameries in Hancock County and on the borders will not need to make any special effort to have a free Brucellosis (Bangs) ring test made of their dairy, according to the present plan which begins Monday, February 22nd.

Only those folks who have animals whose milk is not going into commercial channels will need to obtain sample bottles and bring or send in a small tube of milk or cream to their local creamery or milk plant or the County Extension Office.

Cooperating Firms: Those concerns who may be cooperating in the prgram Monday February 22, through Saturday, February 27 are the Garner Creamery, Britt Creamery, Klemme Creamery, Woden Creamery, Crystal Lake Creamry and Kanawha Cramery.

Samples of the products delivered to these plants will be automatically tested unless the herd owners specifies that his desires are otherwise. However, the test results are confidential and will be known only to the technicians testing the samples and the herd owner.

It is the intent of the Brucellosis educational program to also supply information to the owners of family cows concerning the health of their animals since this milk is often consumed in the raw state by members of the family constitutes a serious source of undulant fever infection. Owners should pick up a test bottle at one of the above named locations and return it with a sample of milk before Monday morning February 22.

Expect 1500 Samples

Actual testing will be done in the basement of the Dr. H. G. Voetberg residence in Garner, beginning February 22. Equipment used will be that of the Mobile State and Federal Livestock Industry Bureau of Animal Health and the work will be suprvised by Veterinarians on the staff of these bureaus.

If the county testing ring program can be handled smoothly and proves as practical in a county the size of Hancock as it has in smaller areas, plans are to test periodically with the same procedures until every dairyman has had an opportunity to whip this costly disease. The test itself, of course, is not a cure all, but it does provide the owner with information regarding the health status of his herd and in case of a positive reaction he is free to decide what control measure he wishes to use.

Farmers wishing further information are urged to consult their county extension office or local veterinarian.

Wheat Growers Warned About Over-planting

With spring wheat planting time approaching, A. E. Rasmussen, chairman of the Hancock county ASC committee, is urging wheat growers to plant within their allotments if they want to avoid penalties. Allotment notices have been sent to all wheat growers of record in the county.

Chairman Rasmussen stated that the wheat acreage on all farms in the county will be measured by a representative of his office before harvest. Farmers who do not receive notice of have disposed of their excess wheat as directed by the county committee.

The penalty on excess wheat, according to the chairman, is 45 percent of the May 1, 1954, wheat parity price and will be charged against all the wheat overplanting will be eligible for a marketing card which entitles them to market their wheat without penalty. Those who overplant will not be entitled to a marketing card until they sold from a farm unless the farmer presents a marketing card or marketing certificate. He explained that the excess wheat is the normal yield per acre times the excess acres.

Klemme School Gets $4,039.62 State Aid For Transportation

Public schools in Hancock County received $29,938.40 in the State Aid for transporting pupils during the school year 1952-53. There were thirteen claims paid to public schools in Hancock County by a limited appropriation, which meant that the claims had to be prorated.

The Transportation Aid claims in the state are prorated from a $3,000,000 appropriation by the 55th General Assembly that was made available to pay claims for the 1952-53 school year.

The Klemme School received $4,039.82 as its prorated share of the fund. Corwith received the largest amount which was $5-386.94, while Goodell's share was only $776.07.

Records Intact

A number of inquiries have been received by County Clerk Doris Young inquiring whether Yeggs who recently broke into her vault might have destroyed such instruments as last wills and testaments filed in her office. A careful check of the records reveals that none such records were tampered with and such records are intact, according to Mrs. Young. The thieves did rifle some other files left last wills and testaments untouched.

Sisters Finalists In Liberty Spelling Contest

The Liberty Township spelling contest was held at Liberty No. 8, Thursday, February 18, with six schools and thirty-one contestants represented.

Beverly Kopacek (8th grade) won the contest by spelling down her sister Bonnie (6th grade). To determine the final winner, the winners of both the oral and written contests competed orally against one another. Contestants of the written division were identified only by number, which they alone knew. No one knew that the two sisters would compete for top honors until Bonnie had won the oral contest by spelling down the other thirty contestants. Then the number of the written winner was called and the two sisters spelled until Bonnie missed "pneumonia".

John Farquhar placed third in the contest. All three winners are pupils of Mrs. Marie Niemeyer, Liberty No. 3.

The contest was conducted by Mrs. Brown from the office of the county superintendent. The judges were Mrs. Ruby Legge, Miss Lydia Pearson, and Mrs. Joe Burgess.

House Warming

The following folks gathered at the Donald E. Neuberger home near Clear Lake, Sunday noon with well filled baskets for a surprise "House Warming" pot luck dinner. Those present were: Mrs. Lewis Neuberger, Wert Loger, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Neuberger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Neuberger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Neuberger and Roger, and Mr. and Clarence Lemke and Pamela.

In the afternoon, Mrs. Fred Westendorf and Mr. and Mrs. George Carmen of Buffalo Center and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lemke of Clear Lake were also visitors.

Birthday Party

Mr. and Mr. Warren Bier and Fonda entertained relatives and friends at a party Saturday evening. "500" was played at three tables. Mr. and Mrs. George Gerdes won high prizes, Mrs. George Stille and Clifford Montgomery low prizes and Mrs. Dean Nuehring the traveling prize.

Delicious refreshments were served after the games.

The occasion was to celebrate the birthdays of Mrs. Warren Bier and Mrs. Clifford Montgomery.

Soldier's Relief

The Hancock County Soldiers' Relief Commission will hold its regular meeting at the courthouse in Garner Monday afternoon, March 1st.

Longtime Klemme Resident Died Tuesday

NOTICE

The meeting on the new Klemme Community School District, which was to have been held the evening of March 1st, has been moved up to 1:30 on the afternoon of March 1st. Conflicting school activities on that day made the change necessary.

If you are interested in the new school district, you should attend this meeting as many things of interest, including possible candidates for the school board will be discussed.

Price Support Requirements Explained

When a producer knowingly plants in excess of a grain acreage allotment for his farm, the entire production of the overplanted commodity from the farm becomes ineligible for price support, according to A. E. Rasmussen, chairman of the Hancock county ASC committee.

Allotments will be in effect this crop year on both corn and wheat. Wheat raisers have already been advised of their individual allotments. Corn raisers will receive notices of their individual farm allotments for that crop by March 15.

In an effort to help farmers understand fully the conditions governing eligibility for price support loans and purchase agreements, Chairman Rasmussen cited the following requirements:

"Besides complying with his acreage allotment for the particular grain, the farmer must have actually produced all of the grain he offers for price support, and he must have produced it on his farm in the year for which he is applying for price support. The commodity must also meet certain official U. S. Grain standards.

Grain must be in storage before the producer applies for a loan on it. If stored on a farm, the storage structure must be in such condition that it will protect the commodity from weather damage and from rodent, bird, livestock and poultry damage or destruction, and be so located that it is reasonably safe from any fire and theft hazard. If stored in a warehouse, the warehouse receipt must be issued by an approved warehouse operating under a storage agreement with the Commodity Credit Corporation."

The county chairman also said that if a government loan is granted and it is later determined that any of the commodity was not eligible, the entire loan will be called at once.

Athletic Banquet Will Be Sponsored By Lions Club; O'Connor To Speak

The Klemme Lions Club recently voted to sponsor an annual athletic banquet honoring all the various athletic teams in the Klemme High School. Since the time that they decided to put on this annual affair, they have been busy getting details ironed out and lining up speakers for this year's banquet.

Featured speaker for the event will be Frank "Bucky" O'Conner, head basketball coach at the University of Iowa. "Bucky" will not only give a talk, but will have some movies showing action from parts of some of this year's Hawkeye games.

Master of ceremonies for the banquet will be Bud Suter, KGLO sportscaster, who is well-informed on matters pertaining to the sports world. He is an experienced M. C. and should keep things moving at a lively pace.

The appearance of these two men will bring about somewhat of a reunion. Both "Bucky" and Bud played at Drake University in Des Moines at the same time Supt. T. G. Ahrenkiel played there. The three of them should be able to recall some interesting experiences.

In addition to the above mentioned parts of the program, there will be other entertainment and short speeches by some of the Klemme School athletes . . . and of course, a fine dinner is being planned.

The evening should be enjoyable to the ladies as well as to the men. In fact, everyone who attends is in for an evening they will long remember.

Tickets are on sale now and you can get yours from any member of the Klemme Lions Club, or in nearly any business place in Klemme. Ticket sales positively end on Saturday night, March 27th, and there will be no admittance other than by purchasing your tickets in advance. Get yours now.

Hospital Auxiliary Plans Home Talent Program

The Women's Auxiliary to the Hancock County Memorial Hospital met at the hospital Friday, February 19, with a good number attending. Members were present from Kanawha, Corwith, Garner, Hayfield and Britt.

Reports for various services were given. Plans are being made for a county wide home talent program to be given in Britt sometime in March to be sponsored by the Auxiliary. This will be their project for this year.

Mrs. Thompkins of Garner introduced Attorney Erwin L. Buck, who was the speaker for the afternoon He gave an interesting talk on hospital trustees.

A tea was held in the dining room with Britt being the hostess. Mrs. Maurice Peterson, Britt, and Mrs. Esta Shultz, Corwith, poured. Decorations and refreshments were in keeping with the George Washington theme.

Jurors Selected

A list of the newly selected Grand Jurors and Petit Jurors show several from this community have been drawn for duty. Mitchell Bock has been drawn for the Petit Jury for the March term, and Mrs. Nova Stokebary, Mrs. Martin Barz, and Harlan Nuehring have been selected as Grand Jurors for 1954.

Services Will Be Friday Afteroon For Herman Priebe, 81

Herman Priebe, 81, longtime resident of the Klemme community passed away at Mercy Hospital in Mason City at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon, February 23.

Mr. Priebe had been ailing somewhat for the past several years, and last Friday was taken to the hospital to submit to surgery in hopes of correcting his condition. He was operated on Friday, and the operation was apparently a success. However, Tuesday he began to hemorrhage and all efforts toward control were unsuccessful.

Mr. Priebe came to America from Germany as a small boy and has lived in this community ever since. Only immediate survivors are his two sons, Albert and Verner, and a brother, Julius, all of Klemme. His wife preceded him in death in October of 1952.

Funeral services will be at 1:30 Friday afternoon from the Priebe home in Klemme, and at 2 o'clock from the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church with the Rev. Vernon E. Jaberg in charge. Pall bearers will be George Buseman, Carl Wille, Henry Buseman, Louis Griffen, Walter Lemke, and Henry Ludeke. Interment will be in the Ell Township Cemetery.

Arrangements will be in charge of the Wellemeyer Funeral Service of Klemme.

Two Candidates File For March 8th School Election In Klemme

Nomination papers for two candidates for school director have been filed with the Secretary of the Klemme Independent School District. The two are Mrs. Fred J. Arnold and M. L. Harson.

There are only two vacancies to be filled by the action of voters in the coming March 8th election, and whoever is elected will serve only until July 1st when this district becomes a part of the reorganized Klemme Community School District.

Anyone else wishing to file as candidates for either of these two vacancies will have to do so before noon, the 26th of February.

County Music Festival

The Hancock County Music Festival will be held in the Garner Memorial Building, Monday, March 1, at 8:00 o'clock p. m. Twenty of our high school band members and twenty of our chorus members have been chosen to take part. Plan to attend and show our music department we appreciate them.

Birthday Party

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Neuberger and family entertained relatives Friday evening at a party, in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Clarence Lemke.

The evening was spent playing "500" with high scores won by Mrs. Clarence Lemke and Donald Neuberger. Low scores went to Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Neuberger.

Delicious refreshments were served later in the evening, complete with a decorated birthday cake.

Klemme Cagers Close Season With Wins

Shamrocks In Strong Finish As Girls Win By 7-Point Margin

The Klemme High School basketball teams closed their regular season of play when they met and defeated the Kanawha boys and girls teams on the local floor Friday night.

The Shamrockettes, who have never been beaten by the Kanawha girls, got off to a good start and were out in front by a score of 29 to 16 at the end of the half. The end of the third quarter found them with only a four-point lead as the Kanawha team had pulled the score to 33 to 29. However, the local girls managed to stave off the opposition and went on to win 48 to 41.

Carol Bridges led the scoring for the game with 24 points, while Emmons had 21 for the Kanawha girls.

The Shamrocks had a rough time getting started against the Kanawha Bulldogs, and after three quarters were able to manage only a 7-point lead. However, in the final quarter, they scored nineteen points to 10 for Kanawha, and won by a score of 59 to 43.

Terhufen and Thiemann led the scoring for the game with 18 and 14 points, respectively, while Barz dumped in 10 for the Shamrocks. Mewes led the scoring for the Kanawha team with 12.

These two games finished the regular basketball season for the local team and having lost out in the sectional tournament, the Shamrockettes are through. However, the Shamrocks won their sectional and play this Wednesday night in the district tournament at Garner. Their first round opponent is St. Cecelia's of Algona. If they win that one they will meet either Alexander or Joice in the final on Saturday night.

Memory "Joggers"

Taken from Our Files

10 YEARS AGO—

Miss Darlene Perkins left Thursday night for Los Angeles, California, where she will be employed.

Mrs. Lester Neuberger gave a shower Sunday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Eugene Kluckhohn and had as guests a number of Mrs. Kluckhohn's young lady friends. A social time was enjoyed and lunch was served by the hostess. Mrs. Kluckhohn was presented with a gift from her friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Murray are the proud parents of twins, a boy and a girl, born at Mercy Hospital in Mason City, Tuesday, February 22nd, Washington's birthday. Grandpa and Grandma George Thiemann are very elated over the double feature.

J. W. "Bill" Johnson, who has been bedfast for about five months, is now getting along fine and is feeling much better. He was able to drive his car to town last week.

20 YEARS AGO—

Miss Leona Halfpop entertained to a six o'clock dinner Sunday: Dale Brede, Nellie Griggs and Gerald Burk. Later in the evening they all attended the show at Kanawha.

The 4-H girls gave a party in honor of Miss Lillian Brown, Saturday at her home. The Brown family expects to move on a farm near Hayfield the first of March. Miss Lillian will remain in Klemme to complete her school year as she is a senior this year.

W. C. Keraus and son, Otho, and Clarence Kluckhohn and son, Clarence, were at Des Moines, Thursday, attending the Hardware Dealers convention.

Herman Paul has been sick the past few days and Henry Smid has been taking care of the station.

30 YEARS AGO—

R. W. Elder came over from Mason City, Sunday, to attend the Sumner Trumbell sale. Ralph is going to move back on his farm southeast of town this spring.

Sumner Trumbell had a good sale, Monday, and everything brought a good price. He is moving to town as he starts his mail carrying job next Monday.

Klemme is to have a drug store again as Mr. G. G. Seney of Sheffield has rented the G. A. Pabst building for that purpose and will start in business at an early date.

Thi vicinity had more snow again Saturday night and some more on Monday. The snow drifted some, and last night the thermometer dropped some. Indications are for warm weather again.

BUY KILN

Proud of their art work, students at the Clarinda high school art department recently purchased a kiln, with their own funds, so that the pottery they make can be "fired" right in the school room.

SCOUTS

In observance of Boy Scout week, Anamosa Boy Scouts recently took over the Jones county courthouse, and ran the county's business for an afternoon.

ICY

Things were pretty icy at the home of Sigfreda McCamish in Ringsted recently. The nearby city water tower overflowed, the wind carrying the water over to the McCamish home, literally coating it with ice. Some went down the chimney, damaging the interior of the home.

No Marriage Licenses

The past week is the second consecutive week that no marriage license was issued at the Clerk's office here. The last marriage license issued was issued n February 4.

DIED

One of the oldest residents of Iowa died recently, Mrs. Laura Swope, of North English. She was 102. Born in Illinois, she came to Iowa as a child, in a covered wagon.

Cliff Cairns Speaker At County 4-H Meeting

Cliff Cairns is going to be present at the two Hancock County 4-H meetings to high light the special activity of livestock market loss prevention. He is going to bring samples of bruised meat to show the boys the results of hitting, kicking of crowding animals. There will be a calf hide to show the damage done by cattle grubs. Cairns will also give a talk and show a movie preventing livestock losses.

There will be displays of posters and other educational material for the boys to look over.

The first county meeting will be held March 4 at 7:30 at the Britt High School. The second meeting will be held March 9 at 7:30 at the Garner High School. These meetings will be duplicates of each other. Every 4-H boy is urged to attend one or the other of these meetings. The dad's are invited to attend with the boys.

The meetings are to start promptly at 7:30 so the boys will be able to get home early.

Consumers will find broiler bargains widespread in the months ahead. Broilers have been marked "sale specials" in some stores during most of January and the first part of February. This is an indication that production has gotten ahead of present consumer demand, Don Hunter, Iowa State College farm economist reports. Broiler prices in a major New England producing area have dropped 8 cents under the 28-cent mark of a year ago.

Production as measured by chick purchases in major producing areas has been outstripping year-ago figures ever since the first part of November. For the month of February, 15 to 19 percent more broilers will be ready for market than a year ago.

Growers in some areas are getting discouraged by low prices and high feed costs, but all the major broiler areas combined bought 4 percent more chicks in the last week of January. These birds will be ready to market in April. This means low broiler prices will probably stay with us until the middle of April at least.

High egg prices discouraged processors and freezers in their January operations. As a result, many closed down altogether, and those that didn't, materially restricted their operations. The difference between fresh and frozen egg prices is small and partly accounts for absence of activity.

The recent spring-like weather failed to hike egg production to any great extent, so the egg prices are largely explained by the demand situation, Hunter notes.

HOGS

Trade sources in interior Iowa hog markets have indicated peak runs of old-crop hogs are behind us. In addition they point out that in southern and eastern sections of the Corn Belt some new-crop hogs are begging make an appearance. Poor consumer demand for pork continues to plague wholesale fresh pork prices. As a result, live hog prices weakened about 25 cents during the past week though receipts were small. In interior Iowa, hog marketings were the smallest since last September, for example Interior hog receipts were the smallest for a February week since 1948, the first week in February.

Fat lamb prices climbed to levels rivaling those of late August 1953, at Chicago last week. Strong consumer demand for dressed lamb and mutton stimulated trade. Weekly sheep and lamb slaughter has been running very close to that of a year earlier with only a slight lag since the middle of January, according to Don Hunter, farm economist at Iowa State College.

Feeder lambs followed prices of slaughter stock with about the same margin from November until the first of the year. Since then, margins have narrowed somewhat and amounts now to about $1.75. This compares with margins of almost $4 during September and October.

Some trade sources believe there are still some native lambs to be moved. They speculate the bulk will be marketed by the end of February. If this is true, some additional rise in fat lamb prices might be seen in the next month.

Denver market reports tell of increased trading of fed wooled lambs, the bulk selling for $20-.50 with weights running about 110-112 pounds. The lambs were to be processed both there locally and in eastern centers.

Early lamb trade in the far west is slow in starting this year.

The first part of February has seen quite a lot of lamb contracting in the past. This year buyers off the new crop are waiting to see what develops price-wise. With recent rains in California, pastures appear to be adequate there to carry lambs until April 1.

January 1 figures on stock sheep on farms and ranches stood at 26,905,000 head. This was 3 percent below a year earlier and only 3 percent above the record low set in 1950. Ewe lambs were down 10 percent from last year after a 21 percent drop during 1952.

Hancock County Urged To Combat Rabies

With rabies reported in 12 different counties in Iowa during the first 5 weeks of 1954, County Extension Director Paul Henderson of Garner, advises both town and farm people of Hancock County to take steps now to protect their communties against the disease.

It would be a good project for community or civic groups to undertake, he says, to see that all pet cats or dogs in their communities are vaccinated against rabies. He says antirabies vaccination has to be repeated once a year to be effective. Puppies before they are 6 months old should be revaccinated after they are 6 months old.

Farm cats and dogs are particularly in danger, Extension Director Henderson says, because they are more likely to come in contact with rabid wild animals. Fur-bearing animals (both domestic and wild) are the most common carrier of the disease. Farmers should beware of any strange-acting wild animals in their farmlots, as such animals are often found to be rabid.

Henderson says that Dr. Pohn B. Herrick, extension veterinarian at Iowa State College, suggests you take these three steps if you suspect that an animal may have rabies:

1. Do not kill the animal. It should be confined under a veterinarian's supervision, so the veterinarian can watch the animal for 2 weeks or longer. If the animal is well after this confinement period, antirabic treatment is not indicated for humans it might have infected.

2. If they must kill the animal, do not damage its head. Portions of the brain are used to diagnose the disease.

3. If an animal bites you or your child, confine the animal immediately. Wash the laceration with warm soapy water and see a physician immediately. Treatment of human beings involves some danger and should not be used unless definitely indicated. Therefore, accurate history of the biting animal is very important.

IOWA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

The second hand moved smoothly around the big clock on the white wall and he watched it intently as though at a certain moment he would have to jump up and run out of the building.

A nurse passed swiftly down the corridor and he heard the starchy sound of her uniform and soft thud of rubber heels but she did not come from the operating room, she could tell him nothing. His eyes stayed on the clock.

Down the hall there was an alcove containing chairs and a table. He knew that a small group of silent people sat there and waited, just as he waited

Occasionally he heard a dim voice raising what seemed to be a question. They were the parents and the grandparents.

Once he walked down the hall and they all looked at him quietly and he looked back, trying to find something to say. Nothing came to his lips so he walked back and sat on a chair alone and looked at the clock.

So much time, he thought, but all of it going forward, never turning back. Never would the clock turn back to those moments just after 8 that morning.

Never again would he have the chance to reduce his speed just a little as he came into the residential district, to look at the sidewalks more closely, to hit the brake as the child came running into the street.

So much time, he thought, and none of it ever given back to wipe out a mistake.

The corridor was so silent that he heard the sigh as the operating room doors opened and fell back. A doctor stood looking at him. Time had run out.

Liberty Busy Bees Met

The Liberty Busy Bees held their regular meeting, Monday evening, February 15, at the home of Darlene Hrubes. After thirty minutes of entertainment, conducted by Darlene Hrubes, 14 members answered roll call. Mrs. Gordon Greiman and Mrs. Jerry Psotka were our visiting mothers who helped with our work shop. We practiced some of our singing numbers. Patty Legge read some of the rules in conducting a business meeting properly. We hope to improve our business meetings this year. Our leaders stressed working on our record books and keeping them up to date. We decided to donate $5.00 to the International Youth Exchange. After the business meeting was adjourned we had the following program.

Talk: Skin Care by Darlene Hrubes.

Demonstration: Making patch pockets by Rosemary Josten.

Demonstration: Making a pleated skirt by Winola Zwald.

Talk: Watch your grainline by Marlys Psotka.

Then Marion Stromer conducted a work shop "Making a Skirt Band with Interfacing". We all made our skirt bands as Marion gave her demonstration. After that we started working on our skirts. We are to complete our skirts, except the placket, before our next meeting.

Lunch was served by the hostess and her mother.

Our next meeting will be held at Patty Greiman's on March 20 at 1:30 P. M. with Mrs. Alfred Josten and Mrs. Aaron Stromer as our helping mothers.

Editorial

On February 22, we celebrated the birthday of one of the greatest men, and military leaders in our history—the father of our country, George Washington. But at the same time we will continue to indulge in another old American custom, that of throwing verbal brickbats at the political leaders of our time. Thomas Paine described President Washington as "treacherous in private friendship, and a hypocrite in public life", and a character in a Henry Adams novel describes him as "a rawboned country farmer, very hard-featured, very awkward, very illiterate and very dull." How do we regard him today? His true greatness could not be obscured, even by his enemies in his day, and today we appreciate his heroic deeds. Even though our two-party system does encourage the hurtling of brickbats at the administration, that sensible criticism and discusion are important to democracy, and that sometimes it takes a lot of protest to wake up some politicians to public opinion, there is no need for the reckless and hasty criticisms that are constantly being thrown at our political leaders. Often we just lack the perspective to see things and people in their true light, and we are also unable to forsee how the leaders of our time will be regarded by generations to come. It would be a good idea for people to think how Washington had enemies, too, but today stands above all of them whenever they feel like speaking disparingly about Roosevelt, Truman, Eisenhower, or any of our other political leaders!

Boys' Sports

The Shamrocks played the Hayfield Hornets at Hayfield, February 16. Both teams had an all Senior line up to start the game. The game was close most of the way. Klemme was behind at the half. The game was even all through the last half and ended in a tie. In the overtime Klemme lost by one point.

Feature Article

Our second interview was with Mr. Francis Johnson, who teaches typing, bookkeeping, and coaches girls basketball.

Francis was born at Forest City, January 1, 1928. He is six feet one and one-half inches tall, weighs 175 pounds, has blue eyes, and blond hair.

Mr. Johnson's hobby is photography and his pastime is hunting and fishing.

Francis has attended two years at Fertile High School, two years at Forest City(two years at Waldorf Junior College, and then completed his college education at Luther College.

In Francis' opinion Guy Lombardo, Bing Crosby, Marilyn Monroe, and Dean Martin rate top place as his favorites. His favorite song is "The Jones Boy", and his favorite foods and drink are French fries, ham, and milk. Individuals who don't listen when you're talking is his pet peeve. Mr. Johnson has lived in Forest City, Decorah, the Hawaiian Islands when in the navy and two years at Pearl Harbor, but now he lives in good old Klemme with his wife and two children.

Girls' Sports

Another defeat in the tail end of the season came up for the Klemme girls when they played Hayfield Tuesday night. We had a 7 point lead in the first quarter of the game, but soon lost it.

Throughout the game, Hayfield led by 4 to 6 points. At one time we were two points behind, but just couldn't tie her to a win. The final score was 44 to 36. Carol Bridges led Klemme with 24 points and Lois Christians followed with 10 and Jo Ellen had 2.

Suggestion Box

Some teachers always have to read test grades in front of the class, instead of telling the pupil individualy, the way they shoud be told.

? ? of the Week

What do you think of the recent decision to discontinue girls' basketball?

Lois Boland: It's not fair to the girls who do want to play, but if there is no enthusiasm among the girls, I don't see how we could continue with just 10 or 11 girls going out for basketball.

Lee Gruis: I think that they should do away with girls basketball because there isn't enough girls go out for it to make a good team. Besides if they don't have girls basketball, they could have a way better boys team, I think.

Marvin Michelson: They might as well give girls basketball up because there aren't enough girls that go out for it.

Gary Day: I believe it was a good thing for all concerned. Everyone will probably show more interest in boys basketball now that there isn't any competitive sport.

Bueford P. I always liked to see girls basketball in Kemme, but if there aren't enough interested, I don't suppose there is much sense in keeping it. It really isn't fair for the ones that like it, but, that's the way the little ball bounces..

Lois C.: Unless more girls went out for basketball there is no sense in having it, because you can't expect to have a good team when only 11 girls go out for it. All I can say is, that I'm sure glad I'm a senior.

Carol B.: If there aren't enough girls out naturally they can't continue having it. There are a lot of girls who could go out for it that don't. It's not fair for the girls that do like it.

Freshman News

For the past few weeks in English we have been writing themes, some of which appeared in this paper. We have been learning how to make our verbs show more action, so as to make our themes more interesting. We are also giving 45 second talks on what we think we are most skillful in.

In general mathematics we have been confining our studies to signed numbers. We have learned how to add, subtract, multiply, and divide them, and how to apply this knowledge to solving equations.

In general science we are on a chapter called "Sources and Control of Power in Industry." In it we are studying steam and gas engines, coal, and other ways of generating power. We studied the process of making steel from iron ore. We all looked up iron and steel and the different processes of making them in an encyclopedia and reported it to the class.

In home economicss for the past few weeks we have been learning different stitches. First we learned some bastings, the even, and uneven, combination, hemstitch, halfback, and fullback. During this time we also learned to use the machine, thread it, etc. Then we started making different seams: plain unfinished, plain pinked, plain finished, false French, French, flat feld, and hand overcasting stitch. We then made notebooks to put all these stitches in. We are now starting are working on with Mrs. And- on our cobbler apron's which we reae's help.

In manual training it's the same old routine, working on our projects.

Fifth Grade News

In health we have been studying our skin and our sense of touch. We made charts to illustrate the different kinds of clothing we wear.

Some of our people made a poster of farm machinery to illustrate our work in social studies. We also have a display of farm animals.

Last Friday we enjoyed a valentine party in our room. We played games, had lunch, and exchanged valentines. The committee in charge had planned each part carefully and everyone had fun.

Lowell Greimann is back in school after his accident. Last week he broke a bone in his ankle while playing. We are glad he is able to be back with us even though he must use crutches for a time.

We are working on a picture map of Germany, which we think will be attractive when it is finished. We hope that it will also help us remember important facts about the products and industries of that country.

BACK AGAIN

At Forest City, Henry Bode, 36, is fighting to regain his United States citizenship. He was born in Britt, in 1917. Later, his mother took him back to her native Germany. He was taken into the German army in World War II, and for the past five years has been in Russian prison factories. He arrived with his family in Forest City last week.

Music News

FOUND! Jerry Music Mouse. I happened to see him around the band boop the other day. He's been in Florida for the winter but he just couldn't help coming back. He missed us all.

Operation Big Switch! Goes on every day in band. In practicing our pieces for Band Festival at Garner some of our firsts have to go back to 2nd etc. We should have the parts pretty well down pat by March 1st.

Hot Off The Wires! This was an extra, extra we just had to pop it in the band news. This is not a rumor, but FACT! Mr. Hiller was seen with a nice looking brunette at the Hayfield ball game. There also was a cute blonde along. I'm afraid you'll have to ask Mr. Westberg about that!

New addition to the band. Fred Arnold came to band Wednesday morning, sporting a shiny new pair of shoes. They sure have a shine, Fred.

Most people around this time of the year have glittering valentines in their eyes, but Lois J. our first sax, has Terrys in her eyes. Can you guess what a Terry is?

Question of the Week? Is it possible for the bass to play 3 or 4 notes at one time??? Ask LuVerne about this.

A hot and heavy race is on between the first sax and the second flute. It seems it started on the bus coming home from Hayfield. For the results tune in next week.

So my helpers and I are signing off from K. H. S. Music room I.

Just a last reminder—be sure to attend the county music festival at Garner to be held at the Memorial Bldg., March 1st, at 8:00 p. m. We've been working hard so come and support us!

Seventh Grade News

We had the best record on our spelling grades last week that we have had since the beginning of the year with no student having less than A minus.

We have a few more days to go on our grammar contest and we hope our usage will continue to improve even after the contest closes.

In arithmetic we have been making out bills and statements. Craig Larson brought us some blanks from the grocery store which made it easier and more interesting to make out the bills. Cozette Lau had the only star on the last self-testing drill.

Carroll Priebe treated the class Friday.

This and That Around K. H. S. - -

June, what is the matter with Johnnie? It seems as though you've been seen with LuVerne Heginger lately. How about it?

Lois Heginger seems to have a new attraction in Britt. Could it be Lester Leeror? Who is this Louie, Marcia has been swooning over? I wonder. Be careful girls!

I always thought it was Fonda and Lyle Anderson from S. D., but the way it looks in the 9th grade study hall every morning, Fonda seems to have a good time with Jim K.

Whoever said Gary liked LaVohn. It seems be gets along better with Berleen in science class, especially when we have the new reel.

Eva surely gets Rosalie and Doug red when she teases them. Now Eva, how do you like to be teased?

Is it true that Gene thinks there are better girls than Janis? What about Dorothy K.?

What's this I here about Lois J. going with Terry K. after the Hayfield game?

Say Bueford, it seems that you had a picture of yourself on the bulletin board. Who was it to, Buef? Could it have been to Darlene E.?

What's this I hear about Lorraine and Bueford during English class? It seems that they have to share a book. I believe if I heard right, Cecil and Marlene also have to share a book. Nice huh!

What was the attraction in Kanawha Sunday night, LaVerne? Was it that car full of girls?

Berleen, Bob A., Eva and Marvin seemed to be sitting pretty close in study hall.

Eli Tip Toppers Met

The Eli Tip Toppers met at Joyce Thiemann's February 9. Before our meeting we played games planned by Eva Thiemann.

The meeting was called to order by the president. We answered roll call by naming a necessary article in a sewing basket. We discussed having a sharing party and Myrna Barr, Eva Thiemann and Rosalie Rosenau are to make arrangements.

We voted to send five dollars to the Farm Youth Exchange. Grace Benard and LaVern Jessen gave a report on their visit to the other 4-H club meeting.

Carol Sumpter talked on "Tools You Need and How To Use Them".

Lois Weiland gave a talk on "How to Clean Your New Fabrics"

Margene Beebe gave a minor talk on "Hungarian Dance No. 5."

A single demonstration on "Making a Press Cloth" was given by Virgene Schubert.

A team demonstration on "Know Your Sewing Machine" was given by LaVern Jessen and Miriam Barnes.

Four visitors were present from Twin Lake.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess Joyce Thiemann and Elaine Jurgensen.

Jolly Workers Club

The Jolly Workers Club met at the home of Marilyn Beeman for the February meeting with 7 members present. Several thank you letters were read from people that we remembered during illness. Ruth Thample received a letter from Wonewoc thanking the club for the pin Christmas gift that we sent to the Children's Hospital.

The club is to have a bake sale Marsh 6th & will be in the Wellendorf store at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

We had a gift exchange for valentine Day and all enjoyed their gifts.

For the roll call for the March meeting we are to have an exchange of flower seeds or bulbs. The meeting will be at the home of Alan Bruner with Lily Pearson as co-hostess.

A fruit punch was served by Marilyn Beeman with Georgene Brua as co-hostess.

Now That You've Lost Weight—

Alter Clothes for Your New Figure

If you've lost lots of weight, your dresses will probably be long-waisted for you, as well as to big. To determine "new" waistline, tie a cord around waist and pin carefully along that line. After pin-fitting side seams, take blouse and skirt apart and rejoin along new markings.

Successful weight-watchers up and down the state now have a brand new project to tackle—altering their clothes to fit a stream-lined new figure.

If you've lost quite a bit of weight, your dresses will be too big and too long in the waist, too big around bust and hips and droopy at the shoulders.

Housedress Alterations

"Take the easy way when it comes to altering your housedresses," suggests Lucille Rea, Iowa State College extension clothing specilist.

Pin fitting and some quick machine stitching can give you satisfactory results in short order. You'll want to take more pains with your good dresses, blouses and skirts. You'll need someone to help you with the pin fitting.

To make dress fit shoulders, take a tuck across shoulder seam, close and parallel to armseye, to give what looks like a neat gibson pleat front and back.

To shorten waistline: machine stitch a tuck the needed amount clear around the dress just above the waistline seam. Your belt will hide this second seam in most cases.

Take in side seam at waitline and taper to nothing at armseye. Take in same amount all the way down seam to hemline on skirt. If dress has side placket or zipper, you'll need to take this out first.

Your Good Dresses

If you've lost 15 or 20 pounds and plan to lose quite a bit more, you'll be several sizes smaller eventually. In this case, you'll need to buy new clothes for town and dress-up wear and these alterations will just tide you over until then.

The following are maximum alterations you'll need to make if you've shed many inches over your entire figure. If you've lost more weight in one area than another, you may need to make just a few of these.

But here are the alterations necessary if your dress is too big for you in general—in shoulders, waist, across back, hips, and abdomen.

First remove sleeves from blouse. Be careful not to stretch them out of shape. Lay blouse on brown paper or newspaper and draw an outline of armseye. You'll need this as a guide later in recutting armseye.

Remove side zipper. Put dress on and pin fit side seams.

If dress is long waisted for you, tie a cord around waist and move around a bit so that it will seek your natural waistline. Then pin carefully along the cord line to establish the new waitline.

Now for the shoulder fit. Pin carefully along where new armseye should come. Most important pinning is at shoulder and side seams, for you'll use these as guide points when you lay armseye pattern on the blouse front and back to recut. If your dress sags at the neckline, you will also need to remove and refit the collar.

Take your dress off, rip out waist seam and rejoin skirt and bodice along new waistline marking. Recut armseye and join sleeves to bodice. Before stitching side seams, try dress on to see if new waistline makes a difference in fit of skirt. Readjust pins along skirt side seamlines, if needed, taking out same amount all the way down.

Stitch side seams and put in zipper. If you have much to take in, you probably won't need to rip seams first. Just take in the needed amount, then trim off old stitching seams.

BIGGEST

Tama county's "biggest" lawsuit was settled by the Iowa supreme court recently. It ruled that deeds given by Wm. Laufert three years ago to certain nieces and nephews are valid, and denied his plea to have the property returned him. Property valued at around $275,000. was involved.

One of the important changes in the egg production business in the last two decades is a leveling of seasonal price variations.

4TH ADJOURNED JANUARY MEETING

Garner, Iowa
February 8, 1954

The Hancock County, Iowa, Board of Supervisors met in session on above captioned date pursuant to adjournment with Clint Daniels, S. A. Barber and Clarence Bird present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read.

Supervisor Barber is hereby appointed a committee to investigate and cause repairs to be made in D.D. No 138, Main.

This being the 8th day of February, 1954, a date heretofore fixed for a hearing on the establishment of D.D. No 13, Lateral No 8, petitioned for by Nordahl Anderson, et al, the hour for said hearing having arrived, the reports of the Engineer, the waiver of notice of hearing being on file and the Board being fully advised, said hearing was held as scheduled. The petition, reports of the Engineer, waiver of notice of hearing and conditional objections were read by the County Auditor and objectors and proponents were given the opportunity to discuss the necessity and feasibility of the establishment of said sub-district of D.D. No. 13, as petitioned for and as recommended by the Engineer. There werre no written objections on file against said establishment and objectors to said establishment were heard and the matter fully discussed. After thorough discussion, it was deemed advisable to establish said sub-district to be known as D.D. No. 13, Lateral No. 8 as petitioned for and as recommended in the engineer's original report and amended report.

BE AND IT IS THEREFORE RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors that said establishment of D.D No 13, Lateral No 8 as petitioned for by Nordahl Anderson, et al and as recommended by the Engineer, Wm. Henschen, is hereby approved and established as petitioned and as amended, with a written agreement to be filed by and with Northern Natural Gas Company to assume the costs of re-enforcements of their pipe at four tile crossings in consideration of the nullification of said Company's assessment of said district on property described as the East 18.7 acres of a tract 950 ft. by 1112.4 ft. in the south half of Sec. 1-96-23, and the hour of 1:30 P.M. on the 8th day of March 1954 at the Courthouse in Garner, Iowa is hereby fixed as a time and place for the letting of the construction thereof.

The County Auditor be and he is hereby directed to cause notice of such letting to be published in The Garner Leader and Signal a newspaper of general circulation published at Garner, Iowa, which notice shall request bids on labor and material for the construction of said drainage improvement, the time of commencement and completion the approximate amount and kind of work to be done and that the Board reserves

THE THUNDERBIRD, a new kind of car combining high performance with tne comfort, convenience and safety of a conventional model, has been added to the Ford line. The Thunderbird has a powerful 160 h.p. Y-block V-8 engine and its low, graceful body is of all-steel construction. Equipped with a convertible cloth top which folds completely out of sight behind the rear seat, the Thunderbird can be purchased with a special composition hardtop, making it a complete all-weather car. Its overall height is 51.5 inches—nearly a foot lower than the 1954 Ford sedan—yet it has only slightly less road clearance. Most of its major parts are interchangeable with Ford's regular line of cars. The Thunderbird is scheduled for production by Ford Division next fall.

Klemme Independent School Election Will Be Next Monday

With the deadline for filing nomination papers for next Monday's Klemme Ind. School District election past, it is now certain that there will be only two names on the ballot as candidates for directors. The two are Mrs. Fred J. Arnold and M. L. Harson.

Mrs. Arnold has already served for some length of time on the school board and Mr. Harson is a new candidate.

Whoever is elected in Monday's balloting will serve only until the first of July when the board for the newly organized Klemme Community School District will take over.

Experimental Ass'n To Hold Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Northern Iowa Agricultural Experimental Association will be held Thursday, March 11, at the Roxy Theatre in Kanawha. The meeting starts at 10 o'clock in the morning and will include talks and movies of interest to farmers, and a free dinner for members of the association. A stockholders' meeting will be first on the program and then at 11 o'clock the speeches and movies will get underway.

Britt Petitions For New School District

A petition for a Britt Community School District, signed by 1545 qualified voters residing within the area, was filed on Saturday, February 27, in the office of the Hancock County Superintendent of Schools, Chas. S. Whitney.

The proposed area is in eight school districts, seven of which are township districts, all in Hancock County and total about 128 sections of land.

The date for hearing has been set on March 17 in the Courthouse at Garner at 7:30 P. M.

Girls' Basketball Dropped From Athletic Program

At a recent meeting of the directors of the Klemme Independent School it was decided to drop girls' basketball from the athletic program of the local school. Reason for the move was given as a lack of interest on the part of the girls. The few who do come out are interested in the game, but there are not enough of them to make a girls' team practical.

Klemme will still remain in the North Star Conference, but instead of girls' games for the openers each night, either the second team or the freshman-sophomore team will play. Some games away from home will see only our varsity boys in action as some schools in the conference have indicated that they will invite a girls' team from some other school on the night we are scheduled.

Will Hold Inquest In Death of Nielson

Hancock County authorities and the State Highway Patrol have ordered an inquest to be held in the death of David Blaine Nielson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nielson of Rowan, who was killed on highway No. 18 on the north edge of Garner while directing traffic at the scene of an accident early on the morning of February 20. Nielson was hit by a car driven by John Finch of Crystal Lake. In the car with Finch was Allen Iverson and James Delger, both of Crystal Lake. With Nielson were Harvey Hossick and Donald Waddington of Belmond. The car in which Hossick, Waddington and Nielson were riding had gone into a road ditch and was in the process of being towed out by a wrecker when the fatal accident occurred. The weather was foggy at the time. The inquest will be held at the courthouse in Garner on Thursday morning, March 4, according to County Coroner Kenneth Boughton, who will conduct the inquest.

Klemme Creamery Holds Annual Meeting

The above group is a part of the large crowd of members and friends of the Klemme Cooperative Creamery who were on hand at their annual meeting Saturday. They are enjoying the lunch which was served by the wives of the directors at the close of the meeting.

Harvey and Mervin Barkema New Directors

The annual meeting of the Klemme Cooperative Creamery Company was held Saturday afternoon, February 27, 1954, at the grade school basement, with the largest attendance in several years. During the course of the business meeting an election was held and Harvey and Mervin Barkema were the two new directors elected. Alvin Goll was re-elected for a three year term.

Other matters taken care of during the business meeting included a vote by the members, to send ½ cent per pound of butterfat handled to the state ADA for the purpose of advertising and promoting dairy products, and the handing out of checks from the revolving fund in the amount of $1,863.81.

Headlining the program was Mr. Earl King, Educational Director of the Iowa Institute of Cooperation. Mr. King, who has been affiliated with cooperatives since 1937, gave an interesting and informative talk on the operation and merit of cooperatives. In addition to Mr. King's speech, further entertainment was offered the crowd by Marvin Josten and Terry Weaver, who presented several accordion selections.

At the close of the days activities, lunch was served by the directors' wives. Featured on the menu was ice cream manufactured at the local creamery.

Musical Students

Mrs. Asa Legge, teacher of Liberty Township School District No. 4, has a good percentage of young musicians in her school. Of the eight pupils she has enrolled, five of them are taking music lessons from the Gerardi School of Music. Those five are Darlene, Diane, Janet, and Donald Hrubes, and Terry Weaver.

Services Were Friday For Herman Priebe

Funeral services for Mr. Herman Priebe, 81, longtime resident of the Klemme Community, were held from the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church at 2:00 P. M. Friday, February 26, with Rev. Vernon E. Jaberg in charge.

Mr. Priebe died last Tuesday, February 23, after having been ailling for a number of years. Interment was in the Ell Township Cemetery at Klemme, and Mr. Priebe was carried to his final resting place, by six of his friends and neighbors. They were George Buseman, Henry Buseman, Carl Wille, Louis Griffen, Henry Ludeke, and Walter Lemke.

The Wellemeyer Funeral Service of Klemme had charge of the funeral arrangements.

An obituary of Mr. Priebe appears on page 7 of this issue of The Times.

Herman Paul Resigns County Home Position; Now at Josten Store

Herman Paul, who has been steward of the county home for the past eight years, has resigned his position there and has moved back to Klemme. He has accepted a position as store manager with the Josten Hardware and Appliance Store and started work there on Monday.

The Pauls are well known to everyone in the Klemme community, as Herman was manager of the Hancock County Cooperative Oil Association station here for 16 years before accepting the steward position. For the present they have taken rooms with Mrs. Helen Stille, but plan on moving into their home north of the Wellemeyer Store soon after the end of the school year. The house is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Beenken.

Election for New School District To Be Held April 5th

At a meeting held March 1st at the Klemme High School gymnasium, many items of interest regarding the new Klemme Community School District were discussed. A good crowd was on hand and possibilities for candidates for the new school board were talked over.

According to state law, at least one member of the board has to be living on and operating a farm in the district, but Monday's meeting brought out the point that if it were possible, it would be well to have one member from each of the four townships involved in the district and one from the town of Klemme. This is not a must, but it is what has been hoped for all along by those who have been working on the reorganization.

An election date was set at this meeting and voters will go to the polls on April 5th to decide who will be the five directors and the treasurer for the new district.

All nomination papers must be in the hands of the county superintendent not later than noon of the 10th day previous to the day set for the election. Nomination papers can be secured at the office of Supt. T. G. Ahrenkiel.

Eastern Star Dinner

The Eastern Star will hold a school of instruction at Garner on Friday, March 19th. At 6:30 P. M., following the school, there will be a dinner in the basement of the Garner Methodist Church, served by the ladies of the church. All members of the Eastern Star, their families and friends are invited.

Tickets are $1.25 and anyone planning to attend should phone their reservation to Mrs. William Fuss not later than March 12th.

Shamrocks Take District Tournament Crown

Win Over Joice In Final Puts Them Into Sub-State

Continuing their winning ways which they picked up in the sectional tournament at Garner, the Klemme Shamrocks took the District tournament crown at Garner by defeating St. Cecelia's of Algona in a hard fought contest by a score of 53 to 52, and then going on to down Joice in the final by a score of 69 to 60.

The Shamrocks really had to get down to work to defeat the St. Cecelia team, and at one time in the second quarter were down by 10 points. They trailed 20 to 14 at the end of the first quarter, but by the half had come on to take the lead by a score of 34 to 32. At the end of the third quarter, St. Cecelia's was out in front again by a score of 45 to 43, but the Shamrocks fought back to regain the upper hand, and win out by one point in one of the most exciting games of the year.

The same five players that started the game went all the way, and each of them contributed well to the scoring. Terhufen had 18 points, Ridder, 10, Thiemann, 9, and Barz and Karsjens each got 8.

Walker led the scoring for St. Cecelia's with 24 points on ten field goals and four free throws.

Klemme 69, Joice 60

In the championship game with Joice, the Shamrocks got off to a 9 to 0 lead, and by the end of the first quarter were out in front 18 to 10. Halftime saw their lead increased to 36 to 21 but in the second half, Joice played better ball and by the end of the third quarter had cut the lead to 49 to 38. In the final period they took a couple of more points off of the Klemme lead, but were unable to put on a sustained rally that would carry them through to win.

It was a fast game and hard fought as is indicated by the number of fouls called. Fifty-one were called and at one time eight of the players on the floor were carrying four fouls eash. Three of the Joice players were benched because of fouls and two of the Shamrocks went out via the same route. Denny Ridder was called out early with three fouls, but Denny Haefner took over for him in good style, and rang up 11 points. Ridder came back early in the last quarter, but soon collected two more fouls and had to be replaced again by Haefner. He too fouled out before the game was over.

Thiemann and Terhufen caused the most trouble for Joice in the scoring column as they rang up 17 and 16 points respectively. Barz hit for 12 points Karsjens had 8, Ridder 3, and Jacobs 2. Jacob's points came on two free throws after the game was over, as he was fouled just as the final horn sounded.

The Shamrocks had what was probably their best night of the season at the free throw line, making 27 out of 38 attempts. In fact they won the game on free throws as each team had 21 fielders. Joice made only 18 out of 37 attempts from the free throw line.

Sub-State at Waterloo

By virtue of winning the district tournament, the Shamrocks now advance to the sub-state tournament at Waterloo. They play next Monday night, March 8, at 7:30 and have drawn Dinsdale for this first game. The Dinsdale team boasts a season's record showing no defeats, but if the Shamrocks continue to play as they did in the sectional and district tournaments, the record could be spoiled.

In action the same evening at Waterloo, will be Fertile against New Albin at 6 o'clock in another "B" contest, and then at 9 o'clock, New Hampton and Waverly tangle in class "A".

If the Shamrocks win out over the Dinsdale five, they will return to Waterloo Wednesday night for the championship game against the winner of the Fertile-New Albin game, with the winner going to the state tournament.

The Klemme Shamrocks have not had what could be called a sensational season, but since the start of the sectional tournament they have been going strong. It seems that some of the bad luck they had during the season in losing two and three pointers has taken a change for the better. They beat Ventura by two points in a double overtime game in the sectional, and then in the district meet, got by St. Cecilia's of Algona by one point. The boys are up now, and we would like to see a good strong contingent of Klemme rooters at Waterloo next Monday evening when they meet Dinsdale in the first round of the sub-state tournament. They have done their best all season long, and have played some mighty good basketball. They are deserving of the support of everyone in the community, and a large group of home rooters should help them to continue their winning ways. If it is at all possible, plan to be there and lend your moral supprt to Coach "Bill" Westberg and his Shamrocks.

Among the many cliches which are in common usage in the world today, are the ones,"When in Rome, do as the Romans do", and "Two wrongs don't make a right". Apparently Senator McCarthy is patterning his actions according to the first quoted of these old sayings. He now wants to take all communist sympathizer who are in the uniform of any of the armed services of our country, label them as undesirables, and put them in labor camps. Perhaps this is the only way to handle them, but it seems to us that the second of the above quoted cliches would fit any such action. We know that Russia has a multitude of political prisoners in labor camps, but if we do things in the same manner, we can't see where anything is going to be made right. We have no sympathy for any citizen of such wonderful country as ours who would embrace the communist view point, but we can't see where we can solve any problems by doing things in exactly the same way as do our "cold war" enemies. First thing you know, any of us might find ourselves with an undesirable label, and because we couldn't suit Senator McCarthy with our answers, we too would be in a labor camp. The Senator no doubt does a lot of good, but in our opinion his enthusiasm sometimes gets him out of bounds. We don't know what the answer to the communist problem is, but there must be some way of handling it without descending to the same level as those for whom we have no use.

Taken from Our Files

10 YEARS AGO—

After living for 37 years continuously on their farm southeast of Klemme, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Waddingham moved to their house in Klemme which they purchased last summer from Einar Salling. Their son, Virgil, will farm the place.

Ed Thompson went to Iowa City, Sunday, for treatment and a check-up on his eye at the University Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Chambers moved Thursday from the country to the Ira Overholt house in the south part of town.

20 YEARS AGO—

Donna Greimann, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Greimann, has been very ill with pneumonia following chicken pox the past week.

Lyda Griffen celebrated her birthday Sunday by inviting in a few of her friends for the day. Those present were Betty Velau, Miss Wilson, Arlene Kraus, and Wilma Swalve.

A number of young married people from Klemme attended a dance at the Vic Hammitt home Monday evening.

30 YEARS AGO—

Mr. Worthie Usher from Cedar Rapids came Thursday and remained until Sunday visiting at the Tom Blank home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kluckhohn entertained a number of their freinds at a card party last Thursday evening. Refreshments were served. All report a fine time.

Miss Mary Swanson came home from Algona, Wednesday for a few days visit with home folks.

World Day of Prayer Service Will Be Friday

Women of the Klemme Community will meet in a World Day of Prayer Service at two o'clock on Friday afternoon in the Klemme Methodist Church. The service, sponsored by the women of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church and the Klemme-Liberty Methodist Churches will be one of thousands held around the nation on that day in the interest of missionary projects in home and foreign fields which have been sponsored and are maintained by the united efforts of Christian women.

Members of the women's group in the three churches will conduct the service and a women's chorus will present special music. The speaker for the service will be Mrs. I. L. Hausworth of Corwith, Algona District president of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church.

The offering to be received as a part of the service will be devoted to special needs of several of the agencies that are sponsored by the United Church Women of America. It is hoped that all women of the community will attend the service.

Methodist Churches Start Spiritual Life Mission Next Sunday

A Spiritual Life Mission in the Klemme and Liberty Methodist Churches will begin on Sunday morning and continue through next week. The Rev. Don Griffen, pastor of the Methodist Church at Rippey, Iowa will be the guest minister in the mission. He will preach at the morning services on Sunday and at joint services Sunday evening through Friday. The Tuesday and Thursday evening service will be held in the Liberty Church, the other evening services in the Klemme Church.

The Spiritual Life Mission is being conducted in all of the Methodist Churches of Iowa and is intended to help deepen spiritual lives of members through the development of holy habits. A plan of visitation is being worked on to share in the public meetings of the mission. The tower chimes of the Klemme Church will be rung each day at nine in the morning and six-thirty in the evening as a call to prayer and as a reminder of the meetings.

The members and friends of two churches are invited to join in a potluck fellowship supper in the Klemme Church on Sunday evening at 5:30 to visit informally with Mr. Griffen, the guest speaker.

Iowa Corn Allotment Announced By ASC

The 1954 corn allotment for Iowa is 9,063,929 acres, a reduction of 1,934,071 from the total planted in the state last year, according to A. E. Rasmussen, chairman of the Hancock county ASC committee.

The state figure was announced February 11, which means that the county allotment should be known in the near future. As soon as the county allotment is known, the task of establishing actual individual farm allotments can get under way since the preliminary work is nearing completion.

Farmers are scheduled to receive notices of their individual allotments from the county ASC office around March 15, Chairman Rasmussen said.

The state allotment established by the United States Department of Agriculture in Washington, is nearly one-fifth of the total acerage fixed for the 834 commercial corn growing areas of the nation where allotments will be in effect this crop year. Allotments will be in effect in all Iowa counties.

The Iowa allotment is based on the past 10-year corn acerage history, adjusted for trends in planting and abnormal waether conditions. The reduction will not be the same percentagewise in all counties of the state because there must be adjustment for trends and abnormal conditions the same as in establishing the state allotment.

Only those farmers who comply with their individual allotments will be eligible for price support of the corn they raise this year.

The Brownie reading group recently illustrated the story, "The Boy and His Goat".

In science we have done several experiments.

We are now doing something that we were all patiently waiting for; we are learning to write.

We are sorry that Diane Patterson has moved away. We hope she will like her new school.

Willard Netland and Margie Katuin gave treats to the second graders on their eighth birthdays.

Third Grade

Richard Miller returned his dental card this week. We now have 18 cards returned signed.

This week we started reading in our Science books. It is replacing Health, which we completed last week.

In Social Studies we have been reading about clothing. We have read about cotton, wool, and linen. We will still have silk, rayon, rubber, and leather.

Girls' Sports

The last game of the season and also the last game for the girls was played last Friday night with Kanawha. It was a score of 48-41. Carol Bridges led with 24 points. At the half the girls led by a score of 29-16. Kanawha soon came up and left Klemme with a 4 point lead but Klemme managed to make it a win.

Beings there wil be no girls basketball the following year we hope you will all come out and support the boys teams.

Music News

Tryouts were held on Tuesday of last week to see who got to sing in the County Chorus at Garner on March 1st. a note to remind those who weren't lucky enough to sing at Garner, we still want all of you out for chorus as we plan to sing at the Spring Concert.

FLASH! The annual Spring Concert will be presented on April 14th. Remember band kids WHITE SHOES! ! !.

TRYOUTS for drum majorette were held on Friday. I wonder who will be leading our marching band at festival this year?

NEW ARRIVALS! The band suits ordered by the Music Mothers have arrived so any day now Russel's will be here to take our pictures for the year book.

Everyone felt so good Thursday morning. Mr. Whitford just couldn't get any cooperation. I wonder, could it have been because Klemme beat St. Cecilia the night before in a real thriller diller. One point at that! A certain clarinet player is the object of two boy's affection, it seems. A certain baritone player and sax player are racking their brains to get her attention. Good luck fellows! !

Eighth Grade News

In Civics we are studying the Iowa government and how it was organized. We find it very interesting.

In Science we are studying about the plants and sun.

In English we are studying conjunctions.

We have made plans for a skating party sometime in March.

Monday afternoon we had an Arithmetic test. High scores went to Gordon and Betty.

Fourth Grade

We had three birthdays to celebrate the past week. They were Tommy Burgess, Janet and Jerry Murray.

Recent visitors to our room were Mrs. Jake Nannenga, Mrs. Asa Arnold, and Mrs. Maurice Murray.

The Blackhawks reading group finished their basic readers at the beginning of the week and started in a new reader called "New Trails".

Keith Christians was the first in our room to complete without errors the 100 multiplication facts in three minutes.

Who's this boy from Galt that Berleen has her heart set on? It couldn't be Gary R. could it?

What's wrong Marvin? Are you afraid of being surrounded in math class by girls? What's wrong with girls anyway that you're afraid of them? They sure seem alright to me.

Are Winola and Merlyn going together yet? Or are they just pretending. Let's have the facts kids!

Say, Marlene, I hear that you wanted to go to the surf last Saturday night? From what I hear you must have been planning on going with Jo Ann Burgess and her boyfriend, the only trouble was that the boyfriend didn't come. Don't feel too discouraged, Marlene, maybe that kid in service that you write to will take you dancing when he gets a leave.

Oh, Terry and Cecil, who was it that you were escorting around town last Saturday night? I hear that it was two girls, one from Klemme and one from Kanawha! ! Did you have fun, boy's?

It seems that Ronnie, Kay, Tom, and Jo Ellen went on a little trip Sunday to celebrate Ronnie's birthday. From what I hear, they had quite a lot of fun.

I suppose Noel feels pretty happy lately. You see, Shirley is moving to town. That will really make it convenient, won't it Noel?

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

CATTLE

January 1, 1954 began with 94.7 million head of cattle and calves on farms. That's 1 million more than a year earlier.

The boost in cattle numbers came as a shock to some, Francis A. Kutish, Iowa State College farm economist says.

There had been widespread predictions of 1 to 3 million head liquidations in cattle last year. We did liquidate steers. They were down 11 percent from a year earlier. Beef heifers were down in numbers too. But we had 6 percent more beef cows and 3 percent more dairy cows than on January 1, 1953.

Big reasons for the boost in cattle numbers last year lay in the record calf crop produced and the rise in dairy cattle numbers. And with the further boost in cow numbers, we can expect an even larger calf crop this year.

Nevertheless, last year's 1 million head expansion in cattle numbers was in sharp contrast with the 6 million increase in both 1951 and 1952.

Thus the price received for cattle last year was about in line with what we can expect from a virtually stable cattle popuation in a year of full employment, Kutish notes.

Looking ahead we can expect fully as large cattle slaughter this year as the 37 million head killed in 1953. There probably will be more calves and cows killed—but fewer steers. So the total poundage of beef may not be any larger than last year.

Much depends upon the trend in business and weather conditions. A continued slump in business, or widespread drouth, or both, would start liquidation of cattle. In that case we could see a cattle slaughter of 40 million head—or even more—in 1954. We will want to keep a close eye on both of these forces in the months ahead.

But given reasonable breaks on these two fronts, we should see more stability in the cattle price picture than took place last year. For our cattle kill shot up from 28 million in 1952 to 37 million head in 1953. To maintain that pace, we would have to see a 54 million slaughter in 1954. It's possible, but not probable, according to Kutish.

Here's about what we are likely to see this year: Cattle slaughter in the first 3 months of 1954 running ahead of 1953—then a drop below last year's early summer—with as many or more cattle killed in the last 4 or 5 months of 1954 as a year earier.

Cattle prices probably will show some seasonal price declines for the upper grades during the coming months. Lower grades will show some seasonal price rise. Lower grades probably will show more than the normal fall seasonal price drop this year. Upper grades will show less than normal summer and fall price rise.

But if we run into widespread drouth or a spreading business slump in the fall months, there will be no seasonal fall price rise. In fact, there could even be a fall price decline for fed cattle if business or weather conditions turned bad.

Ell Midgets Met

The regular meeting of the Ell Midgets was held February 22 at Ronald and Gary Kubly's. Roll call was answered by 18 members. There were 2 visitors present. Ronald Kubly and Donald Anderson are going to put up the 4-H week posters. Jane Renner and Joyce Thiemann are going to put up a livestock loss prevention posters. We have decided to sell hog slappers.

County Corn Champ

Fred Korte of Britt has been proclaimed Hancock county corn Champion by the National Selected Five Acre DeKalb Corn Contest Headquarters with his top yield of 119.06 bushels per acre. He is pictured above with his championship plaque which he received at a banquet recently held in Des Moines to honor champions. Unable to attend the banquet was the second place winner, Harvey Punke of Corwith, with a yield of 116.12 bushels per acre. Third place honors were won by Lincoln Goll of Garner with a yield of 114.85 bushels per acre. Raymond E. Bonnstetter also of Corwith received fourth place with a yield of 110.67 bushels per acre.

Plan 4-H Club Week Activities

Hancock County's Extension Office this week announced plans for observance of National 4-H Club week, March 6-14. It will be a time for a final drive for enrollments and shaping of plans for the months ahead, according to Bob Wilson, Co. Ext. Youth Ass't.

A recent check shows 548 boys and girls are members of the county's 31 clubs, Wilson reports. This is 19 more than the total for 1953. At this time there are 15 boys' clubs with 288 members and 16 girls' clubs with 260 members, Wilson says

Starting next week an effort will be made to bring the total enrollment up to 575 members, according to Wilson. He emphasizes that members enrolling now still will have an opportunity to take part in many parts of the club program and to conduct an approved project.

Information on enrolling may be obtained from the County Extension Office or from the leaders of local clubs.

In observance of 4-H Club Week several local activities have been planned. Watch the windows in your local towns for displays put up by 4-H clubs.

As a part of the national observance of 4-H Club Week, President Dwight D. Eisenhower directed a special message to the clubs. He sent his greetings and expressed his delight in the national theme for 1954, "Working Together for World Understanding".

"Working together has long been an important feature of 4-H club work," he said. "As you learn new skills, as you test new ideas and as you find better ways of applying science to agriculture and to home economics you are sharing exciting and valuable experiences. Through these experiences you are nurturing, I am sure, not only the spirit of cooperation but also a mature comprehension of American agriculture problems and of the help which markets aboard can provide in meeting those problems. Such a spirit, and such comprehension will surely result in your contributing to the cause of international amity."

76TH

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Moyer of Sac county are possibly Iowa's longest married couple. Recently they observed their 76th wedding anniversary. He's 96, she is 94, and both in comparatively good health. Does any other Iowa couple have a wedding date prior to February 21, 1878?

Farm Youth Exchangee To Speak at RYP

Robert Smith, Iowa's International Farm Youth Exchange to Greece, will be the guest speaker at "Senior Night", to be held by the Hancock County Rural Young People, on Monday evening, March 8, at the REA Building, Garner, at 8 P. M.

Mr. Smith, now a student at Iowa State College, spent approximately five months as an exchange student in Greece last summer, living and working with farm families. He will speak on his experiences as an IFYE, and in connection with his talk, will show colored slides taken during his stay in this Mediterranean Country.

The International Farm Youth Exchange is sponsored by 4-H Clubs and Rural Youth groups over the United States for the purpose of promoting better understanding and good will among the peoples of the world.

All high school seniors of the county have been invited as special guests to this interesting meeting in connection with the annual memberhip drive of the local RYP club.

The meeting is NOT limited to high school seniors, however. Any unmarried rural young people, between the ages of 18 to 30, who are interested in the clubs three-point program of education, service, and recreation, are also cordially invited to attend. This also includes farm youth who may at the present time be working in town.

the Highway Story

IOWA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

The recent death of Highway Patrolman Harold DeGear, 29 brought to three the number of fatalities suffered by the patrol in line of duty since 1936. These men died in the service of all Iowans and they deserve to be remembered.

The first patrolman to lose his life in the performance of his duty was Oran H. Pape. On April 29, 1936, near Muscatine, he stopped a car bearing stolen license plates.

The driver pulled a gun on Patrolman Pape, ordered him into the car and drove away, still covering the officer with the gun. Pape grabbed for the gun but was shot through the stomach.

Though mortally wounded, the patrolman grappled for the gun, forced it to his assailant's head and killed him instantly. Patrolman Pape died the following day.

Twelve years later, on May 18, 1949, Patrolman Harold E. Klinkefus was driving his regular beat when he approached a car followed by a truck. The car suddenly slowed to turn off the highway. The following truck applied brakes and the trailer swung across the highway, hitting the patrol car and killing Patrolman Klinefus.

On February 18, this year, Patrolman Harold DeGear stopped a car that appeared to need an equipment check. He was standing at the rear of the car talking to its driver.

At that moment, another car passed a truck, cut in sharply toward the curbing, hit Patrolman DeGear and drove him and the parked car 37 feet down the highway. The pavement is 45 feet wide at the point of the accident.

Patrolman DeGear died of his injuries, the third highway patrolman to give his life in defense of law and safety on our highways.

It is these men we mock when we casually violate traffic laws, indifferently take a chance with someone's life on the streets or highways, or callously say "Let somebody else fight the safety problem."

Cub Scouts Have Banquet; Will Hold Carnival March 12th

The annual Cub Scout "Blue and Gold Banquet" was held in the grade school basement Tuesday evening, February 23. There were about 60 persons present.

The pot luck supper was served cafeteria style, The Cub Scouts and their leaders sat at the table at the front of the room while their families and friends were seated at tables forming a semi-circle around them. The table decorations were made by the Cub Scouts at their Den meetings. The birthday cake which was the centerpiece of the Cub Scout table was made and decorated by Mrs. John Waddingham.

After supper the program was opened with group singing. A review of the past year and a brief look into the coming year was given by one of the Den Mothers. Mitchel Bock gave a brief account of the coming carnival. Doctor Dulmes also gave a short talk. Everyone was then given a chance to stretch while taking part in a couple of games.

The following awards were presented: Webelas Badge, Jerry Stokesbary; Lion Badge, Dean Neuberger; Bear Badge, James Christians, Collyn Bridges, and James Bock; Wolf Badge, Earl Lemke and Bruce Waddingham; Bobcat Pins, Roland Sobek and Roger Schmidt; Arrow Points, 1 silver, Jerry Stokesbary; 2 silver, James Bock; 1 gold and 2 silver, Jimmy Clements; 1 gold and 1 silver, Earl Lemke and Bruce Waddingham.

Buffalo Center lost one of its oldest residents recently, in the death of Mrs. Janna Lubben, at the age of 94. Born in Germany, she came to the Buffalo Center community in 1888.

Farm Clinics Will Give Aid to Farmers

The farmwork is about to begin in earnest for the 1954 season and the time is ripe for worker and farmer to get together, said Frank F. Fiala. Manager of the Mason City office of the Iowa State Employment Service. The Mason City office offers many free services to the employers and workers of North Iowa, and of prime importance among these are their services to the farmers and farmhands. One of their most important program is about to begin, said Mr. Fiala. This is the Farm Clinic, sponsored by the Mason City office. At the farm Clinic, worker and farmer come together to talk over employment with each other, saving time and expense to both, since the hiring is done right in the office and all problems are worked out there. In the past, said Mr. Fiala, many well qualified men found good jobs at these Farm Cinics, and many farmers hired just the right man for their place.

At these Farm Clinics, Mr. Fiala stated, farmhand and farmer have an opportunity to select one another from the number present. A short application is filled out and given to an interviewer in the office who then matches up worker and employer. If nothing can be arranged, another worker is introduced and interviewed by the farmer. This system worked so successfully in Mason City where it was started about 10 years ago, said Mr. Fiala, that it was adopted all over the United States. The first of these Farm Clinics will be held Wednesday, March 3, 1:00 to 4:00 in the Mason City office of the Iowa State Employment Service. 193rd Street N. E. Mr. Fiala urged all interested to attend.

Additional Clinics will be held on March 17th and 31st, and if needed, April 7th and 21st, or until the demands have been completely filled.

An Allowance Is the First Step—

Teaching Your Child About Money

You can help your child learn about money by giving her an allowance to spend as she sees fit and by letting her share in planning and making purchases for the whole family.

You may not label your small child's spending of a dime or nickel as "money management," but that's what it is. Every time he saves or squanders a penny, without interference from the grown-ups, he's learning something about money.

An allowance to spend as he sees fit is your youngster's very first stepping stone to eventually sharing in family money matters and being able to handle his own financial affairs intelligently, according to Ruth Littlefield of the Iowa State College child development staff. One of the most important things you can do in this realm is to give him a weekly allowance and let him take both the responsibility and the consequences for what he does with it.

When Start Allowance?

Some families will start a child's allowance on a several-penny or nickel basis when he's 3 or 4. Other families think it's wise to wait a few more years. How much allowance to allot is also pretty much a family affair—it will depend on the child's age, how much his playmates get, what he's expected to spend it for, etc. It should, however, be increased as he gets older and both his needs and ability to make independent decisions increase.

The 4-year-old may spend his pennies on gum, candy or a bright rubber ball. The 6-year-old will probably graduate to box-top premiums, marbles, ice cream cones, an occasional gift.

On appreciation of the value of money comes slowly, just as learning to spell or add and subtract. It may be hard for you to stand by and watch Billy or Sue spend the whole dime for ice cream and then not have any money left for an expected toy. You may be tempted to fish another 10 cents out of your pocket to quell the tears or dismay—but don't you do it! For, according to Miss Littlefield, here's how he begins to learn about the value of money.

Maybe next time, or the time after next, or the time after that your little spendthrift will make the painful choice as to which of two or three things he wants most before he lets go of his dime. And perhaps a long time hence he'll start to understand how he can save up several dimes if one dime isn't enough for what he wants to buy.

Concepts of Money

He's bound to have trouble juggling the different concepts of money into their proper places too. The 3-year-old who happily drops his mother's envelope full of change into the collection plate at church is apt to disintegrate into tears of rage or frustration when he sees it carried out of reach. It will take him a while to understand that sometimes he is given a toy or candy or package of some sort in exchange for money, sometimes a ride on a bus or street-car, and sometimes nothing at all—nothing he can see or quite understand, that is.

But gradually he'll come to realize that the family income is split many different ways. Some is for him to spend all by himself, some is for each other member of the family, and a great deal goes to take care of needs for the whole family. By the time he's 8 or 10, he'll be ready to take a real share in helping plan the use of that income. This too, should rightly be a gradual process. His first sharing may be in helping decide what things he can forego so that another member or the whole family can do or buy something.

Allotments May Offer Opportunities to Farmers

Many Hancock County farmers who plant within their corn acreage allotments may have a good opportunity to reduce risk and improve their land practices according to County Extension Director Paul Henderson of Garner.

These opportunities, if taken, now, may mean bigger average profits over a period of years than they might have realized by continuing their past corn planting program, Extension Director Henderson says.

By complying with the corn allotment this year, Hancock County farmers will be eligible for a loan on their 1954 corn crop at 90 percent of parity. If they sell corn, this means a guaranteed price for the 1954 crop. For those who feed most or all of their corn, compliance with the allotment assures a guaranteed price for the corn if their livestock program is curtailed—that is if they produce more corn than they need for feed. And if they should need added capital during the next year, compliance with the allotment will enable them to use their corn as a basis for credit.

But in addition to reducing risk, Extension Director Henderson says Hancock County farmers may find their compliance provides an opportunity to improve their "fertility bank" and the operating efficiency of their farms.

Henderson cites several profit-building possibilities in this line. One of these is reducing erosion by reducing the acreage of corn on rolling farms. With the help available through the Agriculture Conservation Program, additional erosion control practices can be combined with a reduced acreage of row crops.

Henderson says that with the combination of ACP practices, better rotations and increased acreage in conservation crops instead of row crops, a real start can be made toward increased fertility and more efficient land use.

And he says diverting the poorer acres from corn may give farmers an opportunity actually to reduce farming costs and increase the farm's operating efficiency. Although corn is a high-profit crop, he points out, it is also a high-cost crop. You can reduce costs on many farms, he says, by transferring poorer acres to lower-cost crops, such as legumes with a nurse crop. The capital and labor you save can then be used on the better land where it will give a greater return.

ROCK

A freak accident cost the life of Joe Slattery, 11 year old Waterville youth, February 14. He was riding in an automobile on the highway when a 100 pound rock rolled off the bluff, just north of Marquette, and crashed into the top of the automobile.

Nominations Being Received for Master Swine Producer Award

Nominations are being received now for the 13th annual Iowa Master Swine Producer awards, according to County Extension Director Paul Henderson of Garner.

The name of any Iowa market hog producer may be submitted for the 1954 Master Swine Producers' Project, Extension Director Henderson says. Nominations may come through any channel, such as the County extension service office, vocational agriculture instructors, directors of the Iowa Swine Producers' Association, Radio Station WHO, neighbors of the producer, the producers' wife or the producer himself.

The earlier the nomination comes in, the better, according to E. L. Quaife, extension animal husbandman at Iowa State College. This makes it possible to keep the required records.

Any producer taking part in this project must farrow at least 10 sows to be eligible. All sows farrowing on his farm during the spring of 1954 must be entered. Quaife says it is desirable that in the herds entered all sows will have farrowed by June 1, 1954.

Producers taking part in the project will be required to provide the following information: Dates of first and last farrowings number of pigs farrowed, weaned and marketed, dates of selling and the total weight of live hogs marketed of the total 1954 spring pig crop or estimated weight in the event of the hogs not being marketed at the time the project closes.

The weights of the gilts which the producer desires to keep for breeding purposes will be estimated so as to get total pork production. Producers in the project may sell their hogs at any time they choose. All records for consideration in presenting the awards must be in the local county extension service office by Nov. 15, 1954.

Nominations should be sent to the Animal Husbandry Extension Service at Iowa State College, to Radio Station WHO, or to the Iowa Swine Producers Association, Des Moines.

Three hundred Iowa Swine producers have received recognition in this project during the past 12 years. Cooperating in the program are the Iowa State College Extension Service, Iowa State Department of Agriculture and Radio Station WHO.

Application For College Qualifications Test Must Be Filed By March 8

Selective Service registrants intending to take the Selective Service College Qualification Test on Thursday, April 22, 1954, were reminded today by Colonel R. A. Lancaster, State Director, that their application to make such test must be postmarked not later than midnight Monday, March 8, 1954. Colonel Lancaster emphasized the importance of the test score in determining a registrant's classification. Draft eligible students who have not taken the test should do so at this time.

To be eligible to take the test, an applictaion must (1) intend to request deferment as a student; (2) be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction in a Junior College, College or University, and (3) must not previously have taken the test.

Applicants will secure their application blanks from their own local boards, they cannot be obtained from any other source. Applicants will mail their application blanks to the Educational Testing Service in the self-addressed envelopes provided by the local boards.

Following is a list of the centers where College Qualification Tests will be given in Iowa, Thursday, April 22, 1954:

Iowa State College, Ames; Burlington Junior College, Burlington; Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls; Coe College, Cedar Rapids; St. Ambrose College, Davenport; Luther College, Decorah; Drake University, Des Moines; Grand View College, Des Moines; Loras College, Dubuque; Parsons College, Fairfield.

Fort Dodge Community College, Fort Dodge; Grinnell College, Grinnell; Simpson College, Indianola; State University of Iowa, Iowa City; Graceland College, Lamoni; Mason City Junior College, Mason City; Cornell College, Mount Vernon; Northwestern Junior College, Orange City; Central College, Pella; Morningside College, Sioux City; Buena Vista College, Storm Lake; Wartburg College, Waverly.

Mission House Choir to Appear in Garner

Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church of Garner will be host to the Mission House A Cappella Choir on March 18th when the group will present a sacred concert in the Garner Memorial Building at 8:00 P. M.

The mixed choir, well known in the middle west, will present a concert which will be of interest to all music lovers in this vicinity. In addition to the choir numbers the program will include selections by soloists and ensembles. The group, which is composed of 30 members, is under the direction of Prof. Edward B. Olander, head of the music department of the college.

The choir will appear in 16 concerts during the two week tour which will take them through Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

The 30 young people, who come from all sections of the country, are students at Mission House College. The college is located near Plymouth, Wisconsin, in the lakeshore area of eastern Wisconsin, 60 miles north of Milwaukee. Mission House, a denominational school, is one of the youngest colleges of the Evangelical and Reformed Church in the United States. The college was established during the Civil War period primarily to prepare men for the ministry. Now it is a co-educational, liberal arts college which shares the campus with a seminary.

There will be no admission charge for the concert, but a free will offering will be received.

Obituary of Mr. Herman Priebe

By Rev. Vernon E. Jabery

Mr. Herman Priebe whose sudden departure from this life is deeply regretted and mourned by his family, loved ones and friends, was born on April 7, 1872 at Hinter in the province of Pommern, Germany. He was the son of Julius and Wilhelma nee Baller Priebe. In infancy he was received into the fellowship of the Christian faith by the sacrament of Holy Baptism administered in the Lutheran Church of the village of Curlinen in Germany.

As a youth of eight years, Herman immigrated with his parents to America. After a short stay in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, they settled in Hancock County, Iowa. He attended the rural schools in Liberty Township in Hancock County. After having been instructed in the doctrines of the Christian Religion, Herman was received into the church through the rite of Christian Confirmation by the Rev. Henry Treick, Pastor of Peace Reformed Church (Elitown). Mr. Priebe's confirmation blessing was taken from Phillippians 3:14 "I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus". He was confirmed on Easter Sunday, April 21, 1889.

On December 13, 1905 Mr. Herman Priebe was united in the bonds of marriage with Miss Katie Swalve by the Rev. Albert Muehlmeier. God blessed this union with three children, Albert, Verner and Alvin who died in infancy. Mr. and Mrs. Priebe established their home on a farm one mile west and one mile south of Klemme where they lived and labored for some thirty years. In 1936 the Priebes retired from their farming and moved to their home in the town of Klemme.

Mr. Priebe was a charter member of Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church and attended the services with regularity. He served his church in the offices of Elder and Deacon and at one time was a teacher in the Sunday School.

Herman Priebe also was active in the community. He served on the Boards of Directors of the following organizations: the Klemme Cooperative Creamery, the Farmer's Elevator Cooperative and the Hancock County Cooperative Oil Association.

Mr Priebe had been ailing for several years but was not given to complaint and was able to make daily trips "up town". He possessed a youthful disposition which was not indicative of his years. It was necessary for him to be taken to the hospital in Mason City on Friday, February 19 where he underwent surgery and it was there on February 23 that he was called to his eternal reward, having attained the age of 81 years, 10 months and 15 days.

Those who survive him are sons, Albert and Verner both of Klemme and brother Julius also of Klemme. He is also survived by two daughters-in-law. Mrs. Albert Priebe and Mrs. Verner Priebe He is survived by grandchildren: Mrs. Francis Ames, Mrs. John Gaffney and Miriam Priebe as well as by Carol, Kathleen and Seth Priebe. Surviving great-grandchildren are Randy and Edward Gaffney. Mr. Priebe was preceded in death by his parents, his wife, brother Charles Priebe and six sisters; (Ricka) Mrs. William Lau. (Hattie) Mrs. Fred Haupt, (Minnie) Mrs. George Born, (Emilie) Mrs. Valentine Josten, (Bertha) Mrs. Henry Josten and sister Augusta who died as a young person. He was also preceded in death by one grandchild, Joan Priebe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verner Priebe. He is also survived by a host of more distant relatives and friends.

Avery-Twin Lake 4-H

The regular meeting of the Avery-Twin Lake Hustlers was held on February 8, at the home of Gary Ruka. Seventeen members and 2 leaders answered roll call. We answered some check sheets on how to prevent livestock marketing losses. Each member is going to sell hog slappers.

Delwyn Brede showed us a strip film at the end of the meeting on his trip to the Chicago Board of Trade. Lunch was served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. Ruka. The next meeting is at John Watne's.

Ring Test Completed In Hancock County

The Brucellosis ring test was completed in Hancock County Wednesday noon by Federal and State Veterinarians, Dr. H. G. Voetberg of Garner and Dr. Wall of Fort Dodge. They were assisted by Paul Henderson, County Extension Director.

The six cooperative creameries in the county cooperated 100 percent on getting exceptionally good samples of cream and milk for the test. Less than ten producers asked that a test not be made. This is proof that producers are interested in providing a top notch milk product.

There were 877 samples tested in 868 herds, 81.45 percent of the herds were negative to the Brucellosis ring test, 18.55 percent were positive and need to do some follow up work by visiting with their local veterinarian who will help him analyze his herd and start him on a control program.

The important thing is for each producer to keep or get his herd on a good Brucellosis control program so he can sell his cattle for breeding stock and not have to sell them for slaughter only.

If questions come up see your local veterinarian, federal veterinarian or the County Extension Director for suggestions.

A follow up test will probably be made in about 6 months to see how much progress is being made and to pick up cows that are now dry according to Paul Henderson, County Extension Director.

Many Requests For Road Surfacing Before Board of Approval

The annual Hancock County board of approval meeting to consider the 1954 road construction program will meet at the courthouse in Garner at 10 o'clock A. M. on March 10, according to Charles Paulson, Hancock county Engineer. The board of approval consists of one representative from each of the sixteen township boards of trustees and the board of supervisors, and when organized as a board each member having one gram for the ensuing year.

Engineer Paulson advises that approximately seventeen miles of local grading and surfacing has been proposed, this to be completed over a two year period. Requests have come in from various township boards and other interested citizens for approximately thirty miles of a higher grade of surfacing than gravel. Requests specify surfacing of the black top variety and this program will cover several years due to cost of this type of surfacing.

Farm-to-market projects this year under proposed construction are the road from Goodell to Kanawha and from the terminus of No. 111 in Woden to the County lines north and west. The Kanawha project has already been let and the Woden project is to be let shortly.

A detailed road program will be annuonced shortly after final action by the Board of Approval on March 10.

Avery Sunbeams Met

The Avery Sunbeams held their regular meeting February 20th at the home of Kathleen James. Eleven members answered roll call by bringing a sample of their machine stitching. We talked about donating $5 to the International Farm Youth Exchange and the Red Cross. Joyce Nordman and Diane Avery gave a team demonstration on "Selection of Fabrics". JoAnn Helps gave a demonstration on "Threading a needle and tying a knot".

We discussed how to lay your pattern on your material and how to measure yourself to get the right size.

The next meeting will be at JoAnne Jacob's on March 20.

War Invention Saves Iowa Grain

Even out of war come tools and devices which are useful in peace.

For example, the air force has an instrument that automatically records temperatures. A couple of Iowans have developed that into a device that prevents grain spoilage.

They make a cable that's lowered into grain bins . . . with thermostats every 6 feet. If the grain starts to heat op, the thermostats detect it, indicate the bad spots, and spoilage can be prevented.

And, on that point, wouldn't it be a boon if we could have some kind of warning system like that for our neighborhoods and communities, too. When an agitator or trouble-maker crept in and started to work, it could sound a warning, so we could all be oh our guard.

We Iowans are pretty broad-minded, with lots of give-and-take for the other fellow, but it would be a help to have a danger signal, to point out trouble-makers who would deny their neighbors freedom of choice.

Mrs. Lena Henschen of Garner passed away on Wednesday morning, February 24th. She was an aunt of the following ladies: Mrs. A. G. Koerner, Mrs. Martha Bredbenner, Mrs. Elmer Arnold, and Miss Leona Lau, who attended memorial services for her at the Zion Reformed Church at Garner on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Levi Ridder accompanied them as their chauffeur.

Melvin Dykstra of Newton is now employed at the Josten Hardware and Appliance Store. He is taking care of the bottled gas service and working at the plumbing. Ed Barz, who has worked at the store since 1948, with two years out for army service, has gone on the home farm just east of town.

KLEMME LOCAL NEWS

Many Klemme young folks, who are away attending college or working, were home over the week end in order that they might attend the district tournament finals at Garner, and see the Shamrocks win over Joice to advance to the sub-state.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Barz and family have moved into the Josten house in east Klemme. The house was vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Ames, who have gone to a farm near Burchinal. Mr. Barz will start school Monday at the DeFry Electronics school in Chicago. Mrs. Barz is employed as a clerk in Kluckhohns store.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Leisener, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Omar Kramer of Garner, returned last Wednesday from a months vacation spent seeing the sights in the outhwest. They visited Mr. Liesener's brother near San Francisco, and with relative of the Kramers at Tuscon Arizona. They enjoyed seeing Grand Canyon, Boulder Dam, Carlsbad Caverns, and numerous other points of interest. They also spent some time in Old Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. John Chambers returned Saturday night from a two months trip to Florida. They enjoyed their trip very much and visited with Ira Overholt, former Klemme resident, the John Schwichtenberg family in Mississippi, and with Mayor and Mrs. V. A. Cook, who are spending some of the winter months in Florida. John says the weather was fine all the time they were away, and thinks maybe they returned to Klemme a bit too early.

Busy Week for Pastor

Rev. E. Morris Egeland spent Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of last week at Scranton, Iowa where he was the guest speaker in the Spiritual Life Mission of the Iowa-Des Moines Conference of the Methodist Church. He returned to Klemme on Tuesday night and left for Chicago and Evanston on Wednesday where on Thursday he attended the meeting of the sponsoring board of the Midwest World Missions Institute which will meet on the campus of Lake Forest College, Lake Forest, Illinois this summer from August 2 to 6. Mr. Egeland is vice-president of the board in charge of publicity.

Mrs. Egeland accompanied Mr. Egeland on the trip to Evanston and enjoyed a birthday party on Thursday with her daughters, Mary and Sylvia and her sister, Myrtle Johnon and other friends. The Egelands returned on Friday and found driving extremely difficult because of ice and snow packed on the highways, besides falling snow.

Wedding Date Set

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Heivilin, Mason City, announce the engagement of their daughter, Donna, to Clarence Jr. Larsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Larsen of Klemme. The wedding will be April 25 at the Klemme Methodist Church. Miss Heivilin attended Mason City Junior College and Iowa State Teachers College and has been employed by the DuPont Co. in Kansas City. Mr. Larsen was graduated from Iowa State College and is a Korean War veteran. He is a stock buyer at Klemme.

School Election Was Quiet Affair Monday

Last Monday's school election was a quiet affair. Only 68 voters turned out and there was no concerted effort towards a write-in.

The two candidates, Mrs. Margaret Arnold and M. L. Harson were elected and will serve until June 30th, at which time the Klemme Independent School will cease to be.

On July 1st, the Klemme Community School District will come into being, and on that date a board of directors which will be elected on April 5th, will take over school affairs for this community.

Music Mothers to Meet

According to Mrs. Don Bacon, president of the Music Mothers, there will be a meeting of that organization at 2:00 P. M., March 17, at the high school library. All members are urged to be present.

Mrs. Bacon also requests that all members save the Friendship Coupons found in Gold Medal Flour. These coupons are good only for organizations and she asks that members acquire as possible and turn them over to any of the following officers: Mrs. Don Bacon, Mrs. Alvin Thiemann, Mrs. Art Kudje, or Mrs. Orville Bridges.

Eastern Star School

The annual school of instruction for the relief chapter of the Order of Eastern Star will be at 1 p. m., Friday, March 19th at the Masonic Hall in Garner. Mrs. Leon Hansen of Britt, District Instructor, will conduct the school.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. at the Garner Methodist Church.

Inspection will be at 8:00 p. m. All members are urged to attend the evening meeting.

100TH

Mrs. Rud Jacobsma of Hawarden recently observed her 100th birthday. A native of The Netherlands, she came to the United States as a bride in 1882, settling at Orange City.

Local Student Applies for Veishea Scholarship

Ames, Iowa, March 5—Delwyn Brede, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Dale Brede, Klemme, has made application for one of three Veishea Scholarships being offered by the Veishea Central Committee at Iowa State College.

The scholarships were established by the central committee for the 1953 Veishea from Veishea receipts of a year ago. This is the first year that the scholarships have been awarded and winners of the grants will be the first to attend Iowa State College under the new scholarships.

Scholarships amount to $1,250. First place winner will receive $750 which will be awarded at the rate of $250 per quarter. Second place winner will receive $300 which will be paid at the rate of $100 per quarter. Third place winner will receive $200 or $75 for the first two quarters and $50 the final quarter. Awards are being made on the basis of scholarship, leadership and character.

Selections are being made by the Veishea general chairman, the student body president, two Veishea faculty members and the dean of the junior college at Iowa State. Over 100 applications have been received.

W.S.C.S. Sees Pictures

The regular meeting of the W. S. C. S. was held in the Methodist Church parlors on Thursday afternoon, March 4th, with 53 members present.

Mrs. Clarence Lemke was in charge of the devotions and Mrs. Ralph Elder gave an interesting lesson on "Spanish Speaking People in the U. S." In conjunction with the lesson, Rev. Egeland showed pictures concerning these people.

A Duet was sung by Mrs. Roy Arnold and Mrs. Vernon Bisom.

As a welcome to new members the pantomine, "Strangers No Longer", was given by a group of ladies.

A corsage was presented to each of the following new members: Mrs. Whitford, Mrs. Netland, Mrs. Baker, and Miss Ada Mutch.

Marilyn Ludeke Bride Of Earlham Man

Miss Marilyn Ludeke, Redfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ludeke, Clear Lake, became the bride of Elden Coulter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Coulter, Earlham, in the Methodist Church, Clear Lake, Sunday afternoon. The Rev. W. R. Noland, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony. Candelabra and baskets of pink and yellow flowers decorated the church.

Stanley Ludeke, brother of the bride, was bestman. Ushers were Jack Dominic, Daniel Collins, Marvin Coulter and Charles Hadley.

Mrs. Harry Mason, organist, accompanied Milo Hall, soloist, who sang "Because" before the ceremony and during the wedding, "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Mrs. D. P. Anderson, Klemme, was hostess at the reception held in the church parlors. Mrs. Helen Stille cut the cake; Mmes. M. Berk and M. Maxwell poured and Mmes. Robert Hanley and Art Gussa were in charge of the dinning room. Waitresses at the bride's table were the Misses Grace and Marge Hartzell, Neva Ann Anderson and Lorraine Meyer. At the coffee table were the Misses Shirley Morse and Phyllis Thrams and Mrs. William Watkins.

Following a trip south Mr. and Mrs. Coulter will be at home in Earlham where the former farms. The bride was graduated from Clear Lake High School and a two year course at Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls. She taught fourth grade for two years at Redfield Consolidated School. The bridegroom was graduated from Redfield High School.

Cub Scout Carnival Will Be At Gym This Friday Night

Last year the Cub Scouts put on a carnival at the grade school basement and it was such a success that this year they are making it bigger and putting it on in the high school gymnasium.

The carnival will be held this Friday evening, March 12, and the doors will be open at 7:30. Cubs and their dads will take care of the booths, and tickets will be sold at the door. Tickets will sell for a penny each and most booths will take one ticket for admission, although some will take two.

In addition to the entertainment to be found by patronizing the various booths, there will be pie, ice cream, coffee and chocolate milk for sale.

The public is invited to attend the carnival, and a good time awaits everyone.

To Be Married

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer B. Beier of Klemme announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Beverly Ann, to Russell W. Thorson of Garner, son of Mrs. Vally Thorson of Clarion. The wedding will take place Sunday, March 14, at the Liberty Methodist Church.

Grandmothers' Club

The Klemme Grandmother's Club meet at the home of Mrs. Leslie Hartbeck on Tuesday evening, March 23rd.

Each member is requested to bring either flower seeds or bulbs for an exchange of same.

Stork Club

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sherwood became the parents of a baby girl March 4, at the Allen Memorial Hospital in Waterloo. She weighed 6 pounds 14½ ounces and her name is Debra Jean.

Mr. and Mr. Maynard Smith of Garner are the parents of a girl born at the Belmond Hospital, Wednesday, February 24. She weighed six pounds thirteen ounces and has been named Shirley Elaine. Mrs. Smith is the former Ruby Ella Anderson.

Red Cross Drive Nets $288 Locally

According to the report of Mrs. Dwight Hummel and Mrs. Leonard Swanson, co-chairmen of the local Red Cross drive, $288 in contributions were collected by the workers in Klemme. This amount compares favorably with the $286 that were received by the Red Cross here last year.

Mrs. Hummel and Mrs. Swanson, stated that they were appreciative of the fine way in which Klemme residents responded when they were approached by workers. They also feel that those who did the soliciting did a commendable job.

Workers other than the co-chairmen were Mrs. Merlyn Helps, Mrs. Leslie Hartbeck, Mrs. Vernon Bisom, Mrs. Graydon Back, Mrs. Marvin Lemke, Mrs. Ed Christians and Mrs. Melvin Schaefer.

More Funds Come to Iowa for Farming

Attorney Curtis G. Riehm of Garner late Monday was advised by telegrams from Congressmen Charles B. Hoeven from the eighth district and James I. Dolliver from the sixth district that $250,000 additional funds are being made avaibable for Iowa by the Farmers Home Administration immediately.

It is largely through the efforts of Attorney Riehm calling attention to the need for such additional funds to assist worthy young farmers, with financing of their farm operations, that prompt action releasing the funds was brought about.

Riehm contacted the congressmen by telephone and discussed this matter while trying to assist a number of applicants for loans recently, when it became evident that the loans were in jeopardy because FHA funds alloted to Iowa had become exhausted according to B. W. Lodwick, state director of FHA, and Frederick Schneider, state field representative for FHA.

Prompt action on the part of the congressmen recognizing this need will enable many young Iowa farmers, most of them veterans, to continue farming without being handicapped for necessary operating financing.

Riehm is a candidate for state representative from Hancock County to succeed Penn Eckles, who is not a candidate for re-election. Riehm, a veteran, is service officer for the Garner VFW and Legion posts, has been active in Republican politics and last year headed the Eisenhower movement in Hancock County.

Lose to Undefeated Dinsdale 60 to 46

The Klemme Shamrocks bowed out of the competition for a birth in the state tournament when they lost to Dinsdale's unbeaten five in the first round of the sub-state tournament at Waterloo, Monday night.

Riding a streak of wins that counted, the Shamrocks went to Waterloo with high hopes of being able to put Dinsdale out of the running. However, the tournament wise boys from Dinsdale changed their plans for them, and defeated them by a score of 60 to 46.

The game started out as a tight defensive affair with the Shamrocks holding a slim 9 to 8 advantage at the end of the first quarter. However, Dinsdale roared back in the second period to outscore the locals 16 to 7, and take a 24 to 16 half time lead.

In the third period, the Shamrocks regained some of their normal poise and outscored the Dinsdale team 18 to 17, but they were still on the short end of a 41 to 34 score.

Early in the last quarter, the Shamrocks made a bid to get back in the game and narrowed the margin to three points when Denny Haefner dropped a fielder and two free throws to make the score 41 to 38. However, Dinsdale came back and scored 10 straight points to break the game open, and from there on, the Shamrocks were out of it.

Ron Karsjens, playing what proved to be the last game of his high school career, turned in a very fine performance. He was strong off the boards, played a good floor game and turned in 14 points to lead the Shmrocks scoring. Roger Terhufen had 11 points, and Haefner and Thiemann each had 7.

Hubler was the big gun for Dinsdale with 16 points.

Five Shamrocks played their last high school basketball in this game. They were Ronnie Karsjens, Roger Terhufen, Denny Ridder, Dick Baack, and Tommy Waddingham.

Regulars back for next year's team will be Don Thiemann, Graydon Barz, and Denny Haefner.

The whole community is proud of the showing made by the Shamrocks and their coach, "Bill" Westberg.

Louise Etchen Reports On Winter Conference

The American Legion Auxiliary met at the home of Louise Etchen on Tuesday afternoon, March 2. Cora Schaefer, president, presided over the business meeting, with Carrie Schwichtenberg, acting as secretary.

Lena Lewis reported that some new books have been donated to the Library by Mrs. Paul Grange and Wayne Pavey.

Ann Pavey offered to send the gift this month to our sponsored child at Woodward.

Plans were discussed for serving the Klemme Athletic Banquet to be held March 31.

Following the meeting, Louise Etchen donned her Blue Jay hat, which was worn by each lady of the 8th District attending the Mid-Winter Conference in Des Moines, February 7 and 8, and then gave a most interesting report of the meetings she had attended.

Irma Sherwood and Margaret Thomas will be hostesses to the April meeting.

We have been wondering for some time about the intentions of Senator McCarthy. It seemed to us all along that he used some tactics in his investigations that were not altogether according to Hoyle. We have watched him on numerous occasions when portions of his sessions with suspected communists were telecast and we never liked his attitude. He gives the impression that he is the big "I" and it has seemed to us that he is unnecessarily rude to those whom he quizzes.

In the past couple of weeks he has really overstepped himself in our opinion. He even goes so far as to clash wills with the president. No one has to agree with the president just because he is the president, but McCarthy has even cast slurs in his direction, and indicated by word and manner, that he is superior in many ways to our elected leader.

We think that the time has come for some one to put a stop to Mr. McCarthy's high-handed actions. Ed Murrow in his program, "See It Now", took what we think was a step in the right direction Tuesday night when he exposed some of the methods used by McCarthy in his work of rooting out reds.

We agree that any reds in this country should be exposed, but we would like to see it done in a little more democratic manner.

We say that McCarthy should either be brought into line or removed from his position.

Recently, there has been a revival of the old "Knock, Knock" gags. Along about the same time that the Knock, Knocks were going strong, there were a lot of "Little Audry" stories going the rounds. One of our favorites went like this: "Little Audry just laughed and laughed when her brother fell off the Empire State Building. She knew he didn't have another dollar to get back up."

We have probably had more snow in the past couple of weeks than we had throughout the rest of the winter, but no one is complaining. The weather continues to stay pretty warm, and after last fall's prolonged dry spell, we will need all the moisture we can get.

We are quite proud of the Klemme Shamrocks. They bounced back after a mediocre season and came within one game of getting into the state tournament at Iowa City. They were defeated by a good team as the Dinsdale boys had a perfect record for the season, but we believe a bad case of tournament jitters in the second quarter of the game is what actually beat them.

On the way back from the substate at Waterloo, Monday night, one of the boys made the comment that he wouldn't have minded getting beat if they had played ball. They did play ball most of the game, but that shaky second quarter put them down and they just couldn't quite get back up. They came close, and never quit trying, and that's why we are proud of them.

Both the boys and Coach Westberg are to be commended for what we call a very successful season.

The Klemme Lions Club has really cooked up a good deal for their 1st Annual Athletic Banquet which will be held at the high school gymnasium on Wednesday night, March 31st. "Bucky" O'Connor, head basketball coach of Iowa U. is to be the guest speaker and will show movies of parts of some of the games his Hawkeyes participated in this year. Bud Suter, KGLO sportcaster will act as master of ceremonies, and there will be other entertainment as well as a fine dinner.

The Lions are going to considerable work and expense to line up this program. They are getting two very notable figures from the Iowa sports scene to help entertain those who attend, and are inaugurating an annual affair that should prove to be a yearly highlight of activities in the Klemme community. We think that they deserve all the support that the public can give them in their effort to honor our high school athletes.

Did you ever notice how relaxing it is to get off Highway 69 at Garner, and onto the new wide paving on Highway 18 between Garner and Clear Lake. That extra footage in each lane makes a lot of difference. No cement shoulders to crawl up and down on, either.

Editorial

To the Students of KHS

There is a small, blue box; location: on the desk in Study Hall: purpose: for suggestions—all kinds and hundreds of them! But so far about the only "suggestions" found in it consists of gossip and requests for the Juke Box. Why don't you kids also put some other kinds of suggestions in it? ? ? I know that every one of you have an idea that you think would benefit your class, school, or an activity, or maybe you have a complaint you would like to make. We want to know your suggestions and opinions. Through them valuable improvements could be made and there is no limit on what you may write about. This is an excellent way of being heard! Just write your opinion, complaint, or it in the Suggestion Box; that's idea on a slip of paper and drop what it's there for. You don't have to sign your name to anything you put into it. All suggestions will be treated with confidence and sincerity. But don't think we don't appreciate all the requets that we have been finding in the Suggestion Box. Keep them coming just like you have been! But after all it is a "Suggestion Box" not a "Gossip and Requests Only Box", so put other kinds of suggestions in it too—lots of them! ! !

However, we must ask some of you people to PLEASE stop your snooping through the Suggestion Box at every available opportunity. It is not fair to the people who have put suggestions in it and shows very poor manner on your part! ! The only person who has any business in it is the person who has been put in charge of it.

Freshman Themes

The Life of A Mailbox

Eva Thiemann

The life of a mailbox is a very dangerous one. In the summertime people try and see how close they can come without touching me. Now there is nothing but dirt at my feet. There used to be nice green grass. But in the winter it is different. There is snow all about my feet this morning. Over the hill I can hear a roadgrader coming to grade the road. I'm afraid he is going to push all the cold snow in my clean face. No, he pushed all that snow away from my face. That's the first time that this ever happened. Now the boys are picking up some snow to make snowballs. Are they going to throw snow at me now that they get through clearing the snow away from my face? Yes, I'm afraid they are. Here comes a couple of snowballs at my face. I hope they miss me. They did. Ouch! One hit me in the back of my head. That certainly did hurt. Well, what do you know, they are quitting. Now, I can have a little peace and quiet. Nope, I can hear something coming over the hill. It's the mailman coming to give me Swanson's mail. He's putting The Klemme Times and a letter to Sharleen from Larry in it. I've often wondered what those letters contain. I wonder if I could peek just once. I'd better not. Here comes Sharleen to get the mail; I can see by her face she is delighted to get the letter from Larry. She is opening up The Klemme Times to see if her name is anywhere in The Shamrock. Well, that's all my experiences this morning.

The Life of A Football

Roger A. Johnson

My name is P. I. Gskin. I am a regulation football. I am two years old. I am going to tell you a few of the many things that annoy me. One of them is 'why do the football players have to wear spiked shoes?' They might puncture me! When the players come out and start kicking me around, I'm a nervous wreck. Another thing that annoys me is people saying, Look at the beating those poor kids take! What a rough game! Hah, who is it that's being grabbed for, thrown, kicked, stepped on, laid on? ? ? Me, of course! Another is some thoughtless boy leaving me out over night. I get nervous in the dark. But, who cares about a football. The thing that scares me the most is the needle! Before the game I'm taken over to the pump and someone jabs a needle in me. If he would slip I'd be punctured. Why, that's already happened three times. So I'm just a mess of patches. Sometimes they fill me so full of air I could burst. Then they take me out and kick the air out of me. I hope I get a new inner tube for Christmas, but I doubt if I'll get one. Sigh. We footballs lead a hard life.

The above was told to Roger A. Johnson by P. I. Gskin.

The Thoughts Of A Trombone

LaVohn Josten

A life of a trombone is sometimes very wonderful and sometimes very terrible. It is wonderful to me when Arthur, or someone as good, plays a beautiful song on me. It is also wonderful when someone plays a very good tune. I love it when I'm well shined up and have plenty of oil on my slide. I also love it when I am played in a band concert. Another of my joys is when I'm played in a parade or the band festival at Mason City, I also have many terrible times like when LaVohn Josten or someone bad plays on me. She always plays out of tune and plays her positions to far out. Another thing she does is to not play the right flats and sharps, which makes me shake with horror. I also think it is awful when someone isn't careful and puts a very large dent in me. If a lot of people aren't careful I go to a hospital at Vances in Mason City. I also dislike it when in the summer time the only time I get used is at a lesson and I get so dirty and dry. So I think you can see why my life as a trombone is sometimes very wonderful and at other times very terrible.

My Dog Looks At Life

Ronald A. Hummel

The life of a dog is an easy life for all I have to do all day long is to eat, sleep, and chase around the felds. I have lots of fun chasing pigeons and rabbits. I can remember one day; I was out running around the fields chasing rabbits and pheasants when I came upon a new guy I had never met before. So I went running up to make friends with him. He didn't seem to be in much of a hurry for he just barely loped along. He was wearing a black suit with a white stripe down his back. Because of the way he just stood

Music News

On Monday of last week about 20 students piled into cars at 8:00 and left for Garner to attend the Hancock County Music Festival. The Mass band composed of approximately 166 students was to begin practice at 8:30. Our director, Mr. Wilson from Drake University, managed to get us all playing together when the two hour practice period was up. The chorus then practiced until 12:00. The chorus composed of some 200 students enjoyed the music and the director, Mr. Woodward of Drake Univerity, also. Those who were in band and chorus both had quite a long sit of it. From 12:00 until 1:30 was set aside for dinner. The resturants were very crowded and unless you were lucky, you probably had to stand awhile despite your tummy's hungry remarks! Band practice resumed for another 2 hours. By now everyone's lip was just about shot from all the playing. When band was finished those in chorus had another practice session ahead. While those who were not in chorus took in a special feature at the theater. At 8:00 in the evening the mass group presented their concert. The chorus opened the program with six well chosen numbers. Several negro spirituals were especially enjoyed. Next several small groups from different towns performed. An outstanding group were the singers from Britt, who sang several novelties including "Dry Bones" sound effects and all. The mass band then presented a concert which was enjoyed by all. We all had a good time, and if I've given you are idea all we did was practice it isn't altogether true, we did have a lot of fun besides. We all enjoyed working with Mr. Wilson and Mr. Woodward should be given credit for doing so well when the group had never worked together before. Those of you in band who didn't get to go might get your chance next year, thank's to the crowd there. I'm sure you'll find it as worthwhile as we did.

there, everything looked kind of funny to me. It all smelled suspicious so I ambled on out of there in a hurry.

Usually when it's cold or snowing outside they let me sleep in the garage at night by the stove.

In the summer I like to chase cattle and hogs to make everyone mad. Another one of my specialties is chasing cars; that gets their temper up, too. Another thing I like to do is run around the yard like crazy when someone comes into the yard. That sometimes runs into work and I don't like anything that's connected with work. Considering everything I think that leading a dog's life is pretty much of a snap.

The Story Of A Telephone

Beverly Christiance

A life of a telephone is very interesting and also sometimes very tragic. My job is to send messages of every kind you can think of. All I do day in and day out is ring here and there. A lady is just making a call now to one of her lady friends. Sometimes these conversations never end. Lena is the newsy type and talks on the telephone all day and Jenny is the lonesome type so it does't matter to her when she quits. Lena just can't figure out why Sarah Smith didn't do her washing because she always does it on Monday morning. One of the calls tonight wasn't quite so amusing. It was a call from one of the hospitals, about a child that had died from polio. I alway hate those kind of calls, and, of course, anyone would. Some calls report murders and all kinds of things dealing with gangsters. Ring goes the buzzer again. A man is trying to get his wife to come home. It seems they had a fight and as usual she went home to mama. Sometimes people get mad at me, because I ring and they call me all kinds of names. Well, Lena decided to call up Jenny again, she's just terribly mad at her daughter. It seems her daughter just keeps talking on the phone and they really should have it taken out on that account, but she wouldn't get a chance to talk then. So all in all the telephone really hears a variety of things. Always the life of a telephone is very interesting and sometimes very sad.

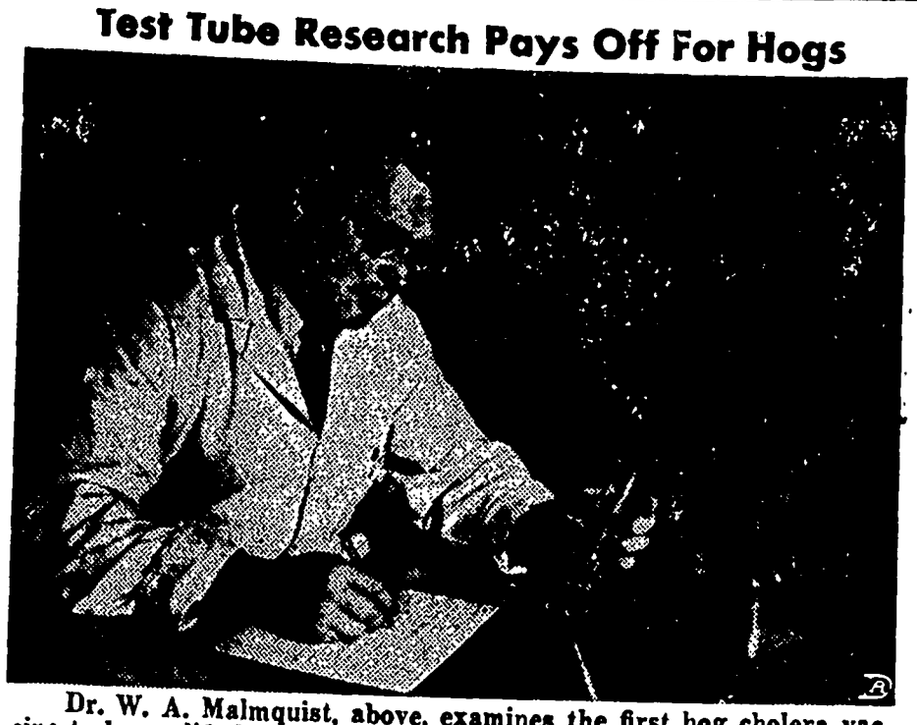
Test Tube Research Pays Off For Hogs



Dr. W. A. Malmquist, above, examines the first hog cholera vaccine to be modified and grown exclusively in test tubes. This exclusive new vaccine, called Viracine, will be available for extensive use by veterinarians this year.

Reported results after administration of Viracine to more than a million pigs indicate that this new vaccine has helped make a big step towards the control of costly losses caused yearly by hog cholera. It builds high immunity to hog cholera but will not cause the disease.

Viracine is different because it is grown only in glass test tubes on laboratory media. Pigs and rabbits play no part in its production. Because of its unique production methods, it overcomes the obvious hazards of animal passage previously necessary for the manufacture of virus vaccines.

The method of production, known as the tissue culture method, was developed by Dr. W. H. Boynton, an eminent University of California veterinary scientist, in cooperation with Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif. The use of this tissue culture method marks a great advance in the production of virus vaccine.

It Pays to Treat Most Legume Seed

Damaging Organisms Curbed, Stands Upped

Legume seeds—just like other crop seeds—are subject to attack by seed-rotting organisms in the soil.

And Arden Sherf, Iowa State College extension plant pathologist, says legume setds are like other crop seeds in that often seed treatment will curb the damaging organisms and lead to a betterstand.

In some cases and with some legumes Sherf adds, you do not get a reponse from seed treatment. But with most seed lots of most lgumes you do. The cost of chemicals for treatment—about 1 cent per pound of seed—makes treatment cheap insurance.

Doubles Stands Sometimes

Seed treatment is particularly good for alfalfa, red clover and the common seeds. In some cases the treatment may improve the stand by a much as 100 percent. It is most effective on older seed lots, those mechanically injured and seed planted in a poor seedbed.

Sherf advises, however, that seed treatment should not be made on sweetclover. Three chemicals may safely be used for legume and grass seed treatment. They are Orthocide (captan), Spergon and Arasan. All are available for applictions as either dust or surry. Anyone can get the chemical and treat his own seed.

Some seeds can be purchased as having been treated with a brand-name special process. Sherf says these seeds have been treated with one of the protective chemicals to ward off damage by rot-producing organisms.

Does Not Affect Inoculation

Seed treatment, he points out, does not reduce the benefits of inoculation and, if properly done will not interfere with that practice. Where seed is to be inoculated, Sherf advises applying the seed-treating chemical before inoculation. The chemical treament may be made at any time, although inoculation should not be done more than 2 hours before the seed is to be planted.

Give Them New Life and Beauty—

Take Care of Your Floors

Wood floors depend on a gleaming finish for their beauty. Worn, discolored floors call for careful sanding and refinishing. You can rent an electric sander to help you do a quick, thorough job. Next, apply a penetrating seal, rubbing in well with cloth-padded mop. Protect floor with periodic waxing.

Take a look at your wood floors. If they have that discolored or shopworn appearance that even a careful scrubbing and highly polished coat of wax doesn't disguise, it's time for more drastic action. Chances are they need sanding and refinishing to give them new life and beauty.

That's not as big a job as it sounds, according to Iowa State College home furnishings specialists. Rent an electric sander to speed the big job of taking off the old finish right down to the raw wood again. You may be surprised ot what you find under those layers of paint, varnish or shellac. Once you've sanded the floor and given it a thorough vacuuming, you're ready to apply a lustrous new finish.

Penetrating Seal

A penetrating floor seal is one of the best finishes to use. This finish actually enters the wood and seals the pores. It's recommended for both soft and hardwood floors. Apply two or three coats according to directions. You can patch up worn places without detection. (Shellac, varnish or a gloss lacquer could also be used, but are just surface finishes that do not penetrate the wood. In the case of varnish and shellac, worn areas can't be patched without showing.)

Protect With Wax

Now your main job is to keep your newly finished wood floors gleaming and protected by periodic waxing and cleaning. Your best bet is either paste or liquid wax. You can use self-polishing wax if floor has been sealed with a waterproof finish such as varnish, shellac or paint. Otherwise, the water base may raise the grain of the wood. This wax doesn't require polishing, but it will need to be renewed more often than the other two types of wax.

If you use paste or liquid wax, apply a thin coat with lamb's wool applicator or cheesecloth pad. Let it dry at least 30 minutes, then polish to a hard, lustrous finish with an electric polisher or weighted hand polisher. Two or three thin coats applied in this fashion will give a good durable finish.

Floors with a paste or liquid wax finish should be dusted daily with a dry, untreated mop and vacuumed or swept with a soft hair broom weekly. Polish floors about once a month with an electric polisher or weighted brush and rewax heavily worn areas. You'll need to rewax entire floor about twice a year—more often if floor receives very hard wear.

If you use self-polishing wax, apply a thin coat and allow it to dry for about 30 minutes. Give floor a daily once-over with an untreated dust mop and a weekly cleaning with a damp mop. Use a mop (a sponge mop is excellent) wrung out in warm mild soapsuds on soiled areas, rinse with mop wrung out in clear water, and apply fresh wax if needed. Don't let layers of self-polishing wax accumulate for they'll be very difficult to remove. Scrub thoroughly between every two or three applications.

Protect floors from scratches by using cushion glides or soft rubber ball-bearing casters on any heavy pieces of furniture or ones that are moved about often. Small rugs over floor areas that get lots of hard wear also give good protection.

the Highway Story

IOWA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

"The whole thing was weird", the patrolman said. "We were called out in the middle of the night. It was dark and cold and quite. We found the four people standing along the highway by a sharp curve on a hill. A girl was hysterical.

"They had been in a group which was traveling in two cars, one car behind the other. The girl kept saying that she had seen the lights of the following car,'Just disappear. Just disappear'. We pulled the patrol car up to the edge of the curve and flashed the spot down into the ravine below. It must have been twenty or thirty feet deep."

There wasn't a sign of a car down there. Snow had just fallen but there were no tire tracks. A few trees cut off our view so we climbed down into the ravine with flashlights.

But we still didn't find anything. Then we walked in among the trees and came to a clearing. There was something strange in there. The snow was swept off the ground and was piled up in a circle around the edge of the clearing.

It was then we found the car, smashed against the base of a tree. All four doors were blown open and the two passengers were out on the ground dead.

Back up on the curve we could look straight out and see where the car had sailed through the tops of the trees. It must have landed right in the middle of that clearing further up the ravine. It must have landed like a bomb.

It was the most weird investagation I've ever made—tracking a car among trees What happened? No one would say. But it looked as though there had been a race. One car made the curve and the other car—just disappeared.

Upright home freezers are gaining in popularity due to small space demands and convenience of use.

The lesson was given by Mrs. John Etchen. Mr. Otto Lemke gave a talk on the Psalms.

We welcome Mrs. Howard Trevett as a new member.

At the close of the meeting a delicious lunch was served.

Eleven members and one visitor were present.

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

The USDA is coming around to agree that we are in a business decline. The February "Demand and Price Situation" published by the Agriculture Marketing Service (the old BAE) points out that unemployment rose rather sharply from October to January, when it was the highest in more than 2 years—that "business activity continued the moderate decline in December and January that has been under way since July 1953". Until now, the USDA has een keeping a "stiff upper lip".

Industrial production has been falling since last spring, Francis A. Kutish, Iowa State College farm economist, points out. With reduced factory payrolls, wages and salaries in commodity producing industries declined about 2 percent from November. This was partly offset by business income and unemployment compensation.

So total personal income has not fallen proportionately. In December, it was down 1 percent from the July high, according to Kutish.

Retail sales fell about 3 percent from November to January. The drop in retail sales since July has been about 6 percent. Durable sales, especially automobiles and appliances, fell the most.

In turn, business men tried to reduce inventories, But they were having trouble. The USDA points out most of the decline in the nation's output of goods and services "resulted from a reduction in output to avoid inventory accumulation in the face of reduced sales".

This is an important point, Kutish emphasizes. Total inventories were about the same at the close of the year as they were in July—despite the cutback in industrial production. Rations of stocks to sales for many durable goods at the close of 1953 were well above the levels in mid-1953. And according to the USDA "appeared high compared with rations in recent years".

We have heard a good deal of talk about being in an "inventory recession". But these data presented by the USDA would indicate that our business slide thus far has been in final sales. It would indicate that we still have our inventory liquidation to make—unless sales pick up, Kutih concludes.

Launch Drive To Stop Corn Thefts

Persons living near or regularly driving by CCC grain storage binsites in Hancock county are being asked to serve as volunteer watcher in a statewide movement to stamp out thefts of government-owned corn, it was reported this week by A. E. Rasmussen, chairman of the county ASC committee.

He emphasized that the services of the volunteer watchers will be limited strictly to reporting to proper authorities any suspicious or night-time activity at binsites. The watchers, he said, will be warned against personally investigating any such activity and advised to leave that and the apprehension of trespassers entirely to law officers.

Chairman Rasmussen explained that the watchers must be willing to donate their services but all who are not county ASC committeemen or county ASC office managers will be eligible for the $500 reward offered by the government for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person or persons responsible for theft of commodities from CCC binsites.

Organization of volunteering watchers in every county of the state is expected to assist greatly in reducing theft losses to an insignificant amount. Residents of Hancock county who are interested in volunteering for this kind of public service should get in touch with the county ASC office in Garner, Iowa.

Survey Says Customer Is Often at Fault

Watch out for that adage, "The customer is always right," for it just doesn't hold true. When it comes to returning merchandise, the customer is at fault in 66 percent of the cases. So say Iowa State College extension clothing specialists after studying a report in which merchandisers analyzed customer complaints on returned goods. Reports appear in a recent issue of The Journal of Home Economics, official magazine of the American Home Economics Association.

Very often, says the report, the customer who returns the article has given it improper care. Dresses and blouses brought more complaints than men's and children's clothing. Acetate fabrics caused quite a bit of dissatisfaction, followed closely by cotton, wool and rayon.

The fact is, say specialists, textile goods just won't withstand incorrect washing, pressing and dry-cleaning. Damage is also caused by improper use of bleaches ad anti-perspirants.

Fair returns are your privilege. But check up on yourself. Do you rely on that label which tells you how to care for a fabric or garment and follow the instructions to the letter? Do you cue your dry cleaner on fiber content and what caused a certain stain? Unfair returns are costly to retailer, manufacturer and consumer.

Top Dressing Boosts Yields of Legumes

Right now it looks like some Hancock County farmers will run short on forage this coming season. And many are wondering how to boast legume production.

Paul Henderson, Hancock County Extension Director, reports that Iowa State College tests show that topdressing of phosphate and potash, where needed, will boost production right away. And he suggests applying needed nutrients to established legume meadows early this spring.

Legumes are heavy feeders on phosphorus and potash, Henderson says, and where those nutrients are lacking in the soil, fertilizer will generally give profitable respenses.

There is only one key to remember, Henderson emphasizes. Added fertilizers will pay only if there is a reasonably good stand. The fertilizers can only of existing plants. They can do increase the amount of growth nothing to thicken a poor stand. There must be a good stand to increase total growth enough for the fertilizer to be profitable.

College tests show that about 60 pounds of available phosphorus—equal to 300 pounds of 0-20-0 superphosphate applied every 2 years to established meadow is a sound general practice. A soil test shows such needs clearly and is valuable for determining the need and amount for application. A soil test is particularly valuable, for spotting potash shortage.

Henderson urges Hancock County farmers to consider topdressing meadows that have good legume stand if the full amount needed according to test was not applied to the soil. Topdressing, he adds, is a supplemental practice and should not replace adequate fertilization at seeding time.

Federal Land Bank To Award Scholarships

Again this year, two $300 Federal Land Bank scholarships will be provided for high school seniors who enroll in the Division of Agriculture at Iowa State College this fall.

The program is sponsored by the Federal Land Bank of Omaha on behalf of the National Farm Loan Associations and the Land Bank, according to Robert Plagge, secretary-treasurer of the Forest City association. Plagge said the scholarship program is planned to be continued in coming years. He encouraged high school students other than seniors to be working toward the possibility of a Land Bank scholarship in their senior year.

It is the intent of the scholarship program to encourage boys of outstading ability to continue their education in agriculture, Plagge said.

Application blanks may be obtained from your vocational agriculture teacher, county extension director, or at the National Farm Loan Association office. Applications should be submitted to the Division of Agriculture, Iowa State College before April 10, 1954.

Funeral Wos Tuesday For Mrs. George Griggs

Friends were saddened Saturday by news of the death of Mrs. George Griggs, 73, who passed away that morning at a nursing home in Rockwell.

Martha Bachman, daughter of George and Gertrude Bachman, pioneer settlers, was born April 20, 1881, on a farm in Avery township near Goodell. She made her home within two miles of her birthplace all her life.

On September 31, 1907 she was married to George Griggs and three children were born to them. At an early age she was baptized in the United Brethern Church at Meservey and later became a member of the Goodell church.

Due to ill health she had lately been cared for in the nursing home at Rockwell. She was preceded in death by an infant son, Roscoe. She was the last survivor of her paternal family.

Surviving are her husband. Harold and Audrey, at home; two granddaughters, Loretta and Lois Griggs; two step children, Mrs. Walter (Shirley) Neuberger of Ventura and Presley Griggs of Manly.

Funreal services were held Tuesday at 2:00 p. m. in the Goodell E. U. B. Church with the Rev. Park E. Miller officiating. Mrs. Henry Brede and Mrs. Robert McNutt sang, accompanied by Mrs. Ina Smith.

Pall bearers were nephews Elmer Bachman, Eugene Bachman, Clarence Bachman, Walter Bachman, Alvin Bachman, and Robert Roths.

Burial was in the Amsterdam cemetery. Boone Funeral Home of Belmond was in charge.

Klemme Girl To Be In Instrumental Festival

Final plans have now been completed for the Dorian Instrumental Festival to be held on the Luther College campus, March 25 and 26. Three hundred young people from Iowa, Minnesota, and Wisconsin will attend this two-day musical fest. Eighty-eight high schools have already registered the names of their most promising instrumental students who will appear as members of the Festival band, as soloists, or in various ensembels.

The instrumental department of the Klemme Public School has succeeded in placing one individual in this Festival. She is Lois Christians, who plays clarinet.

Easter Seals Now In Mail. Will Be Aid to Crippled Children

A year's careful planning and months of hard work culminated today as over 700,000 letters containing Easter Seals were placed in the mails to Iowa families.

Don C. Roe, Garner, Hancock County Easter Seal Sponsor, reports that of this number, 2885 were mailed in Hancock County.

These colorful and gay Easter Seals are the method used by the Easter Seal Society in Iowa to raise money to carry on the work of helping crippled children to happier lives. The Society, working in Iowa for over 26 years, helps the handicapped through education, research and direct service such as, medical treatment and the supplying of wheel chairs and crutches.

Roe said that although much has been accomplished in helping these crippled children in the past 26 years, we are only now being able to offer real hope. Medical science has made vast strides in discovering new methods of creating new lives for these children. It is now the duty of society to make these new methods available to every handicapped child of our state.

Roe emphasized that the key to greater service to handicapped children is additional funds. There are facilities in every part of the state today available to crippled children if the funds are available to give them the opportunity to take advantage of them. Included in this group is the new Easter Seal Rehabilitation Center which is being built in Des Moines this year. It is your generous response to the Easter Seal Campaign that will send youngsters to these centers for needed treatments.

Roe concluded by saying, "At no time in the past 26 years has the opportunity for helping crippled children been so great. I know the good-hearted people of Iowa won't let these children down because they never have."

New Club Formed

The Farm Bureau women of the northwest Avery township met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Verner Nelson for the purpose of organizing a Homemaker's Club. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Leonard Kaduce; vice president, Mrs. Allen Lau, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Dorance Day. There was a discussion on plans and projects for the coming year. Llunch was served by the hostess and Mrs. Day.

"Bucky" O'Connor To Head Banquet Program

"BUCKY" O'CONNOR

BUD SUTER

Ticket Sales Will End March 27 for Lions Club Affair

"Bucky" O'Connor, head basketball coach at Iowa University will be the guest speaker at the first annual athletic banquet being sponsored by the Klemme Lions Club on Wednesday eveing, March 31.

"Bucky", who held several coaching positions before going to Iowa U as freshman basketball coach, was moved into the head coaching job at the university when "Popsy" Harrison resigned several years ago. His wide experience in the coaching world gives him a wealth of material on which to draw for his talk and he should have a message of interest not only to our high school athletes, but to the general public as well.

In addition to his talk, he will have film excerpts of some of the games in which his hustling young Iowa Hawkeyes participated this year, and will make a commentary along with the pictures.

This banquet at which our high school athletes will be honored guests, is being put on by the Lions Club as a measure of appreciation for the fine entertainment afforded sports fans by our high school teams. Members of both the boys and girls athletic teams will be honored on the occasion, and will no doubt be called on for comment regarding their sentiments about happenings in our school sports.

M. C. for the program will be Bud Suter, sportscaster for radio station KGLO at Mason City. Bud was a fine high school and college athlete, and played on the same Drake University basketball team with O'Connor. He has been sportscaster at KGLO for a number of years, and in broadcasting play-by-play accounts of various sports activities has acquired a through knowledge of sports of all kinds. He will no doubt keep the program rolling at a lively pace and will have some interesting sports stories to tell.

In addition to the appearance of O'Connor and Suter, there will be a program of entertainment and a fine roast beef dinner which will be served by the ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary.

The banquet as planned will be one of the finer affairs of its kind in this section of the state, and one that everyone—men and ladies alike—will enjoy. The Lions have been fortunate in being able to secure such sports notables as O'Connor and Suter. The event should be one that will give our athletes something to remember in the years to come.

Tickets are on sale now and can be purchased from any member of the Klemme Lions Club or any Klemme business place. There will be no tickets sold at the door the evening of the banquet, and ticket sale ends on March 27th. Get yours now and make sure that you will be able to enjoy an evening of fine entertainment combined with a fine banquet dinner.

Storm Brings Darkness In Mid-afternoon As Dust Mixes With Snow

Last Friday was one of the oddest looking days that has ever been seen in this section of te state. Dust, stirred up in the great plains area and carried this way by high winds, mixed with heavy clouds and snow to bring about darkness right in the middle of the afternoon.

The sky took on a reddish color and it was almost as dark as night. Car lights and lights in the buildings took on a soft bluish tinge, and it was an altogether dismal looking day.

The storm began Thursday night with thunder and lightning, rain, sleet, snow, hail, and wind. The precipitation was not nearly as heavy here as it was in other sections, but there was probably a couple of inches altogether.

Damage to telephone and electric equipment was the greatest in northwest parts of the state, and utilities officials estimated that property damage would run higher than in any previous storm.

Cancer Meeting

There will be a cancer education meeting at the grade school building at 7:30 on Monday evening, March 22nd. Included on the program for the evening will be a speaker and a pair of cancer films, "The Warning Shadow" and "Man Alive".

The public is invited to attend this meeting and lunch will be served following the program.

Creamery Manufactures Ice Cream In Klemme

The Klemme Co-op. Creamery has installed equipment to manufacture their own brand of ice cream. Necessary equipment which has been added includes a freezer, a hard freeze cabinet and a holding cabinet.

The company began manufacturing ice cream for sale on the first of March and are now offering five different flavors to their patrons. Cream haulers are carrying the product with them on their routes, or purchases can be made right at the creamery.

An ad on another page of this issue of The Times explains about their grand opening and the offer that they are making on the day of the opening.

Klemme To Be Aired On "This Is Our Town" Over KSMN Sunday

A crew from radio station KSMN was in Klemme, Tuesday, making tape recordings which will be put together to make a half hour program to be aired over KSMN at 1:30 P. M., Sunday March 21. The program will be a part of a series of "This is Our Town" programs featuring northern Iowa and southern Minnesota towns which has been put on by the station this winter.

Those who set their dial at 1010 Sunday will hear the recorded voices of several Klemme citizens telling the story of Klemme, as well as some music recorded by the Klemme School band.

The whole program will be put on records made into an album and presented to the town.

Cub Scout Carnival Postponed Due to Storm; Will Be Held Friday

The Cub Scout Carnival, which was to have been held in the high school gymnasium last Friday evening had to be postponed due to the storm which struck this area. It will be held this Friday night, March 19. Activities are due to get underway at 7:30, and a good time is in store for all. Admission charge to the various scout operated booths will be mostly one cent, but a few of the booths will require two cents for admission.

The public is invited to the carnival and the scouts are looking for a good crowd. Last year's carnival was their first and they had a good crowd and a good time. This year they expect a bigger crowd and a better time.

Adult Driver Class

There have been some people showing an interest in an adult driver education class. Anyone interested in such a class should contact either "Bill" Westberg, Driver Ed Instructor at the local high school or Supt. T. G. Ahrenkiel. If enough people are interested, classes will be arranged.

Many School Proposals being Considered

Klemme Election Will Be Monday, April 5

Petitions for a Forest City Community School District, bearing 1543 signatures, were filed with Winnebago County Superitendent of Schools on March 13, 1954. A tentative date of March 30, 7:30 P. M. has been set for the hearing which will be held in the Winnebago County Courthouse at Forest City. The Winnebago and Hancock County Boards of education will form a joint board to sit at the hearing, to hear objections, rule on objections and establish boundaries. The area petitioned for in Ellington and Madison Townships, Hancock County, is the same as being serviced by Forest City school buses now for high school pupils (except Miller Independent) and the same area as agreed upon by the Winnebago and Hancock County Boards of Education at an earlier date and the same as set out in the Hancock County Plan for School District Reorganization.

No word has been received from the State Superintendent of Public Instruction giving the result of action taken by the State Board of Education at its meeting on Friday, March 5, establishing boundaries in Norway Township, Wright County (in the disputed area) for the proposed Kanawha Community School District.

The Ventura hearing, appealed to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction by the Hancock County Board of Education was heard in the offices of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction in Des Moines on Tuesday, March 16, at 1:30 p. m. The reults or final disposition of the appeal will be released as soon as received in this office.

A public hearing on the proposed Britt Community School District will be held in the Courthouse at Garner, this evening (Wednesday) at 7:30 p. m.

There will be an election in the Fire Station at Klemme on Monday, April 5, for the purpose of electing five (5) directors for the newly formed Klemme Community School District. No nomination papers have been filed in the office of the County Superintendent as of today, March 15. The deadline for filing is Noon March 26, in the office of the Hancock County Superintendent of Schools.

The District Court will hear the case dealing with the proposed Corwith Community School District on Wednesday, March 24, 1954.

We can't help but admire our president for the forthright way in which he spoke about making too great a cut in personal income taxes at the present time. All of us would like a reduction in our tax load, but we would rather grin and bear it than have them cut at the expense of the being of the country.

McCarthy has not gotten to the point where he comes out and says that he doesn't give a "Tinker's Dam" what the people in either party say about his methods of investigation. Over the long haul, his d—— tinkering may cause more trouble to both parties, and the country as a whole, than it will do good.

Last Friday's storm caused some really weird affects. The combination of clouds and dust gave the sky a coppery appearance, and caused all lights to take on a bluish tinge. If your car happened to be outside as ours was, you now have quite a collection of Oklahoma and Kansas soil to wash off of it. The bit of dust that we got from this storm was nothing, though, compared to the huge dust drifts in Kansas. Even buried the fences.

One interesting sidelight of last Friday's storm, was a telegram sent to Senator McCarthy by two Mason City men. As you know, the dust that fell with the snow gave the snow a reddish cast. The telegram to the senator informed him that red snow was falling in Mason City, and they wondered if the senator thought that this might not be worthy of investigation.

Mayor V. A. Cook is taking a lot of good natured razzing this week. He and his wife were driving into Mason City one day last week, and Virgil was so busy talking to his wife that he failed to heed a school stop sign in the west edge of town on Highway 18. He couldn't imagine what the officer was stopping him for, but when the stop sign was pointed out to him, he realized the error of his ways.

We would hate to get hailed into the Mayor's court, for we think he learned some hi-falutin' city ways of assessing fines as a result of his running afoul of the law in our large neighboring city.

We are glad to see that our county officials are turning to blacktop for more of our county roads. Although there is still lots of gravel in this section of the country, the yearly drain on the supply is terrific. Blacktop on our heavier traveled roads will make nicer driving and conserve our gravel resources for the less important roads.

The North Star Conference, which was formed last fall, did alright in the state basketball eliminations. Sheffield, Franklin Consolidated, Fertile and Klemme were scetional winners; Fertile and Klemme were district winners, and Fertile made it through the sub-state to the state tournament. They lost out in a first round game there, but gave a good account of themselves. Shows that the competition in the conference was considerably tougher than in the average basketball circles in the state.

Nomination papers are now being circulated for school directors for the new Klemme Community School District. If you have a candidate you would like to run, you can get papers from Supt. T. G. Ahrenkiel at the high school. These papers have to be signed by the required number of voters and filed in the office of Charles Whitney, County Supt. of Schools not later than noon of the tenth day previous to the election. The election is to be on April 5th, so if your planning any action, it's time to be getting at it.

It has come that time of the year again when every day you think spring is just around the corner. Then the first thing you know, winter takes another slap at us. The last couplt of weeks before spring finally makes it, always seem longer to us than did all the winter which came before. Spring always makes it though.

Then there was the Lion .who was making his brags about how big and strong he was. He encountered a mouse and after making his brags, asked the mouse how come he wasn't big and strong. The mouse replied, "I've been sick!"

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

The cattle market has been remarkably steady this year, thus far. Normally it goes down at this time of the year, Francis A. Kutish, Iowa State College farm economist points out.

There has been a good outlet for beef coming just into the choice grade—at $21.50 to around $24 at the terminal markets. There are not too many toppy steers on the market. And the market for them is solid at around $28, with about $30 outside top.

Beginning of Lenten season has reduced demand for meat some. And the cattle market has been sensitive to days of heavy receipts, Kutish stresses. Orderly marketing is needed.

The scarcity of high Choice and Prime grades of cattle is transferring into the lamb market. There are reports from the Eastern cities that the Jewish trade is switching to lamb rather than use some of the lower quality beef, Kutish says.

Lamb prices are now back to the levels of before the big August slide of last year. Supplies the first week in market were 15 percent below the corresponding week of 1953.

FEEDER CATTLE

The feeder cattle market lost a little ground in early March. There are stories of dust troubles in parts of Texas, according to Kutish. Grasses and small grain pasture over the entire state of Texas are said to have an unpalatiable coating of dust laid down is the recent dust storms.

Market reporters in that country believe that soaking rains are badly needed to wash off this bad-tasting dust. And farther west, rains are needed to bring along new feed. As a result trading and all contracting slowed down to a snail's pace the first week in March.

HOGS

Hogs are showing a two-way trend on the markets, says Kutish. Lightweights have been under pressure. Heavies worked upward. Producers are beginning to sell their fall pigs in the western corn belt. As a result of this early selling of fall pigs, average weights of butcher hogs is slipping down.

On the other hand, there are practically no sows going to market, the Iowa State College farm economist stresses. So buyers have to reach down and take some of the heavier butchers to fill all of their orders for heavy hogs. This has strengthened the market for heavy hogs. And the lard market has been strong too.

Fair Board Announces Appointment of Director For Centennial Fair

Appointment of Ronald P. Hallock, Fairfield, as Centennial director of the Iowa State Fair, to plan and assemble the hundreds of historical features to highlight the exposition's Centennial observance here next summer, was announced today by the Fair Board.

A call to Iowa residents to send in suggestions for Centennial exhibits was issued at the same time.

Hallock, who will assume his post with the fair on April 1, has been engaged in sales promotion work with the Dexter Company at Fairfield, and with the Skelly Oil Company. In recent years he has been in charge of commercial exhibits at many of the larger midwest fairs for these firms. He is a graduate of Drake University.

State Fair Secretary L. B. Cunningham said today that the new Centennial director will spend a majority of his time during the next five months in traveling to all parts of Iowa, searching out historical exhibit material for the fair. Iowans knowing the whereabouts of interesting objects of pioneer Iowa are invited to write Hallock in care of the State Fair at Des Moines.

AGE

When William DeVos tore down an old house, near Hull, he had no trouble determining the exact age of the building. Between the partitions were found two newspapers, the Rock Valley Journal and the German language Welt Bote, both dated in 1886.

THE SHAMROCK

VOLUME NUMBER 5 KLEMME, IOWA, MARCH 17, 1954 NUMBER 25

Senior News

Even with the nine week tests only a few days off I did not realize their nearness until we were promised a two, possibly a three day test in bookkeeping covering everything from bad debts, payroll records, depreciation of fixed assets, and the recording of the register audit slip in the combined cash journal.

Because of the history teacher's decision for punishment, because of what he considered too much racket, just before we were to see the current event movie, the senior class has lost completely out on the world happenings during the past month.

Play practice has started on the senior class play, "Murder At Random". Following is the characters and the cast of the play:

Harold Dinsmore, Noel Egeland; Mr. Frederick Dinsmore, Ralph Draves; Mrs. Edna Dinsmore, Darlene Roul; Betty Austen, Lois Jacobs; Alice Cory, Lois Helps; Rachel, Eleanor Priebe; Doctor, Delwyn Brede; Oliver, Robert Cavitt; Miss Schultz, Carolyn Carolus; Sheriff Peters, Delbert Etchen; Madden, Bill Katter; Radio Voice (Announcer) Dick Baack.

In geometry we drew geometric figures with a compass. This proved quite difficult: not the drawing, but the getting ones hands on a compass.

Motorists beware: Not only are the driver training students on the lose, but they are also watching for errors other drivers make while driving. Last week they were by Garner watching the stop sign—so no one would swipe it.

Fourth Grade

Mrs. Chester Renner was a recent visitor to our room. She brought treats to celebrate Billy's tenth birthday.

In Social Studies we began studying Alaska. We find the Eskimo customs very strange.

We finished studying the solar system in science. It was hard to believe the size of the sun. We found by saying, the earth was as large as a pea; the sun would be as large as a basketball was much easier to compare.

Second Grade

The second graders are studying a postal unit. We have a small postoffice in our room and each day one of the pupils acts as postmaster. To learn more about the postal system we have visited the Klemme postoffice.

We're happy to have a new pupil, Douglas Bertilson, in our room.

The Brownie group has begun their new book, "The More Friends and Neighbors".

Donna Josten has returned her dental card making a total of eighteen cards returned.

My Dog Looks At Life

Arthur Carlson

Yes, I am a dog. My name is Tippy. I have often heard human beings refer to a dog's life. I wonder what they mean. A dog's life is just like anybody else's as far as I can see. I live her on a farm out in the country with a family of four people, eleven cats, a few dozen sheep, and heifers, some pigs, etc. I am the only dog on the farm though and I have the whole farm to myself. The people in the family are Art and Candace, and Jim and Clarice, their parents. They are pretty good to me and I get all the food I want and if I don't, I can go out into the fields and catch rabbits. They are pretty frisky little fellows and I think I could catch them on the straightaway but they always have to be twisting and turning or something like that. Once in awhile one will lead me toward a woven wire fence. He can go through it, but I can't. Usually I don't see the fence in time and I pile up in it.

At chore time, I usually get the leftover milk and I do mean leftover. After the cats get their fill I get what is left over. Art usually gives me a little more though and pats me on the head and tells me I'm a good dog. I always know when chores are done, because Art comes out of the barn without any pails or anything in his hands Then he'll play with me awhile on the way up to the house.

I like the winter when it comes because I can play in the snow or chase rabbits. I like I can run and frolic with the the summer better though. Then tractor when somebody in working in the field. If I get too warm I go down to the river to cool off. The winter and summer are all right but what I really live for is Sunday. That's when Grandpa brings Art and Candace home from Sunday School. I can hear his horn honk way down the road, so I run down to meet him. He lets me in the car and I ride up with him. I also get to go into the house and nibble Sunday dinner from Grandpa's hands.

All these things go to make up my "dog's life". It isn't so bad now, is it?

Third Grade

The Redbirds and Bluebirds have started reading in new reading books.

In social studies we have been studying the materials from which clothing is made. We have learned that clothing material comes from plant and animal sources. Another group is called Man-Made Fiber. Rayon, Nylon, Orlon, etc. are listed in this group.

Charles Clayton moved away last week. We hope Charles likes his new school. We have 24 third graders now.

Boys' Sports

The Klemme Shamrocks were beaten in the sub-state play by the strong Dinsdale team at Waterloo. The Shamrocks were not up to par the way it seemed. They couldn't hit and Dinsdale was out and rebounding them most of the time. The first quarter was fairly evenly matched as it ended with the Shamrocks ahead by one point, but the second quarter the Dinsdale team started to break through the switching man to man defense that Klemme was using. The Shamrocks were behind by 8 points at the half time intermission. The third quarter, Dinsdale kept on firing away, but the Shamrocks gained some of the points back. They came within three points of them only to lose it by the end of the quarter. The fourth quarter the Shamrocks couldn't seem to hit. The Dinsdale team kept up the pace and gained points and won the game 60-46. This finished the season for the Shamrocks.

Tuesday the boys started baseball. They will do a lot of throwing for awhile to get their arms in condition. There will be a conference baseball tournament this spring.

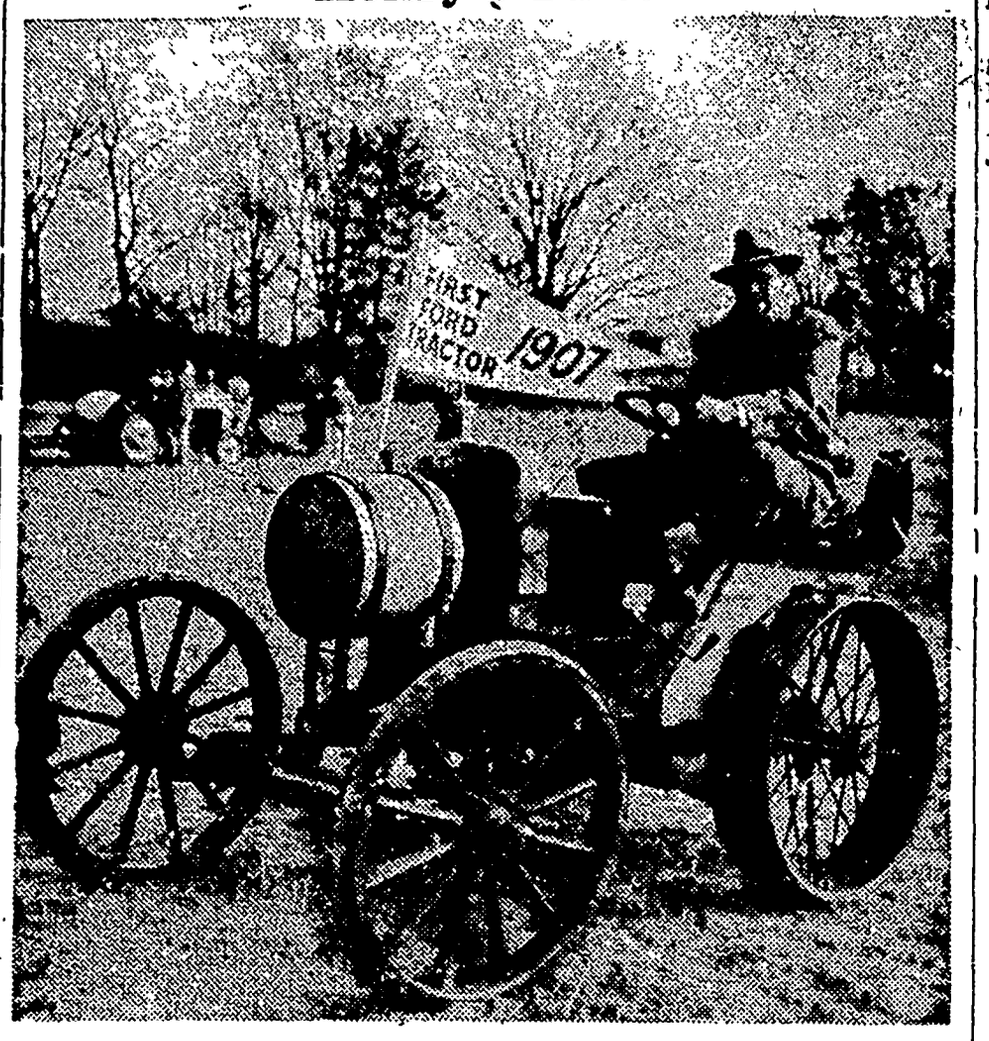
Henry's First



As spring plowing gets underway on farms across the nation, none of the more than 4 million farm tractors in use will resemble this one. Henry Ford's first farm tractor, built in 1907, long since has been retired to a place of honor in the Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, Mich. The 24-horsepower vehicle, which Mr. Ford called his "Automobile Plow," sports an engine with copper water jackets. Its rear wheels were taken from a binder. Despite its early vintage, it still runs.

Merten Guest Speaker

Former Hancock County Engineer Charles F. Merten was the guest speaker at the Legion birthday party at the Garner Memorial Hall on Friday evening. Legionnaires and wives were guests of the Auxiliary in the annual observance.

Merten summarized the improvement in roads in Hancock County during his tenure of office as county engineer over a period of 35 years and also discussed the state and federal highway program.

TV Talent Show

Plans are still going forward on the "TV Home Talent Show" being sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Hancock Memorial Hospital. The history preceding and progress during the building of the hospital will be emphasized in monologue style, preceding all numbers appearing on the evenings program. The event is scheduled for Wednesday evening, March 31st, at the Britt High School Auditorium. Tickets are being circulated now from co-chairmen Mrs. Charles Frandson and Mrs. Robert Artes.

Three New Bridges In Road Program Ok'd By Board

All sixteen township boards of trustees were represented at the annual Board of Approval meeting held at the courthouse on Wednesday to consider the road construction program for the next two years. Road construction programs will be planned over a two year period in the future according to County Engineer Charles Paulson to enable better planning and conservation of labor and material.

Engineer Paulson and the Board of Supervisors discussed the proposed program with the representatives of the various townships and after some minor amendments the program was adopted to include grading and surfacing of 21 miles of local road at a cost of approximately $90,000. Three bridges were included in the proposed program. They are a 24 ft. span to be built between sections 11-12 in Concord; 100 foot span between sections 5-8 in Twin Lake and a 30 foot span between sections 30-31 Amterdam.

The grading and surfacing program includes one mile between sections 13-14 Ellington; one mile between sections 17-18 in Crystal; two miles between sections 23-24 and 25-26 in Bingham; two miles between sections 12-13 and 16-20 in Orthel; two miles between sections 16-21 and through section 26 in Concord; two miles between sections 15-22 and 16-21 in Liberty; one mile between sections 10-15 in Erin; one mile between sections 8-17 in Boone; one and a half miles between the south half of sections 5-6 and between sections 9-16 in Magor; Four miles between sections 13-14, 23-24, 35-36, and 22-23 in Amsterdam; one and a half miles on south half of west line of section 31 and east side of section 30 in Twin Lake, and two miles on south line of sections 35 and 36 in Avery.

Engineer Paulson reports more and more requests from township officials for stabilized and bituminous surfacing and more attention will be given to this type of construction as costs of gravel surfacing continue to mount due to scarcity of gravel and the expense of maintaining gravel surfacing.

4-H Fun Night to Feature Square Dancing

The Hancock County annual 4-H Fun Night will be held Saturday, April 3rd at the Garner Memorial Building.

Highlighting the program will be the election of the 4-H King and Queen. Each 4-H club elects a candidate for king or queen respectively. Each 4-H member will receive a ballot upon entering the Memorial Building Saturday evening. Last year's King, Jerry Gray of Magor Mustangs and the Queen, Margaret Kelch of Boone Magor Pals will crown the 1954 King and Queen.

After the election and crowning of the King and Queen, there will be square dancing on the gym floor and party games will be played in the basement. Clarence Smith of Kanawha will call the squares with Calvin Smith as the accordionist accompanying him.

All 4-H members and their folks are invited and any other interested people. There will be a 25 cent admission charge to cover the cost of the rent of the Memorial Building and lunch which will consist of ice cream cookies and chocolate milk or pop.

Good Attendance

The First Aid classes being held at the grade school are reported to be well attended, and very interesting. Movies are being shown along with the lessons. There were 24 in attendance at last Monday night's session.

The classes will be held on Monday through April 5th.

His award is a 1954 Buick Special Sedan. The Wellemeyer's Store featured this contest locally in January, February and March.

Here's What's Behind it—

When Your Child Lies

The truth doesn't mean much to a small child. What sounds to you like an out-and-out lie may just be boasting, an imagination working overtime, an attempt to avoid punishment, or a stride toward independence.

No baby comes into this world with a shining set of ethical standards. The lies., the so-called cheating and tall tales every child indulges in at one time or another are simply a part and parcel of his normal growth and development.

So don't grow alarmed when your small boy or girl fibs or sticks like chewing gum to an impossible yarn. There are lots of reasons for such truth-defying actions, according to Marilyn Williams of the Iowa State College child development staff. Once you understand them, you are better equipped to guide your youngster towards eventual ethical behavior.

To Avoid Punishment

Your child's "No, I didn't" in denial of hitting another tot or breaking something may be his way of escaping punishment. He doesn't, at 3 or 4, see his answer as a lie, but simply as a solution to his problem. If you mete out severe or unfair punishment when he does come forth with the truth, you may be inviting him to lie next time in pure self-defense. You can and should however, help him understand that a certain way of behavior is wrong.

An Experiment

From 2 to 5 years, a youngster is starting to assert his independence and does lots of experimenting. He finds that he can completely change a situation by what he says and is quick to try out his skill in using words. He may lie just to see what effect it has, without and understanding of the "right" or "wrong" of the matter.

Imagination

Often a pre-schooler is confused as to what's real and what's imaginary. He may spin some pretty wild stories and believe them himself — about an airplane ride he took, or a lion he saw in his sandbox.

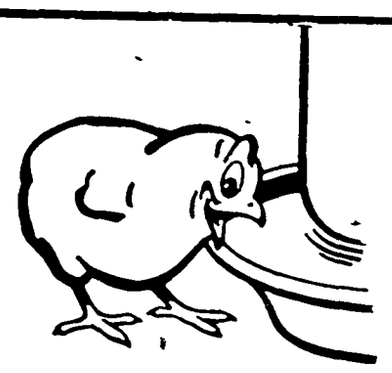
By the time he's about 5, he'll begin to see the line between fact and fancy. In the meantime, don't make a fuss over this type of story telling. If he becomes over-stimulated from his imaginings, however, you should help him get his bearings in reality again.

Boasting

In an older child, lying can be a form of boasting. At 7 or 8 years, he usually has a highly developed ethical sense. But he also wants very much to be successful and approved of, a feeling that may on occasion override his basic urge to be honest. He needs the reassurance and confidence of his parents and firm but gentle reminders that you are much prouder of him as he actually is than of what he pretends to be or do.

Guidance

You can help out a younger child by letting him know that lying isn't accepted behavior, but also by not making an issue of it until, with your help, he gradually gains an insight into the different concepts of truth and right and wrong.



Sa-ay, that's good stuff!

Sure, it's water -- but it tastes good. It's good for me, too, 'specially since the boss put Germex in it. That stops those nasty old germs -- and am I glad! A lot of chicks get sick, or maybe die, because of the germs in their water. I hope I always get Germex! It's tasteless, odorless, colorless. Makes a swell all-purpose farm disinfectant. the Highway Story

By Bob Hullihan

A man taking a quiet walk one evening saw it begin. "I knew Carl and noticed that he had been knocking at the door of the house across the street for a long time. He tried to look in the front windows of the house, then just seemed to stand there. Finally he gave the door a kick and slammed away in his car. That's the last I saw of him."

A man in a tavern saw it continue. "Like to have a couple beers at night and like to have them in a couple different places Saw Carl in both places that night with three or four other fellows. Carl was buying the drinks and they were buying his troubles.

Things were quiet enough until Carl's girl friend walked in with another fellow. Seemed that Carl had been stood up and the fellows with him started calling the girl some pretty hard names. They told the other fellow they would get him.

The girl got mad and told Carl she was through with him and that this was a good way for him to find it out. Carl got excited and jumped up and told the girl he was through with her too, but that he'd get back at her first. Then he walked out and his friends went with him. That's the last of him."

A highway patrolman saw it just after the end. "Carl was driving when he apparently lost control on a slight, well banked curve. He died when the steering column entered his chest. Four young men with him were injured.

The accident had its beginning when Carl found that his girl had broken a date. It grew with intoxication, the unexpected meeting with the girl and the friends who irritated the situation. When Carl climbed into his car he was in a mood to fight back at the things that were hurting him. He just chose the wrong weapon.

Planting Time In Iowa

This month Iowa farmers prepare for another planting season.

And, six months from now, millions more dollars will be added to our wealth, from Iowa's fertile soil.

Many folks don't know it, but one of the best customers for these farm products is our brewing industry. Last year over 3 million acres of farm products were required by this country's brewers . . . something like 300 million dollars a year added to our farm income.

Several of America's best-known early patriots helped establish this great industry which means so much to our farm income. Thomas Jefferson, for example, regarded beer so highly that he brought experts from Bohemia to teach Americans the art of brewing.

Samuel Adams, "father of the revolution," was himself the son of a brewer. And he operated one of our first breweries, helping start the industry in New England.

So Iowa profits from the foresight of America's pioneer leaders. They brought us an industry that means more to our agricultural income, year by year.

Enough Meat Wasted To Feed 500,000 Every Day

Bruises and other injuries caused by carelessness in handling, loading and shipping livestock in the United States are destroying enough meat each day to provide the daily needs of half a million people—enough to take care of all the people living in Des Moines, Sioux City, Davenport, Cedar Rapids, Waterloo and Burlington.

William G. Zmolek, extension livestock marketing specialist at Iowa State College, says this is costing Iowa livestock producers money, because packers have to figure the day's probable average bruise losses when they set their liveweight prices for all kinds of livestock. Farmers and shippers can stop part of these losses by being careful, Zmolek says.

On the Farm

Here are a few things to do on the farm:

1. Remove protruding nails and broken boards from feedlots.

2. Remove all machinery from feedlots.

3. Eliminate protruding corners, narrow gates and narrow doors. Zmolek says two out of every three cattle bruises are caused by crowding, rushing and bumping.

4. Dehorn cattle. Horns cause 3 percent of the bruises. You get minimum setback when you dehorn your cattle as calves and get the horns off before fly time.

During Shipment

And when it comes to shipment, careful handling in loading, good equipment and good loading chutes, and a careful trucker are "musts" for reducing livestock losses. Outlaw clubs and whips, Zmolek advises. Use only canvas slappers to drive stock.

For cattle in winter, bed the truck with sand. Every good livestock trucker should have a supply of sand. For hogs and sheep in winter, bed the truck with straw. In summer, bed the truck with wet sand for all kinds of live stock.

Step Ramp Best

Make sure you have a good loading chute. Animals prefer a step ramp rather than a cleated ramp, Zmolek says. You can get detailed plans for a portable step ramp loading chute from the Midwest Plan Service at Iowa State College. Your county extension director has a catalog of these plans and can help you order the one that fits your needs.

Zmolek also advises making sure that the trucker you hire has good equipment, including a good truck box with a wide loading gate, free of protruding nails and bolts and with provisions for proper ventilation. Be sure the rack is covered to protect the animals from winter cold and summer heat.

If you are shipping a mixed load, partition the truck or car to separate sheep, hogs, calves and different-weight cattle.

Haeder pointed out that our population is increasing at the rate of 7300 persons per day, and that by 1965, at our present rate of population, we would only be producing what we consume. He further pointed out that even though one million acres of land are being reclaimed each year, one million acres are also needed to provide space for adequate housing.

The local association loaned almost $300,000 in additional loans to farmers of Hancock and Winnebago Counties the past year, making it a record year for this association, was reported to the group by the Secretary Treasurer, Robert Plagge.

Russell M. Sime of Bricelyn, Minnesota, was elected to a three-year term as director of the local association, replacing J. E. Read, who has served the association well for many years.

C. M. Palmer, president of the local farm cooperative, was chairman of the meeting.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Immanuel Lutheran Church served the dinner, and entertainment was provided by a musical group from the Forest City schools, and Mrs. Ted Schmidt.

Some people are like blotters. They soak it all in but get it all backwards.

HURT

A 28-year old farm wife, Mrs. Orville Borg, of near Forest City, was seriously hurt when the tractor she was driving overturned. She was pinned under the machine and the Forest City fire department had to come out and lift the machine from her leg.

Population Increase to Equalize Production and Consumption By 1965

"Farmers are going to have to conserve the rich soil they inherited, if they expect to keep our country strong, as only a well-fed population can resist all invaders."

This was the message brought to 350 members and guests of the United National Farm Loan Association last Thursday evening at the association's annual meeting at Forest City by Richard Haeder, Director of the Federal Land Bank of Omaha, Nebraska.

The North Iowa Breeders Co-operative Artificial Insemination Association has scheduled Dr. John B. Herrick, Iowa State College Extension Veterinarian, to speak at their annual meeting Wednesday, March 31, at 1 p. m. The meeting will be held at the Roxy Theatre in Kanawha.

DR. JOHN B. HERRICK

Dr. Herrick has been active in helping dairymen with their disease problems all over the state.

The organization will take up some very important business concerning a change in their activities. Each member, active and inactive, should be present to hear this discussion. They will also elect directors for those retiring this year.

Mrs. Bunge Reports on Activities of Council For Retarded Children

About a year ago parents and friends of retarded children of Hancock and Winnebago Counties met and formed the Council for Retarded Children of Hancock and Winnebago Counties. The purpose of the organization is to bring together those who are interested in the welfare of retarded children, and by working together bring a happier way of life to those personally concerned.

By affiliating with the National Association for Retarded Children and the Iowa Association for Retarded Children there is a source of constructive information available. Also, the means is available to carry on a unified program from local to state and national level.

The group participated in the founding of the Iowa Association for Retarded Children last June; co-operated with other local groups in the state in remembering the people from the local counties who are living at the institutions at Glennwood and Woodward, Iowa with Christmas gifts; held a family picnic last summer; held a Christmas party for the children in the group; and participated in observing Thanksgiving Week as Retarded Children's Week in Iowa.

Since October the mothers room Friday afternoons for the have been conducting a class-children who are not in school in the public library room in Forest City. At the present time the children range in age from 5 to 15. Nine children are considered regular scholars. The purpose of such a classroom is to aid in teaching the children to live together with others, as is the need of all children. Special

Super Service Station Magazine Does Story On Don's D-X Service

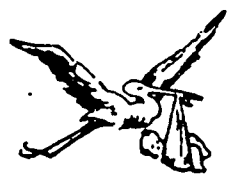
In the February issue of Super Service Station magazine appears a feature story telling of the methods used and the results obtained by Don Schaefer in building up the business at his station west of town.

The article appears under the title of "Building a Service Business" and carries pictures of Don's jeep, his lube room, his station, and one of Don checking his daily schedule.

The story goes into considerable detail about his free pickup and delivery service, telling how it has helped to build up his service business. It also tells of his use of The Times as a major portion of his advertising. In addition, the story states, he also uses hand bills and mailings supplied by his wholesalers.

The story doesn't give Don credit for having set the world on fire, as some feature stories do, but it does credit him with having done a fine job of building up a sizeable service business in a small town.

Stork Club



Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Nannega are the parents of a six pound, one ounce baby girl born at Mercy Hospital on Sunday, March 21. The little lady is the first girl born into the family as all children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nannenga have been boys. She is the first child for the Clarence Nannengas.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Beier are proud grandparents. They have received word from their son, Eugene, that he and his wife are the parents of a daughter born March 15. This is Grandpa and Grandma Beier's first grandchild. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Beier live at 4337 49th St., San Deigo, California.

Caught In Wringer

Mrs Sophia Henschen was injured Tuesday when she got her hand caught in the wringer of her washing machine. She became entangled with the machine soon after dinner, and although she was able to stop the machine, she could not free her hand. She was not out of her predicament until about 4:45 when some children passing her house heard her cries for help.

She was taken to Mercy Hospital where the damage to her hand was repaired. She will have to remain there for several days, but should come out of her ordeal alright.

Gas To Come To Klemme Before Year Is Out

There has been considerable conjecture as to whether Klemme would or would not be hooked up for natural gas this year. If you will turn to the center section of this issue of The Times, you will see that it apparently is going to be.

The large ad carried there by Northern Natural Gas Company definitely states that gas will be brought to Klemme this year.

In a telephone conversation with the manager of Peoples Natural Gas Co. at Forest City, it was learned that their intentions are to soon begin work here in Klemme, and that they would release further details at a later date.

No One Injured In School Bus Accident

Fifteen students of the Klemme School and the driver of their bus, Mr Francis Johnson, are considering themselves very lucky.

Last Friday morning, while Mr Johnson was making his run to pick up the children and bring them to school, they were involved in an accident that could have been serious . . . but wasn't.

At the crest of the hill that overlooks Fuller's pond in "Heathen Valley", there is a corner. Mr. Johnson was coming from the north and when he made the turn to go east, the right front wheel of the bus caught in the soft dirt near the edge of the grade. He fought it for nearly 50 feet to try and bring the bus back to the center of the road, but couldn't get it done. The bus slid on into the ditch and then turned on its side.

There was a small fire started by gas running onto the manifold, but Mr Johnson brought that under control with the aid of the fire extinguisher carried in the bus.

No one was injured in the mishap and the only damage to the bus was broken windows where the children walked on them in getting out.

North-Central Iowa Short of Farm Labor

The North-Central Iowa area is experiencing a mild shortage of really well qualified farm labor, both married and single, said John L. Schaal, Farm Placement Representative for the Mason City office of the Iowa State Employment Service. Mr Schaal said that in the last few weeks the shortage has become more noticeable as the hiring season got well under way. This, he said, is in direct contrast to the unemployment found in the industrial areas. Mr Schaal urged all men interested in farm jobs to stop in, or write, the Mason City office of the Iowa State Employment Service, or contact Mr Marvin G. Lemke, Volunteer Farm Placement Representative for this area. He further reminded interested farm employers or farm workers that the third Farm Clinic will be held Wednesday March 31st in the office of the Iowa State Employment Service, 19 3rd Street N. E., Mason City. This unique program sent more than 42 folks home happy after the first two Clinics, said Mr Schaal.

Van Buskirk Rites Held on Saturday

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the EUB church in Goodell for Lloyd Van Buskirk, 57, who took his own life two days earlier. According to Kenneth F. Boughton, Hancock county coroner, the Goodell farmer killed himself with a shotgun blast. Mr Van Buskirk had been in poor health and his act was attributed to depression caused by the illness.

Rev. Park E. Miller conducted the final rites and burial was in Amsterdam. Fullton Funeral Home was in charge. Pallbearers were Ed Haupt, Nels Bock, Harry Ruka, Amos Hanson, Walter Lauden and Howard Dominy.

Born August 3, 1896, son of Harrison and Sarah Van Buskirk, at Blairsburg, the deceased was a long-time resident of the Goodell vicinity. His parents moved to Hickory Grove neighborhood in 1910. He wed Annie Brass on June 30, 1920, and 11 children were born to them.

For many years they have operated the family farm a mile north and one and a half west of Goodell. Mr Van Buskirk followed the occupation of farming without interuption except for a period of military service during World War I.

Surviving are Mrs Van Buskirk and the following children: Owen and Earl of Brownsville, Minnesota; Mrs Ray Yagger of Tonowanda, New York; Mrs Richard Lauen of Colorado Springs, Colorado; Gerald at home; Mrs Loran Mennenga of Meservey; Harriet, a student at the state school for the deaf at Council Bluffs; Faye, a student at Hamilton Business College, Mason City; and Ina, a Kanawha High School student.

Other survivors include 11 grandchildren; two brothers—Paul and Virgil of Klemme; and three sisters—Mrs Dan Fjetland of Stacyville and two others living in Minneapolis.

Preceding him in death were his parents, two brothers and a sister, and a son Russell, who died in infancy.

Typing Champ Sought Among Local Seniors

All Klemme High School seniors who can type 50 words a minute for 10 minutes with no more than 10 errors may compete for the state high school typing championship, it was announced today.

Public and parochial seniors who meet these requirements may enter the sixth annual state high school typing and business personality contest sponsored by the American Institute of Business in Des Moines, Saturday April 24.

Local seniors who are eligible should contact their high school commercial teacher to make application for entering the contest, according to E. O. Fenton, president of A. I. B.

Fenton said new Underwood portable typewriters will be awarded speed and accuracy winners in the typing contest.

Grandmothers' Club

The Klemme Grandmothers' Club met at the home of Mrs Leslie Hartbeck on Tuesday evening, March 23rd. There were 19 members and one guest present.

After a program of reading and music the evening was spent in a social way. Refreshments were served by the hostess and her co-hostesses, Mrs Clara Barz and Mrs George Thiemann.

Lions Club Again To Hold Fish Day

The local chapter of Lions International met Wednesday evening, March 17, at the grade school cafeteria. Eighteen members answered Secretary Don Bacon's roll call. Lion Bacon plans to list the membership alphabetically sometime in the not too distant future. Two guests, Clayton Kilgore and Raymond Wille, took part in the festivities.

The Legion Auxiliary served a delicious meal on tables decorated in observance of St. Patrick's Day. After the dishes had been cleared away, a short business meeting was held. It was decided to hold another big Fish Day for the boys and girls on June 17. This event promises to be even bigger and better than the one held last year. There will be more prizes and plenty of free pop and ice cream for the kids. Word reaches us from the State Conservation Office that the bullheads will really be biting on June 17, so you better start digging worms as soon as possible.

Another date to remember is March 31, the night of the athletic banquet. Tickets are going fast so make sure of getting a fine meal and some swell entertainment by buying a ticket now.

Our program for the evening was arranged by Lion Day. He had Mr. Kilgore show some of the many colored slides that he had taken on a trip through the West. The pictures gave several of us the urge to climb into the old bus and see some of that beautiful scenery first hand. The pictures were very much enjoyed by everyone.

Large Crowd Attends Cub Scout Carnival

The Cub Scout Pack meeting for the month of March was held in the high school gym Friday night. The meeting for this month was in the form of a carnival and the public was invited to attend. A large crowd attended the booths and concessions on the midway.

In the middle of the evening, awards were given to the deserving boys. The following received these awards:

Webelas Badge, Dean Neuberger; 1 Gold Arrow Point, Daryl Schlei, Jimmy Bock and James Christians; Bobcat Pins, Willard Netland, Mark Hueneman and Roger Schmidt.

Ice cream, pie, chocolate milk and coffee were sold.

This is the second Cub Scout carnival to be held and the Cub Scouts plan to make it an annual event.

Huisinga Resigns From Board of Education

The resignation of J. L. Huisinga as a member of the Hancock County Board of Education was entered, read and accepted with regret by the Board at a special session on Friday, March 19, effective April 5, 1954.

Mr Huisinga stated he felt in the best interests of the health and welfare of his family it is necessary that his resignation be tendered to the Board at this time.

Mr Huisinga was elected from Area II, (the Northwest Quarter of the County). His term had approximately three years yet to run.

The vacancy created by his resignation will be filled by appointment on April 5 by the board for one year. At the next regular school election the residents of Area II will elect a member to complete the unexpired term of two years.

From what we hear about the H-bomb that the United States exploded on March 1st, it must have been a little more than the experts had expected. People in all parts of the world have taken note of the test explosion and have made varying comments on the results. Now we hear that Malenkov has made a speech to the Russian people in which he gives them their first inkling of what might be in store for them in case of another war. He told them that if Russia became involved in another war it would not only mean destruction of other countries in the world, but also the ruin of the Soviet Union.

We have thought for some time that these powerful bombs might be the deterrent to keep another world war from getting started and from the way Mr Malenkov talks, he wants no part of a war which might result in the destruction of his country. We hope this will prove to be the case.

Quite often there appears in the news, a story concerning someone having seen or caught one of nature's rarities—an albino. The creatures involved vary from pheasants to skunks, but Alzo Blank has come up with an unusual one.

He went into his chicken house the other day and noticed his hens chasing around the place like they will when one of them has discovered something to eat, and the rest want in on it. Closer investigation showed that they had a white mouse. White mice and white rats have been commonplace for years, but we always think of them as being caged in some researcher's laboratory. This mouse, however, was out where normally only the common gray variety is found, so we have to assume that he was an albino.

We don't know that Alzo's hens had ever seen a white mouse before, but apparently they knew what it was. They went after it just as viciously as they would have the ordinary gray variety.

Weather to the contrary, spring is still here. Soon there will be more children on the streets with bicycles and roller skates, and the motorist is going to have to sharpen up his eye and his reflexes if he doesn't want to be responsible for one of these children becoming a statistic. Intent on their play, they can be out in front of your car in a flash. Watch for them.

A fellow who had a bad case of the shakes got an appointment with his doctor to see of something couldn't be done for him. After examination, the doctor questioned him about his drinking habits. Asked if he drank, he gave an affirmative reply. Asked if he drank a half a day, his reply was still affirmative, and upon being asked if he drank a pint a day, he nodded his head. The doctor then asked if he drank a fifth a day. The reply was, "My gosh, Doc, I spill more than that."

No other multi-channel antenna known to modern antenna engineering can equal the JFD SUPERJET on each TV channel—for power that draws 100% of the picture energy into your TV set.

Remember! A powerful outdoor antenna is fully as important as your TV set for TV reception. The stronger your antenna performance, the more TV reception you get.

Before now, if you lived far away from TV stations, a single-channel antenna was necessary for each station you wanted. Every multi-channel antenna performed weakly on some channels. But now, revolutionary JFD SUPERJET engineering combines the outstanding features of the multi-channel antenna with the advantages of 12 single-channel antennas to peak each one of 12 channels, screen out the noise, ghosts and snow from your TV signal and give you the performance of 12 single-channel antennas in only one compact, preassembled aircraft aluminum array.

Besides pulling in strong signals on channels 2 to 13—the SUPERJET also gives fine UHF performance [channels 14 to 83] when used with a Rotator.

Facts speak for themselves! That's why we, as experienced TV installation specialists, recommend the JFD SUPERJET model JeT213S for your present and future TV enjoyment.

Why not call or drop in today for a free estimate of your SUPERJET installation. We'd like to show what the SUPERJET can do for your TV enjoyment.

? ? of the Week

A few years ago Klemme had a spring prom, that was for the entire high school. Do you think a prom would be successful this year if we could invite guests from out of school? Do you think it should be formal or semi-formal?

Darlene Roul: I think it would be a success, because a lot of the kids in our high school are going with someone out of school. If we could invite the kids out of school, there would be more coming to the prom. Also I think it should be semi-formal since not all of the girls in high school have formals.

Lois Ann Jacobs: I believe it would be successful. Because more kids would probably come if people other than students could come. A semi-formal prom would work out best since all of the girls do not have formals.

Noel Egeland: I think it would go over pretty good. It should be semi-formal.

Margaret Haefner: Yes, I think it would be a success, and I believe it should be semi-formal because not all of the girls have formals.

Joan Lemke: I think it would be a success. I think we should invite guests if we want to. I think if it was limited to couples it would stop a lot of this loitering around that we have at our dances. Also it would be a good idea to have it semi-formal, but if some of the girls want to show off their new formals let them.

Graydon Barz: I'm not too sure that it would go over. But if we did have one, I believe it should be semi-formal.

Donnie Thiemann: I think it would be O. K.

Life of a Beer Can.

Berleen Bridges

I can honestly say my life is one of the worst to be lived. My life started in a noisy factory that manufactured cans. I was then sent to get my fill of a horrible tasting liquid. I didn't like the idea of getting filled with such stuff but there just wasn't much I could do about it. So I was filled and a top put on me. I then got a colored coat put on me. A burly looking man with a tired look on his face piled me into a dingy truck and slammed the squeeky door behind me. I rode in that hot, foul smelling truck for three hours. I finally arrived at my destination. It was a noisy, smoky, old joint that was hot in the day time and an iceberg at night. One day as the juke box played a polka and about ten men were arguing over something, the bartender stuffed me in the cooler. The next night I saw a fat, mean looking man step up and say, "I'll take two six packs of 'Dizzy Dope'." The grouchy bartender picked me up and slammed me down on the rickety wooden counter. The old man picked us up. He carried us outside to a nice green '53 Chevrolet convertible and gave us to a couple boys drove along a country side of young high school boys. The road. They were smoking and quickly emptying the other cans. One grabbed me and poked two holes in the top of my head and drank my foul tasting contents; then dropped me on the back seat. After emptying all of the cans, they started the car. There was a skidding of the car, the screeching of tires, and screams of two young boys. I was thrown from the car landing in the ditch. An ambulance came and the wail of the siren died away in a distance, and then just silence. I was left to rust, for the snow to cover, the rain to beat against, the sleet to pound on, and to make a once beautiful ditch into a drab landsite. Yes, as I always said don't think your life bad, as it could be worse or like mine. What could be worse than to have helped kill two young high school boys.

Our English teacher, Forrest Hiller, was born August 31, 1923 at Jewell. Iowa. Mr. Hiller has hazel eyes, brown hair, weighs 170 pounds, and is six feet and one inch tall. He attended Jewell High School and has gone to Iowa State Teachers College, Uuiversity of Iowa, and has lived in Iowa, Michigan, and California. Forrest's hobby is traveling in the 1946 Dodge, and he spends his spare time playing bridge and watching basketball games. Mr. Hiller likes to listen to Stan Kenton's orchestra and Perry Como's singing. Forrest thinks the Swedish movie "Crime and Punishment", starring Charles Boyer and Helen Hayes, and the song, "Oh Those Turks!" are the very best. For food Mr. Hiller enjoys most, porterhouse steak and coffee. "The Moon and Six Pence" and James Hall are his favorite book and author.

How about this letter of Leola's that Tom found in one of his books. Are you sending it to her, Tom? If you do remember to sign it P. S.!

Lois C. is in such a dither this week. If there was such a thing as pulling up the week-end she would. It seems she has a birthday Thursday and a big weekend is ahead.

Roger and Carol B. have been seeing a lot of each other since Ding dropped out of the picture. It seems that Ed has beaten Rog home lately.

Do birthday celebrations have such an effect on everyone as it did on Darlene? It seems her birthday was Monday and she still isn't in school.

Say, Ione, I thought you went home the other night after Gracka's party . . But I saw you other places . . It seems that JoAnn saw her . . But what was JoAnn doing out? ? ?

Hey, Ruthie . . . How are your bachelors ? ? ? ?

Say Rog and Dennis, who were you riding around with after play practice the other night ? ? Do you think you should have been ? ? ?

The show must have been real good last Sunday. Lois J. attended it twice. Once in the afternoon and once in the evening. Of course she was in different company each time.

Did you know that there are only 61 more days until the seniors graduate? (Written the 19th of March)

It's a good thing there were some Meservey boys in Belmond to help those poor Klemme girls get the car backed away from the curb. Pretty slippery, huh? How about it Lois J. Are Jo Ann and Lois C. good pushers?

"Happy Birthday to you!" greeted Gracka as she came home a week ago last Tuesday evening. It seems for her 15th birthday, the gals had a turn out so well. I guess none was done for the worst.

Say, JoAnn B., if you are going to break the rules, make sure there are no teachers around. You might get caught. You never can tell when Johnson is going to pop up.

It's a good thing Mr. Smith didn't have any more time to make out the seniors' history test or we would never been able to figure out the answers to his famous "thought questions".

what the girls did? ? ? It seems they really had a night of it. . . Ask them for further details.

Alan N. sure has a flutter in his heart for a certain new girl. You know, 'new' Marlene. We'd better watch them . . .

It seems there was a little poker game on last Tuesday night at Barz's . . . That's all we know about this subject . . .

CALLING ALL GIRLS ! ! ! ! Gary D. is the proud owner of a light blue convert! Just think girls, there's a man and a car . .

Sharleen and Bev were having quite a time last Tuesday night, after Gracka's birthday party. They really had devilish plans but I guess they didn't surprise birthday party on her. The gals were, Margaret, Ione, Ruthie, Winola, Sharleen, Beverly, Carol, JoAnn and of course Gracka! Gracka's mother should be given some credit as she planned it all. We'll all agree that we had a swell time.

While the basketball boys were in Iowa City, curious doin's on happened . . . You know the annual Saturday night was spoiled for Rog and Carol, Don and JoAnn. But do you know

A meeting was held at the home of Janet Lange's on March 13. The meeting was called to order by the president, Marcella Nuehring. The flag pledge was given. Roll call was answered by 12 girls and 3 leaders to "Clothes I Need This Year."

We plan to meet with Ell Tip Toppers on March 27 at 1:30 and Mrs. Schulz will work with us on the records. Each girl will bring 10 cents for lunch.

Faye Janssen was elcctcd queen for fun night. Marcella gave a report on fitting under garments.

Demonstrations given were:

Faye Janssen: Size of thread and needle as they relate to each other and material being worked on; Luanne Waage: How to put on a pocket; Betty Lauden: Squaring and shrinking material; Susan Watne: Laying pattern on material and cutting out garment.

An illustration talk was given by Maxine Robbins on the grainline of material.

A talk on personal cleanliness by Marlyn Pals. Preparation of garden plot given by Theresa Lowenberg. A courtesy talk was given by Janet Lange.

The committee for the 4-H week display were Luanne, Maxine, Carol and the leaders. This display was put in the window at Goodell.

Patsy Wallinder has moved from our club.

We listened to records, cut out material and worked on record books.

Marines Returning to Tougher Requirements

The Marine Corps is returning to pre-Korea standards by allowing only top-caliber personnel to reenlist, Marine Recruiting officials in Des Moines annouced today.

Maries due for discharge will be screened three months prior to date of discharge and either be recommened or disapproved for enlistment. Recommendations will be based on each man's performance of duty, moral fibre, and soldierly bearing.

During the Korean conflict physical and mental standards were lowered to effect a rapid buildup in the Corps' fighting strength. Marine Corps Headquarters believes the reestablishment policy of screening individual Marines for enlistment will improve the Corps' professional reputation and increase internal morale.

TV Home Talent Show Wednesday, March 31st

Reserve next Wednesday evening, the last day in March, to enjoy a full, interesting evening at the Britt High School Auditorium, "The TV Home Talent Show" sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Hancock County Memorial Hospital.

Men and women from Britt will dramatize the progress of the building of the Hospital from its very earliest history, folks from Duncan will entertain with "Gossip", a short humorous skit. Hayfield will furnish saxophone music, Crystal Lake has a boys group, also a soprano soloist doing Easter numbers, Garner has a group of nineteen girls, all in costume, doing ballet and tap dance numbers, some of the dancers being from Klemme, Forest City and Duncan, 4H girls and boys from Boone Township will perform in a bicycle act, Corwith is bringing a Brass Juartette, a horse dance is included. and the Hancock County Rural Women's Chorus will be featured toward the close of the evening. Two other towns in the County do not have definite numbers as yet.

Plan now to attend next Wednesday evening March 31. Your presence will help the Women's Auxiliary in the splendid work they are doing at the Hancock County Memorial Hospital.

the Highway Story

IOWA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

"I looked up in the rear vision mirror and saw this little girl rolling in the street." A stunned and weeping driver made that statement to police moments after a five-year-old girl died on the curbing before her home.

Only ten minutes before, the motorist had been driving through the mid-morning quiet of a residential section of an Iowa town. Yes, perhaps he had been driving a little faster than the speed limit allowed but still he had been cautious normally watchful.

Then something struck his right front fender. It was such a little blow that he drove on, glancing into his rear vision mirror to see what had brushed his car. He saw a child "rolling in the street" behind him.

The little girl had skipped out from between two parked cars and into the side of the moving car.

There followed moments of dreamlike helplessness. The child was carried to the curbing but she never regained consciousness. The neighbor women gathered, the ambulance came and the police. The driver became sick. He leaned against the car and weakly beat the fender with his fist.

There was nothing anyone could do. The child was dead when the ambulance pulled away. The driver had to be taken away in his own car because he was incapable of taking the wheel again. All he could see was that stark scene reflected in the rear vision mirror.

And so, spring comes again to Iowa, and the children come out to play.

Slight Farm Income Dip Forecast For This Year

Costs Should Decrease Too Says Economist

Iowa farm incomes will be a little lower in 1954 than in 1953, if we have average weather. But costs are likely to decline a bit, too, according to Francis Kutish, Iowa State College farm economist.

Feeding margins for cattle and lambs sold in the first half of the year will be a little better this year than last. But for other livestock the margins will be about the same. In the matter of costs, the economist says, list prices won't drop much, but dealer are likely to offer some better "deals".

The real key to the farm outlook, Kutish says, is what happens to business in general. Prospects don't indicate any increase in consumer spending in 1954, and probably a little less. Total personal income, he believes, is likely to be a little lower this year. But spending for food will probably be the last to reflect a drop in personal income.

Feed—Grain supplies per head of livestock are about 3 percent over those of a year ago and just short of the 1948 to 1950 record. Supplies of high-protein feeds are slightly under a year ago, however, and the livestock competing for protein feeds is up about 4 percent. Protein prices are rising.

Meat—Consumer demand for meat doesn't change rapidly. So meat prices will be affected mostly by the supply. Total meat expected in 1954 amounts to about 4 pounds less per person than in 1953. But we will have as much or more meat in the last 3 months of 1954 as a year earlier. Poultry meat consumption in 1954 will probably increase a little.

Hogs—Pork supplies will be smaller in the first half of 1954 but they will increase later. Kutish says the seasonal hog price drop next fall will be much sharper than last fall. Heading hogs for summer or early fall sale will pay well this year.

Beef—Profits from beef are likely to remain lower in relation to other livestock than was the case during the early 1950's, but the sharp 1953 cattle price drop took some of the competitive advantage away from other livestock. Fewer fat cattle will be killed this spring. Prices of fat cattle should average better during the first half of this year than they did last year.

Sheep and Lambs—Lamb prices will retain their higher-than-average relationship to beef prices established in 1953. Fat lamb prices should be favorable at least until summer.

Dairy—Price supports will continue to have a large voice in deciding dairy prices this year. Total milk production in 1954 appears likely to be the same or slightly higher than in 1953. The surplus will continue to be bought by the government, but at a lower support level than in 1953.

Poultry—This should be another good year for egg producers, at least for those who started chicks early and can have their pullets in production next summer. But more late hatched pullets will take the edge off egg profits next winter. Greater turkey output appears likely this year. The favorable turkey profits last year were mainly because of the 12 percent smaller 1953 turkey crop.

Family Living—Prices for farm family needs are likely to be about the same this year as they were in late 1953. Some items may go down, but service charges are increasing and medical care may go up some more.

Housing—More Iowa farm families will make major improvements in existing houses than will build new ones this year. Running water and central heating will be high on the priority list for farm home improvements. Building materials are adequate. Prices for a few items may ease slightly—bricks, cement, structural steel. paint, hardware, plumbing and heating equipment.

Esther Circle Met

Esther Circle met Tuesday evening March 16 in the Methodist Church Parlors with 18 members present.

Mrs. M. L. Harson had the lesson "The Seed His Word". A trombone quartet from the high school music department presented a number. Mrs. D. P. Anderson conducted a quiz on articles in The Methodist Woman magazine. Rev. Egeland showed slides of pictures taken on his recent trip east.

A brief business meetingn was held and it was decided to hold a bake sale Saturday afternoon, March 27, at Kluckhohn's Store. Treasure Chests for promoting a widening fellowship were presented by the members.

Following the meeting the hostesses, Mrs. J. D. Baker and Mrs. Roy Arnold served a delicious lunch.

Ell Tip Toppers

The Ell Tip Toppers 4-H club met at the home of Virginia Kudje, March 20, 1954. Meeting was called to order by the president. We answered roll call by telling what color we wear best. Two visitors were present. We decided to divide into groups and sew clothes for the needy. We are planning a skating party. The Twin Lake club has invited us to a music school, March 27, at Goodell. Gracka Gerardi is to be our queen for Fun Night. Meeting was adjourned.

The 4-H girls brought 14 aprons and 7 presscloths to the meeting which they were required to make at home.

The club would like to thank Gracka Gerardi and Margaret Haefner for putting up the 4-H window display for 4-H week.

A talk was given by Gracka Gerardi on "Know Your Type".

Rosalie Rosendahl gave a demonstration on "Color and You".

A talk on "Pockets" was given by Myrna Barz.

A team demonstration was given by Jane Renner and Roxanne Back on "Pressing to Improve".

Ellen Waddingham gave a music talk on "Grand March from Aida".

Joyce Theimann gave a demonstration on "Making a Pin Cushion".

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess Virginia Kudje and co-hostesses Miriam Hartbeck.

Natural Gas

IS COMING TO

Klemme

THIS YEAR!

Northern Natural Gas Company will soon bring economical, dependable natural gas from the huge natural gas fields of the southwest . . . across Kansas and Nebraska . . . over the Missouri River through Iowa . . . to the lines of the Peoples Natural Gas at Klemme.

Soon the homes and businesses here will enjoy the convenience and economy of natural gas for heating, air conditioning, cooking, refrigeration, clothes drying, water heating, garbage and refuse disposal . . . all the limitless tasks this premium fuel now performs.

This is one of 71 new communities to be added to the 236 towns and cities in Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota now receiving natural gas through Northern's pipelines . . . thanks to a $266 million Northern Natural expansion program started in 1945. During the past year, Northern has been spending an average of more than $90 thousand a day on new construction.

Make your plans now to take advantage of natural gas . . . the modern miracle fuel. Materials are now being ordered and construction contracts prepared to bring service to your community this year. Consult your local utility for further information.

Research Gives the Clue—

Are You an "Accepting" Parent?

Recent research is helping modern-day parents take the measure of how well they "accept" their youngster as an individual, encourage that individuality, allow him to express himself and help him grow toward happy, well-adjusted adulthood.

Are you an excepting parent?

That's just one of the very vital questions Iowa mothers and dads attending the 2-day fourth annual Family Life Conference on the Iowa State College campus Thursday and Friday of this week are mulling over.

This question doesn't just ask how much you love your child or how well you provide for him. According to Blaine Porter of the Iowa State College child development staff, who has done intensive research in the area of parental acceptance of children it has to do with the whole emotional climate in which you rear your offspring.

There's no quick definition of an accepting parent. But, in general it's one who regards his youngster as a person in his own right, does a great deal to foster his individuality and opportunities for self-expression, loves him unconditionally, and helps him in almost countless ways to grow steadily towards independence and happy, well-adjusted adulthood.

Researchers have discovered that your acceptance or non-acceptance has tremendous bearing on the kind of person your child is and will become. It influences his feeling of security, his degree of self-reliance, his outlook on life, and the ease and success with which he develops both independence and self-confident individuality.

Here, according to Dr. Porter, are some questions that will help you score yourself on how well you "accept" your child.

Self-Expression

Do you encourage your youngster to air his feelings—the negative as well as the positive ones—without becoming upset when his negative feelings or anger are directed at you? Do you listen to his side of a problem with an open mind when there's disagreement or conflict?

Individuality

Do you keep alert for clues to your child's interests and feelings? Do you encourage these interests and help to channel his activities accordingly? Do you recognize and accept limitations —not try to push him beyond his mental, emotional or physical capacities?

Do you refrain from comparing him with other children? Do you evaluate him, instead, in terms of his own growth pattern, interests and values?

Do you help him find ways to use his special talents and interests, ways that tend to give him a feeling of accomplishment and self-confidence?

Independence, Security

Do you encourage him to assume responsibility? Do you let him carry some things out to conclusions—even when you know he's heading for a disappointment or unpleasant lesson? Do you help him reach out for independence by letting him make his own decisions in many matters and then encouraging him to stick by them?

Do you expect him to become eventually independent of you? Are you schooling yourself to be likewise independent of him?

Do you let him know he has your love no matter what—when he's good or bad, succeeds or fails, is happy or unhappy? Do you enjoy being with him and doing things with him?

If you can truly answer "Yes" to all or most of these questions, indications are that you have a high rating as an accepting parent who is doing exceedingly well by his child.

Avery-Twin Lake Boys Practice Judging

The regular meeting of the Avery-Twin Lake Hustlers was held on March 8, 1954 at the home of John, Susan, and Marcia Watne. There were 14 members and 2 leaders at the meeting. We judged some pictures of dairy cattle. We worked out some sheets on dairying. Kenny Langlitz was elected as our King candidate. After the meeting, lunch was served. The next meeting is at Kay Burk's.

attention is given to handwork. The youngsters have been weaving potholders and now some are ready to loop leather belts. Learning handicrafts gives the handicapped a means of spending their time, and can, in time, provide a means of earning spending money.

The classroom is beneficial not only to the child, but to his family as well. It is satisfying to have a place of training for the different child. As parents and other members of the family see the handicapped member have a place to go where he is accepted and understood they become more accepting because there is a place for "Johnny".

The children look forward to Friday afternoons. They are more interested in doing their daily chores because some one else is interested in them other than the family. Because daily tasks are discussed in class they become more meaningful to the child.

It is hoped that, in time, a more permanent program can be worked out.

Recent contributions to the work of the group have come from the Sunday School of Ellington Lutheran Church, Lions Club of Britt, St. Paul's Lutheran Ladies Aid, Ex-Farmers Homemakers, Chez Nous Club, and Recital Club of Garner, and from individuals.

Retarded Children Can be Helped. The next meeting of the group is to be held in the Forest City High School, March 29, 8 p. m. All those interested are invited to attend. For further information in regard to the program of the association contact Mrs V. E. Bunge of Garner.

Clarence Lemke won high prize for the men and also won the travel prize. Bill Lacey was low for the men. Lunch was served by the hostess at the conclusion of the card playing.

Drainage Project Ok'd

Hancock County Supervisors Monday approved the report of Drainage Engineer William Henschen recommending the establishment and construction of a new drainage district in Concord, Ell and Liberty townships petitioned for by Laurence Radloff et al. The proposed improvement will include approximately 7,438.6 acres of land, will cost approximately $90,679.20 and will entail the excavation of approximately 294,054 cubic yards of dirt. Hancock County supervisors have fixed May 10th at the hour of 1:30 P. M. as a time for hearing on the petition and the report of the engineer. The hearing will be held at the courthouse in Garner.

PIG STARTER — CHICK STARTER

A Pig Starter or a Chick Starter is no better than the ingredients in the bag the way the formula is set up and the mixing and blending is performed. The Bolson Co. take no back seat from any feed manufacturer, no matter how big they may be. We say you will get more personal experience per bag in Bolson's Feeds and Concentrates than in in any other brand you can name.

Bolson Feeds and Concentrates are formulated to give you the very best and most for your feed dollar, that is why we suggest that you make a feeding test with your own pigs and your own chicks on your own farm to prove to your own satisfaction what we say about Bolson's Pig Starter and Bolson's Chick Starter.

To induce more farmer to try Bolson's Chick Starter this spring your Bolson dealer will give you a free feed scoop with the first 100 pounds of Bolson's Chick Starter.

We believe that Bolson's Pig and Chick Starter are the very best starters ever offered the American farmer. Why not give them a try this spring and see if you don't think the same.

Professor Explains How Dust from West Comes To Iowa on East Wind

Iowa City, Iowa, March 27—"How can a wind coming from the southeast deposit all that red dirt which the weather bureau tells us is coming from the western states?", many Iowans have been asking themselves in the past 10 days.

Such a phenomenon isn't too unusual, says Elmer C. Lundquist, professor of mechanical engineering and aeronautics at the State University of Iowa. Reminding that low pressure areas tend to travel across the United States in an easterly direction, he says that in such broad air currents mild cyclonic formations frequently develop, with wind speeds of 30 miles per hour.

The cyclonic air movement in the northern hemisphere is always in a counterclockwise direction. While the air mass of the cyclone itself moves in a rather limited circular motion, the cyclone actually is carried along in a broader air current moving from west to east, much like a whirlpool is carried along by the current of a stream, Lundquist says.

At any one time a given place —Klemme, for instance—might might be near the center of a cyclone. For example, imagine that Klemme is located at the figure two on the face of a clock whose figure 12 lies to the north. The cyclonic wind moving about the rim of the clock would hit Klemme from a southeasterly direction.

But, like the whirlpool in the stream, the cyclone itself is being carried along in the much broader stream of air moving from west to east. As a result, the bystander in Klemme will feel the dirt being blown at him by a southeast wind which actually is part of the much larger mass of air coming from the west.

The Des Moines weather bureau estimated that, during the recent wind storm, one and one-half million tons of dust from the Southwest have fallen on Iowa.

Teen-agers to Attack Traffic Problem At Des Moines Conference

The biggest attack on the teen-age safety problem in the history of Iowa will begin April 19 with the first official teen-age conference to be held at the state house in Des Moines.

All Iowa high schools will be asked to send two delegates to the conference called by Governon William S. Beardsley for the purpose of stimulating teen-age safety activity in every Iowa community.

From 600 to 1,000 young delegates are expected to attend the meeting where they will be called on to make recommendations and outline an action program of their own.

Beardsley said adult supervision of the conference "will be held to a minimum because we want these youngsters to come to their own decisions. I have great faith in their ability to take the lead in the problem."

The youthful delegates will be guests of the governor at a noon luncheon.

The conference will begin at 9 a. m. April 19 with registration to be followed by a general assembly. Groups then will meet to discuss specific teen-age driving problems and to make recommendations.

A final general assembly at which recommendations will be discussed and adopted will end the meeting.

Delegates will be asked to report the conference to their schools and to take on the leadership in organizing local teen-age safe driving clubs.

All Incumbent County Officials File for Office

All present incumbents for offices have been filed for their respective offices in the June Primary according to a report from the office of County Auditor Schoneman. The final date for filing of nominations was Monday, March 29.

The following incumbents have filed their petitions with County Auditor Schoneman: Maynard County Auditor; Doris Young, County Clerk; Edith Sonquist, County Recorder; Roy McMillin, County Treasurer; L. M. Brower, County Sheriff; Kenneth F. Boughton, County Coroner; Clinton D. Daniels, County Supervisor, term beginning January 1, 1955; and Clarence A. Bird, Supervisor term beginning, January 1, 1956. All are unopposed in the Primary.

Curtis G. Riehm, Garner Attorney, and Gilbert Guenther, Erin township farmer, have filed for State Representative on the Republican ticket to succeed Penn Eckels incumbent who is not a candidate. The winner in the Primary will be opposed by Rex Austin of Crystal township, who has filed on the Democratic ticket.

J. J. Lorenz of Duncan, has filed for County Supervisor on the Democratic ticket for the term beginning January 1st, 1955.

Will Serve From One To Three Years

Voters of the newly formed Klemme Community School District will go to the polls next Monday, April 5 in the first election for directors and treasurer of the district.

The election will be one more step in getting the district organized and will give voters the chance of picking the people they want to be at the head of their school.

There are ten candidates for director and of these ten, five will be elected. Since the new district was voted into being on February 8th, planners have worked with the idea in mind of having one director from each of the townships and one from the town of Klemme. Consequently, there are on the ballot, two candidates from each of these areas. Voters are not required to cast their ballot in a manner that will bring this to pass, but it is hoped that they will see fit to do so.

Those who are elected to serve on the new board will take over their duties on July 1st and present officials of the Klemme Independent School and of the township districts involved will see their terms of office terminated.

Candidates whose names are on the ballot are Milvern Barz and Mitchell Bock from Ell Township and Glen Lange and Harlan Nuehring from Twin Lake Township. Those elected from these four men will serve a one-year term.

Those who are listed for a two-year term are Roy Arnold and Paul Kramer from Avery Township and Herman Meyer and Kenneth Zwald from Liberty, while voters will choose between Asa Arnold and Donald Bacon from Klemme for a three-year term of office.

Mrs Stella Lemke is the only candidate for the office of treasurer, and if elected will serve for one year.

The election will be held in the Fire Station in Klemme, and the polls will be open from 12:00 to 7:00.

Mark Monday on your calender so you will be sure to vote.

Thorson-Beier Wedding Solemnized at Liberty Church

Couple Now At Home In Klemme

Miss Beverly Beier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Beier, of Klemme, became the bride of Russell Thorson, son of Mrs. Vally Thorson of Clarion, at a candlelight ceremony performed at the Liberty Methodist Church at 7:00 P. M. March 14. Rev. E. Morris Egeland read the double ring ceremony.

Miss Margaret Haefner played the traditional wedding music and also accompanied John Mattis who sang "Because" and "Our Wedding Prayer".

Janis and Joann Beier, sisters of the bride, lit the candles. They wore nile green dresses and their flowers were carnation wristlets.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore a white slipper satin gown with white lace yoke and sleeves. She wore a fingertip veil. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. Her flowers were white carnations with a purple orchid.

LaVonne Beier acted as her sister's maid of honor and Shirley Beier, also the bride's sister, was bridesmaid. They wore identical pale blue taffeta formals with white lace stoles. Their flowers were crescents of pink carnations.

Paula Wesenberg, niece of the groom, was flower girl. She wore a yellow nylon dress and carried a blue ribbon basket with yellow flowers.

Bill Eliason, friend of the groom, acted as best man and Bob Hoadley, also a friend of the the groom, was the attendant. Robert and Gordon Beier, brothers of the bride were ushers.

Mrs Beier, mother of the bride, wore a beige suit with lavender accessories and Mrs Thorson, mother of the groom wore a navy blue suit. Their corsages were baby orchids and carnations.

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony. Miss Pat Wesenberg was in charge of the guest book. Mrs Byrnes Lemke, Elaine Neuberger and Pamela Wesenberg had charge of the gift table.

The three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple, was cut by Mrs Helen Stille. Mrs Viola Wesenberg poured.

For going away apparel, Mrs Thorson wore a beige suit dress with brown accessories She wore a purple orchid corage.

Mrs Thorson was a graduate of Klemme High School and is employed by the First National Bank in Klemme. Mr Thorson attended Kanawha High School and is employed by the John Deere Implement Co. in Garner.

After a ten day honeymoon trip through the south, the couple is making their home in Klemme.

10 YEARS AGO—

Mr and Mrs Martin Brinkman have received word that their son, Garland who is with the Sea-Bees, is now stationed in the Aleutian Islands area.

Mr and Mrs Donald Bacon and children, JoAnn and Charles, of Leland spent Sunday at the parental Arthur Wellemeyer home.

Mrs Donald Speer arrived home Friday from the west coast for a visit with her parents, Mr and Mrs Verner Lewis.

Mrs Donald Turgasen has been absent from her teaching duties in the high school for the past week due to illness. Mrs Leo Esbeck has been teaching for her.

20 YEARS AGO—

A fire caused from sparks lighting on the roof of the Lloyd Lau residence Sunday morning did but little damage. The blaze was seen by Ed Buntenbach, Lau's neighbor. The blaze was extinguished with a chemical fire extinguisher before the fire department arrived.

Glenna Gruetzmacher came home Friday evening from Chapin and spent the week end visiting with her parents and with her many friends here.

Mr and Mrs Wilbur Carr of Garner visited at the home of their daughter, Mrs Fred J. Arnold, last Thursday afternoon and evening.

30 YEARS AGO—

Gracka Quandt and Marie Blank went to Estherville last Friday afternoon for an over Sunday visit at the Ralph Blank home. They returned home Monday noon.

We both heard and saw a robin yesterday morning. Spring must be quite close now.

Mr and Mrs Fred Musfeldt are moving to Clarion the latter part of this week, where they will make their future home. Their daughter, Mrs. Hattie Lanahan, will remain in Klemme for a time and will continue her work at the Kluckhohn store.

Monday the voters in Twin Lake District No. 2 and 5 voted on the question of whether or not to build new school houses. The proposition carried. There were 31 votes for the proposition and only 9 against.

IOWA DOLLARS OPERATE THIS "FLIT GUN"

the Highway Story
IOWA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

Tis Spring, says the poet, hark now to the call of the screaming brake, a bird of ruffled plumage found in great numbers along Iowa highways this time of year.

The student of highway lore knows too, of course, that the cunning Crushed Grill and the charmingly awkward Crumpled Fender are to be found where screaming brakes congregate.

Watch for them as you drive along Spring's highway. The rewards of nature are great.

The keen observer, of course, will watch for that hardy plant the blooming idiot—found along highways in all seasons but especially prevalent and varied in Spring.

The blooming idiot is slightly poisonous on contact so nature lovers should curb their enthusiasm and keep a safe distance. But observe them by all means. Their fantastic shapes and pretensions are wonders of nature.

It is quite permissible, of course, for the private citizen to pluck one or a bouquet of these blooming idiots if due caution is used. They should be turned over to the nearest highway patrolman or police officer.

These men are great nature lovers and quite expert in arranging blooming idiots in very satisfactory displays before traffic judges.

Still another lovely child of Spring is the aggrieved honk, a bird heard in the midst of slow-moving traffic. The sound of the honk usually means you are about to catch sight of a foolish passer, a related bird.

But you must look sharp. The foolish passer is a short-lived bird and strangely prone to dashing himself to death against oncoming autos.

Tis Spring, says the poet. The sap is rising.

THE LIFE OF A WASTE BASKET

Winola Zwald

The life of a waste basket is a dreadful thing. Many times it is very annoying. As people walk by they kick me and push me from side to side. One day as John was walking by, he kicked me and made a big dent in my side. Everyone laughed, but I didn't think it was funny at all. This morning that naughty Bobby Brown pushed little Jane Thompson right on top of me. This hurt Jane and me both but I didn't cry like Jane did. Then I heard the teacher scold Bobby and told him to go to the principal's office right away. I think he deserved a good punishment. Many people would be very surprised to see some of the things that get thrown into me. Why, the other day when Mr Hiller was correcting the freshman test papers, he got mad and threw the whole bunch away. I don't blame him a bit, because some of the grades were terrible! Maybe I shouldn't say this, but those freshman must be awful dumb. Yesterday one one of them walked up to me and spit out a piece of gum they must have chewed a week. They should know by now I don't chew gum, especially that which someone else has already worn out. Every day after math class Joe throws a crumpled up paper away. He gets so many wrong he must be ashamed of himself. Well, I guess I have given you some idea of what I have to put up with every day. Someone is coming to empty me now, which will make me feel very good. So long!

THE DIVING BOARD'S THOUGHTS

Sharleen Swanson

My life as a diving board in Klemme Park swimming pool is really exciting. Sunday afternoons m the summer is when I have the most fun. Usually the high school kids come down for a swim. There are some girls which really set me bouncing, say like the girl with long black hair they call Marie. She really has a bathing suit, it's aqua in color with a strapless top and a bottom with a skirt with pleats. Boy! This was something. Oh yes, I could tell you of many more, some better, and some barer. Lots of the boys come too, they use me more than the girls do because the girls as always are lying around trying to get a nice tan. The boys jump real high on me and then go downward and hit the water with a big splash. This always gives me a face full of water. By the time I get all the water out of my eyes I feel better, for again I'll see another bathing suit which rather interests me or a nice looking girl with a good form! Some people think I don't know, but I tell you this is the life for me.

This and That

Dick Baack is sure making time with Marlene W. He is even bringing her to school in the morning and at noon. How do rate. Dick? Tell us!

Roger Terhufen has the funniest effect on Carol Bridges when he walks her to school at noon.

Who is Jo Ann Burgess going with now? We are able to keep track of her during the week, but the weekends we lose all contact.

Lois Christians had a caller over the week end from Osage. The only thing we know about the week end is that they went to the movie in Garner, Friday night.

Music News

The spotlight this week falls on the Girls' Sextet who are another group planned to give you that added enjoyment at our Spring Concert, April 21. The sextet is composed of Gracka, Beverly C., lone, Sharleen, Winola, and Marlene B. Their accompanist will be Ruth P. The girls have been working on some new numbers I'm sure you'll all enjoy. They are singing at the Athletic Banquet, so you'll get a preveiw of the Girls, Sextet! We'll see you at the annual Spring Concert on April 21 at 8 o'clock.

Last Thursday afternoon, Lois C. left to attend the Dorian Festival at Decorah. The festival was held on the Luther College Campus. The mass band practiced on Thursday evening, and also had two practices on Friday. To give you an idea as to the size of this band, Lois says there were about 72 clarinets. Tryouts for solos were also held on Friday. That evening, a banquet was given for the group. A concert was held on Friday evening for the public. There were students attending the festival from Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Iowa, so it is quite a privilege for our band to be represented.

I was beginning to think spring had sprung, but today it's snowing like mad. Just the same I'd like to share this with you!

Spring has sprung
Grandma is looking at her lilys
Grandpa looking at seed catalogs
Mom is looing for a new hat
Dad is looking for a new car
Big girls are looking for big boys
Little girls are looking for robins
Big boys are looking for girls
Little boys are looking for marbles
And I'm tired! ! !

Richard Miller had a birthday this week. He treated us to candy bars. His mother visited our room during the afternoon.

In our art period we have made kite posters. We have them up in our room.

Our new work in social studies is transportation. We will study the many ways of moving from place to place.

Feature Article

This week we are interveiwing Coach William (Bill) Westberg, who is one of the most eligible bachelors on our teaching staff. Bill is 6 feet and weighs 175 pounds. He's the proud owner of some beautiful blonde hair, and twinkling blue eyes. On December 4, 1926, Bill Westberg was brought into the world at Boone, Iowa. Bill attended high school in Boone, and from there he attended Iowa State Teachers College in Cedar Falls. Having lived in Boone, Iowa City, Cedar Falls, Urbana, and Klemme, our coach has really gotten around. If you're ever looking for Bill, you might find him watching TV as it's his favorite pastime. (Except on certain nights.) His hobby is reading and his favorite book is "The Robe". Bill's favorite author is S. Douglas. Bill especially enjoys hearing Billy May's orchestra, and likes Eddie Fisher as his favorite singer. You might find him some time eating luscious french fried shrimp, and sipping coffee, while he listens to his favorite song, "Till We Two Are One". His favorite actor is Alan Ladd, and his favorite actress is Marilyn Monroe. Bill says his favorite movie was "The Glenn Miller Story". Bill has been teaching here for almost a year now. The subjects he teaches are history, drivers education and shop. We have introduced you to our COACH "Bill" Westberg!

Home Ec. I: Sewing and fixing aprons.

Eighth Grade News

We have been busy reviewing for our 9 weeks tests.

In English we are studying the different clauses, infinitives and subordinating conjunctions.

We are studying about the weather and air pressure in science.

Tuesday we had a very interesting assembly program about dogs and how to train them.

Everyone is quite worried about the coming math test. This will include the memorization of measurements, equations of geometric figures, areas of parallelograms, volumes of cylinders, etc.

Second Grade

We are happy to receive a letter from Diane Patterson who moved to Buffalo Center this spring. Monday in language class, we answered her letter.

In Arithmetic we have begun column addition.

The following second graders have a straight "A" average in spelling for this nine week period: Janelle Greiman, Merrie June Reinhart and Carolyn Paulson.

Karen Nuehring had a birthday party Wednesday, to which tre room was invited.

MURDER AT RANDOM

Humor and surprise are the keynotes of this unusual comedy, which has quite a touch of mystery about it. Briefly the story has to do with young Harold Dinsmore, who likes Boris Karloff movies, revels in horror stories, and is addicted to radio mysteries. Determined to make him live a healthier life, his father brings him to a farmhouse which the Dinsmores own, and old place dating back to Revolutionary War days. Witty Mrs Dinsmore doesn't relish the thought of a "back-to-the-soil" summer any more than her son does, but Mr Dinsmore also wants to get her away from her bridge-playing clubs. Well, Mr and Mrs Dinsmore are called back to town. And Mr Dinsmore insists that Harold spend the night alone—the responsibility will be good for him. The hilarious goings-on which ensue are too many and too funny to relate in full. A sinister doctor and his nurse make an appearance; they try to save the life of one of their accomplices in crime, a woman who has been shot by the nurse, but they fail and are forced to hide the body in the cellar. Two young girls, Harold's age, arrive and Harold is forced to act bravely. The funny old Sheriff comes in to pay his respects to Mr and Mrs Dinsmore, and two of the criminals pose as Harold's parents. Then Madden, a public enemy wanted by the police, arrives—in murderous search for the doctor and the others who have deserted him. Harold and the girls are caught in the midst of it all. Naturally, when they return, Harold's father and mother won't believe him, but by the end of the second act, when the dead woman walks in from the cellar, even they are bewildered and frightened. The last act is so full of comic surprises that it would be unfair to let the secret out. All we can tell you is that the doctor, the dead woman, and Madden himself are all very frightened by real guns when Harold gets one in hand. See it April 7, 8:00 p. m.

Of course it isn't all play, there are some classes and studying.

In bookkeeping we were "lucky" enough to get off with a two day test.

We all were very hopeful of having no test in literature, but without warning a two day test (in class besides the work outside of class) on the writing a summary of the Oration by Daniel Webster upon the Dedication of the Bunker Hill Monument.

The history test contained only thirty-six questions, but the shorter they are the harder they seem.

In geometry there was another test. This one over the five theroms we were suppose to have known and 31 words to test our vocabulary in connection with geometry.

In home economics we are studying milk: it's composition, color, food value—just milk.

In the other classes they are giving speeches, pounding and hammering on their projects in shop, driving in drivers ed., and typing on business letters in typing class.

Fourth Grade

In Social Studies we have been pretending we are visiting in Alaska. So we wrote letters to people in Iowa telling about the interesting things we learned. The class picked out the two letters they thought were the most interesting.

Stevens Point. Alaska
March 23, 1954

Dear Mrs. Montgomery:

One morning we went to an Eskimo igloo. It's very dirty inside. Most people think igloos are made of all snow and ice. Some of them are, but they also use whale bone, kerosene barrels, drift wood and other sorts of things.

I wish you could come to Alaska some day. It is a very interesting place.

Your friend,
Franklin Neuberger

Stevens, Point, Alaska
March 23, 1954

Dear Friends:

I'm visiting Alaska. When you go in an igloo, you stoop over, walk a ways, step down, walk some more, and go through a owoden door. Their wall paper is not pretty! It's animal fur.

Well, I will talk baout reindeer. I asked why reindeer couldn't take care of themselves? Mr. Drury answered wolves attack them. They also, would eat all the moss in one spot and it would take fifteen years for it to grow back.

For string they use sinew. It is sort of stringy. It come from together with it.

rendeer. They sew their clothes

Mrs. Myrl Miller visited our room on March 22. She brought treats along for the first grade boys and girls for David's seventh birthday.

We forgot to mention two weeks ago that Mary Jo Bertilson entered our room from a rural school. We are happy to have her in our room. We now have an enrollment of 26 again.

We are very busy trying to learn our number combinations in arithmetic. We have learned them up to the eight combination.

1954 Corn Support Rate Announced

The minimum price support rate for the 1954 corn in commercial producing areas, which include all of Iowa, will be $1.62 per bushel, which is 90 percent of parity as of February and two cents higher than for the 1953 crop.

Price support rates in the commercial corn producing areas will reflect the full 90 precent level, it was announced by A. E. Rasmussen, chairman of the Hancock county ACS committee, but because corn acreage allotments are in effect the rates in the non-commercial producing areas will be 75 percent of the rates determined on basis of the 90 percent of partiy.

To be eligible for corn price support in the commercial producing areas, producers must be in compliance with their corn acreage allotments, Chairman Rasmussen emphasized.

The price support program for the 1954 crop will be carried out through loans and purchase agreements available from the time of harvest until May 31, 1955. County-by-county price-support rates will be announced later.

The basis of the support rate for 1954 corn was announced at this time, the county chairman said, to give producers an indication of support prices in advance of the planting season in accordance with the forward pricing provisions of the Agricultural Act of 1949.

PIG STARTER — CHICK STARTER

A Pig Starter or a Chick Starter is no better than the ingredients in the bag the way the formula is set up and the mixing and blending is performed. The Bolson Co. take no back seat from any feed manufacturer, no matter how big they may be. We say you will get more personal experience per bag in Bolson's Feeds and Concentrates than in in any other brand you can name.

Bolson Feeds and Concentrates are formulated to give you the very best and most for your feed dollar, that is why we suggest that you make a feeding test with your own pigs and your own chicks on your own farm to prove to your own satisfaction what we say about Bolson's Pig Starter and Bolson's Chick Starter.

To induce more farmer to try Bolson's Chick Starter this spring your Bolson dealer will give you a free feed scoop with the first 100 pounds of Bolson's Chick Starter.

We believe that Bolson's Pig and Chick Starter are the very best starters ever offered the American farmer. Why not give them a try this spring and see if you don't think the same.

9TH ADJOURNED JANUARY MEETING

Garner, Iowa
March 22, 1954

The Hancock County, Iowa, Board of Supervisors met in session on above captioned date pursuant to adjournment with Clarence Bird, Clint Daniels and S. A. Barber present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read.

On motion and second the contract of Schram Bros. of Titonka, Iowa, on D. D. No. 13, Lat. No. 8 and the Construction Engineer's bond of Wm. Henschen on D. D. No. 13, Lat. No. 8 are hereby approved.

On motion and second the request for stoppage of further work on the proposed sub-drainage district by Carl Swanson, et al of Britt, is hereby approved and all costs have been assessed to and paid by said Carl Swanson.

On motion and second the resignation of Wm. Henschen as preliminary engineer on the proposed sub-district of D. D. No. 108 petitioned for by Mrs. Emily Wylie Keenan is hereby approved and the appointment of C. F. Merten as preliminary engineer on said project is hereby approved and his bond set at $100 00.

On motion and second C. F. Merten is hereby appointed Engineer on the repair petition of Carl Swanson, et al on D. D. No. 1 & 2 West Main.

On motion and second the designation of Charles K. Paulson, County Engineer, to execute certificate of completion of Farm-to-Market construction projects in Hancock County is hereby approved.

WHEREAS, Wm. Henschen was appointed Engineer as commanded in Chapter 455, Code of Iowa, 1950 on March 30, 1953, to make a survey investigation and report on the necessity and feasibility of the construction of proposed D. D. No 158, petitioned for by Laurence Radloff, et al and said Engineer did file his report on March 16, 1954, which report states that he has investigated and surveyed the lands in proposed D. D. No. 158 and finds the present system of drainage inadequate and recommends that proposed D. D. No. 158 be constructed as prayed in the prayer of the petitioners and that such improvement will be conducive to public health, convenience, welfare and utility and that the benefits to be derived will be greater than the cost thereof.

BE AND IT IS THEREFORE RESOLVED by th Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Iowa, acting for and in behalf of proposed D. D. No. 158, petitioned for by Laurence Radloff, et al, that the report of the Engineer be and the same is hereby approved as a tentative plan and may be amended before final action thereon and said report of the Engineer and plan shall come on for further hearing at the Courthouse in Garner, Iowa, at 1:30 P. M. on the 10th day of May, 1954.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the County Auditor be and he is hereby directed to cause notice of hearing on the report of the Engineer to be published in The Garner Leader and Signal, a newspaper of general circulation published in Garner, Iowa, advising all owners, occupants, lienholders and encumbrancers of record in the proposed district of the petition on file for the proposed construction, the favorable report of the Engineer thereon, the approval by the Board of Supervisors of the report of the Engineer as a tentative plan, and that same may be amended before final action thereon and that all claims for damages and all objections to such construction shall be in writing and must be filed with the County Auditor at or before the time set for hearing thereon.

The foregoing resolution was offered and read by Supervisor Daniels who moved its adoption, was seconded by Supervisor Barber, whereupon the Chairman, Clarence A. Training Course Offered To Fill DHIA Positions

Hancock County young men interested in working a Dairy Herd Improvement Association supervisors will have an opportunity to attend a training course at Iowa State College in Ames April 12 through 29, according to County Extension Director Paul Henderson of Garner.

Supervisors posistions are open in O'Brien, Wright, H rdin, Black Hawk, Benton, Allamakee, Henry and possibly in other counties. These jobs offer one of the best opportunities for an enterprising young man to get experience working with dairymen. Extension Director Henderson says this experience is valuable whether you plan to go into commercial work or into dairying for yourself. There are few positions in which you can gain this experience so rapidly as in DHIA supervisor work.

The job offers adequate pay opportunities at the start, and the future income of the supervisor is limited only by his own enterprise and ability.

The training course at Iowa State College is offered free of charge by the college. The only cost is for board and room while you are at the training course. Don Voelker, extension dairyman at the college, says arrangements for board and room can be made through the college if you do not want to make your own arrangements at Ames.

Extension Director Henderson says anyone interested in the course may contact him at the extension office in Garner. Ordinarily, he says, single men are preferred for these jobs, but some Dairy Herd Improvement Associations employ married men as supervisors. Most of those who attend the course at Iowa State College will have a job lined up with a Dairy Herd Improvement Association before they enroll. However, some who do not have jobs lined up may also attend.

Those wishing to enroll for the training course should be at least high school graduates and should have an interest in bookkeeping or clerical work, Henderson says.

Avery Sunbeams Met

Della Mae Avery and Darlene Ostendorf were unanimously elected to be the Avery Sunbeam's Senior Demonstration Team at the regular metting on March 20th at Jo Anne Jacob's home. Eleven members answered to the the roll call by bringing clothing labels of different materials. Elizabeth Lemke is to represent the club as queen at Fun Night April 3. The junior demonstration team will consist of Jo Anne Jacobs and Jo Ann Helps. The Sunbeams are going to make a dress for a project this year. We would like to thank our leaders for furnishing the material. A special thanks to the merchants of Klemme who helped with our window display for 4-H Week.

Candace Carlson, Judy Gilpin and Jo Anne Jacobs acted as hostesses for this meeting. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Judy Gilpin on Saturday April 17, 1954.

Dorothy Ostendorf acted as program chairman to introduce a talk on using a pattern by Darlene Ostendorf and a demonstration "Transferring Pattern Markings" by Elizabeth Lemke. Darlene also had recreation.

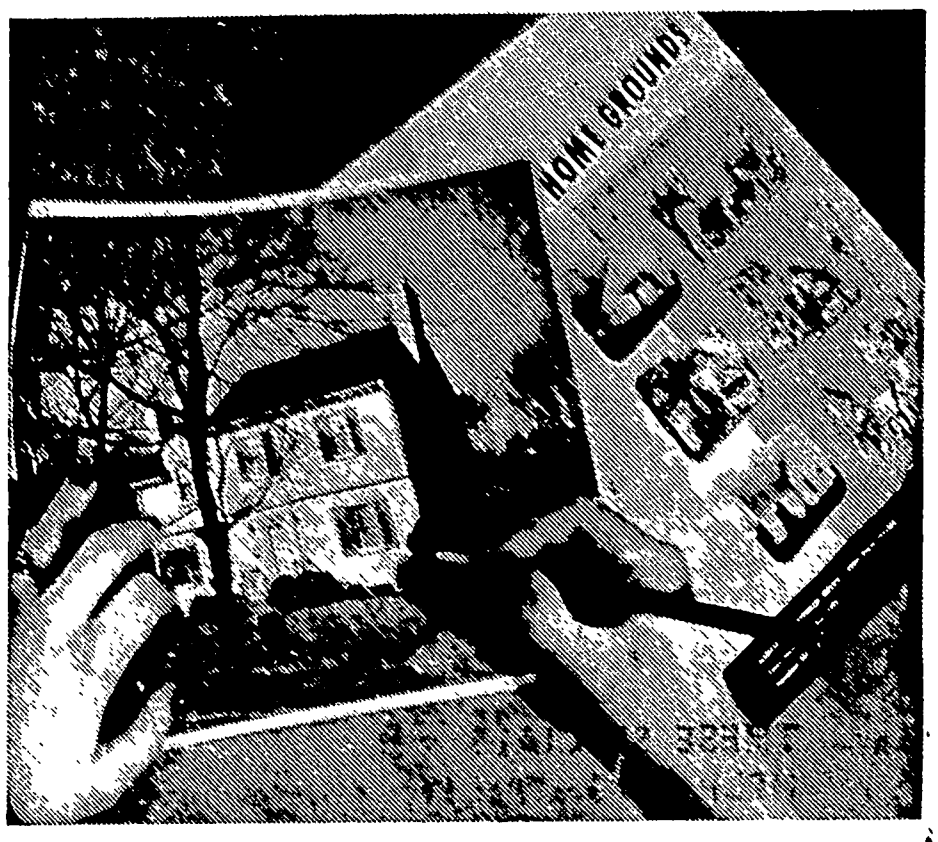
A Four-Point Project—

Make a Planting Plan for Your House



Study the new landscaping bulletins put out by Iowa State College. Then try out some of your planting ideas on paper. Sketch in shrubs and plants on a glossy print of your house with a grease pencil or crayons or use a soft pencil on a dull print or on tracing paper laid over the picture.

Well-chosen shrubs and plants can lend your house the charm and individuality it deserves as the focal point of your family living. So start making plans now (if you haven't already) if new plantings are on your home improvement check-list for spring Then you'll be all set when the weather's right for planting

Making a planting plan for your house is a four-point project, according to Rita Tarr, Iowa State College extension landscape architect.

You'll need to: (1) Learn some basic design principles on placement of plantings. (2) Sketch in plantings on a snapshot of your house with these principles in mind. (3) Measure up on the house to learn height of each plant sketched. (4) Study up on Iowa-hardy plants and decide which varieties will give you what you want.

Design Principles

Usually the tallest plantings should be at the corners of the house with lower plantings towards the center and special accent plants at either side of entrances. If your house is symmetrical—that is, if architectual features on either side of a central axis are pretty much the same—then "twin" plantings on both sides would probably look best.

If the house has a low foundation, you'll want plantings there—but make sure they're varieties that won't grow as high as the window sills.

Shrubs, trees and other plantings tie your house graciously in with its surroundings by leading the eye from the vertical lines of the building to the horizontal lines of the ground. Thus, if you have a one-story house, you won't need as many or as tall plantings as you will for a two- or three-story house and high foundation. You'll need some plantings on all four sides of the house. And remember, your plantings should set off the house, not obscure it or dominate it.

Choice of Plants

Now, in keeping these design principles in mind, try sketching in some plantings on a snapshot of your house. Use a sharpened grease pencil or crayon on a glossy print or use a soft lead pencil on a dull print or on a piece of tracing paper placed over the print. Remember in your sketching that plants, like people, come in assorted sizes and shapes—tall and slim, short and fat and variations in between. Too. some have dense, compact foliage while others are airy and open.

Choose plants that will be the correct size, shape, texture and height when full-grown to fit your planting plan. A vine or open - textured large - growing shrub or small tree will give an interesting pattern against a large unbroken, wall area. You may want a few evergreens to provide color in winter months, adds Miss Tarr.

When you've made a planting sketch that sets off your house nicely, then select the number and variety of plantings you'll need so that you can order your plants at once from a reliable nursery. Always plan carefully on paper before ordering plants.

Helpful Booklets

You can get some expert help from two illustrated 24-page Iowa State College bulletins prepared by Miss Tarr. "Your Farm Home Grounds," Pamphlet 207, is helpful in planning plantings for either a farm or city house. "Landscape Plants for Iowa," Pamphlet 212, gives detailed information on Iowa-hardy plants. There is a small charge for each. You can get them at your county extension office.

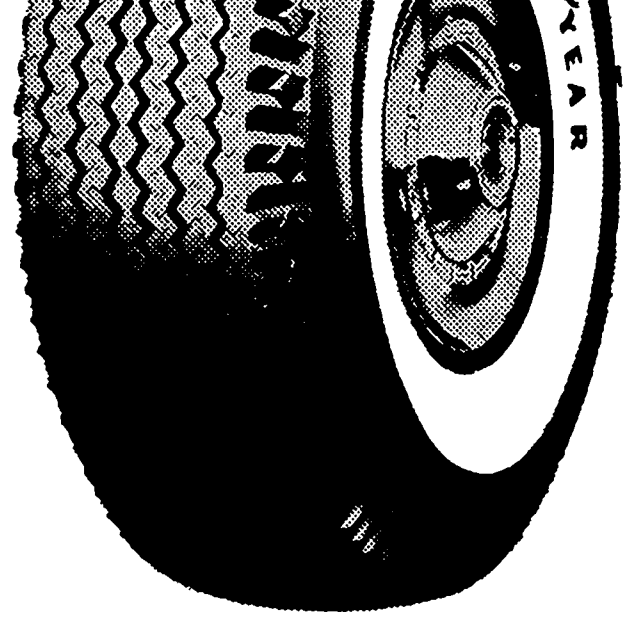
The tire sensation in 1953!
Now Goodyear announces still greater improvements!



New 1954 All-Nylon Cord Super-Cushion

Costs only a few dollars more than a standard tire!

No other tire at or near its price can match it!

1. Hits test curb at 55 mph! Not a cord broken! This is just one of the punishing tests this All-Nylon Cord Super-Cushion has taken! In fact impact blowouts are almost unheard of with All-Nylon Cord Super-Cushions.

2. Up to 12% more mileage! This mileage boost comes right on the heels of a 21% increase in 1953. Total . . . almost 1/3 more safe mileage than most motorists ever experienced before! That's a real saving in your driving costs.

3. Quieter ride! 15% greater traction! That squeal on turns has been practically eliminated by a new anti-vibration tread design. And this new tread has 1806 inches of non-skid edges, 880 deep-cut safety slots for 15% greater skid resistance.

Even more mileage than last year!
Quieter ride — less squeal on turns!
Much greater skid protection.

There's a big difference in Nylon cord!
Only Goodyear has Triple-Tempered 3-T Nylon!

Nylon is the best tire cord — if the stretch can be controlled. To control the stretch in Nylon cord, Goodyear has developed an exclusive process of chemically treating the cord and then putting it through a triple tempering process involving Tension, Temperature and Time. The result — Goodyear's Triple-Tempered 3-T Nylon Cord — the Nylon cord that is fully controlled at its point of maximum strength and resiliency.

Get your All-Nylon Cord Super-Cushions now

Prices of feeder cattle are higher now than we can except them to hold into the late spring and summer, Francis A. Kutish, Iowa State College Farm Economist believes. And they are considerably higher than we can expect if we should run into spreading drouth or a speed-up in the business softening now going on.

Cattle feeders have been making money on feeders bought last summer and fall. This increased the winter demand for feeder cattle. And in turn, Kutish points out, cattle feeders have bid up feeder prices to the point where present fat cattle prices will have to hold if feeders are to net even average profits on cattle now being bought.

Meanwhile, Kutish points out, we face larger sales of grass cattle this summer and fall than a year ago—and considerably larger sales if drouth should spread.

We have 6 percent more beef cows than a year ago. So our 1954 calf crop will be larger. We had slightly more calves on hand January 1, 1954 than a year earlier. So our supply of feeder yearlings next fall should be fully as large as last year. And it will be more bunched if the runs start later this year than they did last year. (Last year's runs started early and were spread throughout the year.)

We have fewer older grass steers than last year, however, says Kutish. But more cows will come to market.

Even the U. S. Department of Agriculture cannot see much change in the slaughter demand for grass cattle this summer and fall—and the USDA has been on the optimistic side of the cattle outlook. Last fall, packers were willing to buy the increased numbers of grass cattle only at lower prices. And Kutish says this picture hasn't changed.

We'll have more hogs in the last three or four months of 1954 than a year earlier. And we will have more beef in the last part of the year, too. Turkey growers plan to raise more turkeys. The boost in supplies of meat from spring to fall and early winter will be quite sharp, Kutish stresses.

So it all adds up to more than usual seasonal declines in grass cattle prices this summer and fall price for feeder calves by their bids for slaughter calves.

That's why Kutish believes delaying purchase of feeder cattle this spring and summer as long as possible looks wise under this circumstance. And he considers odds are slim for profits from buying cattle to go on grass this spring to sell as grass cattle next fall.

Fed cattle prices continue to chug along at about the same basis. Prices remain sensitive to supply changes, according to Francis Kutish, Iowa State College farm economist.

Cattle with finish are attracting a wider margin than in recent weeks. The premium on upper grade cattle is likely to hold in the next month or so.

We don't seem to have excessive numbers of well finished cattle. And tre business picture won't lump fast enough to affect the market in the near future. This puts cattle that can be finished out for their grade for the spring market in strong hands, Kutish says. Cattle that lack 30 to 45 days of being finished for their grade still predominate in the market.

The cattle feeding outlook for the latter part of the year is becoming clouded, however. Shipments of stocker and feeder cattle into the corn belt during January and February were 40 percent ahead of a year ago. Iowa feeders bought 72 percent more cattle in the first two months of this year. Nebraska feeders bought 72 percent more.

Eastern Corn Belt feeders made only a slight increase. But they were heavier buyers last fall.

Feeder cattle shipments from the main public markets continue heavy thus far in March.

Feeder cattle prices at Denver have dropped 50 cents to $1 below two or three weeks ago. The dust storms of the central and southern plains probably are the cause, Kutish believes.

The USDA has been very cautious about predicting lower prices for anything. The USDA's current Livestock and Meat Situation states that prices of feeder and stocker cattle probably will decline seasonally beginning sometime this spring. Iowa farmers with feeder cattle for sale should not overstay the current strong market.

Liberty Busy Bees Have All Day Meeting

The sewing machines buzzed all day as the Liberty Busy Bees held an all day meeting at the home of Patty Greiman, Saturday March 20.

The morning was spent putting bands on our skirts and putting in zippers.

Noon lunch, which consisted of food brought by the girls, was served by the hostess and her mother. After dinner, Patty Legge, our president, called the meeting to order. We chose Patty Greiman to be our queen for fun night. We discussed having physical exams and having our dental cards in our record books.

We decided to send visitors to Ell, Garfield and Twin Lake girls clubs and invite them to visit us. Fifteen of us will try to attend the music meeting at Goodell Saturday March 27.

The following program was then given:

Talk: "Be kind to Your Hands" Rosemary Josten.

Talk: "Personal Cleanliness and Daintiness", Barbara Hughes.

Talk: "Check up on Your Positive", Winola Zwald.

Demonstration: Putting in a zipper, Susan Haberkamp.

Demonstration: What is Staylining and Where to Use it, Virginia Baggs.

Demonstration: How to Pin a Pattern Correctly, JaNell Johnson.

Our leaders showed us how to lay out a blouse pattern correctly. Then each of us laid out our blouse patterns and cut them out. We are to do all the staylining and cut out interfacings before our next meeting. At the close of the meeting our hostess served apples and home made candy. Mrs Zwald, Mrs Stromer and Mrs Josten were the mothers who helped at this meeting.

Home Accidents Kill 450 Iowans

While the state's attention focused on traffic deaths last year, at least 450 Iowans died in accidents in their own homes, according to an estimate made Thursday by the Iowa chapter, American Institute of Architects.

O. H. Thorson of Waterloo, chapter president, said the estimate is based on the Iowa experience in home accidents during recent years.

"The surprising thing is that so many can die in preventable home accidents without a public reaction at least comparable to the outcry against traffic deaths," Thorson said.

He said fails cause the majority of deaths in home accidents and that at least half the fatal falls occur on stairs.

"Stairways should never be used for storage," he warned. "Lighting of stairs should be bright and directed to eliminate deceptive shadows. Hand rails should be used."

Thorson said planners and builders must be sure homes have adequate storage space, and that stairs are installed at the correct angle and measurements for maximum safety.

He named Gerald Griffith, Des Moines, to head a state-wide committee that will arrange the co-operation of Iowa architects in home safety campaigns.

"Because we are so closely associated with buildings in which people live and work, we feel such a program is our responsibility," Thorson said.

Naomi Circle

The Naomi Circle met at the home of Mrs Clarence Lemke on Thursday afternoon, March 25th. present, three guests and two There were sixteen members children.

Devotions and lesson were given by Mrs Orville Bridges. Mrs John Chambers entertained the group with an interesting talk about their trip to Florida.

After a short business session, refreshments were served by the hostess and co-hostess, Mrs. Lewis Neuberger.

Last Rites for C. C. Schaefer Held Tuesday

By Arthur Wellemeyer

Chris Schaefer died at his home in Marble Rock, Iowa, at 11:30 A. M. Saturday, April 3, 1954, after a two weeks' illness.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, April 6th at the Methodist Church in Marble Rock, with the pastor, Rev. Max Paige in charge. Mrs. Leo Stroud sang "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Beyond the Sunset" with Mrs. Andrew Carney at the organ. Burial was on the family lot, Klemme, Iowa.

Chris C. Schaefer was born August 23, 1870 on a farm near Lowell, Wisconsin, the eighth in a family of ten children born to his parents Christian and Mary (Schneider) Schaefer.

He was baptized and confirmed in the Methodist Church, attended the public schools and grew to manhood in Wisconsin.

In June, 1901, he was united in marriage to Emelia Lembgen at the home of her parents in Lowell. They located on a farm which he purchased in Liberty Township, west of Klemme. This union was blessed with four children: Emery, Alvin, Hilda and Doris.

After twenty years, the family circle was broken by two deaths, Alvin, age 16, died in 1920 and the mother in 1921.

In 1923, Mr. Schaefer married Mrs Tina Schaefer of Marble Rock, formerly Miss Tina Stahl of South Dakota. They continued to live on the farm near Klemme for one year; then moved to Marbel Rock, where they have since resided. Mr Schaefer remained active throughout his declining years, dairying and gardenng.

A marked characteristic of Mr Schafer's life was his tireless devotion to his church, in all its various branches of activity; serving as church treasurer for many years. His favorite Scripture reading was the book of St. John.

He reached the age of 83 years, 7 months and 10 days.

Mr Schaefer is survived by his wife, one son Emery of Forest City, Iowa; two daughters, Hilda (Mrs Floyd Wilson) of Rockford and Doris (Mrs Robert Hanson) of Kanawha; one step-daughter, Mrs Cecil Swant of Marble Rock; one brother, Edward Schaefer, age 92, of Klemme; two sisters, Lydia (Mrs John Schuler) in California, and Esther (Mrs Frank Schultz) of Garner. Also 11 grandchildren and 5 great grandchildren survive.

Infants Baptized

The sacrament of baptism was administered to six infants in the worship service on Sunday, April 4 at Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Cruch. Those baptized were Jacqueline Ray Christians, daughter of Mr and Mrs Raymond Christians; Diane Faye Hummel, daughter of Mr and Mrs Leland Hummel; Ramona Lea Lewis, daughter of Mr and Mrs Duard Lewis; of Humboldt, Iowa; Todd Christopher Osman, son of Mr and Mrs Glenn Osman; Elizabeth Irene Roths, daughter of Mr and Mrs Thomas Roths, Jr.; and Connie Jeane Schmidt, daughter of Mr and Mrs Luverne Schmidt.

Eastern Star

The Order of Eastern Star will meet next Tuesday, April 13, at 8:00 p. m. at the Masonic Temple at Garner. All members are urged to attend.

Voters Will Decide On Purchase of Farm West Of Klemme for Gravel

Hancock County voters will be requested to render their verdict on the proposed purchase of a 160 acre farm, located one and a half miles west of Klemme, for a source of gravel for road construction and maintenance surfacing.

Hancock county supervisors who recently obtained an option on this tract, are submitting the proposition at the Primary election on June 7, to comply with laws of Iowa relative to making such purchase.

Boards of supervisors have the power to purchase such land for gravel pit and if purchased only for the production of gravel are not bound by a financial limit imposed by law. But in this instance a part of this farm may not be used for gravel production and thus it is classified as real estate and the maximum expenditure without vote of the citizens approving such purchase is $10,000.

The tract, under option, has 100 acres underlaid with gravel of excellent quality to a depth of 50 feet or greater and will be a source of material for many years to come and to purchase it would result in a substantial saving over a period of years.

Taxpayers will not be assessed an extra levy to make this purchase and if same receive the Okay of the voters will be paid for from the Road Construction fund of the County, most of which comes from the county's share of the State gasline tax.

Gravel deposits in Hancock county are rapidly becoming exhausted and in some areas have been depleted completely making necessary long hauls that are necessary long hauls which are expensive. Conservation of surfacing material must be practiced as conservative estimates place the supply of gravel in Hancock county at 20 years. Blacktop and soil stablized roads are methods of conservation of materials but these also require some gravel, and are much more expensive to build, Some of this work is being contemplated at the present time on the more traveled roads.

Th tract under option will be leased for farming while gravel is being produced and such rentals will accrue to the County Road fund. More details on the proposed purchase will be published shortly.

Honored at Farewell

Mr and Mrs Albert Carolus were recently honored at a farewell when a group of twenty-seven came to their home for a social time. They were presented cash to buy something for their new home in Garner which they will move into soon. Their sons, Leroy and Harlan, will now operate the farm.

Light Vote Sees Directors Elected From All But One of 4 Townships

New Board Will Take Over On July First

The election for the naming of directors for the Klemme Community School District was held on Monday and saw just a few over one-third of the voters in the district turn out to cast their ballots. Of a possible 959 only 369 voted. The vote, though light, was fairly evenly distributed among the ten candidates for director and the one candidate for the office of treasurer.

Those elected as directors were Milvern Barz, Ell Township; Glen Lange, Twin Lake Township; Roy Arnold and Paul Kramer, Avery Township; and Asa Arnold, town of Klemme. Liberty Township failed to place a man on the board. Mrs. Stella Lemke was unopposed as a candidate for treasurer and received 331 votes.

School planners had hoped that there would be a director named from each of the four townships and one from the town of Klemme, but the voters apparently didn't see eye-to-eye with them. Although the two candidates from Liberty Township each carried a goodly number of votes, still neither of them carried strong enough to be elected. Consequently, two of the directors, Roy Arnold and Paul Kramer are from Avery Township.

On June 30th, the Klemme Independent School District will cease to be and all of the assets and all of the liabilities of the five districts that are part of the new district will become the property of the Klemme Community School District. This is what the new board will have to administer when they take over on July 1st.

Following is the way the votes were cast for directors in Monday's election:

For one year: Milvern Barz, 215; Glen Lange, 197; Mitchell Bock, 153; Harlan Nuehring, 136.

For two years: Roy Arnold, 214; Paul Kramer, 165; Kenneth Zwald, 149; Herman Meyer, 142.

For three years: Asa Arnold, 233; Donald Bacon, 107.

There were a few writein votes but not enough to show any organized attempt to elect anyone other than those on the ballot. Nine ballots were spoiled.

Manager of Local Exchange to Cresco

George Parkinson, who has been manager of the local exchange of the Central Iowa Telephone Company since Gilbert Jones was transferred some months ago, has been transferred to Cresco.

The company only recently purchased the Cresco-Elma exchange and the move comes as a promotion for Mr Parkinson. He stated that he hated to leave Klemme as the people here have been very cooperative. He expressed hope his new position would find him in a community as easy to get along in as Klemme has been.

A new manager for the local exchange has not as yet been appointed, but until one is, Mr Garman, who is manager of the Corwith exchange, will take care of emergency calls here.

KHS Athletes Honored at First Annual Banquet

Pictured above is a goodly portion of the large crowd in attendance at last Wednesday evening's Klemme Lions Club's first annual banquet. The food was delicious, the program was good, and everyone present enjoyed themselves immensely.

KEN KEW

Ken Kew of radio station KGLO, Mason City, who ably substituted for Bud Suter as master of ceremonies. He livened up the program with humorous sports stories.

The Klemme Lions Club's first annual athletic banquet, which was held last Wednesday evening at the high school gymnasium, has been pronounced a success by all who attended.

The dinner, served by the ladies of the Legion Auxiliary, was very tasty and they had decorated the tables in an attractive manner that featured various items of athletic equipment.

The members of the Garner High School basketball team were on hand as well as were the Klemme Shamrocks and Shamrockettes. The table for the Garner teams was decorated in red and black—their school colors.

Short talks were made by the various coaches, Supt. Stroh of Garner, and members of the local teams. Ken Kew kept things moving as master of ceremonies, and there were several musical numbers presented by local talent.

Highlight of the program was a talk by "Bucky" O'Connor, head basketball coach of Iowa University, and his presentation of a movie of this year's Iowa-Indiana game. He made the point that every person who participated in team sports was a better person for having done so.

"BUCKY" O'CONNOR

Feature Article

At our April 1 assembly program, our speaker was Mr Lyons of the Iowa Temperance Association. Mr Lyons began his speech by telling some of the incidents that he had seen happen to people who were under the influence of alcoholic beverages.

One incident that he had actually seen, happened as he and a friend were driving along the highway. They saw a man ahead of them who was driving with one hand and with the other was throwing empty cans out of the window. They followed him for quite a while just to see what he would do. When this guy started going from one side of the road to the other, Mr. Lyons and his friend decided they had cal police. After they had telephoned the police station, they better turn back and tell the lowent back and found the drunk man again.

Mr Lyons said, "When we reached him he had pulled off to the side of the road. He must have thought he could drink more beer if he could use both his hands."

Mr Lyons also showed us some of the ways the underworld carries narcotics. They sometimes conceal it in the heals of their shoes, in books, and in cards; also he had a suitcase full of some of the dfferent narcotics that are used, such as heroin, marijuana, morphine, and opium.

Mr Lyons had a long-stemmed pipe that the Korean's use to smoke opium. They first heat the opium by sticking it on one end of a wire and puting it over a fire. They hold it above the bowl of the pipe and inhale the fumes.

Mr Lyons also told us about the development of the brain, and how with only one drink of alcohol it will affect the brain and your reflexes. I'm sure everyone enjoyed Mr Lyons talk, for it was both interesting and educational.

Seventh Grade News

The music students who are in special groups have been very busy trying to get in as much practice as possible in preparation for the contest.

In the nine weeks spelling test Virginia Kudje, Jerry LaFavre, Cozette Lau, Roger Meints, Dorothy Roul, and Mardell Stadtlander earned a grade of A.

This week we learned how to find the area of trapezoids and circles.

In reading we studied Joyce Kilmer's well known poem, "Trees". Then we made pictures illustrating it. Some of them are very good.

In language we have been studying those troublesome verbs, lie and lay. The results of our efforts haven't been so bad.

In geography we are studying the mining industry throughout the world.

This and That Around K. H. S. - -

Dorothy K. seems to be missing a ring from her finger. It seems the owner was Larry Esk from Garner. Lyle P. or Gene W. couldn't be the reason, now could, they ? ? ?

It seems Lois and Marcia had a lot of fun at Career Day at Britt. I guess they were sitting beside Kenny Ruby from Crystal Lake. Is this right girls? And just who were those other boys you were talking too ? ? ?

Last Sunday afternoon, quite a few Methodist youth attended a youth rally at Forest City. Bob B. had a certain liking for white coats. This one girl just wouldn't look up would she Bob? Well, anyway we can't say you didn't try. I'm afriad you'll have to ask Shirley and Noel for the details of this, as they were along. Watch those white coats Bob.

Lois J. and Lois C. went to the Surf again. I wonder just what the attraction could be over there? Maybe they have found some "Secret Loves" they don't want to get out.

If you heard a new sound protruding from the band room on Monday morning, it was the new kettle drums. Man, are they sharp! ! ! !

I think we had better watch Winola and Ruthie. It seems on the way up to the rally at Forest City, Winola was riding with Bob, but on the way home, Ruthie was riding with Bob. What's the idea Bob? Are you trying to play the field? Watch out for Merlin! Don't worry, Merlin, it really isn't as bad as all that.

Well, I see now that Maynard is getting pretty popular with the girls. Which one is he really going with ? ? ? It it Dot K.? Rosalie R. or could it be another eighth grader ? ? ? Could you answer this, Maynard ?

What's this we hear about Lois Jacobs and the guy she met at the surf Saturday night? He lives a long way from Klemme. What's the matter, is Terry kind of losing out?

We heard that Dennis Ridder took Marlene W. to the show Saturday night. Could this be true.

Who's back together again? None other than Roger T. and Faye J. What happened to Carol, Roger? ? ?

Didn't I hear that Marlene B. wanted Gary Day to come out to her house last Sunday so she could drive his new convertible? Is it the car or is it Gary, Marlene ? ? ? ?

Lois C. was kind of jealous of Jo Ann Burgess at the surf Saturday night. Could it be because of a certain Algona guy, Lois?

Carol and Graydon are back together again. Did you get lonesome, Graydon?

It sure is too bad that Roger Lyons doesn't come to school anymore. Darlene E. sure is lonely. But Bueford is doing alright. Good luck, you two.

It seems that Gene Wilkinson and Eva Thiemann have been seen going together on Sunday nights. Eva wants to keep it a secret so that Larry doesn't get mad at her.

Music News

This week I should like to present to you the Woodwind Quintet which is another active group in our Music Department, planned to enjoy our concert more. The quintet is composed of five high school girls who are as follows: Jo Ann B., Gracka G. Carol B., Lois C., and Margaret H. The quintet has played for various other things such as Dr. Missman Day, etc. Perhaps you heard them then. So here they are: Our Woodwind Quintet who are saying "We'll see you at our Spring Concert on April 21". Plan to circle April 21 on your calender and attend the annual Spring Music Concert! !

If any of you kids have heard some extra jazzy music coming from the coop lately, it's probably that new song "South" we have. It seems the trombones really get goin'. I have a sneaking suspicion we might play "South" at our concert. So what ever type of music you like, I'm sure we can satisfy you at our Spring Concert!

It won't be long before marching band starts once again. . . The boom of the bass drum, the snares, and the cymbals will be heard every morning about 8:30 A. M. We hope to really step it off this year.

We'd like to say "Hat's Off" to the Girls' Sextette on their nice job at the Athletic Banquet. Also the same should be given Lois C. for her clarinet solo, and Ione and Gracka for their piano playing. You did swell, kids!

It seems the Auxiliary had music to work by on Wednesday afternoon, as we all were practicing like mad for contest. Maybe it helped, because they surely turned out a swell banquet.

MUSIC NOTES

Contest: At Britt this Friday, April 9.

Concert: April 21st.

Remember: White Shoes for our Spring Concert.

A FEW SQUEAKS

One of our clarinet players is really busy lately. It seems the baritone player and the sax player are both trying to go with her . . . It sure seems that one of them should win.

Did you know that there are three junior class rings in band? Well, you might say, that's not so funny. But, it seems the girls wearing the rings aren't juniors. What do you say to that?

ANNOUNCEMENT . . . . Next week, I will give you the ratings we earned at the contest at Britt, if they are out.

Lyle Goll King Candidate for Ell

The Ell Midgets elected Lyle Goll to represent them as King candidate at the Annual Fun Night during their regular meeting held at Lyle's home Monday night.

The meeting was called to order by president, Lavern Josten who also extended to the club an invitation from another club to a skating party on March 30.

Larry Thiemann gave a talk on "Grub Control". There was a discussion on "Handling Livestock to Prevent Bruises" led by the leaders. There was also a short discussion on "Dairy Cattle".

The 22 members present reported having interviewed 70 farmers about methods of loading livestock, dehorning cattle. insect, disease and parasite control on the farm and that they had taken orders for 73 canvas slappers from these farmers.

Reporter, Joyce Thiemann

It's hard to believe that TV time is an expensive as rumored, after seeing some of the programs produced.

Last year . . This year and for 14 straight years

MORE Farmers Have Planted DEKALB than ANY OTHER Seed Corn

In 1953 5038 Farmers averaged 101.16 bu. of DeKalb per Acre*

In 15 years 52,306 Farmers have averaged 99.04 bu. of DeKalb per acre

This year—because of acreage restrictions—RESULTS will count MOST. Every acre MUST produce MORE. The BEST GUIDE in choosing your seed, is to plant the Corn that is PERFORMANCE PROVED.

Last year, in DeKalb's Selected 5-Acre Corn Growing Contest, 5038 farmers averaged 101.16 bushels of DEKALB per acre. In 15 years of the Contest, 52,306 farmers have averaged 99.04 bushels per acre. These yields were made right on the farmers' own land—under many different soils and weather. They offer conclusive evidence of DEKALB's yielding ability—its outstanding adaptability—its year in and year out Dependability.

This Spring—every Spring—make sure of the seed you plant. Plant DEKALB.

*All yields made on selected 5-acre Contest Plots.

Petition Protests Police Radio in Hancock County

At a hearing held Monday afternoon a group of people from the Duncan vicinity met with Hancock County supervisors and Boyd Porter, State Police Radio Director, and voiced their objections to the erection of a police radio tower on the County Home Farm west of Garner. In accordance with the wish of the petitioners, the matter of the erection of a police radio tower at the Home has been dropped and the officials will attempt to find a new location on which to erect the twoer.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Initiation Service

Tuesday evening. April 6, the American Legion Auxiliary met at the home of Irma Sherwood with Margaret Thomas, her cohostess.

The treasurer reported that $5.00 has been sent to the Red Cross. More clothing has been sent to our assigned child. We decided to sent $1.00 for a canteen card for our sponsored child at Woodward.

Cora Schaefer gave a partial report of the Klemme Athletic Banquet, which the Auxiliary served March 31. 254 persons were served. She also reported that the Auxiliary is to serve a dinner to the County T. B. workers, April 12.

Following the business meeting, one new member. Rosa Larsen. was initiated. Flora Back was the installing officer with Leafy Coobs, Louise Etchen, Carrie Schwichtenberg, Nellie Arnold, Cora Schaefer and Neva Hartzell assisting.

The hostesses served a delicious lunch.

PINNED

When his automobile overturned, Gerald Reinhart, 16, of Cherokee county, spent an uncomfortable eight hours. He lay pinned beneath the machine, from midnight until eight o'clock in the morning.

Limit your day's driving to a comfortable pace and distance, the AAA Motor Club of Iowa urges motorists. Driving too far in a day wears out tempers and increases chances of accidents and mishaps.

Just as he was about to visit his sick wife, Peter Hames, 71, of Plymouth county died suddenly in the hospital. A few hours later, Mrs Hames passed away without knowing that her husband had preceded her.

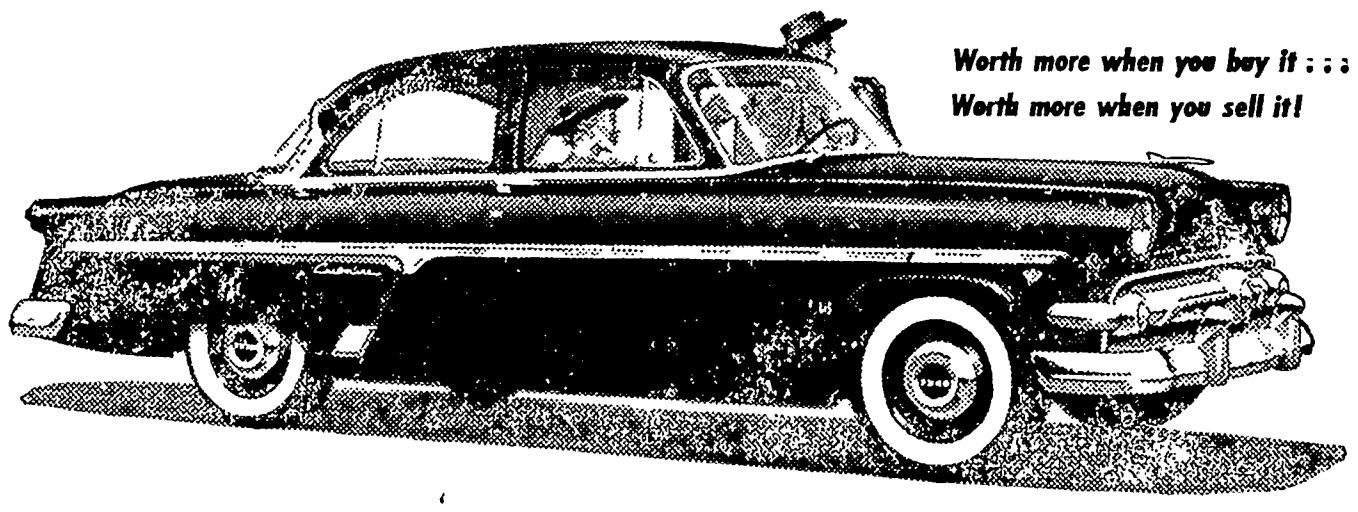
Why fine car buyers are swinging to Ford



Worth more when you buy it : : :
Worth more when you sell it!

A small price tag buys them one of America's truly fine cars. And here's how:

In the new '54 Ford, you get the same modern type of overhead-valve engine . . . the same road-hugging ride . . . the careful interior decorating . . . the same quality construction . . . and the same optional* power assists you'd expect to find in cars costing hundreds of dollars more. So why pay more? This is the question smart car buyers are asking themselves. And that is why you'll often find two Fords proudly parked in driveways where there used to be but one costly car!

*at extra cost

Take power:
Only Ford, among all low-priced cars, offers you a Y-block V-8 engine. Only Ford, in its field, offers an I-block Six. And both of these new deep-block engines are the most modern in the industry . . . with overhead valves, low-friction design, high-turbulence combustion chambers, and deep-block construction.

Take ride:
Ford's new Ball-Joint Front Suspension is the greatest advance in chassis design in 20 years. Your Ford not only steers easier, but will keep that "new car feel" far longer. And so many points of wear have been eliminated you have only 4 lubrication points in the entire front suspension system.

Take power assists*:
Fordomatic Drive is the only "automatic" in its field to combine the smoothness of a fluid torque converter and the "Go" of an automatic intermediate gear. And you can have Ford Master-Guide Power Steering, Swift Sure Power Brakes, power lifts on all four side windows and a 4-Way Power Seat.

Take a Test Drive . . . and you'll want to drive it home! FORD

Mr and Mrs Myles Sutter of Medford, Minnesota and Mr and Mrs Melford Aldrich of Shakopee, Minesota, spent the week in Klemme. They stayed at the Jonn Chambers home and were dinner guests Saturday at the Roy Jacobs home.

Jolly Workers Club

The Jolly Workers Club met at the home of Mae Blumer for their March meeting. All the members were present and we had an exchange of flower blubs for roll call.

The club is sending $1 to Mrs Roy Arnold for the Scholarship Fund and $2 to the Red Cross. The club bought some sheets and pillow cases for the Hayung family near Meservey as they lost their home by fire recently.

We hao a bake sale in March which proved to be a success. We thank everyone for their help.

Lois Schlicting and Marilyn Bachman gave a lesson on preparing fruits and vegetables for the deep freeze.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess with Lillie Pearson as co-hostesses.

The April meeting is to be at the nome of Verbell Gilpin with Maude Bachman co-hostess. Each member is to bring a fifty cent gift for their sunshine friend.

An overturned tractor claimed the life of Frank Hunt, 71 year old farmer of near DeSoto. Death was caused by a skull fracture

Mr and Mrs Myles Sutter of Medford Minnesota, and Mr and Mrs Melford Aldrich of Shakopee, Minnesota were Saturday supper guests at the Roy Arnold hom.

Edmund Josten left Tuesday for Sioux City where he is attending a school on the installation and care of natural gas heating units. He expects to return to Klemme on Friday.

Mr and Mrs Martin Karsjens, Jimmy and Ronald, and Kay Jacobs were supper guests at the Noreen Pearson home Sunday.

Mr and Mrs Merle Miller and sons of Goodell moved to the Owen Nuehring farm where Mr Miller is employed

Music Students Take Nine Firsts in Contest at Britt

Christ and Happy Easter

Let us follow him, the Good Shepard, as the sheep of his Flock! At this Joyous Easter time cast care aside and give thanks for the blessed gift of peace.

Church Group to Hold Easter Sunrise Breakfast

The Klemme-Liberty Methodist Fellowship will hold and Easter Sunrise Worship and Breakfast in the Klemme Church next Sunday morning at 6 o'cock. Held annually for the youth of the Klemme community, the youth groups of the Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church and the Methodist Church of Garner have been invited to atwill be Rev. Trevor Baskerville, tend this year. Guest speaker pastor of the Garner Methodist Church. Jo Ann Bacon is president of the sponsoring group Noel Egeland, chairman of the and will be assisted in the project by Marlene Blumer, chairman of the kitchen committee, dining room committee and Reverdy Mace, chairman of the worship committee.

Music Mothers

According to an annoucement by Mrs Don Bacon, president of the Music Mothers, there will be a meeting of that organization in the high school library at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Wednesday, April 21.

Mrs. Bacon stated that the organization is proud of the music students of the Klemme School for winning so many Group I ratings at the contest in Britt. She also reminds the public that the annual Spring Concert will be held next Wednesday evening, April 21, at the high school gym. It will feature a grade school band as well as the senior band. Music students participating in this event are reminded that they are to wear white hoes that evening.

NOTICE

It has been brought to our attention that due to a clause in the franchise of the Central Iowa Telephone Company, it is necessary to get a permit before digging in the streets and alleys of Klemme. Before you begin to dig in your gas line, you should consult with the Town Clerk and get the necessary permission.

Will Represent Klemme in State Contest at Perry April 30 and May 1

Klemme music students took up where they left off last year when they won nine Group I ratings at the music contest at Britt last Friday and Saturday. Last year, they had a high percentage of Group I ratings also.

In addition to the nine Group I ratings, local musicians won seven Group II ratings and one Group III rating.

This year marks the third straight year that instructor Charles D. Whitford had had a trombone quartet win a Group I rating at the contest. In addition to being proud of this accomplishment, Whitford is also proud of a woodwind trio and a brass quartet. Both groups are made up entirely of grade school pupils, and both groups won Group II ratings in the contest.

All those who were awarded Group I ratings at this contest will represent Klemme in the state contest at Perry. This contest will be held on April 30th and May 1st.

Following is a list of those with Group I, II and III ratings:

Crowd Out for Teacher's Hearing

Board Stands Pat On Original Decision

A large crowd was on hand at the highschool building Monday night as a public hearing was to hear the case of Mrs Noreen Barkema. Mrs Barkema is the third grade teacher in the Klemme School and alleged that she had been unfairly discharged from her position for the coming year.

For reasons not made public at the hearing, the board in their March meeting had decided not to renew Mrs Barkema's contract. Mrs Barkema, feeling that their action was unjust, demanded a public hearing.

At the start of the meeting attorney Templeton of Garner, who had been engaged by the school board for the hearing, annouced that the board would take the time to listen to any testimony regarding Mrs Barkema's case, would then go into a closed session and report their decision after this session.

The hearing, then proceeded in an orderly manner with Mrs Barkema's attorney questioning various people who were partisan to her cause. He then summed Mrs Barkema's grievance and the meeting was adjourned for the board to go into closed session and make a decision.

It was apparent from the decision that was rendered by the board that they thought their reasons for not renewing Mrs Barkema's contract were good, for they voted unanimously to uphold their original action.

After the announcement of their decision by attorney Templeton, it was assumed by many that the meeting was over and it was time to go home. However, some of Mrs Barkema's supporters stayed on and the board was subjected to an unpleasant half hour. Some of the more excitable of the hangers on made veiled threats to the board members, and called for the resignation of Supt. Ahrenkiel and most of the other teachers.

It was a trying time for the school board members and many of the faculty, but the board stuck to their guns. Mrs Barkema was not given a contract for the coming year.

Diane Johnson Wins Farm Bureau Scholarship

Miss Diane Johnson of Ventura has been awarded the Hancock County Farm Bureau Award. Eighteen girls are given this award in the state each year and are sponsored by the Farm Bureau Women's Committtee.

Diane is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Ernest Johnson who live on a 50 acre farm northeast of Miller. She has one sister, Gloria, who is 16, and one brother, Gordon, 11.

Diane will be graduated from the Ventura High School and plans to use her scholarship this fall at the Iowa State Teachers College in Cedar Falls. We wish Diane the very best of luck in her teaching.

Digging Begun For Natural Gas Lines

Workman began digging Monday preparatory to bringing natural gas to Klemme.

Peoples Natural Gas Co. has had two digging machines at work, and a crew of men hauling pipe and distributing it where it will be used.

W. H. Rosendahl, local man has had his ditcher in operation for the company and they have one of their own. The work has been progressing at a rapid rate.

It's bad enough to be a quitter. But it's worse to finish something you never should have started.

County Voters to Act on Courthouse Annex

Grand Jury Report Shows Need for More Vault Space

Hancock County Supervisors are faced with the problem of providing additional office and vault space at the courthouse. Important and irreplaceable records in the County Clerk's office are now exposed and have no protection from fire or the elements. The board of supervisors acting on recommendations of the 1953 grand jury of the September term and the 1954 grand jury of the March term, plan to submit the proposistion to the voters at the Primary election. The 1954 grand jury proposes an annex.

Quoting the report from the Grand Jury for the September 1953 term: "After a complete and thorough inspection of the Court House it is our considered opinion that more vault space is seriouly needed in some of the offices. Important and irreplaceable records in the Clerk's office are now exposed and have no protection from loss by fire and the elements. Although vault space in other offices has been adequate, such space will soon be exhausted, particularly in the Recorder's office and as hereinbefore stated the Clerk's records which should be safeguarded are now exposed. It is urgently recommended that the board of supervisors take such action as is necesary to provide additional vault space accommodating those first whose demands are most urgent and necessary. It is our suggestion that the board adopt a long range plan with the view in mind of integrating these improvements on the assumption that funds are not available to do all of the work necessary at one time and the proper additional improvements of a similiar nature will be needed and provided for in the future. It is our opinion that if some vault space is provided at the present time for the office or offices needing it most, that all county offices can plan and apportion present vault space in accordance with their needs".

This report was submitted by the folowing grand jurors: Gus Schulz, Hayfield; Stanley Boman, Forest City; A. R. Lewison, Kanawha; W. H. Lemke, Garner; Ed Frey, Corwith; Anson Avery, Goodell; and R. D. Hoadley, Kanawha.

The March term of the 1954 grand jury consisting of Minnie Baker, Britt; Harry Mewes, Kanawha; Clif Stewart, Crystal Lake; John Clement, Forest City; Mitchell Bock, Klemme; Edgar Mayhew, Goodell; and Lena Belle Bock, Garner filed the following comment with reference to additional space needed acting on the report of the September grand jury.

"The Grand Jury finds that the board of supervisors in and for Hancock County is taking action toward alleviating the difficulty mentioned in the report

It is our hope that no lines will be drawn as a result of the action taken at Monday night's hearing of the case of one of our grade school teachers. Unpleasant circumstances arise in many organizations and someone in authority has to make a decision. In this case it was the members of the school board. There job is a thankless one at best. We respect them for having the courage to do what they thought was best for the school . . . even though they knew there was considerable sentiment in opposition to their decision. We respect also the opinion of those who did not see eye-to-eye with the board. They worked for what they thought was right and for what they wanted to see done, and had the courage to get up in public in defense of their cause. It is unfortunate that there can be only one winner in a contest, but that is the case. We hope that both factions in this contest will forget about the incident and turn their efforts to cooperation for the betterment of the school and the community.

The H-bomb is no doubt a destructive weapon of a force and magnitude never before thought possible. It's use in a world conflict would seal the doom of large portion of the peoples of the earth and would bring about chaos from which no nation could expect to emerge victorious.

Despite these dire consequences, if the decision were up to us, we would sign no agreement with other world powers which would outlaw use of the bomb. We would make known our intentions to use it only as a retaliatory weapon and the decision as to the time and place of its use would be made by the leaders of our country.

It would appear to be a humane act for all countries to enter into an agreement forbidding use of the bomb . . . just as the non-use of poison gas seemed to be a humane act during World War II. The only trouble with an arrangement of this kind is that wars can still be started with the use of conventional weapons . . . and at an incalculable cost in lives and property.

We would like to see wars stopped, and it is our opinion that none but a maniac would court certain destruction for his country by provoking the use of the H-bomb.

We say, "keep the bomb and keep the liberty to make the decision as to when to put it to use." We think such an action will give reason for pause to any agressor who might be contemplating touching off another war.

James W. Richards, Secretary of the Iowa Petroleum Industries Committee, says that the state gasoline tax, which was imposed on April 16, 1925, produced $4,842,000 in its first full year. It now brings in about $40,050,000 annually. When this tax was first levied it amounted to twenty cents on a ten gallon purchase and there was no federal tax. Now a ten gallon purchase carries about fifty cents in state tax and twenty cents in federal tax, making a total of seventy cents paid every time you buy ten gallons of gas for the old jalopy.

Mr Richards says that with state gasoline tax and other highway revenues bringing in more every year—with road costs beginning to decline in various sections of the country—the taxpayers have every reason to expect that our program of highway improvement will continue at a high level and even be stepped up.

To this we add our sincere Amen!

We got a kick out of the following story regarding spring fever put out by the State University of Iowa News and Information Service:

The spring weather we've been having takes the snap right out of a fellow. But you're wasting your time (yawn) if you ask a doctor how to cure spring fever.

You'll get neither sympathy nor relief.

Take, for example, Dr. Chester I. Miller, head of the State University of Iowa's student health service. If anybody's going to catch spring fever, a student will. Textbooks and lectures just seem to spread the dread disease at this time of year.

And you'd think Dr. Miller, with a job such as his, would know what causes the disease and how to get rid of it.

But he hedges by saying it's in your head—though he knows full well that you can feel it in every bone in your tired body.

Furthermore, if you have some ideas of your own about the disease, don't tell your doctor. He'll tear down theories you've held all your life.

For instance, anybody in the southeastern part of the country knows that tea brewed from sassafras roots will thin out your blood in the springtime. A person can't get up much zip if he's carrying around his winter-weight corpuscles.

But Dr. Miller will simply relax, lean back in his chair, gaze out across the campus which is slowly turning green again and say:

"The consistency of your blood (yawn) is the same all year 'round."

Ask him about the advisability of taking a good spring tonic. What does he do? He asks what the tonic contains. Naturally, you don't know. But that isn't important. His answer is the same regardless, whether or not you know the formula.

"Even if, by coincidence, this so-called tonic contains something you need," he says, "the season has nothing to do with it. The same need probably could exist at any time."

"The subject is one that just makes a fellow tired (yaawwnn) to think about it. It's beyond the scope of modern medicine. It's a mysterious ailment that confuses at the same time it disables.

For example: You wake up. The sun is bright. You're suddenly overwhelmed with an awareness of spring, of freshness, of—above all—an energy to get out and get things done. You haven't felt so full of zing since this time last year.

Here the confusion enters. You drink a second cup of coffee and stare out the kitchen window. What a day! But while sitting there, a change sets in. You're not aware of it at the moment. (Yaawwnn.) It comes quietly and without warning. But when you push your chair back, the change is there.

You stretch. You yawn. You're still carried away with spring, but you also begin to feel that you'd like to be carried. What a wonderful day—to sleep.

And by mid morning (yaaawwwnnn), the disease is at its height. Every infected muscle rebels at the slightest signal from the brain to move.

Explain this to Dr. Miller. He gets up, stretches, yawns and says: "Just stay busy. Like I tell you, it's all in your head."

Doctors are smart people. But they've got a lot to learn about spring fever. Anybody who's ever had it knows that it's in your neck, your shoulders, your arms, your legs—and, oh, well, maybe your head too.
(Yaaawwwnnnnnnnnn.)

PARSNIP

At Monticello, Jim Waddick recently dug a 47-inch parsnip. He said it was 49 inches long when dug, but shrunk about two inches in drying.

4-H King And Queen Crowned

Crowning of the 4-H County Queen and King highlighted the 4-H Fun Night activiites held at the Garner Memorial Building Saturday April 3. Sally Jante, daughter of Mr and Mrs Elmer Jante of Garner member of the Garfield Lively Workers 4-H club was elected queen. The king elect was Gene Hall, son of Mr and Mrs Gilbert Hall of Britt, a member of the Erin Enterprisers.

The king and queen were crowned by the outgoing 1953 queen, Margaret Kelch and the king, Jerry Gray both of Magor Township. The 1954 queen was presented with a bracelet and the king a tie clasp.

The queen's attendants were Sharon Aitchison of the Boone Magor Pals and Faye Janssen of the Twin Lake Go Getters and the king's attendants were Mark Mary of the Garfield Sluggers and Dick Sloan of the Magor Mustangs.

Fun Night is an annuel 4-H festival for all members and friends.

Larry Langlitz and Frances Anderson, county 4-H vice presidents, were master and mistress of ceremonies. The county officers plan and conduct the fun niteactivities.

Party games and square dancing were the entertainment for the evening. Clarence Smith was the caller and Ernie Gerardi accompanied him on his accordion.

A lunch was served at the close of the evening. The refreshments were furnished by Roe's Super Value at cost to the county officers.

Music News

This last week before contest has been one mad rush and scramble. Getting those last minute practices in for Britt has proved quite a task.

Last Friday a recital was held in the gym, presenting the various solos, etc. going to contest. This gave us all a little practice playing before those audiences that always seem to scare us so. Well, we're off to Britt this Friday and Saturday, April 8 and 9. I hope we earn a lot of I ratings. (Flash) We won 9 number I ratings.

This week the limelight plays on the Mixed Chorus, who will sing at our annual Spring Concert, April 21. The chorus is singing a variety of songs including Spirituals, light, and religious songs The spotlight will fall on Gordon Beier as he takes the solo part in a very beautiful song, "Turtle Doves". This lovely Scottish song will take to your heart I'm sure. Plan now to attend our Annual Spring Concert in the gym at 8:00 P. M. on April 21. We'll be looking for you! Tickets go on sale soon.

You know there's hardly a better time to get started on an instrument that summer time, providing you're h o m e. Mr. Whitford gives lessons in the summer for just that purpose. Every year that seniors leave the band, there is a constant need for new players. Why not think it over? If you are interested in taking up a musical instrument, why not speak to Mr. Whitford, today.

FLASH! ! ! Two smacking brand new kettle drums have been added to the band. They plan to make their first appearance at the Spring Concert. . . Plan to come and hear and see our new drums. We won't tell you who is playing them. You can come and find out for yourself. Remember that date is April 21, for our Spring Concert.

MUSIC NOTES

Spring Concert April 21, 8:00 P. M. in the gym.

Remember white shoes for the concert.

Marching band will be starting soon.

"I wish I had enough money to buy an elephant."

"What on earth would you do with an elephant."

"Oh, I don't want an elephant, I just wish I had all that money".

Young Hunter (Boasting): Do you know that if you carry a white stick, a tiger won't attack you?

Old Hunter: True, but it all depends on how fast you carry it.

Boys' Sports

Since it has been too cold for much baseball we have been running. We are going to enter a track meet. We have a baseball game Monday, April 19, with Garner. 20 boys have gone out for baseball. Mostly we have been fielding and catching flies. We haven't had very long practice sessions as yet because it has been to cold. We are hoping it warms up some, so we can get on the diamond. We think the team will win a good per cent of their games. We have entered the Sectional. We are also going to have a conference baseball tournament between all the teams that were in the North Star Conference.

First Grade

Mrs Lester Neuberger was a visitor in our room last Thursday. Mrs M. L. Harson visited our room on Friday. She came to bring treats for Mary's seventh birthday.

The Cardinal reading group has finished their last basic reader for first grade, "Our New Friends." The Bluebird reading group will soon be finished with it, too. We will then read from some supplementary readers.

Easter will soon be here and we are all looking forward to it. Happy Easter everyone!

Third Grade

Harlan Langlitz returned his dental card this week We now have a total of 19 signed cards.

We have our bulletin boards designed for tulip time and birds.

In Science we started our booklet on familiar birds we would recognize in our community.

Charles Clayton visited our room for a few minutes Wednesday morning.

An eastern city-dweller went out west for a vacation. He stopped in a general store and asked the store keeper, "What's the deathrate around here?"

The oldtimer replied, "Same as back east, son, one to a person."

As the teacher showed his pay-check to the Economic class he asked if they all knew what it was. They all said yes. He asked if there was any questions and one boy in the front seat said, "Yeh, where do you work?"

Don't know why they call 'em slacks when there's never any slack in them.

Fourth Grade

Our class has been busy writing dog stories. Here are two of them.

THE DOG THAT GOT LOST

Once there was a dog named Brownie. He was about 14 years old. He was a shepard police dog.

Well, anyway, o n e night Brownie went off and hunted for rabbits. Yau see this night the master forgot to tie Brownie up. So he ran away. They lived in a forest and that is where he wondered off. He went deep into the woods. All of a sudden he thought he had better go back, but where was the house! He was lost.

By this time it was morning. At his house there was excitement, too. Everyone was looking for little Brownie, but no one could find him. They looked everywhere. You know I think they looked over every place at least ten times.

Finally night came and still no Brownie. Finally something was coming out of the bushes, and what do you think, there was Brownie wagging his tail. He had found his home!

After that night they never left Brownie untied again, but even if they would have forgotten, Brownie would have stayed close to home. He didn't think it very much fun to be lost.

CORKY'S TRICKS

Once my brother had a dog. Its name was Corky. Corky could do a lot of tricks. One was called "Go Get It" (at least that's what we called it). In this trick if you should drop something he would get it and brink it back.

Another trick was riding on the tractor. When my brother and I went to the field on the tractor, Corky would come with us. The funny thing was he balanced himself on the tractor hood.

Then there was another called "Going Through The Hoop". In this trick you would set a hoop on the ground. whirl the h o o p and Corky could go through.

Corky was a very nice dog,but he had one bad habit. He chased cars. One time Corky was chasing a car and got his head in front of the wheel and was hit.

We buried him by the river.

Tommy Burgess brought almost 1¼ gallons of maple sap to school. We boiled it last Monday and got about a half cup of syrup. We all had a taste of the good maple syrup.

Ruth Paxton joined our class last Wednesday. We now have an enrollment of twenty-two.

the Highway Story

IOWA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

If you've ever wondered what goes on in the minds of teen-age drivers, listen in on April 19. On that day, Iowa's youngsters will be speaking in a big voice from a big stage. They'll be talking about themselves and, incidentally, they probably will mention you.

The Governor's teen-age traffic safety conference will be held April 19 in the statehouse in Des Moines. Each school superintendent has been asked to appoint two student delegates from each high school to attend the meeting.

The attendance may range anywhere from 600 to 1,000 youngsters from all parts of Iowa. Out of that group should come a slightly different picture of the teen-age driver than we usually conjure up from accident headlines.

The kids have a problem to talk about—no question about it. Last year, 115 teen-agers were involved as drivers in fatal traffic accidents.

The hope of the conference is to transfer at least some of the responibility of solving that problem to the teen-agers themselves. Another hope is to send the youngsters home ready to take the lead in forming local teen-age safety groups.

Each Iowa community should be sure that its high school is represented. And most important, when the delegates return home, community groups should see that they are encouraged and supported in forming a teen-age safety club.

There is that distinct possibility, too, that the teen-agers in the coming conference will do some talking about you. Some preliminary soundings indicate that the youngsters take a dim view of some adult driving habits.

So, let's all listen in. Maybe we can learn something from the generation that sees us as something else than what we think we are.

About 9 out of 10 pedestrian fatalities are non-drivers, the AAA Motor Club of Iowa points out. The very young, the aged, and people not acquainted with automobile operation make up the vast majority of those killed in traffic. They depend on the motorist—see that their trust is not misplaced.

SERIOUS

15 year old Larry Dreyer of Burt is still in serious condition but is showing improvement, after a tractor rolled over on him.

A frequent cause of serious traffic accidents is failure to stay in line, the AAA Motor Club of Iowa points out. Don't straddle lanes, don't weave in traffic, and be sure to give clear signals.

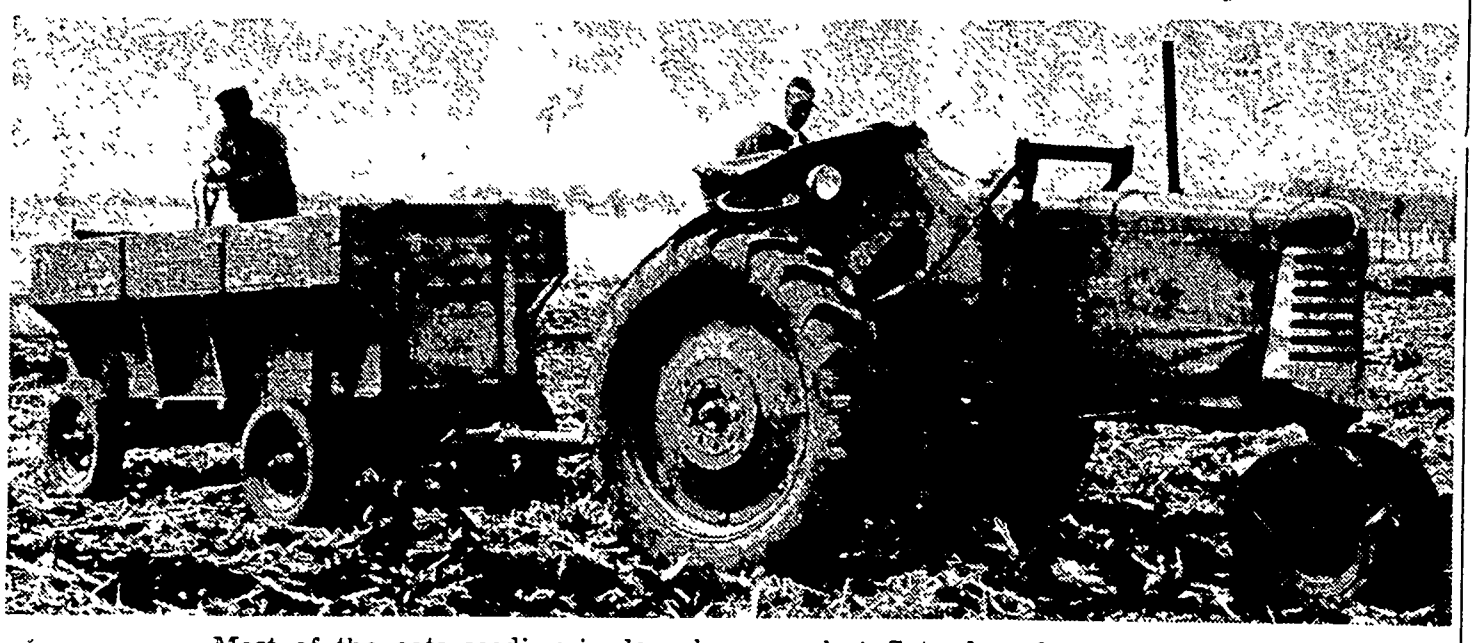
This and That Around K H. S. - - -

The Senior Class Play gives us all kind of gossip . . . Lois Jacobs was seen with Delwyn Brede after the play, it seems they went with Darlene and Duane. Dick B. is really making time with that new girl, Marlene W., Daisy and Edward were seen at Witke's at Clear Lake, and guess who was there too, none other than Don and Jo Ann, Carol and Rog. Of course, Ron and Kay were seen together at the play. These were the only ones I know of, but of course, Janice was with Gene, and Lois with Francis. Have I left out any Seniors?

It seems the one group in speech class can hear telephones ringing constanly.

Sure Sign of Spring



Most of the oats seeding is done by now, but Saturday, farmers were just getting nicely started. Shown above are Milvern Barz (in the wagon) and Mrs Barz (on the tractor). Like many other farm wives, Mrs Barz drives the tractor at seeding time so that her husband can take care of the seeder. The Barz farm joins the northeast corner of the town of Kelmme.

Pella Trip

Farm Bureau women of Hancock County are sponsoring a tour to Pella at tulip time. Bus fare for the trip will be $5.50, and any one wishing to go should have their money into the Farm Bureau office in Garner by May 1st. The trip will be made on May 14th.

Early Tulips

Mrs Walter Lemke has brought in the first tulip that we have seen this year. Mrs. Lemke discovered that the flowers were blooming today (Wednesday), and was surprised to see them so early. We might add that we were surprised, too.

A lot of fellers who complain about the boss being so dumb would be out of a job if the boss were any smarter.

East-Hancock County Cancer Kick-off

The Kick-off for the Hancock County Cancer drive will be held at Hull's Cafe in Garner Wed. afternoon, April 21st, starting at 1:30. The Cancer drive for the county will be held the last 10 days in April.

Miss Wanda Rex of Ames, field director for the Iowa division of the American Cancer Society will be present and will show the new Iowa film "One in Five." This will be the first showing of the film in Hancock County. Miss Rex is a graduate of Simpson College and Drake University and was on the faculty of Ames High School before accepting her present position of Field Director for the American Cancer Society.

All solciters for the Cancer drive are urged to be present for the kick-off.

NOTICE TO PATRONS

FELCO

We close our fiscal year the end of April and respectfully solicit your cooperation in bringing our accounts receivable to as low a figure as possible by the time we close the books on April 30th.

If you have an open account here at the Elevator, we would certainly appreciate your coming in and making payment within the next week or two.

We know that you are just as interested as we are in having your company issue a strong financial statement and, by getting accounts receivable down this month, it will help us toward that end.

We Thank You For All Past Favors

Stretch Your Home Furnishings Dollar—

Refinish Your Own Furniture

See if you can get a neighbor interested in your refinishing project. The job will go twice as fast and you can reciprocate by helping her redo a piece. Wear old clothes, protect work surface well with newspaper layers and follow directions carefully every step of the way.

The coming of spring causes many a homemaker to cast a critical eye around the house to ferret out major cleaning, repairing and reorganizing jobs demanding attention.

If your gaze falls on funriture with a weary shopworn look, you may start tussling with the budget to see if you can afford a few new pieces. But hold on—if you have any knack for do-it-yourself projects, you can refinish some of your old pieces to glow like new.

Appraise Furniture

Inspect each piece carefully to to see if it's worth refinishing, says Iowa State College Extension Home Furnishings Specialist June Brown.

Is the piece made of cherry, oak or another fine wood with some natural beauty and an interesting grain? Is it sturdy and well designed? Does its design fit well with other furniture in the room? If so, chances are it'll be worth your while to refinish.

Tpye of New Finish

Nowadays most good pieces are given a natural finish, using a penetrating wood sealer. This tpye of finish sinks down into the pores of the wood, is long-lasting, mellow and almost a part of the wood itself. Varnish and shellac, explains Mrs Brown, are just surface finishes and as such are more subject to scratching, marring and chipping.

You may want to stain your piece to match other furniture. If so, plan to use either a pigment, oil stain or penetrating oil stain. But dark and light woods can look very striking used together, adds Mrs Brown. Just be sure the pieces are similar in design and scale and that one type of wood predominates.

When to Paint

It may well be that you have several pieces that are not worth refinishing, either from the standpoint of original cost or design or because there are so many layers of old finish that you can't tell if the wood underneath has any natural beauty or not. If this is the case, your best bet may be to enamel it. You won't need to remove the old finish, which is the hardest part of the refinishing task. Just clean the piece and sand it smooth before painting.

Unfinished Furniture

If you have no pieces to refinish and are operating on a slim budget, you might be interested in buying some unfinished or unfinished knock-down furniture. Concentrate on good woods such as birch or maple, sturdiness and good design and give them a natural penetrating wood sealer finish. You can save a good deal of money this way, but don't expect as fine-quality pieces as good name-brand finished furniture. Furniture manufacturers estimate that the finish on a piece accounts for only about 3 percent of the total cost, so the main manufacturing cost-cutting on unfinished pieces is in the wood and workmanship.

Refinishing Booklet

Mrs Brown has prepared a 4-page booklet—"New Finishes for Old Furniture"—that gives step-by-step directions to help you with your finishing or refinishing project. You can get it free of charge at your county extension office or by writing to the Bulletin Office, Iowa State College, Ames.

of the 1953 September Grand Jury. The Grand Jury feels that adding on to the present buildwould result in a substantial exing would not be warranted and penditure with questionable benefit and would not satisfactorily solve the present condition with reference to vault space, The Grand Jury recommends that serious consideration be given to a Court House Annex to provide additional vault and office space. The vacated space in the present courthouse could then be used for additional vault space and if necessary office space. It is the Grand Jury's opinion that the conversion of the vacated office space in the present Court House could then be made with a reasonable expenditure of funds. It is the opinion of the Grand Jury that a Court House Annex and the conversion of the vacated space in the Old Court House would be a solution to having the facilities now needed this problem and would result in by the various county officers with the smallest possible expenditure."

In accordance with the recommendations of the Grand Jury the board of supervisors have engaged the firm of Thorson, Thorson and Madsen of Forest City and Waterloo, to prepare preliminary plans of a proposed annex to be presented to the voters at the June Primary. Detailed information wil be released through the columns of local newspapers shortly.

400 Teen-agers Sign For Traffic Conference

The teen-age traffic conference to be held at the state house in Des Moines Monday, April 19, will be the second largest meeting of its kind ever held in the country, the state safety department said Thursday.

More than 400 teen-agers representing some 200 Iowa high schools already have made advance registration to attend the conference, according to Pearl W. McMurry, safety commissioner.

The number is the largest enrollment for a teen-age conference with the single exception of a conference held in Colorado last year which was attended by 1,000 youngsters.

The Iowa conference has been called by Governor William S Beardsley in an attempt to increase teen-age responsibility for traffic safety and to stimulate the growth of teen-age safety clubs in communities throughout Iowa.

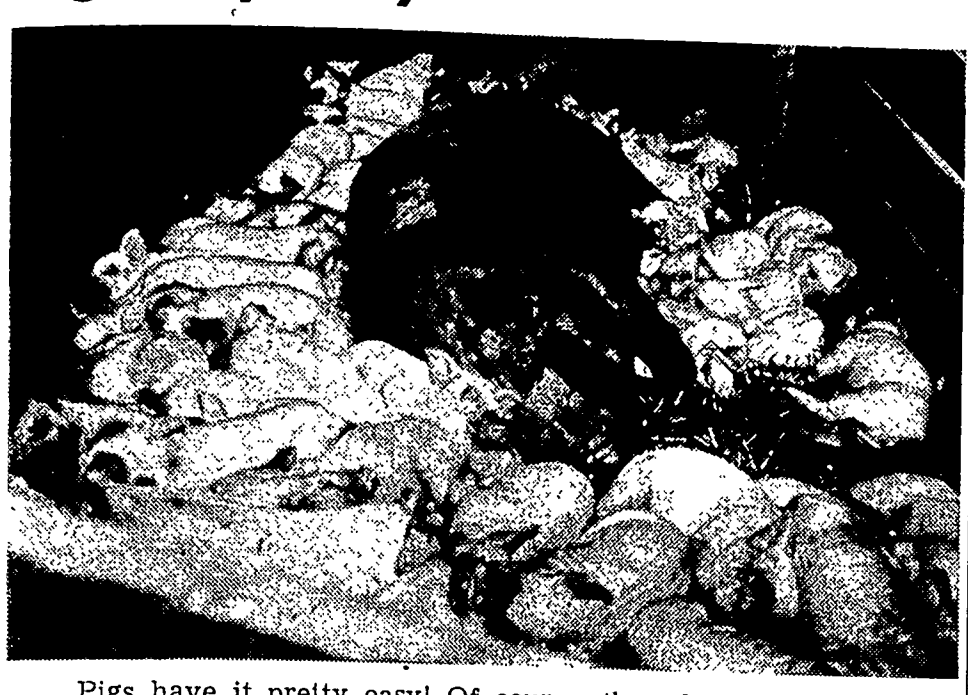
Beardsley has asked all public and parochial high schools in the state to send two teen-age delegates to the meeting.

The conference is the first program of the Governor's official traffic safety committee formed on the recommendation of Iowa delegates to the White House traffic conference held in Washington D. C., in February.

DIED

One of Chickasaw county's oldest residents passed away last week. He was George Denner, who came to Chickasaw county 93 years ago, and died at the age of 94.

Pigs A-plenty!



Pigs have it pretty easy! Of course, they don't live long, but while they are around getting ready to go to market, their life is pretty good. These were taking a mid-day snooze last Saturday at the Bob Hartzell farm a mile and a half west of Klemme. When they wake up all they have to do is eat, drink, put on pounds, and go back to sleep. Rough life!

Bob has 125 of these month-old spring pigs and is getting them started on creep feeding commerical pig starter. He plans to crowd them along and have them ready for an early market.

Incidentally, all those pigs don't belong to that one sow.

It was dinner time Saturday for these little fellows at the Everett Guth farm just north of town. Everett has 24 sows and they were just beginning to farrow. He likes to have his pigs come about this time of the year as the weather is warmer and they are less trouble to take care of. Besides, he says, "The oats are usually in and it's not time to plant corn so I have more time to spend with them."

Everett plans for about 165 pigs each year, starts them on rolled oats and commerical starter, then keeps them coming along without crowding them.

Twin Lake Go Getters

A meeting of the Twin Lake Go-Getters was held at the home of Marilyn Pals on April 10th. We pledged Allegiance to the Flag. Roll call was answered by 12 girls and 2 leaders to, "Name a Good Health Habit."

The minutes were read and corrected. We plan to send Miss Eliason a get well card.

Faye Janssen and Marcia Watne were picked for the Senior Demonstration team with Luanne Waage as alternate. Judy Eliason and Janet Lange are to be the Junior Team with Betty Louden as alternate.

The leaders read the manuscript for the year. Carol Kurtz and Patty Burke are to sing in the chorus at Rally Day.

Marcella Nuehring gave a demonstration on making and using a press cloth. Theresa Lowenberg and Marilyn Pals demonstrated different types of designs suitable for an individual.

Talks given were: "Courtesy on Chewing Gum", by Luanne Waage, "Buying Undergarments", by Betty Lauden, "Planting Glad Bulbs", Janet Lange; "Posture Improvement", Carol Kurtz; and "History" by Patty Burke.

The meeting was adjourned.

Reporter, Faye Janssen

Farm Bureau Sponsors Contest

The Hancock County Farm Bureau and the Women's Committee are cooperating in sponsoring a county letter writing contest for 4-H boys and girls, and Rural Youth groups.

The purpose of the contest will be to select the best letter written by a girl and boy on the subject "Why My Parents Should Vote". These letters must be in the county farm bureau office before April 21. The winning letters will be sent to the State Farm Bureau office by May 1st, where they will be judged by Farm Bureau Districts. The winning boy and girl and their club leader from each of the Farm Bureau districts will be brought to Des Moines to visit the Legislature, and other points of interest. Prizes will be given to the county winners. The winning letters will be published in the Spokesman.

There is also an Essay contest for Farm Bureau men and women. This contest consists of an essay of at least 500 words, or more on the subject "Citizenship Responsibility in a Democracy."

The county winners essay will also be sent to the State Farm Bureau Office before May 1st. These will be judged and a winner chosen from each district. These essays are to be in the county office by April 21. There will be a prize for the winning essay in the county.

Why don't you hurry and send in your letter or essay today? Why not be the club to send in the most letters?

Twelve Confirmed at E & R Church Sunday

The Confirmation Class of 1954 was presented and examined on the Heidelberg Catechism in the worship service at Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church on Sunday, April 11. This group of twelve young people will be received into the fellowship of the church through the rite of Christian Confirmation on Good Friday, April 16 at 10:00 A. M. The following persons are members of the class: Gary Virgene Baack, Martin J. Brinkman, Beverly Ann Christiance, Herbert R. Greiman, Walter Calvin Henschen, LaVohn Eileen Josten, Marvin H. Josten, Jimmy Martin Karsjens, Sharleen Kay Swanson, Eva Mae Thiemann, Larry D. Thiemann, and Gene Walding Wilkinson. The community and friends of the congregation are cordially invited to attend this service.

Baptisms at Klemme and Liberty Churches On Palm Sunday

The Sacrament of Baptism and the Reception of Members were a part of the Palm Sunday services in the Klemme-Liberty Churches. Presented for baptism at the Klemme service were Mary Beth Bruhl, daughter of Mr and Mrs Merle B. Bruhl and Carolyn Emma Jernagen, daughter of Mr and Mrs Robert W. Jernagen. Baptized at the Liberty Church was Robert Foch Boren II, the son of Mr and Mrs Robert F. Boren.

Received as new members of the Klemme congrgation were Mr and Merle Bruhl, Mr and Mrs Robert Jernegan, Mr and Mrs Worthie Usher, Mrs Ruth Whitford and Mr. Charles Whitford. Received into the membership of the Libetry Church were Mr and Mrs Robert F. Boren.

Progressive Dinner Party

The Young People's Bible Class of the Evangelical and Reformed Church had an unusal party Monday evening. There were twenty-five members that took part in the Progressive Dinner Party.

We went to a different home for each course of the meal. We had our appetizer at Rev. Jaberg's home, next we went to Mrs Myrtle Jacobs for the salad, which was made to look like an Easter bunny. The main course was at the Church basement and was prepared by the mothers. For our dessert we went to Ernest Gerardi's. We then went to the Dulmes home and played games and had a light lunch.

I'm sure everybody enjoyed themselves, and we would like to thank the mothers for preparing the excellent dinner.

Volunteers

The following registrants of Hancock County volunteered for induction and were delivered at the Armed Forces Examining and Induction Station on 12 April 1954:

Clarence Phillip Stupka, Garner, Iowa; Leonard Leo Rotschafer, Britt, Iowa; and Donald James Schutjer, Britt, Iowa.

Visiting around Iowa

by Joe Marsh

Variety, Iowa Brand

Last winter's dry spell started quite an argument down at the store. So, to decide things, Ed Peters checked with the weather bureau — and here is what he came up with:

Iowa actually averages 30 inches of snow per year, 32 inches of rain. Temperatures—winter 22.6, spring 48.6, summer 72.6, fall 51.6.

Nice variety! And we have that same pleasant variety in just about everything else here in Iowa —city or country living, recreation, types of food, everything! And, most important, we can choose the ones we prefer, reject the ones we don't.

That even goes for such things as Cousin Al's liking for Scandinavian-type cooking and his pot of coffee on the stove—or my liking to have a few bottles of beer in the ice box, or Ed's preference for his cup of tea.

Variety is, indeed, the spice of life. We have lots of variety here in Iowa . . . and the privilege of choosing what we prefer is the magic key to it all.

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | KLEMME, IOWA, APRIL 21, 1954 | VOLUME 59 | NUMBER 17

To Be Married

Mr and Mrs John C. Schwartz of Boonville, Missouri, announce the engagement of their daughter, Janice, of Kansas City, Missouri, to Dean A. Merkel of Kansas City, Missouri., son of Mrs Ralph Finnicum of Gowrie, Iowa, an the late Alfred Merkel.

Miss Schwartz graduated from SS. Peter and Paul High School with the class of 1950. She is now employed as a key punch operator with Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co., in Kansas City, Missouri.

Mr Merkel graduated from the Klemme High School of Klemme, Iowa, with the class of 1943. He attended Waldorf College in Forest City, Iowa where he holds an Associate of Commerce Degree and also attended Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa. He is now employed as an accountant with the Skelly Oil Co., in Kansas City.

A June wedding is being planned.

Employment Service Offers Free Services

The Iowa State Employment Service urges everyone to take advantage of the many free services offered them in the Klemme area, said John Schaal, farm placement representative of the State Employment Service. Schaal cited the example of Mr Marvin G. Lemke at the Klemme Co-op Grain Company who is donating his time and efforts in cooperation with the employment service to help the farmers and farm hands of this community and surrounding area solve their employment problems. The Iowa State Employment Service maintains a close contact with Mr Lemke in order to more effectively increase the services to the people of Klemme and surrounding area. Mr Lemke furnishes his services without pay for the good of his community, and acts as a clearing house for local available labor. He keeps in contact with local day workers, permament hands who wish to find different jobs, and farmers who wish to find help. Mr Lemke receives regular information from the Mason City office of the Iowa State Employment Service about persons in neighboring communities who are seeking help or workers, Schaal said.

Schaal urged all interested persons in and around Klemme to contact Mr Marvin G. Lemke at the Klemme Co-op Grain Co. for employment information.

Father Dies

James Carlson received word Saturday evening that his father had passed away at Ingram, Wisconsin. The Carlson family left Monday to attend the funeral which was held Tuesday afternoon. Mr Carlson was 83 years old.

Beer Stealing Episode Results In 6 Months Probation For Youths

Youhtful enthusiasm plus being in the wrong place at the right time, got five Klemme high school students into trouble Saturday night.

The boys were playing pool in Fred's Place, which is against a poorly enforced state law—minors are not allowed in pool halls—when somehow they got the idea that it would be fun to steal a 6-pak of beer from a conveniently located storage cooler. They accomplished their mission, but were spotted in the act, and apprehended.

They, along with their parents, appeared before Mayor Cook Monday evening. No fines were assessed nor were any jail sentences imposed, but four of the boys were placed on probation and paroled to Rev. Egeland, and the fifth was placed on probation and paroled to Rev. Jaberg.

The probation period is to last for 6 months, which means that the boys are going to have to tend strictly to business until sometime in September.

Fred Aegerter, proprietor of Fred's Place, appeared before Mayor Cook this morning (Wednesday) and was fined $25.00 and costs for allowing minors in a pool hall, contrary to state law and city ordinance No. 11. $20.00 of Mr Aegerter's fine was suspended.

In addition, Mr Aegerter was told to place prominently located signs about his place of business bearing the legend, "No Minors Allowed". and Mayor Cook stated that from now on ordinance No. 11 would be strictly enforced.

Utility Pays $8.00 Taxes Each Minute

Iowa Electric Light & Power Company, the utility which furnishes electricity to Klemme and many other towns in the state, pays a lot of taxes.

Taxes for the year amounted to $4,183,105.00. Broken down this would amount to $348,592.00 per month; $80,444.00 per week; $11,460.00 per day; $478.00 per hour; and $8.00 per minute.

That is a considerable sum of money to pay out for the privilege of being in business.

Good Neighbors

Friends and relatives gathered at the Robert Roths home Tuesday morning, and in four and a half hour plowed and drug some 40 acres. Mr Roths entered Mercy Hospital at Mason City today (Wednesday) and is to submit to major surgery.

Those who helped with the field work were Melvin Buseman, Francis Buseman, Lester Buseman, Franklyn Buseman, Art Schlawin, Burr Church, Ed Green, Albert Ausborn, Verner Nelson, and Delbert Bachman.

The men had five 3-bottom plows and five 2-bottom plows at work, and one round made quite a difference in the appearance of the field.

Pre-School Enrollment

There will be a meeting in the Klemme Grade School basement on May 7th at 1 :30 P. M. for all parents who will have a child entering Kindergarten next year. The child must be five years of age on or before November 15, 1954. Miss Helen Lemke, the County Nurse and Mrs Isabelle Lemke will conduct the meeting. All parents who have a child to enter Kindergarten next year are urged to attend.

Jurgemeyer Herd 3rd High In County

Dairy cows tested in the Hancock Dairy Herd Improvement Association last year average 10,627 pounds of milk containing 418 pounds of butterfat per cow. This is practically double the average production reported for all cows in Iowa and means that the herds of this dairyman are far more efficient than the average Iowa herd.

This fat was brought out in the annual summary of production records of cows tested in the the Hancock DHIA. At their record analysis meeting held, April 13 at Garner, association members compared the records of their herds for the results of feeding according to production, careful culling in the herd and other dairy practices they follow in the DHIA program.

The herd of Holstein owned by Fred Rasmussen of Wesley, Iowa recorded the highest average production per cows, 14,176 pounds of milk and 532.9 pounds of butterfat. The next highest ranking herd was Holstein owned by Fern Huling and Son of Britt, Iowa, which averaged 14,-215 pounds of milk and 519.7 pounds of butterfat per cow. Brown Swiss owned by Alfred W. Jurgemeyer of Ventura, Iowa ranked third with average production of 10,475 pounds of milk and 455.5 pounds of butterfat per cow.

A comparison of the five high herds in the association with the five low herds show the following differences. The average production per cow in the high herds was 12,026 pounds of milk and 481.3 pounds of fat: in the low herds, average production was 8,065 pounds milk and 365.3 pounds fat.

In both groups of herds the largest cost item was the feed bill. The average cost per cow in the high herds was $164, while it was $127 in the low group.

Archery Shoot

The Klemme Archers Club is going to be host Sunday afternoon at a shoot at the local court. All members of the club and anyone else who is interested is invited to attend. There will be prizes awarded to contestants.

The local court is located on the Wm. Greiman farm, 3 miles scuth and a mile west of Klemme.

Girl from Phillipines Spends Easter Here

Misses Novella Bredbenner and Mercedes Magsarili, both graduate students at Iowa State Teachers College, spent the week end in Klemme with the former's mother Mrs Martha Bredbenner. Miss Magsarili, from Manila, in the Phillippines, is in the United states for study in the Business Education Department of I. S. T. C. She is developing a plan for teaching Retail Merchandising in the high schools in Manila.

This past week end Miss Magsarili was introduced to the Easters customs of the U. S. and to life in a small Iowa town. Sunday morning she attended her first Sunrise Easter service.

Miss Magsarili, Martha and Novella Bredbenner, Lynette Veldhouse and Mrs John Chambers were Easter Sunday dinner guests at the Roy Arnold home.

Farming in the Phillipines is quite different than in Iowa, so Sunday afternoon Miss Magsarili was taken on a tour of the Arnold farm. Roy Arnold proved to be a fine guide. This was Miss Magsarili's first trip to a farm.

Neighbors Put In Oats for Busse

Last Wednesday a group of neighbors gathered at the Henry Busse home and put in 33 acres of oats for them. Mr Busse is recuperating from an operation and is unable to do field work at this time.

Those who helped were Lewis Stahl, Murl Miller, Virgil Cook, Dale Shelton, Bill Sandrey and Virgil Stahl.

Mrs Shelton and Janet Stahl helped Mrs Busse with the dinner.

Mr and Mrs Busse again extend their sincere thanks to these good neighbors and this act of kindness shall never be forgotten.

American Cancer Society 1954 Scholarship Winner

Miss Karen Hoover of Corwith, daughter of Mr and Mrs Luverne Hoover is one of a group of 50 winner who were elected from 103 applicants in a state-wide competition for three-year nurses' scholarship awarded by the Iowa division of the American Cancer Society. She will be graduated from Corwith High School this spring, and intends to take her training at Iowa Methodist Hospital in Des Moines.

The awards grant tuition, fees, books uniforms for three years of nurses' training (but not to exceed $500), beginning this fall at any accredited school of nursing in Iowa chosen by the recipients.

Primary considerations in the selections were: rank in the upper third of class scholastically; satisfactorily results in pre-nursing tests and acceptance by accredited Iowa nursing school; need of financial assistance; and personal qualities essential to becoming a good nurse as attested by character references. In accepting the scholarships all must agree to finish their training unless prevented by sickness, not to marry while in training, and to practice their profession in Iowa for two years immediately following their graduation.

First in the nation to set up such a program, the Iowa division now has 137 nurse trainees from 67 counties attending 23 nursing schools in Iowa. In addition, 79 nurses granted scholarships in 1949 and 1950 have graduated, and are now practicing their profession in Iowa. Aimed at relieving the critical nursing shortage in Iowa, the scholarships are part of a long range program to expand the Society's service for needy cancer patients.

Shamrocks Entered In Conference Track Meet

The North Star Conference will hold its first track meet at the Mason City High School field on Tuesday, April 27, at 3:30 P. M. The conference, in its first year, is taking this step toward a more rounded athletic program. Ribbons will be awarded to participants who finish in one of the first five places in the various events.

Klemme will enter fifteen boys in the meet at Mason City. They have been working out for the past three weeks under the coaching of "Bill" Westberg and Francis Johnson. Events in which the Shamrocks will be entered include the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, 440 yard dash, mile run, high jump, and various relay events.

A good group of supporters won't hurt the chances of the locals in the conference meet, and those who attend will be in for some interesting events. A track meet is just like a three-ring circus. Something going on all the time.

Attend Guild Meeting At Waukon, Tuesday

The Northeast Iowa Regional Women's Guild meeting was held at Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church in Waukon on Tuesday April 20. The theme of the meeting was "Jesus Christ—the Hope of the World".

The meeting began at 10:00 A. M. and concluded at 4:00 P. M. The principal speaker was Dr. Theophilus Hilgeman, Professor of Church History at Mission House Seminary.

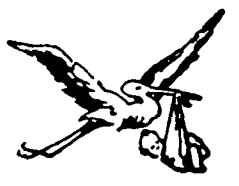
The following persons represented Immanuel Church of Klemme at this meeting: Mrs Menno Albers, Mrs Howard Baack, Mrs Edwin Thiemann, Mrs Don Christiance, Mrs Ed Christians, Mrs Walter Rosendahl, Mrs Carl Willie, Mrs Leslie Hartbeck and Rev. Jaberg.

Auxiliary Meetings

The Hancock County meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held at Kanawha at 2:00 P. M. on the afternoon of Tuesday, April 27.

Spring Conference for the Auxiliary will be at the Denison High School auditorium on Tuesday, April 29.

Stork Club



Mr and Mrs Harlan Stille of Mason City are the parents of a baby girl born April 19th at the Mercy Hospital. She weighed 6 pounds, 13 ounces, The Stilles also have two boys in their family.

Relatives have received the announcement of the birth of a boy, William Robert, born April 16th, to Mr and Mrs Robert Bachman of Chico, California. The baby has two sisters, Joice and Kathy to welcome him.

Mr and Mrs Harold Stromer are the parents of an eight pound, nine ounce baby boy born at the Belmond Hospital last Thursday, April 15th. The boy is the second child for the Stromers as they already had a girl in the family. Mrs Stromer and the new boy arrived home from the hospital Tuesday.

Pig Pre-Starter Holds Big Promise

May Cause Changes In Swine Industry

A new dry baby pig feed, called Pre-Starter "75," that makes it possible to wean pigs at 7 days of age or a minimum of 5 pounds in weight is being viewed at Iowa State College this spring as the forerunner of widespread new developments in the swine industry.

Iowa State College tests show pigs started on Pre-Starter "75" for 1 week and then one of your best pig starters weigh as much or more at 5 weeks of age and are about 10 pounds heavier at 8 weeks of age than sow-raised pigs creep-fed the best pig starter.

Damon Catron, in charge of swine nutrition research at the college, says this new pre-starter enables a hog producer who uses good management practices to take full advantage of farrowing stalls and other modern practices to reduce pig losses and increase profits.

Savings

At present prices, Catron says, you save as much as $3.50 per pig compared with raising a pig on a sow, and you get the pig to market weight sooner. The saving in cost includes saving in feed, the value of the extra pork production and the saving in sow weight normally lost during lactation. Besides, the sow can be rebred earlier. Producers with multiple farrowings will need 20 to 30 percent fewer sows to produce the same number of pigs during a year.

The formula for Pre-Starter "75" is complex and must be carefully blended, Catron says. He expects feed manufacturers to be offering this type of pre-starter soon. However, you can get the formula through your county extension director or by writing to Swine Nutrition, Animal Husbandry Department, Iowa State College.

Important Development

Catron, who also pioneered the development of the animal protein factor in swine feeds, antibiotics, vitamins and research on new protein levels in pig feeds, described the new dry pre-starter as "one of the most important developments in baby pig nutrition."

If you decide to wean pigs early, Catron points out, you must have good housing, equipment and management. Requirements are similar to successful chick brooding.

Baby pigs must be kept warm and dry. Provide plenty of feeder space for pre-starter and clean, fresh water at all times. Do not overcrowd.

Don't wean pigs at less than 5 pounds. Some producers may find it best to wait until pigs weigh 8 to 10 pounds before weaning under their conditions. Weaning weight depends on adequacy of housing and equipment, facilities for keeping pigs warm, disease level and skill of management.

As for its implications for the swine industry, Catron forsees these prospects:

1. It offers a new lease on profits to the pig hatchery business through offering a means of practical early weaning.
2. It should speed up advancement in all fields of swine research. The breeder now can pay more attention to litter size and less to milk production from his sows. The nutritionists can more accurately study nutritional requirements of baby pigs.
3. It offers new opportunities in designing future farrowing stalls and pig nurseries.

$2,065 In Prizes for Hog Men at Fair

A record-breaking National Swine Show as one feature of the Centennial of the Iowa State Fair here, August 28 to September 6, was reported in the planning stage today by L. B. Cunningham, Secretary.

"Every major breed will be represented in the show which will offer nearly $20,000 in premiums to swine breeders," Cunningham said. Breed associations are offering additional awards to boost prizes still higher.

This year the Centennial State Fair is offering breeding class swine premiums of $2,065 each in the following breeds: Poland China, Spotted Poland China, Duroc, Chester White, Hampshire, and Berkshire. Hereford, Tamworth, and Yorkshire breed premiums are $865 each.

A new departure in this year's show is the elimination of the Pens of Three classification in the market barrow competition.

Cunningham said the prize money formerly awarded in this classification will be divided among winners in the remaining groups, so that many winners in this year's barrow competition may expect larger cash premiums.

Premiums in the market barrow competition total nearly $5,000 and junior exhibitors in the 4-H and FFA swine shows will compete for premiums totaling more than $6,000.

Entries in all classifications close August 1. H. M. Duncan of Columbus Junction is superintendent. Rules and entry blanks may be obtained by writing the Secretary, Iowa State Fair, Des Moines.

EXPERIENCE

Firemen at Glenwood added a new wrinkle to their lives recently; they were called out to help capture a parakeet that had gotten loose. The firemen tried with nets and ladders, but the parakeet got away.

RADIO TOWER

Crime got an unexpected boost from television in Hancock county recently. A number of farm residents protested the erection of a short-wave radio tower, near Garner. The petitioners said the tower would interfere with television.

Feature Article

The Klemme Band Queen for 1954 is Miss Jo Ann Bacon, commonly known as "Jo" or "Shorty". Blonde haired Jo Ann tips the scales at ninety-eight pounds, but she prefers to say that she weighs a hundred. The song "Five Foot Two, Eyes of Blue" describes "Jo" perfectly.

A typical school day for Jo Ann starts with band at eight-thirty where she plays the flute.

At eleven-forty it is time to go down and practice in the Girls' Trio in which she sings soprano.

During basketball season she had a hard time finding time to practice her cheerleading. At two-forty she is out in the band room again singing in chorus or else working on the school annual. Jo Ann writes band news in the school paper.

In case the seniors have a class meeting, "Jo" our president presides over it. Jo Ann's after school hours are spent working at the telephone office. During the week she goes to Rainbow, Methodist Youth Federation or G. S. C. S., of which she is president. She also plays the organ for church, and sings in the church choir.

With all the activities and her personality. I'm sure Jo Ann is an excellent representative for Klemme, and we hope she will be the 1954 North Iowa Band Queen

Last Tuesday morning, Mr James Welty, graduate of Northwestern University, gave an unusual and interesting assembly program.

Mr Welty, who has played the piano since he was five years old, worked his way through college by giving piano concerts and having his own radio program. He has recently made films which will be shown over the NBC television network. He began his program by playing themes from different piano Concerto's by Greig. Next he played "Maleguena". Then he imitated a Victor Borge program which was very amusing and entertaining. Mr Welty conculded his program by playing "Clair de Lune" and "Jealousie".

Everyone enjoyed his program very much.

Betty: "We met at a picnic. I couldn't help noticing him. Every time I looked at him, he was eating a hot dog and starring at me."

Pam: "Maybe you had the mustard".

Boys' Sports

Our first baseball game was played at Garner on Monday April 12. Thiemann was the pitcher and Jacobs catcher. Theimann led off the batting and beat out a bunt, but he was called out trying to steal second. Waddingham walked and Terhufen popped up to the third baseman. Barz was picked off second after Ridder got a single to rightfield. Garner got one run in the first inning. Jass pitched for Garner and Niemeyer caught.

In the sceond inning, Dulmes flyed out to rightfield; Brinkman grounded out to the pitcher; and Haelner stuck out. Garner was immediately.

Klemme scored the most of their runs in the top of the third, when the complete batting order performed. Jacobs walked; Thiemann walked; Waddingham struck out; Terhufen got a double; Barz doubled; Ridder got on with an error; Dulmes flyed out to third; Haefner hit; Brinkman popped out to first to end the inning with four runs scored and Klemme leading 4 to 1. Garner scored no runs in the bottom of the third.

The fourth was started with Jacobs getting on with an error, but he was thrown out from centerfield when he didn't tag up on a caught fly off the bat of Thiemann. Waddingham got on with four balls, but he was out when Terhufen hit into a fielder's choice. Garner racked up two more in the bottom of the fourth to make the tally 6 to 3 in Klemme's favor.

The fifth started with an out to first; Ridder was called out on strikes; Dulmes walked; Haefner hit; Brinkman walked; Jacobs hit; Thiemann flyed out to centerfield to retire the side. Garner scored two more runs on three walks by Thiemann before Haefner came in to pitch to three men to retire the side, with Klemme winning their opener 6 to 5.

Klemme: 6 runs, 7 hits, no errors.

Garner: 5 runs, 3 hit, 3 errors.

We had a special treat in health this week. Mr Smith gave a lecture on the cadaver which our school has the privilege of keeping and studying this month. Since we have just finished the study of the digestive organs, it was particularly interesting and timely.

The girls have made a three-dimensional spring scene for the bulletin board.

We have recently taken unit tests in lanuage and arithmetic with gratifying results. Only a small percentage of the grades were as low as a "C".

This past week we learned how to find volume. That is the last new process we are scheduled to learn this year, and we will spend the rest of the time trying to become more accurate in our work.

This is a critical time in teen-age safety in Iowa. Last Monday, 600 youngsters from 300 high schools in all parts of the state gathered in Des Moines for the first teen-age safety conference

It was a day of excitement, plans and great possibilities. It was a day when a teen-age safety program was actual, visible and lively under the dome of the state house.

But it was a day impossible to hold together. The young delegates, of course had to go back to their homes and schools. They had to take the problems of teen-age safety back with them without the support and encouragement of hunrdreds of other delegates meeting around them.

Now the youngsters have been home for some days and, perhaps, already, the impressions and plans gained at the Des Moines conference are beginning to fade.

They are faced the with the task of trying to organize a local teen-age safety group and, probably, they are meeting more problems than seemed possible when they attended the conference.

That is why this is a critical time for teen-age safety. The youngsters who went to the conference must now find their support and encouragement in their own home towns.

That is a job for schools and local civic and service groups. The teen-age safety movement may come to a virtual halt this summer unless local adult organizations contact the delegates who attended the conference and offer them real support and encouragement.

The teen-age safety movement in Iowa came alive all in one big burst last Monday. To stay alive, it needs constant nourishment from each community.

Higher Storage Fee For Reseqling Corn

Farmers who reseal their price-supported corn this year will receive a storage payment of 15 cents a bushel for keeping the grain another 12 months, it was reported here this week by A. E. Rasmussen, chairman of the Hancock County ASC committee.

The storage allowance under the 1954 reseal program is two cents higher per bushel for corn than under last year's program.

Resealing will be permitted on all 1953 price-supported corn which is now under reseal. At least 155 million bushels of 1953 Iowa corn is expected to be under price support by June 1 when the application period expires. Over 29½ million bushels of 1952 corn were resealed in the state last yaer.

Because of a serious shortage of grain storage space, the ASC agency of the United States Department of Agriculture will urge Iowa farmers to reseal at least 40 million bushels of price supported corn this year, Chairman Rasmusen said.

In addition to corn, the 1954 resealing program will apply in Iowa to wheat, oats and flaxseed. The storage allowance will be 14 cents per bushel for wheat, 11 cents for oats and 16 cents for flaxseed.

All resealing loans will draw 3½ percent interest under the new program instead of the 4 percent in effect on the original loans.

Approximately 2,858,000 bushels of corn produced in 1953 in Hancock County are expected to be under government loans and purchase agreements by June 1, Chairman Rasmussen stated. A total of 2,073,110 bushels had been placed under price support as early as March 15. A total of 631,631 bushels of 1952 corn were resealed in Hancock County last year.

The extended resealing loans will all run for one year from the date of maturity of the original loans, except in the case of wheat. Resealing on wheat will cover 11 months, or from April 30, 1954 to March 31, 1955. Oats and flaxseed extensions will run from April 30, 1954, to April 30, 1955. The loans on resealed corn will run from July 31, 1954 to July 31, 1955.

Chairman Rasmussen emphasized that farmers who reseal their grain are not required to deliver it to the government in order to earn the storage allowance. Producers who extend 1952 crop reseal corn loans will receive their earned storage of 13 cents a bushel for the past year when they sign up for a year's extension. Farmers who hold resealed grain until the maturity date under the 1954 program will receive a full storage payment whether or not it is delivered to the government. If a farmer voluntarily pays off his loan during the extened period he will receive a prorated storage payment for the period beginning 60 days after the maturity of the original loan and running to the day of settlement.

Holders of purchase agreements on 1953 grain eligible for resealing in Iowa will be permitted to convert them to extended reseal loans.

Easter Seal Drive Ends; Roe Makes Plea

As the 1954 Easter Seal Drive ends, Don C. Roe, Garner, Hancock County Easter Seal Sponsor, made a final plea to the citizens of Hancock County who have not made their contributions to the campaign.

"The future of our crippled children in this area depends on you," said Roe. "We must not let them down!"

He pointed out that help and hope to crippled children in clinics, treatment centers, at camps, and numerous other vital Easter Seal facilities may face curtailment unless public sprited citizens of Hancock County contribute generously! to the 1954 Easter Seal appeal.

"Thirty years ago a crippled child was an unusual sight," added Roe. "This was not because there weren't any, but because ignorance, poverty, shame and indifference surrounded handicapped children with barriers which neither they nor their families could penetrate. They were literally hidden away from the public.

"Today, that is all changed, and the crippled children are showing up to be a useful part of our world, making their contribution to the professions, to business, and to industry. They have been discovered as an important national resource, waiting only for the magic touch of scientific rehabilitation and human understanding to make them productive human beings.

"All of us can help give our crippled children a new lease on life by making our contribution today. It is bound to bring us personal pride in knowing that we have done our part in helping some handicapped youngster on to a more happy, useful life. Mail your contribution to 'Crippled Children, c/o Your Local Postmaster'."

Hospital Auxiliary

The Women's Auxiliary of the Hancock County Memorial Hospital will meet at the hospital in Britt at 2:00 P. M. on Friday, April 23.

The Woden branch will have charge of the program, and Miss Helen Lemke, County Health Nurse, will be the principal speaker.

Tea will be served by the Corwith Branch, and the Ways and Means Committee of the Auxiliary will be special guests.

Every member is urged to attend.

Nitrogen on Bluegrass Will Increase Forage

Farmers with good bluegrass sod and need for a lot of early forage can boost their forage supply by applying nitrogen fertilizer to the bluegrass, says Ralph Krenzin, extension agronomist at Iowa State College.

A shot of 30 to 50 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre on good bluegrass sod, Krenzin adds, will give an early increase in the production of the grass, and if the moisture situation is favorable this summer—another boost in late summer after the grass passes the low growth period of midsummer.

This kind of management increases the production at a time when normally the grass is at its prime in production. Krenzin says he hesitates to recommend it except where a farmer has need for more early forage than the grass will provide. As an investment in fertilizer, Krenzin says that nitrogen fertilizer on corn will probably return more money. But application on bluegrass is an effective emergency measure to increase the supply of early forage.

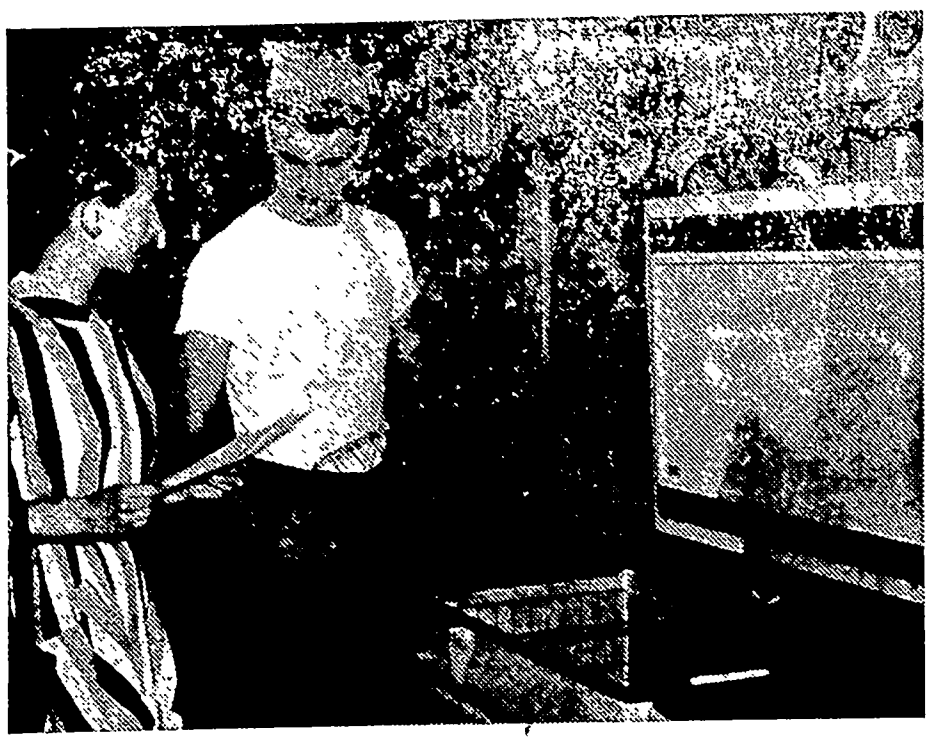
Think Before You Buy—

Is a Home Freezer Practical for You?



If you're considering buying a home freezer, as this couple is, you should consider it from all angles to determine if it will be an asset or liability for you.

A home freezer can be a financial asset if you manage it well—if you don't it's a liability. Keep this is mind if you're considering buying a freezer, says Leslie Smith, extension nutritionist at Iowa State College. The initial cost is high. For some families it's worth it. For some, it isn't, says Mrs Smith.

She mentions several points you should check before you decide to invest in a freezer.

Mrs Smith considers a freezer a good buy if you produce your own food. To make freezing food profitable you should have a good-sized garden with extra food to preserve, and/or live near a market regularly featuring money-saving food specials so you can buy in bulk for your freezer.

If you raise your own meat and chickens, and your husband likes to hunt wild game, you'll probably find a home freezer handier than a rented locker in town.

Before you buy be sure to look into details such as installation costs, electric rates, availability and price of packaging materials reminds Mrs Smith.

If you live in an old house, special wiring required to install the freezer might turn out to be quite expensive.

If electricty is cheap in your community, the service is reliable and there is an emergency source of power in case of power failure, you needn't hesitate about buying a freezer on that score.

In the long-run you probably won't save money by buying a small size freezer, Mrs Smith says. You should purchase one large enough to make the cost per food pound small. Six to eight cubic feet (measure of capacity) per person is a good guide to follow in buying a freezer.

In determining the size you want, you should also consider how much space you have available in your home. Freezers are large pieces of equipment and you won't want one that will make you do any costly remodeling of your home. If you live in a small apartment or small house a combination refrigerator and freezer might be your best bet.

The amount of room you have available may help you decide whether you want a chest freezer or an upright model. The chest type takes up more floor space, but cost less than the upright.

Comparing frozen foods to canned foods, Mrs Smith says frozen foods are higher in food value. Many people like their flavor and texture better. Processing food for your freezer takes less time and is easier than canning. If you have reusable containers there's little difference in the comparative cost of the two food preservation processes.

If you decide to buy a freezer and want to make it a good investment. Mrs Smith urges you to take time to make a good freezer management study.

It's a good idea to use baskets and keep certain types of food together, so different items don't get lost.

Keep your family's favorite foods in the freezer, and keep using them. The entrie contents of your freezer should be replaced at least three times a year. Always date and label food when you put in the freezer, Mrs Smith reminds you.

For economy's sake, keep your freezer full. Empty space uses as much electricity as full space.

Letting the grass grow under your feet won't postpone its growing over your head.

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

Signs of stablization in egg prices have appeared, according to Donald Hunter, Iowa State College farm economist.

Egg prices are now roughly 10 cents below a year earlier. The big grop started the first part of February. The seasonal price break was late this year and we had extremely short storage supplies during January. Also, January production didn't pick up as much as was expected, says Hunter.

On February 1, the rate of lay was lower than the same montn a year earlier for the first month since May, 1953. By March 1, however, the rate of lay had caught up with and passed last year's figure.

During January, commercial breakers were processing only enough eggs to meet current needs. Now breakers are working at full capacity. They believe egg prices are low enough to make a profit storing eggs, according to Hunter.

He points out that users of frozen eggs pay premium for yolks having a deep yellow color. So as soon as hens start getting out on grass, yolk color will deepen. This will encourage continued breaking activity. Inventories of stored eggs are smaller than a year earlier and the 5-year average. So Hunter believes movement into storage probably will be large during April and May.

Farmer reaction to sharply lower egg prices and a reduced egg feed ration is normally to cull laying flocks—in some cases to liquidate whole flocks. Culling of non-producers has increased. But Hunter says no serious large-scale flock liquidation has been evidences as yet. Most large flock owners cull as a matter of routine.

Farmers' intentions on February 1, were to raise about the same number of replacements as last year, Last year, however, they said they were going to cut back 4 percent, but raised just as many as the year before.

If current trends continue, Hunter looks for more pullets to be raised this year Hatchery reports show that chick production for flock replacement during January and February was 18 percent higher than last year. So over the long pull, Hunter believes the increased number of early pullets may cause a less than normal fall price rise. And if business turns down to any great extent, demand for eggs will soften somewhat.

Hogs

We are heading into the season of year when hog prices will be at their highest—probably for sometime to come. That's the conclusion of Francis A. Kutish Iowa Sate College farm economist.

We have passed the peak in our spring sales. Marketings for the next 10 to 12 weeks will be around 10 to 20 percent under last year. Pork stocks in storage are well below last year. We have less lard. It all adds up to a strong hog market, Kutish believes.

The strong lard market and the reduced number of hogs put prices of heavy hogs in a close position relative to medium weights. The spread between 200 to 270-pound butchers and those weighing over 270 pounds has narrowed since early winter. Butchers weighing 270 to 330 pounds now are selling as high as lighter hogs did early in February.

And the spread is likely to continue narrow, Kutish expects. Packers will be scrambling for all weights of hogs to keep their killing gangs busy. The lard market is strong and likely to trend higher.

Cattle

The dust continues to blow in the southwest. Shipments of dust-bowl cattle from the Southwest began to pick up as March ended.

Meanwhile(the outside top on slaughter cattle continues strong. Choice grades have picked up a bit, too. But good and commercial slaughter cattle are fighting a battle to hold their own.

Marketings of well-finished cattle are not likely to increase much beyond their present levels in the near future. Slaughter in the next 3 months of well fed cattle will be below the levels of a year ago, Kutish believes. He bases this conclusion on the fact that fewer heavy cattle are on feed compared with a year ago.

But we will see as many or more fed cattle on the market this fall than a year earlier. And we will have more hogs. So Kutish cautions against undue optimism in bidding up feeder cattle to fatten for the fall market.

Iowa Prospers On Pork

"Curley" Collins is quite a hog raiser and proud of it.

He was prouder than ever when he showed us a report from the Meat Board, saying: "Iowa leads the nation in meat production".

"That's because we're so far ahead in pork," says Curley. "Let the vegetarians worry about that for a while!"

Well, Curley's figures probably won't bother the vegetable eaters. But they made me think . . . What would happen to Iowa if someone suddenly laid down a rule that we all had to become vegetarians? Or, what would happen to the "health food" industry if someone ruled that we must all eat nothing but meat!

Makes you realize how interdependent we are on one another. Take the millions of bushels of Iowa grain used in making beer. Right back to Iowa comes a by-product of brewing which helps hens to lay more eggs.

One helps the other. And our diversified tastes, and freedom of choice in how we work, eat, or think, makes this the great nation that it is.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE HANCOCK COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

1ST ADJOURNED APRIL MEETING

Garner, Iowa
April 12, 1954

The Hancock County, Iowa, Board of Supervisors met in session on above captioned date pursuant to adjournment with Clint Daniels, S. A. Barber and Clarence Bird present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read.

On motion and second resolution of concurrence on projects S-312(5) and S-763(3) is hereby approved as approved by the Iowa State Highway Commission.

This being the 12th day of April 1954, a date heretofore set for a letting for gravel stockpiling in Hancock County, the hour for said letting having arrived, the proof of publication being on file and the Board being fully advised, said letting was held as scheduled.

The Chairman of the Board proceeded to open all bids on file and after duly considering all bids on file, the Board finds the bid of Sylvan C. Oleson Construction Company of Forest City, Iowa, to be the lowest and best bid on file.

BE AND IT IS THEREFORE RESOLVED by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors that the bid of Sylvan C. Oleson Construction Company of Forest City, Iowa, be and the same is hereby accepted as the lowest and best bid for gravel stockpiling. All other bids are hereby rejected.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that Clarence A. Bird, Chairman of the Board be and he is hereby authorized to execute a contract in behalf of Hancock County with Sylvan C. Oleson Construction Company of Forest City, Iowa.

On motion and second the following bonds are hereby approved. C F Merten, Preliminary Engineer on Keenan Petition, Arie Williamson, Amsterdam Township J. P.; Walter Schmeling, custodian County Home; Luara Hollatz, Deputy Treasurer; and Earl Fox, Jr., Special Deputy Sheriff.

On motion and second the March Term Grand Jury report; Policy No WC14-714866; and the quarterly report of W F Pavey, Ell Twp. Justice of the Peace are hereby approved

On motion and second the reports of tax exempt acres in D. D. No. 3&4, Main, as reported by Wm. Henschen, Engineer and as reported by Chas. F. Merten, Engineer on D D. No. 1&2, West Main, are hereby approved.

Supervisor Bird is hereby appointed a committee to investigate and cause repairs to be made in D. D No 10, L. No. 2.

On motion and second Wm. Henschen of Garner, is hereby appointed Preliminary Engineer to make an investigation into the necessity and feasibility of the construction of an open ditch through lands listed in the petition of Robert J Martin filed April 6, 1954. Said Engineer to report to this Board at his earliest convenience.

WHEREAS Wm. Henschen was appointed Preliminary Engineer as commanded in Chapter 455 Code of Iowa 1950, on September 21, 1953 and Chas F. Merten was appointed said Preliminary Engineer to replace Wm Henschen on March 22, 1954, to make a survey, investigation and report on the necessity and feasibility of the construction of a sub-district of DD No 108 petitioned for by Mrs. Emily Wylie Keenan and said Engineer did file his report on April 12, 1954, which report states that he has investigated and surveyed the lands in the proposed sub-district of D. D. No. 108 and finds the present system of drainage inadequate and recommends that said sub-district be constructed as prayed in the prayer of the petitioners and that such improvement will be conducive to public health, welfare, convenience and utility and that the benefits to be derived will be greater than the cost thereof

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County acting for and in behalf of the proposed sub-district of D. D. No 108 petitioned for by Mrs Emily Wylie Keenan, that the report of the Engineer be and the same is hereby tentatively approved and may be amended before final action thereon and said report of the Engineer and plan shall come on for further hearing at the Courthouse in Garner, Iowa, on the 14th day of June, 1954 at 1:00 P. M.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the County Auditor be and he is hereby directed to cause notice of hearing on the report of the Engineer and plan of said improvement to be published in the Britt News-Tribune, a newspaper of general circulation published in Britt, Iowa, advising all owners, occupants, lienholders and encumbrancers of record in the proposed district of the petition on file for proposed construction, the favorable report of the Engineer thereon, and approval by the Board of Supervisors of the Engineer's report as a tentative plan, and that same may be amended before final action thereon and that all claims for damages and objections to such construction shall be in writing and must be led with the County Auditor at or before the time set for hearing thereon.

The foregoing resolution was offered and read by Supervisor Barber who moved its adoption, was seconded by Supervisor Daniels, whereupon the Chairman, Clarence A. Bird, placed the motion of its adoption and upon roll call the vote thereon was S. A. Barber, Clint Daniels and Clarence Bird, ayes Nayes, none Whereupon the Chairman declared the resolution duly adopted.

RESOLUTION COMPROMISING AND RELEASING LIEN

WHEREAS, Matt Smith, also known as Matthew Smith, during his lifetime received care and support from the State Mental Health Institute at Cherokee, Iowa, in the amount of $2,617.96; and

WHEREAS, it appears to be for the best interests of Hancock County, State of Iowa, if the lien against said Matt Smith, also known as Matthew Smith, now deceased, be compromised and released; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors acting for and on behalf of Hancock County, State of Iowa, have authority to compromise said lien as provided by Section 230.17 of the 1950 Code of Iowa, and have the authority to release such lien by virtue of Section 230.29 of the 1950 Code of Iowa.

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED that the State Institution account lien of Hancock County, State of Iowa, against Matt Smith, also known as Matthew Smith, now deceased, in amount of $2,617.96 be and the same is hereby compromised for the consideration of One Dollar ($1.00), paid by Ina Ahrenkiel Smith, and the lien against Matt Smith, also known as Matthew Smith, now deceased, and/or against his estate, and against his wife, Ina Ahrenkiel Smith, is hereby fully released

It was moved by Supervisor Daniels and seconded by Supervisor Barber that the foregoing resolut on be adopted.

Upon roll call the vote was as follows:

Ayes Clint Daniels
S. A. Barber
Clarence Bird

Nayes None

On motion and second the Board adjourned to April 26, 1954, at 9 o'clock A. M.

Bow and Arrow Enthusiasts May Take Rough Fish

The 1954 rough fish spearing season will open on May 1, and the State Conservation Commission says that the outlook for Iowa's newest outdoor sport is good.

The season will extend from May 1 through October 31, with spearing permitted daily from sunrise to sunset. Spears and bows and arrows may be used to take carp, buffalo, dogfish, gar, quillback and gizzard shal in any waters of the state legally open to fishing.

In some local areas, the use of bows and arrows for shooting rough fish promises to become an important sport A small group of Des Moines sportsmen last summer shot 150 carp, some of which weighed over 10 pounds. One of the archers said "It was a lot of fun. We waded into the shallows of small lakes and rivers near Des Moines, flushing the carp before us and shooting them on the "Wing". In a way, it was sort of like hunting pheasants."

The general inland Iowa rough fish spearing season was opened for the first time last. However, there is a continuous open spearing season for carp, buffalo, dogfish, gar, quillback, and gizzard shad in the overflow waters of the Mississippi River in the Cedar and Iowa Rivers in Muscatine and Louisa counties, and in the water of the Winnebago River in Worth and Cerro Gordo counties.

Magic?

Why, you perform it every day!

More wonderous than the vanishing rabbit in the top hat of a slight-of-hand artist, are the tricks of magic you perform countless times a day . . . every time you flick an electric switch. Imagine . . . sight-saving, gleaming light at your instant command. It's a miracle to match the feats of a mighty magician.

INDEED, during the early days of electric lights, when a pioneer bulb could first be made to glow, electric lighting was a carnival attraction. Unbelieving prophets of the day proclaimed that electricity would never rival gas for lighting.

How different our world is today! Toddlers safely serve as home lighting "foreman" . . . flicking the switches at will. The power of electricity has turned homes into palaces of comfort and conveniences. Television makes your living room a theatre . . . automatic kitchen and laundry appliances turn hours from drudgery to leisure.

Work, dreams, money, vision all play an important part in keeping an abundant supply of electricity ready for your every demand. Be among the informed leaders familiar with the exciting story of today's expansion program, designed to contribute to your comfort and prosperity during the years ahead.

Certifying Applications Due in Ames by May 15

Applications for certifying seven crops are due at the Iowa Crop Improvement Association's office in Ames by May 15, according to the report of Joe L. Robinson, association secretary.

The crops are oats, wheat, flax, bromegrass, canarygrass, birdsfoot trefoil and red clover.

Robinson reports that early return of applications with remittance and membership fees will speed up processing and inspection route plans for fieldmen.

An application form is needed for each field of each variety to be certified. Additional forms can be obtained by writing the association.

A thick vigorous lawn is the first requirement for effective weed control.

Cub Scouts Tour Points of Interest

Monday, April 19th, the Cub Scouts went to the fish hatchery at Clear Lake. The entire Pack made the trip together accompanied by both Den Mothers and three visitors. They were shown through the entire fish hatchery and the process of hatching eggs was explained to them.

The lake has not warmed up enough yet, so the fish were not hatching when the boys were there. Several different kinds of fish were on display in the tanks in the hatchery. The boys, all who seem to be fishermen, enjoyed the trip very much.

Thursday, April 22nd, the entire Pack of Cub Scouts made a tour of the Standard Oil warehouse and office in Mason City. The theme for April for the Cub Scouts is "Black Gold".

The group was taken through the warehouse where they were shown all the many oil products they had on hand. They were also taken through the repair and paint shops.

After leaving the warehouse, they went to the office up town. Here they were shown through the offices where they saw some of the most modern office equipment. After making a tour of the building, they were taken into the office of Mr Peterson, who is Office Manager. He told them a little about the process of oil drilling and the pipe lines in our country. He answered all the questions the boys had to ask. Before leaving, the entire group was given a bottle of pop and a box of bokay candles, a product of "Black Gold" as a souvenir.

All the Cub Scouts, thirteen in number, the Cub Master, one Den Mother and six visitors made the tour.

The April Pack meeting of the Cub Scouts was held Friday evening, April 23rd in the grade school basement. About 65 persons were present.

The meeting was opened by the Cub Scouts repeating the Promise and Motto.

The theme for April was "Black Gold". Den II had their model oil well on exhibit. This was made under the supervision of Harold Kothenbeutel, so he was asked to explain the different parts of the model.

The Cub Scouts gave short reports on their trip to the Standard Oil warehouse and office in Mason City.

Harvey Barz introduced Mr Fitts, who is connected with the Standerd Oil Co. who gave his demonstration on the safe use of petroleum products. This proved to be vrey interesting to both the younger people and their parents.

The business meeting followed. No awards were given at this meeting.

The Boy Scouts who were guests of the Cub Scouts, closed the meeting with their Promise, Laws and Motto.

All the Scouts formed the Living Circle and repeated the Cub Scout Benediction.

Ice cream was served by the committee.

The model oil well made by Den II will be on exhibit in the Hancock County Cooperative Oil Company. This model required a great deal of work and is well worth seeing.

Auxiliary Meeting

The American Auxiliary will meet next Tuesday evening, May 4, at the home of Mrs David Schwichtenberg with Mrs. C. C. Kilgore as co-hostess.

Depletion of Gravel Supplies Poses Problem

Proposed Pit West Of Klemme Gives Partial Answer

Graved deposits in Iowa are rapidly becoming depleted posing a serious problem for county supervisors and highway department in Iowa. Many counties in Iowa depend on supplies outside of their own county at the present time and this helps to deplete available sources of this material in the state. Still other counties are already using oil treatment on dirt which is more expensive and does not give as good a surface nor does it have as long life as a good gravel base road.

Hancock County has been blessed with a larger supply of glacier gravel deposits than most of our neighboring counties. Winnebago and Kossuth counties both have purchased large gravel holdings in Hancock county. Several other counties are attempting to purchase gravel in our county. These counties haul their gravel many more miles than we do thus increasing their costs terrifically.

The transportation of gravel becomes expensive as the supply is depleted and the haul becomes longer. Today the average haul in Hancock county for a cubic yard of gravel is eight miles at 8 cents per cubic yard. The cost of producing this cubic yard of gravel, including crushing, is approximately sixty cents. Thus the cost of processing a cubic year of gravel and hauling it an average of eight miles costs the county $1.24 per cubic yard. As the supply of gravel in the county decreases the cost increases making the cost of construction and maintenance much more expensive.

All the gravel pits presently being used by the county, except the pit one mile northwest of Hutchins and the proposed pit one and one half miles west of Klemme, will be exhausted within a ten year period, if present usage is continued. Two will be exhausted this year and several more within five years. Most of these present sources cannot be replaced once they are exhausted and the supply for surfacing will come from our larger pits. This means that the Hutchins gravel pit will eventually be our main source of gravel for Hancock county if voters fail to approve the purchase of the proposed pit near Klemme. The proposed Klemme pit is a large deposit and is located in an area where the supply can be used to the best advantage and will be sorely needed in a few years.

The proposed 160 acre tract will be paid for from the County Road Construction fund and no bond issue or special levy will be required if voters approve the purchase. Hancock County citizens have enjoyed good highways for the most part at a very reasonable cost in the past and it appears just a matter of good business to insure an adequate supply of surfacing material by purchasing the proposed tract at this time on which Hancock County Supervisors hold an option to purchase. The final decision will rest with Hancock county voters at the June 7th Primary election at which time the proposition will be submitted.

Larsen-Heivilin Wedding

Miss Donna Heivilin, daughter of Mr and Mrs Stuart Heivilin of Mason City, became the bride of Clarence Larsen, Jr., son of Mr and Mrs C. A. Larsen, at the Methodist Church in Klemme on Sunday afternoon, April 25th.

Baptized

On Sunday, April 25, Steven Jay Jaberg, infant son of Rev. and Mrs V. E. Jaberg, received the sacrament of baptism. Rev. Carl Mohr, pastor of Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church of Garner, conducted the service of baptism.

Co-op Grain Company Making Improvements

The Klemme Cooperative Grain Company is making improvements in their facilities which should expidite their handling of grinding and mixing for their handling of grinding and mixing for their customers. They are building a second driveway on their mill. It will be used only for unloading. It will have two unloading pits—one for ear corn and one for grain such as oats, beans, and shelled corn.

The driveway which has always been a part of the mill will remain in use, but will be used only for loading purposes. Manager Lemke says that it is hoped that they will be able to speed up operations by a third as a result of the construction of the new driveway.

In addition, the company is building a storage dock between the mill warehouse and the elevator warehouse. This dock will be used to store barrels, such as buttermilk and molasses.

District Conference of Methodists at Mallard

Rev and Mrs E. Morris Egeland, Mrs Dwight Hummel and Mrs Ronald Gibbs attended the Algona District Conference of the Methodist Church at Mallard on Tuesday of this week.

The session is one of two held each year in the district. Mrs. Hummel represented the Klemme Methodist Church as district steward and Mrs Gibbs represented the Liberty Church in the same capacity.

Rev Egeland spoke to the conference at the morning session on "Echoes from Buck Hill Falls" a report from the annual session of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church. The conference was well attended with representatives from all but one of the districts fifty-five churches.

Karsjens and Ridder Win Firsts In North Star Track Meet

The Shamrocks have been working out as often as possible during the last month in preparation for the North Star Conference Track meet which was held at Mason City, Tuesday afternoon. They have been entered in no other meets, and the school has never participated in track before. However, they still managed to gain two first place ratings and several seconds.

Ronnie Karsjens came in first in the shot put competition with a toss of 38 feet and 2 inches. Denny Ridder was first in the high jump with a leap of 5 feet, while Tom Waddingham was in a tie for second place. Ridder also took second place in the broad jump with a leap of 18 feet. Tom Brown of Sheffield won this event with a leap of 18 feet and ½ inch.

Klemme also came in second in the 2-mile relay.

Pre-School Enrollment

There will be a meeting in the Klemme Grade School basement on May 7th at 1 :30 P. M. for all parents who will have a child entering Kindergarten next year. The child must be five years of age on or before November 15, 1954. Miss Helen Lemke, the County Nurse and Mrs Isabelle Lemke will conduct the meeting. All parents who have a child to enter Kindergarten next year are urged to attend.

There were 2 percent more empty feedlots on Iowa farms on April 1 than a year ago. This compares with 6 percent less cattle on feed last January 1 for Iowa.

Fed cattle marketings have increased only slightly, while the number of feeders shipped in during the first quarter increased sharply. Steady fat cattle prices have results from the more orderly marketing, reports Don Hunter, Iowa State College farm economist.

Of the cattle on feed April 1, Iowa farmers expect to market only 34 percent from now to the end of June.

As results, there will be more late marketings than farmers intended a year earlier. The outlook for the late summer and fall market depends largely on weather conditions.

If dry weather continues, pastures will burn. Adding forced sales that could result to the anticipated heavy runs of grass cattle, prices would drop considerabley for this grade.

Grain fed cattle could also come under preasure, if this chain of events occur. Under these circumstances, the farmer buying feeder stock now has to make a proper discount for fat cattle prices in the fall months, Hunter believes.

Soybeans—Skyrocketing prices were the rule in trading centers in the week of April 19. On Tuesday of that week prices hit the $4 mark for May futures, with cash beans selling for $3.94 at Chicago. At the same time, unrestricted soybean oilmeal reached $100 a ton.

Considering the short crop last fall, crushers have processed large quantities of beans. The USDA recently announced that farmers had only 36 million bushels on hand to last until the new crop is ready. This set off renewed interest in trading soybeans.

However, prices have a way to go before they reach the all-time peak set in January 1948, when cash soybeans reached $4.43.

If you're planting a windbreak this spring, Iowa State College extension foresters advise fencing the area to protect the young tree from damage by livestock.

Although there are more short-fed cattle on feed in April this year than last, total numbers of cattle on feed have decreased, according to the Iowa Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Monday morning, April 19th, Mr. Westburg, Marlene Blumer, and Fred Arnold went to Des Moines to attend the first Iowa Teen-Age Traffic Safety Conference at the State House. The meeting was called by Governor William S. Beardsley and was conducted to stimulate safety program by teen-agers and for teen-agers. After a general assembly for all the delegates they broke up into six groups to discuss various topics concerning teen-agers and driving. Marlene was in the group that discussed the topic, "Law enforcement officer want to work with teen-agers as friends and advisors and how this best can be done."

"Parents are anxious to help teen-agers develop safe driving habits and what more can parents do to achieve this goal," was the topic that the group Fred was in discussed

Their luncheon was served at the State House through the courtesy of Governor and Mrs Beardsley.

That afternoon after the group meetings the delegates reassembled in the House Chamber to read and adopt the recommendations which had been drawn up by each group. At 3:30 the Conference adjourned and they returned home.

Second Grade

The Elves have finished their basic readers and are now reading in a supplementary book.

We were happy to have Mrs Alvin Bachman visit our room. We hope she will come again.

Gary Bachman treated the room to candy bars on his eighth birthday.

We have been learning some poems the past weeks. We are making a poem booklet of those we've learned.

The following boys and girls have earned an "A" in the sectional review spelling contest: Robert, Gary, Deanna, Joyce, Jerry, Jannelle, Margie, Karen, Judith, Merrie, June, Celeste, Roger, Carolyn, and Douglas.

We have learned about the different kinds of beaks and feet of birds in our bird unit which we are working on in science.

THE VALUE OF A HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATION

Many of the young people of today seem to think that a high school education is not entirely necessary. Almost all realize that it is desirable, but think it is a waste of time when a person could be out making money. Actually in these days of higher education, it is necessary in obtaining a job. In some instances it is to even sufficient. The student should go to college. High school days help a person to learn to get along with other people. Participation in high school athletics helps a person's character. But, of course the main reason for a high school education is the education standpoint itself. A high school education is needed for a college preparatory. It helps a person to get a higher position in the armed forces. It is necessary in getting a job. A college education is even more desirable. Every person that possibly can should get a high school education and try to get a college education.

Music News

The curtain went up and the mixed chorus sang as they opened our annual Spring Concert last Wednesday night. The twenty students dressed in black robes, sang four numbers which gave us a variety of religious light and sad songs. They sang a rousing spiritual entitled "Climbin' Up the Mountain", and turned right around with a lovely Scottish folk song entitled "Turtle Dove" starring Gordon Beier and Art Carlson on the solo part. As the chorus left, the girls sextet stepped into the spotlight with two lovely numbers "Chimes of Spring", and "When You Wore A Tulip". Both numbers were enjoyed by all.

The girls' trio next stepped into the light with" Come to the Fair". and "Night and Day". This concluded the vocal department's part in the concert. I hope every one enjoyed their part as much as they enjoyed working up the numbers.

Next the rumble of a snare drum echoed through the gym as Jo Anne Jacobs played a stirring drum solo. The woodwind quintet then presented its' number which received a I rating at contest.

The grade school band played several numbers, which really have seen their beaming folks! thrilled the parents. You should Why not, they surely should be proud!

The senior band closed the program with a variety of songs from marches to popluar songs like "South".

The Music Mothers then served lunch consisting of every kind of pie and cake you could think of. Coffee and orange drink proved very delightful also.

Right now, I'm going to speak for all the kids in the Music Department: We want to thank all of you people who came to our Spring Concert and made it such a success.

Year Books

Although work came to a stand still during the time spent on the class play, it has finally began moving along at a pretty good clip again. Our year book will be made up of 38 pages; so far we have completed 12 mats. These mats are composed of individual pictures of each child in the different class.

If anyone in high school has some snapshots that could be used in the year book, would you please bring them to Lois J. Roger T., Lois Helps, or Delbert E. The funnier they are the better.

? ? of the Week

"What do you plan to do this this summer?"

Keith Nuehring: I plan to work on my father's farm.

Beverly C.: I plan to teach Bible School and a lot of work.

Ronald H.: I'll probably work at home and try and earn some money.

Sharleen S.: I plan to teach Bible School and work.

Mr. Andreae: Relax.

Mr Hiller: Work in an Interior Decorator Studio.

Winola: Probably work at home.

Kay Burke: Not much of anything.

Mr. Smith: Go to summer school.

the Highway Story

By Bob Hullihan

Retired and prosperous, he was, probably, the town's most respected man. People came to him for advice. They knew he never made hasty or uninformed judgements.

It came as quite a shock to the town when this man of good judgement went out along an Iowa highway, jumped a four-strand barbed wire fence and died in a plowed field.

He had left the small town one spring morning on a trip to the eastern part of the state. About 100 miles from his home he entered a highway that was unfamiliar to him

But it was fine weather. The day was clear and traffic light. He let his speed creep up.

It is believed he was traveling more than 75 miles an hour when he topped a small, rolling hill and dropped immediately into a short, sharp curve.

Apparently he missed the warning sign.

Centrifugal force slammed against his car like a giant hand. It threw the car straight out of the curve and head-on into an inclined embankment. The car climbed the bank and hurtled into the air.

That's when the man of "good judgement" jumped the four-strand barbed wire fence at the top of the bank. That's when he died in the plowed field.
judgement" jumped

He is well remembered in his home town for he was a generous man. And particularly do people remember his favorite phrase whenever anyone came to him for advice: "Let's talk this over until we can see the road ahead," he would say, "then we will know how to drive it."

Ell Tip Toppers Met

The Ell Tip Toppers met at Luaine and Lois Weiland's, Saturday April 17, 1954. Gracka Gerardi has entertainment for this month.

Meeting was called to order. We answered roll call by telling "A New Article I Need In My Wardrobe".

We are still ordering greeting cards.

We decided to cancel our skating party until a later date.

It was decided to give $5.00 to Doreen Lackore for pictures.

Carol Humphrey and Doreen Lackore are to look for a cabin for our camping trip in the summer. Maurine Johnson, Myrna Barz and Eva Thiemann are to look for a chaperone.

Luaine Weiland and Elaine Jurgemeyer are to be on our junior demonstration team.

Gracka Gerardi and LaVohn Josten are to be on our senior demonstration team.

Joyce Thiemann gave a talk on "Figure Foolers in Buying Clothes".

Luaine and Lois Weiland gave a team demonstration on the "Proper Way to Take Measurements". After the demonstration we took each others measurements.

Virginia Kudje gave a talk on "Raveling".

Elaine Jurgemeyer and Rosalie Rosendahl gave a team demonstration on a gathered skirt.

Melva Johnson gave a music talk on Nocture in E Flat.

We were very happy to have visitors from the Liberty Busy Bees.

Did anyone see the two sleep walkers in school Wednesday morning? Lois Helps and Joan Lemke went to the first dance at Duncan since Lent and it really got them down. How will you react to Skip Day, Lois, if Duncan does that to you?

I see Lois C. and her old friend were together Sunday afternoon. Everyone thought it had ended but I guess we were wrong.

Janice, Lois H. and Joan L., and Daisy seemed to have quite a time at Mason City Friday. First they couldn't find anything to buy and then they couldn't find anything to buy with. But it was fun anyway.

Kay, Ronnie, JoEllen, and Tom went fishing at Clear Lake Tuesday night, and believe it or not they caught 7 fish. Everyone thought it was a pleasure trip and not for business.

Is Richard Baack still giving Marlene W. a ride to school and a ride home from school? No one has seen them lately!

What do the letters Mary D. puls I. O. W. A. or Carl K. mean? We see them in the "Book".

Little Cattle Feeders Met

Grimes "Little Cattle Feeders" held their April meeting at the home of Larry and Robert Hayungs. Eighteen members responded to roll call and three boys were welcomed in as new members, Jerry and Gene Meints, and Dale Ruiter.

We voted to send Donald Kramer and Robert Hayungs to District Camp. We selected Larry Hindmann to go to Short Course at Ames and as a candidate for Health Camp.

We are going to have a skating party later this month.

A delicious lunch was served by Mrs Hayungs.

March Sow Farrowings on Iowa Farms up 25 Percent

Sow farrowing on Iowa farms during March are estimated at a record 636,000 head, according to the Iowa Cooperative Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. This preliminary estimate is an increase of 25 percent from the 509,000 head farrowed during March last year and 27 percent more than the 1943-52 ten-year March average of 502,000 head. It is the largest March farrowings since monthly records were started in 1930 and may be compared with the previous March high of 630,000 head in 1951.

Farrowings for the current Dec.-March period are now estimated at 956,000 head, which is 31 percent more than the 732,000 head farrowed in 1953 and the largest of record for the Dec.-March period. Farrowings for this period are 54 percent more than the 10-year average of 620,000 head and 14 percent more than the previous high of 835,000 head for this period in 1951.

A new and quarterly government survey as of March 1 showed that Iowa hog producers expected to make an increase of 8 percent in total spring farrowings (Dec.- May), for a total of 1,929,000 sows. With 956,000 sows indicated as being farrowed during the Dec.-March period, it appears that about 973,000 sows will farrow on Iowa farms during April and May. This would be 8 percent less than the 1,054,000 head farrowed during these two months in 1953 and 29 percent less than average.

Results of the recent surveys by the Crop and Livetock Reporting Service indicate a strong shift to earlier farrowings this year with about 50 percent of the total spring crop being produced before April 1. More moderate annual changes in this direction have been taking place for several years. During the spring farrowing season last year, Dec.-March farrowings came to 41 percent of the total spring crop with the 10-year average for this period being only 31 percent of the total.

4-H Clubs Urged To Join Clean-up Drive

An urgent appeal to take active leadership in the Spring Clean-Up drive soon to be observed was addressed to 4-H Clubs today by Iowa Agriculture Extension Service. County Agricultural and Home Demonstration Agents are participating in the drive, and will help club members carry spring clean-up to every farm in the state.

There is a strong relationship between a good job of clean-up and fire prevention, Bob Wilson, Co. Youth Asst. said. "We know this from the records of the National Fire Protection Association. The simple truth is that a clean house seldom burns. This is just as applicable to the barn, outbuildings and the fields as to the farm home."

4-H club members are advised to begin the clean-up drive in their own homes and farms, and to concentrate their efforts on the removal of useless combustible materials that make perfect tinder by any stray spark. In the farm home, this means old magazines, newspapers, rags and clothing, and discarded draperies, curtains and mattresses, and broken and discarded pieces of furniture, often stored in attics, closets and basements. In the barn, the machine shed, and other buildings, it means removal of oily rags, or their storage in covered metal cabinets, and clean-up of shavings, old paints and oils, discarded feed bags, and similar debris. It means putting gasoline and kerosene in approved metal containers, not cans or glass bottles. Never store flammable liquids in or near main buildings. In the fields, it means cutting down dead vegetation, particularly along fence rows and around buildings, and clean-up papers and other litter.

4-H clubs also are asked to clean dirt and dust from fuse boxes, switches, motors and electrical appliances. It's important, too, to keep motors properly lubricated.

Naomi Circle Met

Naomi Circle met at the home of Mrs Carold Larsen, Thursday afternoon, April 22nd with Mrs Fred Kluckhohn as co-hostess. Fourteen members were present. Mrs Sibert Shoop lead the lesson.

Mrs John Chambers brought a Hawaiian lei, a gift from her son, to share its beauty and fragrance with the ladies. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The ladies planned to meet at the church parlors on Thursday afternoon, April 29th, to tie a comforter as a missionary project. The next regular meeting will be at Mrs Clarence Neubergers with Mrs Swanetta Haefner as co-hostess.

Bolivia, Subject For Rural Women's Day

Miss Lillian Kvamsdale, teacher for the last four years on Bolivia, South America, was guest speaker at the Hancock County Rural Women's Day held at the Memorial Building in Garner on Tuesday, April 20. Miss Kvamsdale told an interesting story of the homes in rural Bolivia and in their cities. She used colored slides for illustrations.

Miss Jewel Graham from Iowa State College brought greetings from the extension service. Mrs B. L. Lambert, of Charles City, Farm Bureau Women's District Representative, brought greetings from Farm Bureau.

The International Relations Committee put on a skit which was written by Mrs. Jerome Erdman, chairman of the committee. The skit included the purpose of A. C. W. W. and the working of the United Nations.

The School Chairman, Mrs. John Eenhuis and her helpers, Mrs. Harry Peters of Kanawha, presented the Hancock County Farm Bureau Scholarship Winner, Diane Johnson of Ellington Township. A little red schoolhouse was used to collect the five dollar scholarship money from each township school chairman in the county. This money is sent in to the State Farm Bureau. Women's Committee and helps make available 18 scholarships to girls throughout Iowa who are interested in elementary training.

The Family Living report of the yearly extension program was given by Elsie Mae Van Wert, county extension home economist.

The Garner's High School Girl's Sextet directed by Miss Barbara Rankin sang three numbers for the group.

The Hancock County Rural Women's Chorus sang three numbers directed by Paul G. Shurts.

The tea tables were set up with yellow table linen with a centerpiece of spring flowers. Mrs Aaron Stromer, County Women's Chairman and Mrs L. F. Weaver, Concord Township chairman, poured.

Exhibits of the extension lessons and craft lessons given during the year were set up by the townships on the west half of the county. The townships on the east half of the county were responsible for the program and the tea.

A pint of gasoline mixed with air has the power of nearly 11 pounds of dynamite.

They're called mixed drinks because you get soooo mixed after you drink 'em.

Making Better Homes—

Homemakers Learn By Doing

Working together to make home life in Iowa better are county extension home economists and thousands of Iowa homemakers. Here's one economist helping a homemaker work out details of a summer dress she is making.

* * *

What is probably the largest group of students in the state never get diplomas and never wear the traditional cap and gown for graduation. In fact, they never finish their course work.

They are thousands of homemakers throughout Iowa who are continually learning new and better ways of life trough an on-the-job educational program sponsored by the Iowa State College Extension Service.

The women choose their own program of study. With the help of college extension specialists, 70 county extension home economists, and more than 15,000 volutary local leaders, Iowa homemakers learn to apply new-found knowledge in their homes.

National Scope

The program isn't limited to Iowa. It covers the entire country, reaching both rural and urban homemakers. National Home Demonstration Week, May 28, is set aside to recognize efforts of home economists and homemakers in making better homes and building better citizens.

During the past year more than 100,000 Iowa families were reached through the extension program. Let's look at what the homemakers studied—find out how life in Iowa was made better by their efforts.

Better Homes

More than 26,000 families adopted recommended practices of home management concerned with family finance, consumer buying and time and energy decisions.

Iowa homes seem more livable and convenient now, for homemakers studied how to plan house space to fit their family's needs; how to effect more storage space; more efficient planning of kitchen work rooms, wiring and lighting, running water, and how to buy and use household equipment.

They learned how to save money by refinishing and making furnishings themselves. Lessons were given on wise selection of furniture, floor coverings, wall treatments, window treatments, and room accessories.

Better Nutrition

Realizing the importance of well-balanced diets for young and old alike, more than 140,000 Iowans were contacted about good food habits. Every county in the state carried a food and nutrition project during the past year.

Iowa youngsters are blossoming out in clothes with new fabrics and finishes this spring thanks to the textiles and clothing programs studied by their mothers. They also learned new methods of construction, good principles to remember in buying fabrics or ready-made clothes, conservation of clothes, and the importance and improvement of personal appearance.

The whole family is feeling results of Mother's studies, for an emphasis was placed on child development and family relationships. More than 31,000 families adopted practices leading to well developed and adjusted children happy and secure family life, wholesome community life, and strong citizenship.

Tomorrow's World

Always looking forward to new improvements and better living, the motto of these homemaking "students" is "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World."

Indicating their interest in future homemakers as well as in themselves and their families, 15,712 Iowa women served as 4-H club leaders for more than 22,000 girls last year.

Avery Sunbeams Met

The Avery Sunbeams spent the greater part of their regular 4-H meeting planning for the annual Mother's Tea. The meeting, held at the home of Judy Gilpin on April 17 was attended by the members and four visitors. Roll call was to bring an Article on World Affairs. Program Chairman, JoAnn Helps introduced a demonstration on "Making a Mitered Corner" by Darlene Ostendorf. A talk, "Proper Sewing Equipment" was given by Judy Gilpin.

We decided on the special committees for our next meeting, the Mothers' Tea. This is to be held May 15 at the home of Elizabeth Lemke. The chairmen for the different committees were: Recreation, Candace Carlson; invitations, Kathleen James; corsages, Darlene Ostendorf; and food, Diane Avery. The Good Grooming contest will be held at this meeting. The club voted to ask Mrs Roy Arnold and Mrs Dale Shelton, two former leaders to act as judges.

After several games lead by Jo Anne Jacobs, we were served lunch by Judy Gilpin, Jo Ann Trampel and Dorothy Ostendorf.

Liberty Busy Bees Met

The Libetry Busy Bees held their regular meeting at the home of Winola Zwald, Monday evening, April 19. Eleven members answered roll call, "Some thing I Do To Take Care of My Garments". Five guests were present. Patty Legge presided at the meeting. Rosemary Josten was appointed to be secretary in the absence of our regular secretary.

Betty and Barbara Clayton have transferred from Ell Tip Toppers to our club. We wish to welcome them.

The club chose Darlene Hrubes and Betty Clayton for our junior demonstration team. Barbara Hughes and June Mayland were chosen for our senior demonstration team.

We decided that our picture committee will have three pictures finished for each girl for her record book.

Marion Stromer and Carolyn Jass gave a report on their visit to the Garfield Girl's Club.

Patty Legge gave a report on her visit to the Ell girls' club. We enjoyed our visits very much and hope other clubs will come to visit us.

We planned our Mothers' Tea which will be held May 15 at Marion Stromer's.

At this meeting we will have our better groming contest.

After the business meeting was adjourned the following talks and domonstrations were given:

Talk: What Should We Eat to Keep Healthy?-Virginia Hughes.

Talk: Care of Your Feet. - Nancy Farquhar.

Demonstration: Making and Putting on a collar-Patty Legge.

Demonstration: Making Darts Darlene Hrubes

Our leader showed us how to set in a sleeve in our blouses. They also checked the progress we had made on our blouses and told us how to complete them.

At the close of the meeting the hostess and her mother served lunch.

Attention

Home Owners -- Dog Owners

All Hancock County dog owners who have not secured their dog license should do so at once. Penalty of $1.00 applies on all licenses on May 1st. Owners in towns having a town license must also make application for a county license. License fees are $1.50 for each male and spayed female and $4.00 for each female in townships or towns not having a town license. In towns where a license is required by the town, the fee is $1.00 for each male or spayed female and $3.00 for each female. Mail check with description and age of dog to County Auditor and license will be mailed.

Penalty will be applied to all licenses on May 1st regardless of whether the owner has been assessed on other property or not, as provided by law.

A Dog Catcher has been employed to destroy all dogs that do not have a license.

HOME OWNERS who have not signed an application for Homestead Tax Credit for 1954 are urged to do so in the office of the County Assessor. This must be done prior to July 1st, 1954.

Worth More, and Buyers are Proving it!

FORD is America's best seller!

National new car registration figures* for the latest six-month period available show Ford out front by thousands!

SOURCE: R. L. Polk & Company. Registrations for September through February.

DURING THE SIX-MONTH PERIOD ending with February—the latest half-year in which national registration figures are available—Ford outsold its nearest competitor by thousands.

The main reason why Ford is so definitely the buyer's choice is simply that:

Ford is, without doubt, the "Worth More" car—America's best buy on a dollar-for-dollar basis!

Take engines—Ford offers the 130-h.p. Y-block V-8 or the 115-h.p. I-block Six, both with engineering advances that make these engines the most modern in the industry.

Take comfort—Only Ford in its field has the revolutionary new Ball-Joint Front Suspension that provides riding and handling ease never before approached in a car in the Ford field.

Take Power Assists—These optional extras can be compared with those of the costliest cars.

Master-Guide Power Steering, Swift Sure Power Brakes, Power-Lift Windows, 4-Way Power Front Seat and Fordomatic Drive make all driving a genuine pleasure.

Resale Value? It is a matter of statistical record that Ford cars return more of their original cost when they are sold than any competitive make of car.

As for performance. Ford's advantage here is best understood by personal experience. Your Ford Dealer will gladly make a '54 Ford available for a personal Test Drive . . . and we believe one Test Drive will convince you that Ford . . . America's best seller . . . is your best buy!

Clean-up Week Stresses Safety

Disorder Ranks Second As Cause of Accidents

There's a new look in order for many Iowa farmsteads this week, which is spring clean-up week in the state. Norval Wardle, extension farm safety specialist at Iowa State College, says this new look means more when we think in terms of a safer and easier place to work and play.

No Better Time

There's no better time to enforce "a place for everything and everything in its place." Wardle says that research conducted by the National Safety Council shows that the largest cause of accidents—other than poor judgment—is disorder. That makes disorder a killer—a killer of time, happiness, money and lives!

Disorder is most apparent where rags, papers and rubbish have been allowed to accumulate in baements, storage sheds and around buildings.

Ladders, Stairways

Wardle emphasizes that spring clean-up week is the time to inspect ladders and stairways once again. Barn stairways littered with loose straw and hay often lead to falls. Alleyways and work areas obstructed with pitchforks, shovels and bushel baskets often lead to injuries.

It takes only a second to set things on the stairway in the house, but later we may have days on our hands recovering from sprains and bruises. Then we realize how costly it is to use the stairway as storage.

Help your farm and home take on that new look by removing accident hazards.

Check Fire Fighting Equipment On Farm

Clean-up week ended officially April 24, but it's still a good time to check the defenses against fire on your farm, says Paul Henderson, County extension director. Knowing the equipment you have means you can move quicker and more effectively when fighting fires.

Henderson adds that remembering the fire department telephone number will aviod fumbling through a directory. Keeping your head, too, saves precious seconds.

Norval Wardle, extension farm safety specialist at Iowa State College, lst the minimum fire fighting equipment for an Iowa farm:

1. Adequate supply of water for fighting fires.
2. Recharged fire extinguisher conveniently located (especially near gasoline storage).
3. Enough garden hose and water buckets.
4. Ladders long enuogh to reach the highest rooftop on the farm.
5. Water pump, tank . extinguisher, burlap bags, brooms and shovels to fight field fires.

Wardle emphasizes that another good tool in fighting fires is cleanliness. You start your tractor in the machine shed. It backfires. What happens? Nothing if the floor is clean. But if shavings, hay, oily rags and trash are on the floor - chances are you'll have a fire on your hands.

You keep electric motors clean, oiled and free of dust and dirt. You don't allow combustible materials to pile up near the motor. There's a short circuit and a spark. What happens? Nothing. There's nothing to burn. Don't give fires a place to start Wardle says.

Pocket gophers can be killed by powdered strychnine placed on sliced, fresh Irish potatoes, says Harold Gunderson, extension entomologist at Iowa State College.

Study Swine Problems

Regular meeting of Erin Enterprizers was held at Albert Eekhoff's April 20, 1954. We cleared up the slapper business. The main discussion was on swine around farrowing by our leader, Alvin Townsend. Questions were asked on swine problems and management procedures. Discussion was held on question. Importance of health examinations were stressed. We decided to have the county nurse at the July 20th meeting.

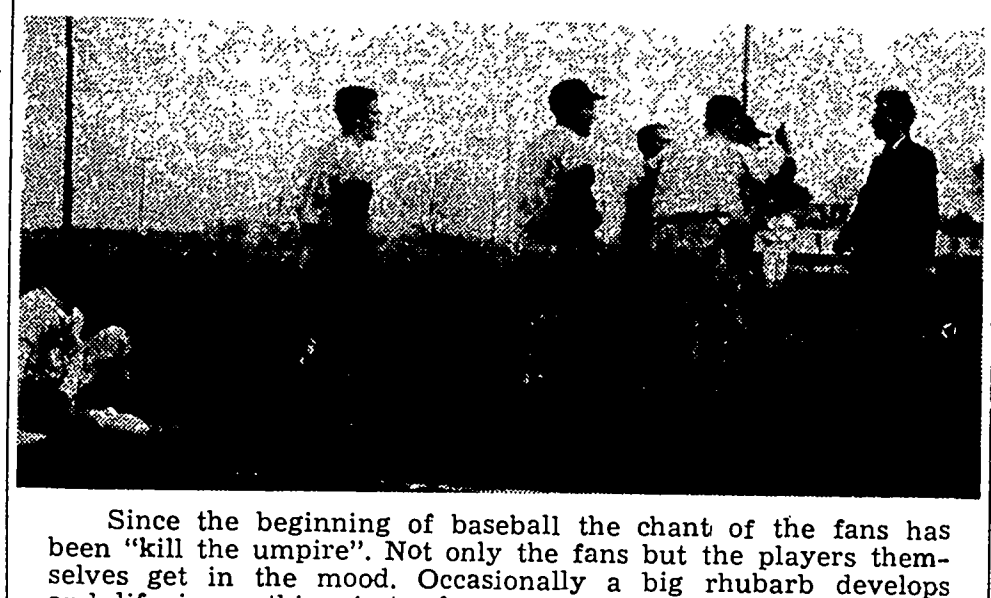
County Buys Gravel

Hancock County supervisors Monday entered into a purchase agreement with Dorothy Mezvinsky wherby Hancock county will purchase gravel from gravel deposits in land owned by Mrs Mezvinsky in sections 7 and 18 in Madison township. The gravel will cost Hancock county 15c per cubic yard for the amount used.

Dodgers? No, Just Klemme-Rockwell



Since the beginning of baseball the chant of the fans has been "kill the umpire". Not only the fans but the players themselves get in the mood. Occasionally a big rhubarb develops and life is anything but pleasant for the hapless individual whose chore it is to make the decisions.

In a recent game between the Klemme and Rockwell high school baseball teams, the above pictured action took place when a rhubarb developed over the umpire's decision on a close play at third base. Graydon Barz, of Klemme shown perched on third had just slid into third and was given the thumb to signify that he was out, when thirdbase coach, Don Thiemann, complained that the thirdbaseman had dropped the ball. Umpire Hiller, instructor in the Klemme school was about to change his decision, when most of the Rockwell infielders ganged up on him to protest.

After considerable jangling and some deep thought on the part of Hiller, he decided that since due to the position of the players during the action he couldn't actually see that the ball was dropped, he had better stick to his original decision and call Barz "out".

Rockwell won the game 3 to 2 in an extra inning.

Oh, for the life of an umpire!

Regular meeting of the Order of Eastern Star will be held at 8 o'clock next Tuesday evening May 11, at the Masonic Temple in Garner. All members are urged to attend.

Four Group II Ratings Awarded

Musicians from the Klemme School continued in the habit formed at Britt in the music contest, when they came home with five Group I ratings and four Group II ratings from the state music contest at Perry. The contest which was held the past week end saw nine entries from Klemme who received Group I ratings at Britt come through with nothing less than a II.

Director Whitford is rightfully proud of the showing his students made, and is especially pleased with the showing made by his trombone quartet. This group is made up of two freshmen and two grade school students, and they came home with a Group I rating.

Following is a list of the Klemme entries in the contest:

Group I

Piano solo, Margaret Haefner;
Trombone solo, Arthur Carlson;
Brass quartet, Cecil Jacobs, Fred Arnold, Margaret Haefner, and Arthur Carlson;
Brass quintet, Val Stromer, Gordon Beier, Arthur Carlson, Rosalie Rosendahl, and LaVerne Josten; Trombone quartet, Arthur Carlson, Rosalie Rosendahl, Candace Carlson, and LaVohn Josten.

Group II

Flute solo, Gracka Gerardi;
Clarinet solo, Lois Christians;
Cornet solo, Fred Arnold;
Woodwind chamber group, Jo Ann Bacon, Gracka Gerardi, Carol Bridges, Margaret Haefner, and Lois Christians.

Band Contest

The Klemme School Band will play in the large group contest at Ventura at 9:50 o'clock Saturday morning, May 8. There will be 37 bands in Class D participating in the contest.

Announce Enagement of Rev. Jaberg's Sister to Edward Grosshuesch

Announcement of the engagement of Miss Ruth Jaberg to Cpl. Edward Grosshuesch was made the past week end by the former's mother, Mrs E. C. Jaberg of Sheboygan, Wis. Miss Jaberg is the daughter of the late Rev. E. C. Jaberg and a sister of Rev. Vernon E. Jaberg, pastor of Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church here.

Both Miss Jaberg and the bridegroom-elect attended Mission House College at Plymouth, Wis. The former completed her studies in January and will be graduated in May. During the last several months, she has taught at Franklin State Grade School.

The servicemen is the son of Mrs. Alice Grosshuesch of Marshalltown, Iowa, and the late Rev. Calvin Grosshuesch. Shortly after Cpl. Grosshuesch was graduated from Mission House College, class of 1952, he entered the U. S. Army. Since basic training he has been an instructor in the Basic Army Administration Course at Fort Ord, California.

A late summer wedding is being planned.

New Manager for Telephone Company

Layton Sonnerholm of Britt has been appointed manager of the local exchange of the Central Iowa Telephone Company. His appointment fills the vacancy created some weeks ago when George Parkinson was transferred to the Cresco-Elma exchange.

Mr Sonnerholm has worked for a number of years in telephone work, both in Iowa and on the West Coast. He is married and has two boys in his family; one in the 5th grade and one in the 6th grade.

The Sonnerholms will move to Klemme as soon as living quarters become available.

Services Will Be Saturday For Tue

Carbon Monoxide Poisoning Fatal To Klemme Man

Funeral services will be at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, May 7, from the Methodist Church in Klemme for Lavon O. Tue, 28. Mr Tue will be buried in Ell Township Cemetery at Klemme.

Coroner's investigation into the death of Mr Tue is incomplete, but he was found dead in the garage at his home on the Ed Barz farm just east of town this morning (Wednesday). He was found when Mr Barz entered the garage to get gas for his tractor. Coroner Boughton said that he must have died near midnight Tuesday of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Mr Tue was a salesman for an oil company. He is survived by his wife, the former Ruth Stille, a son only a few days old, and a son who will soon be two years old.

To Be Inducted

The Hancock County Local Board has received an induction call for two men to be delivered on 10 May 1954. The following volunteers have been ordered to report for induction on this date:

Philip A. Studer, Wesley, Iowa; and Richard W. Rasmuson, Garner, Iowa.

Married In Ceremony at Klemme Methodist Church

Couple Will Make Home In Klemme

Miss Donna Heivilin, daughter of Mr and Mrs E. S. Heivilin, Mason City, and Clarence Larsen, son of Mr and Mrs C. A. Larson of Klemme, were marred in a candlelight ceremony in the Klemme Methodist Church, the Rev. Roger Russell of the First Methodist Church of Mason City officiating, assisted by the Rev. E. M. Egeland of Klemme. Mrs Ernest Gerardi of Klemme played nuptial music and Harry E. Heite of Kansas City sang.

The bride wore a waltz length gown of white satin, tulle and lace and a short veil of silk illusion and carried white shattered carnations and calla lilies.

Miss Beverly Looft was maid of honor and Miss Dorothy Meyer of East Troy, Wisconsin, was bridesmaid. They had matching waltz length dresses of aqua organdy and net and carried pink and white shattered carnations. Diann Heivilin, sister of the bride, was flowergirl, wearing a waltz length dress of white organdy with an overskirt of white net.

Candlelighters were Geraldine Heivilin, sister of the bride, and Mary Ellen Isvik, niece of the bridegroom. They wore matching waltz length dresses of pink and blue organdy and net.

The bridegroom was attended by Earle Denmark of Chicago, Marvin Isvik of Omaha and Thomas Heivilin.

The bride's mother had a brown and white silk dress with white and aqua acessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a light blue linen with pink and white aseccories. Both wore corsages of pink and white roses and carnations.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the ceremony. Mrs A. J. Kudje, aunt of the bride, was hostess. Mrs Earle Denmark of Chicago and Mrs Marvin Isvik of Omaha, sisters of the bridegroom, poured. Mrs Lester Aldrich, aunt of the bride, cut the four-tiered wedding cake.

After a trip through the south, the couple will be at home in Klemme.

Mrs Larsen attended the Mason City Junior College and Iowa State Teachers College and Larsen was graduated from Iowa State College. He is a stock buyer here.

10 YEARS AGO—

Four Klemme men are now employed at the Britt hemp mill. Roy Smaefer, Bernard Smid, Philip Bock and Frank Ward. So far the plant is only operating on a day-time shift.

Cadet Nurse Luella Lewis of Des Moines, spent the week end visiting with her parents, Mr and Mrs Verner Lewis of near Klemme.

Sgt "Pete" Paul writes his parents, Mr and Mrs Herman Paul, inquiring "Do hens still lay eggs with shells on?" "Pete" is somewhere in Italy and evidently would like some nice fresh Iowa eggs.

Miss Patricia Kudje, daughter of Mr and Mrs Arthur Kudje of Klemme brought highest honors to herself and the Klemme high school when she won a first place, with national honors, for her alto saxophone solo in the music contest at Carroll, Iowa last Friday.

20 YEARS AGO—

Mrs Henry Barz entertained her Sunday School class of Primary pupils at her home Sunday afternoon. All enjoyed a nice time.

The Klemme Creamery is a clean sanitary looking place since it has been repainted with a nice glossy white paint. George Lawhorn, local painter, was kept busy most of the past week painting at the creamery. The job was rather difficult and Mr Lawhorn did most of the work at night and when the machinery was not running.

Those from here who attended the Auxiliary meeting at Britt last Friday were: Mrs Paul Grange, Mrs Pavey, Mrs Coobs and Peggy, Mrs Thomas, Mrs Wolfe, Leona Lau, and Lydia Bock.

Asa Gibbs, son of Mr and Mrs Harry Gibbs, issued invitations to the teachers of the Klemme School and to the Seniors to be present at a party at his home in the country Tuesday evening, May 1st. After games and a very pleasant evening, his mother, Mrs Gibbs served a lovely lunch. Asa is a member of the senior class.

30 YEARS AGO—

Will Abbas, a young man who is working for Alvin Hoefker on a farm near Klemme, was seriously injured last week Tuesday when he was kicked in the head by a horse and his skull fractured.

Clarence Bachman is doing a lot of repairing and remodeling on his barber shop building. Among some of the improvements he is having done include a new foundation and new sills under the building. The interior will be repapered and repainted and he is also installing an up-to-plumbing. He will have a mighty fine shop when he gets all the data shower bath and other remodeling finished.

The County High School Day is to be held at Kanawha tomorrow. Baseball, declamatory and other contests are on the program. The Klemme school as well as all the other schools of the county will be there.

Quite a number of Klemme fishermen have been going after the bullheads at Clear Lake the past week and have had great success. The bullheads are biting good and they are nice large ones.

May Still Take Selective Service Qualifications Test

Colonel R. A. Lancaster, State Director of Selective Service announced here today that those registrants who, for reasons beyond their control, were unable to make the regularly scheduled Selective Service College Qualifications Tests on November 19, 1953 and April 22, 1954, may take the test on Thursday, May 20, 1954.

Lancaster emphasized that applicants for the test should submit their applications at the earliest possible date. Applications postmarked later than May 10, 1954, will not be accepted.

To be eligible to take the test the applicant must: (1) intend to request deferment as a student, (2) be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction in a college, university or similar institution of learning; (3) must not previously have taken the test.

Applicants who applied for and were issued tickets of admission for test held November 19, 1953 and April 22, 1954, but who were unable to take the test will not be able to use the ticket of admission issued for either of those tests. Each registrant applying for the test to be given May 20, 1954 will be issued a new ticket of admission and the old ticket may be destroyed.

Applicants for the test will mail their application blanks to the Educational Testing Service in self-addressed envelopes. These application blanks and envelopes are available at all local boards. They cannot be obtained from any other source.

NO WEDDING

Clarence Rowland of Iowa Falls spent what was to have been his wedding day, in a hospital bed with a badly crushed leg. He was hurt when caught between a truck and a bulldozer two days before his intended marriage to Miss Lela Graves.

UNSAFE

The grand jury has decided that the Jackson county courthouse is unsafe for keeping valuable records, and should be replaced. The building was built in ninety days, at a cost of $14,000, in the fall of '73.

BURNED

Arthur Vogt and William Hodges of Neola were burned recently when their drag-line came into contact with a high voltage wire. They were working on a road project northwest of Minden.

SKIP DAY: While the unfortunate underclassmen were busy laboring over their books back in dear old Klemme High, last Friday, April 17th, we seniors were busy enjoying ourselves in Minneapolis Minnesota.

At 4:30 A. M. we early-birds boarded our chartered Jefferson Bus for the big city. After a rest stop at Owatanna and another brief stop at St. Paul we continued on to Stillwater, Minnesota, and arriving there at 9:30 visited the State Penitentiary. From here we returned to St. Paul for dinner, and at 2:00 o'clock began on interesting tour of the Ford Assembly Plant which is located in St. Paul.

Our next destination was the airport, and after going through it, we headed for down town Minneapolis. After a couple of hours of exploration here, we ate and then drove to the stadium to see the Ice Follies. They were very beautiful and really enjoyed by everyone. Again we boarded our bus and went as far as Owatanna where we stopped for a lunch, and then, tired but very happy, continued on our way home. At 3:00 A. M. we were again in Klemme. Now, don't you wish you were a SENIOR?

Music News

This past week has found many of us very busy brushing up those State Contest pieces. At almost every available time, someone can be heard practicing. Band has been starting at 8:50 to allow some more practicing time. The band is taking a rest from contest music, and is digging into some of our other pieces. The new kettle drums work fine in "Dragnet" we discovered.

A few of us felt as if a near tragedy had befallen us when State Contest fell on Friday the 30th. As that is the night of the high school skating party at Mason City. But, I guess the party will get along without some of us regulars! Maybe better?

Between the Jr.-Sr. banquet in the Jr. class, and the Year books in the Sr. class, mixed chorus is finding it hard to get in too much practice. But, nevertheless we're getting along.

If the weather ever gets any better, marching band will be starting—we hope. Then before we know it, summer concerts will be starting and everything that goes with them. . . . A song entitled "Summertime" can better describe this . . . But, as I look out the window today, the song entitled "Rain" better fits the mood. Perhaps it will go away only to come again some other day . . . I know this to be all too true.

MUSIC NOTES

Flash, one of our Sax players is sporting a brand new pair of glasses.

Extra . . . We still have some very eligible Jrs. and Srs. in band (boys I'm speaking about). Some on the list are Graydon Barz, Cecil Jacobs, Gordie B., Dick B.

Get busy you band girls, let's not let them get out of the organization.

Sixth Grade News

Twelve people from our grade were among the Klemme students who had returned their dental cards and were taken to Garner to see a movie last Saturday. They report a very nice time.

Mrs Lynford Back visited our room this week. We like having our parents visit us.

We are all working hard finishing projects and getting ready for tests. We are learning to divide decimals in arithmetic class, and find that it's fun.

Some of us have finished our soap carving and are quite proud of our work. We have some very good Indian heads, a nice swan and some fish.

Feature Article

The Commencement Speaker this year is Mr L. P. Ortale, who has been the school superintendent of Osage, Iowa for twenty-two years. Mr Ortale gives from twelve to fifteen commencement addresses each year and has delivered them in forty-eight Iowa schools and five Minnesota schools. Following are a few of the testimonials Mr Ortale has received from the Superintendents of different schools he has delivered addresses at:

"L. P. Ortale delivered our commencement address and I considered it one of the best that I have ever heard. It was not dry as are some speeches of this type, yet he gave the youngsters some things worth while to think about. I also had much favorable comment from people in attendance. I heartly recommend Mr Ortale to anyone needing a commencement speaker."

"Mr Ortale gave the commencement address to the 1953 Center Point graduating class and many of our audience pronouced it the best we had heard in recent years. Mr Ortale makes a nice appearance before an audience, has good expression, and delivery and enunciates well. His content holds enough fitting humor to please his listeners, but is weighted with admonition and illustrations. I recommend him unreservedly."

"Mr Ortale gave the commencement address at Goodell, Iowa last year. His message was both inspirational and meaningful, receiving favorable comment from both students and school patrons".

The Commencement is May 19, at the Klemme gym. I hope there will be a large attendance, because I'm sure we have an interesting speaker.

Seventh Grade News

Our Junior Scholastic this week had a play about Stormalong John which is an old sea chantey. We dramatized it with the following parts being assigned: announcer, Mardell; narrator, Jerry; Boy, Carroll; Stormy, Roger Meints; Mermaid, Cozette; men Roger Paulsen and Marlin.

We have several attractive spring flowers posters. They are all free-hand cut outs. Carroll Priebe, Mardell Stadtlander, Robert Thiemann, Craig Larson, Myrna Barz, and Jerry La Favre have theirs completed.

We are re-checking our basic skills to see if we have made any progress since January. We are hoping for good results.

In language we have been working with conjunctions and iterjunctions. We are ready for our last unit which covers announcements and directions.

Klemme Third In First North Star Conference Track Met

On April 27 the track team journeyed to Mason City for a track meet between the schools in the North Star Conference. Others who were entered in the meet were Ventura, Sheffield and Rockwell.

Frist at 3:30 there was the 100 yd. dash in which Thiemann placed fourth. Also there was the shot put in which Karsjens placed first with a 38 feet 2 inch throw.

Sheffield took first place in the meet with 104½ points, Ventura second with 95, Klemme 53½ and Rockwell 27.

Eighth Grade News

This week in arithmetic we have been reviewing square root, insurance problems and equations.

In English we are reviewing for a test on what we have studied lately.

Thursday and Friday we gave oral reports on the books we have read.

Wednesday we studied chart 25 in Civics and found it real interesting.

We have made an eighth grade graduate paper which we plan to sell.

Fifth Grade News

We made pictures of apple blossoms and birds in art. They look very attractive on our bulletin board.

We are completing many of our subjects. Next we will have to review all our work before we will be ready for our final tests.

Last Saturday twelve of our boys and girls attended a movie "Lassie Over the Hills". Each child who had returned their dental card was permitted to attend.

Mrs Stokesbary visited our room. She took a picture of the whole class.

Sharon Bachman had a birthday April 29. She passed out treats to everyone.

Granted Scholarship

Noel Egeland has received notification that he has been accepted as a student in Mechanical Engineering at the Technological Institute at Northwestern University at Evanston, Illinois, for the term beginning in September, 1954. He has also been advised that he has been granted a scholarship of $675 for the 1954-55 academic year which will cover the full tuition of that period.

Scholarship grants for successive years will depend upon satisfactory scholastic work during the first year.

Noel will attend summer school at Evanston Township High School for six weeks in June and July of this year to complete two mathematic courses that were not available in the Klemme High School but are required for admission to the Northwestern University Technological Institute.

This and That Around K. H. S. - -

The seniors were thrilled to recieve their invitations this week from the juniors telling them about the banquet May 8th. But then most of the seniors had ideas anyway!

Harriet Anderson just walks around in a sort of daze. Does anyone know her latest boyfriend or is she still waiting for Jerry?

What's this picnic about that Lois J., Lois C., and Darlene are planning for Sunday night? I suppose they are going stag. Ha! Ha!

Believe it or not! All the seniors are back from Skip Day. I guess they weren't interested in any of us enough to keep us at Stillwater.

Why all the commotion on the bus on the way home Saturday morning, Ronnie? Couldn't you find your shoe?

It never pays to run from girls does it, Harry? Anyway, it didn't pay you to do it last Tuesday when you fell in that ditch going down the alley.

For a short time everyone thought that Tom and Jo Ellen had broken up. But we see they are right in the groove again.

Does anyone know the latest on Richard and Marlene W.? Is he still taking her home at night or not? Does he see her any other time than in school? Tell us Richard!

If anyone knows what's best for a car, an Oldsmobile or a Ford, please tell Joan Lemke. She's having a problem with this part of transportation.

North Iowa Visited By Heavy Freeze

Residents in a good share of the state of Iowa, and especially those in the northern part of the state, awoke Monday morning to see their flowers and trees in rather poor shape. Trees, which were just beginning to leaf out, and flowers that were up, found the snow and cold that came during the night, Sunday, too much for them.

It began to snow a little during Sunday afternoon, and snow showers continued throughout the night. A strong northwest wind pushed the thermometer down to 27 degrees by Monday morning, and although it has warmed up some since then, it froze again on Monday and Tuesday nights.

Flowers, trees and shrubbery were hit pretty hard, but farmers say that the oats which have been up for sometime will probably stand the freeze pretty well. Corn planting had not begun when the freeze came.

Washington, D. C., has the greatest population per square mile, of any city.

2ND ADJOURNED APRIL

Garner, Iowa
April 26, 1954

The Hancock County, Iowa, Board of Supervisors met in session on above captioned date pursuant to adjournment with S. A. Barber and Clarence Bird present. Absent was Clint Daniels.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read.

On motion and second Wm. Henschen of Garner, is hereby appointed Preliminary Engineer to make an investigation into the necessity and feasibility of the construction of a sub-district by tile lines of D. D. No. 31-36, through lands listed in the petition of D. G. Quist, et al, filed April 26, 1954. Said Engineer to report to this board at his earliest convenience.

In the matter of the petition of Otto Klinge for a repair of the main tile of D. D. No. 116 by construction of an auxiliary tile parallel to the old main tile, said petition having been filed October 12, 1953 and Wm. Henschen having been appointed Engineer on said petition on October 12, 1953, and

WHEREAS said Engineer's report is now on file and does recommend such repair as petitioned for.

NOW BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors that said Engineer's report is hereby approved and a contract is hereby awarded to Earl Stille of Garner, Iowa, for the labor and material in said repair all as provided for by law, Sec. 455.135, Code of Iowa 1950, and Clarence Bird, Chairman of the Board is hereby authorized to execute a contract with Earl Stille of Garner, Iowa, in behalf of Hancock County, Iowa.

On motion and second the contract of Earl Stille of Garner, Iowa, for labor and material on D. D. No. 116 repair is hereby approved.

On motion and second the contract and bond of Sylvan C. Oleson Construction Company of Forest City, Iowa are hereby approved.

Supervisor Daniels is hereby appointed a committee to investigate and cause repairs to be made in D. D. No. 13, L No. 4; D. D. No. 7; D. D. No. 1 & 2, L No. 10; Jt D. D. No 52-54-17; and D. D. No 3 & 4, L. No 76.

On motion and second the Engineer's report by C. F. Merten on repair petition of Leo Cutshall on D. D. No. 57, Main is hereby approved.

WHEREAS Wm. Henschen was appointed Preliminary Engineer as commanded in Chapter 455, Code of Iowa 1950, on October 12, 1953 to make a survey, investigation and report on the necessity and feasibility of the construction of a sub-drainage district of D. D. No. 138 and a sub-drainage district of D. D. No. 1 & 2, Lat. No. 13A, petitioned for by Harry Horecka, and said Engineer did file his reports on April 17, 1954, recommending the construction of said sub-drainage districts, as petitioned for, for the reason that the present system of drainage is inadequate and that such improvement will be conducive to public health, welfare, convenience and utility and that the benefits to be derived will be greater than the costs thereof.

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors that the reports of the Engineer be and the same are hereby tentatively approved and may be amended before final action thereon and said reports of the Engineer and plans shall come on for further hearing at the Courthouse in Garner, Iowa, on the 14th day of June, 1954, at 2:00 P. M. for D. D. No. 138, sub-district and at 2:30 P. M. for D. D. No. 1 & 2, Lateral 13A, sub-district.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the County Auditor be and he is hereby directed to cause notice of hearing on the reports of the Engineer and plan of said improvements to be published in The Garner Leader and Signal, a newspaper of general circulation published in Garner, Iowa, advising all owners, occupants, lienholders and encumbrancers of record in the proposed sub-districts of the petitions on file for proposed construction, the favorable reports of the Engineer thereon, the approval by the Board of Supervisors of the Engineer's reports as a tentative plan, and that same may be amended before final action thereon and that all claims for damages and objections to such construction shall be in writing and must be filed with the County Auditor at or before the time set for hearing thereon.

The foregoing resolution was offered and read by Supervisor Barber who moved its adoption, was seconded by Supervisor Bird, whereupon the Chairman, Clarence A. Bird, placed the motion of its adoption and upon roll call the vote thereon was S. A. Barber and Clarence Bird, ayes. Nays, none. Whereupon the chairman declared the resolution duly adopted.

On motion and second the Board adjourned to May 3, 1954, at 9 o'clock A. M.

Iowa's Bearded Governors

Know how many Iowa governors wore beards?

There were ten . . . their pictures are right there in the new Official Register. Also, four governors were semi-bald, seven wore moustaches.

Iowa has had some governors with unusual peculiarities, too, including one who refused to eat off a plate if it had a flower picture in the middle.

But, come to think of it, those differences run about the same for Iowa folks as a whole. It really wouldn't be very interesting, either, if all of us were alike! Differences in people make "personality", make folks more enjoyable.

When neighbors drop in at our house, some like a cup of tea, some coffee, some a temperate glass of beer. Some talk crops, some world problems or politics. But each of us respects the other's right of choice.

That's what is important . . . realizing that folks aren't all alike, don't prefer the same things . . . and that the other fellow's preferences are just as important as our own.

Plans Being Made for Bigger and Better County Junior Fair

"A Bigger and Better Fair" this is the theme of the board of directors of the Hancock County junior fair. At the present time bids are being taken on a new building to replace the drying tunnel of the old hemp plant. Just in case the bids are not low enough to allow construction, the tunnel is being changed to make is usable for hogs and sheep. The county board of supervisors have appropriated $9200 to the fair buildings.

A new packing area is being planned south of the fair buildings to eliminate traffic around the buildings. This will make it more safe for children and adults.

It is planned to add 4 rides to the fair this year. They include ferris wheel, pony ride, airplane ride, merry-go-round, and train ride. The rides will add some entertainment for the children. The rides will be placed some distance away from the fair buildings so as not to disturb the fair activities.

Also space will be provided for a machinery show and commercial consessions stands. Any machinery or commercial companies interested in some space should contact the county extension office immediately so that space may be reserved.

Some additional buildings that the fairboard hope to add in the years to come if finances allow are a covered show and sale ring and an auditorium. Another livestock building may be needed if more boys join 4-H and show interest in exhibiting.

There is still a $3800.00 debt aganst the fair grounds. The county appriopiation can be used to pay off this debt but if this is done it will only decrease the chances of constructing new buildings. The 4-H girls clubs have donated $1141.27 and the boys clubs $673.86. The boys are starting a campaign to even the amount the girls have donated. The Garner Saddle Club will donate proceeds from their dance at Duncan May 7.

Another way this debt may be reduced is by individuals who were not contacted during the fair building drive and those who would like to contribute more toward the cause. These donations should be made payable to 4-H building fund and either mailed or delivered to the extension office or given to any fairboard member.

The board of directors is headed by president Floyd Friedow, Kanawha; Mitchell Bock, Klemme, secretary; Raymond Hobbs, Woden, treasurer. John Ostercamp, Britt; and Curtiss Grieman, Garner, are the other two directors.

Any help you can give in furthuring the cause for a bigger and better fair will be appreciated by the fairboard.

Jolly Workers Club Met

The Jolly Workers Club held their April meeting at the home of Verbelle Gilpin with seventeen members present.

It was voted to send $2.00 to the Cancer Fund and to buy Norma Albers a gift as she has been in the hospital.

Nettie Roths and Freda Lass had charge of the entertainment and we all enjoyed the games.

We opened our gifts for Easter from our Mystery Friends.

The May meeting will be held at the home of Dorothy Helps with Norma Albers as co-hostess.

Everyone is asked to bring a 50 cent gift for their Mystery Friend for Mother's Day.

A lovely lunch was served by Verbelle with Maude Bachman as co-hostess.

1954 May See Extensive Damage by Corn Borers

Faverable conditions for corn borer develoment could set the stage for lots of borer damage in Iowa corn this year.

That's the conclusion drawn from findings in the spring corn borer surveys by H. M. Harris, head of the Iowa State College Department of Entomology and Zoology and state entomologist.

This spring entomologists from the college and the state Department of Agriculture surveyed the state, examining the disked stalks in oat fields to determine the corn borer populations, counting both live and dead borers. And Harris reports, as an average they found nearly 4,200 live corn borers per acre in oat fields. In the spring of 1953, the live borer count per acre was just under 1,800. They found less than 19 percent dead borers, as compared to over 28 percent in the spring survey of 1953.

Estimated loss to corn borers in 1953 was between 50 and 75 million dollars, Harris says, and the larger live borer population this spring could lead to an even greater loss this year. Weather and corn growing conditions are major factors that will determine the importance of the borers this year.

Winter mortality of corn borers was lowest in northeast Iowa and highest in northwest Iowa, Harris reports. Only 8 percent of the borers found in northeast Iowa oat fields were dead, while 32 percent found in northwest Iowa were dead.

Don't Feed the Moths—

Treat Woolens When Storing Them

It's very disheartening to unpack stored woolens at the end of the summer and discover moth holes To prevent this, treat them before you put them away. Seal up tight and label containers.

Take proper precautions in storing winter woolens, and you won't need to worry about moth larvae feeding on them during the summer, says Harold Gunderson, extension entomologist at Iowa State College.

First, be sure everything you pack away is clean. Either launder it or have it dry-cleaned. Gunderson advises sending fur coats to a commercial storage plant rather than trying to store them yourself.

Tightly Seal Containers

Whatever you pack your blankets and wool clothes in, make sure it can be tightly sealed. If you use cardboard boxes, seal all the cracks with brown paper tape. Be sure to label the box so you'll know at a glance what's stored in it. Then you won't have to unseal it unnecessarily.

If you hang your winter clothes in plastic bags during the summer you'll want to put masking tape over the zipper and any other openings. Gunderson says moth larvae are small enough to work their way through the closed zipper into the bag.

Cedar chests or metal trunks that don't seal tightly should also be sealed with tape along any possible openings.

Pack With PDB

Pack blankets, sweaters, socks, and other articles you fold to store, in layers sprinkled with paradichlorobenzene crystals (commonly called PDB at your druggists). You should use about ¼ pound PDB for every 12 cubic feet of space in your container.

If you're hanging your clothes in storage, you can buy the crystals in a perforated container ready to hang.

Don't thing you're safe from moths just because you have a cedar chest, Guderson warns. He says a new cedar chest will contain enough aromatic oils to kill young clothes moth larvae. But after a year or so, it will lose its power. So even if your cedar chest has odor left in it, but is more than a year old, you'd better use PDB to be safe.

DDT May Be Used

If you are going to leave your woolens hanging in the closet during the summer, you will want to spray both the closet and the clothes with DDT.

Take everything out of the closet and clean it thoroughly with a vacuum or brush. Spray the closet with a 5 percent DDT or 2 percent chlordane solution. One application will last about 6 months.

While you have your clothes out of the closet, hang them on a clothesline and spray them lightly with the same soultion. Let them dry before you put them back in the closet. The DDT solution won't injure any fabric that can be dry-cleaned. Too much of the solution may leave a white deposit on dark fabrics. It can be removed by brushing or dry-cleaning.

Protect Washable Woolens

Washable woolens can be moth-proofed in the last rinse water with the liquid solution EQ-53. Use 1 tablespoon EQ-53 to each pound of dry woolens. The clothes will be safe from moth damage until washed again or dry-cleaned. Infants' garments treated with DDT should be dry-cleaned before worn.

Closing Dates Set For Corn Loans

The closing date for completing loans and purchase agreements on corn uder the 1953 Price Support Program is May 31st, 1954, according to an announcement from the Hancock County ASC Office.

The 1953 crop of corn is supported at $1.54 per bushel.

It is suggested that producers desiring loans on 1953 corn make application within the next week or ten days so that the sealing and loan papers can be completed before the closing date.

Purchase Agreements are available to those producers who wish price support, but do not wish CCC loans.

By signing a Purchase Agreement, a producer is not obligated to sell to Commodity Credit Corporation or convert to a loan any of the corn covered by the Agreement, but is given an option to sell or convert to a loan any amount up to the quantity signed for on the Agreement.

He is give a thirty-day period to the date that loans for the same kind of grain are due, in which to excercise his option to sell to Commodity Credit Corporation or convert to loan, by giving his County ASC Office written notice of his intention. Loans on corn mature on July 31, 1954.

Get-Out-the-Vote Campaign to Start

May 6th, 8:00 p. m., REA Building at Garner is the time and place the County Farm Bureau Women's Vice Chairman have set for the "Kick Off" of their Get Out The Vote Campaign.

The purpose of the campaign is not to influence the people as to who to vote for but to get the people to the polls and vote! This is the duty of every eligible person in Hancock County and a duty which a lot of us are slipping in. Let's all do our part this year and study the issues and candidates and then go to the polls June 7th.

A good program has been lined up for this May 6th Kick Off. Kenneth Langer, assistant to the president and secretary of the IFBF will be the guest speaker. The three cadidates for representatives from this county have been invited to say a few words. The awards to the winners of the essay and letter writing contest will be given at this tme and the letters read.

4-H Girls Preparing For Good Grooming Contest June 5th

The Hancock County 4-H girls are all making preparations for the good grooming contest in their local club during the month of May. Each 4-H girl in the county will enter the local contest. Two girls a junior and senior member from each club will be selected to enter the county contest which will be held on Rally Day, June 5th at Hayfield.

The final Good Grooming Revue will be held at the evening program to be given for parents and friends of 4-H on June 5th at Hayfield.

The girls will be judged on personal grooming, clothing grooming, shoes and hose, accessories, general impressions and the 4-H record book.

The contest is always an interesting one and a difficult one for the judges to make final decision. The senior winner of the contest will represent Hancock County in the State 4-H Girls Convention in Ames the third week in June.

Hospital, Surgical, Medical, Nursing

All residents of Klemme and Hancock county who qualify will have the opportunity to have the National Benefit Plans of Protection. These famous plans now protect many thousands of individuals and families against expensive hospital, surgical, nursing and doctor bills for either sickness or accident. The program to explain this protection to all residents of the county is now beginning and it will continue until all residents of the county have been contacted and the National Benefit Plan of Protection explained to them.

Two Great National Benefit Plans

Plan "A"—Hospital, Surgery, Nursing
Plan "B"—Medical, Surgical, Nursing

This is the tremendously popular Hospital, Surgical and Nursing Plan. It now protects thousands and thousands of individuals and families. If you and your family are not protected under this Plan, you may learn how it may be available to you if you qualify. This is the Plan that pays toward Doctor Bills in the home, at the doctor's office, in the clinic, in the hospital—in fact, everywhere. It covers sickness, accident and delivery charge for childbirth. The benefits for doctor bills, operations and nursing will give added protection to the National Benefit Hospital, Surgical and Nursing Plan or to any other plan of protection.

COUNTY-WIDE PROGAM

WE ARE PLEDGED TO INTERVIEW ALL COUNTY RESIDENTS; THE NATIONAL BENEFIT PLANS OF PROTECTION WILL BE EXPLAINED TO INDIVIDUALS AND FAMILIES

During the time necessary to contact all county residents, representatives will be interviewing individuals and families. The National Benefit Plans of protection will be explained by fully qualified, specially trained representatives. They are pledged to contact all residents and to make plans available to all who qualify.

A Few Minutes Is All That Is Needed

Just a few minutes of your time is needed to receive a full explanation of the Plans. The representative who calls on you will arrange a time that is convenient for you to receive full information.

INCOME PROTECTION: Ask the representative who calls on you about the National Benefit Income Protector Plans that give you a monthly check when you are sick.

Here Are A Few Reasons Why It Is Important For You To Hear A Full Explanation Of The National Benefit Plan

They Are a Safeguard Against Government Control of Hospitals and Doctors: Socialized medicine is unnecessary for you when you and your family are protected under National Benefit Plans.

Hospital and Medical Care Has Become Tremendously Expensive: If you or a member of your family has been recently hospitalized and has had expensive medical or surgical care, you know the importance of a National Benefit Plan to prepay the cost of this necessary, but expensive care.

One Person Out of Every Two Families Will Be A Hospital Patient This Year: The advanced medical techniques and ultra modern hospital facilities are being used now more than ever to safeguard health and prolong life. If you or a member of your family takes sick or meets with an accident, you, too, may become a hospital patient. And six of every 10 hospital patients require expensive surgical operations.

You May Prepay Expensive Hospital, Surgical, Medical and Nursing at Low Cost: National Benefit Plans of Protection are low in cost. You will be surprised at the small monthly deposits to keep them in force to protect you and your family.

YOU WILL BE CONTACTED—WATCH FOR THE MAN WITH THIS CARD
It identifies an authorized representative. Only he is qualified to explain the plans.

If You Have a Plan— Have You Enough Protection?

You possibly now have a National Benefit Hospital and Surgery Plan, or you may have some other Plan or be protected through your employment in a Group Plan of some kind.

GET A MEDICAL PLAN TOO!

REMEMBER: National Benefit pays direct to you or to the hospital or doctor as you direct. Benefits are never pro-rated or reduced on account of any other protection you may have or any payments you receive from any other source. A low cost National Benefit Plan will give you the protection you need!

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | KLEMME, IOWA, MAY 12, 1954 | VOLUME 59 | NUMBER 20

Band Queen

JOANN BACON

JoAnn Bacon has been entered as a candidate for Miss North Iowa in the 16th North Iowa Band Festival, chosen by the band of Klemme. She is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Don L. Bacon.

A senior in high school, she plays flute in the band, is vice president of the senior band, sings soprano in the mixed chorus and girls trio, and plays in the woodwind quintet which received a Division I rating in contest work

She writes a column for the school paper, dealing with music activities, is president of the senior class, and is librarian in the school library. During basketbell season, she was one of the cheer leaders.

Outside of school she plays the organ and sings in the church choir. She is president of the Methodist Youth Federation and is president of the Girls Society of Christian Service. She is an active member of the Order of Rainbow. She is employed as relief operator in the Klemme Telephone Exchange and hopes to attend college, majoring in education.

Summer Entertainment To Start On May 26th

Again this summer as in the past, the Klemme Commercial Club will sponsor entertainment on Wednesday and Saturday evenings. The Club has leased a movie projector and the free Wednesday night movie schedule will get underway on May 26th.

The company from whom the Commercial Club has leased the projector will also furnish the films for the summer program. They have sent one film which is to be used for testing purposes for getting the machine set up and in running order. This film entitled "Lone Star Moonlight", will be run on the evening of Friday, May 21. Any who wishes to watch this picture will be welcome to do so.

Band concerts will again be the feature on Saturday nights throughout the summer and they will begin, sometime in June. They will be presented on main street.

Attend Conference

Those from the Liberty Methodist Church who attended the annual North Iowa Conference Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church were Mrs Kenneth Schultz, Mrs Kenneth Zwald, Mrs Bernard Pringnitz, Mrs Ronald Gibbs, Mrs Loren Gast, Mrs Howard Spitler, Mrs Harold Abele, and Mrs Lew Abele.

The Conference was held on May 6th at Sioux City.

Group I For Band

The Klemme High School Band playing in the state contest for large groups at Ventura, Saturday, followed in the footsteps of a good portion of the soloists and small groups who participated at Perry a week earlier. They also came home with a Group I rating. Last year, the band also earned a top rating.

The Big Moment

Ready to make a parachute jump with the famed 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N. C., is Private Harley D. Barz, son of Mr and Mrs H. E. Barz, of Klemme, Iowa. Private Barz wears his main parachute on his back, his reserve parachute and combat pack (front) and his rifle in a canvas container (left). The jump, Harley's fifth from a C-119 aircraft, marks the end of three weeks of intensive physical and technical training and will qualify him as a paratrooper. He is an S-3 (training and operations) clerk in Headquarters Battery of Division Artillery, a unit of the 82nd Airborne Division, "America's Guard of Honor."

Lions Hear Talk On KGLO Television

The Klemme Lions Club held their regular Wednesday dinner meeting on May 5th. Nineteen members answered roll call and two visitors were also present. They were Don Harrer of Mason City and Bill Reinhart of Klemme. Lion Don Bacon made the mistake of wearing too bright a necktie so tailtwister Gerardi removed it by cutting off the tie just below the knot. Everyone showed by his laughter that the method used in removing this eyesore was very satisfactory. Lion Bacon was so upset that he had a hard time eating his second helpings to the food after eating a big helping of roast beef, potatoes and gravy candied carrots, lettuce salad, and blueberry pie that the Music Mothers served.

Dr A. H. Dulmes introduced the guest speaker, Mr Don Harrer of KGLO and KGLO TV. Mr Harrer gave an interesting talk on the various steps undertaken in building a TV station at Mason City. He also answered many questions put to him by club members. He stated that KGLO-TV will be affiliated with the CBS and Dumont television networks. Network programs will come to the station by means of coaxial cable. The station then beams the microwave to the top of the Brick and Tile Building where a dish type reflector beams the waves to the TV tower located at Kensett. From there the program is transmitted in all directions with the maximum power of 100,000 watts.

The station will begin operating on channel 3 this coming Saturday May 15. An open house will be held in the TV studios, which are in the former Mason City Radio Chapel, on May 12th 13th, and 14th, during the hours of 2 to 4 P. M. and 7 to 9 P. M. Mr Harrer stated that everyone was welcome to inspect the new station at that time.

Leaves Wife and 2 Small Children

Funeral services for Lavon O. Tue, 27, were conducted at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the Klemme Methodist Church with Rev. E. Morris Egeland in charge.

Mr Tue, who was a veteran of World War II, died last Wednesday morning, May 5, at his home just east of Klemme as a result of monoxide poisoning.

He was a member of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and as such was accorded military honors at the services by the local post of the Legion.

Mr Tue, who was employed by the Wynn Oil Company, leaves a wife and two small children,, and many other relatives and friends.

Interment was in the Ell Township Cemetery at Klemme and he was carried to his final resting place by his nephews, Ronald Low, Charles Low, Roger Tue, Harold Nelson, Larry Foss, and Paul Foss.

An obituary of Mr Tue appears on page 7 of this issue of The Times.

School Picnic

The annual school picnic will be held in the Klemme Park, Friday noon, May 21. Each family is requested to bring dishes for their own use, sandwiches, and two covered dishes. The School board will furnish the drink and ice cream.

In case of inclement weather, the picnic will be held in the high school gymnasium.

Executive Board

The executive board of the Klemme Methodist Sunday School met in the church basement Tuesday evening. Teachers for the various classes were elected and plans for the coming year were discussed.

Junior-Senior Banquet Has Hawaiian Theme

The Junior - Senior banquet was held Saturday evening at the high school gymnasium, in an atmosphere of Hawaiian Island charm.

The juniors, who were host to the seniors had the gym decorated with palm trees and other items proper for the Hawaiian theme. The stage was decorated to represent a ship with a gangplank leading from the main floor of the gym to the stage.

The menu consisted of Tropical Dream (fruit punch), Game of the Jungle (baked ham), Golden Dreams (mashed potatoes), Diced Bamboo (peas), Taro Cake (cloverleaf rolls), Lilikoi and Papay (sunshine salad) Diced Beach Pebble Pie or Mango Pie (dessert), and Cocoanut Milk (coffee or milk).

The program included toasts by Cecil Jacobs, JoAnn Bacon, Terry Koerner, Jo Ann Burgess, Delwyn Brede, and Lois Boland. The Class Will was read by Darlene Roul and Lois Jacobs; the Prophecy was read by Dennis Ridder and Daisy Schaefer, and the History was presented by Noel Egeland and Janice Swanson.

Special entertainment was furnished by Margaret Haefner, Mrs Ernest Gerardi, Winola Zwald, Ione Rosendahl, Ruth Pringnitz, Sharleen Swanson, Beverly Christiance, and Gracka Gerardi.

Roger Terhufen King Of County Jr.-Sr. Prom

Roger Terhufen, Klemme High School senior, was chosen as king of the Hancock County Junior-Senior Prom which was held at the Surf Ballroom in Clear Lake last Thursday night. Roger was picked from among the students of all the schools of the county, and in recognition of this honor was presented with a sterling silver indentification bracelet.

Daisy Schaefer and Lois Christians were among the girls chosen as Queen's attendants for the evening.

Music Mothers

According to an announcement by Mrs Don Bacon, president of the Klemme Music Mothers, there will be a meeting of that organization in the school library at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Wednesday, May 19. There will be an election of officers at this meeting.

Re-enlists In Marines

Eugene Beier, son of Mr and Mrs Elmer Beier who was recently discharged from the Marine Corps, has re-enlisted. Eugene had 90 days from the date of his discharge in which to reenlist and retain his grade, and he had only five days left when he made his decision.

Win 2 - 1; Then Lose to Kanawha

The Klemme Shamrocks baseball team entered the sectional tournament at Kanawha last week, and drew for their first opponent, Belmond. They played last Wednesday afternoon, and in a good ball game defeated the Belmond nine by a score of 2 - 1.

Don Thiemann, Klemme pitcher, hurled a no hit game and Belmond's only score came as the result of errors on the part of his team mates.

Gene Mehl, Belmond pitcher, had a no hitter going until the seventh inning when the Shamrocks got to him for two hits to get their runs and win the ball game.

Kanawha and Eagle Grove were also in a 2 - 1 ball game that day, with Kanawha coming out on top.

Thursday, the Shamrocks tangled with the Kanawha Bulldogs in the semi-finals of the tournament, and allowed only five hits, but the Bulldogs were able to get six scores from those five hits. Five of their runs came in the first two innings.

The Shamrocks also got five hits off of pitchers Gable and Thomson, but were only able to convert two of them into runs.

Kanawha went on to win the tournament by defeating Clarion in the finals by a score of 8 - 2.

10 YEARS AGO—

T-Sgt. Grayton Back, son of Mr and Mrs Herman Back of Klemme, is now stationed at Great Bend, Kansas, where he is a mechanic in the air corps.

Just to keep history straight it snowed in Iowa on Thursday evening, May 4th, followed by a few nights of frost.

E C Buntenbach has purchased the E M. Dusenberg cottage on the north shore of Clear Lake. Possession will be given the new owner on May 20th.

Pvt. Allen Barz left Monday evening for Madison, Wis., where he will take a special course in army radar work. He has been spending a few days furlough visiting with his mother, Mrs Clara Barz, and with other relatives and friends in this vicinity.

20 YEARS AGO—

Miss Vella Paul, high school student, expects to leave soon for Waterloo where she will continue her study course in beauty culture.

A new churn was installed at the Klemme Creamery last week. The old churn had seen a lot of service and was beyond repair.

Henry Ward, Klemme farmer, who raises Chesapeake dogs for hunting purposes, last Monday shipped one of his dogs to Dr. Roy F. Herrmon at Rochester, New York. This is the longest distance order that Mr Ward has ever filled.

Supt. and Mrs D. L. Hunter entertained the grade and high school teachers and Mrs Kingery at a steak fry at the state park at Clear Lake last Wednesday evening.

30 YEARS AGO—

Anna Church closed her school last Friday for the summer vacation. A weiner roast was enjoyed by the pupils and the teacher.

W F Pavey installed a new motion picture machine at the Isle Hour Theatre yesterday and used it for the first time last night. It is a late model machine and far better than the old one which had been in use several years.

Ethel Schoenwetter had a birthday Saturday and invited a number of her friends to come out and help her celebrate the day. All had a good time.

Rather late in the season for a little snow storm, but at any rate a few flakes fell Friday morning, May 9th, 1924. Cold weather has since been a leader on the weather man's program but it is gradually changing for warmer.

the Highway Story
THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hulliban

Martin was alone when he made the big jump and it's impossible to say what went through his mind during those suspended moments of unexpected flight. Martin, surely, can't tell us.

He was on a road that led from work to home and he had often said he could "drive blindfolded". But a little germ of speed was operating in Martin that afternoon and, at a crucial point, it destroyed his control of the car.

Like so many Iowans lately, he drove off the highway. The car hit a slight bank and began the big jump. What went through Martin's mind as he sat there, frozen to the useless wheel, incredibly flying through the air? How could he have believed it was really happening?

After all, he was Clay Martin. He had been mind in body for 34 years. His were the eyes that knew the faces of his wife and children. In his throat was the voice familiar to friends. These hands, clutching white at the steering wheel, were his own. opened a thousand doors for him; They had signed his checks; touched his family.

And he sat in old, familiar clothes; in shoes that were worn to the fit of his feet; and there was the wristwatch of a past birthday, quietly counting seconds as though time was not about to end.

Yes, he was Clay Martin. He was real. He knew he was real and the world knew it. His name was on a mortgage, a time card, a birth certificate somewhere, a drivers license.

How could something so real end so abruptly, so unexpectedly? Perhaps something like this went through Martin's mind or, perhaps, he only screamed in a voice he couldn't recognize until the car crashed some 60 feet from the highway.

State Fair Cattle Show Will Offer $50,000 in Cash

A new record total of over $50,000 in cash prizes will be offered in the Cattle Show at the Iowa Centennial Fair here, Aug. 28 - Sept. 6, Secretary L. B. Cunningham announced today.

With the announcement, Cunningham predicted that cattle entries for the centennial event here will have the largest "cash on the hoof" value in State Fair history.

An added feature this year will be the National American Aberdeen Angus Show which will be held on September 1 and 2. With nearly 500 entries expected from coast to coast and premiums totaling $10,500, this will be the largest event of its kind in the American Angus Association history.

Other premiums in the open beef division of the cattle show include $8,250 in the Hereford competition; $4,470 for Shorthorns; $2,040 for Polled Shorthorns and $3,475 for Milking Shorthorns.

Premiums of $3,175 are offered in each of the following dairy breeds, open division: Holstein, Jersey, Guernsey, Brown Swiss and Ayrhire.

Special Iowa class premiums include Hereford, $500; Shorthorn, $300; Polled Shorthorn, $200; Aberdeen Angus, $500; Milking Shorthorn, $600; Holstein, $600; Jersey, $600; Guernsey, $600; Brown Swiss, $600; and Ayrshire, $600.

John W. Cory, Jr. of Spencer, superintendent, said judging in the open divisions of the show will take place from Monday, Aug. 30, through Thursday, Sept. 2, followed by 4-H and FFA judging on Sept. 3 and 4.

Complete premium lists and entry forms may be obtained by writing the State Fair Board, State House, Des Moines,, Iowa.

Editorial

This is my farewell editorial. I hope that you have been interested in at least some of my editorials during the year. I will say to the editors of next year that I hope that they will write better editorials than I have this last year. I hope at least they will have one each week. This year there was so little "Food" for editorials that sometimes it had to be skipped altogether. (Of course the junior class is of such high intelligence that the editors who are selected should be able to write endlessly.)

Sometimes being the editor was a little extra bother, but it was fun seeing my "brainstorms" in print. I am glad to have been able to express my opinions to you this year, even though I didn't use the privilege. I suppose that being an editor of the school paper is somewhat of an honor. It doesn't make a big wheel out of a person though, by any means.

I do hope my successors will give some of their "valuable" time to writing good editorials. Now I say farewell to you "brilliant students of Klemme High. I wish you all luck.

Noel Egeland

Senior News

You can imagine how forlorn we bookkeeping students were this Monday morn when we handed in the "Patton and Bond Practice Set" that we had been plagued with for two weeks.

In literature we have been giving or listening to book reports by day working on them at night until it's almost day light.

We have been covering in history the worlds woes for the last twenty-five years or so. The 1920's prosperity that didn't last, but disappeared in the 1929 crash; the failure of the League of Nations to act when little countries were under attack.

After having laid out a racing track we are now back in geometry class studying the use of the Pythagorean theorem.

In home economics the girls are making bread and also taking inventory. Of course they mentioned something about active yeast, dry yeast and sweet bread, but I didn't quite catch all the lingo.

Feature Article

Our last but certainly not the least important teacher interview this year is with Mr. Charles Whitford. Charles entered this world on September 6, 1923, at Spooner Wisconsin.. He attended high school at Webster, Wisconsin, Teachers College, and the University of Minnesota and graduated with a B. S. degree.

Charles has hazel eyes, black hair, is five feet eight inches tall and tips the scale at 138 pounds.

He spends his spare time either reading (his favorite book is "Oh Time and The River" by Thomas Wolfe) or working with his photography set.

When Mr. Whitford goes out for dinner, he usually orders steak and coffee.

The actor, Jimmy Stewart, actress, Audrey Hepburn, and the movie "Quo Vadis" are Charles' favorite. As for music, Mr Whitford likes to listen to Benny Goodman and his orchestra (naturally that means he likes Benny Goodman when he isn't listening to the Klemme High School Band).

This past year Mr Whitford moved to Klemme from Goodell and now lives here with his mother.

Second Grade

The Fairies are now reading in "The New More Friends and Neighbors" reading book.

We were happy to have Mrs Christians visit our room. We hope she enjoyed her visit.

In arithmetic we are busy working problems that have teen numbers for answers.

The cabbage and tomato seeds which we planted several weeks ago are now little plants. We like to watch them grow.

Merlin Bachman treated the room to candy bars on his 8th birthday.

We gave our mothers a pettunia for Mother's Day. We hope they liked them.

Many of the boys and girls have been bringing things such as, scrap books, pictures, and nest of birds to school which will add to the interest of our bird unit. Karen Nuehring brought two quilts which had a state bird for each state on it. We thought it was fun naming the different birds.

Delwyn Brede has asked all the girls to give him artificial flowers that they wear so he can put them in his Ford. Don't you have enough decorations in your car, Delwyn.

Lois Christians, Lois Jacobs, and Jo Ann Burgess had quite a time Saturday night. It's too bad Jo Ann didn't know the other girls were going out for lunch, Next time you should find out before you refuse, Jo Ann.

Could anyone tell me why Gracka wanted to drive through Garner's main street Sunday? Did you see a certain car at a certain house, Gracka?

It seems that Beverly isminus a certain ring. Could it be Pete's?

Say Lois J. did you have a caller and a telephone call all in the same night? You must really rate, Jake.

I heard that the sophomores had quite a time at their party Tuesday night. From what I hear Carol probably won't be able to eat anything for a week.

We haven't heard much about Graydon lately. Does anyone know whether he still goes with some girl from Garner?

? ? of the Week

Where do you hope to be and what do you plan to be doing ten years from now?

Carolyn Carolus - Married and have two children.

Junior News

This week marks an event of special importance to the Juniors and Seniors. Here's hoping the Junior - Senior Banquet is a huge success. Back again to the daily run of things here's what we have been doing in our classes lately.

English: Book reports and parts of speech.

Speech: Debate-Hot issues and heated arguments. So far two winning teams have been picked. Lorraine and Blanche who debated on methods used by McCarthy, and Marlene W. and Merlyn who debated on disadvantages of farm life.

Government: Criminal procedure and state finance.

Typing: Usual procedure.

Home Economics: Cooking—Maybe we'll become Betty Crockers yet.

First Grade

We had the thrill of our little lives last Wednesday when we rode the train to Garner and back to Klemme again. We were lucky to get to ride in a big passenger car. Mrs M. L. Harson and Mrs Glen Bridges accompanied us on our trip.

We had fun writing thank you letters to the people who helped us arrange the trip. David, Kenneth, Lyle and Harland addressed the envelopes for our letters. We are drawing pictures for a booklet of all the different days to travel.

Mrs Glen Bridges and Mrs Mercer Bruggeman were recent visitors in our room. Mrs Bridges took pictures of the group.

We visited the creamery this week. We had a unit on dairy farming and the visit to the creamery really put the finishing touches to it.

See you next year in the second grade, everyone!

Fourth Grade

We have been learning about rhymes. Now we've tried to write some. We had a lot of fun.

MY PONY

My pony is very smart;
He loves with all his heart.
He likes hay for a bed
And there's a spot on his head.

THE CAT

The cat chased the mouse.
The mouse went in the house.
The cat went into the house
And out ran the mouse.

MOTHER'S DAY

Mother's Day is a happy day,
Because its in the warm month of May.
Mother likes that happy day,
Because Mother's Day is in May.

MOTHER'S DAY

Mother's Day is a day for mothers
And gifts come from all faththers and brothers.
Some fathers would like to bale hay,
But they can't do it for it's Mother's Day.
Some boys and girls have to buy a gift
Some for their mothers are heavy to lift.
Some boys and girls don't know what to buy for this
All you have to do is throw her a great big kiss.

To avoid delay and expense, the AAA Motor Club of Iowa advises motorists to obtain extra duplicate keys for their automobiles. Carry one extra key in your billfold, the club suggests, and hide another in a secure place on your car, where you can get to it if the doors are locked.

Music News

State contest at Perry for some of us meant getting up at the wee hour of 3:30, in order that we get to Perry in time. Some of us were lucky however, in having to leave at 8:30. We started out in a drizzle, but by the time we reached Perry, the sun had come out for a while at least. That afternoon about 4:00 it again began to pour, and didn't stop until about 9 P. M. Some of us had the bad luck of getting stuck in the muddy parking lot. Just ask Cecil and Gordie if it wasn't raining! Anyway they sure did a good job of getting us out. Thanks! On the whole I think that State Contest proved fun to most of us even though we were really tired out.

Smash up! ! ! For a few days last week the fiery looks were being flashed by Gracka and Bev. It seems they had a little trouble with the boy friends. They also are minus some rings! Once in awhile band does get exciting.

Eighth Grade News

Our eighth paper is now on sale. We would like to thank Mr Johnson and the Junior class for their assistance in preparing this booklet.

Wednesday we took Achievement tests. We are very glad that they are finished.

On Wednesday we enjoyed our class picnic. We ran many races and played soft ball.

In Civics, we are studying about the famous inventors and growth of our history.

In arithmetic we are reviewing for our final tests.

We are reviewing parts of speech in English.

You may be using synthetic gasoline and oil in your automobile in the not-too-distant future, the AAA says The AAA Motor Club of Iowa says that a survey by the Corps of Engineers shows there are more than 200 areas in the Nation which meet requirements for production of liquid fuels from coal or lignite with a capacity of 15 million barrels a day.

Motels are mushrooming in Canada, the AAA Motor Club of Iowa points out. Some 3,500 are in operation now, and new structures have been going up in Ontario at the rate of one a week for the past two years.

The Invisible Handicap

Mentally retarded children and adult differ from "normal" people only in degree of intelligence. They are not queer or mentally ill but different.

However, this lack of adequate intellect constituties a major handicap in today's highly competitive and demanding society. Invisible though it is, this handicap is as crippling, as restricted as any affliction known to man and its victims are more numerous. Out of 100,000 people 15 are blind, 200 have heart ailments but 1,000 are mentally retarded.

The growth of retarded children has been described as normal development in slow motion. Unable to keep up with regular classes, many such children are not educated or trained to maximum capacity. Thus unequipped for life, untrained for employment they are cast upon the figurative scrap heap and society loses a potentially productive citizen.

Most retardates can be trained to be partially or wholly self-supporting and can live happily with family and community. No more than 10%, require insututional care.

More than 60 diseases can cause irrepairable damage to the brain and consequent impairment of mental functions. In addition injuries and development disorders contribute to the number of people handicapped by mental retardation.

The greatest unfullfilled need of these children and adults is the need of understanding and acceptance. This thoughtful attention costs nothing and will be repaid a thousand fold. These children, who will be children forever, need only the same opportunities to develop that is considered one of the basic rights of all children.

Sponsored by the Iowa Association for Retarded Children and published to promote a better understanding of limited children and adults.

Approve Petition

Hancock County Supervisors Monday approved the petition of C. A. Larsen and John Hrubes to amend the petition for a major repair in Hancock county drainage district No. 116, filed recently by Otto Klinge. The new petition proposed to deepen the construction to afford better fall.

The contract on this project was let recently to Earl Stille, Garner Contractor, and his bond on the project was approved Monday. The contract totals $2860.00.

NUMBERS

A visitor to Alta will be able to "find his man" much easier now. The town has recently completed a project of number all houses, and residents are attaching their new house numbers.

Hancock County Farmers To Take Air Tour

Commissioners of the Hancock County Soil Conservation District along with farmers in the county who are interested in flying are planning to co-sponsor an air tour for the farmers of Hancock County who are interested in seeing their farm and conservation practices in the county from the air. The date has been set for June 16, at the Garner Airport. An election of a District Commissioner for the Soil Conservation District will also be held in connection with this event. Mark this date on your calender and watch this paper for more details.

MAKE THIS YOUR
2,4-D Headquarters

LOWER PRICES this year makes it more economical to kill those weeds. Let us be of help to you by advising you regarding wise selection and proper use of the weed killing agent. We have the correct information and are most interested in your success in killing these weeds.

REMEMBER THIS - - -

1. Be sure to check the actual pounds of 2,-4-D acid in each gallon of liquid you buy.
2. Caution: Percentages or equivalent do not tell the actual 2,4-D content.
3. The three general types of 2,4-D available are:
   a. the Alkanolamine salt — b. the Emulsifiable Ester.
   c. the Sodium Salt Powder.
4. The right selection and proper application of forms of 2,4-D will prove very economical as well as inexpensive.

SUGGESTIONS FOR EFFECTIVE APPLICATION OF 2,4-D

1. Avoid application as fine mist. 2. Don't spray on windy day—3. Avoid excessive amount of spray falling onto the soil.—4. Don't leave any weeds untreated.—Don't burn poison ivy or similar plants.—6. There is extreme danger in using same equipment for both 2,4-D and DDT insecticide spray.

Consult with us at your earliest Convenience regarding your weed control problem.

Eighth Grade Pupils To Hear Miss Horgen

Miss Gladys Horgen, Elementary Supervisor, Department of Public Instruction, Des Moines, Iowa, will be the speaker at the eighth grade promotion exercise for the pupils of the Hancock County School system. The exercise will be held in the Memorial Building at Garner on May 21 at 10:00 A. M. Fifty-six pupils will be in the promotion class.

Miss Horgen has academic degrees from Iowa State Teachers College, and Colorado State College of Education. She has had elementary school experience as a teacher, supervisor, and college instructor.

She will speak on the topic: "You Are A V. I. P."

Speech Correctionist Hired for 3 Counties

Miss Barbara Sage, graduate of Iowa State Teachers College, has been employed as a speech correctionist for the three-county area of Hancock, Kossuth, and Winnebago. She will have her office is the Garner Schools.

This position has been vacant during the past year due to the inability of the school officials to find a qualified candidate. Miss Sage will work with students who have speech difficulities and with the teachers concerning minor speech problems of the students.

She will have speech classes at Forest City, Garner, Algona, Britt and/or Corwith. Approximately sixty (60) pupils are enrolled in the classes. She will also assist in the annual hearing and speech screening in the three-county area of Hancock Kossuth and Winnebago counties.

MISS BARBARA SAGE

The County Board of Education and the school men in the area hope to have a second speech correctionist available by next September to fill the vacancy created by the registration a year ago of Mr Dale Bingham, and to work in the Lake Mills, Thompson, Buffalo Center and Bancroft Public Schools.

All special education personnel are employed and paid by school districts within the three-county area, which school districts are reimbursed jointly by the State Department of Public Instruction and the three County Boards of Education for salaries and expenses of those employed.

4-H Electricity Meeting Planned

The first monthly meeting for 4-H boys interested in electricity projects will be held Thursday, May 13 at 8 p. m. at the Garner REA Building.

A new electrical 4-H project has been added to the list of possible projects Boys will study and build electrical projects in place of caring for animals. The members will have a record book which records will be kept on amount of cost, amount saved and uses of the project. The boys may sell their projects just like livestock projects.

There will be a class and premiums for electricity projects at the county fair just the same as any other project.

Most of the boys who have signed up or this project also have a livestock project. It is very important that those boys interested attend the first meeting to obtain materials and information. There will be a movie shown on principles of electricity. Harvey Mitchell, Garner, of the R. E. A. and Carl Frick, Britt, of Iowa Light and Power will assist the County Youth Assist. Bob Wilson with the regular meetings. There will be helpers in the other towns also. They are Luther Larson, Woden; Sorenson Hardware, Crystal Lake; William Fuss, Klemme Hardware, Klemme; Harold Ruka, Kanawha. If the boys have a problem they may consult any one of the above for assistance.

Klemme Students To Attend SUI Music Camp

The applications of three Klemme students have been accepted for the instrumental division of the All State Music Camp at the State University of Iowa June 20 - July 3.

Announcement of the acceptances of Val Stromer, Arthur Carlson, and Fred Arnold was made today by Ralph C. Rea, camp director. Rea is an instructor in instrumental music in the SUI music department.

Val is the son of Mr and Mrs Verner A. Stromer, Arthur is the son of Mr and Mrs James Carlson, and Fred is the son of Mr and Mrs Fred J. Arnold. All three boys are members of the Klemme High School Band.

Rea said yesterday that he had already received applications from more than 60 students at 45 Iowa high schools, with more being received daily. Applications are also coming in for the vocal camp to be held on the university campus July 5 - 17. All applications for the instrumental camp must be mailed by Tuesday, June 1 and applications for the vocal camp should be mailed no later than June 15.

Sponsored by the university's music department as part of the 16th Annual Fine Arts Festival, the camps are open to students from eighth grade through high school with at least one year of playing experience. Exceptional students below the eighth grade will be considered upon the recommendation of their music teachers.

Students at the camp will receive instruction in band orchestra, small ensembles, music appreciation, theory, conducting, double-reed making, dance band work, and baton twirling. The university will provide a complete program of recreation and entertainment. Cost of the camp will include all fees and room and board in university dormitories for two weeks for every student. Private instruction will also be available to students for an additional fee.

An all-state band and orchestra will be formed and both organizations will appear in public concerts and radio broadcasts. Guest Conductor will be Paul Van Bodegraven, director of bands and orchestra, New York Uuniversity.

Don't Carry All That Water—

Plan for a Running Water System

Typical of nearly half the farm women in Iowa is this homemaker who carries bucket after bucket of water into the house each day for cooking, dishwashing, bathing, scrubbing, and so forth. Running water in the house would eliminate time and energy used in carrying water.

* * *

Twenty-five tons of water sounds like a lot, but if you're one of the Iowa farm homemakers who doesn't have running water, chances are you carry about that much from the well to the house each year. According to the latest cenus (1950) you have a 50/50 chance of being one of the homemakers who carries all this weight in water. Only about one out of every two farm families in Iowa has running water in its home.

Running Water Advantages

Not only is running water in the house convenient and time-saving, it also saves back and leg muscle strains caused by carrying bucket after bucket in and out of the house each day, winter and summer. Running water is a boon to sanitation too, emphasizes Naomi Shank, extension home management specialist at Iowa State College. It fosters higher standards in food preparation, personal care and dishwashing.

Whatever the reason for not having running water in your house, perhaps it can be corrected.

Naturally the good crop-and-price years since 1940 helped a lot of folks get running water. In that year only 2 out of every 10 farm families in Iowa had running water, compared to slightly more than 5 out of every 10 in 1950.

Ownership of farms seems to be another big factor in whether you have running water or not. Less than half of the renter families of Iowa had the conveniences of running water in 1950 compared with about two-thirds of the owner families.

Admittedly the low water level and other geologic conditions may make the tapping of an adequate water supply a difficult and expensive process for you. So you should plan for running water as you would other costly conveniences, such as your car or mechanical refrigerator. Plans for water in the house should be a part of planning the total water system on your farm.

It's still the exception to have both hot and cold running water. Only 3 or 4 out of every 10 farm families have running hot water—the rest who have running water just have cold. If you're one of the families with just cold running water you might well start making plans to put in hot, for you use cold water for about 10 jobs around the house, compared with hot water for about 100.

Sink is Good Start

Figures show that most Iowa farm homes have a good start toward running water, because 7 or 8 out of every 10 have a kitchen sink. Even if you don't have running water yet, a kitchen sink with a drain is a back and step saver—it eliminates carrying used water out of the house. It's the logical place to start with running water, even if it is just a single cold water faucet at first. Plan the sink location so that it is in the correct place for future kitchen remodeling.

If you feel you can't put everything in at once, you can still plan for it, and when you can afford it, the ground work will be laid.

Twenty 4-H Leaders Attend Training Meeting

Twenty boys 4-H leaders attended the quarterly leader training meeting at the extension office April 29.

Each leader was handed a packet of materials for use at 4-H meeting. Bob Wilson, the county youth assistant, lead the discussion by explaining the uses of the different materials.

One main practice stressed was the use of films and slides. The leaders were taught the use of the projector so they could borrow the projector for use at 4-H club meetings. Each leader was given a film catalog so they could order film from Iowa State College and the extension office.

Demonstrations were discussed. Each club is encouraged to have at least one demonstration. Materials included in the packet to help leaders and 4-H members were criteria for selecting and planning demonstration, rating sheets and demonstration ideas.

Also fitting and showing and judging materials were included in the packet to help 4-H members in choosing outstanding animals.

The July and August program helps were discussed. Brucellosis bulletins were also handed out for a disease control meeting.

Plans were discussed for next year. Many point of the program were left the same, like the 4-H club committee, encourage better health, a membership goal of 300, give county 4-H officers more responsibility. New plans are to grade record books blue, red and white, give more help to members on record books and encourage more participation in county activities.

Those attending were Martin Clark and Ole Eliason, Amsterdam; Bob Schneider and Dale Brede, Avery-Twin Lake; Richard Brown and Geo. Schmidt, Bingham; Orville Thompson, and Jack Dietz, Britt; Sanford Rogeness, Crystal; Cliff Anderson, Ell; John Schroeder, Ellington; Alvin Townsend and John Hill, Erin; Rudy Urich, Garfield; Vincent Kopacek, Liberty; Harold Rockow, Madison; Forrest Eckels, Orthel; Verle Long, Boone; and 4-H committee member Aaron Stromer.

Walleye, Northern, and Silver Bass Seasons Open

The 1954-55 Iowa walleye pike, northern pike, and silver bass seasons are set to open at midnight, May 15, and angling prospects are excellent.

The State Conservation Commission said today that Spirit Lake in Dickinson County have the finest walleye populations in years, and promise to be the hot-spots of the walleye season. Commission biologists report good numbers of walleyes taken by test seinings, and that many walleyes have been seen and accidentally caught by crappie and bullhead fisherman.

Storm and Clear Lakes also have better than average walleye populations, as do many of the lakes in northern and northwestern Iowa. Although not traditional walleye water, Black Hawk and North Twin Lakes have shown a strong walleye increase in recent years and should be considered in opening day plans.

If water conditions are favorable, walleye fishermen are urged to give north-central Iowa streams a trial, particularly the Des Moines and Cedar rivers. It is believed that the Mississippi River may be too high for really good walleye fishing.

The silver bass outlook is also good, and test nettings in East Okoboji and Silver Lake in Dickinson County show increasing silver bass populations. And, while fishing for walleyes, anglers are advised to take along their fly rods and try for crappies in the early evening in shallows of northern Iowa lakes.

With the walleyed pike, northern pike and silver bass seasons opening on a Saturday, fishermen will be able to take advantage of the 1954 catch and possession limits and get a full weekend of fishing before possession limits are reached. Daily catch limit of walleyes is 5 with a possession limit of 10; northern pike have a daily catch limit of 4 and a possession limit of 8, and silver bass have a daily catch limit of 15 with a possession of 30.

Fishermen are reminded by the Commission that there is an aggregate limit of 50 on all fish on which there is a daily catch limit. In other words, no fisherman may possess more than 50 fish of all kinds if those fish are governed by catch limits. There is no aggregate, daily catch or possession limits on any "rough" fish.

"Kick Off" for Vote Campaign Successful

All credit goes to Mrs Frank Brozik for the success of the well planned "Kick Off" of the Get Out the Vote campaign which took place last Thursday evening at the REA Building in Garner and through her efforts Hancock County will have a larger turn out at the polls come June 7th.

Tory Nordland, president of the Hancock County Farm Bureau was acting chairman. Rex Austin, Crystal Lake, Democrat candidate for State Rep.; Gilbert Guenther, Britt and Curtis Riehm, Garner, both Republican candidates for State Representative were present and each spoke a few words. The winning essays and letters were read and the awards were given out.

Donald and Janet Hrubes son and daughter of Mr and Mrs Frank Hrubes played the accordian and sang and Darlene and Diane Hrubes daughters of Mr and Mrs John Hrubes sang a duet and all four gave a very good account of themselves. Mr Kenneth Langer, secretary to the president and secretary of the IFBF spoke on the need of people voting and a movie "The Fight For Freedom" was shown. Coffee and doughnuts were served at the close of the meeting.

IRON MAN

Mike Eder, Strawberry Point, was run over by a tractor while working in a field recently and escaped unhurt. The big wheel passed over his body. Groggy, he got to his feet and caught the run-away machine. Outside of two cracked ribs, he was uninjured. He's 75, too. .

Good Water System Adds Comfort, Safety And Profit To Farm

A farm water system is not a luxury, it's a producer, according to Paul Henderson, Hancock County extension director, and Elise Mae Van Wert, County extension home economist.

And along with the benefits of higher production and reduced labor that make for greater efficiency and profitable farming a water system gives more convenient and more healthful living and working conditions. It can also be a valuable standby to protect farm and home investment from damage of fire.

Statewide, according to the 1950 census, 58 percent of Iowa farms have running water and 32 percent have modern plumbing. And of these systems, Ken McFate, Iowa State College agricultural engineer, says three-fourths need improvement to contribute to the family living and farm profits at peak efficiency.

On 62 percent of the farms in Hancock County you'll find running water and 40 percent have modern plumbing, Henderson and Van Wert report.

There has been increased interest in water systems in the county in recent years, they say, but farm families have a long way to go to make full use of running water.

It takes investment to install a water system, Henderson and Van Wert point out. And it is an investment that will return dividends, not just cash outlay for a luxury.

Carefully controlled experiments have shown that a water system on a farmstead can cut chore time by as much as one-third to one-half. Others have shown that a constant fresh water supply available to livestock and poultry at all times increases production and reduces cost. These, says Henderson, are factors which increase efficiency and lead to greater profits. One Iowa farmer has said, "Water is the cheapest feed I can find."

The benefits in comfort, health and convenience in the home are hard to measure in dollars and cents. You can perhaps get an idea of what a modern home water system means to family members by talking to a few folks who have one, Van Wert suggests.

As standby fire protection, they add, a water system may well pay for itself in a matter of hours. With a system that's planned and installed properly, folks can often nip a farm fire before it gets out of hand, where with buckets a damaging fire may get beyond control before real fire fighting equipment reaches the scene.

May has been designated as Water System Month, Henderson and Van Wert report. During the month they say, you will be seeing and hearing much about water systems for the home and farm. And they think many Hancock County farm families will benefit by studying the advantages of a modern running water system and starting to make definite plans that will bring this valuable worksaver into reality on their farms.

Obituary of Father Of James Carlson

Mr. Gustaf Hjalmar Carlson, whose passing is deeply regretted and mourned by his family, loved ones, friends and neighbors was born October 31, 1870 in Vaservik, Sweden. He was the son of Carl G. Karlsson and Inga nee Pearson Karlsson.

He received his education in the publis schools of Sweden and was confirmed in the Lutheran United States. In 1892, he went to Church prior to coming to the Princeton, Illinois, where he joined his brother, Carl Seigfred, and was employed on the Louis Zearing farm.

On February 24, 1897, he was united in the bonds of marriage with Miss Jane Ann Cherry, daughter of Mr and Mrs James Cherry of Seatonville, Illinois, by the Rev. John Wilson at the parental home of the bride. This marriage was blessed with nine children—seven girls and two boys.

Mr and Mrs Carlson made their home at Seatonville where Mr Carlson was employed.

In 1903, he drove from Seatonville, Illinois, to Klemme in a covered wagon, accompanied by Joseph Cherry and Tom Townsend. After laying tile on the James Cherry farm, now owned by Herbert Bailey, he returned to Seatonville to join his family.

In 1904, Mr Carlson, his wife and three daughters moved to Klemme where he operated the Cherry farm for sixteen years.

Having purchased an acreage in Rush County, Wisconsin, Mr Carlson moved with his family to Ingram in March 1920, where he developed a farm. He retired from active farming in 1936 and in 1941, Mr and Mrs Carlson moved to the village of Ingram, where they have since resided.

Mr Carlson maintained a keen interest in community affairs. During his span of years, he held public offices as Treasurer of the village of Seatonville, Director of Wayside school, Klemme, Treasurer of Ingram State Grade School for ten years, Chairman of Richland Town Board and was a trustee of the Ingram Methodist Church, of which he was a member.

Mr Carlson passed away on Friday, April 16, at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr and Mrs Howard Wilson of Ingram, Wisconsin, after a lingering illness. He had attained the age of 83 years, 5 months and 16 days. His death brings the first break in the family circle of nine children, their husbands and wives, 29 grandchildren and 9 great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, April 20, from the McElravy Funeral Home to the Glen Flora Methodist Church. Rev. R. Halberg officiated.

Interment was in the Ingram Cemetery.

Mourning his departure are his wife, Jane Ann; seven daughters, Manilla (Mrs Weaver Williams), Sussex, Wis.; Alva (Mrs Howard Wilson), Ingram, Wis.; Annabelle (Mrs Clarence Bredlow), Rockwell; Florence (Mrs Reeve Ellison), Bruce, Wis.; Melba (Mrs Walter Gustafson), Glen Flora, Wis.; Edith (Mrs Marvin Nelson), Ladysmith, Wis.; Mabel (Mrs Frederick Quandt), Milwaukee, Wis., two sons, James of Klemme and Robert of Dousman, Wis.; a sister, Elizabeth (Mrs Alex Gustafson), Princeton, Ill. and two brothers in Sweden, David of Gomleby and Oscar of of Stockholm. Also surviving are 29 grandchildren and 9 great grandchildren.

Mr Carlson was preceded in death by his parents, brothers, Albert and Knute; sisters, Anna and Kristin, all of Sweden and by brother, Carl Seigfred of Klemme, Iowa.

Schedule of Summer Entertainment to Start

Next Wednesday evening, May 26, the first movie of the season will be shown. Thereafter, there will be a movie on each Wednesday night until September 1st.

In addition to the movies that are being put on by the business and professional men of Klemme for your enjoyment, there will also be the band concerts during the summer. These will be held on Saturday nights on the main street, with the first concert scheduled for June 5th. There will be no band concert on July 3rd, due to the fact that many of the musicians will be away for the Fourth of July week end. The last concert will be on August 7th, and then director Charles D. Whitford will have three weeks of vacation before school starts next fall.

First scheduled movie for the summer season is "Story Danny Lester", starring Audie Murphy. However, this Friday night, there will be a film shown to test run the projector. Title is "Lone Star Moonlight", and any who care to watch this feature will be welcome.

The Commercial Club of Klemme, acting in behalf of the business and professional people, extend a cordial invitation to one and all to enjoy the summer entertainment in Klemme.

To Germany

Mrs Raymond Klein of Garner recently left Mason City by air for Germany to join her husband, Airman 1/c Raymond Klein, who is a clerk-typist and will be stationed there for the next 18 months. Mrs Klein is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Ernest Pringnitz.

Nurses Summer Roundup Planned

The annual homecoming of St. Joseph Mercy Alumnae Association will be held on June 23 with a dinner at 6:30 at theV. F. W. in Mason City, Iowa. There will be special recognition given to the class of '54 who will be the honored guests.

All members of the Alumnae are invited. Reservations should be made prior to June 14, to Jean Blake, Mercy Hospital, Mason City, Iowa.

New Club Meets

Thirteen members of the newly organized "Riverside Club" of the Farm Bureau, met at the Leonard Kaduce home Tuesday afternoon. Following the business meeting Mrs Kaduce and Roy Aronld demonstrated making apple box hassocks.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs Earnest Pergunde. There will be no June meeting. The next meeting will be a picnic for the members and their families at the Elmer Arnold home on July 25th at 6:30 P. M.

Marriage Licenses

Hancock County Clerk Doris Young issued three marriage licenses on Monday to Jackie Power, 17, Crystal Lake, and Wanda Lewerke, 16, Britt; James O'Day, 23, Dubuque, and Cecelia Hadacek, 21, Britt; and to Robert E. Hallman, 26, Des Moines, and Joan Theresa Gray, 19, Des Moines.

Teachers Hired For All But Two Positions

Larson Farm Supply Is New Business

Carold Larson, who operates a small farm just west of Klemme on Highway 69, is opening a new business. Mr Larson, in addition to farming, has for a number of years sold cars for a Garner firm and at one time was the proprietor of the service station now operated by Don Schaefer.

His new business, which will operate under the name of Larson Farm Supply, will deal in Minneapolis-Moline farm machinery. In addition to selling machinery, Mr Larson has also planned a service department and will be able to service cars and trucks as well as tractors.

Elmer Langlitz, who for the past several years has operated the Langlitz Garage in the Wiles Building here in Klemme, is going to go out of business and will be employed by Mr Larson as mechanic. He has a long background of experience in work with both farm machinery and cars.

Mr Larson has remodeled his garage to house an office and parts department and another building will be revamped in order that it may be used for repair work.

Weiner Roast

The Home Builders Class of Liberty Methodist Church will have a social meeting and weiner roast at the church at 8 o'clock Friday evening, May 21.

Changes of Owners

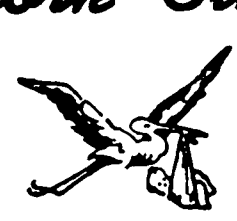
Melvin Schlei recently sold his 160 acre farm 2½ miles west of Klemme to Harvey Harberts. Possession will be given on or about the first of March next year.

Since selling his farm, Mr Schlei has made no definite plans for the future, but the past week the submitted a bid, through J. A. Chambers, for the house in south Klemme owned by the Mrs Emma Medaus Estate. The bid has been accepted subject to court approval.

Another property in Klemme changed hands during the past week when Mr Chambers sold the Harvey Barkema house in Morningside to John Albers. Present plans call for Mr and Mrs Albers to move into the new home sometime this fall.

Another transaction which was completed this week, saw Ernest Gerardi purchase a tract of land at the east end of Main Street from Carl Wille.

Stork Club



Mr and Mrs Erwin Blank are the parents of a girl born at the Belmond Hospital today (Wednesday).

Mr and Mrs Lowell Mau became parents of an 8 pound, 7 ounce girl today (Wedneday) at the Belmond Hospital.

Mr and Mrs Noreen Pearson are the parents of a baby boy born Thursday, May 13, at the Belmond Hospital. The new arrival is the first child for the Pearsons and weighed in at 7 pounds and 2 ounces. He has been named Kevin Ray.

School Picnic

The annual school picnic will be held in the Klemme Park, Friday noon, May 21. Each family is requested to bring dishes for their own use, sandwiches, and two covered dishes. The School board will furnish the drink and ice cream.

In case of inclement weather, the picnic will be held in the high school gymnasium.

Guild Has Birthday Tea; Guest Speaker

The E and R Guild held its May meeting in the church basement Wednesday. It was in the form of a "Birthday Tea". Twelve tables were decorated to carry out the theme for each month of the year.

Mrs C. J. Weilder of Nashua was the guest speaker.

Corsages were presented to the youngest mother present, Mrs Raymond Christians; to the oldest mother, Mrs Louise Josten; and to the mother having the most children, Mrs Mary Wille.

There were 125 ladies attended the Guild Birthday Tea.

Mrs Wm. Waddingham, Mrs Martin Karsjens, Mrs Don Christiance and Mrs Leroy Johnson were in charge of serving tea. Mrs Carl Wille and Mrs Menno Albers poured.

Two Men Fined After Threats to Family

Bryant Wilson Reed, 18, Riner, Va., was fined $100 and costs in the Justice Court of R. J. Fritsch Saturday evening after he pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and John Reed, 24, of Jackson, Mich., was fined $100 and costs as an accessory after the fact. $75 of his fine was suspended on good behavior.

The two men were arrested by Cerro Gordo County Authorities following a quarrel at the Harley A. Reynolds home on the Alvin Meyer farm northeast of Garner. Reed, a magazine saleman, apparently threatened Alvin Meyer, owner of the farm, and Reynolds in whose home he was attempting the sale of a magazine, with a knife.

The two men then left the Reynolds home folowed by Reynolds with Mrs Meyer notifiying Cerro Gordo authorities, who set up a road block and arrested the men near Mason City and turned them over to Hancock County Sheriff L. M. Brower.

The two men are prohibited from doing any further soliciting in this vicinity.

Republican Women To Meet Friday

The Hancock County Council of Republican Women will meet at the Court House in Garner on Friday, May 21st, at 2:00 P. M. Candidates for County and State offices are cordially invited to attend.

Two important issues will appear on a special ballot at our primary election in June namely the Court House Annex and the purchase of a gravel pit. Talks on both of these subjects will be given by men who are familiar with the projects.

A tour of the Court House will help you to determine whether or not the Annex is needed.

Bring a load of friends and meet us at the Court House on Friday at 2:00 P. M.

Still Need 7th Grade And Shop Teachers

The faculty for the next school year in the Klemme Community School is nearly completed with only two positions remaining to be filled. These two are the 7th grade and shop. In addition to teaching shop, whoever signs for that position will have some other subjects to teach.

All the present faculty have signed to remain except for the follwing: Miss Mary Smith, Mrs Kay Andreae, Mr Erwin Beenken, Mrs Noreen Barkema, and Mrs Isabelle Lemke.

Newly hired teachers and the subjects they will teach are as follows:

Miss Rachel Peterson, Home Economics and Girls' Physical Education; Mrs Selma Griesy, Vocal Music in all grades; Mr Orin Holstad, 8th grade; Mrs Mary Holstad, 3rd grade; Miss Dorthe Otteman, Kindergarten; and Mrs Aline Burgess, Remedial Reading.

Two of the above listed positions are new. They are Vocal Music and Remedial Reading.

All the new teachers are experienced with the exception of Miss Rachel Peterson and Miss Dorthe Otteman, both of whom will graduate in June. Miss Peterson will graduate from Iowa State College and Miss Otteman will graduate from Buena Vista College. Mrs Burgess has taught in rural schools in the county, and the past year taught in Liberty Township. Mr and Mrs Holstad have been teaching this past year at Webb, Iowa. Mrs Griesy did not teach last year but has had considerable experience.

Nation to Honor War Dead by Wearing Memorial Poppies

Bright red poppies of memory will be worn throughout America on Poppy Day, May 29, in honor of the nation's war dead, it has been anounced by Mrs Herman Back, Poppy Chairman of Adams-Schaefer, Post 625 Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary.

The poppies will be distributed here by members of the Auxiliary who will work through the day as unpaid volunteers. They will receive contributions for the Auxiliary's work for disabled veterans and needy children.

The poppies will be crepe paper replicas of the wild poppies which grew "between the crosses row on row," in the World War I battle cemeteries in France and Belguim. They have been made by disabled veterans of both World Wars, who have been given beneficial employment by the Auxiliary in this work.

It is estimated that fully 25 million of the Auxiliary's memorial poppies are expected to be worn by Americans on Poppy Day this year.

Notice

Parents of children who are interested in starting to learn to play a band instrument this summer are requested to bring the interested child and meet with Mr Whitford at the school band room at 7.30 P. M. Saturday, May 29.

Each child will receive one lesson a week with no charge, but they must furnish their own intrument.

Farmers to Get Ideas Of Conservation By Taking Air Tour

Farmers of Hancock County will have a chance to see their farms and conservation practices in the county from the air tour co-sponsored by the Flying Farmers and the Hancock County Soil Conservation District. The tour will be held on Wednesday, June 16, at the Garner airport, one mile north and one mile west of Garner. Activities will begin at 1:00 p. m. and continue on through the afternoon. Business men are also invited to attend the tour and see conservation practices on the land in their home county.

A commissioner election will be held in connection with this tour to elect a commissioner for the Soil Conservation District. The elected commissioner will serve a six year term. Henry Swanson is the incumbent, and his opposition will be John Huisinga of Bingham township and Joe Mikkelson of Crystal township. The polls will be open from 1 p. m. to 3 p. m.

Passengers will be flown over their own farms and any other farms in the county they are interested in seeing from the air. Since Flying Farmers are donating their time, the actual cost of flying will be the only expense to the passenger. Many farmers who have seen their farm from the air feel it is a good way to get another viewpoint of their problems. Often times seeing the whole farm at once will solve a problem in field arrangement. Many conservation practices such as contouring and grassed waterways will show up will from the air. In other cases the need of these practices will be very evident. It is possible that the amount of soil erosion will be very apparent from the air as corn fields may not be high enough to hide it. Tile lines and areas needing drainage are often visible. This will be a good time for farmers to compare their farms with others in the county and see just how they are conserving the soil on their farms. Plan to attend and ask your neighbors to come along. Rain date will be one week later for the air tour; however the election will be held on June 16th, regardless of weather conditions.

DOW

FORMULA 40 CLEANS WEEDS OUT OF CROPS

DOW'S proved 2,4-D weed killer is ideal for low-volume spraying

Wherever an amine weed killer is needed to do the job—farmers prefer 2-4 Dow Weed Killer, Formula 40. This time-proved product for low volume spraying with airplane or ground equipment gives good control of certain perennial weeds such as morning glory and most annual weeds in wheat, oats, flax, rye, barley, rice, corn, grain sorghums and grass grown for seed. Crops sprayed with Formula 40 give bigger yields, are easier to harvest. Ask your supplier for Dow weed killers. THE DOW CHEMICAL COMPANY, Agricultural Chemical Sales Department, Midland, Michigan.

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

Farmers will market nearly as many fed cattle this year. This is the conclusion of Francis A. Kutish, farm economist at Iowa State College, after studying the reports of cattle on feed.

Feedlot operators had 9 percent fewer cattle on feed January 1 than a year ago. But the wide feeding margins during the winter restored confidence. And many feeders put in more cattle this winter. With the result, on April 1 farmers had just slightly fewer cattle on feed than they had a year earlier on that date.

But the cattle on feed this April weighed less than a year ago, Kutish points out. Producers indicated on April 1 that they plan to market almost as rapidly as they did last year. If their intentions are carried out, cattle will be sold at lighter weights than last year.

The logical conclusion from such a set of facts, Kutish believes, is lighter marketings in June than the very heavy sales of last year at that time—but the sales after that close to those of a year earlier.

The pattern of marketings of lower grade cattle this year depends mainly on the weather, Kutish points out. If there is no extremely severe drouth, the supply of yearling steers and heifers off grass will not change much from last year. And, in such a case, the prices of cattle off grass will not average much different from last year's reduced prices.

Feeder cattle have been bid up since mid-April. The price rise stems from the rains which came in the southwest, plus the development of grass here in the Corn Belt. The result: Feeder cattle have been bid up to the point where it's hard to see any profit prospect for buying cattle at this time to use some grass and sell on the fall market, Kutish believes.

Business Change

Elmer Langlitz moves out of the Wiles Building.

Carold Larson needed Langlitz to help him in his farm implement business west of town on the highway.

Carold is a nice guy and people like to buy from him. There seems to be a certain honesty about him which the public likes to see in a salesman.

Elmer is a good workman on implements and tractors. We all wish these men good luck in the new venture.

The garage and repair shop in the south end of the Wiles Building is for rent.

You see there is always a heavy traffic of cars and trucks coming and going at the Klemme Co-op. Grain Co. which is next west from the Wiles Building.

Which makes this Wiles Building a "hot spot". Langlitz had all the work he could handle.

Twin Lake Go Getters

A meeting of the Twin Lake Go Getters was held at the home of Theresa Lowenberg, May 8th.

Roll call was answered to "The Different Types of Material", by 10 members and 3 leaders. The minutes were read and corrected.

The 4-H Pledge was given.

Marcia Watne will be replaced by Lualne Waage on the senior demonstration team as Marcia will not be able to participate.

An all day meeting will be held on May 28th at the home of Mrs Nuehring, beginning at 9 A. M.

We had our good grooming contest with Mrs Carl Wille and Mrs Ed Christians as judges. Faye Janssen was chosen the best groomed senior and Marcella Nuehring the best groomed junior.

Theresa Lowenberg gave an illustrated talk on "Care and Storage of Shoes." Talks were given by the following: "Proper Fitted Shoes", by Janet Lange; "Thinning Seed", by Patty Burke; "Brushing Hair", by Dorothy Roul; and "Good Grooming" by Judy Eliason.

Demonstrations were "Putting in a Hem" by Patty Burke and "Unit Construction Methods" by Marcia Watne.

Faye Janssen was chosen candidiate for county office. Her campaign speaker is Patty Burke. Dorothy Roul is our voting delegate. Faye will also tryout for Country Girls Creed.

We presented our judges with a plant and each girl took a plant for her mother. We worked on skirts and blouses.

LEGAL NOTICE

WEED NOTICE

TO ALL LAND OWNERS, OCCUPANTS, AND PERSONS IN POSSESSION OR CONTROL, INCLUDING RAILROAD LANDS AND LOTS WITHIN HANCOCK COUNTY IOWA.—

The Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Iowa, in adjourned April meeting held on May 10, 1954, passed the following resolution, to-wit:

BE IT RESOLVED, by the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Iowa

That pursuant to the provisions of Chapter No. 317, Code of Iowa 1950 it is hereby ordered:

1. That each owner and each person in the possession or control of any land or lots in Hancock County, Iowa, shall cut, burn or otherwise destroy all noxious weeds thereon, as defined in this chapter, at such times in each year and in such manner as shall prevent said weeds from blooming or coming to maturity, and shall keep said lands free from such growth of any other weeds as shall render the street or highways adjoining said land unsafe for public travel. Noxious weeds shall be cut or otherwise destroyed on or before the following dates and as often thereafter as is necessary to prevent seed productions

GROUP 1 June 15, 1954, for leafy spurge, perennial peppergrass, sour dock, smooth dock, sheep sorrel

GROUP 2. June 30, 1954, for Canada thistle, Russian knapweed, quack grass, buckhorn, wild mustard.

GROUP 3 July 15, 1954, for field bindweed, wild carrot.

GROUP 4 July 30, 1954, for horse nettle, perennial sow thistle, butter print, puncture vine and cocklebur

2. That each person and owner in the possession or control of any lands in Hancock County infested with any primary noxious weeds including quack grass, perennial sow thistle, Canada thistle, field bindweed, horse nettle, leafy spurge, perennial peppergrass, Russian knapweed, shall adopt a program of weed destruction prescribed by the Weed Commissioner which in five years may be expected to destroy and will immediately keep under control such infestations of said primary noxious weeds.

3 That all weeds other than primary noxious weeds on all county trunk, primary and local county roads and between the fence lines thereof shall be mowed by the adjoining property owner to prevent seed production on or before July 15, 1954.

4. That if the owner or persons in possession or control of any land in Hancock County, Iowa, fail to comply with the foregoing orders, the Weed Commissioner shall cause this to be done and the expense of said work, including cost of serving notice and other costs, if any, to be assessed against the land and the owners thereof.

5 That the County Auditor be and he is hereby directed to cause notice of the passing and entering of the foregoing order by publication in the [illegible] papers of Hancock County, Iowa.

The foregoing resolution was offered and read by Supervisor Barber who moved its adoption, was seconded by Supervisor Daniels whereupon the Chairman, Clarence A. Bird, placed the motion of its adoption and upon roll call the vote thereon is S. A. Barber, Clinton D. Daniels, and Clarence A. Bird, ayes. Nays, none. Whereupon the Chairman declared the resolution duly adopted.

Please take notice and govern yourselves accordingly.

Published by order of the Board of Supervisors this 10th day of May, A. D., 1954.

Chairman

4TH ADJOURNED APRIL MEETING
Garner, Iowa
May 10, 1954

The Hancock County, Iowa, Board of Supervisors met in session on above captioned date pursuant to adjournment with Clint Daniels. S. A. Barber and Clarence Bird present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and appmoved as read.

Supervisor Daniels is hereby appointed a committee to investigate and cause repairs to be made in D.D. No 1 & 2. Lat. No 1A and D.D. No. 1 & 2 Lat. No. 4; Supervisor Barber on D.D. No. 108, Main.

BE IT RESOLVED, by the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Iowa:

That pursuant to the provisions of Chapter No. 317, Code of Iowa 1950, it is hereby ordered:

1. That each owner and each person in possession or control of any land or lots in Hancock County Iowa, shall cut, burn or otherwise destroy all noxious weeds thereon, as defined in this chapter, at such times in each year and in such manner as shall prevent said weeds from blooming or coming to maturity, and shall keep said lands free from such growth of any other weeds as shall render the street or highways adjoining said land unsafe for public travel. Noxious weeds shall be cut or otherwise destroyed on or before the following dates and as often thereafter as is necessary to prevent seed productions:

GROUP 1. June 15, 1954 for leafy spurge, perennial peppergrass, sour dock, smooth dock, sheep sorrel.

GROUP 2. June 30, 1954, for Canada thistle, Russian knapweed, quack grass, buckhorn, wild mustard.

GROUP 3. July 15, 1954, for field bindweed, wild carrot.

GROUP 4. July 30, 1954, for horse nettle, perennial sow thistle, butter print, puncture vine and cocklebur.

2. That each person and owner in the possession or control of any lands in Hancock County infested with any primary noxious weeds including quack grass, perennial sow thistle, Canada thistle, field bindweed, horse nettle, leafy spurge, perennial peppergrass, Russian knapweed, shall adopt a program of weed destruction perscribed by the Weed Commissioner, which in five years may be expected to destroy and will immediately keep under control such infestations of said primary noxious weeds.

3. That all weeds other than primary noxious weeds on all county trunk, primary and local county roads and between the fence lines thereof shall be mowed by the adjoining property owner to prevent seed production on or before July 15, 1954.

4. That if the owner or persons in possession or control of any land in Hancock County, Iowa, fail to comply with the foregoing orders, the weed commissioner shall cause this to be done and the expense of said work including costs of serving notice and other costs, if any, to be assessed against the land and the owners thereof.

5. That the County Auditor be and he is hereby directed to cause notice of the making and entering of the foregoing order by publication in each of the official newspapers of Hancock County, Iowa.

The foregoing resolution was offered and read by Supervisor Barber, who moved its adoption, was seconded by Supervisor Daniels. Whereupon the Chairman, Clarence A. Bird, placed the motion of its adoption and upon roll call the vote thereon is, S. A. Barber, Clinton D. Daniels and Clarece A. Bird, ayes. Nays, none. Whereupon the Chairman declared the resolution duly adopted.

On motion by Supervisor Daniels and second by Supervisor Barber the agreement by and between Hancock County, Iowa and Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha. Nebraska for the waiver of assessment of D.D. No. 13, Lat. No. 8 in consideration of reinforcement of certain points of intersection by said district to be done by said Company is hereby approved and Clarence A. Bird, chairman of the Board, is hereby authorized to execute said agreement in behalf of Hancock County.

On motion and second the petition of C. A. Larsen, et al on deepeing of the laying of the 18" tile in the Otto Klinge petition on D.D. No. 116 is hereby approved.

On motion and second the bond of Earl Stille on D.D. No. 116; Fleet Policy No. SA-112-19953; and the 1954-1955 Secondary Road Construction Program, as approved by the State Highway Commission, are hereby approved.

IN THE MATTER OF PROPOSED DRAINAGE DISTRICT NO 158 - It is moved by Supervisor C. D. Iowa's BALANCED Farming

Iowa farmers can be proud of more new records.

Again, we're first in corn. Also in meat production, including pork. And we're 'way up there in butter, eggs, clover seed, popcorn, etc., etc.

"It isn't only that we're FIRST," says Extension man Clem Clemons. "It's the fact that our farming's so well-balanced, too." Yes, and that balance goes for most everything else, including our thinking, habits, and way of life. That's what makes Iowa a wonderful state . . . not for just ONE kind of people, but ALL kinds!

Clem and I don't always see alike, but like most Iowans, we recognize the other's right of choice, and he recognises ours. Even in little things, such as Clem's preference for riding his bike—or my liking a temperate glass of beer on a hot evening . . . or Cousin Edna's weakness for graham gems.

Balanced thinking makes us tolerant of the other person's rights. And such tolerance and broad-mindedness make for the true Iowa brand of balanced living.

To Be Married

Mr and Mrs Roy W. Jacobs, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Kay Annette, to Mr. Ronald D. Karsjens of Klemme. The wedding will take place in the Klemme Methodist Church at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of June 20th.

Duke's Cafe Sold To Bob Marshall

Mr and Mrs F. L. Kroehnke, who have operated Duke's Cafe here since January of 1949, are putting in their last week in the restaurant business in Klemme. A deal was completed yesterday whereby, Bob Marshall became the owner of the business.

We have been unable to contact Mr Marshall for any facts about how he intends to operate the cafe, under what name he will operate, or just when he will open for business.

In talking to Mr and Mrs Kroehnke, though, we learned that they have no definite plans other than a well-earned rest. They will be open Saturday for the last time in Klemme, and will be busy getting moved so that Mr Marshall will be able to move his family into the apartment.

Mr and his family are well-known in Klemme. They have farmed in this community for a number of years, and Mr Marshall grew up on a farm near here The past several years they were on a farm near Britt but this spring had a sale and quit farming.

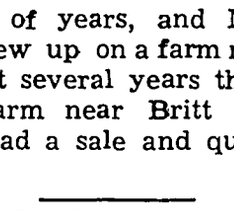
There will be a Republican caucus at the Fire Station in Klemme at 8 o'clock on the evening of Monday, May 31.

All persons interested are invited to attend.

Stork Club



Mr and Mrs Maurice Buckley are the parents of a baby girl born at the Belmond Hospital on Friday, May 21. The new arrival weighed seven pounds and seven ounces, and has been named Mary Lou. The Buckleys also have a four-year-old boy in their family.

For Most of Iowa Beneficial Rains

After a considerable spell of dry weather, most of this state got welcome rain last Sunday. Amounts varied from some over two inches down to a half an inch. There was strong wind in some localities, but we heard no reports of any serious damage.

The rain was more than welcome to residents of this state as gardens and fields were becoming quite dry—especially for this time of the year. Some corn fields were coming up rather spotty as some of the seed was lying in dry dirt. However, Sunday's rain should do considerable toward correcting that situation.

As we go to press it has been raining a good gentle rain most of the day. A little warm sunshine after this and things will really grow.

Music Recital

The students of Mr and Mrs E. A. Gerardi will be presented in a public recital June 6 at the Klemme High School gymnasium This will be the third annual recital for these students. More details on this event will be made public next week.

Music Mothers Elect

The Music Mothers met Wednesday, May 19th and elected the following officers who will take over in September: Mrs Ernest Gerardi, president; Mrs Elmer Beier, vice president; Mrs Verner Stromer, secretary; and Mrs Clell LaFavre, treasurer. Uniform committee elected includes Mrs Wilbur Haefner, chairman; Mrs Carold Larson, Mrs Verner Priebe, and Mrs Roy Swanson.

Gets Ten Yeors For Car Theft

Arnold Briggs was sentenced to ten years in the Reformatory at Anamosa by the Hon. T. A. Beardmore of Charles City in the Hancock County district court late Wednesday when he pleaded guilty to a county attorney's information charging him with Felonius Stealing of an automobile on April 19. Hancock County authorities took Briggs to Anamosa on Thursday to begin serving his term. His appeal bond was set at $1,000.

Briggs stole a 1950 Mercury from the Swan Rapp farm near Britt on the afternoon of April 19 in trying to make a get-away after breaking away from an officer at Britt while he was being served his noon meal. He was later arrested by Highway Patrolman near Lake Park and held for Hancock County authorities at Sprit Lake and returned to Britt where he was arraigned in the Justice Court of L. M. Naser and bound over to the grand jury. Since then he had been at the county jail at Forest City.

Service Will Be In High School Gymnasium

Memorial Day services, in charge of the American Legion and Auxiliary, will be held in the high school gymnasium at 10 o'clock on Monday morning May 31. Memorial Day falls on Sunday this year and consequently Monday will be the legally observed holiday. Stores will be closed and a good crowd is expected tor the annual services honoring our war dead.

Dudley Weible of Forest City, past state commander of the Legion, is to be the speaker for the occasion. Mr Weible is a practicing attorney in Forest City and has been since 1931, with the exception of three years service in the navy during World War II. He has in the past served Winnebago County attorney for a period of ten years. He has had wide experience as a public speaker. The Legion feels fortunate in securing a speaker of this calibre for the services here. They are certain that he will have a worthwhile message.

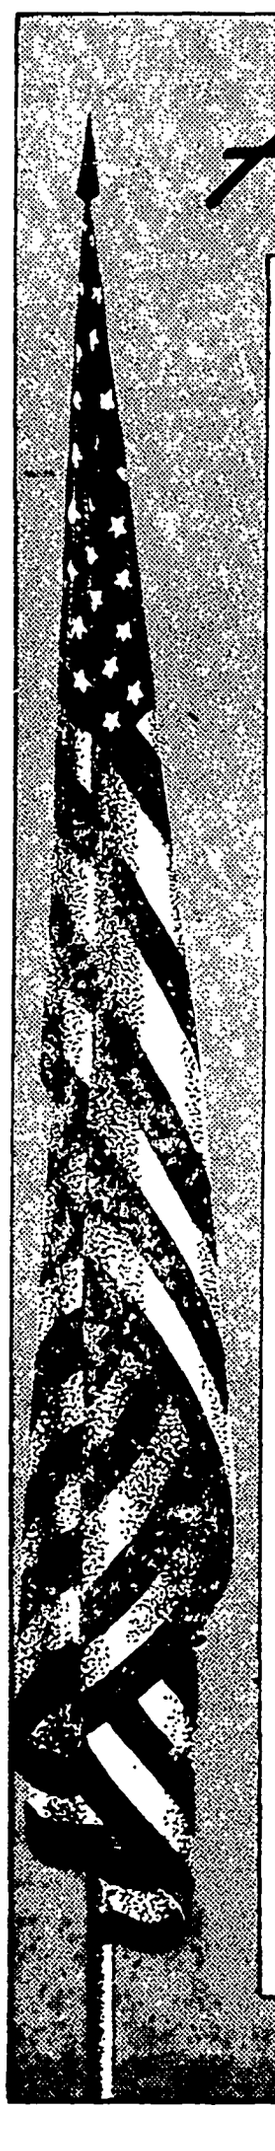
To Germany

Roger, son of Mr and Mrs Ned Howard, left Monday for duty after having enjoyed a week's furlough visiting with his parents, Mr and Mrs Ned Howard. Roger has been stationed at Scott Air Force Base, Illinois, but is now on his way to a three-year assignment in Germany.

A Time to Remember



I bowed my head reverently with the rest of my classmates during the "moment of silence" in tribute to our soldier-dead, then seeing Old Glory waving from the flag pole on the lawn of our Alma Mater, I stood tiptoe upon a dream and thought, "What a lucky girl you are to be born under that flag, for you can be what you will to be! You are an American."

Then a strange thing happened. The flag seemed to be a living thing with a soul. I heard the silent singing of its stars on its blue of truth, and listening, my soul caught this refrain:

"I am the symbol of America, and America is more than its hills and prairies with their herds and fields of grain; more than its pulsing cities, its mines and its mills . . . America is you and you and you . . . and God.

"I am the symbol of the homes, the churches, schools, enterprises, and the kingly commoners of America.

"I represent your heritage from the past. Look at me and hear the tramping of soldier-feet in the immortal march for freedom; feel within your hearts the 'Spirit of 76'; see the footprints in the snow at Valley Forge; the great, gaunt commoner on his knees in prayer, and the crimson stain, spreading, that meant life was ebbing from his great heart; see the crosses above our youth, martyrs to freedom in recent wars. Look again and behold lilies blooming where men gave life for man; listen and hear the joyous dancing footsteps of those yet unborn.

"Behold the Open Gate, before which stand weary pilgrims: children with eyes empty of laughter; youth burdened with the weight of dead dreams; the elder ones their eyes but burned out embers, their bone-lean hands caressing gaunt throats that too long have felt the choking leash of fear. See their eyes relight with hope as they view the green acres of democracy and reverently enter the gate of America."

Suddenly I knew: The flag is an emblem of freedom, protection, justice, honor, sacrifice, opportunity to all and love for country, fellowman and God. It is the symbol, not only of our heritage from the past but of the future. I knew that it is up to me to help America continue to mean to coming generations what it means to me today; that every right has its concomitant duty, that I must train myself to be able to choose leaders wisely and judge their performance with honesty and understanding. I must fight oppression, intolerance, injustice and keep the land free of the footprints of communism. I must guard the rights of others as jealously as I do my own, and recognize in every man a brother.

Again I looked at the flag waving serenely beneath our peaceful country sky and reverently I breathed, "How much you stand for!" Was I dreaming or did I hear, "The earth a great DEMOCRACY OF LOVE!"

"WHAT THE AMERICAN FLAG MEANS TO ME" by Frances Atkinson, 18, Dayton, Idaho. Prize winning essay in a nation-wide competition conducted by the Disabled American Veterans in conjunction with the radio series "I was a Communist for the FBI."

Taken from Our Files

10 YEARS AGO—

Seaman Ronald Barz came home today from Farragut, Idaho to spend a furlough visiting his family and relatives.

Miss Arlene Wille, daughter of Mr and Mrs Carl Wille of Klemme, freshman student at Waldorf College, at Forest City, was one of the high honor students for the year.

Pfc Clarence Kluckhohn, son of Mr and Mrs C. E. Kluckhohn of Klemme, who has been stationed at Fort Bliss, Texas, has been transferred to Camp Carson, Colorado.

Mrs Frances Ridder is in Chicago for a couple of weeks visit with her daughters, granddaughter and a great granddaughter, as well as other relatives and friends.

20 YEARS AGO—

Miss Bernice Tanner came from Crystal Lake Friday, having completed her year's teaching there. The school closed last Friday with a picnic. Miss Tanner has accepted a contract at Crystal Lake again next year.

Senior accompanied by Supt. Hunter held their annual "sneak day" last Thursday. They went to Mason City and had the privelege of going through the Globe Gazette, had a picnic dinner and finished the day by skating at Bayside.

Mr and Mrs Art Kudje and daughters enjoyed having a big picnic with all of Mr Kudje's relatives on Sunday. The picnic was in honor of Art's parents 56th wedding anniversary and was held at Eagle Lake State Park.

Miss Mildred Gast who teaches Center School this year, closed the term Friday with a picnic dinner. All were invited and everyone had a good time.

30 YEARS AGO—

The Fort Dodge businessmen's booster train visited Klemme yesterday. Their band played a couple of numbers while the businessmen visited with our merchants.

Mrs Henrietta Wilkins of Garner was in Klemme Saturday visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs Andrew Nelson, near here.

Last Thursday evening the Misses Stacy and Rone entertained at a six o'clock dinner at the F. Gruetzmacher home. After the dinner the guests gave the hostesses a miscellaneous shower and each received several useful and appropriate gifts—for housekeeping.

The fruit trees here are well in blossom now and the air sure smells sweet as real spring is here.

Ell Tip Toppers

The Ell Tip Toppers 4-H club met at the home of Maurine and Melva Johnson, May 15, 1954. The meeting was called to order and we answered roll call by telling "What We Do When We Do What We Please." All the 4-H members were present.

Mrs Barz and Mrs Kudje are to chaperone us at the 4-H camp. Nineteen girls had their skirts done today. Bills were turned in for the pre-school children's clothes.

Gracka Gerardi is to be our candidate for county office at Rally Day and Carol Humphrey is to be our campaign speaker. Joyce Thiemann, Rosalie Rosendahl, Eva Thiemann and Doreen Lackore are going to make posters for Rally Day.

Myrna Barz, Virginia Kudje, and Miriam Hartbeck are going to make the corsages for Rally Day. Elaine Jurgemeyer and Roxanne Back are to pin on these corsages.

LaVohn Josten and Maurine Johnson will sing in the county chorus. Luaine Weiland is the voting delegate and Carol Humphrey and Margaret Haefner are going to try out for the Country Girl's Creed. Gracka Gerardi is going to convention. Carol Humphrey and LaVohn Josten are going the 4-H camp.

Mrs Thiemann and Mrs Weiland are going to help with the junior and senior demonstrations for the achievement show.

We decided to buy Lois Christian's uniform for the club.

Patty Tlack gave a talk on "Accessories." Myrna Barz and Virginia Kudje gave a team demonstration on "Patterns".

Elaine Jurgemeyer gave a talk on "Individual Goals".

We had a Good Grooming contest. We are happy to have Mrs Ed Christians of Klemme for our judges. Jane Renner was and Mrs Jim Conroy of Garner chosen and will compete with other club winners at Rally Day.,

Our next meeting will be at Margaret Haefner's, June 3.

Jane Renner, Reporter

Not Too Excited

Interest in the forthcoming Primary election has been rather lax thus far if the applications for absentee ballots are any criterion. County Auditor Shoneman reported a total of eight applications as of Monday, May 24.

Of the total applications filed two were filed by men in service, seven applications were for Republican ballots and one was for a democratic ballot.

Klemme Scouts Attend District Camporee

Over 100 boys and their leaders from 8 communities in the Winnebago and Hancock County area participated in the annual spring Scout Camporee over this past weekend. The camporee was held at the Goody Hanson Lazy H Ranch just one mile south of Pilot Knob State Park.

Floyd Morely, Forest City, was in charge of the conservation camporee. He was assisted by Arthur Mitchell, Thompson Scoutmaster, who took charge of the evening campfire.

The Scouts and their leaders started arriving Saturday morning and spent the rest of the morning setting up their campsites on the 200 acre tract of timber. Each troop provided their own camping equipment as well as food, etc. The program opened at 1:30 p. m. Saturday with a general assembly. Soon after that the boys were divided into three groups and each group was given a compass reading directing them to Pilot Knob tower. On arrival there, the boys participated in planting over 1500 walnuts, under the supervision of Floyd Morely and Dale Wilson, park custodian. On arrival back at the campsite, the Explorer Scouts had a rifle target practice and the younger scouts were allowed free time. Saturday evening a huge campfire with songs, stunts and stories was held.

Rev. Floyd Bryan, Congregational minister from Forest City, conducted protestant service on a hillside over looking the lake on Sunday morning. Catholic boys were taken in to mass at Forest City. Scouting activities and nature study occupied the remaining time on Sunday morning and at noon approximately 150 parents and friends joined the group for a picnic.

At the closing ceremonies, conservation camporee badges were awarded to the leaders and boys by Floyd Morely. A court of honor was held and awards to Luther Carlson of Leland, for Star scout was made as well as Second Class awards to Gary Bolstad, Ross Braland, Marc Fisher, Ronald Quisling, and Borge Ulland of the Lake Mills troop. Dale Jacobson, District Chairman, from Thompson presided at the court of honor.

Those from Klemme who attended the camporee were: Bob Thiemann, Jerry Stokebary, Gallen Bridges, Roger Sobek, Craig Larson, Martin Brinkman, Charles Bacon and leader, Bill Jones.

the Highway Story

By Bob Hullihan

There must be at least 15,000 graves of traffic accident victims to be decorated in Iowa this Memorial Day.

When the long weekend is over probably there will be at least 10 new graves to add to the number.

There will be nearly 100 persons in various Iowa hospitals remembering vividly what they were doing just before the accident—if they aren't in too much pain.

To more than 100 Iowa families the familiar homes will seem strange and almost unbearable with the absence of the loved one who is dead or in the hospital.

Their troubles of yesterday will seem like nothing compared to this sudden, heartbreaking loss; this new, crushing expense.

And more than 800 drivers will begin filling out accident reports for the state safety department and insurance companies. They will start the rounds of garages getting estimates on the repair of damage—but this is the lighter side.

All this will have an immediate cost of at least half a million dollars and an eventual cost of much more in lost incomes.

All this is coming on the Memorial Day weekend unless you drive with the care and intelligence the prospects demand.

Liberty Busy Bees Met

The Liberty Busy Bees held their Mother and Daughter's Tea May 15, at the home of Marian Stromer, with JaNell Johnson and June Mayland as assistant hostess. Virginia Hrubes and Gail Knutson were receptionist and Nancy Farquhar and Marlys Psotka had charge of the guest book.

Roll call, "Why I Appreciate My Mother," was answered by 13 members. Nine mothers and 7 guests were visitors. Three members of the Garfield club visited us.

After the president, Patty Legge, called the meeting to order, corsages of yellow daffodils were pinned on the mothers and guests. The leaders received a corsage of pink carnations.

Betty Clayton and Darlene Hrubes; Nancy Farquhar and Carolyn Jass will be our demonstration teams. Winola Zwald and June Mayland will attend camp and Barbara Hughes will be our delagate to State Convention.

Patty Legge is our candidate for county officers with Winola Zwald as her campaign speaker. Barbara Hughes and Patty Legge will try out for "Country Girls Creed". Carolyn Jass was appointed to the platform and assembly committee for Rally Day. Rosemary Josten and Patty Greiman will sing in the county chorus and Marian Stromer will be our voting delegate.

After the business meeting, our judges, Mrs Elmer Huenemann and Mrs George Kern asked the girls to parade around the room for the Better Grooming contest. While they interviewed the girls individually, Darlene Hrubes and Nancy Farquhar had charge of entertainment.

The following program was given: Talk—Care of the Shoes by JaNell Johnson; Talk—Good Home Pressing Equipment and How to Use It by Patty Greiman; Talk—Care of the Sewing Machine by Patty Legge.

The judges then announced the winners of the Better Grooming contest. Our Senior girl is Patty Legge and Junior girl is Winola Zwald. Rosemary Josten presented a gift to each of the judges.

After some more games outside the hostesses served a delicious lunch with Barbara Hughes and Winola Zwald pouring. Favors of Spring Bonnets were passed out by the committee making them.

List Driving Rules To Follow for Safe Memorial Day Travel

At least 10 Iowans may be marked for death in traffic accidents during the long Memorial Day weekend, the state safety department predicted Thursday.

Pearl W. McMurry, safety commissioner, said the death prediction is baesd on "the present widespread attitude of indifference among drivers that has allowed our highway fatality record to reach a new mark for this time of year.

"If this attitude continues," he warned, "no one can expect our comparatively few highway patrolmen and other enforcement officers to work some miracle of safety this Memorial Day."

"Drivers must take responsibility for their own safety," McMurry said.

During the Memorial Day weekend last year, seven were killed and 198 injured in 458 traffic accidents in the state. The worst Memorial Day weekend came in 1941 when 11 were killed.

Patrol Chief David Herrick joined McMurry in the warning to drivers and listed these rules for safety during the coming weekend:

1. Start your trip early enough so that you can arrive on time without speeding. Drive a car that has been checked for mechanical safety.

2. Never pass unless you are sure there is plenty of clear distance ahead. Obey the yellow no-pasing lines.

3. Keep your attention on the road and on traffic. Keep your patience.

4. Don't depend on the other driver to do the right thing. You do it. Yield the right of way when in doubt or at the least sign of danger.

5 Don't turn temper and impatience into high speed. Keep your car under control by keeping a conservative foot on the gas pedal.

Personal Tax Review Completed by Board

The Hancock County Board of review has completed its task of reviewing the 1954 personal property assessment and will hold its final meeting of the year on Friday, May 28. Adjustments made by the board were few this year. The membership of the board consists of Elmer J. Arnold, Klemme, Chairman; George H. Oxley, Corwith; Fred J. Thiel, Britt; Franklin Reisetter, Kanawha; and Charles H. Schissel, Garner.

Following the completion of the boards work the assessor's office will make a recapitulation of the 1954 personal property assessment and certify same to the office of the county auditor to be placed on the tax books. The recapitulation will take a longer time this year due to the drastic revamping of school districts in the county in the establishment of the various community school districts. Six such districts have already been voted with prospect of one more before July 1st, necessitating almost a complete rewriting of the assessor's books before the valuations are carried on the tax list.

FUNERAL

There was an unusual funeral procession through Manilla and other Milwaukee Road towns recently; 10 steam locomotives, on their way to the company's locomotive graveyard at Bensonville, Ill. Diesels have now replaced all steam locomotives on the division.

Moy 31st Closing Dote for Corn Loons

The closing date for completing loans and purchase agreements on corn under the 1953 Price Support Program is May 31st, 1954, according to a reminder issued by the Hancock County ASC Office. The 1953 corn crop is being supported at $1.54 per bushel.

Producers desiring loans on 1953 corn before the closing date should make application at once so that the sealing and loan papers can be completed by May 31st.

Purchase Agreements are available to those producers who desire price support, but do not wish CCC loans.

By signing a Purchase Agreement, a producer is not obligated to sell to Commodity Credit Corporation or convert to a loan any of the corn covered by the agreement, but is given an option to sell or convert to a loan any amount up to the quantity signed for on the agreement.

He is given a thirty-day period prior to the date that loans for the same kind of grain are due, in which to exercise his option to sell to Commodity Credit Corporation or convert to loan, by giving his County ASC office written notice of his intention. Loans on corn mature on July 31st, 1954.

Producers who take a Purchase Agreement on their corn now, and then convert to a loan on July 31st, 1954, and keep the corn under seal until a year after that date will receive fifteen cents per bushel storage payment the same as producers who have loans now and reseal for another year.

Accidents Take Great Toll Among Youngsters

Accidents, one of the major causes of deaths today, are especially important to consider cidents take the greatest toll in the age brackets of from birth to 5 years of age and of those over 65. Every year accidents permanently cripple 48,000 children in this country.

With national emphasis on child health this week it is especally important to consider accident prevention as a factor in promoting child health.

Accidents don't just happen. They are caused. Toddlers are most accident-prone. Their prying hands and eagerness to taste everything often lead them into trouble. Parents of toddlers should remove dangerous objects such as household poisons, sharp knives and scissors and matches from their reach. It is also a good idea to keep a list of antidotes for household poisons tacked on the kitchen or bathroom wall. It may save a life.

Toddlers are easy victims of falls also. Unguarded stairways, unscreened windows, and open electrical sockets have all taken their toll. Household gadgets can be a nightmare of accident hazards for the toddler and it's not always the manufacturers' fault. Collapsible high chairs have safety catches. It's the one time parents forget to use the safety catch that the falls occur. The same is true for gas stove knobs and unlocked safety catches on guns.

After a child is old enough to understand some of these dangers parents should not only warn their children of the dangers, but should show them, by repeated example, safe ways to live, and thus avoid accidents. Children can be taught safety—but their teaching must be continuous. Safety is a full time job.

State Fair Poultry Show to be One of Largest in History

One of the largest poultry shows in state fair history was predicted today in plans announced for this year's Centennial exposition in Des Moines.

Lloyd B. Cunningham, fair secretary, made public a total of $9,000 in premium offerings for the show which is expected to attract entries from major poultry fanciers throughout the nation.

Largest individual prize money is $1,378 offered in the Bantam division, and live market poultry is next with $1,228.

Other division premiums include:

American, $910; Asiatic, $301-.50; Mediterranean, $686; English, $442.50; Ducks, $512; and Geese, $288.

A pigeon show, with $900 in prizes, will be another feature.

Best egg producing poultry will compete for $900 in prizes, and winning baskets of eggs will share $300.

Among other cash awards offered winners are $136 for dressed turkeys; $400 for live market turkeys; and $575 for 4-H club poultry.

Soil Conservation District To Elect Commissioner

Hancock County Soil Conservation District will elect a commissioner on Wednesday, June 16. Plans are to hold the election along with an air tour sponsored by the Flying Farmers.

All farm operators and land owners in the county are eligible to vote. The law was amended in the last State Legislature to permit tenant operators to vote for soil conservation district commissioners.

The questions are often asked, "What does a commissioner of a soil conservation district do?" "What are his qualifications?", and "Who can be a comissioner?"

In answer to "What does a District Commissioner do?" we can list: He attends the regular each month, where he takes an commissioners' meeting held once active part in administering the district; reviews and approves requests for assistance on conervation planning; prepares and approves budgets; hires personnel and purchases equipment. Special meetings are called at various times and attendance of a District Commissioner at planning meetings with farmers is desirable.

The following is a summary prepared by the State Soil Conservation Committee of the duties and qualifications of a District Commissioner:

"Due to the time and effort involved in acting as a soil district commissioner a man should have the followng qualifications:

1. He should believe in the Soil Conservation District approach to the soil and water conservation plan.

2. He should be able to initiate, to plan and help put into practice, a soil conservation district program that reaches all the people in the district.

3. He should love the land and have a practical understanding of how the condition of the land affects the lives of people.

4. He should practice conservation on his own lands.

5. He should have established himself in the confidence of the people of the district as one who desires to serve the welfare of his community and as a person having the ability to serve.

In addition, many prospective district commissioners want to know of their duties. Some of the duties are outlined below:

1. To familiarize themselves with the State Soil Conservation Law under which a district is organized and functions.

2. To expedite, in an orderly manner, the monthly meetings of the district governing body. To accomplish this task he should be regular in meeting attendance.

3. To assist in keepig the district work plan current.

4. Provide for a permanent record of the official action of the governing body.

5. To provide bonds for property holder of district equipment and district treasurer.

6. To familiarize themselves with district memorandums of understanding that are in force with the various agencies assisting the district. And to recognize and study the working relationship that exists with the agencies cooperating with the soil conservation district.

7. To determine priorities for work areas in carrying out the district program of work.

8. Recognize and study the working relationship with cooperating agencies that assist the district.

Any farmer in the county who feels he meets the above qualifications may become a commissioner, regardless of whether he is a farm owner or a tenant operator.

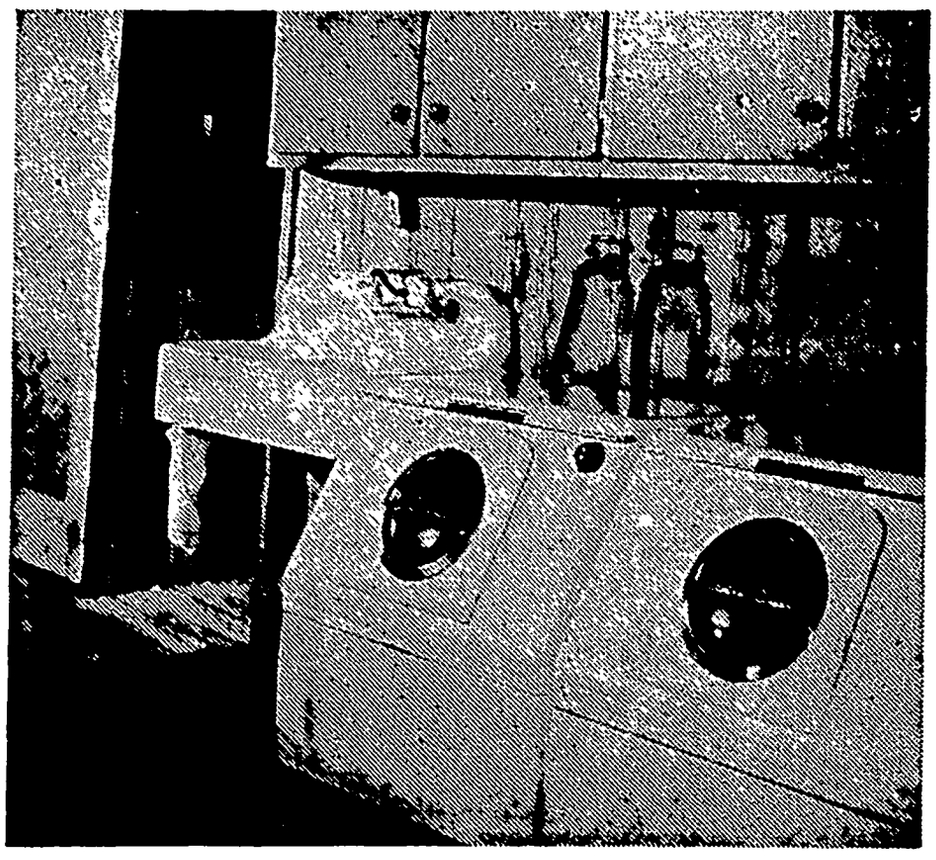
Want a "Second Kitchen?"

Plan a Workroom in Your Home



A workroom on the grade level near your kitchen is a real step saver. If you're remodeling, save the old kitchen sink. It will make a good wash-up center in the workroom. That was done in this Iowa farm home.

* *

Today's farm home needs a work-room for protection of family health and conservation of time and energy says Naomi Shanks, extension home management specialist at Iowa State College.

A workroom is just the place for all those extra jobs which used to be done in the kitchen, yet had nothing to do with daily food preparation. Some folks call their workroom a "second kitchen".

Whether you're building an addition, converting an old kitchen or enclosing a porch you should first decide what jobs you will want to do in the workroom. You'll probably have so many uses for the room that they can't possibly all be included. So plan space and equipment to take care of the ones most important to you and your family.

Experience indicates farm workrooms should not be less than 10 x 14 feet. Whenever the workroom can be on the first floor next to the kitchen, it will be a real step saver. If your workroom is to be part of a new basement, keep it close to the foot of the basement steps.

Running Water

Since most jobs in the workroom require use of water, your first "must" probably will be running water—preferably both hot and cold. If you don't have running water in your home now, at least put a sink with a floor drain in the proper lcation or a low standing drain pipe with easy-to-remove threaded cap.

Then when you do install water you'll be ready for it. In the meantime, water can be taken out of the house without lifting or carrying by connecting a hose to your movable washer or set tubs.

Miss Shank suggests a few work jobs you may want to plan space and equipment for in your workroom. You'lll probably want to add uses to the room and eliminate some. Here's her list as a starter.

Keep your laundry equipment in the workroom. Plan enough space to store, sort and wash soiled laundry. Even if you plan for an automatic dryer you'll need drying space for occasional hand-washed items. Space and equipment for ironing and mending activities will confine laundry activites to ths area.

Food Preservation

The workroom makes a good food preservation center. It's an ideal place to clean and prepare quanities of garden produce. You might even keep your home freezer and canning supplies there too. A workroom makes a handy place to sort and crate eggs and occasional garden produce for marketing.

When at grade level the workroom makes a good overnight storage place for children's roll toys, such as wagons and tricycles.

After you decide how much space you can allow for your workroom, start planning its arrangement. Include in your plan both natural and artificial light and ventilation. Make sure it can be heated for winter use.

Plan wall storage and counter space of the right working height for you. Arrange convenient outlets for locations where your washer, dryer, iron and other electric appliances will be used.

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

The next 20 days will be the best time for Hancock county farmers to cull off-quality cows and heifers, Francis A. Kutish, Iowa State College farm economist points out.

Last week commercial cow beef was selling at 27½ cents per pound. Kutish says this looks pretty close to the 41 cents that prime beef was bringing.

Cow prices will hinge mainly on the weather for the next month. Recent rains temporarily revived pastures in much of the dry areas. If it turns dry again, we will see increased runs of lower quality cattle. This would pull down the cow market, Kutish emphasizes. That is the big risk the man with lower quality cattle runs for the next month.

Runs of lower-quality cattle will begin to mount seasonally by July—even if we have rains in the dry areas, Kutish believes. This usually happens.

There's another point for Hancock county farmers to consider. Our pastures begin to dry up along in July. Cattle on bluegrass are making their gains now. In another month gains will begin to slow up. Flies will begin to bother.

Hancock county farmers with early spring lambs will want to continue to hurry them to market. Runs of California spring lambs are virtually over. But we are getting a fairly good run of Texas springers. In fact, the terminal markets turning from Kansas City across to Louisville and Cincinnati are getting plenty of spring lambs, Kutish says.

But he believes that the Omaha, Sioux City and Chicago terminals and the interior market will be short of spring lambs for some time. That's why the Iowa farmer who has early lambs still will want to head them for as speedy sale as possible.

Field Clinic for Crippled Children

The State Services for Crippled Children will hold a field clinic at the Methodist church in Forest City on Thursday June 3, for the following counties: Kossuth, Winnebago, Worth, Cerro Gorda and Hancock, according to an announcement made by Hancock County Public Health Nurse Helen Lemke, who will assist with the clinic.

The local clinic is one of 32 such clinics planned for areas throughout the state in 1954. Only children under 21 years of age are eligible.

No charge is made for services but all patients must be referred by their local physicians, according to Dr. Roger I. Lienke, director of SSCC.

Referral forms are to be mailed to the State Services for Crippled Children in Iowa City before June 2. However, if it is impossible to get these referral forms to Iowa City by the date designated, parents may bring them to the clinic at Forest City on June 3rd between the hours of 8 to 10:30 A. M. or 1:00 to 2:30 P. M., according to Miss Lemke.

Among the field clinic personnel are orthopedists, pediatricians, and a speech and hearing consultant. There is no ophthamologist or otolarynhologist in the field clinic.

The Garner Lions Club and the Forest City Lions club are furnishing refreshments for all those who attend the clinic.

RETIRES

At Redfield, town marshall Jim Cunningham has retired there. Highlight of the service after 38 years in that position was assisting in the capture of the famous Parker gang in Redfield party.

Governor Gets First Memorial Day Poppy

In an informal ceremony at the Iowa State Capitol building, the first Iowa American Legion Auxiliary Memorial poppy to be worn in 1954 was pinned on Governor William S. Beardsley by Mrs John H. Young of Marshalltown, Department president of the organization.

Iowa's 644 Units have ordered 1,113,023 poppies for the annual Poppy Day, which was recently set by President Eisenhower for May 29.

Mrs Roy Schaefer, president, states that the poppy should be worn through Memmorial Day to honor America's heroic dead of three wars, World War I, II, and Korean.

The state's disabled veterans fashion the flowers from crepe paper and receive an established amount for each one completed With this poppy money, many of the service men confined in veterans' hospitals throughout the state assist with the support of their families.

Rehabilitation and Child Welfare work are also carried on by the Units and the Department from Poppy Day proceeds.

There is no more important activity in the Amercian Legion Auxiliary program than the day when the red crepe paper flowers are offered to the public, who wear them as a tribute to those service men who "gave the last full measure of devotion."

The story of the poppy as a Memorial flower is 35 years old, but it NEVER grows old to Auxiliary members, who tell it each year with renewed emphasis. For to the Auxiliary member, the poppy symbolizes the entire program of the American Legion Auxiliary—'Service to those who did not limit their service."

Catalog Lists 33 Hog Building Plans

Hancock County hog producers thinking about adding any kind of swine buildings or equipment on their farms this year may be able to get some ideas from a catalog sheet recently issued by the Midwest Plan Service, according to County Extension Director Paul Henderson of Garner.

This catalog is a 4 page leaflet listing 33 different plans, with illustrations of 23 of the structures. Working drawings of any or all of the plans may be obtained from the Midwest Plan Service for a few cents each.

The working plans may be ordered from the catalog sheet by number from the Agriculture Engineering Extension Service at Iowa State College, Ames. The Midwest Plan Service is a service of 15 colleges and universities in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Plans are designed to meet the special needs of different kinds of hog operations throughout the Midwest.

This catalog leaflet, which is available on request, lists plans for 13 different kinds of movable hog houses, plans for 8 kinds of central hog houses and for 12 different items of swine equipment, including portable sun shade farrowing stall, hog feeders of various sizes, waterer, loading chutes, hog crate, vaccinating and castrating rack, brooders and portable wallow.

Teen-Age Traffic Safety Clubs Catching On

State safety officials were expressing unusual optimism Thursday as the first reports came in on the current statewide effort to organize local teen-age traffic safety clubs.

Frank B. Ulish, safety education field director, said the acceptance of the teen-age club idea in communities and offers of support from schools, local civic groups and police departments "is the most encouraging reaction to a safety program in my experience."

"I sincerely hope this first reaction continues throughout the state because, as far as I am concerned, the teen-age safety club is one of the few lights on the horizon that can guide us to accident reduction."

David Herrick, chief of the highway patrol, said patrolmen making contacts in communities "have found an almost universal willingness to help and a real eagerness to get clubs started."

Highway patrolmen and safety education fieldmen now are contacting teen-agers, schools and civic groups in communities throughout Iowa laying the groundwork for the clubs.

The responsibility for actually forming and running the clubs is being left entirely with the teen-agers, however, to impress on youngsters the necessity for helping to solve their own traffic problems.

Special Projects to Hold Voters Interest in Primary Monday

Children's Pictures To Be Published In The Times

Wonderful Prizes for The Cutest Children

It is an undisputed fact that the responsibilities of tomorrow's world, our Nation, and Community will rest upon the shoulders of the children of today. Since this is true, the publishers of this newspaper would like to give you a good look at these future "World Builders".

The only way we can do this is by publishing pictures of them in feature series. To assure the latest and best reproduction pictures . . . they must all be of uniform size and quality . . . we have invited the Woltz Studios of Des Moines, Iowa a nationally known portrait studio, to take these special pictures for us.

An expert children's photographer for the Studios, with all the necessary equipment for this specialized work, will be here Thursday, June 10. Pictures will be taken at Wellemeyer's Store and will be open from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Contest an Added Feautre

To add to the interest and fun in this exciting event, the Studios will award $500.00 in CASH prizes . . . $250.00 to the cutest girl; $250.00 to the cutest boy. Each child photographed in this community will automatically be entered in this Nationwide Contest. Beauty alone does not count . . . the Studio judges will base their selections upon the personality and charm as portrayed in the pictures Every child and family group is eligible.

No Charge to Parents

There is no charge to the parents. There are absolutely no strings to this invitation. It is bonafide in every sense of the word. Parents do not have to be subscribers, nor even readers of this newspaper to take advantage of this feature. Neither are they obligated to purchase pictures after they are taken. Those who want some additional prints may obtain a limited number by arrangement with the Studio representative when they select the pose they want printed in the paper and entered in the contest. It is entirely up to them.

The More Pictures, the Better

The Times simply wants pictures of all the youngsters and the more, the better. So the Mothers and Fathers of the community in which this paper circulates should remember the date, Thursday June 10th at the Wellemeyer Store and not fail to bring their children to the photographer.

You will be mighty glad, afterwards, if you did, and very, very sorry if you do not participate in this event. The kiddies will have much fun and both Mother and Dad—and the youngsters, too—will be very proud to see their pictures in print later. And remember, your child may win one of those wonderful prizes to be awarded.

Archery Shoot

There will be an archery shoot at the Klemme course located on the William F. Griemann farm southwest of Klemme on Sunday afternoon, June 6th. Anyone interested is welcome to attend.

Third Annual Recital Sunday For Students Of Gerardi School

Sunday, June 6th, will be a big day for those who have children in the Gerardi School of Music. Mr and Mrs Gerardi will present their students in the third annual recital. In the past the recital has been in the evening, but this year, due to the nuflux of students, it has become necessary to hold two recitals. One will be held, starting at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and the other will get underway at 7:45 in the evening.

The recitals will be held in the Klemme High School gymnasium and will feature selection on both the piano and the accordion. Students to be presented in the recital come from localities in a forty mile raduis of Klemme.

Mr Gerardi instructs the accordion students, and Mrs Gerardi does the teaching on the piano. Both are accomplished musicians and have turned out many students who are on the road to becoming fine musicians.

Heart Attack Fatal To Mrs. Worthie Usher

Funeral services will be at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon from the Klemme Methodist Church for Mrs Worthie Usher, 53, who passed away at her home here Monday evening as the result of a heart attack.

Mrs Usher was born in Klemme and was the daughter of the late Mr and Mrs Taalkeus Blank. She was educated in the Klemme Schools and in 1924 was married to Worthie Usher. After the marriage, they lived for the most part at Rowan, where they operated a store.

A year ago, due to Mrs Usher's failing health, they sold their store and moved to Klemme.

Surviving Mrs Usher are her husband, two sons, one grandson, three sisters, two brothers, and other more distant relatives.

County 4-H'ers Go To Camp

The Hancock County 4-H Girls and boys will spend next week at the District 4-H Camp at Clear Lake. The camp includes eleven counties. About 450 4-H-ers attend each year. Two members from each of the boys and girls clubs in Hancock county are eligible to attend. They will go to the camp on June 9th and will return to their counties on June 11.

While in camp they will participate in crafts, recreation, campfire, assembly programs and special camp activities.

Those attending from this vicinity include: Eilzabeth Lemke, Della Mae Avery, Avery Sunbeams; LaVohn Josten, Carol Humphrey, Ell Tip Toppers; June Mayland, Winola Zwald, Liberty Busy Bees; Marcella Nuehring, Twin Lake Go Getters. Boys going are: Kay Burk, Klemme; LeRoy Josten, Klemme; Garold C. Lenz, Klemme.

Marriage Licenses

Marriage licenses were issued the past week from the office of County Clerk Doris Young to Ray D. Keeling, 24, Clear Lake and Donna Jean Jass, 16, Clear Lake; and to Paul Alfred Underdahl, 30, Frost, Minn., and Phyllis Darlene Hanan, 22, Forest City.

Alumni Banquet To Be At All Vets Center June 18

Plans are going forward at a rapid rate for this year's annual Alumni Banquet which is to be held at the All Vets Social Center at Clear Lake on Friday evening, June 18th.

Holding the banquet somewhere other than the school gym is in the way of an invocation, but officials of the Alumni Association feel that by making the change the banquet can be held with a minumum of effort and with less chance for loss.

A program is being arranged under the direction of Allen Barz. Allen has had charge of the entertainment for the past several years and always turns out an enjoyable program.

Tickets for the affair are on sale now. Association members will either be approached by some member of their class, or they can make their purchase at Gerardi's or The Times Office. Ticket sales have to be completed by the evening of Wednesday, June 16th, in order that the management of the All Vets Social Center can be informed as to the number of people they will have to prepare dinners for.

It has been the custom in the past to let the last graduating class attend the banquet without a ticket. That custom is going to have to be ruled out . . . at least this year's banquet . . . as the surplus in the treasury is dwindling every year. If the class was to be admitted free of charge, it would make the price of tickets to other members pretty high.

A good dinner and a good evening's entertainment is on hand for those who attend this annual function.

Sylvia Egeland to Get Degree at Northwestern U

Northwestern University will award 2,627 degrees and diplomas, a slight increase over last year, at its 96th annual Commencement exercises to be held at 11:30 a. m., Monday, June 14, in McGaw Memorial Hall on the Evanston Campus.

Robert B. Anderson, deputy secretary of defense, will be the Commencement speaker. Since 1949 he has been a member of the Northwestern University Associates a group of professional and business leaders interested in Northwestern.

The Baccalaureate service will be held at 3:30 p. m., Sunday, June 13, in Cahn auditorium. The Reverend Walter D. Wagoner, University chaplain, will deliver the sermon.

Miss Sylvia Egeland of Klemme will be one of those to receive a diploma at the Commencement exercises. She will graduate with a Bachelor of Science degree in Education.

Attend Graduation

Rev and Mrs V. E. Jaberg and family attended the graduation exercises at Mission House College and Seminary at Plymouth, Wisconsin on Sunday, May 30. Mr Eugene Jaberg graduated from the Seminary and Miss Ruth Jaberg graduated from the college. The speakers for these two services were the Dr. William Nelson of Akron, Ohio, and Dr. James E. Wagner, President of the Evangelical and Reformed Church of Lancaster, Pennsylvania.

Farm Purchase for Gravel Good Bet for County Voters

Will Save Money And Insure Supply

One of the special projects on which Hancock County voters will cast their ballot on June 7, is the proposed purchase of a 100 acre farm, located one and one half miles west of Klemme. The farm is to be purchased chiefly as a source of gravel for surfacing of Hancock County highways.

Hancock County Supervisors have obtained an option on this 160 acre tract at $300 per acre or a total of $48,000. Of this purchase price, $5,000 has been paid for a lease on three acres of gravel and this sum applies toward the purchase price if voters approve.

Gravel supplies are rapidly being depleted in the county and as this happens the cost increases, adding to the cost of maintaining and building roads.

The farm, on which the board has an option, has approximately 100 acres underlaid with gravel in depth up to fifty or more feet, thus assuring a supply for some years to come.

County Supervisors are not bound by law on the money they can spend for gravel but in this instance a part of the farm may not be suitable for gravel and thus it must be classified as agricultural land, and the limit of expenditure in this case would be $10,000 without approval of the electorate. This farm will be paid for from road funds without a special levy if purchase is approved.

Some of the advantages to be gained by the purchase are, 1. A large saving in dollars for surfacing materials; 2. Assurance of better surfacing both for construction and maintenance by having a large supply available; 3. Reduction in transportation costs; 4. The proposed pit is located in an area of limited supply 5. County operated pits can be managed more efficiently; 6. The farm will be rented for agricultural purposes while being worked for gravel and the rent will accrue to the road fund; 7. No special levy will be required as funds in the road fund will be used to pay the cost of the farm; 8. Conservation of surfacing materials can be practiced more efficiently in county managed gravel pits.

Methodist Churches Start Summer Schedule

Services at the Klemme and Liberty Churches will begin on a summer time schedule this Sunday. All services will be held one-half hour earlier than during the winter months. Morning Worship at Klemme will be at 9:30 with Sunday School at 10:30 and Sunday School at Liberty will be at 9:45 followed by the Morning Worship service at 10:45. This time schedule will be in effect during June, July and August.

Eastern Star

The Order of Eastern Star will meet at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, June 8th, at the Masonic Temple in Garner. All members are requested to be present.

To Decide On Annex And Purchase Of Farm

Polls will open at 8:00 a. m. Monday at the Fire Station in Klemme, and will remain open until 8:00 p. m. as voters go to the polls in the June 7th Primary Election.

Of special interest to voters are two county propositions. One of these is the purchase of the Schoenwetter farm west of Klemme. Tests show this farm to be a valuable source of gravel supply, and it is felt by county officials that it would be a good investment.

The other special county proposition is an annex to the courthouse at Garner. Grand Jury recommendations pointed out the need for additional vault space for storage of important records. Many records of vital importance cannot be adequately protected in the vault space now available at the courthouse, so voters will be given a chance in Monday's election to decide whether the additional space should be added to the existing facilities.

The six-candidate governor race on the Republican ticket should be interesting to watch. These candidates are out with a variety of ideas as to what they think would be for the betterment of our state, and no doubt the contest will be pretty hot. Whichever of these men wins the nomination will oppose Democrat Clyde E. Herring in next fall's general election.

Of particular interest in the county is the race between Republican candidates Curtic G. Riehm of Garner and Gilbert Guenther of Erin Township for State Representative. Both men have been campaigning rather extensively. Guenther isa farmer who ha sbeen active in public affairs, while Riehm is an attorney with a farm background. He is a veteran of World War II and has been active in both Veterans affairs and public affairs since his separation from the service.

Enough issues are at hand for this election to bring out a large share of the voters.

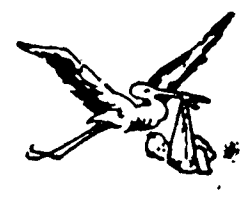
Two KHS Jumpers In State Meet

On Saturday, May 22, Dennis Ridder and Tom Waddingham went to Ames to participate in the finals of the state track meet.

They qualified for the trip by virtue of a five-way tie in the high jump event in the district meet at Fort Dodge a week earlier All five jumped 5', 3".

The jumping in the finals at Ames started at 9:30 a. m. Waddingham was eliminated at 5', 2", while Ridder qualified with 12 others for the afternoon finals. He made the 5', 3" mark again, but failed to clear 5', 4", so did not place.

Stork Club



Mr and Mrs Harvey Barkema now have two boys in their family. Newest arrival was born Friday, May 28, at the Belmond Hospital. He weighed in at six pounds and eleven ounces and has been named Ned Hauko.

In next Monday's election, voters will be given an opportunity on a special ballot to make the decision as to whether Hancock County purchases the 160 acre Schoenwetter farm a mile and a half west of Klemme.

The reason that the county is asking permission from the voters to make this purchase is that the farm is rich in gravel deposits. Graved supplies are rapidly being used up in the county and as they become more scarce, the cost increases.

This farm can be purchased for $300 per acre—a total of $48,000—and at no additional tax levy for the road fund. On the front page of this issue, appears a story setting forth more in detail some of the advantages of the county making this purchase.

While we are on the subject of voters and elections, we would like to make mention of a portion of Dudley Weible's Memorial Day speech in the high school gymnasium.

He built his speech around the theme that we owe a tremendous debt to those men who died or who lie wounded in our veterans hospitals as a result of fighting to save our freedom for us. Faith to these men should not be broken and he went on to show that one of the surest ways of breaking faith with them, was to allow communists to gain control of the world.

Mr Weible then discussed four points on which the communists are counting to enable them to impose their will upon us Of prime importance in these four points was the apathy of the American people toward the freedom that we enjoy.

We take our freedom too much for granted. We are not willing to work for it as we should. As proof of this, he cited figures showing that even in the last general election when a concerted effort was made to get out the vote, only 60%, of the eligible voters went to the polls. He then made the statement that he doubted if more than 50%, of Klemme's eligible voters would turn out for Monday's primary election.

We are inclined to agree with him on this statement, but it seems a shame that if men had to die or become bed patients for life, that we can't think enough of our country to take a hand in running it by voting. You have the privilege of going to the polls and making your selection, but if you don't do it you forfeit the privilege of complaining about how the country is run.

Think it over! Then Vote!

We have not been blessed with an over abundance of warm weather in this section of the state this spring, but our depleted moisture supply has been replenished quite well in the past week. Not that we won't need more rain as the season progresses, but at least we won't be hurting for moisture for a day or two.

On another page in this issue you will find an ad in story form in which the members of the Hancock County Bar Association presents some facts on the proposed annex to the courthouse in Garner. The men who are members of the association are spending their money to bring this message, and we think it will be worth your time to read it.

To us it appears that Senator McCarthy's chief interest in life is to further the cause of McCarthy . . . regardless of whose toes he steps on. We don't exactly approve of this method of getting things done so it pleases us greatly to hear more and more adverse opinions on McCarthy being aired by eminent people It's not only those in high places who disapprove, either. Senators and representatives report an overwhelming majority of mail from their constituents expresses strong disapproval of the man and his methods.

Cub Scouts Hold Picnic

The Cub Scout Pack meeting for May was held Tuesday evening on the Reformed Church lawn. A pot luck supper and wiener roast was the first thing on the schedule.

Bud Montgomery and Calvin Schmidt furnished the entertainment by flying their model airplanes. After supper they showed their models and explained how they were made and operated.

The Cub Scouts opened the meeting with the Cub Scout Promise. Each boy was asked to show and explain the object he had brought for the exhibit table. The theme for May was "River Traffic" so the exhibit consisted mainly of boats.

The new sponsoring committee was introduced by the Cub Master. The following awards were made:

Bobcat, Jerry Clements; 1 silver arrow point, Earl Lemke and James Christians; 1 gold and 1 silver arrow point, Collyn Bridges; 2 silver arrow points, Bruce Waddingham.

The meeting was closed with the Cub Scout Benediction.

The Cub Scouts in Den I presented their mother, Mrs Nova Stokesbary, with a gift of appreciation for her services as a Den Mother. Mrs John Clements assisted by Mrs Karl Hueneman will have charge of Den I beginning June 1st. Mrs Nova Stokebary and Mrs Harold Kothenbuetal are two of the orginal Den Mothers who took charge of two of the Dens when the Cub Scout Pack was organized three years ago in May. Mrs Kothenbuetel plans to continue her duties through the summer months when she also plans to turn her Den over to a new Den Mother.

About 75 Cub Scouts, their families and friends were present at the Pack meeting.

GORED

George Menke, of near Dyersville, was painfully injured by a bull recently. Knocked to the ground and gored he managed to crawl under a fence during the few seconds that the bull's attention was attracted elsewhere.

Naomi Circle Met

The Naomi Circle met Thursday, May 27th at the home of Mrs Clarence Neuberger with Mrs Swanetta Haefner as cohostess.

There were 14 members and one child present.

Mrs Chambers gave the lesson and Mrs Haefner served a delicious lunch at the close of the meeting.

Iowa 4-H Clubs List 3,700 Youths Active In Soil Conservation

About 3,700 Iowa boys are enrolled in the soil conservation activity of the 4-H club program They are concentrated in 257 clubs in 22 Iowa counties.

The soil conservation activity is a key part of the 4-H agronomy program. Projects in soil conservation are designed to interest 4-H members in practices they can handle themselves.

Early in the club year, members study problems of soil use. Later they take up one or more practices such as soil fertility, soil erosion control, pasture and forage crop improvement and drainage.

When they complete their work in the activity, 4-H members are urged to move into advanced work in a land-use project.

The activity is guided by the Iowa Agriculture Extension Service. In addition, the club members receive help from soil conservation technicians, district commissioners, their own leaders and farmers living in their communities.

Most county programs include tours and demonstrations. Leaders take the clubs on tours of field days and club projects. Members see demonstrations in terracing, soil testing and other soil conservation practices.

As an example of soil conservation activities, 12 Decatur County clubs have set up six farm crops and fertilizer plots this year. Three clubs combined to establish oat fertilizer test plots. Another club, the Happy Hustlers, has an oat variety plot. Other clubs have set up forage variety plots.

There are indications that the soil conservation activity is paying off. Many members go into advanced work, and they utilize the knowledge in their own farming operations. They have been effective promoters of soil conservation. In Shelby County, for example, there was increased participation in soil conservation practices. The special activity of the Shelby County 4-H clubs was credited with the increased interest in soil conservation.

the Highway Story

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

The call routed the highway patrolman out of bed at 3 o'clock in the morning and a half hour later he was ten miles out of town, driving through steady rain, looking ahead for the lights of parked cars, usually the first signal of the night accident.

But this time there were no lights. The accident scene was dark and abandoned. The patrolman's spotlight picked out one wrecked car on the highway and another wheels up in the ditch but showed him no sign of life—or death, for that matter.

Apparently some late passing motorist had picked up the people involved. To make sure, the patrolman glanced quickly into the cars and searched the ditches. He found nothing. Then the procedure became routine—place flares, call the wrecker—routine that is until the officer wrenched open a back door of one of the cars and shined his flashlight in upon the dead body of an eight year old boy.

It looked as though someone had taken time to lay the body of the child carefully on the floor of the back seat where the rain streaming through the shattered windsheild couldn't reach it. The motorist who had picked up the injured had not had room for the dead body.

"I pushed the car of the highway," the patrolman said, "then I got in and sat with that youngster. The wrecker didn't come for an hour, there was no traffic and it kept on raining. You know, that boy was young enough to be afraid of the dark."

Milk Production Remains Stable

Milk production in the United States during 1953 showed a slight decrease from 1950 figures, continuing a trend toward relatively stable production since the end of World War II.

Although the number of cows milked declined steadily from 1940 through 1952, the average production per cow shows a 15% increase.

The result has been comparatively stable production at an annual rate of about 125,000,000,000 pounds.

In spite of the adverse effect of ample non-farm opportunities for dairy farm labor, this high level of production has been achieved by generally high rates of concentrate feeding and close culling of dairy herds to improve the quality of stock. This has also resulted in a considerable increase since 1940 in milkfat production per milk cow. As a result of these various improvement factors, it has become clear that vast numbers of dairy cattle are no longer the answer to maximum milk production.

Production per cow currently is running in the neighborhood of 5300 pounds, as compared with a 1948 average of slightly more than 5000 pounds per cow, and a 1934 figure of approximately 4100 pounds. Iowa's cows have always been well above the nation's average per-cow production.

LOCOMOTIVE

At Garner, L. O. West has built a model locomotive in his spare time. It's a replica of the Northern Pacific's 4-8-4, on a scale of ¾ inch to one foot, and is 6 feet long. Over 1,000 rivets went into its construction. What's more, it runs, using kerosene as fuel.

4-H Rally Day to be June 5 at Hayfield

The 4-H girls in Hancock County are having their annual Rally Day, Saturday, June 5 at the Hayfield School. This year the business meeting will be held in the afternoon and a special program will be held in the evening for parents and friends of 4-H.

Mrs Elmer Doughan, Co. 4-H Committee Chairman, will preside at the afternoon session. Doreen Lackore, Co. 4-H President, will preside at the annual 4-H business meeting and the evening program.

The "Better Grooming Contest" will be held in the afternoon. Mrs Carl Neilson of Mason City will be the judge for this contest. The grooming revue will be the highlight of the evening program. One senior girl will be selected to represent Hancock County in the state contest which will be held at Iowa State College during he State 4-H Girls Convention. The girl selected will be given a free trip to the State Convention June 16-19.

Mrs Lewis Formanek, who is now a member of the County 4-H Girls Committee, has been selected to be initiated as Honorary 4-H Member in Hancock County. Mrs Formanek has contributed 14 years to 4-H club work as a mother, 4-H leader, and as a member of the county 4-H club committee.

Parents and friends of 4-H are invited to attend the evening session at Rally Day. This program is set up to give people of Hancock County a chance to see what the 4-H girls in the county are doing and what their projects and program includes.

Both Indoors and Outdoors—

Running Water Has Many Uses

Less dust and dirt will get into the house this summer if you wash the porch off regularly. It's a quick and easy job if you have an outdoor running water faucet with a hose attached.

Running water in and around your home is as good as an extra person helping with your house work. Naomi Shank, Iowa State College extension home management specialist, says water from a cold water faucet will take care of about 10 regular jobs around the house. Add automatic hot water and you'll use it for about 100 jobs.

Include a threaded faucet outside the house in your plans for a running water system and you will find lots of uses for water outside as well as inside the house, Miss Shank says.

Water Outdoors

It'll be easier to keep your yard green and looking nice all summer if you have an outdoor faucet to attach a hose and sprinkling attachment to. You'll find it handy to water flowers, too. And even in years of normal rainfall home garden yields of vegetables can be increased by routine irrigation.

You can make quick work of washing storm windows by doing the job outdoors with the hose. Less dust and dirt will get into the house if you regularly flush porches, screens and window ledges with water from a hose.

An outdoor faucet and hose are good safety precautions too, Miss Shank reminds us, since this combination can be used to check small fires before they become major blazes. It's wise to keep a reeled-up hose connected to the outdoor faucet for fire emergencies.

Water Inside

A complete water system on washday will save you from carrying about 20 extra buckets of water in and out of the house. You'll find hot running water a particular boom on wash day. If you can't afford to put in both hot and cold running water when you first install your system, at least plan the most economical location for when you get a water heater.

Piped water under pressure to kitchen and bathroom is an aid to health. It helps your family establish regular personal habits of bathing, handwashing and toileting. It also saves back strains and fatigue from carrying heavy buckets of water.

Everyday food preparation goes faster with water at the turn of a faucet. It's easier to keep used pans and dishes washed up.

You'll find yourself cleaning house more thoroughly—oftener too—yet with less effort when it's no chore to get water in and out of the house. This means a better looking home.

Ample Water Supply

Of course these many uses for running water mean you'll use more than you did when you carried it into the house. So when you plan your pressure water system you'll want to make sure you have an ample supply of water for all the fixtures you hope to have connected at some future time.

Miss Shank says you should allow at least 50 gallons a day per person (compared to the 5 to 7 gallons a day each person used when you carried the water). This amount includes kitchen, laundry, bath and toilet uses.

In checking for adequacy in your water supply don't forget seasonal "extras" like the part-time hired man in the summer, or relatives who spend holidays and vacations at your place. They all use water—and lots of it if they're from town.

Ell Midgets Met

The Ell Midgets met May 24th at the home of Jerry Studer. Egon Weaver was elected as the club's delegate to attend a short course at Ames, with LaVern Josten as his alternate.

The 4-H Club tour is going to be June 26th starting at 8 o'clock in the morning at the home of Donald Anderson. Material for 4-H demonstrations was handed out, and leaders took down results of surveyed farms.

A decision was made to give twenty-five dollars to the county fair ground.

Meeting was adjourned.

Fertilizer Pays Farmer Even When Prices Fall

Dr. Frank Miller, University of Missouri agriculture economist, points out that fertilizer "is a farmer's friend" even in times of lower prices.

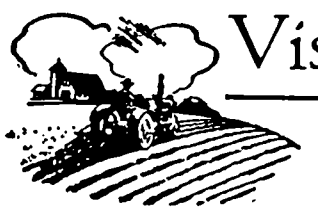
Miller cautions farmers against cutting down fertilizer use when prices are on a downtrend. A study of costs and profit returns shows that this is not a profitable step, he says. Farmers who fail to keep up fertilizer applications, are "not playing it safe".

Miller's views are backed up by E. P. Reed, an Ohio State University agronomist He warns farmers that trying to "save money" on fertilizer will result in lower crop yields and lower profits.

Reed's advice to farmers is that "you can't afford not to apply correct amounts of fertilizer" during periods of a cost-price squeeze.

"Even when prices are low," he says, "we should apply recommended amounts of fertilizer to maintain yields."

As yields increase, production costs decrease, whether the crop unit is bushels, pounds or tons. And as costs go down, profits go up, even with lower prices.



Visiting around Iowa

by Joe Marsh

Iowans Get Around

"No wonder Iowa folks get around a lot," says Joe Esnor down at the gas station. "We have more surfaced roads per square mile than any other state."

Well, I looked it up and Joe is right. Every city, town, and hamlet is on a surfaced road. I say that's another reason for Iowa's fine brand of democracy. Our network of roads makes us all better neighbors.

And, the more neighborly we are the better we understand the other fellow's tastes and viewpoints . . . and he understands ours. We eat sauerkraut with the folks at Ackley or Lisbon, Kolaches at Cedar Rapids, Dutch bologna at Pella. I drive up to my good friend Ole's and always find coffee simmering on the stove. But Ole always brings out a temperate glass of beer for me, because he knows that's my preference.

Visiting around does make good neighbors, broader minds. We learn that everyone is different, and by understanding the other fellow's ideas we're more likely to have his understanding of ours.

Soil Conservation Defined by Moss

The United States has become well awakened during the past few years to the need for a national soil conservation program, according to Vernon G. Moss, U. S. Soil Conservation Service. The term "soil conservation" is heard and read frequently and has achieved a virtue of its own in everyday thinking.

Yet, conception of what soil conservation really signifies vary widely.

To one man it may mean terraces and contour strip cropping. Such an observer may drive mile after mile through flat lands where neither terracing or contour strip cropping were needed and report he had seen no evidence whatever of soil conservation even through every acre was being farmed properly with the soil conservation practices adapted to that kind of country.

To the trained conservationists, however, soil conservation means farming the land according to its natural capabilities.

Modern soil conservation is sound land use and treatment of land with all the proven measures that are needed to keep it permanently productive while in use.

It means terracing land that needs terracing; it means contouring, strip cropping, and stubble mulching the land as needed along with crop rotations, cover crops, lime, fertilizer and manure. It means gully control, stabilizing water outlets, building farm ponds, locating farm roads and fences on the contour, planting steep erodible land to grass or trees, development of good pastures and devoting good management to them after they have been developed.

Modern conservation, moreover, consists of doing still other necessary things. Where land is too wet, modern soil conservation calls for drainage; if it is too dry, it calls for irrigation; if it is subject to wind erosion, it calls for wind stripping, tree planting, and stubble mulch farming. If plant nutrients have been depleted, it calls for fertilization. And modern soil conservation calls also for the use of the best of the most adaptable varieties of crops as well as the most efficient tools available to farmers.

And an indispensable part of modern soil conservation is a supporting program of research, such as will provide at all times the advantages that progressive science can contribute. Also, a continuing, vigorous program of education, which must be made a part of our teaching from kindergarten through college.

Moreover, modern soil conservation calls for the continuing maintenance of all effective work which is put on the land. These scientifically planned conservation measures are not just for a single year or cropping season. Like savings bonds or savings deposits in the bank, they increase value and return on the original investment as the years go on.

European Tour

Miss Paula Goll left June 1st to spend a week in Philadelphia. Then she will journey up to Quebec, Canada and board the S. S. Atlantic on June 12th, where she will take an 11-country tour of Europe. (This includes England, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Germany, Switerland, Liecheustein, Austria, Italy, Monaco, and France. She will also visit for a month with her uncle and family in Knittlingen, Germany. She will return again to the U. S. on August 18th.

Smooth brome grass has proved valuable as a cash seed crop and for erosion control.

As with field corn, yields of sweet corn can be increased with fertilizers.

In 1953, 269,360 pedestrians were injured in U. S. traffic accidents.

Speeding on U. S .streets and highways last year killed 13,870 men, women and children.

COST OF GOVERNMENT

"I believe that sound business principles applied to government can produce more efficiency and a great saving of tax payers money.

HIGHWAYS

"I believe that our highways must be modernized. I will see that every available state and federal dollar is wisely spent on making our highways safer.

SCHOOLS

"In my opinion property taxes are at a saturation point. Some other way must be found to provide adequate financial support so that our Iowa children receive education second to none. I advocate supplying more school support by the state through sound business formulas that will be fair to all.

LIQUOR CONTROL

"Twenty-one years' experience has proved that the present Iowa law does not give us adequate liquor control sufficient to protect our homes and highways. The legislation which I propose can increase state income 7 to 8 million dollars without increasing the amount of liquor sold.

FARM SUPPORT

"I will insist upon a vigorous promotion of Iowa farm products through an Iowa Farm Products Promotion Commission adequately financed so that a greater demand will be created nationally and internationally for Iowa products."

A review of drainage laws

Guenther has been successful at the complicated business of farming and cattle feeding, starting from a poor farm family of eight children back in the early 30's. He is a self-made, successful resident of Hancock County.

He is respected by his neighbors as an active worker in the Methodist church; a school board member in Erin township; and past county Farm Bureau president.

E & R BIBLE SCHOOL

The first week of Bible School is learning everybody's names and a few other things.

In the pre-school class there are sixteen children. They have been working in the work books and other different things such as making a flag pole and putting flags on them.

The kindergarten class has seventeen in the room and the first grade has fourteen. They both have the same work books and are working hard on them. They color pictures in them and color other pictures also. They have cut out tables, chairs and table clothes.

The second grade has been learning prayers and other memory verses. There are twelve children in the class. They have workbooks to work in. They have made police hats and bird seed.

The third grade has eleven children which are learning quite a few things, such as The Lord's Prayer, The Books of the Bible, The Ten Commandments, and things like that. Besides this, they all have time for stories and pictorgraphs to go with it, also for workbooks. They have made book marks also.

The junior department which consists of the forth and fifth grades have fourteen boys and girls. They have done memory work. Most of them are through with the memory work and have started with the Catechism.

The senior department with twenty-four children includes the sixth, seventh and eighth grades. Each class recites to their own teacher or leader. After recess, they then go over to the high school and work in their workbooks.

In the junior choir there are thirty-four members. They consists of the fifth, sixth, seventh, and the eighth grades. Mrs Gerardi is their teacher. The junior choir sings every Sunday during Bible School.

Our total attendance is 127. Our average attendance is 122.

Plans Completed for Conservation Air Tour

Plans for the coming air tour and commissioner election were the main topic of business discussed at the meeting of the Hancock County Soil Conservation District Commissioners, Wednesday, May 26. Present at the meeting were district commissioner, Ben Riemer, Henry Swanson, and S. A. Barber; members of the nominating committee; Forrest Eckels, Harold Schwab, and Henry Redinius, Flying Farmer, Clarence Gorman, and Garner Airport Manager, Bill Evans.

Plans for the election were formulated first. The nominating committee of Forrest Eckels, Harold Schwab, Henry Redinius, Everett Sheets, and John Cooper were appointed to act as judges and clerks of the election. It was decided to have the polling place in the airport hanger. A display booth and a booth for Flying Farmers will also be placed in this hanger.

Rain date for the air tour was set for June 23. The election will be held on the 16th, however, regardless of weather conditions.

Instead of establishing and set air tour routes, a large map of the county will be on hand. Those desiring to make a tour may point out their farm and/or points of interest and the route they would like to take on their map. Arrangements may then be made with the Flying Farmers to cover the expenses of such a trip. The Flying Farmers plan to operate on a cost basis using their own planes. All arrangements for flights will be handled by the Flying Farmers who will be on hand to assist with planning flights and making up loads for the planes.

I wish to thank everyone for the cards, gifts, flowens, and visits since I became ill. I appreciate all your kindnesses.

Fred Barz 1tp

We wish to thank everyone for the flowers, gifts cards, and visits while we were in the hospital and since we have returned home.

Mrs Norene Pearson and Kevin Ray 1tp

My thanks to everyone who sent cards or flowers and who visited with me while I was in the hospital. Special thanks to Rev. Egeland for calling and to the Methodist Church for the flowers. Thank you, very, very much.

Mrs Wm. Velau 1tp

Many thanks for the cards and letters sent me by friends and relatives while a patient at the V. A. Hospital.

Ted W. Kaduce 1tc

I want to say "Thank You" to all my friends and relatives for the cards, gifts and flowers I received while in the hospital. Also all who called on me at the hospital and in my home. I especially want to thank "Pete" Kilgore for sending the Klemme Times and the Methodist Church and Martha Circle for the beautiful flowers. I also want to thank all for the kind deeds they did for my family. It was all greatly appreciated. May God Bless You All. Thanks again.

Mrs Jack Etchen 1tp

I wish to thank all who sent me lovely cards and flowers. Also those who visited me while again at the hospital and to "Pete" for the Klemme Times, and Louise for the Belmond Independent.

Statement of Hancock County Bar Association Relative to Courthouse Improvement & Annex

FACTS

1. CLERK'S OFFICE - The Clerk of the District Court reports to us that there are 29 current Probate files and 9457 District Court files not in the vault in her office because of lack of vault space - there are 1630 old Probate files in a basement vault not considered fireproof. To date there are a total of 4359 Probate files and a total of 12,103 District Court files which, under the law, are under her care and supervision, none of which she is authorized to destroy as is the case with certain other records of other County offices.

The current Probate and District Court files are now kept in ordinary metal filing cabinets in the Clerk's office and not protected by any vaults. All old Probate and District Court files are stored in paper pouches on shelves m the basement in an open hallway, except 2,700 Probate causes now stored in the vault which is filled to capacity.

All old criminal records are stored in the Clerk's vault. However, we are advised that from the present time on all criminal files will be maintained in nonfireproof metal filing cabinets in her office, outside of the vault.

Files of Estates and Guardianships (probate files) are now accumulating at the rate of approximately 100 per year. All of which should be kept from destruction by fire or other loss and, because of lack of vault space, must be kept in ordinary nonfireproof cabinets in an open office.

(a) - Whenever reference is made to "files" herein, it means a separate and individual District Court or Probate case.

WHAT WOULD FIRE OR TORNADO MEAN TO THE PEOPLE OF HANCOCK COUNTY

If fire or tornado should destroy the files in this office alone, it would mean to owners of real estate that their titles to both real and personal propery would be jeopardised and we estimate conservatively that 75%, or real estate titles in Hancock County are acquired through inheritance which will be increased to 100% within the not to distant future. We base this estimate upon our examination of Abstacts of Title to real estate which discloses that in at least 75%, of titles, ownership has been acquired by the death of some previous owner. If the records are not properly conserved, the oweners of property would have great legal expense in establishing their ownership, through quieting title actions and other legal proceeding necessitated by a loss of records.

2. AUDITORS OFFICE - The principal duties of the County Auditor are drainage proceedings and records, tax records, titles to real estate and Board of Supervisor's proceedings and records.

(a) Drainage proceedings and records - the County Auditor reports to us that at least one-half of the drainage records are not in his vault, by reason of lack of space, and the remaining are stored in his office and the room of the Board of Supervisors wholly unprotected against loss by fire and tornado.

(b) Tax Records - There is no space in the vault for tax records and they, with soldiers exemption, homestead exemption and agricultural land tax credit records, are in wooden cases in the Auditors office for reason of lack of vault space.

(c) Title to Real Estate - It is the duty of the Auditor to show on the record book in his office the transfers of title to real estate which are an important part of real estate titles and used for taxation purposes. The records showing title transfers are in the Auditor's vault but he infoms us that as of July 1, 1953, the last space in the vault was used and that from this point on, some of the books, showing transfers of titles, must be removed from the vault or the new transfer records be unprotected.

(d) Records of Board proceedings - The Auditor informs us that he keeps, in the vault, all records of Board Proceedings. However, there is sufficient space left for one more volume which will cover a period between 3 to 5 years.

(e) One of the most important records kept by the Auditor are, Drainage Plats and Profiles prepared over a period of approximately 50 years, at great expense. These plats and profiles have never been kept in the Auditor's vault by reason of lack of space and size of the records This is also true of the plats of all the roads in Hancock County.

WHAT WOULD FIRE OR TORNADO MEAN TO THE PEOPLE OF HANCOCK COUNTY

The Auditor advises us that at least 95% of all farm land and town properties in Hancock County are included in Drainage Districts established by the County. The expense to the owners of real estate and taxpayers, in the event of destruction of Drainage Plats and Profiles and records and destruction of the plats on roads is incalculable. It is safe to say, the cost of an attempt to replace these proceedings and the plats would exceed the cost of an entire new building complete, to say nothing of the inconvenience to the interested property owners.

3. TREASURER'S OFFICE - It is the Treasurer's duty to keep complete records of all taxes received and all monies disbursed and ledgers showing receipt of all County monies and ledgers showing receipt of all drainage assessments paid to him and, in this, the Treasurer must keep drainage records and the amount of all assessments made against real estate. There are 164 Drainage districts, the assessments for which are shown in books so kept by him. The Treasurer informs us he has sufficient vault space to accomodate drainage records for approximately a 10-year period. The Treasurer informs us that all current tax lists and receipts are kept by him in non-fireproof metal files in his office for reason of lack of vault space. In the event these lists and receipts and the record itself were destroyed, there would be no way of determining who had paid his taxes and the amount paid by any individual. As a matter of law, the Treasurer must keep on file all tax lists and such tax lists are now on file from the year 1859 in the Treasurer's vault in the basement of the Court House and this vault is now practically filled to capacity.

4. SHERIFF'S OFFICE - The duties of the Sheriff are so well known that no comment is made concerning them. However, the Sheriff has no vault space of any kind. The records maintained by this office can, for the most part be replaced by reference to other Government agencies. It should be pointed out, however, that it is very important to keep evidence and confiscated material in safe keeping so that the same be used in the trial of Criminal matters and safely cared for while in his custody.

5. RECORDER'S OFFICE - The County Recorder reports to us that, at the present time, she has sufficient vault space but that vault space will be exhausted at the end of 1954.

6. COUNTY ENGINEER - The Engineer has supervision of all County roads and maps and profiles thereof and maintains records of Drainage plats and profile of all Drainage Districts. He reports that he has insufficient vault facilities for storage of Road Maps and Drainage Maps and Profiles, incidental thereto. The greater portion of these are not protected. He further reports that he does not have sufficient office space for drafting and other required office use for the protection of County engineering equipment. These Drainage Maps and Profiles could not be replaced, if destroyed, and Road records and profiles, if destroyed, could be replaced only at great expense.

7. OFFICE OF COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS- The principal duties of the County Superintendent are to maintains records respecting all proceedings of the County Board of Education, school reorganization proceedings, boundaries of all school districts, records of all Township school children, registration of all teachers certificates, reports of all school districts and compilation of the reports, records on transportation and state aid, County library and records pertaining thereto, and many others.

WHAT WOULD FIRE OR TORNADO MEAN TO THE PEOPLE OF HANCOCK COUNTY

The County Superintendent's office is NOT equipped with any vault space of any kind. A resume of his duties and the records kept by him is entirely sufficient to require the necessity of the protection of those records and that is especially true of the newly reorganized Community School Districts voted upon in Hancock County. The only official and permanent record of the boundaries and plats of reorganized School Districts and all proceedings, establishing sub-districts, are kept in the office of the County Superintendent with no protection whatsoever and, if such records should be destroyed by fire or tornado, they would be irreplaceable.

8. COUNTY ASSESSOR'S OFFICE - The County Assessor informs us, his office space is inadequate in that he is compelled to confer on matters pertaining to his office in the presence of other people and does not have sufficient vault space to keep current records protected. These current records could be again compiled but at an estimated cost of $10,000.00.

9. With reference to the present vaults, as they now exist, we think it should be pointed out that they are, for the most part, contructed of hollow tile and in addition the vaults in the Auditor's office and Recorder's office have outside windows which greatly impair the little protective quality they now offer.

CONCLUSION

The above facts are the result of a survey made by the Hancock County Bar Association, after the matter was called to our attention by various County officers which resulted in Grand Jury recommendations. We have attempted a complete and impartial survey of the needs of vault space and some office space and, as a public service to our County, have interrogated every public official listed above and have inspected the available facilities. We neither approve nor disapprove any tentative plans which may have been considered. However, we do strongly feel that the necessity for additional vault space exists and that, for the protection of vital public records, it is essential.

Taken from Our Files

10 YEARS AGO—

Wall-eye pike fishing has not been too good so far at Clear Lake this season, but the persistent fishermen have been getting a few nice ones. Thursday evening, "Skeet" Albertson brought back two large wall-eyes; one weighing around four pounds and the other about two. Sunday forenoon he caught five nice wall-eyes.

Henry Smid, who recently moved into the cottage near the county maintenance building has the place all repainted and decorated and has made a nice garden. "Hank" is quite proud of his new residence.

Mr and Mrs Ernest Helps have purchased the W. S. Less property in the southwest part of Garner.

A picnic dinner was held Sunday at Ventura in honor of Pfc Herbert Webner and family from Madison, Wisconsin. A large number of relatives enjoyed the picnic dinner and fishing. The Webners returned home Tuesday.

20 YEARS AGO—

Milton Paul and Bennie Schaper, Des Moines Register and Tribune carrier salesmen in Klemme and their parents have been invited to attend the Fifth Annual Register and Tribune carrier salesman convention and frolic in Des Moines on Monday, June 11.

Ed Buntenbach's car was badly damaged last week Thursday when another car crashed into him south of Belmond. Luckily Ed was not injured. As a result of the wreck, Ed has abandoned the use of his old car and is now driving a new Ford V-8 sedan.

Work has been completed on the addition which Dr and Mrs Dulmes had built onto their home and they are now occupying the new rooms.

Wilbur Arnold, student at Iowa State College, Ames, spent the week end visiting with his parents, Mr and Mrs E. J. Arnold.

30 YEARS AGO—

1924th PSALM

The Ford is my auto, I shall not want. It maketh me to lie down in muddy roads; it leadeth me into much trouble; I go by the path of debt for its sake. Yea, though I understand my Ford perfectly, I fear much evil lest my radius rods or the axle might break. It has a blowout in the presence of my enemies. I anoint the tire with a patch, the radiator boileth over. Surely this thing will follow me all the days of my life, or I shall dwell in the house of poverty forever.

Moral: Equip your ford with one of the new cuckoo clocks. When the car reaches a speed of twenty-five miles an hour, the bird will come out and sing "Nearer My God to Thee", and at forty miles an hour it will sing, "Lord, I'm Coming Home".

Peck Hanson of Garner was in town Tuesday doing a little campaigning.

Mr and Mrs James Reinig of Garner are the parents of a girl born Friday at the Forest City Hospital. She weighed 7 pounds, and has been named LuAnn. She has a brother, Jay. Mrs Reinig is the former Darlene Bachman.

Mr and Mrs Gene Seim are parents of a baby boy born last Thursday morning at the Belmond Hospital. The young man weighed in at eight pounds and two ounces and is the second child for the Seims. They already had a girl in the family. Mrs Seim and the new boy returned home from the hospital, Tuesday.

Andreae to Head Lions Club For Coming Year

At the regular Lions Club meeting on June 2nd, 21 members were present. They were served a delicious meal of chicken by the Band Mothers.

After all the chicken had been taken care of, a business meeting was held. Election of officers for the coming fiscal year was held and the results are as follows President, R. C. Andreae; 1st V. P., Rev. V. E. Jaberg; 2nd V. P., V. A. Cook; Secretary & Treasurer, H. E. Barz; Directors (1 year term), W. Fuss, C. A. Larson, Sr.; Directors (2 year term), Rev. V. E. Jaberg, V. A. Cook; Tailtwister, M. Barz; Lion Tamer, D. Day.

William Fuss introduced the guest speaker, Patrolman Angle, of the State Highway Patrol. His talk was on highway safety and he listed these ten reasons for accidents in this county: (1) failure to observe stop signs; (2) passing on narrow bridges; (3) failure to yield the right-of-way; (4) failure to dim lights (5) not having car under control at railroad crossings; (6) failure to observe all road signs; (7) improper passing; (8) speeding on the open highway; (9) sleeping while driving; and (10) drinking.

Patrolman Angle also stated that a state police radio will be located on Highway 69 on the Hancock—Wright County line in the near future. Any driving violations can be reported to this station and a patrolman will be dispatched to the scene in a short time. The station will give this area more patrolling than previously. However, Patrolman Angle mentioned that cooperation is needed especially from parents of teen-age drivers if the laws of driving are to be observed. Parents can help by encouraging their children to take the drivers training course offered by our high school and by setting a good example in their own driving habits.

Church Picnic

There will be an all-church picnic for members and friends of the Klemme-Liberty Methodist Churches on Friday of this week at noon at the Liberty Methodist Church. The picnic is an annual affair marking the end of the Daily Vacation Bible School. Each family will bring covered dishes, sandwiches, and table service. Coffee, lemonade, and ice cream will be provided.

Services Were Friday For Mrs. Usher, 53

Funeral services for Mrs Worthie Usher, 53, were conducted from the Klemme Methodist Church at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Friday, June 4, with Rev. E. Morris Egeland in charge.

Mrs Usher was born in Klemme, received her education here, and lived here until she married Worthie Usher in 1924. After that she lived in Palo, Williams, and Rowan before she and her husband returned to Klemme last year.

Mrs Usher had been ill with a heart ailment for some time, but in the days preceding her death, seemed to be feeling much better than usual. However on Monday evening, May 31, she suffered a fatal heart attack.

Interment was in the Ell Township Cemetery at Klemme, and pall bearers were Milvern Lau, Alfred Lau, T. G. Ahrenkiel, E. A. Gerardi, LeRoy Lau, and Frederick Blank.

Osman Funeral Service of Klemme was in charge of arrangements.

An obituary of Mrs Usher appears on page 7 of this issue of The Times.

Alumni Ticket Sale Ends Wednesday, 16th

Members of the Klemme High School Alumni Association who have not as yet purchased their tickets for that organization's annual banquet should be sure and do so before Wednesday, night, June 16th. The banquet is being held this year at the All Veterans Social Center in Clear Lake, and officials of the association have to make reservations with management of the All Vets by Thursday, June 17th.

The banquet will be on Friday evening, June 18th, and a good meal and some off-the-cuff home talent entertainment is in store for those who attend.

Tickets are being sold by some members of the various classes, but if you have not been approached, you can purchase tickets at Gerardi's, Marie's Beauty Shop, or at The Times office.

To Wed In Fall

Mr and Mrs Eric Meyer of Goodell announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dorothy Jean, East Troy, Wis., to Raymond E. Annis, son of Mr and Mrs Fred Annis of Elkhorn Wis. The wedding will take place in the early fall.

Iowa owners of series E and H Savings Bonds still hold an estimated billion dollars of them.

Voters Approve Gravel Farm Purchase; Defeat Courthouse Annex

In the one race for office in Hancock County where there was competition, Curtis Riehm, Garner attorney, won the nomination as Republican candidate for State Representative in next fall's general election. He defeated his opponent, Gilbert Guenther, by a vote of 1734 to 856. He will run against Democratic candidate, Rex Austin, of Crystal Lake, who received 235 votes of a possible 373 cast by Democrats in Monday's primary.

Only other Democrat trying for a county office is J. J. Lorenz. He is a candidate for supervisor and will run against Clinton D. Daniels in the general election next fall. He received 192 votes on the Democratic ballot.

Other county offices are all filled by Republicans and they had no competition in the primary election. County auditor Maynard Schoneman pulled the most votes with a total of 2329, while L. M. "Dutch" Brower, sheriff, received 2327 votes.

The two special measures that were before the voters Monday were of considerable interest and the results of the vote were entirely different. The proposal to buy the Schoenwetter farm west of Klemme for gravel, carried by a good two to one margin with 2023 casting Yes ballots and 904 No. The proposal to build an annex to the courthouse in Garner was defeated, though, with the west half of the county casting the majority of the No votes. The vote was 1599 against the proposal and 1374 Yes.

In the race to win the Republican nomination for the office of governor, Leo Hoegh, running with the endorsement of Iowa temperance groups, came up with a surprising 39% total vote to get the nomination. Most observers had thought that the Republican candidate would have to be picked at the GOP state convention in July. W. H. Nicholas of Mason City was second in the race, and A. B. Chambers of Des Moines, the candidate who had come out as favoring liquor by the drink, was held to fourth place. Hoegh will be the Republican standard bearer next fall against Clyde E. Herring, Democratic candidate for governor.

The election brought out a comparatively few voters. Only 37% of those eligible in the county exercised their privilege and went to the polls.

When your Series E Savings Bonds mature, you can hold them up to another 10 years, earning interest, without doing a thing or notifying anyone.

Lions To Sponsor Fish Derby Next Thursday

Will Be Held at Same Pond as Last Year; Lots of Fish

The Klemme Lions Club, which last year sponsored the first Kid's Fish Derby for Klemme and vicinity, is putting on a derby again this year. The event will take place on Thursday afternoon, June 17. Those who were on hand for the event last year will recall that all the participants enjoyed their afternoon very much, and some nice prizes were handed out, as well as free treats for contestants.

Rules governing the conest will be the same as those followed last year. Children between the ages of 6 to 15 inclusive will be allowed to participate in the contest and they must use cane poles. No rods and reels will be allowed. Each contestant must furnish his own tackle and bait and do his own fishing in order to qualify for prizes. Prizes will be limited to one person except for the grand prize which will be awarded for the heaviest string of fish.

In order for a boy or girl to participate in the contest they must first register. No one will be allowed to fish unless they first have a registration slip, properly filled out and signed by one of their parents.. Registration will start at the pond at 1:00 p m. and must be completed by 1:45. The contest will get underway at 2:00 p. m.

Prizes will be given in various age groups to both boys and girls for the most fish, and to both boys and girls of any age for the biggest fish and the smallest fish. In addition to the prizes and an afternoon of fun, treats will also be handed out to contestants.

This fish derby is made possible by the Klemme Lions Club in cooperation with the State Conservation Commission. The Commission furnishes the bullheads for the event and present plans call for somewhere in the neighborhood of 750 fish to be dumped into the pond for the event. Should make good fishing . . . especially since the fish will be hungry.

Make plans now to have your children on hand next Thursday afternoon, June 17. They will have a lot of fun fishing, and you will have a lot of fun watching.

A few days without rain and corn fields are beginning to take on a much cleaner and neater appearance. Considering how cool the weather has been the corn has been making a good growth and now that cultivation is underway, the fields look nice. You can do a lot of traveling but if you have lived any time in the state of Iowa, nothing looks better than a good clean field of corn.

Voters in the county passed up a chance to get better protection for their records when they turned down the proposal to build a $100,000 annex to the courthouse at Garner. If fire or tornado hits now, and vital records are destroyed, they have no one but themselves to blame. The supervisors acting on the recommendations of the grand jury, presented the proposal to the voters in Monday's election, so their skirts are clean.

Ell Township precinct voted fairly strong for the measure, with the final count showing 123 yes and 61 no votes. However, the west part of the county leaned the other way with Britt Township voting 411 no and 50 yes.

Seems to us that it's a little like cutting off your nose to spite your face.

We don't know just how many eligible voters there are in Ell Township but we are afraid that the 221 who turned out for Monday's election are not nearly all of them. When Dudley Weible made the prediction in his Memorial Day speech here that not over 50% of the voters would turn out, he wasn't wrong. The only trouble was that he went to strong.

County-wide 37% of the voters went to the polls. People in this country must either be getting lazy or else they are getting so that they don't care what happens. We have heard them complain bitterly when something in government didn't suit them, but still they can't take the time to mark a ballot and at least have their say about who they are going to complain about.

From the results of the race for nomination as Republican gubernatorial candidate it is quite obvious that the majority of people in Iowa are not as yet ready for any liquor by the drink legislation. Most people had Leo Hoegh figured to get the largest share of the vote, but not many thought that he would win the nomination without the contest having to be settled in the GOP state convention in July.

An avowed dry, carrying the endorsement of temperance groups, Hoegh needed 35% of the vote to win the nomination. With six candidates in the running, the 39% that he carried was quite remarkable. He beat his nearest opponent, W. H. Nicholas of Mason City, by a two to one margin, and A. B. Chambers of Des Moines, who came out for liquor by the drink, was held to fourth place in the six-man field.

Looks as though Iowans will still do their drinking out of a bottle.

With each succeeding day of the McCarthy-Army hearings, McCarthy seems to get deeper and deeper into hotter water. The "Joe Must Go Campaign" in Wisconsin failed, but we are of the opinion that the Junior Senator from Wisconsin is now fighting for his political existence.

June is dairy month and this week's issue of The Times carries a goodly amount of advertising ranging from boosts for dairy products to salutes to the industry as a whole.

We think that it is fitting that we should salute an industry that contributes as much to the health and welfare of the people as does the dairy industry. Approximately 20% of all working people and employed Iowans find year 'round employment in the industry. Iowa is the sixth dairying state in the nation; the number one cream state. You can see that the dairy industry is really big business in Iowa.

In addition to the wealth that is brought into the state by the industry, it also helps to facilitate health among our people. Dairy foods have long been known to be among the most healthful, and at the same time least costly of foods. Industry statisticians have come up with figures that show that although dairy foods make up 30% of the average diet, their cost is only 15% of the food dollar. Percentage wise, this makes them an A-1 bargain.

If everyone could see the light and eat just a little extra butter and drink an extra glass of milk each day—to their own benefit—the dairy products surplus that is now troubling government officials would become no problem at all.

We salute, during the month of June, the dairy industry. It's contribution to the health and welfare of our country is a large one.

Iowa stream fisherman, which make up the bulk of the state's anglers, are reminded by the state Conservation Commission that their hobby can be a very dangerous one.

Streams should be fished with great care and respect, the Commission says, for the treacherous currents and rough stream beds of most rivers are more dangerous than any other type of water. The Commission lists several tips that fisherman are urged to observe while fishing and wading in rivers:

1. Always inspect the particular stretch of river you intend to fish, with a special regard for water safety. If you cannot swim, stay out of the water, and do not go out on logs or retaining walls.

2. Avoid walking on the edges of steep cut banks, which may easily crumble away. The water below such cut banks is the deepest part of the river.

3. Never wade in a river after dark. When wading across a river wade upstream as much as possible, so if you step into a deep hole the current will help wash you back to safety.

4. Never leave children unattended near a river. Children playing around river banks should wear life jackets, and unsupervised swimming should never be permitted.

5. A river never rests, and is always moving, working and dangerous. Whenever you are around it, use your head and treat the river with respect.

the Highway Story

IOWA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

This is the story of one Iowa driver who apparently knows the real value of a thing many of us take for granted. The incident occured one night while highway patrolmen were conducting a light check, stopping cars along the highway for brief inspections.

One of the cars stopped was an ancient two-door sedan. With the driver in the front sent was his wife holding a baby; from the back six children in assorted sizes stared out at the patrolmen.

As part of the check, one of the officers asked the driver for his license. The driver seemed most pleased with the request.

He jumped out of the car and hurried around to help his wife out. Next he herded the six children out of the back seat and grouped them up about the mother at the edge of the highway.

Then, as the patrolmen stood by, baffled, the driver climbed into the car, yanked out the back seat. Under the seat was a burlap bag tied with a piece of rope.

Working quickly, the driver untied the bag and drew out a tobacco can. Then came the moment of triumph. With both doors of the car flapping open, with the entire family standing in a solemn huddle, the driver opened the tobacco can and drew out—his drivers license.

"Wouldn't drive without it," he panted, "and wouldn't take a chance on losing it either."

As the lights of the old sedan dimmed down the highway the partrolman agreed that they had met a man who knew the value of his drivers license. This actually happened.

North Iowa Conference

The annual session of the North Iowa Conference of the Methodist Church will open with a Communion Service on Friday evening of this week at 8 o'clock in Grace Methodist Church, Sioux City on the campus of Morningside College. The conference will continue with business sessions all day Saturday, Monday and Tuesday and with a morning session on Wednesday. Great services of worship are planned for morning, afternoon and evening on Sunday in Allee Gymnasium and Grace Methodist Church. Attending the conference from the Klemme-Liberty Methodist Churches will be Rev. and Mrs E. Morris Egeland and Mr John A. Chambers lay member of the conference representing the local churches. Rev. and Mrs Egeland will return from Sioux City Saturday evening and go on to Evanston, Illinois, where they will attend commencement exercises on Monday morning at Northwestern University in which Sylvia Egeland will be granted the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education. The Egelands expect to return to Sioux City for the concluding session of the Conference and the adjournment following the reading of the appointments for the new church-year on Wednesday noon.

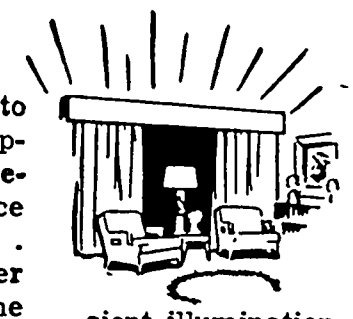
PLANNING or BUILDING A NEW HOME?

NEW IDEAS IN WIRING ADD BEAUTY, COMFORT, CONVENIENCE AND VALUE!

YOU WILL WANT that new home of yours to be planned and equipped for modern, up-to-date, convenient living. That means adequate wiring . . . with plenty of convenience outlets and switches . . . properly spaced . . . enough wires to carry all the electric power you'll need for year's to come . . . for all the household appliances you already have, PLUS those you will add from time to time.

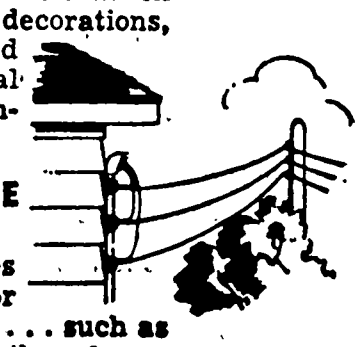
LOW VOLTAGE WIRING

And here's a new idea in wiring which will give you the special lighting convenience you've so often wished to have! It's a new wiring system . . . and with it you can install a master switch panel from which to control any or all of the lights in or about your home. Suppose you had this master switch panel near your bed. With a touch of your fingertip, you can light your garage, your kitchen, living room — any place you desire. Think of the extra convenience and safety such lighting convenience provides.



VALANCE LIGHTING

One of the joys of modern lighting is the way it helps make our homes more restful and beautiful, yet at the same time gives more efficient illumination. "Valance lighting" is one of these modern lighting systems . . . which gives proper value to pictures and decorations, yet is always restful to the eyes and comfortably relaxing. It's a real combination of beauty and convenience.



3-WIRE SERVICE ENTRANCE

A 3-wire system to your home gives you the 230 volts necessary for operating your miracle appliances . . . such as your automatic water heater, clothes dryer, electric range and air conditioner most efficiently. Give Reddy "leeway" to do a good job with these important appliances. Get organized from the start for comfortable, safe, convenient, modern living. It will add VALUE to your home.

Adequate Wiring Certified

Look for the Certified Adequate Wiring Emblem. It's your guarantee that your home is wired for today . . . AND TOMORROW. Bring your plans for FREE consultation to your qualified electrical contractor, who's listed with the Central Iowa Adequate Wiring Bureau.

IOWA ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER Company

Obituary of Mrs. Anna Wille

By Rev. Vernon E. Jaberg

Mrs. Henry Wille, nee Anna Dinse, was the youngest of three children born to her parents Joe and Caroline Dinse. Anna was born on November 22, 1863 in Pommern, Germany. She received the sacrament of Holy Baptism in the local church on December 20, 1863. She came to America from Germany with her parents when she was a child of two years. Her parents first settled in Dubuque, Iowa and later moved to Littleport in Clayton County, Iowa. She was received into the fellowship of the Christian Church through the rite of Christian Confirmation when she was a youth of sixteen years, at the Methodist Church of Elkport, Iowa.

On February 14, 1884 she was united in marriage with Mr. John Hartbeck in Clayton County. The Hartbecks moved to Liberty Township in Hancock County where they farmed for several years. God in His providence granted to this family six children. One son, Arthur died in infancy. Mr. John Hartbeck died in 1900 Anna then was united in marriage with Mr. Henry Wille in 1901. To this union God granted two children. One son, Ocsar Henry died as an infant. Mr. Wille died in 1940. For the past fourteen years she has made her home with Mrs Esther Barz and sons Milvern and Edward.

Mrs. Wille was a member of Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church of Klemme, Iowa. She was very faithful in her relationship to her church and shared in its ministry and message in recent years though confined to her bed. She received the Sacrament of Communion with regularity as recently as Easter Sunday. She was also a member of the Women's Guild and attended the meetings until failing health made it impossible.

During the past four years Mrs Wille or Grandmother Wille, as she was affectionately known has been confined to her bed through a broken limb. She has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Albert Barz where she has been cared for with real concern and affection. Her entire family shared in staying with her as her condition requred it. Mrs. Wille was not one given to complaint, but rather to thanksgiving to her family and loved ones and to Almighty God. She was called to her eternal rest on Saturday, June 5, having attained the age of 90 years 6 months and 13 days.

She is survived by the following: five children, Martha, Mrs. Fred Barz, of Klemme; Addie, Mrs. Ernest Palmby of Vernon Center, Minnesota; Esther, Mrs. Albert Barz, of Klemme; Mr. Leslie Hartbeck of Klemme; and Emma, Mrs. John Kendall of Des Moines, Iowa. She is also survived by two step-children, Mrs. Naska Bock and Mr. Carl Wille, both of Klemme. Also surviving are tweny-one grandchildren, 38 great grandchildren, 2 great great grandchildren and a host of more distant relatives and friends.

She was preceded in death by her parents, who died in her home, by brothers, Richard, who died in 1950 and infant brother, Carl August, by her husbands and infant sons, Arthur Hartbeck and Oscar Henry Wille as well as by Elmer Hartbeck, a veteran of World War I, who died in 1920.

A favorite hymn of Mrs. Wille was "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" which she often quoted.

Delegates Picked for Girls' 4-H Convention

Seventeen Hancock County 4-H Club girls and 3 leaders have been chosen to attend the 25th Annual State 4-H Girl's Club Convention at Iowa State College, June 16 to 19, according to Elsie Mae Van Wert, county extension home economist.

Those from this vicinity who will attend the convention are Gracka Gerardi, Ell Tip Toppers; Darlene Ostendorf, Avery Sunbeams; Barbara Hughes, Liberty Busy Bees; and Marcia Watne, Twin Lake Go-Getters.

Theme for the 25th Annual Convention will be "Working Together for World Understanding". The three-day session annually brings together 1500 club members, representatives of more than 23,000 4-H Club girls in the state and their leaders.

500 Attend Recitals

Some 500 people attended the afternoon and evening recitals presented by the students of the Gerardi School of Music last Sunday at the high school gymnasium. The school has been growing every year and this, their third annual recital, had so many students of the piano and accordion, that it was necessary to the break the program into two separate recitals.

Few towns the size of Klemme can boast a musical school like that run by the Gerardis. In fact, we don't know of another like it anywhere. Their students come from a forty-mile radius around Klemme, and they receive good training from good musicians.

30 YEARS AGO—

We saw a farmer cultivating corn last Thursday, about a mile east of Garner. This is the first farmer we saw this year in the corn field. Since then we have observed a number of fields being cultivated.

A large number of friends of Mr and Mrs A. G. Koerner gathered at their home last Thursday evening as a surprise on Mrs Koerner, it being her birthday. All enjoyed a dance in Koerner's barn after which a lunch was served. Mrs Koerner was presented with a nice gift and all report a good time.

Dogs Kill Sheep For Albert Priebe

Albert Priebe, who lives just south of Klemme, was in the office the other day, and he wasn't exactly happy. He said that seven dogs were roaming the country together, and that they had killed two of his sheep. He further stated that all of the seven dogs came from town and that several of them he could identify as to owners.

Mr Priebe said that he would put up with no more sheep killing. Anyone in Klemme whose dog has been away from home for any length of time should keep him at home. Otherwise, Mr Priebe suggests that he may take action to keep them from further roaming.

From the way he talked, we gather that the action would consist of a gentle squeeze on the trigger of a shootin' iron trained rather closely on some marauding dog.

Big Fish Clogs Pipe

While pumping water from the Missouri River into Lake Manawa recently, Conservation Commission engineers ran into trouble when their 24-inch pump pipe became clogged.

When the pipe was cut to clear the obstacle, they found that a huge rock sturgeon had been sucked up into the pipe tail-first. Although its tail and part of the body had been cut off by the pump, the remainder of the fish measured 46 inches. This section of the fish's body was only 4 inches shorter than the same section of Old Oscar, the State Fair's famous sturgeon.

The engineers stated that the sturgeon's head was even larger than Old Oscar's, and estimated the weight of the fish at about 80 pounds.

SALUTE
to a great industry

THE health of our nation depends in a large part on the dairy industry. Dairy foods are an important part of our diet from birth on throughout our lives. To the dairy farmers, the creameries, the dairies, the cheese makers, the ice cream manufacturers and all processors of dairy products, we tip our hat. They have set high standards for freshness, purity, wholesomeness and nutrition and supply all of us with good food for our daily meals.

You don't see many milking stools like this one these days.

Dairying has gone modern. The milking stool went out with the advent of the milking machine.

Other items, once standard equipment for the dairy farmer, have also been replaced by more convenient and efficient devices. The old fashioned cooling tank is gone from most dairy farms and in its place is a modern cooler.

Mrs. Cora Schaefer Will Again Head Auxiliary

The regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary met at the home of Lois Chambers, Tuesday evening, June 1.

It was voted to send $10 to Wooden Churches, $10 to Korean Relief, and $10 to the Carville Leprosarium.

Cora Schaefer told of her visit with Billy Joe Shank at Woodward, when she was touring the Hospital there recently. Billy Joe is the little boy whom we sponsor there. Each month some one of our unit sends him a package. Rosa Larson offered to send one in June.

Leafy Coobs reported that $123.25 was contributed on Poppy Day. Thanks to the ladies who distributed the Poppies and another BIG THANKS to those who contributed. In her shop, Marie Blank displayed a Poppy Window, which caught the eye of the passers-by.

It was reported that the Auxiliary will be sponsoring a prenatal and infant care course this fall.

The annual election resulted in a unanimous ballot being cast for the hold-over of all of last year's officers which include:

President, Cora Schaefer; Vice President, Irma Sherwood; Sec.-Treas., Helen Stille; Chaplain, Nellie Arnold; Sgt. Arms, Neva Hartzell; Members at Large, Esther Hess, Flora Back, and Lena Lewis.

Following the meeting, a nice lunch was served by the hostesses, Lois Chambers, and Cora Schaefer.

Council for Retarded Children Elects Officers

The Council for Retarded Children of Hancock and Winnebago Counties met in Garner June 4th. The following were elected as officers for the coming year: Mrs August Josten, Klemme, president; Mrs Roy Hovey, Forest City, vice president; Mrs Victor Bunge, Garner, secretary; and Mr Ervin Kahl, Britt, treasurer.

There were reports of the tour of Woodward State Hospital and School by representatives of the group and of a visit to the classroom for trainable children in the Albret Lea, Minnesota public school.

Plans for the coming year were discussed. It was decided to try to secure some one to take over the classroom which the mothers have successfully conducted this past year. If anyone is interested in teaching the classroom they may contact Mrs V. E. Bunge of Garner.

Ten lap-boards were finished by the group for the use of wheel-chair patients at Woodward.

Mrs V. E. Bunge of Garner was elected as delegate and Mrs August Josten was elected as alternate to the second annual convention of the Iowa Association for Retarded Children to be held at the Fort Des Moines Hotel Des Moines. Men outstanding in the field of mental retardation have been secured as speakers at th convention. They are Mr E. N. Roselle, Superintendent of Southbury Training School, Southbury Con., and Mr Ray Graham, Director of Special Education, for the State of Illinois. There will be panels and workshops on the various phases of the state program, such as, education; research and diagnostis services; legal and legislative program, and the institutional program. All interested persons are invited to attend the convention.

A contribution was received from the American Legion Auxiliary of Garner.

HELICOPTER

The first Iowa-built, jet-propelled helicopter may take off, from a Clarke county farm, around July first. Clarence and Russ Brierly have been building the ship, from an original design conceived by Clarence during his service in the navy. Neither brother has an aeronautical background.

milk ends calcium starvation

More adults suffer from lack of calcium than from any other dietary deficiency. Yet we need calcium all our lives for sound bones and teet aand proper body functioning. Milk is the only prctical source of calcium. Three or four glasses every day provide the daily calcium requirement for a normal adult. Tests also prove that milk every day helps keep you from feeling tired, nervous and worn-out . . . helps you relax and sleep better. Remember, you never outgrow your need for milk. Obituary of Mrs. Worthie Usher

By Arthur Wellemeyer

Mrs. Worthie C. Usher, 53, died at her home in Klemme, Monday evening, May 31, 1954.

She was feeling better than usual for a diabetic patient, and then, all of a sudden, her heart failed and she was gone.

Mrs. Usher, born Minnie Blank, daughter of Taalkeus and Geeske Blank, was one of a family of ten children.

She was born November 19, 1900, in Klemme. She attended the Klemme Schools and graduated with the class of 1920. She became a member of the Klemme Methodist Church by confirmation in 1921.

As a teen-ager, Minnie Blank started working in the Wellemeyer Department Store. She learned to keep the books and then became a saleslady in the dry goods department. Minnie just naturally liked people, and now and then a customer would ask, "Where's Minnie? She knows what I want."

On October 5, 1924, Minnie Blank and Worthie C. Usher were married in the Little Brown Church. They commenced housekeeping in Palo, Iowa, where Mr. Usher owned a small store. Later he was employed as manager of a chain store at Rowan, and again as manager at Williams, Iowa.

In 1934, the Ushers purchased a store building in Rowan and operated a general store for 19 years. A year ago, because of Mrs. Usher's health, they sold out and moved to Klemme.

Mrs. Usher reached the age of 53 years, 6 months, and 12 days.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, Worthie Keus Usher of Smithland, Iowa, and Carroll Eugene Usher of Evanston, Illinois; one grandson, Kenneth Worthie Usher; three sisters, Mrs. Agnes Ahrenkiel, Mrs. Grace Quandt, and Miss Marie Blank, all of Klemme; two brothers, Ralph Blank, Iowa Falls, Iowa, and Fred Blank, West Bend, Iowa; and other more distant relatives and friends.

Helen Lemke, County Welfare Director Edith Elling and Maxine Panosh, attended the clinic and assisted with the administration.

PINNED

JUNE Dairy Month ADVICE TO THOSE WHO MUST WATCH THEIR PENNIES

1 start a BANK ACCOUNT

Either by depositing to a checking account or through Certificates of Deposit. A Checking account is an excellent device to enable individuals to maintain records as an aid in careful control of personal expenditures, and Certificates of Deposit provide a means of return on surplus funds through interest earned by them.

2 serve plenty of Dairy Foods

Because it's June Dairy Month we want to point out this other example of thriftiness. Dairy foods are not only delicious and nutritious, but economical, too. They are 30% of all you eat, yet cost only 15% of your food dollar.

Klemme GI's Unit Helps With Building in Korea

I CORPS, KOREA,—Pfc Marvin E. Schmidt, son of Mr and Mrs Fred W. Schmidt, Route 4, Garner, Iowa, is a member of the I Corps' 204th Field Artillery Battalion which is helping to construct a new government building for a village in Korea.

His battalion is supplying technical advisors and supervisors, materials are furnished by the Korean Civil Assistance Command and Korean natives are providing the labor.

Schmidt, a member of Service Battery in the 204th, entered the Army in April 1953 and arrived in Korea last March.

He formerly attended Iowa State College at Ames.

Mrs Harold Johnson Involved in Accident

Mrs Harold Johnson and young son of Klemme received cuts and bruises when the car driven by Mrs Johnson collided with one driven by John Erickson of St Paul near the Grau schoolhouse on Highway No. 69 north of Garner at 4 p. m on Saturday afternoon, according to Sheriff L. M. Brower, who investigated. The Erickson car was coming from the north when the car ahead of him suddenly slowed down to make a right turn. Erickson in attempting to brake his car hit a fume outlet on the pavement which threw his car back onto the pavement and into the path of the Johnson car. Erickson received injuries to a hand and shoulder and was taken to a Mason City hospital. Mrs Johnson and son were taken to their home after the injuries were dressed. Riding with Erickson was his wife who also received minor injuries.

Stray Bullet Enters Window of Josten Home

This afternoon (Wednesday), Miss Marcelle Josten had rather a narrow escape. She was working with some school books in the living room of her parents' home here when a stray bullet came through the south window. Shattered glass flew all over the room, some of it hitting Miss Josten, and from where the bullet was embedded in the wall, it was judged that it missed her by only a few inches.

We talked to Mayor Cook about the incident and he was quite perturbed. "Someone," he said, "was being careless about where they were shooting." The accident happened about 3:30 this afternoon, and the bullet came in from the southwest. Whoever was doing some practice shooting about that time this afternoon should take a warning from this incident and be more careful in the future. A few inches change in the line of flight of the bullet and someone might have been responsible for a serious injury to Miss Josten.

520 Attended 4-H Camp at Clear Lake

Two hundred forty-one girls and 211 boys and 68 leaders and extension personnel attended the annual disarict 4-H camp at Clear Lake, June 9-11. The weather was almost ideal for a camp with the exception of a little rain on Thursday morning but old man sun came through to save the day.

Wednesday morning the campers arrived and were assigned to cabins and got settled for their stay. The rest of the morning was spent in getting acquainted and participation in recreation. Wednesday afternoon a general assembly was held on camp orientation and then more time to learn new recreational games.

Some of the highlights of camp were as follows: The Cheorkee story by Boyd McKee a half Cherokee Indian who is employed at Mason City. Thursday evening was spent at Bayside enjoying the speed boat rides, roller coaster and bumper car rides and roller skating. Of course their was afternoon recreation time for swimming, volley ball, softball, horseshoes, box hockey and table tennis. There were fun game mixers Wednesday evening and group singing lead by Ray Cunningham, former YMCA Director, plus the entertainment provided by Mr and Mrs Marlo Cowan of the Des Moines YMCA on the piano and accordions. They played some comedy and rhythm numbers while the campers applauded wildly. An etiquette skit was given by the Franklin RYP. Sylwester, portrayed by Dallas Burmester, and Mary Jane, portrayed by Lillian Rothmore, acted out the "don'ts" of dating. Jack, played by Jim Jurgenson and Phyllis played by Sylvia Nelson acted out the "do's" of dating.

Last but not least were the classes. The groups were divided into 3 color groups and rotated so that each group would have a chance to make belts, puzzle craft and the special activities which consisted of boating swimming, outdoor cookery or fun games.

A good time was had by all and the three days went by much too fast.

The report covers county business for the first five months of 1954.

Burned by Explosion

Clara Stolze, cook at the Hancock County Home was painfully injured early Saturday when the oven on the cook stove exploded causing burns on her arms, neck and face. She was rushed to the Hancock County Memorial Hospital at Britt where she is recovering from her injuries. The oven apparently had been turned on accidentally without the flame being lit and when she opened the door the fumes were ignited by the pilot light from the stove causing the flash which burned her seriously.

Grandmothers Club

Seventeen members of the Klemme Grandmothers' Club and their three guests were at Mason City, Monday evening to attend a banquet at the Odd Fellows hall there. The ladies were guests of the Mason City Grandmothers' Club and enjoyed a fine dinner and a very entertaining program.

Marriage Licenses

Hancock County Clerk Doris Young issued marriage licenses the past week to Albertus K. Kruger, 24, Rock Rapids, and Grace Van Horn, 23, Woden; and to Frederick L. Hite, 23, Vinton, and Wilda J. Lee, 22, Britt.

Shower for Kay Jacobs

Sixteen young Methodist ladies, their hostesses being Carol Bridges and Jo Ann Bacon feted Miss Kay Jacobs to a bridal shower on Tuesday, June 15th. The evening was much enjoyed as many games were played.

The bride to be, then with the aid of a huge pin, popped blue and yellow balloons hanging from the light. Each balloon held a slip of paper telling her where the gift was hidden. She received many nice gifts.

Lunch was served with the bride to be, her bridesmaid, and the mothers of the couple seated at a special table.

Priebe Reunion Held In Park Sunday

The annual Priebe reunion was held in the Klemme Park on Sunday, June 13th. Eighty members of the family were present and they came with well filled baskets for the picnic dinner.

Officers were elected for the coming year with the following results: August Josten, president; Leland Hummel, vice president and Mrs Fred Nuehring secretary.

Those present were Mr and Mrs Howard Baack and family, Mason City; Mr and Mrs Evert Barz and family, Waterloo; Mr and Mrs Eddie Garbo and Mrs Martha Drier, Milwaukee, Wis., Mrs Earl Beiber, Marion, Iowa; Fred Becker, Clear Lake; Mr and Mrs Paul Lau and family, Mr and Mrs Earl Nuehring and family, Mr and Mrs Fred Schmidt, Mr and Mrs Harlan Nuehring and family all of Klemme.

Mr. and Mrs Ewald Josten and family, Mr and Mrs Herman Schmidt, Mr and Mrs Merlyn Helps and family, Mr and Mrs Paul Goll, Mr and Mrs Ervin Nuehring and family, Mr and Mrs Mervin Barkema, Mr and Mrs Leland Hummel and family, Mrs George Born all of Klemme.

Mr and Mrs Allen Barz and family, Mr and Mrs Eldon Hagen and family, Mr and Mrs Edwin Josten and Marcelle, Mr and Mrs August Josten and family, Mr and Mrs George Thiemann, Mrs Alma Nuehring, Mrs Clara Barz, Erwin Priebe, Julius Priebe, and Henry Josten all of Klemme.

Bridal Shower

Miss Daisy Schaefer, who is to be married on June 24th, was honored at a bridal shower at the home of Janice Swanson, Friday evening. Co-hostesses with Miss Swanson were Lois Helps and Joan Lemke.

Games were played, and at the close of an enjoyable evening, lunch was served by the hostesses.

Miss Schaefer received many nice and useful gifts.

To Air Force

Dennis Ridder and Calvin Sandry left from Mason City Wednesday for Des Moines where they will be inducted into the Air Force. John Bisom will join the boys and they will be sent to San Antonio, Texas for basic training.

Court House to Close

The Court House at Garner will be closed all day Friday and Saturday, June 18th and 19th, 1954, in order that all County officials and their Deputies may attend the Annual School of Instruction being held on those days at Des Moines, Iowa.

Hospital Auxiliary

The Women's Auxiliary of Hancock County Memorial Hospital will meet at the hospital in Britt at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Friday, June 18th.

The Kanawha Chapter of the Auxiliary will be hostess and Dr John Engas will talk on diseases peculiar to women.

Everyone is urged to attend.

Rev. Melvin Miller To Serve Klemme-Liberty Churches

The North Iowa Annual Conference of Methodist Churches was held at Sioux City the fore part of the week. Some changes were made at the conference, one of which affects Klemme.

Rev. E. Morris Egeland, who served the congregations of the Klemme-Liberty Methodist Churches for the past six years, has been transferred to Sac City. Taking his place here will be Rev. Melvin Miller, a young man of 30. He has been at Greeley for the past four years. His service to the congregation at Greeley was his first charge after being ordained. He is married and has one child.

Rev. Egeland carries the well wishes of his congregations with him to his new charge at Sac City. Although reluctant to see him go, still they are glad to see him make the move which comes in the way of a promotion. He will preach at Sac City next Sunday, and Rev. Miller will be in the pulpit here.

Next Wednesday evening, the 23rd, there will be a farewell party for Rev. Egeland and family at the church parlors.

6,200 Mile Trip

Irving Haupt and his uncle, John Schroder of Webster City, returned home last Thursday from a 6,200 mile trip to California and other western states. They visited in San Francisco with a relative of Mr Schroder, Mrs M G Dietz. Then they drove north through Oregon to Longview, Washington, where they visited with old school friends of Mr Schroder's. He hadn't seen these people for 30 years. They also visited with Irving's cousin, Walter Haupt, at Longview.

Then they took a different route back to San Francisco, visited with friends in Berkley, San Leandro and San Jose. From there they drove through Yosemite National Park. Between there and Provo, Utah, they ran into snow right out in the desert, and from Provo to Grande, Colorado, it snowed most of the time.

The men left Iowa on the 4th of May.

Board of Canvassers Finds Few Changes In Vote Total

Hancock County supervisors convened Tuesday as the official board of canvassers to canvass the result of the Primary election on June 7th. The official tally resulted in substantially the same totals as were released as unofficial results immediately after all precincts had turned in the unofficial report according to County Auditor Maynard Schoneman. Changes were a few scattered votes in minor state offices and have no bearing in the final result.

The abstract of the votes at the Primary have been sent to the Secretary of State by County Auditor Schoneman.

O. D. O. Club to Meet

The O. D. O. Club will meet June 24th at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs August Josten.

The 4-H demonstration teams from Ell Tip Toppers will give their demonstrations.

A few days of warm weather, combined with the moisture that we have been getting has made the corn come along in fine shape We've been lucky too As much as they have been getting nearly daily rains and some pretty bad storms Our rains have been of reasonable amounts and not too fast Hope it can keep it up

We would like to be within the age limit for the Iowa sweetheart facing deep coming up Thursday We helped Mr Mace of the conservation commission put bluegills in the pond Thursday and another 2 some 6-year-old lad into the 17 pound-class going to save his cards for

We heard a tale the other night at Lions Club of Farmer Max Angle In his talk he cited figures from a recent traffic survey conducted on highways 69 and 18 The exact figures as to the amount of traffic on the two highways elude us at the moment but it runs in our mind that highway 69 carries in the neighborhood of twice as much traffic as does 18 Not only is traffic much heavier on 69, but it moves at an average of ten miles an hour faster

For our part we know that it is a mighty well-traveled highway Last fall when we went out west we drove some over 4,000 mile, and the heaviest traffic that we hit was from the junction of 9 and 69 north of Leland on into Klemme . With the exceptions of those portions of highways which were close-in to large cities

For the most part the highway department does an excellent job of positioning the yellow no passing lines on our highways and if one abides by them he is not too apt to become involved in an illegal passing accident. Occasionally we have seen yellow lines where we thought they weren't exactly necessary, but we assume that the surveys the department runs before they paint the lines on the highway are more discerning than is our naked eye. Besides, there is no danger in a no passing zone, even if it appears the spot doesn't warrant one.

What does bother us though is it come to a seemingly blind spot in the highway and find where is no established no passing zone. One such place that always appear odd to us is the hill by the Carpenter farm three and a half miles south of Klemme on highway 69 There again, perhaps the survey is more efficient than is our judgement, but we always treat that hill as if it had the yellow lines already placed on it It's rather a long hill, but it always seems to us that anyone not knowing the road could easily get into trouble . . . especially if they were expecting all the danger spots to be marked.

The collision in which Mrs Harold Johnson was involved last Saturday, points up the fact that the sooner we can get rid of the cement shoulders and deep drainage outlets on the edge of our pavements, the better off we will be. If it hadn't been for these hazards, no doubt the St Paul man's car wouldn't have been thrown into the path of Mrs Johnson's car, and there would have been no smash-up. People make mistakes and no doubt there will always be accidents, but we think the rate of accidents could be cut down if the highways were brought up to date with the type of car and the amount of traffic Highway improvement was one of the issues in the primary election. We hope it wasn't all talk.

You have noticed the banner on the back of patrol cars telling how many have been killed so far this year The other day we heard of a little boy, who upon seeing one of these said "Look, Mommy, there goes one that keeps score."

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

Heavy hogs continue to be drug on the market But demand for sows has been stronger in recent days, according to Francis A Kuhsh Iowa State College farm economist.

The current hog market remains in the doldrums. Receipts of hogs have been larger than expected The larger runs of sows have been one of the important reasons A fourth of all hogs at Chicago last week were sows. But supplies of heavy hogs have been the most burdensome force on the market. The big uncertainty continues to revolve around how long these runs will continue. Kuhsh points out.

Cattle Prices

Last year we got a sharp spurt in cattle prices during July But a repeat again this year seems unlikely Kuhsh believes.

About 600 farmers in Northern Illinois and Iowa, selected to give an accurate sample of all farmers in the area, were queried in April by trained interviewers regarding their cattle marketings plans. This was done in connection with the quarterly survey of this important livestock producing area. It was initiated and largely financed by the Chicago Union Stockyards and conducted by Iowa State College.

The survey indicated that cattle sales would let up some in June, according to Kuhsh. But signs pointed to the belief that sales of fed cattle during the last half of 1954 will be above a year earlier Last year we got bunch-sales of fat cattle and resulting depressed prices in June. This year we are not getting such a disorganized market.

Thus, the outlook for fat cattle prices does not indicate the usual seasonal price rise in choice cattle prices from the spring low to fall high this year, Kuhsh concludes.

MAIL BAG

A pickup truck, abandoned near Grundy Center last week, was found to contain a government mail sack which had been stolen from in front of the Grundy Center postoffice. The mail bag thief was disappointed; the sack contained only a bundle of Des Moines daily papers, not readily negotiable.

WIND

When a heavy black cloud approached the farm of Hubert Page in Clarke county, during children's birthday party, they rushed all the children inside. Among them was Sandra Newman, who had been hiding in a small outbuilding. A few minutes later, the outbuilding was blown fifty feet.

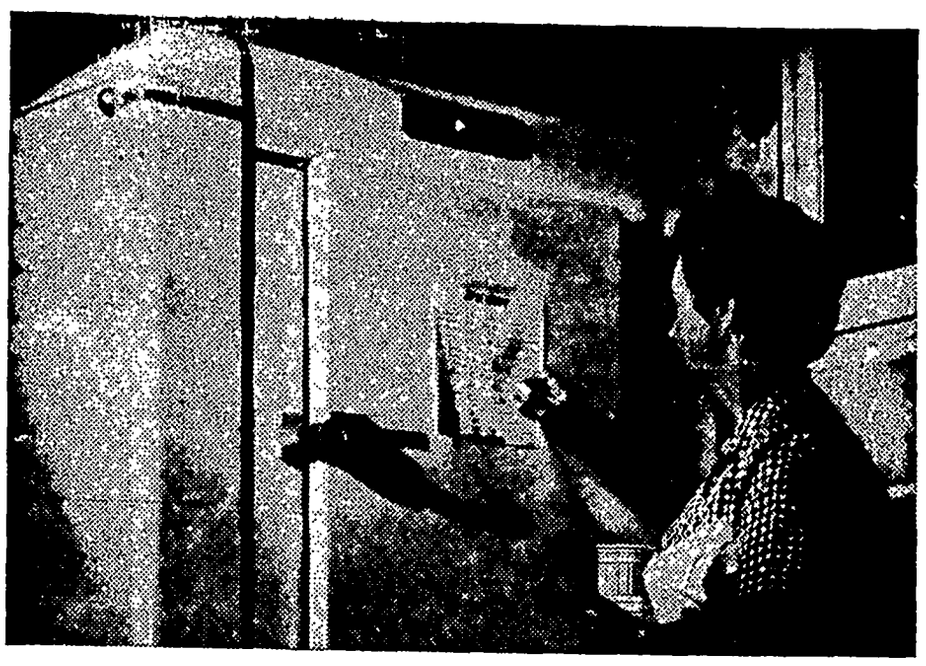
KLEMME FOOD MARKET

Make It Work for You—

Freezer Management Pays Off



This homemaker keeps track of every package she puts in or takes uot of her home freezer. That way she knows the amounts on hand. She stores food in wire baskets in her freezer for easy accessibility (note extra baskets within easy reach stored on top of her upright model freezer).

With good management your home freezer can become more than just a place to store meat and vegetables, Iowa State College Extension Nutritionist Leslie Smith says.

Food from your freezer can lend variety to meals, provide out-of-season dishes, be economical, make entertaining easier, and be a daily, convenient time and step saver. But a home freezer doesn't do all these things automatically. You must do the thinking and planning for your freezer.

Freezer Management Principles

Mrs Smith suggests several points to keep in mind when using your home freezer.

1. Study your family's needs and preferences in foods. Freeze things they like to eat. If they're particularly fond of your cinnamon rolls, make an extra big batch next time you bake, and freeze some. As long as you have all the supplies out it's easy to make more. Saves the range fuel bill too.

2. Select foods wisely. Whether you're buying fruits, vegetables and meats, or using home-grown ones, freeze only top-quality products. Just freeze kinds and varieties recommended by specialists for freezing. For variety in meals, freeze fruits and vegetables in season, and serve them when you can't buy them.

3. Keep a balance of different types of foods in your freezer—don't overstock on one thing. You'll want to use your freezer for meats, fruits, vegetables, baked goods and so forth in the proportion you use them in your meals.

4. Remember that it takes almost as much electricity to keep empty space cold as it does to keep food cold, so keep your freezer as full as possible.

5. Rotate the load in your freezer. It's best to have a complete turnover of frozen foods about three times a year. This does two thinks—keeps food cost per pound down, and gets foods used while they're at their best.

6. Plan ahead and buy with savings in mind. Buy fruits and vegetables in large lots when they are plentiful and low in price. If you raise your own, naturally you'll freeze them when they're plentiful. The same holds true with meat—freeze at least a quarter at a time.

7. Package foods in the amount you'll want to serve your family at one meal. You might even group everything, (meat, fruit vegetable, baked goods) for one meal in the same bag.

8. Select containers to save freezer space. Use a variety of sizes so you can fill up small spaces, and select container that stack easily.

Organize Freezer Storage.

9. Organize your freezer so you'll know just what you have in it, and where it is. You should date and label all packages. Keep an inventory. That is, have a chart to write down what you put in your freezer, and check each item you take out.

If you use baskets to hold smaller packages, they won't get lost so easily. It will be easier to take things out of the bottom of the freezer, too.

Use foods from your freezer within the storage period recommended by specialists. When you put new foods in your freezer, rearrange its contents—put new packages on the bottom, and older ones on top.

10. Remember to defrost your freezer about every 4 to 6 months. Directions for defrosting come with your freezer when you bought it. Just follow them, and do it quickly before the food has time to thaw.

Good Planning Reduces Grain Storage Cost

Farmers planning to build new cribs or bins for grain storage should compare not only the original cost of the different types of storage structures, but also how long they will last. That's the advice of Richard Phillips, extension grain marketing specialist at Iowa State College.

He says careful planning and good management will reduce the cost of storing grain on the farm. In deciding what kind of structure is most economical on your farm, he suggests using the annual depreciation rather than the first cost. Annual depreciation is figured by dividing the first cost by the years of life of the structure.

If you will need grain storage over a considerable length of time, so that a permanent structure can be used each year, the annual cost of storing grain in such structures will usually be less than in more temporary ones. On the other hand, you sacrifice flexibility over time when you build a permanent structure. You may have some of your money still tied up in it when you no longer need the building.

An important way to keep annual per-bushel storage costs down is to use the building as fully as possible each year, because many of the costs go on regardless of how much it is used. If you won't have a continuing need for grain storage each year, you can keep costs down by building a multi-purpose structure instead of one which can be used only for grain storage.

Another important fact to remember, Phillips says, is that storage costs are higher in small structures than in large ones. For example, for every 10 cents per bushel total cost in a 1,000-bushel structure, you could expect only about 7½ cents per bushel is a 2,000-bushel structure and 5 cents per bushel in a 5,000-bushel structure. This is true for both cribs and bins, Phillips says.

Dairy Farms U.S. Asset

"With a yearly output valued at around 8 billion dollars the U. S. dairy industry is one of the country's most important economic assets," according to Harold M. Stanley, assistant secretary-treasurer of the American Dairy Association.

"The dairy industry has a tremendous influence upon the U. S. economy. Milk has been traditionally the largest single source of farm cash income and the most widely used food, comprising 30 per cent or more of all the food consumed yearly by American consumers. The U. S. today is the leading dairy nation.

"The dairy industry is one of wide ramifications based on a system of production, collection, transportation and distribution which improves the health and economic welfare of every community.

"It is estimated that 10 million people are dependent upon the dairy industry for their livelihood, including those in allied industries and their families. There are an estimated 250,000 workers employed in processing and delivering dairy products alone.

"The dairy industry also affects indirectly many other industries. With some 190,000 trucks used daily in delivering milk and its products from farms to plants and from plants to consumers, dairying requires more motor vehicles than any other commodity.

"To process milk which is a highly perishable product, the plants use extensive mechanical equipment with installations of receiving, pasteurizing, bottling, refrigerating and other machinery. In addition specialized machinery must be used in making butter, cheese, ice cream and the many products in which milk is used. On the farms milking and other machines are being increasingly used to combat labor shortages and save man hours.

"Dairying is basically a cash industry which means that milk is the life-line of commerce in thousands of communities. The dairy farmer is paid for his milk monthly or more frequently. It is milk money that keeps the cash registers going in retail stores and money from milk keeps the school busses running.

"Too few people are familiar with the tremendous economic importance of the dairy industry and the solid foundation it supplies to our free nation with a product of which the U. S. Public Health Service says 'of all the foods none is more important than milk'."

260 Iowa Youngsters To SUI Music Camp

Some 260 high school students, representing 87 Iowa cities and one in California, will begin a two-week All State Instrumental Music camp Sunday on the State University of Iowa campus.

Among the camp participants will be Fred Arnold, Arthur Carlson, and Val Stromer of Klemme.

Camp director Ralph C. Rea says that this year's enrollment represents an increase of nearly 18 per cent over last year's instrumental camp. Dr. Rea is an instructor in instrumental music in the SUI music department.

After Sunday-morning registration and auditions, the youngsters will be greeted at an afternoon session by Himie Voxman, head of the music department. The entire group will then move to Iowa City park for a "get-acquainted" picnic.

Each student will begin his classes and rehearsals Monday, according to his choices from the subjects offered. Most popular subject at this year's camp is music theory, with 161 registrants, Rea says. Conducting ranks second with 100 registrants while smaller numbers have registered for work in dance band music appreciation, baton twirling, double-reed making, and small ensembles. Some 200 students will receive private lessons.

More than 200 of the instrumental camp students will participate in three concert bands, and three dance bands will be formed. Some 70 students will form an orchestra.

A workshop in instrumental music education will begin Monday and run through July 2 for high school and college instructors. Dr. Van Bodegraven, a professor of music education as well as director of band and orchestra at New York university, together with Barbara Rankin, of Garner, and SUI personnel will comprise the workshop staff. Miss Rankin is director of music in the Garner public schools.

Avery Sunbeams

The regular meeting of the Avery Sunbeams was held at the home of Joyce Nordman on June 11. This was our all day meeting. Everyone brought a garment and we sewed until noon and then had a pot luck dinner.

After dinner we had our business meeting. Darlene Ostendorf vice-president, conducted the business meeting. Jo Ann Jacobs moved we pay $19.50 to the Building Fund. Candace Carlson moved we pay all our bills and Kathleen James moved we have a bake sale. All motions were seconded.

Ruth Ann Lauster had a demonstration on "Correct Tension." We had music and then closed the meeting. We continued to work on our garments and lunch was served by Mrs Nordman.

Dairying Contributes $350 Million Annually to Iowa

Employs 200,000 full time workers

Dairy month is a good time to sit down and think of the importance of the dairy industry to all of us in Iowa.

Beside providing us with a source of health-giving food, the Dairy industry is one of the largest contributors to the economic prosperity of the state. The gross value of all Iowa Dairy Products — dairy animals sold for meat, pure bred cattle and milk cows sold for breeding purposes — exceeds $350,000,000 annually.

In addition, are the payrolls of Iowa's 200,000 full time dairy workers, plant operating expenditures, taxes and investments which are an important segment of Iowa's income.

It's estimated that dairying will contribute about $40,000,000 to the economy of Iowa during June. This amount quickly passes from the hands of dairy farmers and dairy plant employees into the cash registers of retailers and business men in all lines of business. Thus, dairying provides a regular and steady cash income to the community as well as the producers. For example, an average Iowa Creamery paid out approximately $22,300.00 to an average of 350 patrons each month last year. This amounted to $63.00 per patron. Multiply these figures by the 350 creameries in the State of Iowa and you have an idea of the money they put into circulation each month.

The Iowa tax revenue for grade and pure bred dairy cattle last year amounted to almost 4½ million dollars. An additional $2,899,520 poured into the state's bank account through taxes on dairy cows producing for the Iowa Butter Industry. Sales tax on an estimated 37 million pounds of butter used last year brought an additional $740,000 to the state. Add those figures together and you have the reason the Iowa Dairy Industry is one of the mainstays of the state's economy.

Iowa is one of the leading milk producers in the United States. She ranks sixth in total milk production among the states, producing over 5½ billion pounds of milk a year. She ranks second in butter production with 187 million pounds a year.

Iowa Tolerance Pays

If it hadn't been for the open-mindedness and tolerance of Iowans, we might never have developed one of our best-known scientists.

His name was G. Washington Carver. He was a negro, born into slavery in Missouri. Eager for an education . . . he found it at Simpson College and Iowa State. Carver's later research on peanuts and sweet potatoes won fame, added millions to our wealth.

Iowa gave this boy his chance. Our people are tolerant and they can be proud of it.

It's like our attitude toward education or government, as simple as our preference for beer or coffee with our dinner, or our neighbor's choice of a bow tie if he likes it better.

Iowa is great in many things. One of the greatest is tolerance for the other fellow . . . or just plain open-mindedness if you'd rather call it that.

E. & R. BIBLE SCHOOL

Our average attendance for the third week was 117. Wednesday we had a film strip about moses called "The Burning Bush", on Friday we had another called "The Exodus."

The stories in our work books this week were "Our Family Life," and "Loving Our Enemies." We all have the same stories with questions to answer after it and the younger children have a picture to color.

,Almost all of the pre-school children have a gold star for the Lord's Prayer. They also receive gold stars if they are good and red stars if they aren't so good.

For hand work, we made sand paper cats. The Kindergarten class has learned the Sixth Commandment. They now have five prayers memorized.

In the first grade we learned three prayers Thursday and Friday we had a visitor. For hand work we made a gum drop basket.

In the second grade we learned the Eighth Commandment and the verse to go with it. Wednesday and Friday we had a Bible quiz.

Most of the third grade has finished their sheets and are learning the Beatitudes.

Most of the fourth and fifth grade are on their Catechism. Each day we have a Bible quiz.

The sixth, seventh, and eighth grades are reciting Cathechism.

This week in music the third grade won first in the contest and the second grade won second.

Friday at recess we were treated to a bottle of orange drink.

Hancock 4-H Girls To State Convention

The 4-H girls who are delegates from their clubs to the State 4-H Girls Convention will participate in several events while on the Iowa State College Campus June 16 - 19.

Evelyn Formanek, daughter of Mr and Mrs James Formanek of Hayfield, and a member of the Garfield Lively Workers Club will represent Hancock County at the Convention in the Better Grooming Revue. Evelyn has been a 4-H member for 6 years and won her trip to Convention by having a good 4-H record book and being the best groomed 4-H girl in the county. Evelyn will be entered as a contestant in the State Grooming Contest.

Wednesday, June 16, will be a full day of trying out for various honors. The following girls will try-out for the State 4-H Chorus: Janice Paulson, Belles of Boone; Gracka Gerardi, Ell Tip Toppers; Marlys Peterson, Madison Livewires; Glenys Kluver, Crystal Merrimaids; Virginia Green, Bingham Boosters; Bernice Smith, Orthel Jolly Workers; Frances Anderson, Ellington Experts; Darlene Ostendorf, Avery Sunbeams and Janice Thompson, Britt Busy Beavers.

Gracka Gerardi will try out for the piano solo. Janice Thompson and Marlys Peterson will try out for the Country Girl's Creed. Bernice Smith has been selected to be an usher at the convention. Doreen Lackore, County 4-H president will represent the County 4-H Girls' Organization as the voting delegate.

Iowa Crops Benefit From Recent Rains

Soil moisture supplies were largely replenished during the latter part of May and Iowa crop prospects on June 1 were generally favorable, according to the Iowa Cooperative Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Recent rains were especially beneficial to the oats and pastures that had been retarded by the cold and dry conditions earlier in the season. Some heavy storms have caused severe crop damage in local areas.

6TH ADJOURNED APRIL MEETING
Garner, Iowa
May 24, 1954

The Hancock County, Iowa, Board of Supervisors met in session on above captioned date pursuant to adjournment with Clarence Bird, Clint Daniels and S. A. Barber present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read.

Supervisor Daniels is hereby appointed a committee to investigate and cause repairs to be made in D. D. No. 7, D. D. No. 3 & 4, Lat. No. 9 and Jt. D. D. No. 37-39.

In the matter of the petition of Robert J. Martin for the repair on the main tile of D. D. No. 107 by construction of an open ditch said petition having been filed April 6, 1954 and Wm. Henschen having been appointed Engineer on said petition on April 12, 1954, and

WHEREAS said Engineer's report is now on file and does recommend such repairs as petitioned for.

NOW BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors that said Engineer's report is hereby approved and after a meeting to be held at some future date with interested landowners of said district, a contract will be awarded for the construction thereof, if agreeable to those concerned, all in accordance with Sec. 455.35 Code of Iowa 1950.

This being the 24th day of May 1954, a date heretofore fixed for a hearing on the report of the Commissioners heretofore appointed to view and classify lands and assess benefits in Drainage No. 13, Lateral No. 8, the hour for said hearing having arrived, the proof of publication being on file and the Board being fully advised, said hearing was held as scheduled. Written objections on file were read by the County Auditor and thoroughly discussed by the Board and all landowners present.

BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors acting for and in behalf of D. D. No. 13, Lateral No. 8 that said report of the Commissioners which was filed April 1, 1954, be and the same is hereby approved and confirmed as submitted.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the classifications and assessments are hereby ordered placed on the drainage records as reported, all in accordance with Chapter 455, Code of Iowa 1950 and that said assessments be levied and spread in accordance with the drainage laws of the State of Iowa.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that it the owner of any real estate against which a levy of twenty dollars or more shall within thirty days from this date agree in writing indorsed upon any improvement certificate referred to in Sec. 455.64 Code of Iowa, 1950 then such owner shall have the right to pay his assessments as provided in said section with interest at 4%.

The foregoing resolution was offered & read by Supervisor Barber, whereupon the Chairman, Clarence Bird, placed the motion of its adoption and upon roll call the vote thereon was Clint Daniels, S. A. Barber and Clarence Bird, ayes. Nays, none. Whereupon the Chairman declared the resolution duly adopted.

On motion and second the following claims are hereby approved, as approved by the County Board of Education:

the Highway Story

IOWA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

After he retired from the farm he lived for years in the small town that had always been his "trading place." Sunday afternoons he would drive his perfectly-kept automobile into the country to visit his sons or a former neighbor.

He likes to tell about how he had come to Iowa as a young man from a Dutch community in Pennsylvania and how, in those times, an occasional Indian would come to his house begging meat.

People liked to listen to him because "he still talked sort of dutchy." And they knew how to touch his pride. "How's the car running?" they would ask. Then the old man would smile and shake his head. "He's a good one," he would say. "He's a good one."

Early one spring he was taken to the hospital and then returned home because he was incurably ill. It was a wasting disease but one that did not immedately confine him to bed.

Every afternoon during the early stages of the sickness he would dress in his best suit, put on a hat and top coat and go out to the garage to see "him"—the car.

ers seat, holding the steering wheel telling the car that "he was a good one." He made his last visit to see "him" about two weeks before he died.

Perhaps this story—though true in every detail—is not in keeping with what has appeared previously in this column. It illustrates no dramatic point or tragic error. It is simply the story of one man who found the automobile so worthy of his respect that he learned the arrogant, domineering attitude that is the mark of some drivers today.

LUCKY

During high winds at Pierson, some one picked up a broken high-line wire and wrapped it around a pipe railing, presumably to get it out of the way. When power came back on, the line contained 2300 volts. No one knows what "lucky" person handled the loose wire during the short time there was no power.

Corn Allotment Program Explained by Chairman

Factors involved in the determination of acreage planted to corn were called to the attention of Hancock County farmers this week by A. E. Rasmussen, chairman of the County ASC Committee.

The actual determination of the size of corn fields as required under the 1954 corn acreage allotment program is now being done by ASC community committeemen or substitutes appointed for them, the chairman stated, and owners and operators should fully understand the importance of the work.

"Every farmer in Hancock county should clearly understand that he will not be eligible for a price support loan or purchase agreement on corn he produces in 1954 unless he has planted within his corn acreage allotment," Chairman Rasmussen declared. "Therefore the exact acreage of every field of corn planted by a farmer who wants to be eligible for price support on his 1954 corn must be determined."

Since paid helpers for measurers will not be provided each farm operator or someone designated by him is expected to assist his ASC measurer when he calls.

In this connection, the county chairmen said that it is in the individual farmer's best interests to help in the measuring and thus make certain that his acreage is accurately determined. By assisting in the measuring, the chairman continued, owners and operators will also be performing a valuable service in behalf of the farm program since their help will reduce the total ASC expense of the work by a considerable amount.

No exact measurement is required on farms whose owners or operators state in writing that they do not wish to apply for price support on their 1954 corn, Chairman Rasmussen stated. He emphasized that all such owners and operators should assist the authorized ASC measurers in making careful estimates of their 1954 corn acreage because that information will be required if corn allotments are again necessary in 1955.

Kenny Foundation Names 1954 Area Polio Fund Appeal Head

Mossick

Kline

Neil R. Messick, Jr., Minneapolis, Minn., will serve as five-state-area volunteer chairman for the 1954 polio fund appeal of the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation to be conducted late this summer and fall.

He will direct volunteer workers in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, North Dakota and South Dakota, it has been announced by Marvin L. Kline, national executive director of the Kenny Foundation. Quota for the area comprising the above states, Kline said, will be $768,500.

Messick, assistant manager of the Nicollet hotel in Minneapolis, has played a leading role in Kenny fund campaigns since 1949. He was Minnesota state volunteer chairman in 1952 and 1953, state volunteer co-chairman in 1951, Hennepin county volunteer chairman in 1950, and Hennepin county volunteer co-chairman in 1949.

A World War II veteran and 1946 graduate of the University of Minnesota, Messick was commodore of the 1953 Minneapolis Aquatennial. He also is active in Rotary and is a member of the Minneapolis Junior and Senior Chambers of Commerce.

"We at the Kenny Foundation feel extremely fortunate to have Mr. Messick heading our 1954 fund-raising appeal," Kline said in announcing the appointment. "His wide knowledge of the Kenny Foundation program and aims, coupled with his leadership ability, makes him ideally suited to direct the thousands of volunteer workers during campaign time.

"Funds contributed will help make it possible for the Kenny Foundation to provide the Kenny treatment to polio patients, to train additional registered nurses and physical therapists to become Kenny Therapists, and to continue its sponsorship of medical research and medical seminars."

Taken from Our Files

10 YEARS AGO—

The Britt Hemp Mill is now operating day and night, running two 10 hour shifts. The night shift began operation last Monday night. The mill is now turning out between 5 and 6 tons of finished fibre in a ten hour run. About 135 people are now employed there.

Miss Delores Cook, who taught music at Alleman the past year, is enjoying her summer vacation at the home of her parents, Mr and Mrs J. J. Cook, southeast of Klemme.

Pfc. Paul Huenemann of Camp Sibert, Alabama came last week to spend a fifteen day furlough visiting with his brother, Karl Huenemann and family in Klemme, and with other relatives in the community.

Sunday was Mrs Louis Perkins' birthday and she received a very pleasant birthday greeting when her daughter, Darlene, called her on long distance telephone from California.

20 YEARS AGO—

Vernon Turgasen who has been chemist at the Armour Co. plant at Louisville, Kentucky, for the past three years, was transferred to Des Moines, where he and his family are now residing.

With temperatures last week soaring up to around 110 degrees in north Iowa, vegetation wilted, pastures scorched and crops were approaching a serious drouth condition. However, most of north Iowa was benefited by good showers Sunday morning and another shower Monday afternoon.

Ralph Ludeke who lives on a farm two miles east of Garner will put in 30 acres of sugar beets this year. He has contracted acreage with the American Beet Sugar Co.

Several families went fishing at Twin Lake, Decoration Day and had a picnic dinner: Mr and Mrs Emil Blumer, Marcelle and Mildred, Mr and Mrs Paul Halfpop and son, Mr and Mrs Elmer Beier and children, Mr and Mrs Ben Reimer and Lois, Leon Kropp, and Mrs Herman Bridges, Gladys and Irene.

30 YEARS AGO—

J. M. "Jack" Neuberger returned Wednesday from the Mercy Hospital at Mason City, where he had an operation for appendicitis some time ago. He is gaining nicely and will be his normal self soon.

The Misses Bernice Tanner and Bertha Johnson left Tuesday for Cedar Falls where they will attend summer school at the State Teachers College.

At Pella, Miss Henrietta Ver Heul has retired after 39 years of teaching on the high school faculty there.

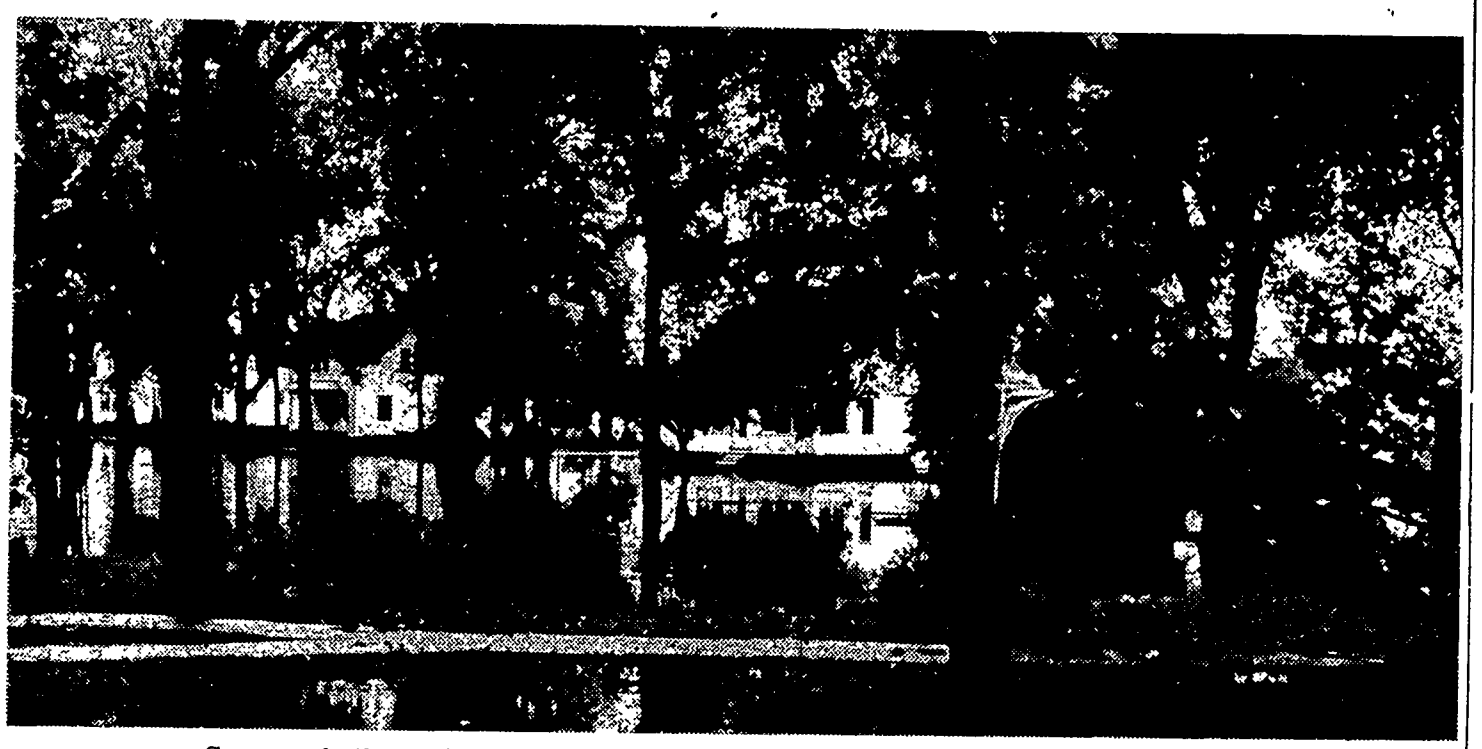
Record Breaking Rains Fall On North Iowa

Maybe It Could Have Been Worse



Some of the wind damage is evident in this picture taken Friday in the Klemme Park. Quite evident, also, is the fact that a good share of the park was under water due to the torrential rain of the night before.

Wind, Rain and Lightning Damage Homes and Crops in Klemme Area

Disaster Area

Governor Beardsley sent a telegram to President Eisenhower Tuesday afternoon, asking that he declare 19 flood-stricken counties in Iowa "disaster areas". Action by the president on Governor Beardsley's request would make the counties eligible for emergency federal aid to rebuild streets, roads, bridges, sewers, etc., but would not help individuals whose property has been damaged by the floods.

The counties involved in Governor Beardley's request are Hancock, Cerro Gordo, Kossuth, Franklin, Hardin, Humboldt, Webster, Hamilton, Boone, Calhoun, Polk; Sioux, Plymouth, Cherokee, Ida, Clay, Woodbury, Harrison, and Monona.

Eight Inches of Rain Too Much For Storm Sewer

The elments got together here last Thursday night and put on a show. Curtain time was just about midnight and from then on until about eight oc'lock the next morning there was never a dull moment.

The opening of the show was heralded by distant flashes of lightning and ominous low rumblings of thunder, but when the curtain finally went up, it was wind that held the center of the stage. Its role was short-lived but of such violence that it sent many residents ot this area scurrying for their basements.

It broke off trees and branches all over town and the surrounding countryside, and many streets were impassable Friday morning because of trees having fallen across thm. Many television antennas also fell victim to the wind, as did numerous small buildings.

When the show really got going, it was lightning and rain that took over the leading roles, with thunder roaring an ear-splitting accompaniment. Lightning struck in many places in the surrounding countryside, and had the fire department out twice—both times to answer calls from the Dwight Hummel residence The first time the lightning struck at Hummels, it laid a hot wire on the strigers in the basement. The firemen took care of that, and then when they had no more than gotten back in bed, lightning struck again. It hit on a light pole on the corner by Hummels, followed in on the wires and set fire to a bird's nest located on the wires just under the eaves.

Oscar Durham and Michael McCormick, Iowa Electric Light and Power Co. employees, had seats a little too close for comfort during that part of the show. They were working around at the base of the pole when the lightning struck, and firemen said that they weren't very happy about so nearly becoming a part of the show.

Several farmers also lost livestock from lightning's part in the in the show. Biggest loss to lightning as far as we know, was suffered by George Nannenga, who lost 13 cows.

After the curtain had gone down, it was apparent that rain had played the biggest part of all in the performance. Water was everywhere—and no wonder—somewhere in the neighborhood of eight inches fell in an eight hour period. It was just too much for the storm sewer here, and basements in many parts of town were flooded—some for the first time in history. It lacked just about a half inch of getting into the motor on the press in our basement shop. Damage in basements varied, but those who had automatic washers, furnaces, deep freezes, etc., in their basements had a worrisome time trying to keep the water from ruining them.

The town took on the appearance of a lake as the storm sew-

Fishing Poor for Derby But Kids Have Good Time

Compared to the fishing at last year's Kid's Fish Derby, the fishing this year was very poor. Somewhere over a thousand nice bullheads were put into the pond, but they were just in no mood to bite. The derby was held on Thursday afternoon of last week, and it is doubtful if more than 25 fish were taken during the time of the contest. Perhaps the fish were aware of the storm that was brewing and weren't going to be bothered with eating.

In any case, they didn't bite, and we imagine that by now they are scattered all up and down the Iowa River, because the terrific rains we have had put the river right into the pond where the fish were dumped.

Even if the fish didn't cooperate, the kids had a good time. The Lions saw to it that there was plenty of pop and ice cream for everyone, and some nice prizes were awarded.

Lewis Sonerholm won the grand prize for the heaviest string of fish, and also won the second prize for the most fish for boys in the ages of 10 to 12. Other prizes went to Richard Meinders, Dorance Heft, Galen Bridges, Maynard Weisbrod, Carl Heginger, Joyce Hummel, Carol Kluckhohn, Claudia Neuberger, Janet Lange, Berleen Bridges and Dorothy Kroehnke.

120 Attend Alumni Banquet at All-Vets

Some 120 graduates of Klemme High School gathered at the All-Vets Social Center at Clear Lake last Friday evening for the annual Alumni Banquet. Officers of the organization had found some opposition to having the banquet there rather than in the high school gymnasium, but nearly all who attended were in accord that it was less work and more convenient.

After a fine banquet meal had been disposed of, a short business meeting was held. Recognition was given those having travelled the furthest to attend, and to those in attendance who were the parents of the most children. An election of officers was held with C. J. Larsen being elected president, "Pete" Kilgore, vice president,, and Elaine Neuberger, secretary and treasurer

A short program was then presented with Allen Barz as MC, and door prizes were awarded.

Officers who planned this year's banquet were "Red" Buntenbach, president; Verner Priebe, vice president, and Mrs Clifford Montgomery, secretary and treasurer.

Klemme Youths Do Well In Band Try-outs at SUI

Fred Arnold, Jr., Arthur Carlson, and Val Stromer, Klemme youths who are attending the SUI Music Camp at Iowa City, did very well in try-outs which were held Sunday.

Intentions at the camp are to form three bands from among the 260 musicians attending and the try-outs were held in order to decide in which of the three bands individual musicians belonged.

Arthur Carlson competing against 26 other trombonists, was rated as second best. Fred Arnold, Jr. and Val Stromer competing against 40 cornetists, were rated seventh and fourteenth, respectively. All three will be in the first band.

The camp will be in session for two weeks. Charles Whitford, local band instructor is also at the camp and is taking some work to aid him in his directing. He will be in Klemme, Friday to hold rehearsal for Saturday night's concert.

Two Couples Married In Klemme Churches Sunday, June 20th

Kay Jacobs Bride Of Ronald Karsjens

Miss Kay Jacobs, daughter of Mr and Mrs Roy Jacobs of Klemme, and Ronald Karsjens, son of Mr and Mrs Martin Karsjens of Klemme, were united in marriage at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, June 20, at the Klemme Methodist Church, with Rev. Vernon E. Jaberg officiating at the double ring ceremony.

Terry Long of Corwith, a cousin of the bride, sang "O Promise Me" and "Because". He was accompanied on the organ by Maurice Jacobs, brother of the bride.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her father, wore a white linen suit with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations. Marlys Clapsaddle of Mobridge, South Dakota was bridesmaid. She wore

Mr and Mrs Ronald Karsjens cut their wedding cake at the reception in the Methodist Church parlors just after the ceremony Sunday afternoon.

Following the reception the couple left on a two-week trip. When they return they will be at home in the Edward Schaefer apartment in Klemme.

Miriam Priebe Wed To Eugene Jaberg

Miss Miriam Priebe, daughter of Mr and Mrs Albert Priebe of Klemme, and Mr Eugene C. Jaberg, son of Mrs Hilda Jaberg and the late Rev. E. C Jaberg of Sheboygan, Wisconsin, were united in marriage at 7 o'clock Sunday evening, June 20, in a candle light ceremony at Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church in Klemme. Rev. Vernon E. Jaberg, brother of the bridegroom, was the officiating clergyman.

The bride, who was presented in marriage by her father, wore a chantilly lace bodice with scalloped neck line, long sleeves which came to points over the wrists, floor-length full skirt of nylon tulle panelled with pleated lace over satin, and a finger-tip veil attached to a crown of seed pearls. She wore a strand of er refused to carry the load. The park was about half inundated, and the east half of main street was also under water, not to mention many other streets. Part of the reason that the storm sewer wouldn't carry off the water was the fact that the river had risen so high during the night. Mos tof this year the river level had been below normal, but the tremendous amount of rain coming in such a short time sent the river all over bottom lands. Old timers say that they have never before seen anything like it, and we know that we haven't.

Although there was considerable damage in town as a result of the big show, farmers were the hardest hit. Those who had crops in the river bottoms awoke Friday morning to find acres and acres under water, while those away from the river awoke to practically the same situation. Tile refused to take the amount of water that was being forced into them, and every pot hole and slough in the country filled. Some farmers with livestock in river pastures had a busy time Friday morning seeing that their stock, was all safe. We only heard of one livestock loss to the water and that was a sheep at the Leonard Kaduce-Carl Wille farm. Estimates of crop damage in this part of the state range as high as tweny percent. That is high, and we imagine it will average that high. However, it will not cover individual cases where over half of crops are under water.

Wind and lightning made a mess of the local telephone system. Nearly all the rural lines were out, and many phones in town were out of order. Layton Sonerholm, local manager, has been working steadily since Friday morning, repairing lines and phones. Today (Wednesday) he has the lines all working again, but is still working on some individual phones that are out.

Culverts and small bridges are out in many places in this vicinity making driving uncertain. Several miles of extra driving are involved in many cases just to go a short distance. The new grade and culvert across the creek by Clarence Neuberger's just south of town on the back road went out, and many of the river bridges have been seriously weakened. The county will have a big road bill before they get everything back in condition again.

The river rose here until sometime Saturday night, and then dropped about three feet by Sunday afternoon. That evening there was an encore to the show. Rain fell in varying amounts all over the north part of the state; our share being somewhere in the neighborhood of three inches. The river went right back up again—almost to where it had been Saturday night. It's dropping quite rapidly now, though, skies have cleared, and it looks as though the worst were over here.

pearls with matching earrings, and carried a white orchid on a Bible, which was a gift from the groom.

The matron of honor, Mrs John Gaffney, sister of the bride, of Swaledale, wore a blue-flowered white nylon gown over blue taffeta, with a blue sash at the waist, and a headpiece of white carnations. She carried a bouquet of blue carnations trimmed with tiny white flowers.

Best man was the Rev. Leroy Franz, college room mate of the bridegroom.

Ushers were the Rev. Carl Mohr of Garner, Allen Barz of Klemme, and Robert Spratt of Waukesha, Wisconsin, all fraternity brothers of the groom.

The Rev. William Huenemann of St. Paul Park, Minnesota sang 'The Lord's Prayer" and "Bless This House", accompanied by Mrs Ernest Gerardi at the organ.

The church was decorated for the occasion with an altar seting of candelabra, an altar bouquet of all-white flowers, and aisle candelabra.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors for some 150 guests, after which the couple left on a trip through Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Canada. They will be at home after July 3 at 1334 Annie Court, Sheboygan, Wisconsin.

The bride is a graduate of Klemme High School and will return to Mission House College this fall. The groom is a graduate of North High School, Sheboygan, Wisconsin; Mission House College, B. A.; Mission House at Princeton, New Jersey and Seminary, B. D.; and has studied in Cambridge, England. He is now employed at radio station WHNL in Sheboygan.

Guests from away included relatives and friends from Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa Colorado, and Texas.

James Karsjens, brother of the groom, and Cecil Jacobs brother of the bride acted as ushers, and both wore navy blue suits.

Neva Anderson and Marie Nuehring, classmates of the bride, were in charge of the gifts and Jo Anne Jacobs, sister of the bride, took care of the guest book.

Immediately following the ceromony a reception was held in the church parlors, with Mrs Roy Arnold acting as hostess. Mrs Norene Pearson, sister of the groom and Mrs Raymond Frey of Corwith, the bride's aunt, poured, Mrs John Waddingham, aunt of the groom, who baked and decorated the wedding cake, cut and served it with ice cream, decorated with yellow wedding bells.

Ila Mae Anderson and Eunice Helps, classmates of the bride, acted as waitresses at the reception.

Both Mr and Mrs Karsjens are graduates of Klemme High School. Mr Karsjens is employed at Don's D-X Service and Mrs Karsjens is employed at The Times office. She plans to continue working.

Out-of-town guests were from Corwith, Meservey, Northwood, Goodell, Forest City, Mason City, Mobridge, South Dakota, and Faribault Minnesota.

Hunting, Fishing Violations Increase

The State Conservation Commission said today that this year's hunting and fishing law violations have shown a slight increase over the spring period for 1953.

From January through May, 1954, state conservation officers reported a total of 370 hunting and fishing violations, representing total fines of $6,476. For the same period in 1953 violations totalled 320 with fines of $8,174. Although there have been a few more violations this year, Commission spokesman said 1954 violations have not been as severe as last year's and that total fines are less.

Two-thirds of the arrests were for unlawful fishing. All fines resulting rom fish and game law infractions are given to county school boards in the counties in which the violations occurred.

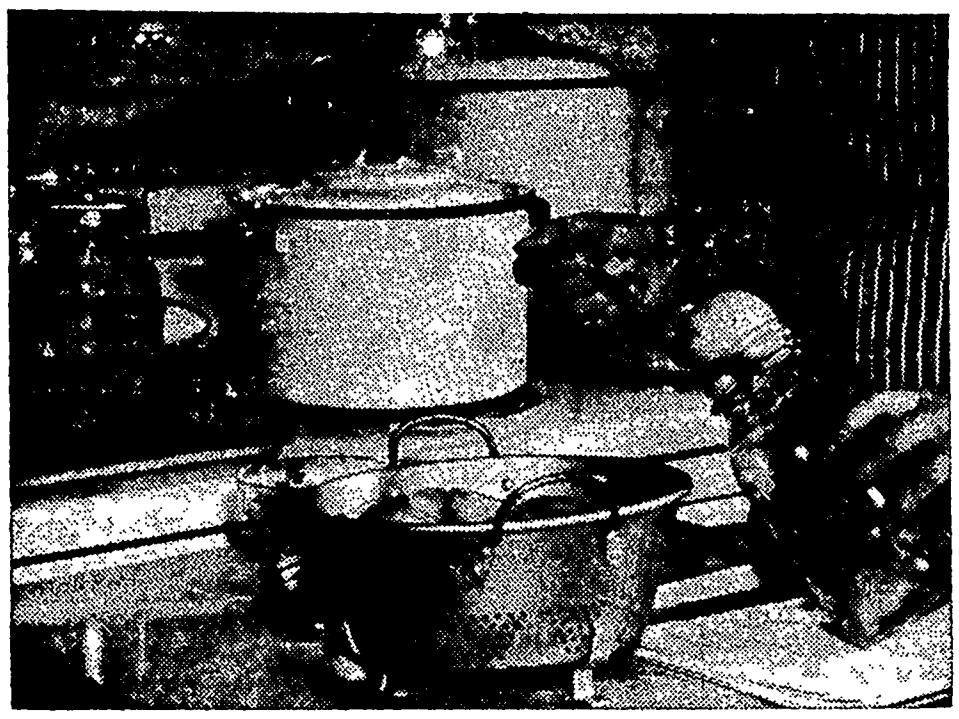
Make Canning Preparations Now



This homemaker has the secret of good, easy-to-get meals at her fingertips. She cans fruits and vegetables during the summer when they are at their plentiful best. When she wants to serve them, all she'll have to do is open a jar.

How's your garden coming along? Does it look as if you'll have plenty of vegetables to can this summer?

It's not too early to begin canning preparations says, Jewel Graham, Iowa State College extension nutritionist. Here are some tips she offers for safe and easy canning.

Have Equipment Ready

Get your jars and equipment ready now:

1. Check jars and discard any with defects that would prevent an air-tight seal. In the matter of closures, for best results, always use new ones.

2. If you plan to use salad dressing or peanut butter jars for preserves and pickles, you'll have to purchase new metal disks. Get those for the standard mason size opening or for a smaller opening known as size "63". You can use the original screw cap or a new metal ring to hold the metal disk in place during processing.

3. Wash jars, caps and rubbers thoroughly in hot, soapy water. Rinse in hot water and drain.

4. For low-acid vegetables such as peas, corn and beans, you must use a pressure canner. Be sure to have the cover, safety valve and pressure gauge checked, and needed adjustments or repairs made.

5. For fruits and tomatoes the boiling water bath is the preferred method. Any kettle can be used if it has a tight fitting lid, is large enough to hold a convenient number of jar, high enough to allow 1 to 2 inches water overtops of jars, and can be fitted with a rack. The rack is to hold jars up from the bottom so water may circulate underneath.

Food Preparation

The canned product won't be any better than the fresh one, so choose fresh, ripe fruit and young tender vegetables. Gather the food just before it is to be canned.

Products that can't be used right away should be spread out in a cool and well-ventilated place.

Wash fruits and vegetables at a time, lifting out of the water to prevent draining dirt back into them.

To speed up processng, heat (precook) vegetables—then pack hot. Precookng shrinks the food so you can put more into each jar. The jar will then be full after processing.

Ready to Can

When you are ready to start canning, fill preheated jars quickly with hot food. Pack well, but don't cram the food in to cruch it. Cover to about half an inch from the top with fresh boiling water. Work out bubbles by running a knife blade around the inside of the jar.

Now you're ready to start the actual processing. Whatever you use—boiling water bath, steam pressure canner with a gauge, or pressure saucepan—be sure to follow directions for that method. You can find the directions in reliable cookbooks, or ask your county home economist.

When processing is completed, take jars out. To cool, set right side up, 2 inches apart on a cloth, folded paper or rack.

When cool, carefully tilt jar to see if it leaks. Don't rest it on its side. Test a vacuum-sealed jar by tapping the lid with a spoon. A clear, ringing sound indicates a seal.

One last thing—wipe jars clean, label as to contents and date. Store in a dark, cool, dry place.

Government Opens Woy For Additional Storage

To encourage construction of additional commercial grain storage structures, the United States Department of Agriculture will again accept applications for grain storage occupy contracts, is was reported this week by A. E. Rasmussen, Chairman of the Hancock county ASC committee.

The program which is being reopened, he said, is one under which applications for contracts were accepted last September and is part of the department's broad over-all plan to provide adequate dommercial and on-the-farm storage for handling the nation's supply of grain and oil seeds. As a direct result of the applications filed in a number of states last September, contracts are in effect for construction under this program of a new total of about 200 million bushels of capacity, with 123 million bushels of the total now under contruction.

One hundred three applications originated in 46 Iowa counties when the program was inaugurated and the department tentatively approved 55 offers for space totalling 17 million bushels. Thirty-four contracts for structures having total storage space of 12.7 million bushels were actually made with Iowa firms. These proposed facilities range in size from comparatively small country warehouses to terminal structures having one to five million bushels capacity.

In general, the program provides for payments to warehousemen if the occupancy of new storage facilities constructed under contract falls below certain levels during five or six-year periods. Responsible commercial firms including cooperatives may apply for contracts but only new applications will be accepted at this time. However, firms which were late in submitting applications in September and those whose first applications were not approved may now file new applications. Facilities on which construction was started prior to reopening of the program on May 28 will not be eligible for an occupancy contract.

Detailed instructions for taking applications originated in Hancock County are expected to be received by the ASC office in the near future.

A total of 2,947,464 bushels of corn produced in Hancock Co. in 1953 were placed under price support before expiration of the application period on June 1 it was reported here this week by A. E. Rasmussen, chairman of the Hancock County ASC committee.

The total was 254,570 greater than the total bushels of 1952 corn which had been placed under price support by the close of the application period for that crop. Comparative figures on the amounts of the two crops placed under support in Hancock county follows:

	1953 Crop	1952 Crop
Bushels in farm-stored loans	2,479,848	2,006,933
Bushels in warehouse stored loans,	16,715	20,064
Bushels in purchase agreements	450, 901	665, 897

Chairman Rasmussen stated that the figures on the 1953-crop operations are preliminary and subject to correction when the county ASC office completes and checks its records.

In the state as a whole, 158,-587,011 bushels of 1953 corn were placed under price support, according to a preliminary report by the Iowa ASC office. The total was 12 million bushels less than the 170,654,960 bushels of the 1952 crop which was placed under price support but was 3½ million bushels greater than predicted a couple months ago.

The state ASC office emphasized that the amount of 1953 corn placed under price support represented 27.28 percent of the estimated total Iowa production of last year while the amount of 1952 corn placed under support was only 25.39 percent of the much larger crop of that year.

Present government bins in Iowa have rated capacity of 220 million bushels but much of that space is already occupied by corn produced as far back as 1948. The ASC has announced that even with additional new structures it cannot handle all of the 1953 corn now under price support and consequently must look to producers to retain at least 40 million bushels on the farms another year under a re-sealing program. To encourage resealing, the government is offering to pay a storage allowance of 15 cents a bushel for loan corn kept on the farm until July 31, 1955.

A summary of reports from all county ASC offices gave the following state-wide breakdown of price support activities involving 1953 corn, subject to correction as paper work is completed and checked:

Total under farm-stored loans, 130,524,114 bushels.

Total under warehouse-stored loans, 1,046,435 bushels.

Total covered by purchase agreements, 27,016,462 bushels.

Kossuth county, with 4,928,494 bushels under loan and 940,082 bushels under purchase agreement, led the state for volume of price support operations in 1953 corn. Webster county was next with 3,994,875 bushels under loan and 1,005,985 under purchase agreements.

It appears certain that the number of individual loans and purchase agreements on the 1953 crop in Iowa will exceed 100,000 but preliminary figures have not been compiled

Eighty per cent of vehicles involved in fatal traffic accidents in 1953 were traveling straight ahead.

What? No Bridge?

Kenneth Peterson of Mason City, driver of the tank wagon in the above picture, had a narrow escape last Friday when a small bridge collapsed with him. The bridge was across a small creek near the "Bill" Kurtz farm, five miles east and a mile and a half north of Klemme on the Hancock-Cerro Gordo county line.

Peterson scrambled out of the window and back up over the truck to make his way to safety.

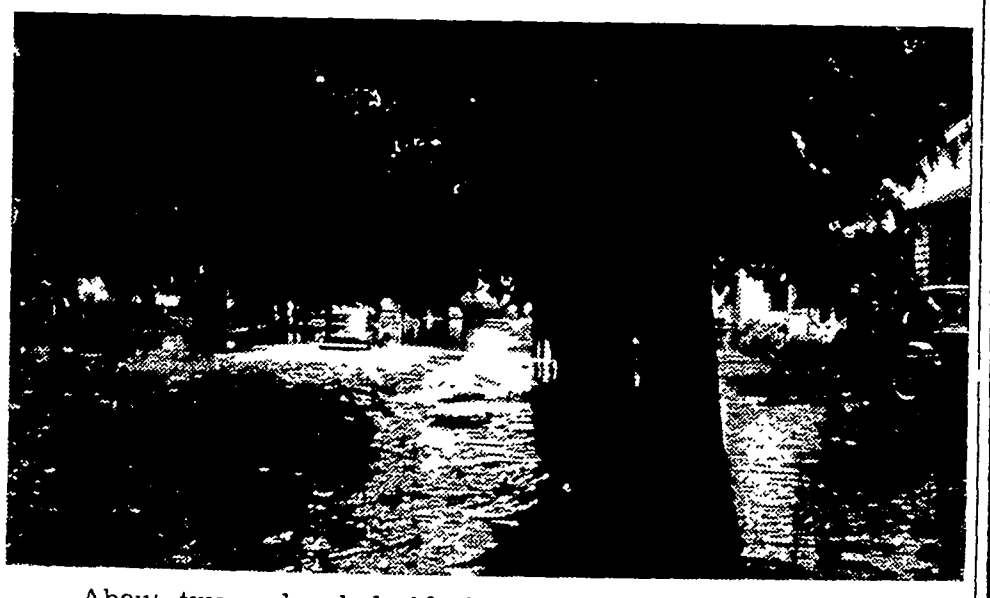
At the time this picture was taken, a call had been put in for heavy machinery from the county to help get the truck out of its predicament. The man on the truck is unindentified, but he was probing the bottom of the stream to see what might be in the way when they got ready to pull the truck out.

Beats Walking

Chuck Bacon and Bobby Thiemann had the transportation problem licked Friday. The light rubber boat carried them most anywhere on the east end of town, and was a much better way to get around than was walking.

In the above picture they are shown paddling up the street between the residences of Ed Becker and Mrs Clara Barz.

"Yep, That's Main Street"



About two and a half blocks of the main street was under water Friday and it was blocked at the east end by a large tree which was blown across by the terrific wind about midnight the night before.

Motorists, who took it easy through the water made it okay, but some who hit the pond a little too hard, became stalled when their motors got wet.

Vote Gas Franchises

Three towns in the county have recently voted 25-year natural gas franchises to Iowa Light and Power Company. They are Goodell, Kanawha, and Corwith. In each of the towns there were only a few dissenting votes.

The Iowa Electric Light and Power Company will take their gas from Northern Natural Gas Co., the same company whose line runs into Klemme.

Health Warning

Hancock County Public Health Nurse Monday issued a warning to all Hancock County citizens residing in areas where flood waters are raging to use extra precaution in the matter of food or drinking water. Wherever there might be a possibility of danger it would be wise to consult with health authorities. The nurses' office is ready to answer any questions or assist any citizen with their respective local problem. Where there is a possibility of pollution, water should be boiled before used until tested.

the Highway Story

By Bob Hullihan

A group of friends got together on an Iowa highway some years ago and the story of that meeting is still told by patrolmen who attended.

There were four young men in the group, all part owners in a gas station located about two miles out of town at the bottom of a long hill. The men lived in town and each morning two of them would drive out to work at the station until late afternoon when the oher two would drive out to take the night shift.

Business was good, but of course, it was a seven-day-a-week grind. Perhaps the young men became bored with the routine. In any case, they developed a trick that gave the work day a stimulating twist.

When the two men who took the night shift were ready to leave town they would call the station. The partners on duty would then wait a few minutes, jump into their car and speed up the hill toward town.

The trick was one of timing. The two cars were supposed to meet half way up the hill. Then, at the last second, each driver would cut to his left across the center line and the cars would pass on the wrong side of the highway. Done at high speed, it was a neat, delicate trick—for a few weeks.

But there came an afternoon when one of the drivers was one second too late in cutting across the line. That's when the group of friends got together—head-on in the middle of the highway.

The old partnership of four is now a survivorship of two. This accident actually happened in Iowa.

Council For Retarded Children to Meet

The Council for Retarded Children of Hancock and Winnebago Counties will meet June 28, 8 p. m. in the lunch room of the Garner High School, Garner, Iowa.

Reports of the second annual convention for Retarded Children will be presented. Mrs Victor Bunge of Garner was re-elected as corresponding secretary of the state association and Mrs August Josten of Klemme was re-elected as financial secretary for another year.

Busy Day

Drainage matters took up most of the time of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors at their regular adjourned session here Monday. Demands for ditches and culverts and new drains brought a constant stream of people to the Board's office. The tremendous rainfall of the past with more than 12 inches being common, has taxed all drains beyond their normal capacity.

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

Total meat output thus far in 1954 has about equalled that of a year ago. We have more beef and veal—but less pork has offset this, according to Francis A. Kutish, Iowa State College farm economist.

Cattle slaughter, January through April, topped last year's mark by 15 percent. Preliminary figures indicate that May's kill was up too, but not quite as much. Calf slaughter is about 20 percent ahead of a year ago thus far in 1954.

Improved range conditions as a result of recent rains have largely ruled out chances of forced marketings in the immediate future, Kutish believes. However, total supplies of cattle and calves for slaughter are expected to stay high. As a result, total cattle numbers will not change greatly during 1954.

Hogs

Sow marketings are running substantially above last year. This tends to conform government reports of a sizable boost in early litters, Kutish reports.

Meanwhile, weights of hogs marketed continue to hold 10 to 15 pounds heavier than a year ago.

Demand for pork has weakened. Hogs should be selling higher, considering the supply on the market, than in recent weeks. The only conclusion—the recession has shortened the work week and thrown some people out of work. This finally is showing up in the demand for pork.

Sheep

Turning to sheep and lambs, Kutish points out that slaughter during the first 5 months of this year was slightly smaller than for the same period a year earlier. The smallest number of ewes and ewe lambs on hand in the nation on January 1, 1954 however, indicates that the total number of sheep and lambs will fall slightly during 1954.

Iowa's Economy Ideal For Business Investments

"Iowa's industrial growth has caught up with its famous tall corn," says C. E. Vetterick, editor of National Buyers' Guide which features the Business Story of the Hawkeye State in its July issue.

The special Iowa edition of the 280-page magazine represents the most complete coverage of the state ever to appear in a business publication, according to National Business & Property Exchange of Los Angeles, publishers for National Buyers' Guide.

Vettermick, a former Iowan, advises thousands of prospective buyers of business, farm and income properties for whom the Guide is published, that Iowa's balanced and expanding economy offers vast new opportunities for business investments.

"Corn - hogs - industry. These are important to Iowans and to the world," declares Vetterick, "but", he adds, "Iowa is at its best as an environment for growing boys and girls"

Feature articles which highlight the state's phenomenal development in terms of agriculture, industry, and commercial opportunities include a welcome to new businessmen by Governor William S. Beardsley, a general story about Iowa by Ted R. Leighton of the Iowa Development Commission, along with others on Hogs, Corn and principal cities.

The publication is distributed free to Chambers of Commerec and to individuals who specify the type of property wanted. Each issue describes more than 2,000 business opportunities inculding stores, shops, factories and farms.

Big Field for State Fair Stock Car Races

State Fair officials today prepared for one of the biggest fields of entries in midwest fair history as they announced plans for stock car racing at this year's Centennial exposition.

Some 40 pilots are expected to wheel all makes and models of standard stock cars onto the half-mile track to compete for purse totalling $6,200 during the two day meet here in August.

Lloyd B. Cunningham, fair secretary, today reported that night racing will be a feature of this year's program The 125-mile stock car marathon will be reeled off under the lights on Sunday night, September 5, with purses of $3,200.

Sprint and dash events are scheduled for Saturday afternoon, August 28, opening day of the fair. This program will include three heat races of 10 laps each, an eight lap consolation race for entries that came in short of the money in the previous trio, and an American-style pursuit handicap. The highlight of the afternoon will be a 50-mile race for $1,600, bringing the day's total cash prizes to $3,000.

Other racing events at the 1954 Centennial Statee Fair are big car auto races scheduled for the nights of September 3, 4, and 6, and the afternoon of August 29, and harness and running races on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, August 31 and September 1.

RODEO: WHAT IT IS

Years ago, each rancher had many cowboys. During the years roundup, the work of the cowboy was very exciting . . . some cowboys were good at riding, and some were good at roping. So as a rule, when the big roundup was done in the fall, the ranchers would bring their toughest horses to a central point, and a Bronc riding contest would be held.

The cowboys from various ranches would compete . . . thus a great sport began. It is the only sport derived from an industry . . . the great cattle and horse industry in the west.

Today the Rodeo is a major attraction and many special events have been added. In Rodeo talk there are five major events—Bareback ,Bronc Riding, Saddle Bronc Riding, Calf Roping, Bulldogging, (called steer wrestling) and Bull Riding. Of course, there are also many added events such at Steer Roping, the Wild Horse Race and Wild Cow Milking contests.

Rodeo has had its ups and downs. Very few parts of the world have an idea of a Rodeo, but it has been shown in many foreign lands . . . some of the showings for good—some for bad. Rodeo was a struggle until 1936 when a few cowboys got together in Madison Square Garden in New York and decided to raise the standards of the cowboys and of rodeo as a sport.

They set out to make it a major attraction. An organization was started called the Cowboys Turtle Association. Slow to start, but with a purpose in mind, the group set up dues of five dollars a year. Officers were appointed to be the spokesman for Rodeo.

Then the problem of management arose . . . big gates, and poor purses. In the war years another great group of cowboys got together and forced the Rodeo Cowboys Association known now as the RCA. This is now an incorporated organization with headquarters at Denver . . . a group that put teeth into the rules and by-laws of Rodeo.

Dues were raised to twenty-five dollars a year, but every cowboy is insured. No cowboy works an RCA Rodeo without an RCA card, and the Rodeo has to meet the high RCA standards before it is approved. No one gets a salary at an RCA Rodeo . . . it is competition.

Through this organization, Champions are born. Every dollar a cowboy wins in an RCA approved Rodeo is one point toward the World Championship title. In Denver, a cowboy by the name of Buster Ivory keeps count of the cowboy's dollars and their points.

Rodeo today is one of the nations leading attractions and the worlds oldest sport. It draws the second largest gate receipts of the nations many sports.

The Barnes Championship Rodeo, scheduled for Clear Lake, June 26 & 27, has been RCA approved, and many champion cowboys from throughout the country who will be here for the event, will be competing for not only the dollars, but for those points toward being the World's Champion Cowboy.

Soil Conservation Dates Back to Early Settlers

The history of soil conservation in America dates back to the time the early settlers began to see changes take place in their land. When the pioneers began their farming operations, the soil was dark, rich, and productive, but as they continued to take their livelihood from the land. the soil became progressively lighter and less productive.

As a consequence of these changes, the early American farmer moved his operations into new territory, leaving the eroded and sterile land behind. There were few pioneer farmers who foresaw the time when the productive land would all be used.

Jared Eliot, (1685-1763), a minister and doctor of Killingsworth, Conn., became interested in improved farming practices after he had seen erosion in process during his circuit riding. He noted that water runnng from a vegetable hillside was clear, but the water streaming down a barren slope was muddy. He wrote the first American work on agriculture in 1748, and in this book called attention to the dangers of erosion and to the need for drainage and soil building crops.

Another minister, Samuel Deane, (1733-1814), recognized the ill effects of both wind and water erosion, and helped develop methods which would overcome erosion. He wrote of his beliefs and finds in "New England Farmer and Geological Dictionary in 1790.

Other early American conservationists included Solomon and William Drown, John Taylor, John Loraine, Isaac Hill, Nichlos Sorsby, and Edmund Ruffin.

Washington, Jefferson, Patrick Henry and other leaders of the day voiced their opinions in favor of the soil protection and maintenance. Henry proclaimed that "now that the revolution is ended he is the greatest patriot who stops the most gullies."

On May 1908 President Theodore Roosevelt called all the governors of the states and territories to the White House for a consideration of the problem of conservation that confronted the nation. Clifford Pichot of Pennsylvania is credited with being the moving spirit back of Theodore Roosevelt in this and other conservation accomplishments.

Theodore Roosevelt, in addressing this group of governors said, "The conservation of our natural resources is the fundamental problem, unless we solve that problem, it will avail us little to solve all others."

In 1916 an experiment station was conducted by the University of Missouri to determine soil and water losses. In 1919 similar experiment stations were started in North Carolina and Texas. In that same year, H. H. Bennett, former chief if the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, was assigned by the U. S. Bureau of Soil to arouse public interest in soil erosion control.

In 1929 congressional appropriation provided for the establishment of 10 soil conservation experiment stations throughout the country. Among the first were LaCrosse, Wisconsin and others at Bethany, Missouri and Clarinda, Iowa.

The Erosion Service came into being in the Department of Interior in 1933 and in 1935 was transferred by Congress to the U. S. Department of Agriculture: It was re-named at that time to Soil Conservation Service.

The Soil Conservation Service worked with the CCC during their existence in demonstrating soil and moisture conservation practices.

Forty-eight states now have local soil conservation district laws and the Soil Conservation Service is cooperating with local soil conservation districts throughout the nation.

Magican Attends Electricity Meeting

Warren Beers, the speaker for the special 4-H Electricity Interest Group entertained the boys with some magical feats after the regular meeting. Warren's hobby is magic tricks and he used some of the disappearing coins, thimbles and cards plus the magic knife, handkerchief and many other tricks. He amazed the group in true magician fashion.

There were 26 4-H members present at the regular monthly special electricity interest meeting held in the Garner REA basement. Warren Beers, Safety Engineer for the Iowa Light and Power, Co., was the main speaker who talked on electrical safety. He pointed out the danger of low voltage as well as high voltage lines, and how to treat electrical shock and burns and the different ways to handle electrical wiring safely.

Warren emphasized 2 rules in handling electrictiy No. 1 is "Electricity is always seeking a ground." No. 2 is "Electricity isn't dangerous if handled with respect".

Many questions were asked by the members and Warren went through the ten safety rules in handling electricity Some of the rules discussed were concerned with ground wires, overloading, improper connections, placement and in correct wiring, fusing, danger in handling electrical appliances and short circuits.

The last half hour of every meeting is devoted to a timely movie on electricity. The movie shown was "Electrified Farming" pointing out some of the extra ways to use electricity for jobs on the farm to save manual labor.

The next meeting the boys will practice wiring techniques on a wiring panel and the different kinds of splicing. A trip to the Humboldt Electric Power Supply Plant will be featured in August for the 4-H boys enrolled in the electricity project.

Cooperators in special electricity program are REA and Iowa Light and Power Supply Companies plus Harvey Mitchel of Garner who helps with monthly meetings; Carl Frich, Britt; Lyle Ruka, Kanawha; Klemme Hardware, Klemme, Larson Hardware, Woden; Sorenson Hardware, Crystal Lake. If the boys have problems with their projects anyone of the above individuals above will be glad to give them help.

Memory "Joggers"

Taken from Our Files

10 YEARS AGO—

The hardest rain in the memory of old residents around Garner, Hayfield and Britt fell late Saturday night inundating thousands of acres of land and washing out road grades and bridges. In the area hardest hit it was estimated that the rainfall was between six and seven inches. The Iowa River west and south of Klemme rose rapidly and Monday evening the water was over some of the bridges and within a foot of the top of the paving on Highway 69 south of Klemme.

Seaman Martin Barz arrived home Saturday morning from Camp Farragut, Idaho, to spend a fifteen day furlough with his family and relatives here. Seaman Barz completed his boot training and graduated last Thursday.

Lew Griffen, who fell from a horse last winter and suffered a fractured leg, and who had to walk with crutches for several months, was in town Wednesday night and able to walk without the aid of crutches. Lew's friends were glad to see him getting around so good again.

Pvt. Melvin Coobs leaves this Wednesday evening for San Luis Obispo, California, after enjoying a furlough visiting here with his parents, Mr and Mrs Benn Coobs and other relatives.

20 YEARS AGO—

Milo Patet an Harold Jost started out for the World's Fair at Chicago Tuesday forenoon. The boys are making the trip in Milo's old Model T Ford. They expect to spend a week in Chicago and at the Fair and may remain longer if they can locate a job.

Mrs Herman Bridges had a birthday dinner Sunday in honor of "Sport", it being his birthday. The guests included Mr and Mrs Orville Bridges and baby, Sondra Rae, and Mr and Mrs Elmer Beier and family and Valeria Koerner.

North Iowa was again visited by a number of scattered showers the past week, which were a benefit to pastures and hay land.

Wilbur Arnold, LaVohn Larsen and Nellie Stromer came home from Iowa State College at Ames Saturday to spend the summer vacation.

30 YEARS AGO—

All of the Kluckhohn "tribe" in Klemme had a birthday surprise on Mrs Fred Kluckhohn last Friday evening. Sunday was her birthday, but Friday was a more convenient date for all to assemble so the birthday was just moved ahead a few days. All brought baskets of good things to eat and had a fine time.

Monday afternoon at Belmond, the Misses Gertrude Ely, and Thorman held a musical theory contest between the young music students of Belmond and Klemme. Four questions were lost by each side but as the Klemme pupils gave the best answers to the questions, they won the contest. The Klemme pupils were Clarice Wellemeyer, Blanche Gimer, Thelma Kluckhohn, Dorothy Helps, Kenneth Kluckhohn, Byrnes Missman, Harvey Nelson, Valeria Koerner, Gracka Quandt and Reva Elder.

Dick Bamman and family have moved their household goods to Eldora, where they will live. Dick will work in a garage there.

For some accountable reason or other Dr. Zinn had his car washed last Thursday morning. This is rather unusual, but we learned he attended the big farm bureau picnic at Garner.

Farmers View Results Of Conservation Practices During Air Tour

Thirty to forty persons went on a conservation air tour to observe land patterns from the air on Wednesday afteroon, June 16. The tour was held at Wicks Field near Garner, and jointly sponsored by the Flying Farmers and the Hancock County Soil Conservation District.

Planes were furnished and flown by Flyling Farmers and their friends linterested in flying.

Mr Clarence Gorman of Britt, a director of the sixth district of Iowa Flying Farmers, made arrangements for planes and pilots.

Pilots and planes from Britt included Clarence Gorman, Kenneth Donavon, and George Barker with Piper Cruisers, Dr. Morgan with a Piper Clipper, and H. H. Higdon flying an Aeormca Chief. Another Piper Clipper, piloted by Henry Maland came from Titonka. Planes furnished by Wm. Evans at the Garner Air port were a Piper Pacer and J-3 cub. The J-3 Cub was flown by Jeff. Rensink from Hayfield.

Most everyone who came went for a ride. At one time eight planes were in the air on trips to various parts of the county. Everyone taking a ride indicated where they wanted to go. Rides were on a cost basis to cover operating expenses.

A partial list of those riding included Elmer Jante and his son Sidney of Garner, Henry Swanson and Wm. Titus of Wesley, Mr and Mrs Harold Schwab, Duane and Marlys. The Schwabs went in two planes, one following the other so the family could all have the same trip. V. J. Brozik, Ronald and nephew Louis Kvasnicka took a ride with Dr. Morgan and later Mr Brozik and Ronald went for a second ride with Jeff Rensink in Clarence Gorman's plane. Mr and Mrs Kenneht Gast and daughter Judy took a ride. Others taking rides included Wm. Janssen of Goodell, Mr and Mrs Vernon Moss of Garner and Leon Laird of Algona. Mr Moss is Farm Planners for Hancock County and Mr Laird for Kossuth. Both were interested in observing conservation practices from the air. Another load from the local district office included Bob Read, Conservation Aid; Marion Brozik, State Clerk; and Darwin Hoeft, State Technicians Helpers.

Two District commissioners, Ben Riemer of Garner and S. A. Barber of Kanawha took their wives for ride. Mr and Mrs Myrlen Olson of Britt; Larry Juhl Kenneth Olson, Elmer Jass and Ervin Wetterling from Ellington and Madison townships complete the list of those taking rides.

Mr Henry Swanson of Wesley was re-elceted district commissioner for another six-year term. He polled 11 of the 19 votes cast. John Huistinga received six votes and Joe Mikkelson two. The election was held in conjunction with the air tour.

Some day somebody is going to come up with a parking meter for a phone booth and make a lot of people happy.

Three out of four traffic accidents involve passenger cars.

Lamp Poles Painted

Iowa Electric Light and Power Company, the utility that furnishes electricity to Klemme, recently re-painted the light poles along main street. The poles have taken on a much brighter and neater appearance with the addition of the new coat of bright green paint.

SAFE

Burglars stole a 35-lb. safe from the Malcom elevator recently, but law enforcement officials think the theft won't accomplish anything. The safe is a type virtually impregnable to ordinary burglary tools, including nitroglycerin or blowtorches. It's made of magnesium steel.

Rough on Carp

Herbert Greimann and son, Jr., local archery enthusiasts, hit the jackpot at Clear Lake, Sunday morning. They went after carp with their bows and arrows and came home with the string pictured above.

The smallest one they shot weighed approximately three pounds, and the two big ones they are holding weighed 28 and 25 pounds.

The carp are spawning now and they are in close to shore, making it easier than usual to get at them.

Quentin Stille was at the lake Monday morning and with the aid of a spear, got quite a mess of carp, too. He had one like the big ones in this picture, and quite a few smaller ones.

E & R BIBLE SCHOOL

In the fourth week of Bible School everyone seems to be planning for the picnic on June 25th.

In pre-school class they learned to do finger exercises, act out little stories and work on the program for the picnic.

In kindergarten they made mats and finished the Ten Commandments. They also made pictures to hang on the wall of one sinful heart and one pure heart.

In the first grade they made fruit baskets, learned three more commandments and started practicing for the picnic.

In the second grade they started the Lord's Prayer, finished the Commandments, made TV sets of Bible Stories, and made a fruit basket with a commandment on it.

In the third grade they learned a few Bible verses, the 100th Psalm and finished the Beatitudes and the work book. For hand work they made the Baby Moses and the river.

In the fourth and fifth grades they worked in their work books and on stories "Growing up Like Jesus" and "Learning To Be Honest." In the fifth grade five have said 20 catechism verses.

In the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades they spent most of their time on catechism to get finished by picnic day.

In music we are practicing for picnic day.

Our average attendance was 120.

Heavy Rains Break Record At Garner

All previous records for precipitation have been broken in Garner with 12.57 inches of rainfall in the past 10 days. The deluge of 6.56 in. on Thurs. night and the second flood of 3.86 inches on Sunday night did serious damage to crops estimated in the millions of dollars by Extension, Conservation and ASC officials. Streams which were returning to their banks on Sunday following the flood of Thursday were out wider than ever on Monday and basements were flooded worse than before. The basement of the courthouse was flooded for the first time in over thirty years, with from three to five inches in the office of the county nurse, county assessor and several basement storage vaults. Pumps were used early Monday to remove the water. Water also flooded the basement of the new Memorial Hall, and some water entered the Floyd Pontiac garage. A number of Garner residences were surrounded with water.

New School Districts Effective July 1st

Much work has been done in the past couple of years towards reorganization of schools in Hancock County. Results of this work will become effective on Thursday, July 1. New school boards will take over and preparation for the coming school year will get underway.

The County Board of Education has made available a map of the county showing the various districts, and a copy of this map will be found on page 4 of this issue of The Times.

There are a couple of changes in the Kanawha district since the map was made. The Wright County Board attached two parcels of land in Belmond Township to the Kanawha district. They are in sections 5 and 6 of that township adjacent to what shows on the map as the Kanawha district.

Rachel Hueneman to RYP Leadership Camp

Rachel Huenemann of Garner and Frank Brcka, Garner will attend the State Rural Young Peoples Leadership Camp at the State 4-H Camping Center, in Boone County, August 1 - 6.

Paul Henderson, Hancock County Extension Director who made the announcement said delegates were selected by an extension service committee at Iowa State College from 180 applicants.

The 6-day camp will be attended by more than 100 delegates of rural young peoples groups in the state, Henderson added. Scholarships that cover most of the expense of the camp have been awarded to 100 of the delegates, including Rachel and Frank. This is the first year that the scholarships have been awarded. They were made possible by a grant from the Sears Foundation for the encouragement and development of a leadership camp.

Wayne Buseman Has Narrow Escape In Accident on Viaduct

Hancock County Deputy Sheriff R. E. Nesbit was called to investigate two automobile collisions on Saturday.

On Saturday forenoon cars driven by Carl Young of Garner and Duane Martin Sawyer of Newhall collided at a street intersection on the northeast corner of the courthouse square in Garner. No one was injured and damage to both cars was estimated at $150.

On Saturday afternoon occupants of three cars narrowly averted what might have been a serious mishap according to Nesbit who reported that a car driven by Henrietta Millie Goodrich of Kanawha was traveling north at the south approach to the viaduct west of Garner on highway 69, when another car driven by Antons Zmuidius of Des Moines traveling at a high rate of speed began to pass the Goodrich car just as a car driven by Wayne Buseman of Klemme came over the viaduct from the north. The Zmuidius car was forced to crowd the Goodrich car to avoid a head-on collision with the Buseman car and while all cars invoved were brought under control with slight damage and no one was injured. Deputy Sheriff Nesbit states that only a miracle prevented an accident of serious proportions.

Saturday Storm Damages Crops

Wind, Rain and Hail Hit In This Vicinity

A violent storm hit here early Saturday morning following on the heels of the most uncomfortable weather we have had this season. The temperature rose to 94 degrees here Friday, and the humidity must have been nearly as high . . . or so it seemed. It was perfect weather for brewing up a storm.

High winds and heavy rain, accompanied by a heavy electrical distrubance, hit here about 6 a. m. Only a few hail stones fell in town but a three-mile wide strip, starting northwest of Klemme and extending southeast, got a severe hail storm.

Estimates of damage to oats in the affected area ran as high as 75 percent, while soybeans also took a pasting. The oats were badly shattered and broken off, beans were stripped of some leaves and tops were broken over, and corn looked sad. The corn, however, should recover in good shape.

We talked to several farmers who were in the path of the hail storm, and all of them thought that their oats crop was pretty much "shot" for this year. Bean yields, they thought, would be cut some, but the plants are at a stage where many of them will recover to some extent.

Some ponds that resulted from our big rain of a couple of weeks ago are still not completely drained, but the river has gone back into its banks. Many farmers will soon be busy replanting areas that were drowned out. We expect that most of them will put in beans to take the place of whatever crop they lost. Planting this late, makes a bean harvest an unsure thing, but at least there can be a good forage crop harvested, even if they don't get ripe enough to combine.

The weather can be mighty rough on a farmer, and as Sy Adams, editor of the Kanawha Reporter says, "Nature has taken care of the corn allotment program."

Dorothy Lacey Bride Of Henry Gerdes In Wedding At Belmond

Dorothy Lacey, daughter of Mr and Mrs William Lacey of Goodell, and Henry Gerdes, son of Mr and Mrs Tim Gerdes of Blemond were maried at St. John's Lutheran Church in Belmond. The Rev. Leo Widdel, pastor of the church, read the double ring ceremony which took place on Sunday evening, June 20th.

Miss Shirley Pals played the traditional wedding march and accompanied Melvin James of Meservey, who sang.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Leola Lacey, sister of the bride was maid of honor Leota Widdel and Elaine Lacey were flower girls.

The bridegroom's brother Elmer Gerdes, was bestman. Ushers were Dean Nuehring and William Lacey, Jr.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the ceremony, with 150 relatives and friends attending.

After a short wedding trip south they will be at home in Belmond where the bridegroom is employed at the Belmond Auto Co. He is a graduate of Goodell High School and the bride of Klemme High School.

Forty-six bullheads! Yep, that's the number of fish that a local garage man and M. L. Harson brought home from Clear Lake the other day. Bullheads have been biting good at Clear Lake so the accomplishment was not one to cause too much excitement. However, we would have liked to have seen Jack's face if he had been approached by a conservation officer.

He made the fishing date, went to the Klemme Hardware and bought himself a fishing license, then went to the lake and helped to catch the forty-six fish. You can imagine his surprise when he got back to Klemme and found that he had left the newly purchased license on the counter in the hardware store.

Last Friday night's terrific heat and humidity was reminiscent of the weather we encountered when we soldiered during World War II in east Texas. Some of the fellows licked the situation down there, by taking a big bath towel and getting it good and wet with cold water from the shower. Then they would spread it on their bunk and stretch out on it. They were soaking wet with sweat anyway, so we suppose the wet towel wouldn't hurt a thing . . . and there was a possibility that they might fall asleep before it warmed up.

When the wind hit here Saturday morning we were sound asleep . . . but not for long! We came wide awake right now! Just finished closing the windows when the lightning struck and blew out the fuses in the post office. It was so close and so loud that it almost seemed that it hit right in the window that we were standing by. Rather a weird feeling. We would just as soon have our electrical disturbances a little more remote.

We suggested to Rev. Jaberg that he give some thought to changing denominations. Last Saturday morning, when the wind blew so hard, a branch in his apple tree was blown down. We drove around town considerably, looking for further damage but could find none. As far as we were able to ascertain, the pastoral apple tree was the only victim. Of course, the fact that one of the Bible School children was crawling around on the limb the day before might have had something to do with the limb coming down so easily. The student got caught in the tree and couldn't get down until he was rescued with the aid of a ladder and a little climbing by Town Marshal Ulrich. Maybe that's enough to strain any tree . . . regardless of denomination.

The Memorial Day week end in Iowa was a much safer driving week end than had been predicted by safety officials. Friday evening starts another long week end for many people in the country. Highway traffic will be very heavy as people head for their favorite vacation spots or to visit with relatives. We hope that the state's accident record will be as good or better than it was over Memorial Day.

One way to help cut down the highway fatalities is to watch the car behind the car ahead of you. Remember, the life you save may be your own . . . or as one radio announcer put it, "The life you save may be mine".

Usually the July 4th holiday finds many people boating and swimming. The State Conservation Commission offers the following bits of good advice:

If your boat capsizes or turns turtle, don't leave it! Stay with the boat! It is your only link with life, and will float indefinitely even when filled with water. Do not try to swim to shore, but stay with the boat and wait for help.

Never swim in unsupervised waters. Rivers are most dangerous of all, and many drownings occur each year when people swim alone and have no help available when it is most needed. Swim at supervised beaches and pools where there are trained lifeguards ready for any emergency.

Allow two hours after eating before you enter the water. Nausea and stomach cramps can cause even the most expert swimmer to drown.

Fourth of July Weekend Brings Prediction of 10 Deaths on Iowa Highways

Hopfeul of a repeat of the Memorial Day week-end but fearful of the worst, state safety officials Thursday predicted a possible 10 traffic deaths on Iowa streets and highways during the Fourth of July week-end.

Only two lives were lost in traffic accidents over the Memorial Day week end, though the state safety department had predicted 10 deaths. Iowa's record on that holiday was one of the best in the nation.

"With heavy vacation travel now, the Fourth of July week-end will be an even greater test of the ability of individual drivers to survive in holiday traffic," Pearl W. McMurray, state safety commissioner, warned.

He pointed out that in 1952, the year Iowa had led the country in traffic death reductions, 11 lives were lost in Fourth of July week-end crashes. That is the state's worst record for the holiday.

"Now our traffic deaths are running ahead of previous years and the trend points to a tragic situation on our highways this week-end unless every driver takes entire responsibility for his own safety,' McMurray said.

He said those who claim traffic and road conditions make a heavy week-end death toll inevitable "are missing the point." "The high-fatality week-end begins in the minds of drivers, in attitudes of indifference and selfishness," he said.

McMurray said that Iowa's Memorial Day week-end record proves that it is possible to drive with safety under the most adverse conditions "if the general attitude is right."

"The death toll for this week-end is being decided right now in the minds of more than a million Iowa drivers," McMurray said.

Excessive speed was the principal cause of traffic accidents in 1953.

The Eagle or the Oyster?

© Fritz Henle—Courtesy Cities Service Company

Now comes the season of the year when the Red, White and Blue is glorified in oratory throughout the land. Platitudes flow. Washington, Lincoln, Franklin, Patrick Henry, and Jefferson are quoted. For speakers bold enough to break with this tradition, we suggest the examination of a speech written by Merle Thorpe, editor of SERVICE Magazine, for the July issue. Theme—"The Eagle or the Oyster?"

For a people . . .
who elect opportunism rather than opportunity, who dream of security rather than success;
who believe political charity is a virtue;
who mock the frugal and plunder the thrifty;
who adopt the rule that if I don't succeed you are to blame, that what you have is as much mine as yours;
who contend that property is a shameful sign of success;
who whimper that failure is the nobler cause; well-being is wicked; prudence, out-of-date; sacrifice silly—for such a people a fitting emblem is the Oyster.

For a people . . . who faced nature in the raw, with privation the rule and hardihood a virtue;
who endured defeat, disease and disaster for a hundred years in order to get a foothold on the Eastern Seaboard, the while with one eye on the interior, a no-man's land, a cockpit for settling international rivalries and private grudges, disputed by wild animals and wilder redmen; who sacrificed thus for a belief in the worth and dignity of the individual; who believed that economic freedom was as important as political freedom;
who substituted "In God We Trust," for the Old World motto "In Government We Trust"; for a nation built by men who dedicated their lives to achieve the realization of these beliefs,
I give you, fellow citizens—
the Eagle!

8TH ADJOURNED APRIL MEETING

Garner, Iowa
June 9, 1954

The Hancock County, Iowa, Board of Supervisors met in session on above captioned date pursuant to adjournment with S. A. Barber, Clarence Bird and Clint Daniels present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read.

Supervisor Daniels is hereby appointed a committee to investigate and cause repairs to be made in D.D. No. 102, Main; Supervisor Bird on D.D. No. 8, Lat. No. 5.

Garner, Iowa
June 9, 1954

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Hancock, in the State of Iowa, met at the Court House, Garner, Iowa, on the 9th day of June, 1954, at One o'clock P.M. pursuant to law, to the rules of said Board and to adjournment, to canvass the results of the special election held on the 7th day of Jane, 1954, this being the second day following said special election.

The meeting was called to order by the Chairman, and the roll being called, there were Present. Clarence A. Bird, Chairman, in the chair, and the following named Supervisors: Clinton D. Daniels and S. A. Barber.

Absent: None

The Board of Supervisors proceeded to canvass the results of the votes on the Court House proposition cast at the said special election and now embodies its findings and conclusions in the resolution next hereinafter set out, which was introduced by Supervisor Daniels who moved its adoption, seconded by Supervisor Barber. After due consideration of said Resolution by the Board of Supervisors the Chairman put the question upon the adoption of said resolution, and the roll being called, the following named Supervisors voted:

Ayes: Clinton D. Daniels, S. A. Barber and Clarence A. Bird.

Nays: None

Whereupon, the Chairman declared said resolution duly adopted, as follows:

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors of the County of Hancock, in the State of Iowa, heretofore, did legally call a special election to be held on the 7th day of June, 1954, and ordered sumitted there at to the voters of said County, the following propostition:

Shall the County of Hancock, in the State of Iowa, erect and equip an extension to and remodel the present Court House Building, and borrow money by the issuance and sale of bonds in the sum of $100,000 to pay the cost thereof, and levy a tax on all the taxable property within said County at a rate not to exceed fourtenths of one mill on the dollar of the taxable value, in addition to all other taxes, year by year, commencing with the current levies, to pay said bonds and the interest thereon, until said bonds and the interest thereon are completely paid?

and

WHEREAS, Legal, sufficient and timely notice of the submission of said proposition at said election and of the date and hours of said election, and of the voting precincts thereof with their corresponding polling places, was duly published and a correct and complete copy of said proposition was posted up at each polling place during the day of said election throughout the hours thereof, all in strict compliance with Section 345.6 of the Code of Iowa, 1950, and with the orders of said Board of Supervisors; now therefore

IT IS RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Hancock, in the State of Iowa, as follows:

Section 1. That it is hereby found, determined and declared:

First - That said election was held and conducted in each of the voting precincts of said County at the respective polling places, pursuant to due notice, and in strict compliance with law, and that said proposition and the adoption thereof complies strictly with law.

Second - That at said election, on the aforesaid proposition there were cast 2,993 ballots, of which 1,374 votes were cast "YES" and 1,599 votes were cast "NO" and 20 ballots were cast blank or defectively marked, the vote by precints being as follows:

HOGS

By June 23, hog prices had regained practically all the previous week's slump at Chicago. The comeback was expected in many trade circles as the usual reaction to such a sharp cut evidenced a week earlier, according to Donald J. Hunter, Iowa State College farm economist.

The recent cut in hog prices resulted in the widest price spread between sows and medium weight butchers in 2 years of records at Chicago. Sows are continuing seasonally heavy in receipts and at St. Paul last week over half ran to sows. In addition to those sows normally marketed after weaning spring litters, some interior Iowa sources mention farmers selling sows that had been intended for fall farrowing.

The hog price breaks seen 2 weeks ago were enforced largely because of poor consumer demand for pork as well as other meat. Hot, humid conditions over much of the country reduced peoples' appetites for most meat products, Hunter notes. Total hog receipts during the week's downturn were ten percent smaller than the previous week, so that weight numbers can be ruled out as a contributing factor.

All classes of hogs were hit by the drop, but lightweights took the sharpest beating at several points. Fall-farrowed pigs are becoming an increasing factor in marketings. Chicago market reporters mention that the average market weight dropped to 240 pounds there last week. The average weight has been running well above the level since the first of March.

St. Paul reports that feeder pig prices were also knocked down from $2 to $2.50, there.

The USDA spring pig crop report makes an estimate of 91 million pigs for 1954, 12 percent above the 1953 figure. Iowa farmers raised 11 percent more pigs this spring than last. They saved a record 7.025 pigs per litter this spring.

NOISE

(Another fable not by Aesop)

There are implement dealers who make a lot of noise. The companies they sell for tell them what noises to make, and how loud.

People listen to the noises and like them, but after a while they find that even pleasant noises do not make the machinery perform quite as well as some that another dealer sold their neighbors.

The other dealer is not a noise maker. Even his machinery gets the job done quietly and for less expense to the acre.

Your neighbors are cultivating corn this year for about 4 cents an acre with OLIVER DIESEL TRACTORS.

MORAL: OLIVER dealers and OLIVER machinery make less noise, but they both get the same job done for less money. Try OLIVER next time.

Experimental Field Day July 7th at Kanawha

Two experimental farms at Kanawha will be the scene of a field day on July 7, according to Paul Henderson, Hancock County extension director. And Hancock Couty farmers are invited to attend and learn about recent research findings in the crop variety trials and land management.

The farms are owned by local associations and operated by the Iowa Agriculural Experiment Station.

The day's activities open at 10:15 a. m. on the 96-acre Northern Iowa Experimental Farm at the southern edge of Kanawha. It is owned by the Northern Iowa Experimental Association.

E. P. Sylwester, extension weed control specialist, will discuss weed identification and methods of control. And farmers are invited to bring weed specimens to the sessions for identification.

The balance of the morning program will be given over to nitrogen fertilizers. Research Agronomist John Pesek will be on hand to discuss nitrogen fertilizers and explain methods of application. Equipment for applying nitrogen will be demonstrated.

A tour of the experimental plots begins at 1 p. m. Results of crop variety trials will be open for inspection on a free-choice basis. Included will be varieties of oats, barley, spring and winter wheat, flax and soybeans. Stations on the farm will be set up to deal with corn seed treatment and insect and weed control The plots will show progress on development on rust-resistant varieties of small grains.

At 3 p. m. the field days' activities move to the 80-acre Clarion-Webster Experimental Farm, 1½ miles south of Kanawha. There, field day visitors will view methods of tiling and backfills, in addition to rotation and fertility experiments.

D. W. Stanfroth of the Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station and Paul Henderson, Hancock County extension, director, are co-chairman of the field day.

Lunch will be provided on the grounds.

Iowa Light and Power Adds to Service Area

H. O .Sandberg, District Commercial Manager for North Central Iowa, for the Iowa Electric Light and Power Company, announces that the Iowa Electric Light and Power Company recently purchased the Northwestern Light and Power Company. The sale was approved by the Board of Directors of the Iowa Electric Light and Power Company and the Board of Directors and stockholders of the Northwestern Light and Power Company on June 18 and becomes effective at the close of business on June 30. Iowa Electric Light and Power is buying the physical assets of Northwestern and will assume the bonds and other liabilities of that company.

The property acquired by the Iowa Electric Light and Power Company includes gas and electric facilities in Osceola, Dickinson, Clay and Buena Vista Counties. Gas is provided to 3420 customers in Cherokee, Storm Lake, and Alta. Electric service is provided to 7791 customers in 35 northwestern Iowa towns, including Spirit Lake, Arnolds Park, Albert City, Ocheydan, Sioux Rapids, Terrill, Everly, George and Peterson.

With this new aquisition of property from the Northwestern Light and Power, Iowa Electric Light and Power now serves 348 communities with electric service, while gas is supplied to 42 communities.

Red Cross, during the last fiscal year, aided on an average of one person every five minutes among those suffering disaster injury or loss.

80 Attend Lau Family Reunion At Guttenberg

The annual Lau family reunion was held at Guttenberg, Sunday, June 27th with some 80 of the family present.

The Christian Lau family of Clayton County was the host family and they were all present with the exception of Eldon Lau.

The Henry Lau family represented the Martin Laus from Minnesota. Those from this vicinity who attended were Mr and Mrs Lloyd Lau and Cozette, Mrs Albert Etchen, Mr and Mrs Emil Lau and their son, Paul and family, Mr Wm. F. Lau of Garner Mr and Mrs Carl Swanson of Britt and their daughter, Mrs Don Madsen and Denny of Clear Lake.

After the picnic dinner at noon those present enjoyed seeing the mighty Mississippi, the docks and Dam No. 10. It was an ideal day for traveling and sight-seeing.

The day closed with a lunch of ice cream and cake at the Municipal Building in Guttenberg. Everyone had a very enjoyable day.

Political Parties Will Hold Conventions July 2

In accordance with section 43.89 of the Code of Iowa, 1954, both Republicans and Democrats will hold their respective county conventions at the courthouse in Garner at 10 o'clock A. M. on Friday, July 2, according to County Auditor Maynard Schoneman, who has notified all delegates, committeemen and committeewomen elected at the Primary election on June 7.

The conventions will organize by electing their respective State Convention, State Judicial and District Judicial Conventions, and transact such other business as may come before the convention.

Following the business of the convention the newly elected committeemen and women forming the respective party central committees will meet and organize for the next two years.

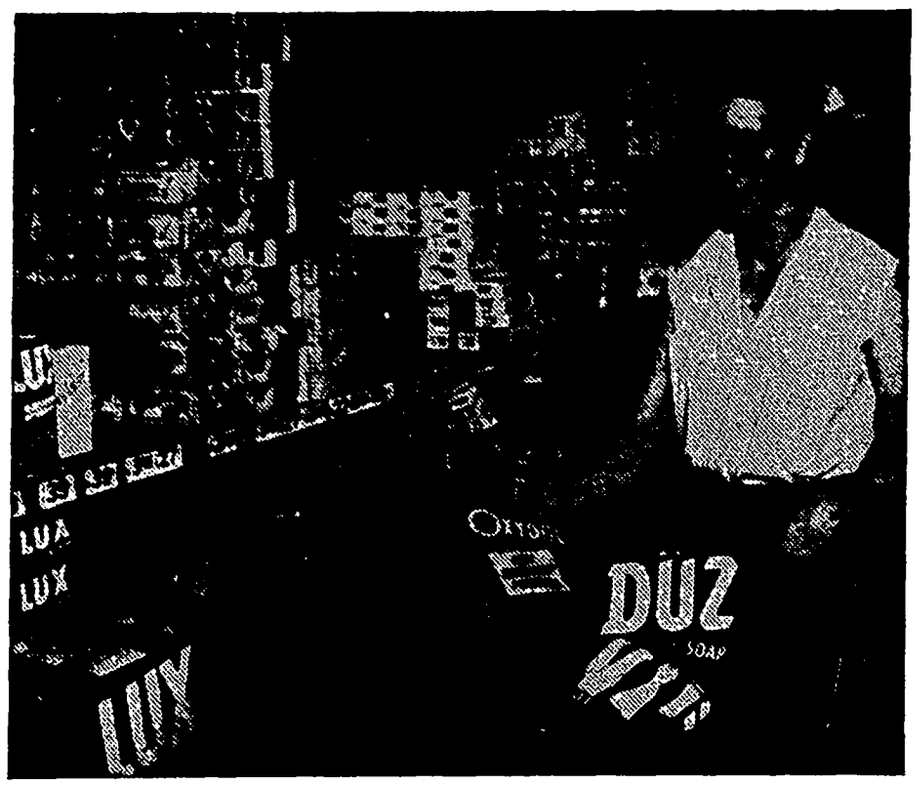
Which Will It Be—

A Soap or a Syndet?



Today's homemaker has to decide between soaps and synthetic detergents (syndets) for her washday needs. By reading box labels carefully she will know which will serve her purpose best.

* * *

Homemakers used to go to the grocery store to buy a box, or bar, of soap easy-as-pie, then go home and do the family wash. But it's not so easy any more.

When you get to the store today you're confronted by a confusing array of soaps and synthetic detergents in the form of bars, flakes, beads, granules powders and liquids.

Just about the time you got used to hearing the words "synthetic detergent," manufactures came up with a word that's easier to remember --"syndet." Don't let it fool you though. A syndet is one and the same as a synthetic detergent-- just quicker and easier to say.

What's the Difference?

You may wonder just what the difference is between soaps and synthetics, what advantages one has over the other, vantages one has over the other, or which one is best to use.

Elizabeth Beveridge, head of the Department of Household Equipment at Iowa State College, says once you understand the difference between a soap and and a synthetic detergent (or syndet) it isn't nearly so confusing.

Now to their differences:

Soaps are excellent for laundering in soft or softened waters. But in hard water (which predominates in Iowa) soap reacts with mineral salts in the water to form a sticky scum. Clothes washed with soap in hard water often take on the "tattle-tale gray" look. It's the soap scum that causes the grayish cast.

On the other hand, syndets don't combine with the mineral so no scum is formed.

Soft or Hard Water

You'll want to choose whichever cleansing agent works best in your water supply. If your water is naturally soft or if you soften it mechanically or with packaged water softener, you'll find either a soap or syndet satisfactory. But if your water is hard you'll probably find a syndet works best.

Whichever you decide on, you'll want to stick to it. In a hard water area the scum problem may actually become worse if you use soap one week and a syndet the next because the two sometimes don't get along well together.

You'll find both soaps ond syndets made of two general types-- mild, for fine fabrics and delicate colors and general laundry for heavy duty cleansing.

"Builders" Added

General laundry soaps and syndents have "builders" added to them to increase their efficiency in cleaning heavily soiled fabrics. Builders also keep soil from redepositing on the fabrics.

Another difference between soaps and syndets is that soap is usually less drying to your skin. Syndets seem to remove natural oil from hands, causing dryness. So if you do choose a syndet that dries your hands out, you'll want to use a good hand lotion for protection.

Some washer manufacturers specify that either a soap or syndet works best in that particular washer.

Read the Label

Take time to read the box label when you're shopping. You'll probably find information indicating whether it's a soap or detergent. The label will also tell what fabric it's best for.

Visiting around Iowa

by Joe Marsh

Iowa's Stake in Mov es

Sam Carruthers down at the feed store was worrying the other day about the effect of TV on theater attendance. "Why," he said, "Iowa has a big stake in the motion picture business."

"How come?" I asked.

Sam gave me a big wink. "Popcorn, that's how come. Saw a chart that shows nearly 30% of the U. S. popcorn production comes from Iowa."

Maybe Sam's got a point there. But I'll bet folks who like popcorn will keep right on eating it, whether they're at the movies or home watching television.

Of course, not everyone prefers popcorn as a TV snack . . Em just loves peanuts, Linda Mayberry serves potato chips some like ice tea on a warm night, and I enjoy a temperate glass of beer.

That's another wonderful thing about people the great variety of their tastes. You respect mine, and I respect yours, whether in movies or TV, in popcorn or pop. We may not agree with other people's preferences, but Iowa is big enough and broad-minded enough to accommodate them all.

Warm Weather Increases Chance of Food Poisoning

Bacteria which cause food poisoning grow rapidly in warm weather. For that reason July, picnic month, is a time to be especially careful about handling and storing food.

Chicken, tuna, and potato salads and creamed desserts are favorite foods for bacteria. Bacteria grow rapidly in these foods if they are let at room temperature. There are the foods that should be properly cooled and kept in the refrigerator until eaten.

Storing foods in large quantities, even though they be refrigerated, has led to food poisoning also. Large quantities of food take longer to become chilled and even though the food is in the refrigerator bacteria can grow in it before it becomes cold.

Whether the person prepares food for two or 200 her hands should be scrupulously clean and free from cuts and sores of any kind. Often, people have become ill from food prepared by a person with a sore on her hand.

Another thing to remember in avoiding food poisoning is to wash fresh fruits and vegetables thoroughly before they are eaten. They may be covered with bacteria, chemicals or insecticides,, which can cause illness.

Food poisoning may be only a mild illness, causing slight discomfort or it may be severe enough to cause death. At any rate, food poisoning is no picnic. Care in preparing and storing food is the best safeguard against food poisoning. It is not always easy to tell by appearance, taste or smell whether bacteria has developed in food or not. The best safety device is to keep cold foods cold, and hot foods hot, but never lukewarm. Don't bring food poisoning along on your picnic.

Taken from Our Files

10 YEARS AGO—

Elaine Neuberger and LaNellle Harvey spent last Thursday night in the country with Mr and Mrs Clarence Lemke. The little girls learned a lot about farm life during their short stay in the country.

Iowa had 100 degree temperatures Sunday and Monday, so hot weather is really here.

"Bill" Johnson is doing a lot of remodeling on the house on East Main street which he purchased from Quentin Stille. Interior improvements are being made and the outside will be covered with asbestos shingles.

Crops around Klemme have made rapid growth the past week and a lot of corn fields have reached the "knee-high" stage Many fields of oats are well headed out and are looking good.

20 YEARS AGO—

Mr and Mrs Harvey Barz and Mr and Mrs Carl Anderson have returned from their vacation trip They spent several days in Chicago and at the World's Fair, and visited with Mr Anderson's relatives two days at Random, Wisconsin.

Mrs Martha Bredbenner gave a miscellaneous shower at her home Friday evening in honor of Mr and Mrs Leonard Lau. Mrs Bredbenner invited Mr and Mrs Lau to a 6:30 o'clock dinner and the shower was a complete surprise to them. They received many useful gifts The evening was spent in a social way and refreshments were served.

A large crowd attended the recital given by Miss Mildred Johnson's pupils at the school house Tuesday evening, enjoying it very much.

C. A. Larsen, John Larsen, "Butch" Schroeder and M. F. Christie of Belmond drove up into Minnesota Tuesday on a fishing trip.

30 YEARS AGO—

"Cooney" Quandt has installed a new carbonating machine for his soda fountain and has otherwise dolled up the fountain. "Cooney" is a regular soda jerk and puts out fine drinks.

Miss Mabel. Smith was the subject of a minor operation at a Mason City hospital last Thursday. She is getting along well now.

Lois and Sammy Howard, accompanied by Mrs Walters, of Des Moines, came last week Wednesday for a visit at the Wiles home. Mrs Walters is a sister of Mrs C. W. Wiles, and Sammy and Lois are her nephew and niece.

Aaron Grieman has the office in his Ford garage all dolled up in fine shape. He has had the wall repainted in an artistic manner by painter George Lawhorn.

17 Hancock County 4-H Girls Attend Convention

Four days spent as delegates to the Twenty-fifth Annual Girls' 4-H Convention gave Hancock County's 17 delegates a new perspective on their state organization which now numbers more than 23,000 members.

Highlights of the convention for the delegates were the election proceedings in which they helped bring in a new slate of officers to head up the state organization, and the 4-H Historical Festival, "A High Tree--An Open Gate," depicting the story of the girls' 4-H organization since the early days of club work.

Hancock County's participant in the County Girls Creed Contest was Marie McMahon of Corwith.

Voting delegate for the County was Doreen Lackore of Garner. Participating in the 4-H chorus were Virginia Green, Janice Thompson, Glenys Kluver, Janice Paulson of Britt; Gracka Gerardi, Klemme; Frances Anderson of Garner. Bernice Smith of Wesley served as an usher for some of the general sessions.

Named as a member of the red ribbon group in the Better Grooming Contest was Evelyn Formanek, Hayfield. County president, Doreen Lackore, led one of the discussion groups in which convention delegates talked over such topics as "What Can Our Contributions be in Our Homes and Communiites".

Accompanying the delegation to the campus was Ellen Aldrich, Home Economist in Training.

Welcoming address to the Convention was given by Dr. James H. Hilton, president of Iowa State College. Key speakers, Martha Biehle, dean of women of Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., and Mrs Louise Leonard Wright, Midwest Director of the Institute of International Relations, spoke to the entire delegation at general sessions and set the stage for the girls to hold their own informal discussions. Dean Biehle spoke on "Girls in a Modern World" and "Girls in Their Homes and Communities", and Mrs. Wright spoke on "Our Challenge in Our Country and Our World."

On Thursday afternoon, special subject matter sessions gave 4-H delegates opportunity to hear about new developments in food and nutrition, textiles and clothing and home furnishings. Hancock County girls attended the clothing sessions and heard talks on "Your Posture Is You" and "You Cause Your Posture."

Last year was the fourth consecutive year of increase in the traffic death toll.

More than 15,800 persons were killed in week end traffic accidents last year.

"Arthur Wellemeyer Appreciation Day" Saturday, July 10

June One of Wettest Months on Record Here

June 1954 went into the records as one of the wettest months on record with a total of 14.76 inches of precipitation as compared with 5.26 for the same month in 1953. In June 1951 a total of 10.41 inches was recorded for the second wettest June in many years. The total precipitation recorded thus far in 1954 is 25.62 inches as compared with 16.45 for the first six months of 1953. The average annual precipitation for this vicinity is approximately thirty inches.

The heaviest amount recorded in a 24 hour period fell in the twenty four hours ending at 7 A. M. on June 18, when 6.56 inches was recorded followed three days later with 3.86 inches recorded during the twenty four hour period ending at 7 A. M. on June 21. These two excessive rainfalls combined to produce one of Hancock County's most devastating floods in recent years, with considerable damage to crops, highways, bridges and especially by erosion.

The temperature for the month was about normal but slightly lower than for the same month last year. The average was 70.-87 as compared with 71.03 for the same month in 1953. The average maximum for the month was 80.53 and the average minimum was 61.20. The high mark was recorded on Friday, June 25, when the mercury soared to 94 degrees. The cool mark of the month was 44 on the morning of June 4. The temperature reached 90 degrees or better on five of the thirty days. The prevailing winds were southerly and ten days were listed as cloudy, four partly cloudy and sixteen as fair.

The warm temperatures during the latter days of the month were ideal for the development of all crops where the soil was dry enough and corn easily reached the knee high stage by the end of the month. Small grain looks good and is above average for recent years. Some soybean and corn fields are rather weedy because soil was too wet to cultivate. Corn borer damage looms up as a greater threat than for several years.

The Linotype machine was invented by Ottmar Mergenthaler. It was first used in 1886 by the New York Tribune.

ARTHUR WELLEMEYER

Merchants Express Thanks for 47 Years Spent in Serving Klemme Community

Gifts and Entertainment Featured for Big Day

It was 47 years ago last March that Arthur Wellemeyer came to Klemme and started what is today one of the town's most thriving business places. Since that time many changes have taken place both in the business and in the town. New buildings have gone up along the main street and new faces have taken the place of those who were here when Mr Wellemeyer opened his store in 1907.

The only men remaining, who were in business here at the time the Wellemeyer Store opened its doors are W F Pavey and A G Koerner . . . and of course, Arthur Wellemeyer. Mr Koerner and Mr Wellemeyer are now both on the semi-retired list, but Mr Pavey still operates the blacksmith shop that he ran 47 years ago.

When Mr Wellemeyer began in business here, he operated in a frame store building that stood on the lots just east of the present building. After 12 years in the old building he built the present brick building. As the years have progressed, he has progressed with them; constantly making changes and remodeling to keep the building up to date.

In 1950 Mr Wellemeyer sold his furniture business to Howard DeMotts and Don Bacon. This partnership lasted for nearly two years and then Mr Bacon, Art's son-in-law, purchased the furniture department from DeMotts. Henry Wessels became proprietor of the floor covering department, and the funeral service was sold to Glen Osman. These three men now operate the business and Mr Wellemeyer is no longer actively consected with the concers. However, he is available for advice to the three men . . . advice that comes from the lessons learned in 47 years in business in the same place.

Mr Wellemeyer has always been active in civic affairs in the town. He has served on the Town Council and the school and whenever there was any project that he felt was for the good of Klemme, he went all out to help promote it. He is to be congratulated for having taken this interest in the affairs of the community, and local merchants feel that he has a vote of thanks coming for the many good things he has worked for and helped to obtain.. That is why Saturday, July 10, is "Arthur Wellemeyer Appreciation Day".

Klemme businessmen in showing their appreciation to Mr Wellemeyer, have taken considerable space in this week's issue of The Times to run congratulatory messages, and to feature "Apprecation Day" specials. Several of them are offering prizes in honor of Mr Wellemeyer. Those who visit Klemme on "Arthur Wellemeyer Appreciation Day" will not only enjoy helping to honor Art, but will have an opportunity to get in on some real bargains, as well as a chance at some nice prizes.

In addition, the Wellemeyer Store has arranged to have a pony ride available for the kiddies between the hours of 7:00 p m and 10:00 p m, with tickets available at no cost at the store. Main street will be roped off Saturday evening, the band will play, and there will be drawings for the many prizes being offered.

Read the ads, see who is offering what, and then be sure and be on hand to help honor Mr Wellemeyer on his special day.

Daisy Schaefer Bride of Edward Barz

Will Farm Just East of Klemme

Lighted candlebra, vases of red roses and white peonies and the altar decorated with green fern, white peonies and lighted candles formed the setting for the marriage of Miss Daisy Schaefer, daughter of Mr and Mrs Roy I Schafer, and Edward O Barz, son of Mrs Esther Barz. The ceremony took place on Thursday evening at 7:00 p m in the Methodist Church.

The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev Egeland with the Rev Jaberg assisting, in the presence of relatives and friends.

Allen Barz, cousin of the bridegroom, sang "God Gave Me You" and Our Wedding Prayer."

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, while JoAnn Bacon, organist, played the wedding march. They were met at the altar railing by the bridegroom.

The bride was attired in a white slipper satin gown with a lace insert at the neck trimmed with pearl sequins and seed pearls. It had long sleeves tapering to a point over her wrist and the skirt extended into a long train in the back. Her illusion veil, trimmed with chantilly lace was held in place with a tiara of seed pearls.

The bride carried a heart-shaped lacelane ribbon bouquet edged with baby garnet roses with streamers of white satin ribbon and tiny rose buds.

Mrs Emory Weaver, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Lois Helps and Janice Swanson, friends of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore similiar strapless gowns of white lace and net. Mrs Weaver wore a jacket of lace and the bridesmaids wore halter stoles of net. They also carried heart-shaped white lacelane ribbon bouquets with a cluster of baby garnet red roses. Their head bands were of

The "Arthur Wellemeyer Appreciation Day" which is on the calendar fof this Saturday, July 10th, is a very nice gesture on the part of Klemme merchants. Mr. Wellemeyer has always had the best interests of this community at heart; with the idea in mind, we think, that what was good for Klemme was also good for Wellemeyer. By the same token, it was also good for the rest of the merchants in town, and this "Appreciation Day" is their way of saying thanks for all the things that Art has worked for to help better the lot of everyone in the community.

We know that the many friends Mr. Wellemeyer has made during the 47 years that he has been active in business in Klemme will help make the day a memorable one for him.

President Eisenhower is making more and more noises that would seem to indicate that he doesn't wish to be a candidate for the presidency in 1956. Much as we would like to see him back in that office for another term, still we can't say that we blame him for wanting out. He has given a lot of years to the service of his country, and although financially he has fared rather well as a result of this service, there are probably other things that he would much prefer to the bickering and politics in which he has to be involved in his present position. His Gettysburg farm, a likely trout stream, a round of golf, and more time for his family would probably be more to his liking. The decision is his to make and as far as we are concerned, if he wants to relax a little for the rest of his alotted days, more power to him.

333! If you took that number of people out of Klemme the population of our town would be cut by more than one-half . . . and yet that is the number of people who were killed on the nation's highways over the long 4th of July weekend . . . and we haven't talked to anyone who was very excited about it. In fact the president of the National Safety Council came out Tuesday with a big verbal pat on the back for the nation's drivers because they only managed to kill 333 of one another instead of the 430 that his organization had predicted. We woudn't be to sure that the prediction wasn't a little to high to begin with, and we imagine that in the homes of those 333 who were killed, the nation's holiday death toll was just about as high as it could get.

The thermometer stood at 94 degrees in the shade on the north side of our house Tuesday afternoon. That may not be hot as heat is reckoned in some localities but with the high humidity that went with it, it seemed almost akin to imagine the inside of a pressure cooker would be like under a full head of steam. We haven't heard of anyone blowing their top because of the heat, though.

Farmers have been cultivating corn as fast as they can the past few days, trying to get it laid by before it gets too big. The old "knee high by the 4th" gauge seems to be out of date. We can't remember anytime in recent years when the corn wasn't way over knee high at the traditional measuring time . . . and this year it's way up there. The hot, muggy weather we have been having is just what the doctor ordered to make corn stretch up over night. Must be anyway waist high.

Did you notice the difference in the traffic over the week end? From Friday through Saturday, there were lots of cars taking advantage of every break in order to make time. By Monday afternoon when they were on their way back home, it seemed that they had slowed down and were maintaining a more orderly line of traffic. Seemed that in Friday they were all in a hurry to get out and have some fun, but come Monday, they weren't in nearly so much of a hurry to get home and go back to work.

"It's an ill wind that blows no good." Although the storm that came up Tuesday evening made a mess of trees in nearby towns and tore up docks and smashed boats at Clear Lake, still it did some good. The temperature stood at 94 degrees just before the storm hit and within an hour it had dropped 20 degrees. There was no damage at all here in Klemme and the cooler thermometer reading was more than welcome.

We are in receipt of a check for a subscription renewal from Mrs James Matherson of McAllen, Texas. Along with the check we received a nice note from Mrs Matherson (formerly Maxine Bachman), and we would like to quote part of it.

"Can see by the paper you've had plenty of rain I can't ever remember seeing anyone go down Main Street in a row boat. We had a "baby" hurricane here on Friday. Took our large tree out by the roots and blew constantly for five hours and rained too. In one block, out of twenty TV antennas, seventeen blew down. Reminded me of Iowa storms but it sure lasted longer than any I've seen We enjoy the paper and hello to all of you".

Did you hear about the progressively more intoxicated drunk who kept calling the off-duty bartender to see what time the bar opened the next day? Each time he called he was told that the bar would open at 12 o'clock noon . . . finally the bartender got a little perturbed and told him to stop calling because he couldn't get in until noon regardless. Came the outraged answer, "Who wantsh in? I want out of thish joint."

90 YEARS

Near Menlo, Jim Coleman was born on a farm on Beaver Creek in 1864. Now almost 90 years of age, he lived his entire life on the same farm.

The first transcontinental airmail route between New York City and San Francisco was started in 1920.

Nearly 800,000 persons were injured in week end traffic accidents last year.

Welcome to Our

Arthur Wellemeyer Appreciation Day

Saturday, July 10

47 Years

. . . that is a long time for a man to stay in business in one place. Any man that stays in business in one place that long has done a lot of good for his town and the people who call the town their own, or he wouldn't have stayed that long. That is why the merchants of Klemme are going all out to show their appreciation for Arthur Wellemeyer by putting on this

Appreciation Day

They are inviting all of the people of Klemme and surrounding territory to come in and help them honor Mr. Wellemeyer. They will be featuring all sorts of specials that day, and many of the merchants will be giving away valuable prizes.

Valuable Prizes

We here in the Wellemeyer Store are giving away over $200.00 worth of merchandise absolutely free. All you need to do is register sometime during the day, and be on hand in front of the store at 9:00 P. M. when the drawing is made. No purchases are necessary.

Arthur Likes Kids

. . . and knowing that he enjoys seeing kids have a good time, we here in the store have gotten in touch with Verner Stromer and have arranged to have a pony ride in operation from 7:00 P. M. until 10:00 P. M. The rides will be absolutely free, the only requirement being that each child have a ticket which he can get here at the store.

Band Concert

Arthur was one of the original pluggers for our Saturday night band concerts, and the band, too, will be in on the celebration. They will be on hand Saturday night and will present an hour-long concert on the main street.

Guest Book

We are certain that Arthur would like to know who the people are who come to help honor him on this Arthur Wellemeyer Appreciation Day, so we will have a guest book in the store. We cordially invite everyone to sign the book. We know that Arthur will enjoy looking over the names . . . and no doubt he will see some names of old friends that will bring back some pleasant memories.

Don Thiemann Pitches Well for Garner Team

Don Thiemann won his second game in as many starts for the Garner Green Hornets on a 4-hitter against Woden, Monday afternoon The final score being 4 - 3.

Don struck out 10 and walked 6. Those getting hits for Garner were Thiemann with a double and Blank, Pringle, and Graydon Barz each had singles.

Last week Thiemann pitched a 1 hitter against Clear Lake winning 5 - 1 .

The Garner Green Hornets Jr. Legion team is made up of boys from Klemme, Hayfeild and Garner and is sponsored by the Legion Post of Garner. Their next game is Sunday at Woden.

white nylon ribbon and baby roses matching their bouquets. Their only jewelry was white chokers, gifts of the bride.

Candice Sue Weaver and Monica Schaefer, nieces of the bride, were flower girls. They wore floor length dresses of white lace and net. Candice's was identical to that of the matron of honor. They carried white lace baskets from which they dropped flower petals on the way to the alter. They also wore head bands of nylon ribbon and red roses.

David Barz, nephew of the bridgroom acted as ring bearer. He wore a black coat with tails, white trousers and carried the rings on a white satin heart-shaped pillow. He also wore a white carnation boutonniere.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Milvern Barz, his cousin, Graydon Barz, and Don Schaefer, brother of the bride

The bridegroom and his attendants wore grey suits, white carnation boutonnieres, ties and cuff links, which were gifts of the bridegroom.

Mrs Schaefer, mother of the bride, wore a pink nylon dress with pink and white accessories and a red and white corsage.

Mrs Barz, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue and white flowered dress with blue accessories and a red and white corsage.

Donna Josten, niece of the groom and Troy Weaver, nephew of the bride, lighted the candles before the ceremony. Donna wore a white floor length dress and a wrist corsage. Troy wore a teal green suit with a white boutonniere.

Gene Schaefer and Tom Waddingham were ushers .

A reception was held in the church basement immediately following the ceremony with 165 guests attending. Mrs Frank D Rayhons and Mrs Dennis Trca, sisters of the bride poured. The basement was decorated with red and white streamers and wedding bells. The bride's table was decorated with red roses, candles and rose nut cups. A four tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom was cut and served by Mrs Milvern Barz and Mrs Edmund Josten. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs Dale Linahon.

Mrs Gene Schaefer had charge of the guest book and Mrs Don Schaefer and Mrs Calvin Schaefer had charge of opening and arranging the gifts.

For going away the bride chose a white taffeta dress with white accessories and the corsage of red roses of her wedding bouquet. After their honeymoon, the couple will be at home on the farm.

The bride graduated from Klemme high school this year and was employed at Josten's Hardware in Klemme. The groom is also a graduate of Klemme high school and is engaged in farming east of Klemme.

Ell Tip Toppers Met

The Ell Tip Toppers 4-H Club met June 30 at the home of Rosalie Rosendahl. We answered roll call by telling "A book that I've read recently".

Doreen Lackore and Carol Humphrey are going to plan our recreation at camp. It was voted to buy hamburger and buns for eats while at camp. The girls all found a way of transportation to camp, and found out what they were to take to camp.

Local Achievement is to be Aug. 2, the first Monday in the month. Gracka Gerardi and Margaret Haefner are going to ask permission from the school board to use the high school building for our achievement show.

Our next meeting will be July 15 at the home of LaVohn Josten.

Before and after the meeting we layed patterns on our material and cut them out with the help of the leaders.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess and co hosstes.

THE PEOPLE OF KLEMME
IN EXTENDING OUR
Congratulations
TO
Arthur Wellemeyer

The fact that Mr Wellemeyer has been in business in Klemme for the past 47 years is in itself worthy of honor. Add to that the fact that he has done his utmost to better the town and it is entirely fitting that he should be honored by "Arthur Wellemeyer Appreciation Day", on Saturday, July 10.

APPRECIATION
(Another fable not by Aesop.)

Over forty years ago a man started in business. He labored mightily and collected a talent and some shekels. Then came a starving time and he labored mightier than ever to save some of what he had. He made it, and a little more too. Even so, he has always been an outstanding man in his community, full of ideas for its betterment (you don't have to agree with all of them), and always willing to give his time to any endeavor he considers worth while. Good old men are scarce. Give them their due while they are still here.

MORAL: Flowers at a funeral are not as important as a kindness to the living.

Esther Circle Met

The Esther Circle held its regular meeting on June 29 in the church parlors. Mrs Mervin Groesbeck had the lesson. Mrs Roy Arnold was in charge of a short business meeting after which an election of officers was held. The following officers were elected:

Mrs Robert Johnson, chairman; Mrs Robert Schulz, co-chairman; Mrs Melvin Schlei, secretary-treasurer; Mrs Asa Arnold, student work; Miss Marie Blank, sick and cards; Mrs Roy Arnold, membership; and Mrs Mervin Groesbeck, nominating committee.

The date of the meetings for the coming year was set for the third Tuesday of each month in the church parlors.

Mrs Roy Arnold and Mrs Robert Johnson served lunch at the close of the meeting.

Rosalyn Pearson was flower girl. Lawrence Mills and Jerry Doran of Minneapolis were the groom's attendants. Jerome Anderson and Donald Kramer were ushers.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She was gowned in white chantilly lace over satin. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a rolled band and seeded pearls. She carried red roses on a white prayer book. Her only jewelry was a gold locket, a gift of the groom.

The bride's attendants wore identical gowns of aqua and carried yellow daisies and white carnations. The bride's mother wore a pink dress with navy blue accessories. The groom's mother wore a navy blue dress with white accessories. Both had corsages of carnations.

Mrs Viola Johnson was organist and Betty Henderson and Barbara Marign sang.

A reception was held at the Blue Bell Tea Room for 125 guests. The cake was cut and served by Mrs B. E. Gruis. Mrs Willard Olson and Mrs Howard Lindstrom poured.

Immediately after the reception, the couple left for a two-week trip to Colorado. For going away the bride wore a light blue linen suit with white accessories.

They will live in Minneapolis. The bride was a graduate of Klemme High School and attended business college in Minneapolis. She is employed by Pure Oil Company. The bridegroom attended school in Pine City, Minn., and is employed as assistant produce manager at Stillman Grocery Store.

On motion by Supervisor Barber and second by Supervisor Bird, in the matter of the informal hearing on the petition of Robert J Martin for repairs on D.D No. 107 held at 9 30 a.m between the Board of Supervisors, Engineer Wm. Henschen and interested landowners, C. E. Breen of Ames, Iowa and Robert J Martin of Britt, Iowa, it was agreed that C. E. Breen receive $500.00 damages for land taken and for fence removal and replacement and Floyd Clark is to remove and replace his portion of the east fence in exchange for an 18" culvert and flood gate through the west bank of D. D. No. 107; fence work to be at no cost to the district.

It was further agreed to accept bids for said repair work at some later date. No public letting being necessary under the provisions of Sec. 455.135 Code of Iowa 1950.

This being the 14th day of June, 1954, a date heretofore fixed for a hearing on the establishment of a sub-district of D. D. No. 108, petioned for by Mrs Emily Wylie Keenan, the hour for said hearing having arrived, the report of the Engineer, the proof of publication being on file and the Board being fully advised, said hearing was held as scheduled. The petition, Engineer's report, objections and claims for damages were read by the County Auditor and objectors and proponents were given the opportunity to discuss the necessity and feasibility of said establishment as petitioned for and as recommended by the Engineer and objections thereto. After thorough discussion by all interested parties, it was deemed advisable by this Board to establish said subdistrict to be known as Lateral No. 1 of D. D. No. 108, as petitioned for and as recommended by the Engineer.

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors that said establishment of D. D. No. 108, Lateral No. 1 is hereby approved and established, as petitioned for and as recommended by the Engineer with written agreement of waiver of damages by Herman and Ada Mae Sweers in consideration of actual cost of repairing any fences damaged and payments of $75.00 per acre for all corn destroyed; actual cost of hay and pasture loss and $10.00 for seedling destroyed in the oats and the hour of 1:30 P.M. on the 2nd day of July 1954 at the Courthouse in Garner, Iowa, is hereby fixed as a time and place for letting on the construction thereof.

The County Auditor be and he is hereby directed to cause notice of such letting to be published in the Britt News-Tribune, a newspaper of general circulation published in Britt, Iowa, which said notice shall request bids, for labor and material for said construction, time of commencement and completion, approximate kind and amount of work to be done and that the Board reserves the right to waive technicalities and to reject any or all bids, all in accordance with Chapter 455, Code of Iowa 1950.

The foregoing resoultion was offered and read by Supervisor Bird who moved its adoption, was seconded by Supervisor Barber, whereupon the Chairman, Clarence A. Bird, placed the motion of its adoption and upon roll call the vote thereon was Clarence Bird and S. A. Barber, ayes. Nays, none. Whereupon the Chairman declared the resolution duly adopted.

This being the 14th day of June, a date heretofore fixed for hearing on the establishment of sub-districts of D. D. No. 138 and of D. D. No. 1 & 2, Lat. No. 13-A, petitioned for by Harry Horecka, the hours for said hearing having arrived, the proof of publication being on file and the Board being fully advised, said hearings were held as scheduled. The petitions, reports of the Engineer and objections were read by the County Auditor and objectors and proponents were given the opportunity to discuss the necessity and feasibility of said establishments and objections thereto.

After thorough discussion it was deemed advisable to adjourn said hearings to June 21, 1954 at 2:00 P.M. for D. D. No. 138 and at 2:30 p.m. for D. D. No. 1 & 2, Lat. No. 13-A, since objectors were present at both hearings and in order that the Board and Engineer may further investigate both proposals. One objector in person being George Malek who objected on the grounds said proposal of D. D. No. 1 & 2, Lat. No. 13-A was excessive in cost and lack of benefits to be derived and that he has adequate drainage at present.

On motion and second the Board adjourned to June 15, 1954 at 9 o'clock A.M.

Gene Autry Signs To Appear at Fair

Gene Autry, sun-tanned and smiling, signed his name here Tuesday afternoon to contracts calling for him to appear in person as star of the rodeo that will be one of the headline features at this year's Centennial Iowa State Fair.

Autry flew in from his famed Melody Ranch in California and set down his own plane at the Des Moines airport. He was greeted by fair officials and newspapermen who escorted him to a Des Moines hotel, with Autry waving genially to kids and grown-ups en route.

Autry, his horse "Champion" and the Cass County Boys, vocal and instrumental artists who have appeared frequently with the cowboy star of motion pictures, radio, and television, will headline the rodeo at the State Fair on the afternoons of September 3, 4, 5 and 6. More than 200 head of wild range horses from the Cremer ranch in Big Timber, Montana, and Brahma bulls from Texas will be shipped to the fair for the western contests.

Prizes in the 4 day rodeo competition total $8,000, plus entry fees, and will be spread over five main events: bareback riding, saddle bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, and bull riding.

Teach Your Children—

Homemaking Can Be Fun

Even washing dishes can be fun for the youngsters if you help them find the easiest and most enjoyable way to go about this necessary task.

Children shouldn't stop learning in summer just because they don't go to school every day. In fact, summer is the best time to teach them some things, according to Mary Pickett, of the household equipment staff at Iowa State College.

Because the youngsters are around home all day you'll be able to spend more time with them and help them learn the many aspects of homemaking. Mrs Pickett says there's hardly anything you do that you can't teach a child if you put it on his level.

But more important than teaching skills is helping him develop the right attitude toward everyday tasks around the home.

As long as certain tasks—such as bed making and dishwashing—have to be done each day, you should try to make them interesting and enjoyable. Go through your daily tasks with pleasure and you'll impart the same feeling to the youngsters. They'll enjoy learning and want to help more.

Summer Living—Simple Living

Summertime living should be simple living, Mrs Pickett believes. Do necessary tasks the simplest way—you'll find it's the most enjoyable way.

She suggests you take time to analyze each job you do. Take dishwashing for example—would it go faster if you stacked the dishes in a different place? Do you scald them with hot water an let them dry in the air? Letting them dry by themselves saves time and energy.

Take each job you do and go through it in this way—step by step. Find out just what you can do to make it more fun. Let the youngsters help in the job analysis. They may surprise you and come up with some bright ideas. They'll be more anxious to try out new methods of doing things if they've had a hand in the planning too.

Learn by Helping

Maybe you've decided this summer would be a good time to teach your daughter to sew. She'll be anxious to learn if you start her out on an easy piece but one that means something to her. If you want her to start on a straight piece, don't give her a dishtowel to hem. Instead have her make a skirt for her dressing table.

If you want to teach her how to cook, here's a suggestion: Set up each day's menu for a week. Then delegate one different food for her to fix for each meal. One meal she might bake biscuits; another let her try her hand at fixing a salad; and so on, until she's worked with all types of foods.

You can teach her how to preserve food this summer too—both canning and freezing. But don't expect her to be skillful or speedy at first. If you have a job that has to be done in a hurry, don't ask her to help unless she's had some experience. It will just discourage her.

If you know you're going to have to do a rush job killing and freezing perhaps a dozen chickens tomorrow, maybe you could kill one today and teach her how to do it. Then tomorrow, she'll be ready to help you with the bigger batch.

Suggests Steps

Mrs Pickett suggests the following steps in teaching a child how to do something around the home:

1. Show him how it is done.
2. Let him do it by himself.
3. Check it over.
4. Show him again if he needs help.

Even after the child has learned to do a thing, he'll enjoy doing it more if you work with him. It'll be a good experience for you both.

Property Improved

The two lots between Fred's Place and the Klemme Co-op. Creamery, which were recently acquired from Dr. D. P. Anderson by the local post of the American Legion, have undergone a "face lifting". Willing hands pitched in Monday and when all the work was completed, the lots had a much neater and cleaner appearance.

Ice Cream Social

For the past several years ,the Klemme Music Mothers have sponsored an ice cream social on the main street of Klemme sometime during the summer

The event has proved very popular and the ladies are making arrangements to have the strees roped off on Saturday evening July 17, so tnat folks can again enjoy an evening of eating good home made ice cream, cake and pie, and visiting with each other without the disturbance of cars on the street.

Town Council Takes Action Against Insects

Will Spray from Air To Check Mosquitoes

As a result of action taken by the town council at a special meeting Tuesday night, Klemme will be sprayed with a light mixture of DDT as a means of controlling the mosquitoes which have been so bad since the flood. The spraying will be done with an airplane by Bill Evans of Garner. The mixture that will be used will be harmless to flowers, goldfish, etc. Neither will it kill flies but it will make it possible to be outside in the evening without being eaten alive by mosquitoes.

The mixture that is used is the recommendation of Iowa State College personnel and according to Evans, gets about a 90% kill. Residents do not need to be afraid of this spray. In talking with Mr. Evans we learned that it will not be necessary to close windows or to be inside at the time the spraying is done. He suggets, though, that you have your car under cover, as the solution will spot. Not a permanent or damaging spot. Just unsightly. If your car does happen to be out when the spray is applied, you can wash the spots off with water.

We aren't in a position at the moment to say just what day the spraying will be done, as the weather conditions have to be just right. There must be little if any wind and it is best if the job is done along toward evening. Mr Evans will notify town officials when he intends to spray so that they can pass the word around and no one will become alarmed at his low-flying plane. He hopes to get the job done this week so that mosquitoes will not be a problem at the ice cream social the music mothers are sponsoring Saturday night.

If the weather stays fairly dry, it is possible that one spraying might be enough for this year, but the councilmen approved the use of $300 from the liquor fund for the purpose, and that amount of money should be enough for two applications if necessary.

(In case any of you are wondering what this liquor fund is and where the money in it comes from, it is Klemme's prorated share of the profits from the state-owned liquor stores ... and this is one time when some of the money spent for liquor is going to be put to good use.—Ed.)

Accident Fatal to Donald Mourlam, 33

Donald D. Mourlam, 33, son-in-law of Mrs Louise Knoke, was killed in a truck-car collision near Kanawha, Tuesday. He was driving east in an empty gravel truck when the rear of the truck was struck by a car driven by Mrs Dorothy May Ables who was traveling south.

Impact of the collision tipped the empty gravel truck and it rolled over on the road. It was thought that Mourlam was thrown from the cab and that the truck rolled over him, making death instantaneous.

Mourlam had lived in Belmond for a number of years, but had moved to a farm home just north of Goodell, early this month. He leaves his wife and two sons, Donnie, 7, and Robert, 2. Another son and daughter died in infancy.

Funeral service will be held Friday at 2:00 p. m. at the Methodist Church in Belmond. Burial will be in the Ell Township Cemetery at Klemme.

Joins Army

Larry Stille, son of Quentin Stille left Monday for Des Moines to join the Army. After eight weeks of basic training at Camp Chaffee, Ark., he will go to the Dial Central Office Maintenance School at Ft. Mammouth, N. J.

A number of Larry's friends held a farewell party for him last Friday evening.

New Night Marshal

At a special meeting of the town council, Tuesday night, Herman Paul was hired as night marshal for Klemme. He will be on duty from 4 o'clock in the afternoon until 3 a. m.

Reason for the hiring of Paul is that Richard Ulrich asked to be delieved of the night marshal's duties. He will continue to wear the badge during the day time along with his duties as custodian.

Marriage Licenses

Hancock County Clerk Doris Young issued marriage licenses the past week to Norman I. Hayworth, 25, Hornick, and Dolores Eileen Schaefer, 19, Kanawha; and to Darrell E. Steven, 22, Algona, and Rita M. Epperson, 18, Des Moines.

Swanson Lost In Clear Lake After Heart Attack

Services Thursday At Methodist Church

Search ended Wednesday morning for Leonard Swanson, 43, who fell from a boat at Clear Lake, Monday afternoon. Cerro Gordo County sheriff's deputies, members of the Clear Lake Fire Department, and volunteers had been dragging the lake almost constantly since the time his empty boat was discovered Monday afternoon near Dodge's Point. His floating body was found this morning (Wednesday) by a Mason City fisherman who notified authorities.

Leonard loved to fish and spent much of his free time on the lake. He had rented a boat from a Bayside livery and just about an hour after the time that he went on the lake, his empty boat was found. A coroner's report stated that an autopsy revealed that Leonard had suffered a heart clot which probably caused death as he fell into the water.

Funeral services will be Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Klemme Methodist Church with Rev. Melvin Miller in charge. Interment will be in the Ell Township Cemetary at Klemme.

Leonard M. Swanson was born at Klemme, Iowa, November 12, 1911, received his education in the Klemme schools, and has lived in this community all his life. He was the manageing partner with his brother, Albert, in Swanson's Hatchery here. He was married in 1936 to Irene May Lemke and the couple had one daughter, Janice Marlene.

His wife and daughter as well as many other relatives survive.

The Times will publish a complete obituary of Mr Swanson next week.

Large Crowd for "Wellemeyer Day"

Arthur Wellemeyer

Arthur Wellemeyer Expresses Appreciation

The merchants on Klemme's main street staged a "surprise party" Saturday night, July 10th honoring Arthur Wellemeyer, who had been a furniture dealer on main street for nearly half a century.

Nothing was said about it until after The Klemme Times appeared July 7th with a full page story of Mr Wellemeyer, who just recently retired from business at age 74.

All of the merchants had advertisements in the local paper, listing various items at special prices for the occasion, some of them giving away door prizes, and all of them saying nice things about Arthur Wellemeyer on this special Appreciation Day for him.

One block of main street was roped off. Here a special platform was erected where the Klemme School Band played their usual Saturday night concert. Several special numbers followed which included an accordion solo by our Gold Medal winner, Marvin Josten. Also an organized vocal number entitled "How do you do Arthur Wellemeyer" by JoAnn Bacon and Arthur Carlson, grandchildren of the honored man.

Wm. Keraus, as master of ceremonies, made a nice talk in regard to the Wellemeyer activities in Klemme, and he should know, having been one of the "store force" for many years.

He introduced Mr Virgil Cook, the Mayor of Klemme, who also remembered various humorous incidents of the past years.

To all of this Mr Wellemeyer responded with words of acknowledgement and many thanks to all.

After this, drawings were made for the free prizes with the following results:

Marcella Nuehring, a mattress; Mrs Henry Greimann, a mattress; Louise Rosendahl, inlaid linoleum; Ole C. Peterson, a chair; Mrs Ivan Langlitz, ladies luggage; Harold Anderson, a hi-chair.

A T. V. chair from the D & H Market went to Mrs Pearl Schwartz.

The two table lamps from Gerardi's went to Lester Neuberger and Mrs Frank Sandrey.

The necklace and earrings from Marie's Beauty Shop went to Mrs Pearl Schwartz.

Mr Verner Stromer brought his herd of Shetland ponies to town, and all the kids enjoyed free rides. The ponies got a real work out.

Klemme is a small town of 600 people, serving a rich farming community.

The farm families in our large rural area are not poor people, neither are they filthy rich. They work hard for their money, and are careful how they spend it.

They do not want "junk". They buy mostly quality merchandise.

In a town the size of Klemme they meet the owner and can discuss their buying problems with him, which at times is an advantage.

The town and country work together to provide a good school system, and to keep up our two beautiful churches.

Several Klemme business establishments are outstanding in the amount of business and service they render to our community.

There is something home-like about a small community like Klemme, where folks are called by their first name.

Thanks Again
Arthur Wellemeyer

Recorder's Report

Hancock County Recorder Edith Sonquist has filed her report for the month of June with the State Conservation Commission. The report lists total fees for licenses for the month in the sum of $673.00. This consists of 308 fishing licenses; 2 hunting licenses; 79 combination licenses, and 7 six-day non-resident fishing licenses.

Caroll Hall, Garner; Leonard G. Hall, Minneapolis, Minn.; Aron L. Nielson, Britt; and Sylvester G. Blank, Hayfield.

Flood Damage Causes Increase in County Budget

Increase of $78,687 in Road Maintenance Fund

Hancock County Supervisors Friday adopted a tentative budget for the various functions of County government for the year 1955, and will hold a hearing on the proposed budget at the courthouse in Garner at 10 o'clock A. M. on July 26th.

The 1955 proposed county budget marks a sharp increase over the previous year due to recent serious flood damage and increased demands on the Soldier's Relief, Poor and County funds. The 1955 proposed budget lists the amount necessary to be raised by an Ad Valorem tax levy in the sum of $626,206 as compared to $460,300 last year, an increase in the sum of $165,906.

The largest single item of increase is an increase of $78,687 in the County Road Maintenance Fund. This is due in large measure to the recent flood damage to bridges and highways and the fact that for a number of years the Maintenance Fund of the county has not carried itself and frequent transfers were made from the Road Construction fund, for maintenance purposes. With increasing demands for a stabilized base road and the depletion of gravel materials, County Highway officials feel that Road Construction funds should be used only for that purpose and are adopting a long range program which will in time reduce present maintenance costs. A levy of $42,091 has been proposed in the Road Construction fund to get the long range improvement program under way next year.

Other increase in 1955 budget askings are an increase of $3,000 in the Soldier's Relief Fund; $10,000 additional in the Poor fund; $16,000 in the Emergency fund; $16,000 in the Public Employees Retirement and Old Age Survivors fund; and $200 additional in the Fairground fund.

A hearing will be held at 11 A. M. on the same day, July 26th on the budget filed by the Hancock County Conference board for the operation of the County Assessor's office. This budget proposes the same expenditures as for the previous year but decreases by $3,600 the sum necessary to be raised by taxation due to an accumulated balance left from the previous year's budget.

Ice Cream Social

The annual ice cream social sponsored by the Music Mothers will be this Saturday evening. Main Street will be roped off as it has in the past and serving will begin at 7:30.

The band will play its usual Saturday night concert and there will also be some special numbers.

The ladies will serve ice cream, pie and cake, and are looking for a good crowd.

Stilbestrol Cuts Feeding Costs

Experimental Results Are Given at 'Hey' Day

Feeding of diethylstilbestrol to fattening cattle—first reported last February by animal husbandry researchers at Iowa State College—took a prominent place in the reports at the thirty-sixth annual Cattle Feeders "Hey Day at Iowa State College July 13.

C. C. Culberson, Wise Burroughs and their livestock nutrition research staff reported that steers fed during the winter on cornstalk silage and finished on ground shelled corn gained faster and at less cost per pound of gain when they received 10 milligrams of diethylstilbestrol daily in a 243-day feeding experiment.

They also reported that stilbestrol feeding saved about 10 percent in feed cost for fattening heifers in an experiment at the Southwestern Iowa Experimental Farm at Shenandoah last winter and spring. Burroughs said two experienced cattlemen observed the heifers every day. They noted no adverse effects in the stilbestrol-fed heifers and concluded that these heifers were normal in every respect.

Five milligrams of diethylstilbestrol, the research staff members reported, in wintering rations for yearling steers saved from 1.5 cents to 3.3 cents per pound of live-weight gain in an experiment at the Western Iowa Experimental Farm at Castana from Dec. 18, 1953, to April 24, 1954.

the Highway Story

IOWA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

One year ago today the state was in the grip of the most terrifying period of concentrated traffic deaths in history.

One year ago people were still talking about what had happened on our highways Sunday, July 12. On that single day, 14 persons died in traffic accidents.

It was—and still is—the all-time record number of traffic deaths in Iowa during a 24-hour period. The grim results of that Sunday's driving became a big news story around the state.

It was the most brutal lesson in safety education the state had ever received. No driver could possibly miss the point.

Yet, on the following Sunday, July 19, 1953, eight more persons died in traffic accidents in the state. A week later, Sunday, July 26, five were killed and, on Wednesday, July 29, eight more died.

There were 35 violent, needless deaths during just four days, during just 96 hours, of that July one year ago. The total for the month was 76 dead, the high month for the year.

Some may look on this review of a year-old death record as a mere curiosity and take comfort in the fact that tragic month is behind us.

But the thinking driver will realize that all of the elements that caused that terrible outburst of death one year ago are with us again this month.

The death record so far this year indicates no improvement in attitude, no lessening of traffic volume, no great desire on the part of individual drivers to improve. The thinking driver is on guard this month.

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

Hot, dry weather is bringing back memories of the 1930 drouth days to ranchers in southeastern Wyoming, northern Colorado, southeastern Colorado and the San Luis Valley. The summer mountain ranges of Colorado also are suffering—but here the trouble stems from lack of snow in the mountains, which means no stock water.

This dry weather is being reflected in the feeder cattle and lamb price outlook, says Francis A. Kutish, Iowa State College farm economist. Early contracts on Idaho lambs for fall delivery were at prices making the cost about 20 cents per pound delivered in Iowa.

But dry weather is raising serious questions in the minds of Colorado lamb feeders whether they will be able to handle these lambs. New crop alfalfa hay is selling for $20 per ton in the windrow, $25 in the stack and $30 in the bale in northern Colorado, reports Kutish.

Feeder Prices

Some observers expect that feeder lamb prices will show a sharp drop if rains are not forthcoming. Demand for breeding ewes in the central plains country of the West is extremely dull, due to the dry weather.

The dry weather also has slowed up contracting of cattle for all delivery, except for the top-quality cattle. Most of the cattle contracted to date have been bought by feeder cattle dealers or California feeders. Early contract prices look high in light of the fat cattle outlook for the coming year, Kutish believes. Feeder cattle prices in the terminal markets weakened in late June.

Hogs

Hog prices soon will be starting their fall drop. Kutish looks for this drop to be sharp and speedy this year. We have 24 percent more December pigs, 17 percent more January and 34 percent more February pigs than last year.

This means very heavy marketings during the summer and early fall months. Hancock County farmers will want to sell their early spring pigs as soon as they reach market weights. Holding pigs beyond the day they are heavy enough for the market this summer will be an expensive proposition, Kutish warns.

Beier-Schlei Reunion Was Sunday at Liberty

The annual Beier-Schlei reunion was held Sunday July 11 at the Liberty Methodist Church.

After the picnic dinner the program was conducted by Emil Beier in the absence of Loren Gast because of illness in the family.

There was group singing followed by several numbers on the marimba by Marcille Josten. There was a short talk given by Rev. Miller. During the business meeting Mrs Edwin Josten was elected chairman, Mrs Emil Beier secretary, and Elmer Beier treasurer. Entertainment committee for next year is Mrs Herold Ridder, Mrs Wilbur Haefner, Miss Lydia Beier and Mr and Mrs Ed Schlei. There were no deaths reported. There were four births: A daughter to Mr and Mrs Ralph Ridder, son to Mr and Mrs Norman Crossley, daughter to Mr and Mrs Eugene Beier, and a daughter to Mr and Mrs Francis Sherwood.

There were four marriages: Beverly Beier to Russell Thorson, Carmen Frentez to Eugene Beier, Gladys Knox to Paul Ridder, and Chester Ward and wife Sonja.

Those present were: Mr and Mrs Edwin Josten and Marcille, Mr and Mrs Russell Thorson, Mr and Mrs Emil Beier, Mr and Mrs Wilbur Haefner and Margaret, Rev. and Mrs Miller and son all of Klemme; Mr and Mrs Elmer Beier and family of Liberty, Mr and Mrs Herold Ridder of Nora Springs, Mrs Ida Ridder and Walter of Leland, Mr and Mrs Ben Ridder, Kathryn and Doran Gast, Mr and Mrs James Ridder all of Garner; Mrs Ruth Kalm, Rickey and Billy of Mason City, Mr and Mrs Ed R. Schlei, Ella Waite, Mr Ed Weisbrod of Fenton, Dr and Mrs E. J. Ridder of Davenport, Mr and Mrs Wm. Kulper, Lydia Beier, Mr and Mrs W. A. Ridder, Mr and Mrs Ralph Ridder, Linda and Judy all of Waterloo.

Contamination of Wells Possible After Floods

Hancock County Public Health Nurse Helen Lemke is calling the attention of Hancock County citizens who may have contaminated wells due to recent floods to a few simple rules released in a recent health bulletin from the Iowa State Department of Health. They are:

a. Pump the well and drain the piping system to remove all dirty water.

b. Disinfect the well with a chlorine compound such as ½ pound of chlorinated lime (not quick lime or hydrated lime) or two cups of Clorox, Hi-lex or similar laundry bleach.

c. Mix the chlorinated lime with two or three gallons of water before pouring into the well, laundry bleach may be poured directly into the well.

d. The chlorine solution should be mixed with the well water by pouring in 10 or 15 gallons of water. Leave chlorine solution in well and piping system for at least 24 hours before pumping it out.

Hancock County citizens who wish their water supply tested to determine whether it is safe may pick up applications for containers at any bank in Hancock County or at the office of the Public Health Nurse at the courthouse in Garner. These applications can then be mailed to the Laboratory at the University of Iowa. A few recent tested samples from Hancock County wells have been reported as unsafe and citizens should use precaution as contaminated water may carry disease producing paratyphoid, dysentery, enteritis, germs which could cause typhoid, and other water borne diseases.

10 YEARS AGO—

Good progress is being made on the house Mr and Mrs Chambers are remodeling. When completed, Mr and Mrs Chambers will have a very attractive home. It is located across the street east of the Swanson Hatchery in the southwest part of town.

The fire department answered a call to the Martin Karsjens home in the north part of town late Sunday afternoon when a bolt of lightning struck and burned out the light meter.

An incomplete check-up Monday indicated that the town of Klemme had gone over the top in the purchase of 5th War Loan Bonds. Klemme's quota was $25,000 and this amount had already been exceeded by several thousand dollars.

On Tuesday evening, some fifty neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mr and Mrs Ernest Helps, to surprise them on their twentieth wedding anniversary. A social evening was enjoyed after which a nice lunch was served by the self-invited guests. Mr and Mrs Helps were presented with a gift of money in remembrance of the occasion.

LIKE the boy in the suit he's outgrown . . . Reddy Kilowatt sometimes requires your help. He needs to be set free from binding, crippling old-fashioned wiring . . . he needs certified adequate wiring to enable electricity to flow freely to serve your needs everywhere in your home!

With certified adequate wiring, your home is fully prepared for modern electrical living. It's equipped to supply full power to all of your electric servants . . . wherever and whenever you need them.

Convenience outlets in kitchen, laundry and dining area have their own separate supply of electricity. Appliances here are not required to share electrical power with lights, radio and other equipment elsewhere in the house. No more "slowing down" of small appliances when several are used at once. And that's economy . . . for you pay for electricity according to the time you use it and "slowed down" appliances must work overtime. The fact that there are plenty of circuits giving full power to all your appliances at all times will, of course, save you money.

THE A-B-C's of ADEQUATE WIRING

A — An Adequate Electric Service Entrance . . . having enough wires of the right size to bring in as much electricity as your home may need. Your home will not be limited in its ability to accommodate your electrical needs.

B — Enough Circuits . . . having enough circuits to carry electricity at full power from the service entrance to all electrical equipment, lights and appliances — assuring maximum efficiency and economy to all use of electricity.

C — Enough Convenience Outlets, Permanent Lights and Switches . . . at proper places . . . to add beauty to your home indoors and out, prevent accidents, reduce eyestrain, make for a more flexible and convenient use of all electrical equipment.

ASC Notices Should Be Answered Promptly

Farmers having 1953 corn under loans and purchase agreements and 1952 corn under reseal loans can greatly assist their county ASC office by promptly replying to notices being mailed to them this week regarding their intentions, according to Alfred V. Josten, office manager of the Hancock County ASC Office.

Because of serious shortage of storage space throughout the state, the ASC should be advised by farmers at the earliest possible time as to what they intend to do with the corn they have under loan or purchase agreement, the official said. With this information at hand, the county ASC office can make necessary plans for meeting the situation, he explained, and can render better service to all.

To help solve the storage problem, farmers of Hancock County are being asked to reseal at least 810,000 bushels of price supported corn and thereby agree to keep the grain another year. To encourage resealing, the government is offering a storage payment of 15 cents a bushel for price supported corn kept by producers a full additional year or a prorated payment if the grain is redeemed prior to July 31, 1955. The corn need not be delivered to the government to qualify for the storage payment.

Farmers who have 1952 corn under reseal may extend the resealing for another year and qualify for the storage payment. The storage payment due them for keeping the 1952 corn the first extra year will be paid to them when they extend there resealing agreement for an additional year or until July 31, 1955. Those who do not extend the present resealing agreement on 1952 corn will receive the storage payment due them for the past year when they make settlement on the 1952 corn.

Holders of purchase agreements on 1953 corn may change their agreements into loans and become eligible to earn the storage payment.

Board Approves Report Of County Officials

Hancock County supervisors Friday approved the quarterly reports of the County Clerk, Doris Young; County Auditor, Maynard Schoneman; and County Recorder, Edith Sonquist. The reports covered the second quarter of 1954 ending on June 30th.

Total fees for the quarter in the clerk's office were $1,333.55, and listed fines collected in the sum of $400 and probate fees in the sum of $612.30. County Recorder Edith Sonquist listed fees totaling $1,347.10. The major item of receipts was $628.30 for releases filed during the quarter. County Auditor Maynard Schoneman listed total fees in the sum of $563.50 for the quarter.

Flood Damaged Roads, Bridges Being Repaired

Hancock County Engineer Charles F. Paulson Friday released as a tentative figure the sum of $266,700.00 as the damage suffered by Hancock county to its roads and bridges in the recent floods that visited the county. Seventeen bridges including several large ones were either seriously damaged or completely destroyed.

Hancock County maintenance and bridge crews are repairing the damage as rapidly as possible and approaches and washouts are being repaired rapidly. Hancock County road officials appreciate the wonderful cooperation that has been extended by citizens in the emergency.

County Engineer Paulson is making a detailed summary of damage to be submitted to Federal authorities to determine what reimbursement if any the county may receive from Federal sources to assist with repair of the damage. Hancock County was recently declared one of the counties to be included in the disaster area.

Emergency Polio Drive To Make Up Deficit

An emergency drive by the March of Dimes in Hancock County has been set for August 13 to 31, according to county chairman Joe Osman, to tie in with a national drive for more funds to fight polio.

Osman said the Hancock County chapter owes the national polio foundation over $2,000 and other units in the nation are in similar financial situation. In addition, 1954 will be one of the biggest years in fighting polio through widespread use of vaccines and stepped up research. He urged all volunteer workers in the county to consider the seriousness of the situation and get behind it with their efforts.

Americans contributed $55,000,000 to the March of Dimes last January in the regular drive—more than any other year—yet $20,000,000 more is needed in the nation to meet current needs the national foundation director Basil O'Conner pointed out.

Mr O'Conner explained that $26,500,000 was needed for the vaccine and GG programs alone, plus $29,000,000 for patient aid if 1954 polio incidence is comparable to 1953, when almost 36,000 cases were reported. There are signs, however, that 1954 may be an even heavier incidence year. The number of new cases reported by the U. S. Public Health Service during the first 23 weeks of this year is the largest reported for any similar period in recorded history, he said. In addition, there are 67,000 holdover cases from previous years, who still require help from the National Foundation and its Chapters.

"When they realize that more money is seeded to insure completion of the vaccine evaluation, provision of gamma globulin, medical care and research and for the care and rehabilitation of thousands of current and future polio patients, they will want to add their little bit more," he said. "We must not fail to meet any of these obligations. If every man, woman and child in the United States gives a little more in August, our promises to patients and the public can be kept.

"I invite all Americans to look at the problem from the point of view of one of the 2,000 patients who fight for breath each day and night in iron lungs or chest respirators. Right in your own community, among your own neighbors, there may be such a case. For them the promise of a polio vaccine is too late. They and thousands of others who are seriously disabled, depend upon their fellow Americans' generosity even while rapid progress is being made toward final polio prevention."

DOUBLE DUTY Cattle-Household Fly Spray may be used for several purposes, although it was developed for use in killing insects in the stable and the home, and temporarily repelling these insects from Dairy cows while grazing.

It contains a high percentage of killing and repellent ingredients and has an odor which is pleasant for both stable and home use. It will not discolor hair nor blister the animal's hide, nor taint milk.

When used in the home according to directions it will not stain floors or furniture.

To get the best results it is important that a good sprayer be used . . . one that is clean and PRODUCES A FINE MIST.

Clipping Will Control Pasture Weeds

Two mowings a year will keep your pasture fairly clean and free of weeds, says Paul Henderson, County Extension Director.

But timing is important. The first clipping may be made up until the first week in July. This will catch the early weeds.

A follow-up clipping in late July is designed for late summer and early fall weeds.

Sprays are the most effective weapon against pasture weeds, says Henderson as they actually kill the weeds. However, they have one major fault—they also kill the legumes in the pasture mixtures.

If you have a good stand of legumes in your pastures, you'll have to rely on your mower as the key defense against weeds.

According to Henderson, any weed control measure does the work of an aspirin. It gives temporary relief, but it does not stop the problem from occurring again.

A heavy growth of weeds indicates failure in some important phase of pasture management. Overgrazing may have weakened the pasture grasses and legumes, thus inviting an invasion by weeds. Or there may be a lack of fertilizer or lime.

It adds up to this: If you have a good stand of grasses and legumes, weeds won't be a problem.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE HANCOCK COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

3RD ADJOURNED JUNE MEETING

Garner, Iowa
July 2, 1954

The Hancock County, Iowa, Board of Supervisors met in session on above captioned date pursuant to adjournment with S. A. Barber, Clint Daniels and Clarence Bird present.

A. R. ARNOLD, Clerk

REGULAR MEETING OF THE TOWN COUNCIL OF THE TOWN OF KLEMME, IOWA

June 14, 1954

Meeting called to order by Mayor Cook, with Pavey, Lemke, Schulz and Buseman, members of the Council, present.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Robert Andreae, as representative of the Klemme Lion's Club, presented a request to the Council for authority and permission to construct a concrete platform for playground purposes in the Town Park, such platform to be constructed by and through efforts of the Lion's Club.

It was moved by Pavey, and seconded by Lemke, that permission to construct a cement platform in the Town Park as requested by the Lion's Club be granted. Motion carried.

Moved by Lemke, second by Buseman, that the cost of water main pipe for a projected extension in Barz' Addition be paid out of Town Funds, provided that residents and owners of real estate in Barz' Addition pay for, or construct the ditch and closing thereof for the placement of such water main pipe. Motion carried.

There was read to the Council a petition filed with the Clerk by F. H. Guth wherein said F. H. Guth makes request of the Council to use lawful means available to them to have adjoining property owners construct sidewalks to form a continuation of a walk presently constructed on property owned by F. H. Guth.

It was moved by Lemke, second by Buseman, that Attorney G. W. Templeton be consulted regarding authority vested in the Council by law and ordinances to direct property owners to construct sidewalks where deemed necessary by the Council.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS: Emma Patet, a widow, of Hancock County, State of Iowa, and Milo Patet and Agnes Patet, husband and wife, of State of California have deeded to the Town of Klemme, Iowa for street or alley purposes the following described property, to-wit: The West Sixteen (W 16) Feet of Tract Twenty-five (25) of Auditor's subdivision in Klemme's First Addition to Klemme, Iowa.

and

WHEREAS, said parties have delivered a deed for said premises to the Town of Klemme, Iowa, and

WHEREAS, before said property can be deemed a public street, or alley, it is necessary that such deed and dedication be accepted and confirmed by resolution;

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED That the deed and dedication made by Emma Patet, a widow and Milo Patet and Agnes Patet, husband and wife, and delivered to the Town of Klemme, Iowa, wherein the real estate above described is conveyed to said town for street, or alley purposes to be and the same is accepted and confirmed and dedicated to the public for use as a street, or alley as provided by law.

The above Resolution was offered by Councilman Frank Schulz who moved its adoption and seconded by Councilman W. F. Pavey. The Mayor put the question to vote and upon roll call the vote was as flolows:

Ayes: W. F. Pavey, Byrnes Lemke, Frank Schulz and Henry Buseman.

Nays: None.

The Mayor thereupon declared the motion carried and the Resolution duly adopted.

Applications for Cigarette Permits for the period beginning July 1, 1954 have been filed with the Clerk by Wallace Eichorn, Fred Aegerter and Howard Trevett and same presented to the Council, it was moved by Buseman, second by Schulz, that Retail Cigarette Permits be issued to said applicants and the Clerk be directed to issue same.

Motion carried.

Upon motion by Lemke, second by Pavey, the following bills were allowed:

Gibbs-Cook Tractor & Equipment Co. Maintainer repair	$ 24.82
Edwin Medaus, Labor on Storm Sewer	3.00
Richard Ulrich, Re-imbursement for telephone calls	1.12
Richard Ulrich, Re-imbursement for gas & oil used in lawn mower	1.60

Franklin Kluckhohn. Postmaster, stamps	1.00
David Schwichtenberg, 7 loads gravel for streets	35.84
Central Iowa Telephone Co., Telephone Toll charges	.29

At this time there were opened and considered bids for sale of four tires to the Town of Klemme for use on the Fire Truck.

It was moved by W. F. Pavey that, since it appeared that the bid for sale of four truck tires for Fire Truck use made by Don Schaefer was the lowest and best of all bids submitted, the bid submitted by Don Schaefer be accepted by the Council. Second to the motion was made by Lemke. Upon this motion all voted ayes.

Meeting adjourned.

V. A. COOK, Mayor

A. R. ARNOLD, Clerk

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE TOWN COUNCIL OF THE TOWN OF KLEMME, IOWA

June 30, 1954

Meeting called to order by Mayor Cook with Buseman, Lemke, Schaefer, Pavey and Schulz, members of the Council, present.

Moved by Lemke, second by Schaefer, that an application for Retail Cigarette Permit presented by Ernest A. Gerardi be approved and the Clerk be directed to issue such permit to the applicant. Motion carried.

Moved by Pavey, second by Buseman, that an application for a Class B Beer License presented by Ernest A. Gerardi be approved and the Clerk be directed to issue such license. Motion carried.

Moved by Buseman, second by Lemke, that an application for a Retail Cigarette Permit presented by F. L. Kroehnke be approved, and the Clerk be directed to issue such permit. Motion carried.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the members of the Town Council, have in times past been called to special session for the single purpose of considering applications for Cigarette and Beer licenses because such applicants have failed to file in sufficient time for applications to receive consideration at regular sessions held previous to date when licenses applied for are requested to take effect.

and

WHEREAS, the expense of such special sessions is born by the Town;

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED: That, hereinafter, The expense of such special sessions called for the express purpose of considering applications for Beer and Cigarette Licenses shall be paid by the person, or persons, presenting such applications.

The above resolution was read and motion for adoption made by Councilman Pavey. Second to the motion was made by Councilman Schulz. Upon roll call the vote was as follows:

Ayes: W. F. Pavey, Byrnes Lemke, Frank Schulz, Henry Buseman and Roy Schaefer.

Nayes: None.

The Mayor thereupon declared the motion carried and the Resolution adopted.

Meeting adjourned.

INTERRUPTION

There was a brief interruption to the electrical service in the Sulphur Springs area near Storm Lake recently. A windstorm blew an empty metal grain bin through a 13,000 volt power line.

BOLT

A luck man is Willis Peterson, 35-year old Westside farmer, in Crawford county. He's still alive —after being hit by a bolt of lightening, as he chopped hay in a field. He was knocked unconscious but apparently unhurt.

Oat Harvest Begins As Weather Settles

With the advent of warmer, drier weather, farmers in this vicinity are hard at work this week with the annual oat harvest. Almost every field presents to view, either a windrower or a combine, and if the weather holds good all week, there will be a lot of oats in the bin.

We haven't as yet talked to anyone who was too excited about the prospects of a bumper crop of oats. According to those with whom we have talked, the steamy, hot weather that we had when the grain was filling out will make the crop some lighter than usual, but the yield by measure should hold up fairly well.

Corn and soybeans in this section of the country look fine. We saw corn today that is beginning to tassle out. Weather conditions for corn—flood waters excepted—have been ideal and the corn has grown by leaps and bounds. If we continue to have enough moisture throughout the rest of the season, corn should be a bumper crop.

Haying was more or less of a problem for farmers and some of them are just finishing the job. Every time they got ready to put in hay, it rained. Some of the crop took several good wettings before it could finally be gotten in.

On the whole, though, most everyone is pretty well satisfied with the way crops are coming along this year. There was some flood damage and spots of hail damage, but with normal weather conditions throughout the rest of the growing season it should be a good year for most farmers.

Theodore Kaduce Dies After Long Illness

Funeral services for Theodore Kaduce, 36, were held at the Episcopalian Church in Mason City, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev Alfred Malone in charge. Following these services his body was sent to Auburn, California, where graveside services well be held preceding burial.

Mr Kaduce died last Wednesday morning, July 14, at the Veterans Hospital in Iowa City where he had been receiving treatment for the past three months. His illness was Hotchkins disease and he had suffered with it for the past two years.

He and his family moved here from California in October of 1952, hoping that he would find some benefit to his health. They moved on to the farm of his parents, and at first it seemed that the outdoor work was going to do some good. However, his illness soon began to assert itself and all the skill and knowledge of medical science could only postpone his death.

Theodore Kaduce was born at Alexander, on August 11, 1918, the son of Mr and Mrs John Kaduce, Sr. He moved with his parents to a farm near Klemme and received his education in the Klemme School, graduating with the class of 1937.

He served in the army for over four years during World War II, and it was while on duty in California that he met and married his wife. The marriage was blessed with two boys, Kenneth and Denis.

The family made their home in Auburn, California, where Mr Kaduce was employed in a dairy until they decided to move to Klemme in 1952.

Mr Kaduce will be buried at Auburn, and it is there that his wife and the two boys will make their home.

Surviving besides his wife and sons are his parents, Mr and Mrs John Kaduce, Sr.; two brothers, John, Jr. of Lake Mills, and Leonard of Klemme; two sisters, Mrs Duane Katter of McMinnville, Oregon and Mrs Paul Lau of Garner; and many other more distant relatives and friends.

Mother ond 6 Daughters At Dessert Luncheon

Mrs Bert Lieuwen was hostess at a one o'clock dessert luncheon at her home Monday afternoon in honor of Mrs Gene Kelly of Oxford Junction, Iowa. Present at the luncheon were Mrs Helen Lieuwen of Belmond, six of her seven daughters, and two of her daughters-in-law. The daughter who was missing was Mrs Andy Casperson of Glendale, Calif.

The six daughters present were Mrs Hauko Barkema of Garner, Mrs Joe Pals and Mrs Ralph Baker of Belmond, Mrs Cliff Evans of Clarion, Mrs Ken Parker of Mason City, and Mrs Gene Kelly of Oxford Junction.

The two daughters-in-law were Mrs George Lieuwen of Belmond and the hostess.

Deed Alley To Town

A group of residents in the second block south of the east edge of the park, recently purchased a strip of land adjoining the rear of their lots from Mrs Emma Patet. They paid $300 for the land and then deeded it to the town for an alley. Those who made the purchase were William Fuss, Paul Goll, William Waddingham, and Julius Priebe.

Heat Wave Broken

Welcome rain began falling here early Tuesday morning. Until that time, we had been having some of the hottest weather of the summer, but the rain brought cooler temeratures. In fact, Tuesday evening was even chilly. Other parts of the state, including the dried out southern half, also got in on the rain with amounts varying from a half inch to nearly two inches.

The corn crop here, which has been looking so good, got the rain at just the right time to give it another boost. Most fields are just in the tasseling stage and the moisture will do a lot of good.

Some oats are in the windrow and still to be combined, but the rain was gentle enough, so that there should be little, if any, damage to that crop.

Legion Elects

At the regular July meeting, members of Adams Schaefer Post No. 625 of the American Legion, elected the following officers:

Thomas Roths, Jr., commander; J. C. Thomas, vice commander, Kenneth Kluckhohn, adjutant; Herbert Schwartz, sergeant at arms; and Allen Barz, chaplain.

Elected to the fiveman advisory board were Graydon Back, Melvin Schlei, Robert Hartzell, Martin Barz, and Homer Schoenwetter.

Graydon Back served as commander the past year.

Spray for Mosquitoes

"Bill" Evans of Garner was over Klemme with a biplane Saturday afternoon, and sprayed the town for mosquitoes. He was acting under orders from the Town Council and many residents have expressed their approval of the action.

If is is necessary spray will be applied from the air again later in the season, but if the insects do not again become a problem, the one application will be all for this year.

Big Cars, Stock Cars And Cycles in Speed Festival at N. Ia. Fair

The North Iowa Fair will feature a three day festival of speed this year, acording to M. O. Lawson, Fair secretary.

The first speed event on the Fair program will be American Motorcycle Association sanctioned races on Tuesday, August 10, on the half mile oval. This will bring some of the nation's top riders to the Fairground's track.

On Saturday, August 14, late model stock cars take over the spotlight for a 100 mile race. The big speedway-type cars will run on Sunday, August 15, in a seven event meet. The stock and big cars will run under the banner of the International Motor Contest Association and National Speedways Inc.

Lawson announced that the first driver to enter the big car event was Bobby Grim of Indianapolis. Three times runner-up to the National Speedways championship, Grim will be at the wheel of the famous Hector Honore No. 2 Offenhauser. Bobby is holder of five IMCA world records.

Following close on the heels of the Grim entry was one from Benny Lybarger of Davenport, Ia. Lybarger will chauffeur a Hal racing creation.

First entry for the 200 lap stock car classic came from Tubby Harrison of Topeka, Kansas. Tubby will handle a 1954 Dodge.

Janice Hummel Bride Of Mason City Man

Mr and Mrs Robin D. White are making their home at 214½ Conn. N E, Mason City following their marriage which took place in the Klemme Methodist Church with the Rev H R Herlein of Des Moines performed the double ring ceremony. assisted by the Rev M. Miller of the Klemme Methodist Church. The bride was Janice Dianne Hummel, daughter of Mr and Mrs Dwight Hummel and he is the son of Mr and Mrs Wallace White of Mason City.

Flowers and ferns decorated the church for the candlelight service. Nuptial music was played by Maurice Jacobs who accompanied Frank Pool. His numbers were "O Promise Me," "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a ballerina gown of white chantilly lace over white taffeta. Her fingertip veil was held by a cap embroidered with seed pearls and she carried red roses.

The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs Harry Peters, and the bridesmaid was Miss Ann Boyd. They had ballerina gowns of orchid lace and net over taffeta identical to the bride's in styling. They carried white and pink carnations and had headbands of orchid flowers. The flowergirl, Betty Lou Potter, cousin of the bride, wore a ballerina white eyelet dress. The ringbearer was Vince White, nephew of the bridegroom, and he carried the rings on a satin pillow.

Joyce Carol Hummel, sister of the bride, and Leona White niece of the bridegroom, were candlelighters and wore identical ballerina dresses of nile green taffeta.

The bride's mother was attired in tan and white with tan accessories and the bridegroom's mother in mulberry with black accessories. Both had corsages of pink carnations.

Clyde White, brother of the bridegroom and Marvin Moore were the grooms attendants. Harry Peters, brother-in-law of the bride and Ronert Maxwell, nephew of the bridegroom were ushers.

A reception in the church basement followed. Mrs Art Kudje, aunt of the bride, was hostess. Mrs C J Larsen, cousin of the bride was in charge of the guest book and Mrs Harry Herlein and Mrs Merlyn Helps arranged the gifts..

The serving table was centered with a four tiered white wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom Miss Marie Perkins cut and served the cake and Mrs Betty Cerinski poured.

Mrs White is a graduate of Klemme High School and Mason City Junior College and Mr White graduated from high school in Mason City and is a veteran of four years service .He is employed by a highway construction company.

Farm Sold

George Schoenwetter has purchased a 160 acre farm from Don L. Stille of Polson, Montana. The farm is 4 miles west and a half-mile north of Klemme and brought $300 per acre. Possession will be given March 1, 1955. C E Proctor, realtor, of Garner handled the transaction. Herbert Clayton is the present tenant.

Ice Cream Social Drew Large Crowd

The annual ice cream social which was held Saturday night on the Klemme Main Street under the sponsorship of the Music Mothers, drew a large and appreciative crowd. The main block of the street was roped off the day before, and the pavement was swept and hosed down, so that people had a clean place to sit and visit. They didn't have to worry about their small children, either. Having the block roped off gave the children plenty of room to run and play without being in danger from cars.

To further add to the evening, the town was sprayed for mosquitoes earlier in the day, and few of these pesky insects were on hand for the affair.

Entertainment for the evening consisted of special numbers, a concert by the high school band, and much visiting among friends over the delicious home made ice cream, cake, pie, and coffee that was served by the music mothers.

Much credit goes to the music mothers and to director Charles Whitford for making this event a success. They work hard to prepare for the social, and their only reward is what money they manage to make for the organization. This year they cleared some over $160.00, and we hope that it will be enough to encourage them to keep on with this annual community-wide social event.

Last Rites At Reformed Church for Peter Trampel

Funeral services for Peter Trampel, 75, a retired Klemme farmer were held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church, the Rev. Vernon Jaberg officiating. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery at Klemme with the Bohn Funeral Home of Garner in charge. He died Saturday at the Good Samaritan Home in Mason City after a long illness.

Survivors include the wife, sons, John of Burchinal, Harmen of Meservey and Clarence of Klemme; two daughters, Mrs Wemkie Cavitt, and Mrs Arthur Conners of Klemme; a sister, Mrs Henry Husinga of Sibley, three brothers, Adolph and Joe of Kamrar and Sinus of Williams, and 11 grandchildren.

Mr Trampel was born in Germany, February 16, 1879, to John and Anna Trampel. He came to the United States with his parents when he was two years old and settled near Kamrar. On March 1, 1905, he was married to Miss Jennie Schaa.

The couple lived near Kamrar until 1921 when they moved to a farm in Avery Township near Klemme.

Wheat Raisers to Vote On Marketing Quotas

Wheat raisers of Hancock County have an important task to perform on Friday, July 23. That day, they will vote for or against marketing quotas for the 1955 wheat crop.

The referendum, which will be nation-wide, will determine whether or not the quota program now in effect on the 1954 crop will continue for next year's crop, according to Alfred V. Josten, Office Manager of the County ASC committee.

Voting will take place in Hancock County from 9 A M to 8 P M at the Hancock County ACS Office, Garner, Iowa.

Services Were Thursday For Leonard Swanson

Funeral services for Leonard Swanson, 43, were held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, July 15, from the Klemme Methodist Church with Rev. Melvin Miller in charge. Mr Swanson was the victim of a heart attack while fishing at Clear Lake on Monday, July 12. He was fishing alone when the attack hit him. He fell from his boat and it was Wednesday before his body was recovered.

Mrs Vern Bisom and Mrs Roy Arnold, accompanied by Mrs Robert Schulz at the organ, sang "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning" and 'Beyond the Sunset."

Pallbearers were Harvey Hubbard of Swea City, Harold Kaster of Ventura, and Lloyd Sherwood, Leroy Johnson, Melvin Schlei, and Donald Schaefer of Klemme.

Interment was in the Ell Township Cemetery here.

OBITUARY

Leonard M Swanson, son of Mr and Mrs Oscar Swanson, was born at Klemme, Iowa on November 12, 1911. He received his education in the Klemme Schools and spent his life in this community.

On January 24, 1936, he was united in marriage to Irene May Lemke. To this union was born one daughter, Janice Marlene.

Mr Swanson followed the carpenter trade until the Swanson Hatchery was moved from the farm to Klemme, at which time he became manager and partner with his brother, Albert.

He passed away on Monday afternoon, July 12, following a coronary thrombosis.

He leaves to mourn his passing, his wife, Irene, and daughter, Janice; his parents, Mr and Mrs Oscar Swanson; three brothers, Carl of Britt, and Albert and Roy of Klemme; seven sisters, Mrs Phyllis Loeffler of Floyd, Mrs Ethel Dossinger of Long Beach, California, Mrs Dora Lawhorn and Mrs Edith Lemke of Garner, Mrs Esther Etchen, Mrs Ruth Bridges and Mary of Klemme; and many other more distant relatives and friends.

New Secretary of Board Hired; Kudje Resigns

A. J. Kudje, who has been secretary of the board of the Klemme Independent School District, resigned with the activation of the Klemme Community School District. Mr Kudje had served in that capacity for a number of years, but the pressure of other business caused him to feel that his resignation was necessary.

Mrs Betty Radics, who is at present employed in Des Moines, has been hired by the board to fill the vacancy created by Mr Kudje's resignation. In addition to being secretary of the board, she will also be office secretary. She will begin work on the 2nd of August and until school starts will be in the office at the high school building from 9.:00 to 11:00 in the morning and from 1:00 to 3:00 in the afternoon. When school begins this fall, she will be at the office all day.

Riverside Club

The Riverside Club south of Klemme will have a picnic supper at the Elmer Arnold park on Sunday evening July 25 at 6:30. Each family is asked to bring two covered dishes and sandwiches and service for your own family. Ice cream and beverage will be furnished.

10 YEARS AGO—

After being gone from home for 2½ years, Roy E Arnold is home for a furlough. He telephoned Monday afternoon from Mason City that he had arrived there on the train. Mrs Arnold and Wilbur met him at the C B Tice home in Mason City.

Mrs Arnold Blau left last week for Camp Ellis, Ill., for a visit with her husband who is stationed there.

The employees of the Northern Lumber Co. here held their annual fried chicken dinner at the yard shop room Thursday evening. There was plenty of chicken and all the trimmings for everyone.

Mr Jacob Bock of Eugene, Oregon, came Tuesday to spend a week visiting with his sister, Miss Lydia Bock.

20 YEARS AGO—

Mr and Mrs W C Keraus and son Otho, and Kenneth Kluckhohn drove to Forest City Sunday where they visited Verle Keraus and Roy Smock at the CCC Camp.

Harvey Nelson will have charge of services at the Methodist Church during the absence of Rev Ralston. Mr Nelson will preach for three Sundays, and the fourth Sunday there will be no services.

The house and farm buildings at the Becker place east of Klemme are all being repainted. The Becker's have one of the nicest looking farms in this vicinity.

Andrew Wellemeyer, Donald Gibbs and Dorance Day drove to Sioux City Saturday night for a few days visit at the Frank Gibbs and Donald Nissen homes.

30 YEARS AGO—

The graveling crew on the highway are making rapid progress and in a short time we will have a fine road to Garner.

On of the plate glass windows in LuVerne Smith's pool hall was the parking place for a car last Thursday evening. Mr Hodek, driving a Ford was going to park at the curb in front of the pool hall, but in some way or other the car refused to stop and ran up on the walk into a bench seat in front of the plate glass window, tipping over the seat and crashing it into the window.

The speed limit on the Mason City and Clear Lake road is now 39 miles per hour. The road is partrolled by a motor-cycle cop who nabs all who think 30 is too slow. Likewise he will pick up wreckless drivers and the bird who insists on going too slow and holds up traffic.

Harold Gruetzmacher was over from Britt on Friday on business. Mrs Gruetzmacher is attending summer school at Iowa Falls. Both Mr and Mrs Gruetzmacher will teach in the Britt schools this coming year.

Second Brood of Borers Threatens Corn Crop

Evidence available now points to a big population of second brood corn borers in Hancock county, according to Extension Director Henderson of Garner.

First-brood borers enjoyed a favorable season, largley because corn growers, both in Hancock County and throughout the state, failed to apply control measures. As a result there has been a rapid build-up in the corn-borer population.

Nearly all corn in Hancock County is infested. This condition prevails generally, Extension Director Henderson says, throughout southern and central Iowa, according to the report he has received from Harold Gunderson, Extension Entomologist at Iowa State College.

CENTENNIAL

The Ohio Methodist Church of near Williamsburg will observe its 100th anniversary on Sunday, August 1.

the Highway Story

By Bob Hullihan

When Iowa's teen-age traffic safety movement got under way last April with its emphasis on letting the kids run their own show, there were some who doubted that the youngsters would be able to take the responsibility.

A story that has come out of recent teen-age meeting should quiet those fears.

According to the report, a meeting was called in one comparatively small Iowa town for the purpose of organizing a teen-age safety club. The Iowa Highway Patrol sergeant on hand was a little discouraged with the type of turn out.

When the meeting started here were 30 girls in the room and only two boys.

Many of the girls had been brought to the meeting by their boy friends, but the boys would not come into the meeting. They sat outside where they could hear just enough of what was going on to make funny remarks.

The girls in the meeting realized that things were out of balance and, when the organization of the club was completed, they struck on a plan. They checked on how many girls had driven cars, walked out of the meeting, past the staring boy friends, climbed into those cars and left.

The boy friends, when they recovered from the shock, had to trail out and drive to their homes alone.

"Next day," the patrol sergeant reports, "we had a flood of membership applications and they were all from boys."

Not all of tht 100 teen-age safety clubs not active in the state were organized with such drastic measures, but the incident shows that the youngsters have the situation well in hand

TV Vocal Group At Governor's Day

The Billy Williams Quartet, hailed as television's outstanding vocal group, and featured for three years on the "Show of Shows", will appear in person Saturday evening, July 31, as the featured act in Clear Lake's Governor's Day Show from the Stage on the Lake, it was announced Thursday by the Clear Lake Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors the celebration. It will be their only public appearance in northern Iowa this summer, it was stated.

Williams, the quartet leader, was the outstanding star of the Chariateers Quartet for ten years forming his own group in 1950. Their first appearance on the award winning T. V. extravaganza, "Show of Shows", was such a smash hit that they became a regular weekly feature and continued as such until the show stopped for the summer a few weeks ago. They are expected to start in the fall with a new show of their own.

Seats in the reserved section are now available by writing the Clear Lake Chamber of Commerce. In the event of rain, the show will be held in the High School Auditorium, Chamber officials stated.

Services Were Friday At Belmond for Mourlam

Funeral services for Donald Mourlam, 33, of Goodell, were held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon Friday, July 16, from the Methodist Church in Belmond with Rev. Vernon E Jaberg and Rev. M L Jones in charge.

Mr Mourlam, a son-in-law of Mrs Louise Knoke, was killed in a truck-car collision on Tuesday, July 13.

He was buried in the Ell Township Cemetery here, and was carried to his final resting place by Bob Nelson, Eugene Nelson, Karl Claude, Ralph Turner, Harold Borel, and Francis Bernard.

OBITUARY

Mr. Donald Dale Mourlam, whose sudden death is mourned by his family, loved ones and friends, was born on March 10, 1920, at Woolstock, Iowa. He was the son of Mr Henry Mourlam and Martha nee Shutt Mourlam.

Donald received the sacrament of Holy Baptism on June 21, 1921, at the Lutheran Church in Webster City, Iowa. He attended the public schools of Woolstock, Iowa.

Donald Mourlam was united in marriage with Lillian Knoke on March 13, 1946 by the Rev. Calvin Grosshuesch, pastor of Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church of Klemme, Iowa This union, in the providence of God, was blessed with four children, two of which died in infancy.

Donald has been working in the trucking business for the past six or seven years, during which time he and his family have made ther home in Belmond, Iowa.

On Tuesday, July 13, Donald met with an accident on the road which took his life. Donald attained the age of 33 years, 4 months and 2 days. Donald's sudden passing is mourned by his wife, Lillian and two sons, Donald Dietrich and Robert Dale, and his mother Mrs Henry Mourlam. He is also survived by brothers Raynard Mourlam of Blairsburg, Iowa; Harvey Mourlam of Vicillia, California; and by sisters Mrs Irene Sarbar of Pickstown, South Dakota; Mrs Mamie Lucas of Fort Dodge, Iowa; Mrs Gladys Thompson of Beth Islands, California; Mrs Francis Groen of Belmond, Iowa; Mrs Josephine Lowenberg of Belmond, Iowa and Mrs Doris Hill of Alexander, Iowa.

Donald was preceded in death by infant son and daughter, Henry Arthur, and Martha Louise and by his father who died last December.

Josten Announces Dates For ASC Elections

Arrangements for holding the annual ASC elections in Hancock County were announced this week by Alfred V Josten, Office Manager of the County ASC Comm.

Farmers will have from Aug. 14 through Aug. 20 to vote for community committeemen. The county convention to name the county ASC committee will be held in Garner on August 30. Newly elected community and county committeemen will begin their one year terms on September 1.

All balloting in the township elections will be done by mail, the same as in recent years, with the county ASC office sending a secret ballot and a return envelope to every eligible voter on its record. The ballots will be mailed to voters on August 13.

Any farm owner, operator or tenant is priviledged to vote in the ASC township elections if now participating in any of the agency's programs or is eligible to participate in a price support program. Office Manager Josten said that anyone who fails to receive a ballot but believes he is eligible to vote should contact the county ASC office.

The community committee of three members and two alternates will be named in each township, with the two candidates who receive the greatest number of votes becoming chairman and vice chairman. The third member of each community committee and the two alternates will be elected similiarly on the basis of number of votes received. The counting of the ballots will take place on Aug. 24.

The newly elected chairman and vice chairman of each community committee will automatically serve as delegate and alternate delegate to the county convention which will name the county committee consisting of a chairman, vice chairman, regular member and two alternates.

election procedure this year are

Changes made in the ASC expected to result in greater interest in the election of community and county committeemen.

Scarcely one-fourth of the eligible Iowa farm owners and operators have voted, in recent ASC elections and it is hoped that at least half of them will participate this year.

The principle change brought about by the new rules provide for a county election board in each county to be composed of officially designated persons outside the ASC organization, limit the tenure of office of committeemen, prohibit county committeemen from serving ASC in any paid capacity other than as committeemen and establish a new method of nominating candidates for county committeemen.

Each county election board will consist of the county Extension Service director as chairman and local representatives of the Soil Conservation Service, Farmers Home Administration and the principal farm organizations. The county election board in each township, composed of three farmers who are not incumbent ASC officers. Each community election board will nominate 10 candidates for community committeemen. Additional candidates may be added to the list by petition of 10 or more farmers. Voters will be permitted to write in names of candidates. In past years, formal nominations for community committeemen were made by committees appointed by the county ASC committee.

A rotation system in ASC committee membership will be inaugurated by making county and community committeemen ineligible to serve more than 3 consecutive terms without a break in service. There will be an exception to this in the seven Iowa counties whose present county committeemen have all served three or more years without a break. In those counties, one of the incumbents may be reelected.

Suggests Taking Soil Samples for Test Now

It's early to be thinking of saving work next spring ,but a few hours spent within the next few weeks can pave the way to relief of some of the spring pressure of fertilizer application at planting time.

Those few hours can be spent taking soil samples for test that will allow you to figure what to buy and apply this summer and fall for next year's crops. That's the advice of Paul Henderson, Hancock County extension director.

Iowa State College experiments show that summer and fall applications of fertilizer that are plowed down for next year's corn are just as effective as the same fertilizers applied in the spring and disked in. Summer and fall topdressing no established meadows.

Most Hancock County farmers who have had soils tested agree that the soil test is the place to start the search for effective, efficient use of fertilizer. Henderson says the soil test result can be keyed right to their own conditions and scaled to the investment they wish to make in fertilizer.

And that's why Henderson suggests taking soil samples now. You can get the results back now in 3 to 4 weeks because the college soil testing laboratories are not rushed at this seaon. This will get the results in your hands in time to place orders for just the kinds and amounts of fertilizer you want. In addition to being a benefit in saving spring work next year, he adds, this soil test will give you the knowledge you need for effective use of lime, nitrogen, phosphate and potash for 5 years to come.

You can sample how on any of your fields. The conditions where summer and fall application may fit best are for plowdown applications where corn will be grown next year;. disk-in application on stalk ground that will go to oats and legume next year; topdressing for established meadows; or topdressing of nitrogen on bromegrass sod.

A farmer who want to sample his soils should first go to the County Extension Office to get instructions for sampling and to get cartons for mailing the soil to the testing laboratory. The soil test is no better than the sample, Stritiel emphasizes. The sample should truly represent the field in which it was taken. The instruction sheet will help you get a good sample.

Results of tests made by the college laboratories are reliable. A constant program of checking is carried out in which the recommendations for certain soils with certain test results are checked in the field. The recommendations, therefore, are not guesses—they are recommendations that are backed up by research in the field.

Completes 6,763 Mile Scenic Western Trip

Miss Novella Bredbenner returned home Saturday evening from a 6,763 mile western trip. She accompanied Miss Jeanne Hooshagen of Port Huron, Mich., Miss Rachel Dennison, and Mrs Ohio. The young ladies had at- Ruth Dennison of Columbus, tended a Kappa Phi National officer's meeting at Painesville, Ohio and started on their tour from that point.

Their itinerary included stops at the Lincoln Shrines in Springfield, Illinois, Mark Twain's home in Hannibal, Missouri, Boulder, Colorado where they met with Alpha Delta Chapter of Kappa Phi, Rocky Mountain National Park, Dinosaur National Monument, Salt Lake City; the Columbia River Gorge, and the Pacific Coast in Oregon and Washington. While in Washington, the group visited Chi Chapter of Kappa Phi in Tavoma and Mu Chapter in Seattle. In Seattle they were entertained at a dinner at the Wesley Foundation with a group of students from India. Other highlights of their visit in Seattle included a boat trip across Puget Sound to Victoria, British Colunbia and a Chinese dinner with Ava Chambers, sister of John Chambers of Klemme, as hostess.

After a stop at Grand Coulee Dam, the group visited Tau Chapter of Kappa Phi at Moscow, Idaho. They continued their trip through the lumbering districts of Coeur d' Alene and Pend Oreille into British Columbia and Alberta. While in Canada, they enjoyed scenic Lake Louise, Yoho National Park, the Banff Chair Lift, the Calgary Stampede and Waterton Lakes Park. A couple of days were spent in Nanton, Alberta, with relatives of the Dennison's.

While enroute home, they toured Yellowstone National Park, were Miss Bredbenner visited a college friend and also saw Rev. and Mrs Harry Whyte, a former Methodist pastor at Klemme. Other stops were made at the Grand Tetons National Park the Black Hills, and the Bad Lands.

Mrs Dennison and Rachel spent Saturday night at the Bredbenner home and continued on their way to Ohio Sunday morning.

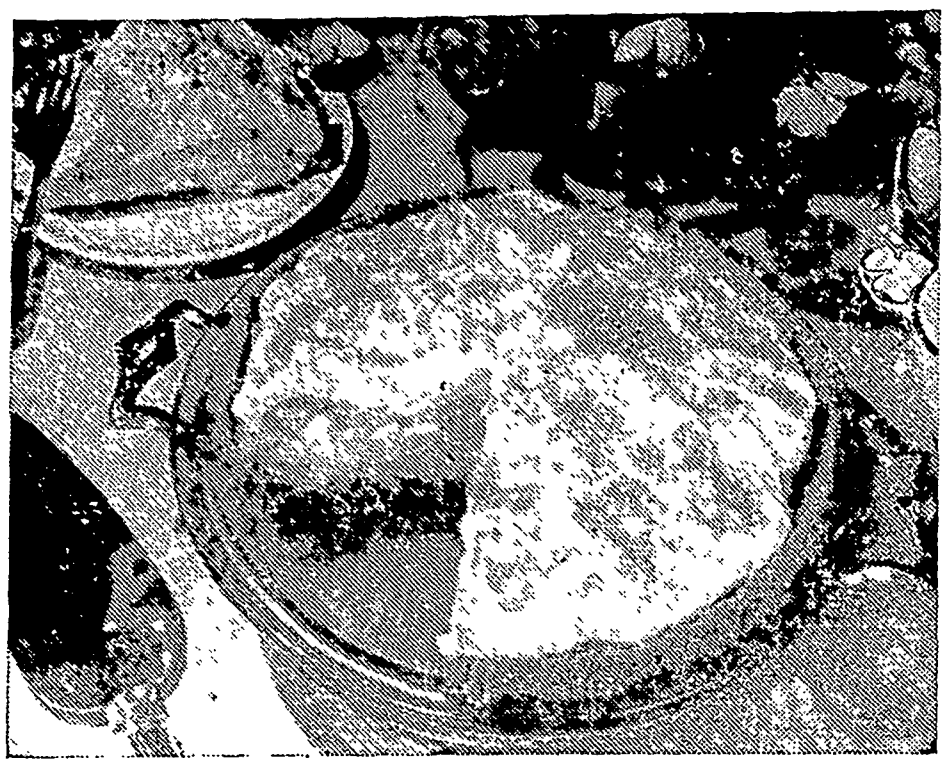
Keep Foods Refrigerated—

Prevent Summer Food Spoilage



That good banana cream pie won't be good very long if it's left out at room temperature on a warm summer day. Bacteria causing food spoilage thrive in hot, humid weather—and oh, how they love cream pie.

* * *

Food-spoiling bacteria and people are alike in that they both like good food. But one difference between them is that bacteria thrive in hot, humid weather when people seem to wilt.

Temperatures from 70 on up are ideal for the growth of bacteria, so now's the time when you need to be on the alert for food spoilage.

Jewel Graham, Iowa State College extension nutritionist, says foods causing the greatest number of food poisoning outbreaks are pastry, cake and pie with cream fillings: poultry; ham: prepared luncheon meats; salads, such as potato, with a mayonnaise or cream dressing; and chicken broth.

The bet precaution against food spoilage in warm weather is speedy refrigeration and short time storage.

Refrigerate Immediately

Don't wait for hot foods to cool at room temperature before you refrigerate them, Miss Graham warns. She says you should refrigerate them immediately, or just as soon as they stop steaming. The incubation zone for bacteria is between 50 and 120 degrees F., so you want to cool food down below this danger zone as quickly as possible. To do this, don't let the food cool at room temperature for more than ¼ to ½ hour after cooking. That's long enough for it to stop steaming.

Milk and Egg Dishes

Because milk and egg dishes are particulary good for bacteria growth, you should be especially careful of dishes made from these foods. Keep custards, cream pies, cream puffs, eclairs cakes with cream filling, and other similar foods under careful refrigeration—and eat them as quickly as possible.

Picnic Foods

If you're going on a picnic, remember some foods aren't safe to take unless you have facilities for keeping them cold until you eat them. Be careful of sandwich fillings and mixed salads. Better leave creamed foods home.

Meat, Poultry, Fish

Your refrigerator is the place for meat, poultry and fish during the summer. And even then, plan on using them within a few days.

When you bring these foods from the store, remember to take the tight wrapping off and rewrap them loosely in waxed paper or put them in a tight container before you refrigerate them. These foods need a little air around them, but it should be cold.

Smoked meats such as ham, frankfurters, bacon and sausage should be kept tightly covered during storage so they won't impart the smoked flavor to other foods in the refrigerator.

Vegetables

Don't forget to keep vegetables in your refrigerator covered. They tend to dry out if you leave them uncovered even if they are refrigerated.

Plastic bags are especially good for storing asparagus, snap and wax bean, broccoli, cabbage, cauliflower, celery, husked corn, cucumbers, greens, green onions, shelled peas, green peppers and radishes.

ice cream tonight? you're right—it's ice cream festival time

What's as welcome in summertime as plenty of cool, refreshing ice cream? It's America's sweetheart of foods—and no wonder. You can serve it so many ways—each one as tempting as the next.

Be sure to try Fresh Peach during Ice Cream Festival time. It's the special Festival Flavor—you'll find it everywhere.

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

Fat cattle prices will follow pretty close to the normal seasonal pattern for the summer and early fall months, Francis A. Kutish, Iowa State College Farm economist, told the cattle feeders attending annual feeders' day in Ames.

Normal is a $2.50 advance in prime cattle, $1.25 in choice, by fall. Good and commercial grades on the other hand, normally drop a little more than a dollar.

This year Kutish expects the advance to be more modest than normal on the better kinds of steers and yearlings — and a greater than normal drop on the lower grade steers and yearlings.

Reason for these predictions is the large supply headed for the last half of the year, coupled with a larger pig and turkey crop, more broilers and eggs—and a demand that won't average any stronger than last fall, Kutish said.

Turning to hogs, Kutish forecast a price drop of about 35 percent from the high month to the low month in hog prices. The reason again—larger supply. The spring pig crop was up 13 percent, with the increase concentrated all in the early-farrowed pigs. He said that the price drop probably would be over by the end of October.

But he did not expect any sharp winter price rise in hogs. Again, it is supply. The 6-state survey of fall pig crop intentions, conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture showed that the 10 percent boost planned for fall pigs was all concentrated in summer pigs. This will mean that the increase in marketings will all come in the winter.

Lamb feeders should stand a chance to make some money this year, Kutish believes. The drouth in the West is cutting the percentage of fats this fall off the central high plains. It also will reduce lamb feeding in northern Colorado. We should have some profitable buys in feeder lambs in the early fall Kutish expects. If wheat pastures develop later, this could push feeder lamb prices up in the latter part of the fall and early winter.

Fish-Naming Contest At State Fair

When Old Oscar, the giant lake sturgeon, died on the last day of the 1953 State Fair, a sad vacancy was left in the No. 1 fish tank of the Conservation Commission's Exhibit Building. But this year wardens can smile again, and the laughter of children will be heard. The veil of mourning has been lifted—the emty tank will be filled with a new younger, but nameless sturgeon.

Old Oscar's successor will have a formal weighing-in ceremony during the fair, and will be named in a contest open to everyone. The new sturgeon, which is being held at the Backbone Park fish hatchery, is said to be slightly longer than Old Oscar but not as heavy. (In his prime, Old Oscar was slightly over 5 feet long and weighed about 100 pounds.) Fair-goers will be given entry blanks for the fish-naming contest at the exhibit building and appropriate prizes will be awarded.

The dates for the 1954 State Fair are from August 28 through September 6.

Soil Fertility Shown to Have Affect on Humans

It has been only in recent years that men have realized there is any connection between human nourishment and soil fertility. Although the field is still relatively new, much has been learned, however, in the last decade or so.

Dr. Russel M Wilder of the Mayo Clinic, internationally recognized as a nutrition expert observed that human erosion seems inevitably to follow soil erosion. He pointed out an classic examples the once fertile regions of Asia Minor and the plains of North Africa. Now denuded by erosion these are inhabited today by natives who are among the more backward peoples of the world.

Here in the United States where agriculture as practiced by the white, man is scarcely 300 years old, the effects of soil erosion on humans is already seemly apparent.

Experimental data to prove just how soil fertility affects human nutrition is diffcult to obtain because humans cannot be caged like white mice and fed experimental diets for succeeding generations. But research, nevertheless, is on the way.

Experiments at the University of Illionois College of Agriculture have proved that corn grown on poor land tested only 380 pounds of protein to 100 bushels while corn of the same variety, grown on good land, showed 600 pounds of protein.

Experiments at Iowa State College proved the mineral content of crops produced on land is also directly affected by soil conditions. In this experiment, Iowa State proved that applying a phosphate fertilizer to poor land increased the phosphorus content of the grass as much as 50 percent.

Dr. William A Albrecht, chairman of the Department of Soils at the University of Missouri and recognized for his work in nutrition, made another significant conclusion. While per-acre yields of both corn and wheat have been increased, he pointed out the protein content of both grains has slowly declined due to decreasing soil fertility. Older sections of the country are steadily turning to soft, low-protein strains of wheat and in 10 years the protein concentration of corn has dropped from 9.5 to 8.5.

Dr Hugh H Bennett, former chief of the U S Soil Conversation Service, pointed out that the United States has already ruined or badly damaged 282 million acres of once ferile topsoil, and has been ruining another half million acres annually. From the farm land the United States, erosion is carrying away more nutrients than are used by all crops.

It is well that the nation's farmers in more than 2,500 soil conservation districts are beginning to look toward weatherproofing their land against erosion and maintaining its fertlity. For in a few more generations, the cityhouse wife may take a hand.

Supposing the future housewife should require proof from her green grocer of just how much protein is contained in her one dozen order of roasting ears, or how much healthful iron and calcuim are in the head of lettuce. Where would that leave the truck farmer producing crops from ground low in minerals and other nutrients?

The afternoon was spent working on our projects.

A "Tidal Wave" In Clear Lake

A "tidal wave" of the same type that drowned several Lake Michigan fisherman in late June was recently recorded at Clear Lake.

The 90-mile winds of July 6 literally blew part of Clear Lake up on its eastern shore. When the wind lessened, the tilted surface of the lake began to level up, swinging like water in a crock. At the height of the windstorm an Iowa State College fisheries worker placed a marker at the water's edge on the west end of the lake. After the wind dropped the lake began rocking, and covered the marker with 9 inches of water.

Such swinging of a lake's surface is called a "seiche". It may be caused by anything that raises or lowers the water level at one part of the lake, such as a sudden strong wind, explosion, cloudburst, or a sudden change of barometric pressure. Seiches are very common, but most are too small to be noticed. The fatal June seiche on Lake Michigan caused a wave estimated at over 6 feet.

North Iowa Fair Aug. 10-15 to Be Biggest, Most Varied

What will be the biggest and most varied edition of the famed North Iowa Fair will get under way August 10 in Mason City, according to Secretary M. C. (Cap) Lawson.

"In an effort to offer a varied and thrilling grandstand program we have combed the nation from coast to coast," Lawson added. "It looks like our goal of having many changes of program before the grandstand will be achieved. There will be a half dozen different changes of program during the six days of the air."

Included on the grandstand program are these exciting performances—motor cycle races, Pee Wee King and his nationally famous television stars, Gene Holters racing ostriches and dozens of animals, a gigantic Tournament of Thrills, a 100 mile stock car race, a second appearance by Pee Wee King, big car races with many championship dirt track drivers, a huge amateur talent show, the 20th Century Shows on the midways and many other outstanding attractions.

Lawson indicates that all concession space has already been sold, a guarantee that interest is at an all-time high for the 1954 North Iowa Fair. He also has announced that the livestock department will be filled to the rafters, that premiums offered will be higher than ever and that this year there will be a nationally sanctioned rabbit show on the grounds.

Two flower shows are also on tap, Lawson says, both shows to be larger than ever.

All in all, says the fair secretary, the show should be the best in a long series of fine North Iowa Fairs.

"If the folks want variety before the grandstand, that's what we will give them this year. They can come back often and see a completely different show.

DOUBLE HEADER

An unusual golden wedding anniversary was observed recently at Nodaway, near Corning. Mr and Mrs E. C. Kennedy, of that community, and Mr and Mrs Elmer Brown of Des Moines observed their anniversaries together. The two couples had been married in a double wedding ceremony at Maryville, Mo. in 1904.

Weather Favorable To North Iowa Farms

High Temperatures Hit Crops Hard In South Half Of Cornbelt

North Iowa farmers have had their troubles this year, what with floods, some hail, army worms and insects, but on the whole they are extremely fortunate. Rain has been plentiful, and temperatures have been ideal for the rapid growth of corn and soybeans. The oats crop has not turned out to be a record breaker, but at least a fairly good average yield is being harvested.

While this section of the state has been receiving this comparatively good weather, the south half of the state, and in fact, the whole south half of the cornbelt, has been suffering.

Terrific temperatures, breaking all records in much of the southern half of the cornbelt, have caused an almost total loss of the corn crop in some areas. One county farm adviser from a north central Missouri county said that he doubted whether a bushel of corn would be produced in his county this year. Temperatures of 110 to 115 degrees were commonly reported in central Illinois, burning the crop and depleting what little soil moisture there was.

There was almost no rain in most areas accompanying the unprecedented heat, although this section of the country did have a timely rain which helped to break the heat wave. The areas most heavily damaged by the heat and lack of rain were Kansas, Missouri, southern Illinois and southern Iowa. Texas and Oklahoma have written off most of their corn crop as a total loss.

Although North Iowa farmers are having a much heavier than normal visitation from army worms, and reports seem to indicate a heavy infestation of second brood corn borers, still they are fortunate. The worms and the borers both can be handled fairly well with spray. Where the weather has been so hot and dry, farmers not only have had to see their crops suffering from the weather and from corn borers, but have had the additional worry of heavy damage from grasshoppers and chinch bugs.

All of this unfavorable weather is day by day whittling down the estimated July 1st corn crop of three and a third billion bushels, leaving North Iowa farmers, on whom the weather has comparatively smiled, in a pretty good position.

Joint Service

Rev. Vernon Jaberg, pastor of Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church, is vacationing in Wisconsin. In his absence, a joint service of the Methodist and Reformed Churches was held Sunday with Rev. Melvin Miller, pastor of the Methodist Church, in the pulpit.

The congregations of both churches turned out very well for this service and the Reformed Church was filled to capacity.

HARNESS

Marie Neuberger Bride of Arnold Miller

* * * * * *

Miss Marie Neuberger, daughter of Mr and Mrs William Neuberger of Ventura, became the bride of Arnold V. Miller, son of Mr and Mrs Claude Miller of Swaledale, Sunday July 18th at 8:00 P. M. in the Klemme Methodist Church. The Rev. Melvin Miller performed the double ring candle light ceremony. Baskets of white flowers decorated the church.

Maurice Jacobs played the organ music and accompanied Miss Jo Hanson who sang "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer" before the ceremony and Mr H. Milo who sang the "Lords Prayer" while the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white embroidery nylon with alternating flounces of embroidery nylon and nylon tulle skirt. The bodice was fashioned with a scalloper sweetheart neckline and long lace sleeves. Her fingertip veil, edged with lace, fell from a sweetheart bonnet. She carried an arm length bouquet of pink roses. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs Alvin Miller, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was matron of honor and Miss Shirley Liesener, friend of the bride was bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of blue and rose with matching headbands. Each carried a basket bouquet of carnations. The matron of honor in pink and the bridesmaid in white. Marolee Neuberger, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a dress styled the same as the brides and carried a miniature bouquet the the same as the matron of honor. Tommy Renner, friend of the couple, was ring bearer. He wore a light brown suit and carried the rings on a carnation.

The groom wore a light brown suit. Alvin Miller, brother of the groom, was bestman and Don Haerther, friend of the groom, was groomsman. They both wore light suits. They all wore white carnation boutonnieres. Herbert Fuller, Jr., cousin of the groom, and William Neuberger, Jr., brother of the bride were ushers.

Marna and Marlys Neuberger, sisters of the bride, lighted the candles. They wore matching dresses in pink and blue with wrist corsages and matching headbands.

The brides mother wore a black and white figured nylon dress with white accessories and the bridegrooms mother wore a navy-blue crepe dress with pink accessories. They both had corsages of baby pink roses.

Mrs John Neuberger, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs Emily Moore head grandmother of the groom, were special guests. Each had a pink carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception for about 175 guests was held in the church dining room, which was decorated in blue, white and rose. The serving table was centered with a square four-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The guest book was in charge of the brides aunt, Miss Ruth Neuberger. Pouring were Mrs Donald Luick and Mrs Howard Oehlert. Mrs Tom Hayes and Mrs Echo Grabbe cut the cake. Mrs Merlin Neuberger and Mrs John Sturges were the hostesses. Jeanne Trimble, Mrs Elton Mil-

Blacktop Program In County Gets Started

The Kenyon Construction Company of Des Moines began to move equipment to Woden the past week and started on the contract for the stabilizing of four and a half miles of road from Woden north and West to the County lines of Kossuth and Winnebago. This project is to be completed by early September according to County Engineer Charles K. Paulson.

The K. W. Craig Construction Company of Minneapolis, Minn has completed about two thirds of the construction work on the nine miles of Blacktop being constructed between Goodell and Kanawha according to County Engineer Paulson.

Farm Purchase Ok'd

Hancock County supervisors Monday approved the contract to purchase the southeast quarter of section twenty six, in Liberty township, from George Schoenwetter. The consideration listed was $48,000. This tract was purchased for gravel purposes and the purchase was approved by Hancock county voters at the Primary election in June. Approximately 100 acres of this 160 acre tract is underlaid with gravel suitable for road surfacing material ranging in depth up to 50 feet.

In Talent Show

Bueford Polsdofer, son of Mr and Mrs Art Polsdofer of Rockwell and Craig Lamp, son of Mr and Mrs Joe Lamp of Garner, were notified last week that they have been chosen to compete in the Venita Rich amateur talent show at the North Iowa Fair. This show will be the grandstand attraction on Sunday, August 15.

Bueford and Craig, who are accordion students of the Gerardi Music School of Klemme, were selected from some 200 prospective contestants at auditions held at radio station KGLO in Mason City, July 15.

Marriage Licenses

Hancock County Clerk Doris Young issued marriage licenses the past week to Lewis R. Formanek, 23, Garner, and Mary Ann Greiman, 21, Garner; and to Donald V. Hines, 20, Forest City, and Donna Mae Lucillle Boyken, 19, Woden.

Heart Attack Fatal To Mrs. Paul VanBuskirk

Mrs Paul VanBuskirk, 60, suffered a fatal heart attack at her home east of Klemme, Monday night. She had been in apparently good health until the time of the attack.

Gladys Verbelle VanBuskirk was born December 2, 1894, at Guthrie Center, Iowa, a daughter of the late John William and Columbia Lewis of Fort Dodge. In 1922, she was united in marriage with Paul VanBuskirk at Mason City. Since their marriage they have farmed in this vicinity. For the past several years they have made their home on a farm three miles east and a half mile north of Klemme.

Surviving besides her husband are a daughter, Mrs Leon Verbelle Gilpin, and three grandchildren, Dick, Paul, and Judith Gilpin of Meservey. Also eight sisters and four brothers.

Funeral services will be at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon from the Methodist Church in Klemme with Rev. Miller in charge.

If all the people of the world could take their example from the two Klemme churches, there would be a wonderful spirit of cooperation and harmony, and national disagreements would be a thing of the past. We have seen cases where churches in small towns were practically at one another's throats, and it has always seemed to us that such actions were completely out of line. The teachings of the Christianity stress the brotherhood of man, and if the churches can't get along with each other, we can see no way in which they could expect governments to get together in peace and harmony.

Our churches have no bone to pick with one another and the spirit of cooperation between them has always been good. Last Sunday's joint service, in which the Methodist minister, Rev. Miller, was in the pulpit at the Reformed Church while Rev. Jaberg was on vacation, was an outstanding example of the kind of relationship that should exist among churches.

After all, their teachings are basically the same, springing from the same source, and the ultimate goal is identical.

Klemme residents should be proud and thankful that they live in a community where such a church service as Sunday's can take place.

Speaking of cooperation among governments and people, we note that President Eisenhower has called for peace-loving people everywhere to unite spiritually to meet an opposition united by force and terror. Addressing the twelfth World's Christian Endeavor convention, he said it was his own deep conviction that men everywhere truly long for peace. "It is only governments that are stupid, not the masses of the people," he declared. He emphasized the necessity for the free world to remain strong economically and militarily in order to protect our freedom, but went on to say that guns and bullets could not produce a lasting peace. Only a spiritual reawakening which will rise above materialism will bring about any real and lasting peace according to the president.

He went on to state that "The task before the free world is to help make every man realize that he is meaningful; that when you defend his rights you are defending your own."

We are glad that a man as President Eisenhower is at the head of our country. We think that he has the necessary character and ideals that are prerequisite to being a great leader.

We are glad to see that the Iowa Highway Commission is beginning to standardize the markings on our highways with the markings used in other states. If you have driven on highway 69 recently you have noticed the broken white center line that is being used. Drive it in the rain some night and see how much better this type of center line shows up than did the old solid black stripe.

Not only have they changed to the irregular center line, but they have moved the yellow no-passing line from the center of the driving lane to the center of the road where it can be seen. The only trouble with standardizing the markings with the rest of the nation is that only three highways have been given the treatment. They are highway 69 and highways 6 and 30.

We know that "Rome wasn't built in a day", but we would like to see the rest of our highways take on the same markings as rapidly as possible.

We should all be thankful that our school is able to offer its students a complete driver education course. Recent statistics show that a complete course with practice driving cuts the number of accidents for trained drivers to one-half that of drivers who did not have this advantage. The statistics also show that driver education in high schools the past year saved 425 lives, prevented 14,910 traffic injuries and cut property damage by $42,600,000. Quite a set of figures!

The driver education program is growing but as yet only about one-fourth of the schools in the nation offer a complete course. If driver education in that small a percentage of the schools can effect a saving of lives and property as big as the statistics show, think what can be done as more and more schools offer this program to their students.

While not as a rule inclined to spreading rumors, we heard one the other day that we thought might be of interest to a lot of taxpaying residents of Klemme. It seems that on Monday, August 9th, the Town Council will meet to hear taxpayers either for or against the proposed budget of expenditures for the town of Klemme for the coming year, beginning January 1, 1955. While we couldn't pass it on as fact, still we heard it intimated that if enough people were on hand to express a willingness, it might be possible to add enough money to the budget to get calcium chloride on our streets next year and have money readily available in case it would become necessary to spray for mosquitoes again in 1955.

According to this rumor, an added appropriation of $450 would handle the calcium chloride proposition, while $375 added to the budget would make certain that funds would be on hand in case it became necessary to spray. The rumor went on to state that this $825 if divided up among the taxpayers of the town would not amount to too much taken from anyone's pocket.

Since Klemme has been sprayed for mosquitoes we have heard it said that many people think they are going to have to dig up money from their own pockets to pay for the service. These people are misinformed. The money to pay for spraying was taken from the town's liquor fund, and residents will not be assessed.

When the council first began to discuss the idea of spraying, the matter of finance was discussed, and the idea was advanced to collect so much from each property owner on a voluntary basis. However, it was found that the money in the liquor fund was available for this purpose, so all ideas of solicitation were dropped.

If anyone approaches you to collect money to pay for spraying, call the law.

The Chinese communists are a bold and crude outfit. They shoot down a British civil aircraft over the open seas and then state that they will shoot down any rescue craft. Regardless, survivors were taken off a raft by a U. S. plane. Later, U. S. Navy fighters looking for further survivors were attacked by Chinese communist fighters and a gunboat. Two of the attacking planes were sent down but our pilots did not molest the gunboat.

One would think that after an episode like this, the British would toughen their attitude toward the Chinese, but members of Parlament have censured the action of the U. S. pilots in shooting down the attacking Chinese craft. They thought that perhaps the shooting could have been avoided.

Perhaps it could have. Our fliers could have gone on about their business and had themselves shot full of holes. We are glad that they are under constant orders to defend themselves from aggressive actions. We would hate to think that officials of this country would want them to be sitting ducks.

As can be seen from past communist performances, the more you give in to them and the more you try to act in a civilized manner toward them, the more liable they are to take advantage of you.

We hope that our country will continue to act in a manner that shows that we will take no "monkey business". Because France gave in and Britain can't decide whether or not to get off the fence, we don't need to feel that we should be shoved around.

Avoid a poisonous snake when you can, but if you can't, smash him!

Insofar as we are concerned, Senator Flanders going after Senator McCarthy, is just like the "pot calling the kettle black" He can resort to as many half-truths and unsupported statements in talking about McCarthy as Joe can in trying to put a "red" label on someone who once knew a fellow named Ivan.

We would just as soon ship them both home and restore a little dignity to the senate. The office of senator calls for the prefix "Honorable". We would like to see those men who are senators conduct themselves in a manner that would make one feel that the use of the prefix was deserved.

The latest "Pat and Mike" story we heard gave us quite a chuckle and went thusly:

Mike: "Pat, what's this I hear about you joining the communist party?"

Pat: "Sure I did!"

Mike: "How come you to do a crazy thing like that?"

Pat: "I wasn't feeling so hot, so I went to the doctor. He said I was a sick man and gave me 10 days to live . . . and I'd rather it was a communist died any day, than a good Irishman."

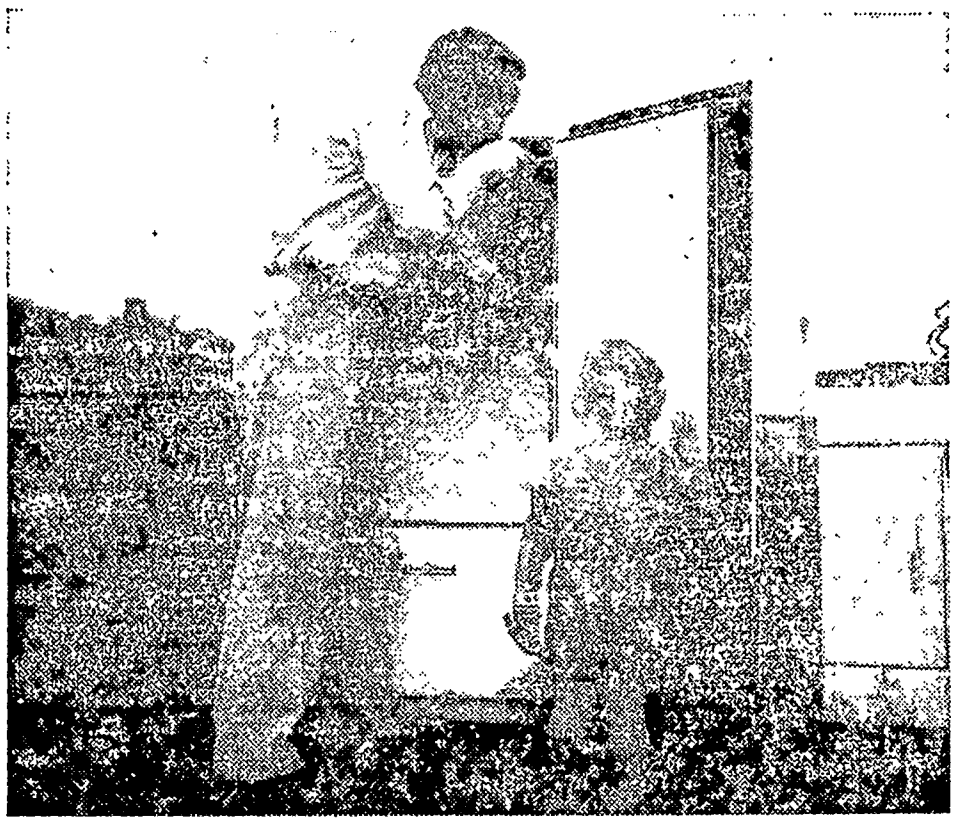
Prevent Possible Tragedy—

Remove Abandoned Refrigerator Doors



Here's one father who wants to make sure his young daughter won't accidentally get locked in this abandoned refrigerator when she's playing. He carefully removes the door before he leaves the refrigerator sitting out in the yard.

Summer is the ideal time for eager, young explorers to comb the neighborhood for good hiding places. And what is more fascinating to a curious youngster than an open door.

Will your children or your neighbor's children find a death trap behind the open door of an abandoned rafrigerator, ice box or home freezer? They might if you don't see that all such discarded equipment has the doors removed, or at least fixed so they can't latch tightly when closed.

In the past 6½ years, 91 children between two and twelve years of age have died from suffocation in abandoned airtight iceboxes. Once a door gets closed and the latch slips into place, there is no way to get out from the inside. There's little chance for people to hear calls for help either.

Naomi Shank, Iowa State College extension home management specialist, reminds us the open door to an unused refrigerator is as inviting to a youngster as a cave is. It makes such a good hiding place.

So often small children playing with bigger brothers and sisters want a real good hiding place. They gleefully crawl into such an abandoned cold chest, the door is closed and the older ones go on with their games and sometime forget them. They take it for granted that everybody will find his way out and catch up with the crowd.

Sometimes, too, an older child will put a younger one in an old refrigerator to scare him or "teach him a lesson".

Since you can't supervise the children's play all the time, your only real safeguard against this danger is the removal of the door, or at least the latch on the door.

If removal of the door hinges requires a special tool, you can at least take off the latch. That is merely a matter of removing one or two screws. However, it is best if you can remove the entire door, Miss Shank says. Even if the door won't latch, sometimes children get inside and get panicky when the door closes. They may not be strong enough to push the door open, or may not realize that just pushing will open it.

It's estimated that about 3 million iceboxes, refrigerators and freezers are abandoned annually on back porches, yards, in basements, attics storerooms, vacant lots and city dumps, as well as along the roadside.

Miss Shank urges you and your neighbors to start a campaign to get rid of these death traps.

She suggests the following steps to follow in your campaign:

1. Take latches or hinges off all discarded boxes in your neighborhood.

2. Call on dealers in your community who take traded-in refrigerators. Get their cooperation to take at least one screw out of the latch on obsolete refrigerators that might be in back of their business place or in back rooms. In the summer small children often wander in and out of stores without being noticed. Ask the dealer to take the door off completely when the refrigerator is no longer useful for resale purpose.

3. Organize periodical trips to the dump to remove doors from discarded iceboxes there.

Take children with you when you do these things. Explain the danger to them, and let them help with the safety measures.

the Highway Story

IOWA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

The frame house sits close to the highway, so close that Mrs. Downs can plainly hear the high, hard hum of cars approaching and the sudden wind-slam of their passing.

It was a sound that had become so much a part of her ten years in the house that, up to a month ago, she had ceased to hear it. She hears it now day and night.

And every time she hears that rubbery whine of a fast moving car, she waits to hear the long long incredibly long scream of brakes that reached her in the kitchen that day.

It seemed to last for hours, hours in which she could not move, could not stop what was happening, because she knew that a car was trying to stop for Johnny and could not stop in time.

Only a minute before, six-year-old Johnny had dashed out the front door. "Look in the mail box," she had called. The mail box was on the other side of the highway. Johnny was so careless about crossing, but she simply didn't have time to---Oh, not a speck of soda left in the box, well-------

The sound she didn't hear, the high, hard hum of a car coming fast. Then the sound she did hear, the shriek of wheels locked on the highway

Johnny had waited for an eastbound car to pass, then ran in front of a westbound car. He died while his mother stood in the kitchen and listened and crushed an empty soda box in her hands.

She hears it now, day and night, the hard rubbery whine of cars coming and the sudden, empty wind-slam of their passing.

William Howard Taft was the first President of the 48 states.

Bigger and Better Fair Progressing

The Fair Board slogan of a "Bigger and Better Fair in '54" is progressing at a rapid rate.

There will be many changes noticed since the 1953 fair. Number one is the long tunnel connecting the two beef barns which has been made into a sheep and swine barn. A low ceiling, which was removed, made the building undesirable for a swine and sheep barn last year.

Number two is the new building constructed on the north side of the tunnel for housing dairy and horses.

Number three is the show ring, will be enlarged so as to make sufficient room.

Number four there will be an exhibition tent 40' by 100' for commercial exhibits.

Number five space will be available for a machinery show.

Number six more special premiums will be offered for livestock members.

Number seven space will be available for rabbits, poultry and electricity projects.

Number eight rides will be available consisting of a pony ride, train ride, ferris wheel, merry-go-round and an airplane ride.

Number nine a new parking area south of the buildings.

Elise Mae VanWert, Home Economist and Bob Wilson, Co. Youth Assistant, report that a loud speaker system will be set up for the demonstration contest and for the livestock show ring so that people may hear as well as see what is going on.

Wilson and VanWert report that they expect record enteries in this year's fair with the enteries streaming in every day.

The Fair Board has not done as much as they would like but want to build a covered show ring, a new girls building to give them more space and possible new livestock building in the near future.

Twin Lake Go Getters Local Achievement Show

The Twin Lake Go Getters 4-H Club held their local achievement show at the Goodell Community Hall on Tuesday evening, July 27. A large crowd was on hand to enjoy the program put on by the girls and to help dispose of the ice cream, cake and coffee that they were serving.

Faye Janssen was seleced as the senior girl to represent our club in the style review at the County Fair at Britt and Theresa Lowenberg is to be our junior representative.

Following is a list of the items that members of the club plan to enter in the fair:

Skirt and school dress, Marcia Watne; Blouse and apron, Luann Wagge; blouse, housecoat, play clothes, and Sunday dress, Faye Janssen. These entries will all be in the senior division. Entries in the junior division will include skirt and pajamas, Betty Lauden; apron, Susan Watne; apron, Carol Kurtz; play clothes and school dress, Judy Eliason; play clothes and blouse, Janet Lange; blouse, Marilyn Pals; blouse and house coat, Patty Burk; apron, blouse, jumper, Sunday dress, scarf, and slip, Marcella Nuehring; night gown, Theresa Lowenberg.

The girls had a fine display of clothes at their achievement show; made possible by the cooperation of their parents and leaders. Leaders are Mrs Merle Janssen, Nora Eliason and Mrs Ervin Nuehring.

NIPPED

Three persons at Mediapolis had a harrowing experience recently when their pet daschund dog went mad, as they drove in their automobile, and began racing about in the car, biting two of them. Part of their fears proved groundless; the dog was found to have gone mad from poison, rather than rabies.

Ell Tip Toppers Met

The Ell Tip Toppers held their 4-H meeting at the home of Patty Tlack's, with Carol Humphrey as the co-hostess.

Meeting was called to order by LaVohn Josten. We answered roll call by telling "My Favorite Flower".

Lauaine Weiland, Margaret Haefner, LaVohn Josten and Gracka Gerardi are on the committee to find the members of the past thirty years.

Those on the committees for camp are:

Food committee—Joyce Thieman, Roxanne Back, Elaine Jurgemeyer and Patty Tlack.

Transportation committee—Ellen Waddingham, Melva Johnson and Margaret Haefner.

Kitchen committee—LaVohn Josten and Virginia Schubert.

A talk on "What to look for in buying clothes", was given by Virginia Schubert.

Margaret Haefner and Patty Tlack gave a demonstration on "Spot Removing".

Carol Humphrey gave a demonstration on "Putting on a Collar".

LaVohn Josten and Carol Humphrey gave a report on 4-H camp.

Avery Sunbeams Met

The meeting of the Avery Sunbeams was held at Ruth Ann Lauster's. Roll call was "An accident Hazard you have removed from your home".

Our Local Achievement at Goodell has been changed to the 29th of July instead of the 27th. The Jr and Sr demonstration teams gave their demonstrations. The seniors, Della Mae Avery and Darlene Ostendorf, have named their demonstration "Clothes Around the Clock". On the junior demonstration team is JoAnn Helps and JoAnne Jacobs who are demonstrating on "Handy Heming".

188 YEARS

Emmetsburg honored two of its "youngsters" recently; Mrs W. B. Young, who is 95, and Mrs Lewis Stuehmer, who is 93. Combined age of the two is 188 years.

Ell Midgets Met

Monday night July 26th the Ell Midgets met at the home of Doug Jass. The meeting was called to order by president LaVerne Josten and the pledge was said. We discussed making ice cream for local achievement We decided to make it at Donald Anderson's, Monday night at 6 o'clock. Byron Greiman is going to give the presidents report instead of the president since he is so busy in other activities. Committees were appointed for various things at County Ahievement Show. They are: Beef-Doug Jass; Horses-Wendall Humphrey; Hogs-Jerry Studer; and Dairy-LaVerne Josten. We decided to sell Christmas cards.

Ell Tip Toppers To Celebrate Their 30th Anniversary

Invitations have been sent out by the Ell Tip Toppers to all former members and leaders to attend a Silver Tea celebrating 30 successive years of 4-H for the girls of Ell Township. It is being held as a part of the Local Achievement, featuring a Style Revue in which each girl will wear some article of clothing she has cut, and sewed by herself. This will take place August 2nd at the Klemme High School at 7:30 P. M. The public is cordially invited to help them celebrate this big event and to see what our girls have achieved in the past year.

There will be door prizes and home made ice cream will be served with the lunch.

State Director of Selective Service Tells Registration Requirements

Every young man who reaches the age of 18 is required to register with the nearest Selective Service Local Board and a failure to register or a late registration is a violation of the Act

Colonel R A Lancaster, State Director, today outlined registration requirements under the Act as amended, which he believes are not thoroughly understood by the general public and especially those who are required to register with Selective Service

"The obligation to register is a continuing obligation and must be fulfilled," Colonel Lancaster said "This obligation to register is imposed by the Act on every male citizen and every other male person in the United States between the ages of 18 and 26 with the general exception of members of the Armed Forces and certain aliens"

All young men in Iowa must register on their 18th birthday or within five days thereafter It was explained "The fact that we are not at war does not excuse a young man from registering and the law makes no distinction between an outright failure to register and a late registration which is punishable by a fine of $10,000 or five years' prison or both for a violation of the provisions of the Act."

Colonel Lancaster pointed out that if a young man is away from his home he need not return to register but may do so at the nearest local board convenient to him and the record will be sent to the local board having jurisdiction over his place of residence After he registers it is mandatory that he keep his local board informed of any change in address or status This requirement applies from the time he registers until his Selective Service obligation has been satisfied."

Registrants who have received no deferments have a continuing liability to keep their local board informed until they reach the age of 26 and registrants who have been deferred for one reason or another have a continuing liability to keep their local board informed until they reach the age of 35.

Life expectancy at birth in the 17th Century was 18.2 years In the 20th Century it is 58-60 years.

Floods Show Necessity For Conservation Work; Farmers May Still File

Hancock County farmers may still file applications for the government to share the cost of needed soil and water conservation practices which can be carried out this year, it has been announced by A. E. Rasmussen, chairman of the county ASC committee

He stated that applications should be filed at the ASC office in Garner at the earliest possible time to avoid unnecessary delay in starting practices authorized by the county committee Any owner or operator of a Hancock county farm is eligible to file a request for cost sharing conservation work, the chairman said.

There are a number of practices offered in the Agricultural Conservation Program of the ASC which will fit into the work schedule of farmers at the present time or immediately after small grain harvest, according to Mr Rasmussen. These include terraces and diversion terraces, grass waterways, tiling, spreading of limestone, pasture improvement, land clearing and land leveling A complete list of approved practices and the requirements for cost sharing may be reviewed by farmers at the county ASC office.

The ASC chairman declared the heavy rains and flood waters of June revealed the great need of extensive conservation work in the county and the state as a whole He said that much of the heavy loss of topsoil resulting from the heavy rains and high water could have been substantially avoided "if farmers had only performed needed conservation in years gone by".

The government's cost-sharing conservation plan was inaugurated 20 years ago but this is the first time farmers have been given the privilege of filing requests at any time during the year Another feature of this year's program is that each approval of a request advised the farmer of the exact amount he will receive in the way of cost sharing if he completes the practice and also tells him the date by which the practice must be completed. By fixing a completion date, it is possible for the county ASC to check progress being made on the practices and to re-pledge government funds released through failure of early applicants to meet completion dates.

HEY RUBE—Herschel Bauchanan, the "Rube Goldberg" of stock car racing from Shreveport, La., will drive a 1954 Hudson in the 100 mile race at the North Iowa Fair on Saturday, August 14. Don Butterfield, an outstanding motorcycle rider has entered the American Motorcycle Association races slated for Tuesday, August 10. Latest entry for the Fair's big car races on Sunday, August 15, came from former hot-rod champion Andy Anderson of Hastings, Nebraska.

Peaches and pears probably will be the best buys in fruits for Hancock county homemakers who can fruits this year, Francis A Kuhlen Iowa State College Farm Economist reports

The nation's peach crop is slightly smaller than last year, but the reduction was all in the southern states, which normally don't ship to Iowa. California has a one-fifth larger peach crop than last year

And here's good news for the Iowa canners who like to put up Colorado peaches Prospects in Colorado are generally good with the crop nearly 50 percent larger than last year's small crop and about 10 percent above average Kuhlen reports

The Colorado peaches will start moving a little earlier than usual this year because of early maturity

The western Bartlett crop—the kind we can in Iowa—is somewhat larger than last year California has a 40 percent larger Bartlett crop than last year But the Bartlett crop in Washington and Oregon is somewhat smaller than a year ago

Idaho has a smaller blue prune crop than last year It is well below average.

The nation's apricot crop is down top. Both will be relatively high-priced.

Visitors From All Parts Of World See Iowa

The Iowa Development Commission was not surprised when it opened a letter bearing a British postmark and examined the request of an 11-year-old girl for information concerning the State of Iowa and included with the remark, "Mummy and Daddy think the British and American people should know each other better"

From January 1 to July 15th of this year, over 19,000 requests for information about the state have been received by the commission, as compared to about 18,700 during the same period last year.

The daily mail often represents such nations as Canada, Great Britain, Spain, Mexico, Portugal, Argentina Japan, and Australia, while the greatest number of domestic requests for travel information comes from California, Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois and Washington.

Of those more than 19,000 inquiries since the first of the year, some 2,000 plus have concerned tourist attractions and accommodations throughout the state, with nearly 1,500 requests for travel information having been received since April 1st.

10 YEARS AGO—

Seaman Eugene Habercamp arrived Saturday evening from Farragut, Idaho, to spend a furlough visiting with relatives in this community.

A number of relatives and friends held a birthday surprise party for Wert Loger at his home near Klemme, Sunday evening. After a social evening was enjoyed, ice cream and cake were served and Mr Loger was presented with a nice gift.

Mrs Clara Barz entertained at dinner Sunday in honor of her son, Pvt. Allen Barz, who was home for the day from Madison, Wisconsin.

Roy Smock entered Mercy Hospital at Mason City, Monday evening and Tuesday morning underwent an operation on his leg. He expects to be back home in a day or two.

20 YEARS AGO—

Mildred Schoenwetter of Cedar Falls came home for the week end to visit with home folks. She returned Sunday afternoon.

Ethel Baack has returned from her vacation trip through the Wisconsin Dells and other points of interest in Wisconsin.

A team tractor which had been brought to town for repairs and left near the Etchen Garage Tuesday night, provided someone with some good sport. The tractor had been steamed up during the day and somebody conceived the bright idea of tying the whistle down and giving the natives "sweet music" along about midnight. The whistle tooted for a considerable length of time before the noise probably got on somebody's nerves and they got up and shut off the screeching. Anyway, it was a good joke!

Verle Keraus and Roy Smock came from the CCC camp at Forest City, Friday evening to visit in Klemme over the week end.

30 YEARS AGO—

There is a shortage of yearling and two year old farm horses in Iowa, and in fact all over the country, according to Prof. A. B. Caine of the animal husbandry department of Iowa State College. Every farmer in the opinion of Prof. Caine would do well to push his colt crop to the maximum. He can rest assured that with the present lack of farm animals he will find a good market for his surplus colts.

Roy Schaefer and family drove to Charles City, Sunday Mr A. Wellemeyer went out to the Schaefer farm that evening to help his son "Jack", with the chores. Art said they milked a total of four cows.

The "Poverty Hill" Threshing Company held a business meeting at the "Poverty Hill" Farm Tuesday.

Mr and Mrs Edwin Josten, accompanied by Lucille Weisbrod who had been visiting them for a week, drove to Fenton, Sunday to return Lucille to her home.

Ruth Circle Met

Ruth Circle No. 1 met Thursday, July 22, at the home of Mrs Edwin Josten, with Mrs Kermit Schlei serving as cohostess.

Marcelle Josten played a marimba selection, "Bless This House".

Mrs Harry Gibbs gave the lesson and devotions. The program was planned for the coming year. There were fourteen members and two visitors present.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses.

Summer Months Bad For Drowning Accidents

Fifty three persons died from swimming accidents in Iowa during the last year, according to the Division of Vital Statistics of the Iowa State Department of Health, and there are indications that the number will be even higher this year.

The summer months are the worst for drowning accidents. Last year 12 persons drowned in June, 8 in July and 11 in August.

Drowning accidents are needless. They could be non-existent if everyone would follow these suggestions for safe summer swimming.

1. Never Swim Alone.

2. River currents are dangerous and river depths unpredictable. Swim in properly supervised municipal pools. They are the only safe places to swim.

3. Wait one hour after meals before entering the water.

4. Don't swim after vigorous exercise or tiring work.

5. Swim reasonably close to the shore. Don't venture into deep water trusting to the support of water wings, an inflated tube, or another swimmer.

6. Muscle cramps are warning signs. They mean get back on dry land!

7. Night bathing is for expert swimmers only, in familiar water, and when accompanied by other bathers.

8. Swimming from anchored or unanchored boats in deep water is unsafe—even for accomplished swimmers.

9. Come out of the water before you feel tired or chilly. Staying in the water after you feel tired and cold not only endangers your safety but lowers your resistance to various infectiuos diseases.

10. Always keep an eye on children as they play in and around water.

11. Make your swimming holiday a happy one by keeping it safe.

Three of the top women volunteers of the United States Savings Bonds Program gather at the White House beside a beautiful "flower savings bond" to call attention to the 13th anniversary of the Bond Program. Pictured with the First Lady, Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Honorary Chairman of the National Women's Advisory Committee of the Treasury's Savings Bonds Division, are Mrs. George M. Through the National Women's Advisory Committee, the three women leaders are urging American women to purchase Savings Bonds regularly, and to retain maturing Series E bonds for additional interest. The flower savings bond was a gift of the Allied Florist Association to the National Women's Advisory Committee.

Lyle Goll to Attend Conference at Ames

Seven Hancock County 4-H Club members will attend livestock judging conference at Iowa State College Saturday, July 31, according to County Extension Youth assistant Bob Wilson, of Garner.

The group will comprise the Hancock County 4-H livestock judging squad. Members of this squad will compete in the state judging contests as representaives of this county. Members of the squad making the trip to Ames will be Lyle Goll of the Ell Midgets, Gerald Gabel and Paul Smith of the Amsterdam Boosters, all members of last year's team, Roger Vander Ploeg of the Erin Enterprisers, Dick and Roger Christensen of the Garfield Sluggers Club and Harvey Johnson of the Madison Lucky Seven. They will be accompanied by Bob Wilson, County Youth Assistant, as their leader and coach. These livestock judges will report at the meat laboratory, sheep barn, animal husbandry pavilion or swine pavilion on the college campus at 9 A. M.

Judging squads from throughout Iowa will attend the judging conference at Ames either July 31 or August 7 to get judging training under conditions similar to those they will meet in state competition. Livestock from the college herds will be used. The boys will work under the direction of their own coaches, who will have the help of college animal husbandmen. There is no competition in the judging conference, which is intended only to give the squads practice and experience in judging.

Watch for Heating Hay During July and August

July and August are the critical months for hay fires. Paul Henderson Hancock County extension director, advised close watching of stored hay for signs of excessive heating.

Three danger signals are given off by heating hay. You will be able to detect a burning odor or a noticeable vapor, or the hay will feel hot when you thrust your hand into it.

However, only one of these signals is needed to warn you of danger.

First step in dealing with hot hay is to locate the source of trouble, the "hot spot".says Henderson. Sometimes, there may be more than one "hot spot". A metal rod, about 3/8 inch in diameter and long enough to reach halfway through the hay, can be pushed into the hay from several directions to pinpoint the "hot spot".

Your next move is to measure the temperature of the heating hay. If a commercial probe is unavailable, push a steel pipe with a sharp wooden plug into the "hot spot". attach a dairy thermometer to a string, lower it into the pipe and leave for 15 minutes.

If the thermometer registers 100 degrees or less, there is no danger. Check daily when temperature is 120 to 130 degrees. At 140 to 150 degrees, readings every 2 to 3 hours are needed. When temperature is 160 to 180 degrees and is still rising, call your local fire department and obtain plenty of help to remove the hay. The hay should be moved about 200 feet from the barn and spread on the ground.

You may be able to gain additional time for moving by sprinkling dry ice on top of the hay or by piping carbon dioxide into it. However, these measures are usually regarded as temporary safeguards.

Henderson adds one caution. If you suspect your hay of heating, avoid crossing the hay unless you have long planks on which to walk. There may be "burned out" spots within the stored hay.

Fishing Too Good

Bullhead fishing in Lost Island Lake has been red-hot this summer; in fact, it's been a little too good for some fishermen.

Conservation Officer Basil Downing recently arrested two anglers at the lake who had slightly exceeded their legal limits of 25 bullheads apiece.

The two fishermen had 200 bullheads over their limit. They evidently had trouble counting all their fish, but Downing gave them an expensive arithmetic lesson . . . . the two men were fined $100 apiece in a Spencer court.

Proceedings of the County Board of Supervisors

5TH ADJOURNED JUNE MEETING

Garner, Iowa
July 19, 1954

The Hancock County, Iowa, Board of Supervisors met in regular session on above captioned date pursuant to adjournment with Supervisors C. D. Daniels, Sam Barber and C A. Bird present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read.

In the matter of the letting on the purchase of a 1954 passenger car, said letting was held as scheduled. The Chairman of the Board proceeded to open all bids on file and after duly considering each and every bid on file the Board finds the bid of Bud Pritchard, Inc. of Garner in the sum of $1,733.60 to be the lowest and best bid on file.

BE AND IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors that the bid of Bud Pritchard, Inc of Garner, Iowa be and the same is hereby accepted as the lowest and best bid for the purchase of a 1954 passenger automobile as per specifications submitted to all bidders. All other bids are hereby rejected.

WHEREAS demands on the Poor Fund of Hancock County are excessive and current receipts are insufficient to meet the necessary expenditures and

WHEREAS there is a balance in the Emergency Fund of Hancock County in the sum of $1,079.11, and it is deemed for the best interest for the taxpayers of Hancock County that said balance be transferred to the Poor Fund of Hancock County.

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED that the sum of $1,079.11 be and the same is hereby ordered transferred from the Emergency Fund to the Poor Fund and the Auditor is hereby authorized and ordered to make said transfer and to notify the County Treasurer to correct his records accordingly. Supervisor Barber moved the adoption of the foregoing resolution which was seconded by Supervisor Daniels voted and unanimously carried.

On motion by Supervisor Barber and second by Supervisor Daniels the petition of Laurance Radloff et al for a drainage improvement in Ell Township is placed on file and tentatively approved and Wm. SURPRISE!

(Another fable not by Aesop)

There was a farmer who let it be known he needed some machinery. The news got around to his OLIVER dealer and the two of them went 'round and 'round. The farmer thought that because the dealer wanted less money than some others that the machinery was poor stuff, but he bought it anyway. THEN he found that the stuff he bought was not only equal in quality to what he could have bought elsewhere, but in many respects, better.

1954 Seasons Set for Rabbits and Squirrels

The 1954 squirrel and rabbit seasons for Iowa have been set by the State Conservation Commission, with no changes over the seasons of last year.

The 1954 Iowa squirrel season will open on September 15, 1954, and extend through November 15, 1954. The entire state will be open, with a bag limit of six (6) squirrels daily and a possession limit after the first day of the season of twelve (12) squirrels. The season includes both fox and gray squirrels.

The 1954-1955 Iowa rabbit season will extend from September 15, 1954 to January 31, 1955, both dates inclusive. Shooting hours are from 6:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. daily. The daily bag limit of rabbits is ten (10) and there is no possession limit. The rabbit season includes both cottontails and jackrabbits.

Hunting seasons for other game birds and animals will be announced as they are set.

Swallowed Safety Pin

The seven-month-old son of Mr and Mrs Raymond Christians had a narrow escape Saturday afternoon when he swallowed an open safety pin. Dr. Dulmes located the pin and the boy was taken to Mercy Hospital at Mason City. Luckily the pin had lodged point down, so removal was comparatively simple. No surgery was required.

Items In Use When Iowa Was Young to Be Featured at Fair

Final details of the Centennial highlights being planned for this year's Iowa State Fair, August 28-September 6, were announced today by exposition officials.

The reconstruction of Iowa's first state fairgrounds at Fairfield, to be located near the old mill on the state fairgrounds here, will serve as headquarters for the many centennial attractions. Included are:

TRANSPORTATION SHOW, featuring many of the old surries, buckboards, buggies, and other vehicles from pioneer days in Iowa.

OLD FASHIONED FARM IMPLEMENTS, old - time plows, cultivators, threshing machines, planters, treadmills, and including the orginal tractor from the nation's first completely mechanized farm near Burlington.

FRONTIER TRAIN, similar to the first "iron horse" that steamed into Iowa territory.

PIONEER HOME FURNISHINGS, early type sewing machines, churns, rolling pins, furniture, tableware.

INDIAN VILLAGE, Sac and Indians form the Tama reservation, living in tepees and wickiups, with demonstrations of dances and handicrafts.

Old automobiles, pioneer home interiors, an extensive cino collection, antique show, old-fashioned style revue, skits, pageants, and centennial fireworks are also among the features scheduled to commemorate 100 years of Iowa state fairs.

The Rev V J Hintgen officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mass servers were Joseph Neilson of Garner, Bobby Schilling, Francis Ethen and Kenneth Simon of Stacyville. James Staudt was organist and the church choir sang nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride had as flower girl her niece, Barbara Jo Young of Garner. Ring bearer was Wayne Meyer, a nephew of the bride.

Maid of honor was Emilie Ann Thome, a sister of the bride. Miss Mary Ann Pannhoff, sister of the bridegroom, and Gloria Nielson of Garner, a cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids.

Benny Thome, brother of the bride, was bestman and Lyle Pannhoff, brother of the bridegroom, and Joseph Thome, brother of the bride, Raplh Thome and Vernon Mayer, ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception and dinner for 100 guests was held in Visitation social center hall.

Miss Thome was graduated from Visitation High School and has been employed by the Telephone Company at Garner the past year.

Mr Pannhoff is with the ASC office in Garner where they will live after a trip to the Dells of Wisconsin.

Budget Hearing

If you are interested in calcium chloride for Klemme's streets next year, be on hand at the budget hearing at the fire station next Monday night, August 9 at 7:30. If enough people express a willingness for this project, no doubt the Town Council would see fit to include enough money in the budget to take care of getting the work done.

Some $825 added to the budget would take care of the calcium chloride and would insure adequate funds for spraying for mosquitoes if it became necessary.

Face Lifting For Don's D-X Station

Donald Shaefer, proprietor of Don's D-X Service, has been making big plans toward celebrating his 5th anniversary of being in business. His ad on the back page of this week's isue of The Times goes into considerable detail about the way in which he will observe this event.

Don plans on having his station and the premises spotless on the day of the celebration, which will be this coming Saturday, August 7th. To further enhance the appearance of his place of business for the celebration, he is giving it a face lifting with a new coat of paint.

Family Honored

More than 100 relatives and friends gathered at the grade school for a picnic in honor of Mr and Mrs Eugene Kluckhohn and children of Austin, Texas. Mr and Mrs Kluckhohn and family are spending a few days visiting at the parental Mr and Mrs Albert Shmidt home and the Mr and Mrs Clarence Kluckhohn home.

Local Legion Auxiliary Cited for Service

The Adams Shaefer unit of the American Legion Auxiliary in Klemme has just received from the Department Office in Des Moines, a Citation for Meritorious Service, signed by the Department President Edith Young of Marshalltown and Blanche G. Allbee, Department Secretary-Treasurer, Des Moines.

The Citation reads as follows: That the local unit is rated a Standard unit for the year 1953-1954 and merits Special Recognition for services rendered in carrying on the program of the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Iowa, as suggested under the Citation Credit Point System.

These citations are mailed to units in the Iowa Department qualifying for this distinction, at the close of the year's business and previous to the Department Convention.

Mrs Cora Schaefer in making public this honor to her unit, announces the following delegates attended the 34th Annual Convention, held in Des Moines, July 28, 29, and 30, at KRNT Theater: Mrs Lois Chambers and Mrs Carrie Schwichtenberg.

Federal Funds Benefit School Children Through Hot Lunch Program

School children in Hancock County benefited to the extent of $9,423.69 in Federal funds used to help finance their noon lunches during the school year 1953-54, Chas S Whitney County Superintendent of Schools announced today.

Nine (9) Hancock County schools participated in the Iowa school Lunch Program during the past year. In these schools 239,-520 Type A or complete lunches were served. Of this number 4,708 were served free to children unable to pay.

In addition to these funds, Whitney reports that the schools received without cost to them except for the transportation from the distribution center, a large variety of commodities, such as canned peas, canned peaches, tomato pastes, canned tomatoes, peanut butter, dry beans, dried apricots, grapefruit sections, and orange juice. The above items were purchased from a part of the school lunch appropriation as authorized by the National School Lunch Act. In addition, the following surplus commodities were distributed to schools and institutions during the past year, processed cheese, print butter, frozen ground beef, canned beef and gravy, and cotton seed oil shortening.

Mr Whitney said the money paid to participating schools in this county is part of the total of $942,689 alloted to the public schools of Iowa to help finance the lunch program in the 890 participating schools. That word comes from C W Bangs, the State Director of the School Lunch Division of the Department of Public Instruction. This division administers both the school lunch program and the commodity distribution in Iowa.

Bangs also reports that the total value of commodities distributed to schools and eligible institutions amounted to approximately $1,500,000.

OBITUARY Of Mr. Peter Trampel

By Rev Vernon E. Jaberg.

Mr Peter Trampel, whose death is mourned by his family, loved ones and friends, was the son of John and Anna Trampel and was born on February 16, 1879, at Beshotenweg in Germany.

In 1881 he came with his parents to the United States and locaed on a farm near Kamrar in Liberty township. He was educated in the schools of the Kamrar community.

On March 1, 1905, he was united in marriage with Miss Jennie Schaa and the Trampels lived on a farm southeast of Kamrar for a period of three years and later moved to a farm one_half mile south of Kamrar. In 1921 the Trampels moved to a farm in Hancock County, Iowa, near Klemme, where they have lived these past thirty-three years.

While residing in Kamrar, Mr Peter Trampel was a member of the Kamrar Presbyterian Church, on moving to the vicinity of Klemme, Mr Trampel became a member of Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church of Klemme.

After a period of illness Mr Trampel died on Saturday, July 17, at 3:30 P. M. at the Good Samaritan Home in Mason City, Iowa. Mr Trampel attained the age of 75 years, 5 months and 1 day.

Mr Trampel is survived by his wife, and three sons: John Trampel, Burchinal, Harmen Trampel, Meservey; and Clarence Trampel, Klemme; and by two daughters, Mrs Wemkie Cavitt, and Anna, Mrs Arthur Conners Klemme; he is also survived by eleven grandchildren and one sister, Tille, Mrs Henry Husinga of Sibley and by three brothers, Adolf and Joe Tram_pel of Kamrar, and Sinus Trampel of Williams, Iowa.

Mr Trampel was preceded in death by his parents, an infant son Melbourne, and by brothers, August and John, and sister, Christ[illegible].

10 YEARS AGO—

Pvt and Mrs Loren Gast left last week for San Antonio, Texas where Loren is stationed in the air corps. They drove their car back after Loren had enjoyed about a three weeks furlough in which he assisted with harvesting and other farm work.

Miss Barbara Johnson of Humboldt came Thursday for a visit over the week end with Miss Eunice Larsen at the C A Larsen home.

The Becker families and relatives held a get-to-gether and noon picnic at the Klemme Park Sunday. The gathering was in honor of Seaman Eugene Haberkamp who was home on furlough.

Walter Rosendahl has purchased the latest model of hay baler from the Northern Implement Store and expects to have it delivered soon. Walt is one of the "pioneer" hay balers around here and the number of bales he has turned out in the past few years would make a sizeable pile of hay in anybody's back yard.

20 YEARS AGO—

A big surprise was held on Mr and Mrs Wm Hampel Sunday at their home. While they were gone to church the crowd arrived. A hundred and eleven were present including all old friend and neighbors in honor of their wedding anniversary and also her birthday which was on that day. They all brought well filled baskets for the big dinner which was very much enjoyed by all.

Mr and Mrs Emil Blumer and daughters Marcelle and Mildred, are visiting at Colesburg. Mr and Mrs Will Keraus are doing the work in their absence.

Ing. Lauritsen and Ben Swalve drove in from Sheboygan, Wisconsin, Saturday afternoon and visited with Klemme relatives and transacted business here. They returned to Sheboygan Monday afternoon.

Miss Ruth Bailey returned from her eastern trip on which she was accompanied by a girl friend. The young ladies visited Washington, D C, Niagara Falls and other points of interest.

30 YEARS AGO—

The town is hauling gravel on the road leading west from Main Street to connect with the Wilson Highway. This will be a good improvement.

Dr W F Missman and son Byrnes, of this city and Mr Ely of Belmond, returned last Wednesday from Wisconsin. We understand Dr Missman put up a cottage at a lake there and later the Missman family will all go for an outing there.

Klemme and vicinity were well represented at Ringling's Circus at Mason City yesterday. The rain on Tuesday made it impossible for the farmers to work Wednesday and so gave them a good opportunity to see the biggest show on earth.

The Misses Ethel Wellemeyer and Elvira Stille returned on Thursday of last week from their vacation spent visiting friends at Corwith and Kanawha.

Avery Sunbeams Hold Local Achievement Show

The Avery Sunbeams held their Local Achievement Show at the E U B Church in Goodell on Thursday, July 29th.

The Senior and Junior Demonstration Teams gave their demonstrations. This year Mrs Wm Reinhart and Mrs Roy Arnold helped the Senior team and Mrs Harry Ostendorf helped the Junior team.

We put on a skit to the song of "Man". We sold hats made of cooking utensils and made $6.00.

We had a style review with Mrs Carl Wille, Mrs Marie Wille and Mrs Schaefer as the judges.

The senior girl that gets to go to the County Achievement Show is Elizabeth Lemke and the junior girl to go is Joyce Nordman.

The Style Review at County will be held the evening of Aug. 9th at Britt.

Our club made $42.00 selling home made ice cream and cake.

Liberty Busy Bees

The regular meeting of the Liberty Busy Bees was held Wednesday P. M., July 21, at the home of Barbara and Virginia Hughes. Sixteen members answered roll call, "What I am Making for Local Achievement Show". Eight guests were present.

After entertainment by the hostesses the following lessons were given: Talk "Care of our clothing", by Gail Knutson; Demonstration "Putting in a Set in Sleeve", by June Mayland. Betty Clayton and Darlene Hrubes gave their team demonstration, "Putting in Hems". Nancy Farquhar and Carolyn Jass gave their demonstration, "Making Belts with Fabric Buckles". We worked on our record books. They are to be handed in to the leaders Friday, July 30.

Plans were made for our local achievement day which will be August 4, in the Recreation room of the Aaron Stromer home. We will have our Style Revue then. Gail Knutson, Barbara and Betty Clayton and Marlys Psotka will be in charge of food and recreation for the local achievement show. All our mothers and friends are invited to attend.

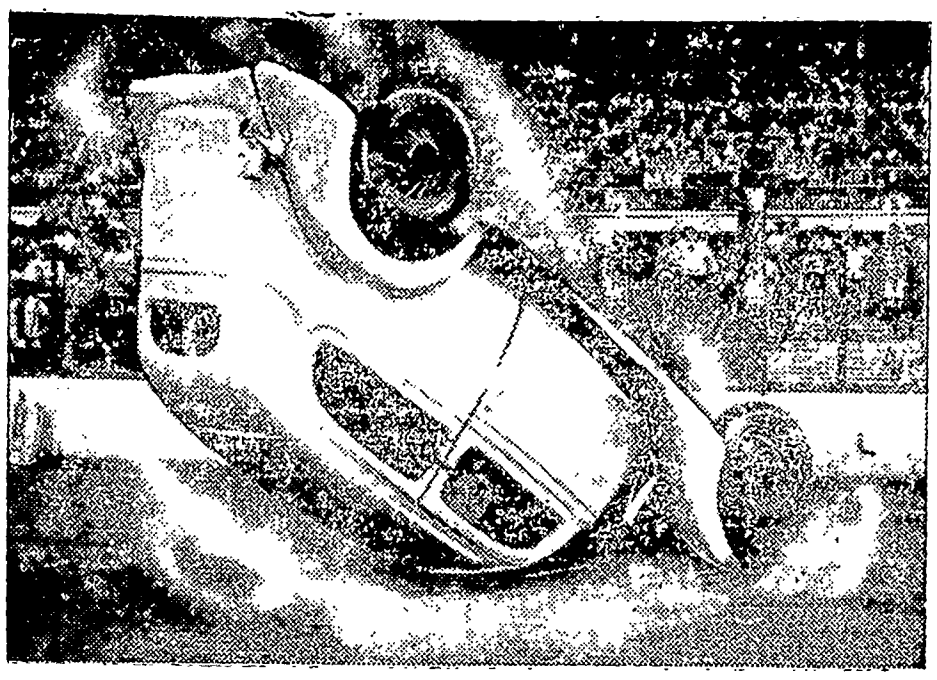
Centennial Thrills A-Plenty



DES MOINES—They're getting ready to smash 'em up again at the Iowa State Fair. Somersaulting cars, head-on crashes, motorcycles and automobiles roaring through walls of flame, the human battering ram riding the hood of speeding car through blazing barriers—these are a few of the 20 spine-tingling events scheduled for Thrill Days at this year's Centennial exposition here. Comedy acts, trick and fancy 'cycle riding, 4-car auto ball for the international championship, and a bang-up Destruction Derby are also on the bill for both Thrill Days, Monday afternoon, August 30 and Thrusday afternoon, September 2 at the State Fair.

Thrills Galore For State Fair Visitors

More than 35 automobile and motorcycle stunts, performed by the nation's top stunt drivers, are scheduled for Thrill Days at the Iowa Centennial State Fair, Aug. 28 to Sept. 6.

The Aut Swenson company will stage its thrills at the grandstand show on Monday afternoon, August 30. Motorcycle crashes through flaming barriers, steeplechase auto racing, ramp-to-ramp auto leaps, and a destruction derby with jalopy drivers crashing into each other in an elimination contest are among the featured events.

Other highlights of the Swenson show include the "Flying Perch," with Yvone LaCosta strapped to a revolving rack atop a speeding car, auto polo, motorcycle soccer, and clown acts.

The Thrill Day performance on Thursday, September 2, will be presented by Newberry Thrill Enterprises and will include precision driving exhibitions, human battering rams, a battle royal of five cars, and a crash rollover contest. Other events scheduled are a motorcycle catapault contest featuring John Orrico, who holds the record with a leap over four cars, aerial wing-overs in which speeding cars are driven on one and two wheels, and head-on crashes.

FOURTH

When infant Michael John McCool of Clarion was baptized recently, the gold chain he wore around his neck was being worn as a baptismal emblem in the fourth generation. Originally, it was worn by his great-grandmother at her baptism, 90 years ago.

KILLED

Nine year old Jimmie Higgin of near Griswold was killed recently, apparently run over by a water-wagon hitched to a tractor, which his father was filling the hog tanks. They found Jimmy lying on the ground moments later, and he died within a short time.

The first postage stamps were issued in 1847.

the Highway Story

IOWA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

The romantic urges of a man we'll call Blake provide us this week with a happier story than we usually have to tell.

Blake was new in the town when this happened. He was living a rather lonely life in the local hotel while he looked around for bachelor quarters and waited for his new job to start.

One afternoon he was driving slowly along a street that bordered the town idly looking at "Room for Rent" signs, when a car passed him from behind.

Blake's casual eye caught the image of a very pretty girl behind the wheel. Had she smiled? Blake had to find out. He immediately passed the car and this time took a deliberate look.

Yes, a beautiful girl. And yes, she did smile. Blake went on and slowed down to a creep. Again the girl passed and again she smiled. Ah, very pleasant, thought Blake. Promising!

For the length of the street the two cars maneuvered slowly around one another while the occupants exchanged broadening smiles. Then the girl made a left turn. Blake was unable to follow.

A few minutes later, a highway patrolman coming into town found Blake standing in the street looking at the smashed grill of his car. The patrolman stopped, and asked Blake what had happened.

Blake told the story of the girl. "But how did you manage to run into the back of her car?" the patrolman asked.

"She put her hand out for a left turn," Blake said," and to tell you the truth, I was looking to see if she had a ring on her finger. I forgot to put on the brake."

JUMPING COW

At Plainfield, a cow jumped over a fence—and lit in an automobile. Three year old Janice Bahlmann, who was sitting in the car when the frightened animal came hurtling in, received a broken collar bone.

Worry! Worry!

(Another Fable Not By Aesop)

Once upon a time there was a man who had a whopping big corn crop to pick. He admired his field and thought on the number of bushels to the acre his corn would make . . . but he forgot something.

He forget that his old corn picker was in bad need of repair, and by the time he got around to seeing about having it fixed up, the repair man was too busy to handle the job right away . . . so he had to sit and wait and worry.

His neighbor, too, had thought on how good his corn was, but at the same time, he had gone to see his OLIVER DEALER about getting needed repairs for his picker. When the time came, all he had to do was go to work getting his corn out, and laugh up his sleeve at his neighbor who was short on foresight.

Moral: Don't be caught short. See your OLIVER DEALER either about repairs or a new OLIVER PICKER and your worries will be over.

Bigger and Better Junior Fair August 9, 10 and 11

Plans have been completed for a "Bigger and Better Fair in 54". The activities will begin Sunday afternoon at 2:30 when 4-H and FFA members will bring there animals to the fairgrounds. Early arrival of animals helps them to get settled so they will show to better advantage the day of judging. There will be activity in the commercial tents where the dealers will be getting their exhibits prepared. On the north side of the buildings the machinery exhibit will be in place. The rides northwest of the buildings will feature a ferris wheel, airplanes, pony rides, merry-go-round and train.

The fair board wants to announce that there will be no charge to enter the fairgrounds or to look over any of the exhibits. You may come and stay as long as you like.

The Girl's 4-H style revue will highlight the Tuesday evening program held at 8 p. m. Also it will feature judges comments on exhibits, Jr and Sr. Demonstrations and the style revue contest. Ribbons and awards will be presented to the demonstration teams and the style revue contestants. Other evening entertainment will include Joan Nelson of the Orthel Jolly Worker club reciting the Country Girl's creed and the Rural Woman's Chorus singing.

A style revue will be presented with Doreen Lackore of Ell Tip-Toppers and Frances Anderson of the Ellington Experts 4-H club as M C's and the 32 girls, representing the Jr. and Sr. divisions of each local 4-H club, will model their outfits. The girls have made their own dresses or suits and have chosen suitable accessories. They were chosen to represent their local clubs because of their snap and style, poise, record books and good sewing construction.

Navy Announces That Wait Is Shortened for Enlistment Applicants

Lieutenant D L Davis, U S Navy, Officer in Charge of the Des Moines Recruiting District announced that waiting lists of applicants for enlistment in the U S Navy Recruiting Stations within the state has reached the point where there is no longer an appreciable delay beween the the time a man makes application and the time he can actually enter the Navy.

Lieutenant Davis stated that this would undoubtedly be cheerful news to many Iowa men who wish to enter the Navy with their buddies, or those who are looking for an immediate job with good pay and security.

For more information concerning enlistment in the United States Navy contact your Navy Recruiter, at the Post Office Building, Mason City, Iowa.

When Time Lags in the Summer—

Let the Family Do Things Together

This whole family takes time out to explore the neighborhood for interesting things to see. Watching a new house go up can be an interesting and educational experience for parents and children alike.

* * *

What mother hasn't heard the cry, "What can I do now?" This time of year when summer vacation days are beginning to lag, you might as well prepare yourself—you're going to be asked that more often than ever.

Will you be Johnny-on-the-spot with some good, ready answers, or will you just wave the children off with a vague, uninteresting suggestion?

Family Activities

When the youngsters come to you for ideas is a good time for you to come up with some family-type activities—some things you all can do together. That's the suggestion offered by Glenn Hawkes, head of the Department of Child Development at Iowa State College. Dr. Hawkes also suggested some educational excursions. But, he warned, don't set out with education as your main goal. Have a good time and you'll learn while you're looking.

Here are some of Dr. Hawkes' suggestions that you, in turn, might pass on to your youngsters, or do with them:

If you live on a farm take a day off and visit friends in town. While you're there you might visit the city park—let the children play on playground equipment there and swim in the swimming pool. Turn about's fair play, so invite your town friends to visit you for a day. The youngsters will love helping with chores and watching farm animals.

Look Around

Take a nature walk and explore the country around you. You might get up early some morning and go for a bird hike. Get a good bird book (with pictures) from the library. Take it along. You'll be able to identify different birds easier. It'll be more interesting if you plan for something like this beforehand. But don't shy away from spontaneous activities either—they can be lots of fun too.

If you live on a farm, the children know what dad does all day. But if you live in town where he works in an office or store, the children are often unsure of what goes on in his "grown-up-world". Summer is a slack time in many businesses, so it might be a good time for the youngsters to spend an hour or two with dad when he's at work. They can see where he goes when he leaves home each day and what he does while he's gone.

When you go up town to pay a bill or visit the bank, let the children come along—don't leave them sitting in the car. They'll like to see how business transactions are carried on.

Sometime let your youngster go down town alone. Give him a dime to spend as he wishes. Let him take all the time he wants to make his purchase. He'll enjoy looking at all the things in the stores, and he'll feel important making his own decision.

Like to Read?

Don't forget the public library when you're thinking of places the children can visit. Many libraries have summer reading programs especially for children. Even if they don't, many an afternoon can be enjoyably spent looking at books.

Dr. Hawkes says you can make a real event out of a visit to any local point of interest—the museum, fire station, water plant, hospital, city hall, manufacturing plant, electrical plant, ice plant, sewage disposal plant, packing plant, railroad station and switchyard, and so forth. Most of these places are glad to have you visit. A quick phone call will take care of all arrangements.

But there's more to any of these excursions than just doing them, Dr. Hawkes says. He feels that planning before you go and talking about what you saw afterwards are important. It's a good opportunity for you and the children to think and plan and have fun together.

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

Hot weather! And dry! Those are the big topics for conservation these days. They also are forces in the day-to-day changes in farm prices.

Grains, livestock—even poultry and eggs—are affected, Francis A. Kutish, Iowa State College farm economist points out.

Take eggs. Prices slumped sharply in early July. Hot weather lowered quality. Consumption lagged. But prices fell too far. The market often overreacts, Kutish stresses. Then prices shot up.

After all the dipsy-do's were over, egg prices would go up nine to eleven cents per dozen above the season's low of early July. But that still leaves them a dime under last year. Reason is larger production, according to Kutish, plus somewhat weaker demand.

Here's something important to Hancock County egg producers. The price is widening between upper grades of eggs and current receipts, Kutish emphasizes. Producers who can sell their eggs on a grade basis will find it pays.

Egg prices normally go up from now until October, according to Kutish. The reason: Production of large fresh eggs is falling. He looks for a price rise this year, but less than normal. We have more early pullets than a year ago.

July 1 found 3 percent more chicks and young chickens on the nation's farms than a year earlier. If we continue our upward trend in rate of lay per hen, this means 4 or 5 percent more eggs in the winter and spring of 1955. Past relationships would indicate egg prices next winter and spring about 10 percent under this past spring, says Kutish.

If you have records of what you got for eggs this past winter and spring—take a tenth off that. It will give you your best guess as of today of what you can expect in the coming year for eggs, Kutish concludes.

Strange Fish Appear In Inland Ia. Rivers

Fish from another age, the paddlefish, are swimming up the Cedar and Des Moines rivers this summer in large numbers. Also called the "spoonbill catfish", the fish have moved up the Cedar River to near Cedar Rapids, and up the Des Moines River to Ottumwa. Large concentrations of the paddlefish are being found below some dams. Although fairly common in the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers, the big fish are very rare in Iowa's inland waters. No reason can be given for their mass migration.

Not a member of the catfish family, the "spoonbill cat" is in a family of its own. It is a very primitive fish with a long, paddle-like snout, and is also called "boneless cat" because its skeleton is entirely cartilage. Paddlefish have been caught in Iowa that weighed over 200 pounds.

These paddlefish are found in only two river drainages in the world: in the Mississippi Valley and in the Yangtze Valley of China.

The State Conservation Commission said today that the paddlefish season does not open until August 1, but that fishermen will have little luck when it does open. Paddlefish seldom eat anything but tiny water organisms, and while a few have been caught on minnows, they almost never take bait. The Commission also cautioned fisherman that it is unlawful to "snag" the fish while concentrated in rivers.

At Lakota, Grandma Huettner recently observed her 97th birthday, on July 5th.

TWO AT ONCE

Mrs Ray McGuire of Toledo recently caught two carp simultaneously on one hook. The larger carp, a 20-pounder, apparently let the baited hook go through its mouth, and out through the gill. The second carp, a 5-pounder, took the hook direct. The two of them gave her quite a battle.

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | KLEMME, IOWA, AUGUST 11, 1954 | VOLUME 59 | NUMBER 33

Services Were at Garner For James A. Wade

James Arthur Wade, foster son of Henry and Cornelia Wade was born at Afton on January 2, 1899.

After coming to make his home with his foster parents at the age of five years, he grew to manhood in the vicinity of Clarion. In 1918 his parents moved to Hancock County and lived on a farm northwest of Klemme.

In 1920 he was united in marriage with JaNette Ulrich. Three children were born to this union.

"Jimmie" as he was known by everyone, will be remembered for his kindness and cheerfulness by his family and his host of friends. "Jimmie" was in ill health for the past year and made his home with his father.

He suffered a stroke on Sunday morning, August 1 as he and his father were preparing to go to church. He was taken to a nursing home in Clear Lake, and passed away Wednesday afternoon, August 4. He had attained the age of 55 years, 7 months and 2 days.

He was preceded in death by his mother, Mrs Henry Wade, and his wife, JaNette, and an infant grand-daughter. Surviving him are his three children; one daughter, Mrs Glen Marshall, and two sons, Russell and Marvin Wade, all of whom reside in Mason City. He also leaves three grandchildren.

Funeral servies were held at the United Presbyterian Church in Garner, at 2 p m on Saturday August 7. The Rev. J Dallas Gibson officiated. A quartet composed of O N Johnston, Scott Pollock, Clarke Pollock, and Robert Keith sang the hymns "Where He Leads Me" and "Jesus Savior Pilot Me" They were accompanied by Miss Charlotte Fiero at the organ.

Pallbearers were Henry Dirks, Richard Legge, William Houdek, John Schisel, Ernest Lewis, and Otto Klinge. Interment was made in the Evergreen Cemetery at Clarion.

Emergency March of Dimes August 16-31

Because the March of Dimes last January fell short by 20 million dollars of meeting the current National needs, an emergency is scheduled this month.

Net receipts from the 1953-1954 March of Dimes, totaled $5,401.17 with the balance of $317.08 January first, making a total of $5,718.25 in our county funds. In 1953 the chapter received 50 per cent of the total receipts, but only 33 1/3 per cent in 1954 because of the national expense of trial vaccine and gamma globulin.

Disbursements in the county to August 1, 1954, amounted to $3,839.15, leaving a balance of $1,879.10, without any unpaid hospital or doctor bills on hand. But Hancock County owes the National Fund $5,000.00, that we have borrowed during the years we had a great many polio patients in our county.

Last year Americans contributed 55 million to the March of Dimes, but fell short of meeting this year's needs, which includes a polio prevention program of staggering size and the necessity of providing aid to a record number of polio patients. So let's prevent a complete collapse of the preventive program set up, and get behind this drive to the best of our ability.

Norene Pearson To Be Inducted August 16th

The Hancock County Local Board has received a call for four men to be delivered during the month of August. The call has been filled and the following will be delivered for induction on 16 August 1954:

George A. Campbell, Omaha, Nebr.; Gerald R. Smith, Britt, Iowa; Donald L Hiscock, Britt, Iowa; and Carl S Pearson, Klemme, Iowa.

Near Eagle Grove, Mr Thory Johnson, 70, was demolishing a silo. When the silo fell, he ran in the wrong direction and was killed by falling pieces.

PLEASE!
A LOT OF US MAY NOT GET ANY MORE HELP BECAUSE THERE'S NO MORE MONEY LEFT IN THE MARCH OF DIMES!
YEAH - THAT'S BECAUSE THOUSANDS OF US GOT VACCINE AND GAMMA GLOBULIN SHOTS THIS YEAR
GIVE TO THE EMERGENCY MARCH OF DIMES - NOW!

Bredlow Reunion Was Sunday in Garner Park

The 26th annual reunion of the descendents of Carl Bredlow was held Sunday, August 8 at the shelter house in the Garner City Park. There were 80 present. A big picnic basket dinner was enjoyed at noon. A free will offering amounting to $10.09 was taken up for expenses.

Two marriages were reported since the last reunion, Marilyn Drugg to Dewey Galloway and Luther Suckow to Marvis Albright. New members since the last reunion were: Denice Kay, daughter born to Mr and Mrs Duane Bredlow on June 19, 1954; Tommy, son of Mr and Mrs Gordon Suckow, Barbara Jean, daughter of Mr and Mrs Robert Blumer, born June 3, 1954; Bonnie Lynn, daughter of Mr and Mrs Geo. Kern, born July 28, 1954; Wesley, son of Mr and Mrs Kenneth Van Nurden; Carl Lynn, son of Mr and Mrs Lynn Hammon, born October 13, 1953 and a daughter born June 1, 1954 to Mr and Mrs Arthur Stephens of Eau Claire, Wisconsin.

There are two still serving in the Armed Forces, William Millard of Sacramento, Calif., and Gordon Suckow who is overseas.

There were three deaths: Mrs Louie Magner, who passed away in Jaunary 1954 at Beloit, Wisc., Frank Topp, who passed away March 1954 at Motley Minn., and Fred Topp who passed away in March at Emuclau, Wash.

Greetings were read from: Mr and Mrs William Millard and Patricia Ann of Sacramento, Calif.; Mrs Elsie Rober of Lake Geneva, Wisc.; Mr and Mrs Hobart Hannaman of Fall Rivers, Wisc.; and Mr and Mrs Edd Zimmer of Beaver Dam, Wisc.

It was voted that the Charles Bredlow families have charge of the arrangements for next year.

Those present for the reunion this year were: Mr and Mrs F A Bredlow and Lorain; Mr and Mrs Robert Hartzell and Ricky; Mr and Mrs LeRoy Bredlow and Dennis, Mr and Mrs Emil Beier; Mr and Mrs Ben Reimer; Mr and Mrs Robert Blumer and Barbara; Mr and Mrs Ronald Bredlow, Jane and Gerry and Mr and Mrs Carris Kropp, Carita and Carroll.

Mr and Mrs Carol Brager Daryl, Merridee and Marilyn; Mr and Mrs Leon Kropp, Jerry, Janet and Rex; Mr and Mrs Emil Blumer and Wm Krause; Edna and Leter Bredlow; Mr and Mrs Elmer Bredlow and Calvin; Mr and Mrs Loren Gast, Kathy, Eldon and Doran.

Mr and Mrs Kenneth Gast, Roger and Judy; Mr and Mrs Ronald Gibbs, Ronna and Lora; Mr and Mrs Herman Gast; Mr and Mrs Herbert Bredlow; Mr and Mrs Albert Borchers; Mr and Mrs Clarence Bredlow, Dennis, Nola, Delmar, Letha, Myra, and Velma; Mr and Mrs Duane Bredlow and Denice Kay; Mr and Mrs Morris Nuehring and Marvin; and Mr and Mrs Merlin Neuberger and Marolee.

Seriously Burned

Karen, 7-year old daughter of Mr and Mrs George Netland was severely burned Monday. She was outside, playing with some matches when her clothing caught fire. Before anyone could help her, nearly one-quarter of her body was seared with first and second degree burns.

She was taken to the Belmond Hospital for treatment and at this writing is getting along fine. She will be hospitalized for some time, though, as some skin grafting is going to be necessary.

County Budget Approved; Largest Sum for Roads

The hearing on the 1955 county budget which was held at the courthouse in Garner on Monday forenoon was approved as proposed. A number of taxpayers were on hand to seek information on the proposed budget.

After hearing all taxpayers and considering any objections the proposed budget was adopted. The budget as adopted proposes expenditures in the sum of $1,097,206. of which total $626,-206 will have to be raised by an Ad Valorem Tax and the balance of the proposed expenditures will come from sources other than a property tax. The 1954 tax requirement was $465,914.

The 1955 proposed budget expenditures in the various road funds is $763,706. the largest item on the budget. Of this total it is estimated that approximately $400,000 will come from other than direct taxation and approximately $373,706 will be raised by an Ad Valorem tax levy. The road expenditures proposed include Farm-To-Market, local road construction and maintenance. County Highway officials are planning a long range program which will provide some stabilized surfacing on the more traveled roads.

Hancock County suffered damage to its roads and bridges in the June floods of this year in a sum estimated by County Engineer Charles K Paulson to be approximately $265,000.

Committees Announced For Auxiliary

Irene Barz was hostess to the American Legion Auxiliary Tuesday, August 3.

We voted to serve the Lions Club dinners alternately with the Music Mothers or at least the next six months.

Cora Schaefer offered to send a package this month to our sponsored child at Woodward.

Nellie Arnold read an article from the National News, "Reading our Preamble with our hearts."

Carrie Schwichtenberg gave a very interesting report of the Department Convention held in Des Moines July 27-30, which she and Lois Chambers had attended.

The president, Cora Schaefer, announced the following chairmen and committees for the year:

Americanism, Nellie Arnold; Civil Defense, Lois Chambers; Child Welfare and Mental Health, Lena Lewis; Community Service, Leona Lau; Entertainment, Helen Stille, Marie Blank, Louise Etchen; Finance, Doris Back, Neva Hartzell, Thelma Arnold, and Mary Ahrenkiel.

Gifts, Neva Hartzell, Doris Back; Membership, Carrie Schwichtenberg, Irene Barz; Pan-Americanism, Marilyn Back; Poppy, Flora Back, Publicity, Thelma Arnold; Radio, Esther Hess; Rehabilitation, Margaret Thomas; Sick, Ann Pavey and Irma Sherwood.

The July meeting was held at the home of Flora Back. Doris Back sent the package to Billy Joe at Woodward. Delegates selected to attend the Department Convention in Des Moines were Cora Schaefer and Leafy Coobs, with Lois Chambers and Irma Sherwood, as alternates.

HURT

A fall from a ladder proved serious for 10 year old Bernard Mulder, of near Rock Valley. He lit on a broken pitch-fork handle, which penetrated his back about four inches.

Klemme Food Market Now Operated By C. J. Larsen

A recent business deal between C A Larsen and his son, C J Larsen, makes the Klemme Food Market under new management for the first time in forty years.

Mr and Mrs C A Larsen have owned and operated the business for that length of time and are this week expressing their thanks to their friends and patrons in an ad which can be found on page eight to this issue. Effective the first of August, they sold the business to Mr and Mrs C J Larsen, and they are now the operators of the store.

When the store originally went into operation, it was a partnership, with the name J P Larsen and Son, with C A Larsen being the son. He stayed in the business all these years, and with the recent sale to his son, the store will still be run by one of the family.

ASC Ballots Will Be Mailed Friday, Aug. 13

Ballots for the annual ASC township election will be mailed to Hancock County farm owners and operators on Friday, Aug. 13, it has been announced by A E Rasmussen, chairman of the ASC committee.

Candidates listed on the ballots for each township are those nominated by the community election boards and by petitions of farmers. Additional names may be written in by voters if they so desire.

To be elected in each township are three ASC township committeemen and two alternate members. The candidate who receives the greatest number of votes will be chairman of the committee and the one receiving the next highest number of votes will serve as vice chairman. The third member and the first and second alternates will be similiarly named on the basis of votes received.

The newly elected chairman and vice chairman will automatically become delegate and alternate delegate to the county convention at which the county ASC committee for the next 12 month will be named. The convention will be held at Garner on August 30.

Any farm owner, operator or tenant is eligible to vote in the township elections if now participating in ASC activities. Any one who believes he is eligible to vote but fails to receive a ballot in the mail should contact the county ASC office, Chairman Rasmussen said.

Besides a ballot, each voter will receive an envelope to use in returning his vote by mail. Each voter will also receive complete instructions, including methods to be followed in maintaining secrecy in the balloting. Instead of returning their ballots by mail, voters who so desire may personally deliver them to the county ASC office.

Voters will have until August 20 to mark their ballots and deliver or mail them back to the county office. Counting of the ballots will take place on August 24 and the results will be announced as soon as the official canvass is made by the community election boards.

Back in 1932, Herbert Hoover was just about the most unpopular man in the United States. He lost by a lopsided margin in the presidential election that fall to Franklin D. Roosevelt. He was blamed for just about everything that was wrong with the country.

Wise heads in government, though, have always known that Mr Hoover was a good clear thinker. Since the time that he was defeated in that 1932 election, he has been sought out by officials for advice and help and he has always advised with the welfare of the nation and its people in mind.

It seems fitting that a man of his calibre should be receiving all the honors that have been heaped upon him this week on the occasion of his 80th birthday.

It must be a tremendous morale booster to Mr Hoover to have so many people throughout the nation wishing him well after all the adverse criticism that came his way 22 years ago.

10 YEARS AGO—

Mrs Fred Olthoff came last week from Enterprise, Ala., where she had been with her husband who is in the Army. She will spend the summer with her parents, Mr and Mrs Lew Griffen.

Mrs C E Kluckhohn entertained a number of young ladies at her home Wednesday afternoon at a birthday surprise party for her daughter-in-law, Mrs Eugene Kluckhohn whose birthday was observed. Mrs C E Kluckhohn served a nice lunch.

L V Perkins and Ed J Thompson carried away the lion's share of honors at the Ames Gladiolus Society Show held at Ames, on Saturday. Mr Perkins entered fifty-two glads and won fifty places. Ed Thompson entered about thirty specimans and won around twenty-five ribbons, which included a number of first and the others seconds and thirds.

Harvey Barz and family and Melvin Neuberger and family held a picnic Monday evening in honor of Mr and Mrs Carl Anderson and daughters of Sanborn, Iowa, who came for a short visit. The occasion was also Mrs Melvin Neuberger's birthday.

20 YEARS AGO—

Threshing in the community was a quick job this year, and most rings were able to thresh several jobs a day as the oats stand here was very thin. Most fields threshed out only ten or twelve bushels. Now and then a field would go twenty bushels to the acre.

The Henry Thiemann home northeast of Klemme was struck by lightning Sunday morning. Some siding was ripped off the house, and the interior wall and curtains scorched.

Mr and Mrs Vernon Turgasen and daughter, Nancy Lee, of Des Moines and Miss Helen Meier spent Sunday visiting with his mother, Mrs Sadie Turgasen and other Klemme relatives.

Smoke was seen issuing from the Creamery Sunday morning at about 10:30 o'clock and the fire larm turned in. About the only damage done was that the flames charred a window casing in the test room and burned the floor slightly. It is thought the fire might have started from the sun shining through a bottle, focusing the light rays on a box of waste under the window.

30 YEARS AGO—

We have been having some real summer weather the past week. Sunday was about the hottest day of the year.

Several from Klemme attended the reception for John Hammill at Britt Friday evening There were several speakers on the program worthy of note and we believe there was a procession. Refreshments were served to all present by two of Britt's clubs and altogether a fine time was had.

Last Monday evening there was a smash up on the Wilson Highway, about a mile north of Goodell, when Nels Anderson of driving an Overland ran into a Ford, driven by Frank Gibbs of this city. None of the occupants of either car were seriously hurt, although some of them were bruised somewhat. Frank's car was damaged so that it took about thirty dollars to repair it.

Safety Commissioner Asks Farmers to Cut Corn

State safety officials Thursday appealed to Hancock county farmers for help in saving 60 lives that may be lost between now and harvest because of tall corn blocking the vision of drivers at rural intersections.

Pearl W. McMurry, safety commissioner, asked farmers in the country to cut their corn just above the ears for at least 100 feet back from the corners of road intersections.

"Most of the victims of crashes at blind intersections live within two or three miles of the scene of the accident," McMurry pointed out.

"This means that the farmer who cuts his corn at intersections is safegaurding his own life and the lives of his close neighbors," he added.

David Herrick, chief of the Iowa highway patrol, joined McMurry in asking farmers for their cooperation and in urging "extreme care at all rural intersections."

"During the next several weeks, the most dangerous single element in Iowa traffic will be the country intersection where the view of incoming roads is blocked by tall corn," he said.

Governor William S. Beardsley has asked all county traffic safety committees to head local campaign to get the corn cut at road corners.

Several committees are working on the project in cooperation with county rural mail carriers who compile lists of dangerous intersections.

Members of the county safety committees then make a personal call on the farmers whose fields adjoin the reported intersections, asking them to cut back their corn.

Andy Anderson of Hastings, Nebraska, loves speed in any form, but is currently getting his kicks from driving a big, speedway-type racer on the dirt tracks of the middle west. Andy is entered in the big car event at the North Iowa Fair on Sunday. August 15. Wade Crew and Cecil Burnaugh, two big car chauffuers from California, are the last entries to get into that event. Three stock car drivers just beating the deadline for that race on Saturday, August 14, were Gene Harmon, Helge Gottenberg and Howie Hoffman.

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

After climbing since 1949, cattle numbers are likely to stabilize or decrease this year. Francis A. Kutish, Iowa State College farm economist predicts.

Our cattle numbers have shot up from 77 million head in January of 1949 to over 94 million head this year.

Cattle and calf slaughter zoomed to 37 million head in 1953, a big 42 percent jump from the 26 million killed in 1951. Yet that slaughter did not quite equal production, and cattle numbers edged up another million head to their new high of this year, Kutish points out.

Slaughter has run about 10 percent over a year ago on a number basis. But the increase is concentrated almost entirely in cows and heifers to date. Thus, Kutish points out, the increase in beef poundage is not equal to the percentage increase in total number slaughtered thus far this year.

But we had more cattle on feed July 1 than a year earlier. Our slaughter of steers during the last half of this year is likely to be as large as it was last year. In fact, total slaughter for this year is setting a new all-time high record.

Kutish expects a slaughter of between 40 and 42 million head, depending upon how weather turns out. Such a slaughter will prevent any increase in numbers and possible as reduction of as much as a million head by the end of the year.

Such a reduction, however, will not be sufficient to cause any great change in beef output in 1955 and 1956. As a result, cattle supplies and beef output are likely to remain relatively constant at the current high volume during the next year or two.

This makes price changes during the next few years depend mainly on the level of employment and income, Kutish concludes. Barring no change in income, we would expect slightly lower prices for beef next year than this year. Probably no change to $1 or $2 lower than the average of this year. Such an outlook, in Kutish's opinion, spells caution on the part of the feeder cattle buyer this fall. The profits during the coming year will depend mainly on the price Iowa feeders pay for their feeder cattle this fall, Kutish concludes.

Lake Patrol Officers Bear Down On Offenders

Iowa's lake patrol officers are continuing their summer drive for safer boating, and reckless boating arrests have climbed with hot weather. Conservation Commission officials said that 12 Sunday afternoon arrests were recently made on one northern Iowa lake.

Most of the offenses were for speeding close to shore, intoxication, attempting to ram other boats, and cutting too close to boats, docks and swimmers.

Boaters are being urged to use greater care in their sport particularly in lakes having heavy weekend crowds. Carelessly handled power boats can be of great danger to life and property, the Commission said, and boating on Iowa's lakes is governed by definite "traffic" laws.

Mason City Man Gets Receipt From "Fish That Got Away"

Although his big fish got away, H. W. Swanson of Mason City isn't worried about people not believing his fish story. He has a receipt to prove it.

Swanson was fishing in Clear Lake recently when he had a good strike and hooked the fish. After a brief flurry the fish broke away, and Swanson reeled in his line in disgust. But on the hook was a small metal jaw tag that had been fastened to the fish by Iowa State College biologists.

The tag had been placed on a spawning walleye in April, 1953, and the biologists said that the fish is now a little over 20 inches long and weighs about three pounds.

Swanson still considers himself lucky. He has unusual distinction of knowing all about a fish that he almost caught.

TOWN COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE TOWN COUNCIL OF THE TOWN OF KLEMME, IOWA

July 13, 1954

Meeting called to order by Mayor Cook with Schaefer, Buseman, Lemke and Pavey, members of the Council present.

Mayor Cook announced the appointment of Herman Paul to the position of Night Marshall in the Town of Klemme.

It was moved by Schaefer, second by Pavey, that the compensation paid to Herman Paul as Night Marshall shall be $150 00 per month and in addition he shall be re-imbursed for car expenses for use of his own car on Town business. Motion carried.

L. E Kilgore, Don Bacon, Edwin Josten and Herman Back presented an oral petition to the Council requesting that the Council authorize expenditure of Sanitation funds for spraying of the Town for destruction of mosquitoes.

It was moved by Pavey and seconded by Schaefer that cost of spraying the Town for killing of mosquitoes be paid out of the Liquor Profit fund, provided that it be first determined that such fund may be legally expended for such purpose Motion carried.

Meeting adjourned.

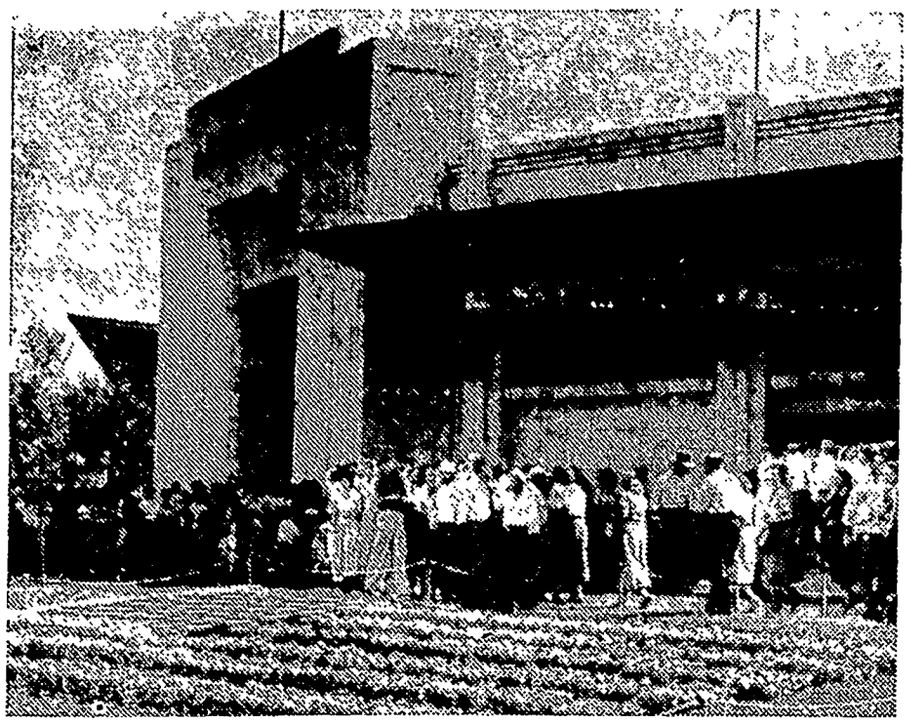
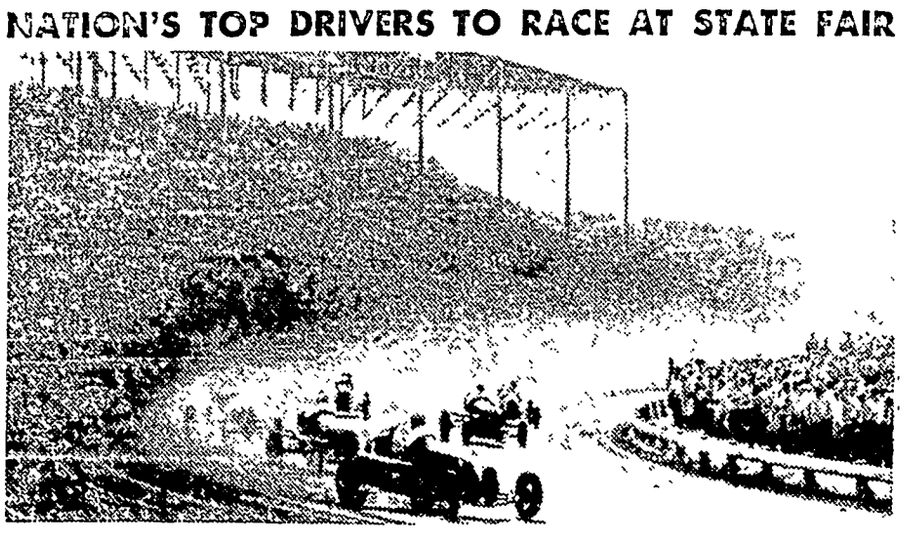
HUGE THRONGS ADMIRE STATE FAIR GROUNDS



YEAR-AROUND effort by a large crew of gardeners and maintenance workers is responsible for the beautifully-landscaped Minnesota State Fair, scheduled this year from Aug. 28 through Sept. 6. The large United States flag, above, made from live plants and flowers is a "must-see" item for State Fair visitors. The flag is located alongside the Agriculture-Horticulture Building. Several other pieces of floral art, carpet-like lawns, and large beds of bursting blooms surround all exhibition halls on the 260-acre Fairgrounds.

NATION'S TOP DRIVERS TO RACE AT STATE FAIR



SIZZLING speedway action will be in the Minnesota State Fair spotlight eight afternoons of the Aug. 28 through Sept. 6 exposition. Ranking drivers from all parts of America will compete under I.M.C.A. sanction for $40,000 in prize money. Following a special qualifying day on Friday, Aug. 27, custom-built big cars will take part in five sprint programs on Aug. 29 and Sept. 1, 3, 5 and 6. Late-model stock cars will spin around the State Fair's half-mile track Aug. 28 (100 laps), Aug. 30 (sprints), and Sept. 2 (200 laps). Aut Swenson's Thrillcade is scheduled for Aug. 31 and Sept. 4, with A.M.A.-sanctioned motorcycle races sharing the program on Sept. 4.

Milk Promotion Plan Good for Dairy Men

The dairy promotion campaign to promote milk as a beverage as well as a food through use of dispensers and vending machines is catching on fast.

Evidence is found in a statement by Charles M Schultz, president of the Wisconsin CIO in farmer labor discussion at Lake Eau Claire last month. Mr Schultz said that men who service soft drink machines are now feeling the competition of increased milk sales. He also viewed increased efforts to sell milk as a threat to Wisconsin's brewing industry.

Cooperation of the Armed Services to increase milk was also pledged to the USDA by the secretary of defense last week. The deputy secretary of defense wrote to the secretary of agriculture that in order that military installations take maximum advantage of the regulations permitting use of milk . . . command letters have been dispatched . . . urging increased consumption of milk.

Moreover, USDA was advised "Plans are now being made to conduct a control survey at Army installations in the near future to determine if further action to increase the milk component is feasible at this time.

"Garnival of Flowers" At Britt August 16th

The Third Annual Flower Show will be held on Monday, August 16, at the Britt High School Auditorium, sponsored by Unity Class. Entries are open to everyone and will be received starting at 7 A. M. No entry fee will be charged.

The theme of the 1954 Flower Show is "Carnival of Flowers", and the gypsy theme will be in colorful evidence throughout the entire program.

The afternoon program at 2:00 P. M. will feature a demonstrated talk by Mrs H Snedeker, of Boone, an accredited and highly recommended judge. A vocal solo will follow the talk. The afternoon program will be climaxed by a picturesque gypsy tea.

An outstanding musicale is scheduled for the evening. program at 8:00 P. M., which will include colorful gypsy dances, music by a gypsy band and several numbers by a choral group. The program has been planned to provide entertainment for all members of the family. A fortune-teller is also featured for the evening's entertainment. A lunch will be served around a campfire in true gypsy fashion during intermission. The awarding of prizes will close the Flower Show.

Russian Encyclopedia Has Poor Opinion of Iowa

Folks from the Great State of Iowa will literally be "seeing red" when they hear about the Russian appraisal of AIOVA (the USSR spelling of Iowa) published in the Great Soviet Encyclopedia, guesses the Iowa Development Commission.

The Communist volume admits that, "Aiova has a very developed agriculture, mostly directed toward raising corn and feeding livestock. But whereas in 1954 there were 209,000 farm and 9 million hectares of land under cultivation, the number of farms has decreased. Now the bulk of produce is grown by the large capitalist farms."

The one-quarter page estimation of "Aiova" assures us that, "all farmers are greatly dependent upon the banks and are heavily in debt," with this porported debt to banks "equal to about fifty per cent of the value of all farms."

With such an acute condition brought to its attention, the Iowa Development Commission reports, however, that no relief bundles from Russia have yet arrived to comfort the poverty-stricken Iowa farmer.

Card Of Thanks

Words cannot express the appreciation that we have for all the helpful acts of sympathy during our recent bereavement To all the friends and neighbors who helped in our time of need and for all the flowers and memorial gifts, our thanks.

Mr and Mrs Leon Gilpin
and family 1tp

We want to thank everyone for the cards, gifts and visits while we were in the hospital and since we have returned home. We appreciated all your kindnesses.

Mrs Allen Lau
and Douglas Allen
1tc

I want to say "Thank You" to all my relatives and friends for the cards, gifts and flowers I received while in the hospital. Also all who called on me at the hospital and in my home. I especially want to thank "Pete" Kilgore for sending The Klemme Times.

Mrs Louisa Knoke 1tp

Our heartfelt thanks to all who extended comforting sympathy and help in our recent sorrow. For the floral offerings, and other kindnesses, we are deeply grateful.

Mrs Don Mourlam

Lions Will Again Present Variety Show

The Klemme Lions Club met on Wednesday evening, August 4, with 19 members present and new Lion President Robert Andreae presiding. Other newly elected officers are Milvern Barz, Tail Twister; Harvey Barz, Sec'y Treas., and Dorance Day, Lion Tamer. Ofifcers were installed at this meeting.

During the course of the meeting plans were made for presenting another Lions Variety Show this year, with a tentative date of September 30th.

Lion E K Josten was in charge of entertainment for the meeting and provided a film which was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

At the last ground observer sky watch, the local post, which is under sponsorship of the Klemme Lions Club, reported four unindentified aircraft to the Filter Center at Des Moines.

Free Movies End

Last Wednesday night's movie was the last free movie for the summer season in Klemme. Large crowds have enjoyed the movies throughout the season, and the officers of the Commercial Club have expressed their appreciation to those club members who cooperated in making this program possible .They also stated that they hoped that the summer's entertainment was to the liking of everyone in the community.

Baby Shower

Mrs Robert Stith and baby daughter, Debra, were honored at a shower at the home of Mrs Merlyn Helps Wednesday evening. The evening was spent socially. Mrs Stith opened the many nice gifts she and Debra received. A delicious lunch was served by Mrs Helps with Lois Helps assisting.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE HANCOCK COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

7TH ADJOURNED JUNE MEETING

August 2, 1954
Garner, Iowa

The Hancock County, Iowa, Board of Supervisors met in session on above captioned date pursuant to adjournment with Clarence Bird, Clint Daniels and S. A. Barber present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read.

On motion and second the appointment of Henry E. Meyer, Member Soldiers' Relief Commission for a term of three years commencing Sept. 1, 1954, is hereby approved.

Supervisor Bird is hereby appointed a Committee to investigate and cause repairs to be made in D D No 8, No. 46-3, and No. 38, Supervisor Daniels in D D. No. 1 & 2 and No. 7, Supervisor Barber in D D No. 26

On motion and second the appointment of Gregg Arnold, Deputy Sheriff effective 8-1-54 to 12-1-54, is hereby approved.

On motion and second the division by percentage of lands included in D. D No. 138, L No 81 are hereby approved as submitted by Wm Henschen, Engineer

On motion and second the application, bond and permit for the sale of cigarettes by Catholic Workman Lodge of Duncan is hereby approved.

On motion and second the petition of John Griggs, et al, for installation of road culverts and construction of a grass waterway in lands listed in the petition is hereby approved and Charles Paulson is hereby appointed Engineer to make an investigation and report back to this Board at his earliest convenience.

On motion by Supervisor Daniels and second by Supervisor Barber the resolution and drainage agreements by and between Harry and Lillian Horecka and George Malek on D. D No 1 & 2, Lat. No. 13-B and with Harry and Lillian Horecka and James Kofran on D. D. No 148, Lat. No. 81 are hereby approved as submitted.

WHEREAS, C. F Merten Engineer, J. N. Steil and Wm. Boehnke were heretofore appointed commissioners to view and classify lands and assess benefits in D D. No. 108, L. No. 1 and to designate separately the tax per cent each tract shall pay on the system for future repairs, in accordance with Sec 455.45 to 455.66 Code of Iowa, 1950, and

WHEREAS said Commissioners did qualify as by law directed and did view said lands and assess benefits and did file their report on July 30, 1954, which report sets out in detail the classification against each tract and parcel of land, highway and railroad in the district as provided by law.

BE AND IT IS THEREFORE RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors that the report of the Commissioners is hereby tentatively approved and further hearing thereon will be held at the Courthouse in Garner, Iowa on the 20th day of September, 1954, at the hour of 1:30 P. M. at which time taxpayers in said district will appear and show cause why said classifications and assessments designated shall not be accepted and assessments taxed against the lands in the watershed of said D. D No. 108, Lat. No. 1.

All objections to such assessment of benefits shall be filed in writing in the office of the County Auditor in Garner, Iowa, at or before the hour set for hearing thereon. The County Auditor is hereby directed to cause notice of such hearing to be published in the Britt News Tribune, a newspaper of general circulation published at Britt, Iowa, said notice to set out the description of the real estate and the designated assessment each tract, parcel highway and railroad in the district is charged with.

The foregoing resolution was offered and read by Supervisor Barber who moved its adoption, was seconded by Supervisor Daniels, whereupon the Chairman Clarence A. Bird placed the motion of its adoption and upon roll call the vote thereon was S. A Barber, Clint Daniels and Clarence Bird, ayes. Nays, none Whereupon the Chairman declared the resolution duly adopted.

BE IT RESOLVED that the claims herein after set out be allowed in amounts designated thereon and the County Auditor be and he is hereby authorized and directed to draw warrants in payment thereof on the several funds of Hancock County, Iowa, in amounts set opposite each claim.

IOWA'S OLDEST?

Recently, in this space, we asked if any Iowa couple had been married longer than Mr and Mrs Adam Kolb, of Meservey, who recently observed their 65th wedding anniversary. We found the answer at Sloan, Iowa, thanks to R H Dodsley of the Sioux City Journal. There, Mr and Mrs John Abel have been married 75 years, look forward to their 76th on December 25. They were married on Christmas Day, at Marysvlile, Mo., in 1878.

Give Your Child a Health Check-up

This little girl will be all ready to start school in a few weeks, for she's having a health and dental examination now. She knows the doctor is her friend. She isn't afraid of him because she has regular examinations instead of going to him only in emergencies.

* * *

You and your family doctor and dentist can combine forces to see that your youngsters get a good start in school this fall. Your first step is to take the youngsters for a health check-up before school starts.

That's the advice of Iowa State College Extension Health Specialist Merl Whorlow, who says a child's health has a great deal to do with his progress and well-being in school.

But a physicial check-up won't automatically mean good health for your youngsters all year. You have to teach health habits and provide a healthful home.

Doctor's Examination

Regular examinations by the doctor will make a child feel responsible for his own health. He'll learn to think of the doctor as a friend—not someone just to be called in an emergency.

In a good routine health examination the doctor will check on height, weight, eyes, ears, lungs, tonsils, adenoids heart and abdomen. He will check for anemia and possible infections. Immunizations or booster shots as protection against common diseases ought to be given if needed.

We're told that about one in every three grade school children has something wrong with his eyes. Many children fail to progress properly in school because of low "Eye-Q" instead of low "IQ". The child may need glasses. Or perhaps certain foods or improved lighting while studying at home is all that's needed. Your doctor will know.

Dentist's Examination

The appearance of a child's teeth can mean a lot to his good looks. Condition of teeth can also affect his general health.

Your dentist should examine the child's teeth for decay and straightening that might need to be done. You can save time and money later on by having necessary work done on the teeth as soon as possible.

Research shows a direct relation between tooth decay and the frequency of eating or drinking sweets. Much tooth decay can be prevented if children eat or drink sweets less often. Maybe if your dentist explains this to the youngsters, they'll be a little more careful of what they eat between meals. Of course, you have to help by serving proper food at mealtime, too.

It's Up To You

After the doctor and dentist have pronounced your youngsters sound, it's up to you to help keep them that way. Whorlow says an important part of healthful living is teaching cleanliness at home too.

You can teach good eating and sleeping habits at home too. Be sure the children eat plenty of good food and well balanced meals. A good breakfast is especially important. Teach the children the importance of washing before and after meals, brushing the teeth after eating, and getting plenty of rest.

Make sure they have a good bed and a nice place to study—both add a lot to physical and mental health.

Gene Autry Stars In State Fair Rodeo

DES MOINES — America's most famous cowboy star, Gene Autry has signed up to appear in person at the Centennial Iowa State Fair Rodeo here, officials have announced. The rodeo will top the fair's events on the afternoons of September 3, 4, 5, and 6. Autry's famous horse "Champion" will also be here, and so will the Cass County Boys, musical threesome featured on Autry's network radio shows and motion pictures. More than 150 top cowboys have already filed entry for the bronc busting bulldogging, calf roping, and bareback riding contests scheduled in the rodeos.

the Highway Story

IOWA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

The annual season for unlimited trapping of Iowa motorists now has opened and will continue until the corn harvest. Here are a few tips:

The trap has proved most effective in the past is quite a simple affair and can be set up with little trouble at almost any rural intersection.

It consists of tall corn growing in corners of the intersections. High weeds and low-hanging trees in the corners add to the potency of the trap with very little extra effort.

In principle, of course, the trap is a blind which blocks a driver's view of incoming roads at the intersection. If another car enters the intersection the same time, they often will crash together and the trap is sprung.

(By the way, this type of trap never needs to be reset and it requires virtually no maintenance.)

The effectiveness of this trap is not so much in its simple mechanics as in the habits of the type of motorist most often caught.

The motorist most easily trapped at blind intersections simply doesn't seem to care that he can't see the incoming roads. He drives headlong into such intersections and, thus, traps himself.

But a word of caution: Most of the motorists trapped in blind intersections live within two or three mles of the scene of the accident. They know the trap is there but, apparently, forget or ignore it.

Those who feel these traps are too dangerous to have nearby may destroy them by cutting the corn in the intersections just above the ears, and back from the corner for about 100 feet.

65TH

At Meservey, Mr and Mrs Adam Kolb recently observed their 65th wedding anniversary. They've lived in Meservey 40 years. Wonder if any Iowa couples now living were married prior to July 11, 1889?

Klemme Co-op. Grain Sales Nearly Million And A Half For Year

E. J. Arnold Again To Head Board For Fast Growing Concern

On Thursday evening, August 12, the annual member meeting of the Klemme Cooperative Grain Co. was held at the grade school basement. The annual report, showing sales of $1,401,-261.71, was read by manager Marvin G Lemke and discussed by the assembled members. Until last year, the concern had been working toward a sales goal of a million dollars. Last year's figure was $1,033,749.01. which was over the goal, but manager Lemke said they would not quit there, but would shoot for a million and a quarter this year. They went $151,261.71 above the figure they were aiming at.

The Klemme Cooperative Grain Co. is the fastest growing business in Klemme. They showed large increases in every department this year and did some building to improve their facilities. From the sales in the past year, the annual report shows that there were gross savings and income in the amount of $118,769.31. Expenses were $69,400.45, leaving a net operating savings of $49,368.86. Add to this patronage refunds earned in the amount of $7,509.75, and the net savings for the year is $56,878.61, which is some over double last year's net.

The company handled over 600,000 bushels of grain other than government grain. From the handling of this grain, patronage refunds were declared as follows: two cents per bushel on grain sold by members, and one cent per bushel on grain bought by members.

E. J. Arnold was again elected president of the board and Harold Stromer was re-elected as secretary.

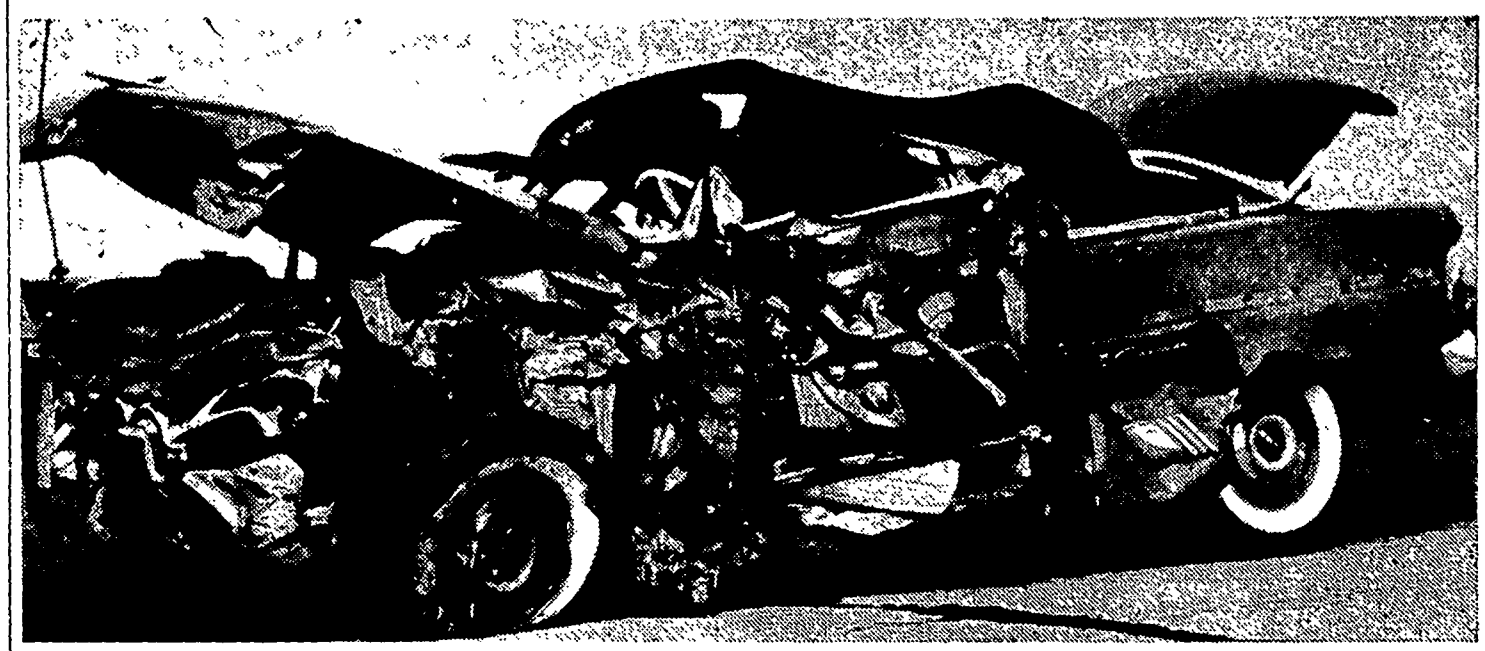
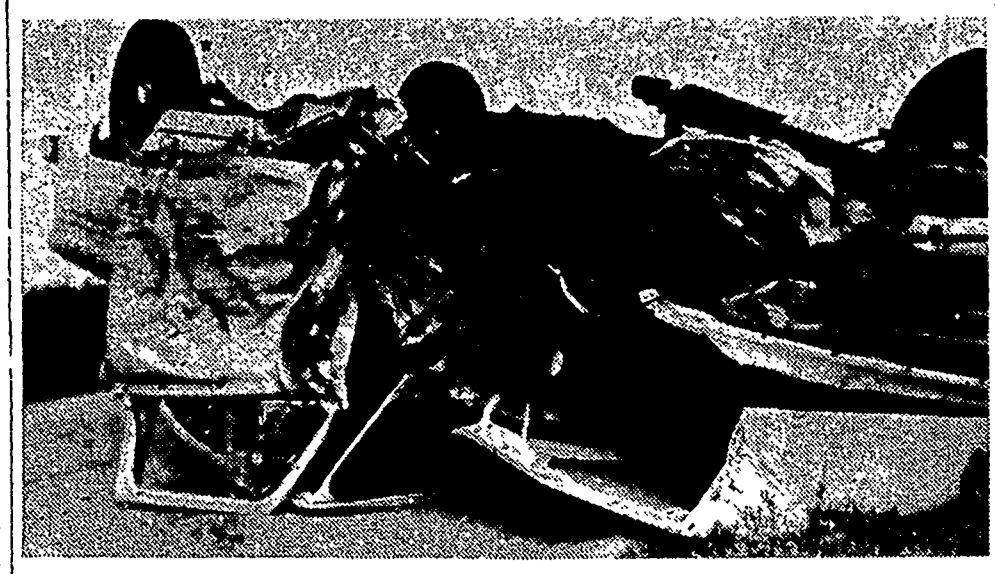
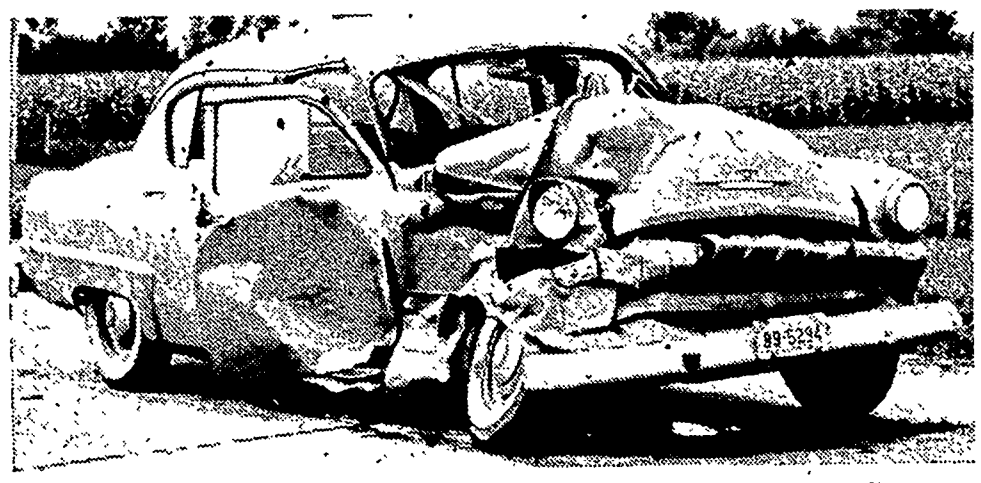
Thomas Buckley Killed In "Freak" Accident



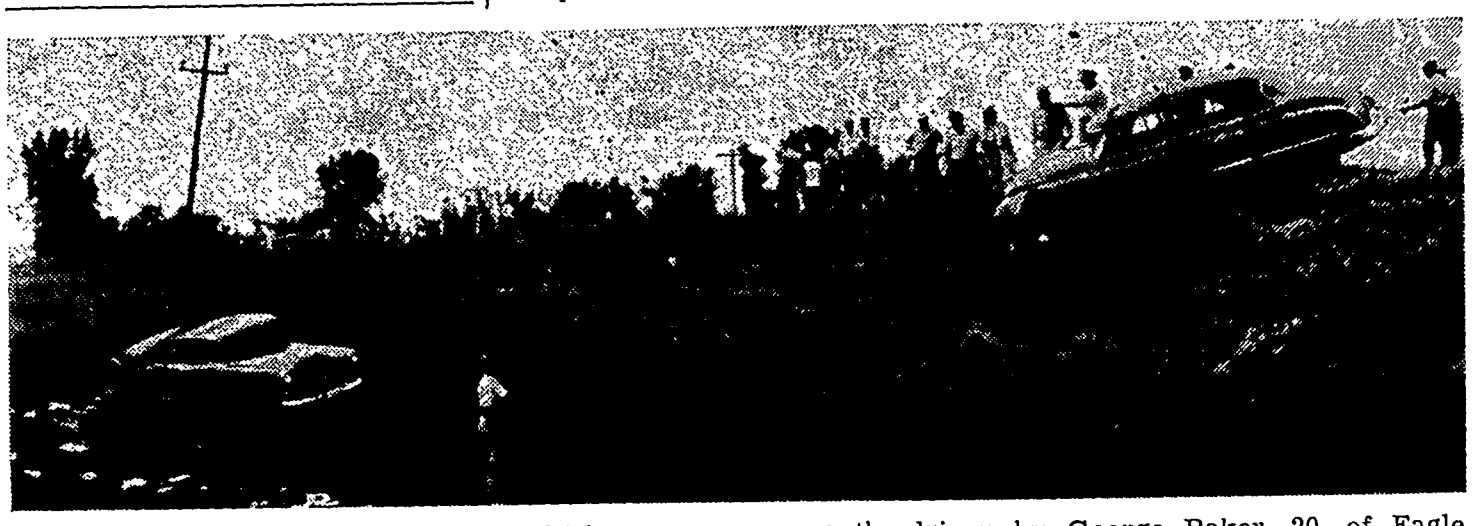
This is the red Ford convertible in which Thomas E Buckley, 27, was killed Monday morning when returning from a week end spent with his brother at Waterloo. Buckley was employed here by H. E. Barz as a tank wagon driver.



This is the '54 Ford that was driven by Lyle Hoffman, 25, of Seattle, Wash. Hoffman, a professional parachute jumper, pulled into the left lane at the scene of Mrs Clark's accident, and rammed head-on into Buckley's car. He is hospitalized at Belmond with a broken thigh and three broken ribs.



This is the '53 Plymouth, which was driven by George Baker, son of the police chief at Eagle Grove, which smacked into Buckley from the rear after Buckley's car had been hit by Hoffman's Ford. The impact of being rammed by Baker's car, knocked Buckley's car into Awe's Olds. Baker received a dislocated shoulder and was treated and released from the hospital shortly after the accident.



In the ditch is the '53 Dodge which was driven by Mrs Irma Clark, 27, of Des Moines. The car which is hanging off the shoulder is the '49 Olds owned by police chief Art Awe of Belmond. Awe's car was hit by Buckley's machine after it had been rammed by a '53 Plymouth, driven by George Baker, 20, of Eagle Grove. Mrs Clark had gone into the ditch about an hour before the fatal accident happened, and mishap set the stage for Buckley's death.

Thomas E. Buckley, 27, who for the past several months has been employed as a tank wagon driver by H E Barz, was killed early Monday morning in a freak accident on Highway 69 about two and one half miles south of Goodell.

Buckley, who before coming to work here had been employed in Waterloo, was returning from a week end visit with his brother in that city when the accident occurred. He was taken to the Belmond Hospital but died shortly after arrival there.

The accident was a "freak" in that a peculiar chain of events were involved. What set the stage for the fatal accident, was a wreck which happened about an hour earlier. Mrs Irma Clark, 27, of Des Moines was driving south on Highway 69, when she slipped off the right side of the paving. When she pulled her car back onto the road, she apparently over-controlled and went on across some 200 feet into the ditch on the east side of the road where she struck a culvert and rolled over endwise, doing considerable damage to her '53 Dodge.

Police chief Art Awe of Belmond was called to the scene and parked his '49 Olds on the east side of the highway. He helped in getting Mrs Clark into the ambulane and on her way to the Belmond Hospital where it was found that she had contusions and strain of neck and upper back. She is still hospitalized. Officer Awe was picking up some of the things that had fallen from her car when an unidentified man in an older model Plymouth pulled up and parked just across the road from Awe's car. At this point the stage was all set for the accident which was fatal to Buckley.

According to Wright County Deputy Sherrif Dale Walrod, Lyle Hoffman, 25, professional parachute jumper from Seattle, Wash., driving a '54 Ford Sedan was headed south and on nearing the two parked cars, suddenly veered into the left hand lane. He struck Buckley's '54 Ford convertible, which was headed north, overturned, rolled down the highway, and skidded 30 or 40 feet before coming to a stop resting on it's top.

George Baker, 20, son of the chief of police at Eagle Grove, who was returning to his work as a telephone lineman at Mason City, was right behind Buckley and was unable to stop in time to keep from hitting him. He rammed into Buckley from the

Hancock Reaches 71.51 Percent of Bond Quota

Purchases of series E and H United States savings bonds by Iowans amounted to $10,617,364. during July, bringing the seven-month total for 1954 to $96,344,-883. With 69 per cent of the annual quota already attained, Iowa has one of the best records in the nation

Herbert Ollenberg, Garner, Hancock County chairman of the savings bonds division, reported that sales of savings bonds in this county during July were $33,905.00, for a seven-month total of $574,692.00 and 71.51 per cent of the annual quota.

Three counties, Lucas, O'Brien and Tama, already have exceeded 100 per cent of their respective goals for the year.

"Real or threatened crop damage undoubtedly has retarded sales of savings bonds in some areas," Ollenberg said, "but Iowa still is appreciably ahead of the national average of bond purchases. We can look forward to seeing even more dollars invested in savings bonds during the next few months."

It looks like "Uncle Sugar", despite all the sweetening up of his allies with the "long green" that they have been so sorely in need of, is going to wind up being a "loner".

England, France, and Scandanavian countries, and some Asian countries are calling for peaceful "co-existence" with the reds, and Japan is lamoring for a chance for free trade with them.

On top of all this, top officials in this country are talking of a "hands off" policy in world affairs . . . unless crowded into action.

We would go along in trying to get along peaceably with the commies, if they would stop their subversive efforts in trying to overthrow other governments in the world. However, until such time as they give up their avowed plan of world conquest, we would freeze them out.

As far as free trade with these international red gangsters is concerned, we would say "No!" The products and advantages they gain in this trade will be used to build up their war potential . . . and when they feel that the time is right, that potential will some day be aimed at the free world, wtih "Uncle Sugar's" homeland as the prime target.

As far as the "hands off" policy in world affairs is concerned, it may be a good idea . . . except for one thing. If we are not going to have anything to say about how our so called allies use the money we "sweeten" them up with, then we would say, keep it at home. If they are going to use the "sugar" that we give them to further their trade with the red conrolled countries, whose avowed purpose is to control the world, and who have been figuring for years on just how to best get their "licks" in at the U. S., then we better keep the money here at home and build up our defenses with it. We haven't the slightest doubt but what the commies will go on consolidating their gains and taking over new territory. When the time comes they will crowd "Uncle Sugar" into action. Then it will be time to wish that we hadn't been so generous with doubtful allies, and had used our dollars to better purpose.

In other words, what we are trying to say is, that if our allies want to live and trade with the communists, let them do it, but don't give them millions of dollars from the pockets of U. S. taxpayers to do it with. If we do, we think that our return from those dollars will be large . . . but definitley not beneficial.

Increased numbers of motor vehicles plus out of date highways have brought forth more fatal accidents. Much has been said and done about how to decrease the number of fatalities on our highways, but still the total mounts.

We have had the feeling for sometime that stronger legislation and heavier penalties for violations would eventually come out of this ever mounting death rate, so we read with interest the following release from the Motor Club of Iowa in which they set forth their recommendations for improving highway safety in the state:

"Every time an additional motor vehicle is placed on the highway, driver responsibility increases. Since 1945, motor vehicle registrations have increased 81 per cent. It is not enough to be just as good a driver as yesterday—one must be better.

In 1945, our traffic accident rate was 11.3 per 100 million miles of travel; in 1953, it was 7.1, which is an indication that many drivers have accepted the increased responsibility.

The number killed annually in traffic accidents have increased. Even though this increase has not been as rapid as the increase in number of vehicles placed on the highways, the slaughter is appalling. Statistics indicate that a great majority of the traffic accidents are caused by a small percentage of drivers. Some authorities estimate 15 per cent cause 80 per cent of the accidents. This 15 per cent must be educated, controlled, arrested, fined, or jailed and, in some instances, even banished from the highway if we hope to reduce our traffic death rate. The Motor Club of Iowa recommendations for reducing traffic accidents set forth herein are specifially aimed at this small group.

More Patrol Warnings

When a driver commits an unsafe driving act, regardless of whether a law has been broken or not, that driver should be stopped and warned. Traffic law enforcement officials should give serious consideration to re-doubling their vigilence and increasing their activities along these lines. Arrests are necessary when laws are broken, but it is equally important to the public safety that driving errors inside the law be corrected. Special attention should be given to: (1) Vehicles which are being driven too fast or too slow for maximum safety of the driver, his passengers, and others on the highway (taking into consideration road, vehicle, weather, and traffic conditions); (2) Vehicles cutting in and out of traffic; (3) Vehicles which follow too closely behind others; (4) Vehicles driven in any manner which displays discourtesy to others; (5) Vehicles exceeding the maximum speed limit set by law in incorporated cities and towns; and (6) Commercial vehicles exceeding the maximum speed limit set for them on the open highway.

License Suspension, Requirements

There can be no question about the fact that habitual traffic violators should have their operator licenses swiftly suspended. However, we do not believe that it is in the best interest of safety to suspend a license until a complete check of the driver's past record has been made by the State Department of Public Safety and the driver is contacted personally by a representative of that department.

We further recommend that all courts dealing with traffic arrest cases give immediate consideration to imposing higher fines and even mandatory jail sentences on drivers who have proven to be habitual violators.

The Motor Club of Iowa also suggests that requirements for securing drivers' licenses be raised substantially with more attention given to determining driving attitudes, ability, and physical fitness before issuing a license to operate a motor vehicle.

Speed Limits

We further recommend that Iowa traffic laws be revised to establish maximum speeds on certain dangerous sections of the open highway after the Highway Commission has made engineering and speed studies to establish such limits.

We further recommend that the Iowa laws pertaining to speed limits within cities and towns be changed making it mandatory to revise such limits upward where engineering and speed studies made by the Highway Commission show such increased limits are practical for the efficient use of streets within cities and towns where primary highways are located.

In each instance, major consideration should be given to the speed within which 85 per cent of the vehicles travel.

We realize there is a need for greatly increased emphasis on lower night speeds and, therefore, endorse the principle of legislation setting forth a maximum speed limit of 55 miles per hour at night."

BOY SCOUT

Recently, Terry Heying of West Union, used his Boy Scout training to good advantage in saving the lives of the Heying family. A fishing launch which they had engaged lost its propeller, on Mille Lac, while eleven miles from shore, with high winds coming up. Terry used his flashlight to send out a message for help, in Morse code.

rear and bounced him into officer Awe's car which was parked on the east side of the highway. Both Baker's '53 Plymouth and Awe's Olds received extensive front end damage, and Buckley's convertible was nearly demolished.

Hoffman is hospitalized at Belmond with a broken left thigh bone and three broken ribs on the left side. Baker was hospitalized, received treatment for a dislocated shoulder, and then was released.

Cause of Buckley's death was listed as brain and chest injuries, other internal injuries, and large lacerations. Funeral services are being held this afternoon (Wednesday) from O'Keefe and Towne Funeral Home at Waterloo, and burial will be in Kentucky, Buckley's original home.

Announce Tuberculosis Case-finding Program

Miss Helen Lemke, R. N., county Public Health Nurse will begin work on the annual contact case-finding program, according to information received by Mrs Gladys Lewis, president f the Hancock County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

The search for possible but a yet unknown cases of tuberculosis in the community will be directed by the physicians and assisted by Helen Lemke, R. N., public health nurse.

Her job will be to work with family physicians to locate persons who have been in contact with others who have known tuberculosis. Hence the title of the case-finding program: "Contact".

The nurses will call in the homes of the persons who have been exposed to tuberculosis. She will arrange appointments for all persons whose skin shows a positive reaction. This does not necessarily mean that tuberculosis is present. The physician may refer persons for other chest conditions. Information gathered by the nurse will be strictly confidential.

Dr. Hill, president of the Hancock, Winnebago County Medical Society, has indicated the profession's approval of the survey. Cost of the survey is borne by the local tuberculosis association and the Division of Tuberculosis of the State Department of Health. Christmas Seal funds help defray part of the expense of the survey.

Ridders Return

Mr and Mrs Levi Ridder returned the latter part of last week from taking their son, Roger and family, to New York from where they sailed on the 10th for Germany.

Enroute east, the Ridders had good luck in seeing fine ball games. They left here on Tuesday, the 3rd, and on Wednesday saw the Chicago White Sox and the Boston Red Sox play in Chicago. Thursday they were in Cleveland and saw the New York Yankees and the Cleveland Indians. Friday they did a little sight-seeing around Washington, D C, and Saturday they saw the Chicago Cubs and the Phillies play in Philadelphia. Then on Sunday they took in the game between the New York Giants and the Milwaukee Braves at the Polo Grounds.

Monday was spent in New York making final sailing arrangements, and on Tuesday forenoon, the Roger Ridder family sailed aboard the Gripsholm for Germany.

As soon as they had gone, Mr and Mrs Levi Ridder started their return trip to Klemme.

USDA researchers report that close grazing of pastures—especially in the late fall—may permanently damage a good stand of grass.

NO CHANGE

On the Andrew Belling farm near Sheldon, he's still using the same "Blue Ribbon" walking plow that he first used on the same farm 60 year ago.

CLOSED

The hospital at Sigourney has been closed after 33 years of service to that community. Little Lynn Sterrett will have the honor of being the last baby born in the hospital, July 30. She was the 97th since the institution opened.

DES MOINES—It was back in 1833 that Henry and Jane Morris brought their belongings into Iowa in this mover's wagon. This year their octogenarian grandsons, John and Arthur Morris from near Stockport, will exhibit the wagon and many old-time farm implements at the Centennial of the Iowa State Fair here August 28 to September 6. Standing left to right, John Morris, his daughter Ruth Morris, Arthur Morris and his daughter Mary Lannum, all of Stockport. The boy in the wagon is Ned Newman.

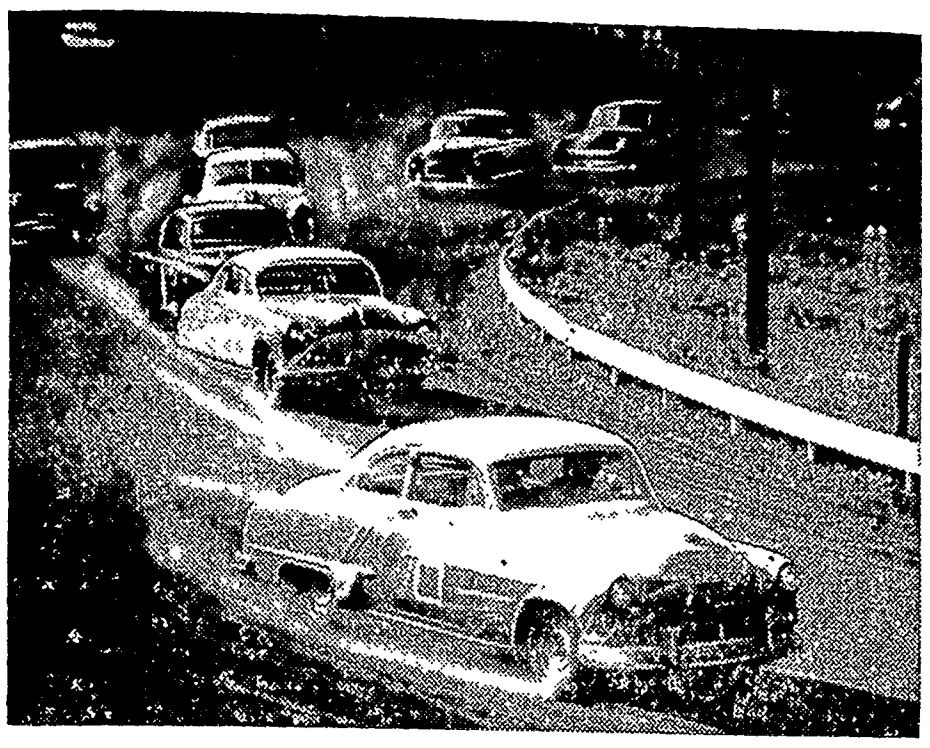
Watch Out - Here They Come!



DES MOINES—Clear the track for action at the Iowa State Fair! More than 40 of the nation's foremost drivers are reported to have entered their stock cars in the two big stock car racing days at this year's Centennial exposition: the sprint, dash, and 50-mile schedule on Saturday afternoon, August 28, and the 125-mile championship marathon on Sunday evening, September 5. An "old-timer's" stock car race, featuring passenger cars of the 1900's vintage, is also being planned.

If you're planning to test your soil this year, August is a good month to take samples. Joe Stritzel—Iowa State College extension agronomist—says the first step is to check with your county extension director to get instructions and forms for taking the sample.

Dry weather this summer has hurt crops—but it has also hurt the flies. Rains will reactivate breeding areas, and Harold Gunderson, Iowa State College extension entomologist, says that now's the time for combining a good clean-up with a spraying campaign.

Ell Tip Toppers Observe 30 Years of Club Work

The Ell Tip Toppers celebrated the completion of 30 years of club work in connection with their local achievement show on Monday night, August 9. Gracka Gerardi gave the welcome and honored the former members.

Corsages were presented to the charter members present. They were Mrs Richard Ax, Ventura; Mrs Harold Rockow, Garner; Mrs Caris Kropp, Garner; Mrs Robert Marhew, Garner; and Mrs John Waddingham, Klemme.

Then she introduced the present leaders Mrs Gordon Schubert and Mrs August Josten. The former leaders were presented with corsages. The leader who organized the club back in 1924, Mrs W. J. Hampel, was present to help them celebrate.

The clarinet quartet composed of Maurine Johnson, Ginger Kudje, Eva Thiemann, and Joyce Thiemann played "Dark Eyes".

Mrs Louis Weiland, who has coached the junior demonstration team, then introduced the members of her team, Elaine Jurgemeyer and Luaine Weiland who presented "A Guard from A Yard".

Mrs Edwin Thiemann introduced the senior team, Gracka Gerardi and LaVohn Josten who presented "A Blouse to Please, Made with Ease".

The style revue was one of most interesting part of the program. Each girl modeled a garment she made in the clothing project this year. The winner of the junior division was Rosalie Rosendahl and in the senior division, Doreen Lackore. These two girls represented our club at the county style show last week.

Edwin Thiemann then introduced LaVurne Josten, who gave the presidents report for the Ell Midgets and played an accordion solo.

After the program the drawing was held for the gifts donated by Klemme merchants. Mrs Louis Jurgemeyer won the pound of coffee from D & H Market, Mrs Curtis Grieman the 5 lbs. of sugar from Klemme Food Market, Mrs Richard Ax the 5 jars of jam from Kluckhohns, Mrs L Kubly the rug from Henry Wessels, and Mrs Ronald Karsjens the gift from Thada's.

Bobby Anderson won the sew-Center, Mrs Ed Blanchet and LuVurne Josten each a half gallon ice cream from the creamery, Karen Neuhring a gift from Marie's, Wendall Humphrey the soap from the Corner Store, Ellen Waddingham and Mrs Wilbur Haefner each a half gallon ice cream from Gerardi's, Mrs Harvey Barz a box of stationary from Klemme Times, and Jane Renner an oil change from Hancock Co. Coop.

Vernon Greiman won a set of screw drivers from the Klemme Hardware, Donald Anderson the tools from Josten's Hardware, Larry Thiemann the smoke stand from Wellemeyer Furniture Store, Mrs John Meinders the chrome cleaner from Bert's Standard Service, and Mrs Vernon Jaberg 1 qt. of paint from Lumber Yard.

The prize for a 4-H girl went to Joyce Thiemann, a mirror from Osman's. The prize for a 4-H boy went to Gary Kubly, 100 lbs. of hog feed from Klemme Coop. Grain. The one prize every 4-H girl in the Klemme School is looking forward to is from Harson's sewing center for the best 4-H record book is $5.00.

Judges for the occasion were Miss Ruby Schram, Mrs Carl Wille, and Mrs Laurice Lemke. They were presented aprons made by the Junior Demonstration team.

The club members entered the following in the Junior Fair:

Apron-Roxanne Back, Miriam Hartbeck, Ellen Waddingham, Elaine Jurgemeyer. Skirt-Lois Weiland; Blouse-Myrna Barz, Ginger Kudje, Luaine Weiland; Nightgown-Elaine Jurgemeyer; Pajamas-Luaine Weiland; Play Clothes-Melva Johnson, Jane Renner; Jumper-Joyce Thiemann; School dress-Virginia Schubert.

More Beef, Less Pork Is Consumer Choice

Long-run trends show that U S consumers are demanding more beef and less pork on a per capita basis, according to three Iowa State College economists, Geoffrey Shepard, J C Purcell and L F Manderscheild

They give two reasons for the change in demand. First, there has been a shift from rural to urban poplulation. Urban consumers eat twice as much beef per capita as farmers, but they eat less pork than farmers.

Second, there has been a general rise in income levels, plus more even income distribution. This factor has also increased the demand for beef more than it has for pork.

The economists think the trend toward increased per capita demand for beef and lower per capita demand for pork will persist in the future.

The total demand for pork, however, has been increasing because of the growth in the U S population.

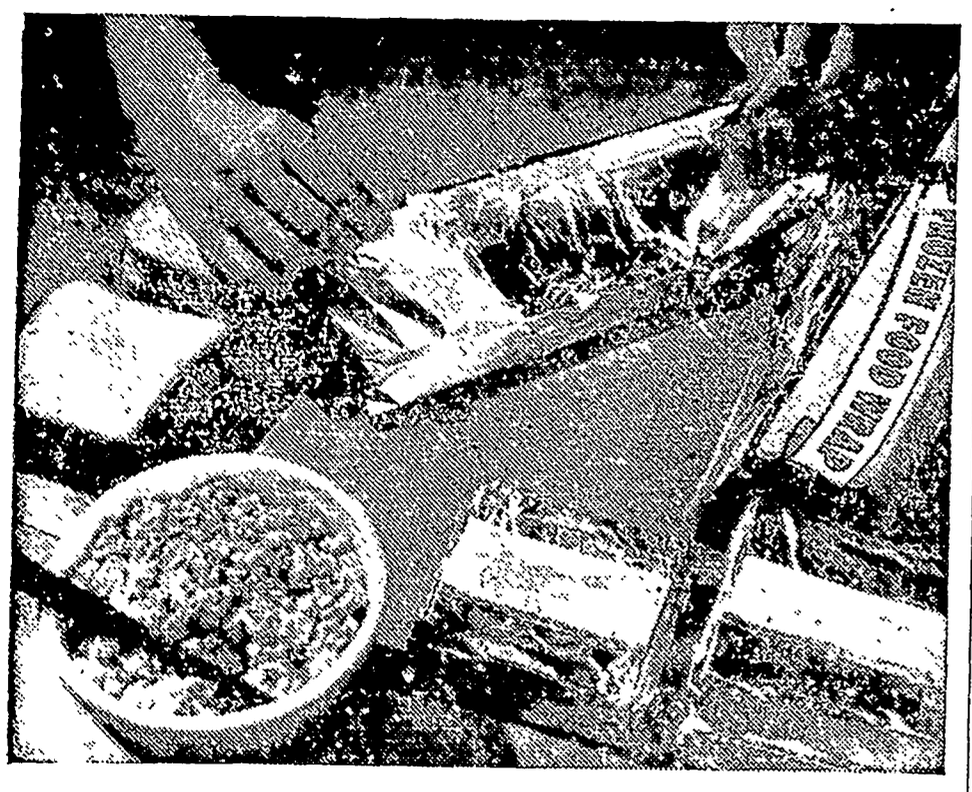
Be Ready in a Jiffy—

With Frozen Sandwiches



Someday when you aren't real busy why not make up a lot of sandwiches and freeze them. Then you'll be ready in a jiffy when your youngsters suggest a picnic, or something else comes up that you need sandwiches for. Just take them out of the freezer and let them thaw.

Make sandwiches ahead of time, freeze them, and you're all ready for spur-of-the-moment picnics, parties, hikes or the children's lunch boxes. That's the suggestion made by Leslie Smith Iowa State College extension nutritionist.

You can freeze sandwiches in the frozen food compartment of your refrigerator or in your home freezer. Plan to eat them within a week if you hold them in your refrigerator's freezing compartment. You can keep them longer in the home freezer.

The length of time you should keep sandwiches in the freezer depends a lot on the kind of wrapping used. Parchment paper sandwich bags are least satisfactory—they keep sandwiches only about a week. If you wrap the sandwiches in waxed paper or cellophane, plan to eat them within 2 or 3 weeks. A moisture-vapor-resistant wrapping such as aluminum foil will keep sandwiches frozen several months.

Length of time it takes a frozen sandwich to thaw varies from 1 to 4 hours, depending on the temperature of the room it's wrapped, and if it is open-faced or not.

Do's of Sandwich Freezing

1. Use any type bread you prefer, for all varieties of bread freeze or refrigerate satisfactorily.

2. Freeze sandwiches with fillings made of meat, cheese, fish, chicken and peanut butter. You will find this is a good way to get rid of leftover roast beef, roast pork, baked ham or roast fowl—your family won't recognize them as leftovers when you serve the sandwiches a week or two later.

3. You may combine the fillings with cream cheese, creamed butter, mayonnaise or salad dressing. Add sliced or chopped green olives, dill or sweet pickles and lemon juice if desired. These acid ingredients slow down the growth of dangerous bacteria in sandwich filling combinations such as ham salad, or chicken salad.

4. Spread the bread well, edge to edge, with softened butter or margarine so it won't absorb moisture from the filling. Use butter that is soft instead of melted because melted butter will soak in instead of forming a protective coating on the bread.

5. Use only freshly prepared fillings, and freeze sandwiches promptly, for dangerous bacteria grow well in most sandwich fillers—and especially well in moistened bread.

6. Wrap each sandwich separately. Label and date the package. If several sandwiches are wrapped together in one package, the individual flavors will mingle and be hard to identify.

7. Plan to eat the sandwiches immediately after thawing. Pack sandwiches, right from the freezer, into the lunchbox. They will be thawed by lunchtime.

Don'ts of Sandwich Freezing

1. Don't store sandwiches at the sides or bottom of freezer. Ice crystals form if you do.

2. Don't freeze fillings with raw vegetables such as watercress, lettuce celery tomatoes and carrots, which will lose their crispness, color and flavor when frozen. It's best to add them to thawed sandwiches. Leave out hard-cooked egg white too—it toughens in freezing.

3. Don't spread the bread with salad dressing or mayonnaise, which may separate as well as oak into the bread. If you want to use mayonnaise, use a small amount and mix it with filling, or spread it on after the sandwich has thawed. Jelly, honey, and preserves soak into the bread too, unless a protective coat of table fat, cream cheese or peanut butter is spread clear to the edge of the bread before adding the filling.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE HANCOCK COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

Nurse Lemke Reports For School Yeor

Hancock County Health Nurse Helen Lemke has completed a year of service to the people of Hancock County, according to her annual report released this week. The Hancock County nursing service had been without proper personnel for a period of three years until Miss Lemke took over the duties August 1, 1953.

During the year just ended Miss Lemke made 494 home calls, served 229 patients, had 101 patients visit her office, addressed 75 civic and commercial groups with an attendance of 2,285 persons, visited 72 rural and urban schools, made 139 calls, held 239 teacher-nurse conferences, inspected 250 children and gave 92 health talks to school children.

She attended 20 meetings and classes of instruction, held interviews with 18 state representatives, 19 district representatives, 145 physicians and 18 dentists. She attended five staff meetings, two state public health meetings, attended one national nurse's conference and various other meetings.

The program outlined by her for the months ahead includes health talks and school health survey in all rural and urban schools, prenatal classes, contact T. B. program, crippled children's clinic at Mason City and Algona, and regular health supervision to families.

WHOPPER

LeRoy Rinehart, Knoxville youngster and his companions had a rare fishing thrill recently. Fishing in the Des Moines river, near Percy, he hooked a 36 pound catfish on a home-made pole and landed it successfully.

DES MOINES—"Nike" the supersonic guided missile that outmaneuvers enemy aircraft and blasts them from the skies, will be on display at the Centennial Iowa State Fair here, August 28 to September 6. A special detail from the U. S. Army will be stationed at the exhibit to explain, as far as security regulations permit, the operation of this 20-ft. aerial torpedo that virtually thinks for itself. A 15-minute sound film of "Nike" in actual operation will also be shown continuously.

Iowa Educational Level Highest in the Nation

When the 1950 federal census reported that persons 25 years old and older had an average of little more than nine years of formal schooling, even more revealing of the differences in educational opportunity is the per cent having completed less than five years of schooling according to the Iowa Development Commission.

Iowa had only 3.9 per cent of its population 25 years of age and older with less than five years of schooling, the lowest functional illiteracy in the nation, as compared with the U. S average of 11 per cent. Louisiana reported 28.7 per cent of its population 25 or over with less than five years schooling, while in 17 states, at least 10 per cent of the population of this age group is educationally deficient.

The median number of school years completed by these persons was 9.3 in the national average, as compared with Iowa's 9.8 years of schooling. A total of 5 per cent of Iowa's population 25 years of age or older have completed four or more years of college.

About 5½ million children between the ages of 5 and 17 were not enrolled in school in 1950, states the National Education Association, while 85 per cent of Iowa's school-age children were enrolled in school during that year, ranking third in the nation in regular attendance.

Anoher way of detecting educational differences among the states is through the number of pupils per teacher and, in 1950-51, the country averaged 24.1 pupils per teacher in public elementary and secondary schools. However, Iowa ranked fourth in the nation with 18.2 pupils per teacher at that time.

Taken from Our Files

10 YEARS AGO—

Seaman Cecil Katter recently completed his boat training at Great Lakes Naval Training Station and came home last week to spend his furlough visiting his parents Mr and Mrs Ben Katter and his wife here, the former Miss Irene Becker. He will return to the Great Lakes station where he will receive advanced training in the signal corps.

Iowa has experienced some real hot weather the past week, beginning Thursday and continuing thru Sunday with the thermometers up well toward the 100 degrees mark.

The Service Souvenir Show at the Methodist Church Friday evening was attended by a large crowd. The displays of souvenirs were from men in the Service. Several hundred articles were on display from 42 army and navy camps, 25 foreign countries and islands and several ships.

John Pannhoff, farmer living northeast of Klemme suffered a fractured leg Saturday when his team became unruly and ran away, throwing him out of the wagon.

20 YEARS AGO—

Dwight Hummel, Henry Smid, Alfred Nuehring, Klemme, and Steve Chizek, Garner, left Saturady afternoon for Chicago to take in the Fair and see the sights. They expect to stay in Chicago at least a week.

Quite an unusual sight greeted the casual observer who happened to be in the vicinity of the Farmer's Elevator Monday afternoon. The favorable spurt in the corn market put several shelling outfits at work with the result that a lot of corn was hauled to Klemme. At one particular time at the elevator, there were twenty teams and trucks with loads of corn waiting to unload. A car on track was loaded, the elevator was full to the roof and everybody was waiting for the train to bring more cars.

Herman Paul drove to Cranston, Iowa, Friday to bring Mrs Paul back to Klemme. Mrs Paul had been visiting her brother William Suckow and family there. She also visited at the Harry Buss home at Columbia City. The trip included a visit at Muscatine and a drive along the Mississippi River.

Nellie and Harold Stromer left last week for northern Minnesota on a vacation trip.

30 YEARS AGO—

Dr D P Anderson, Sumner Trumbell and Don Gibbs went to the sale of western horses Saturday at Britt. Doc brought home a real western buckskin with him, which he purchased there.

"Abe" Lauritzen and Irwin Lau played ball Sunday on a Boone Valley ball team. They played a Kanawha team at Twin Lake Park.

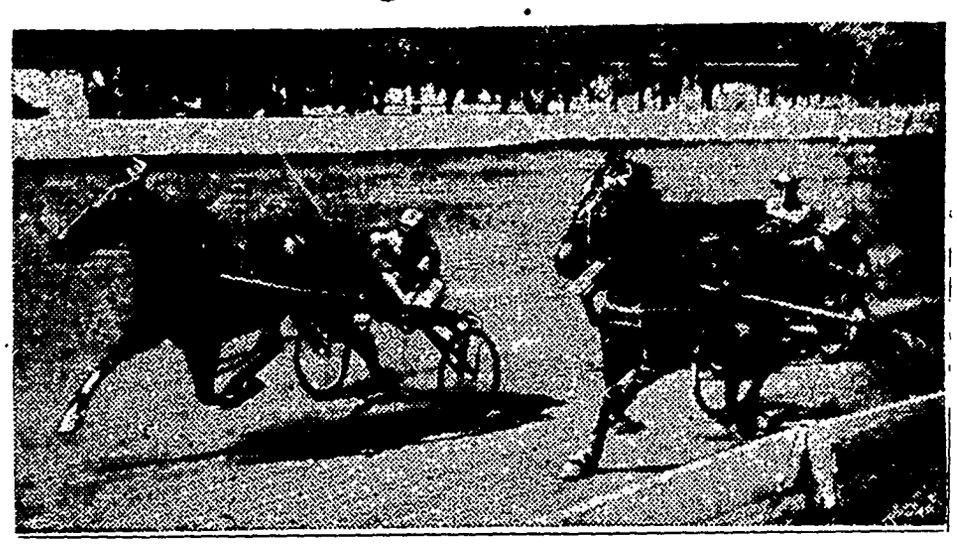
Last Wednesday evening, owing to so many of the regular band members being away on their vacation, the Garner Band played the regular Wednesday night concert. They gave a good concert and everyone was well pleased.

Mrs Hans Hanson treated the Wellemeyer Department Store clerks with everbearing strawberries Wednesday.

ACCIDENT

The youngsters at the Odebolt community fair were mighty unhappy about an accident which took the life of Silver, little palomino colt. Only a week old, he was the "star" of the fair but became entangled in his mother's halter-rope during the night, hanging himself.

Off and Running at State Fair



DES MOINES—They're warming up again on the State Fair track at Des Moines. Two afternoons of double-feature horse racing will headline the Centennial Iowa Fair here on Aug. 31 and Sept. 1. Both harness races and running races will be featured each afternoon of the two-day meet, with 12 events scheduled on each card. More than 200 entries are expected from turfdom's finest stables. Purses total more than $14,000.

Lois Hueneman to Attend Conference

Lois Hueneman of Garner is planning to attend the 3rd Annual International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) Conference at Rock Springs Ranch near Junction City, Kansas, August 26-29. Rock Springs Ranch is the 4-H Leadership Training Center of Kansas.

Lois was an IFYE delegate to Germany in 1951. One hundred former IFYE's and friends are expected to attend the Conference along with 60 IFYE's from other lands who are now living for six month's period in the United States. Approximately 35 states will be represented by an IFYE delegation.

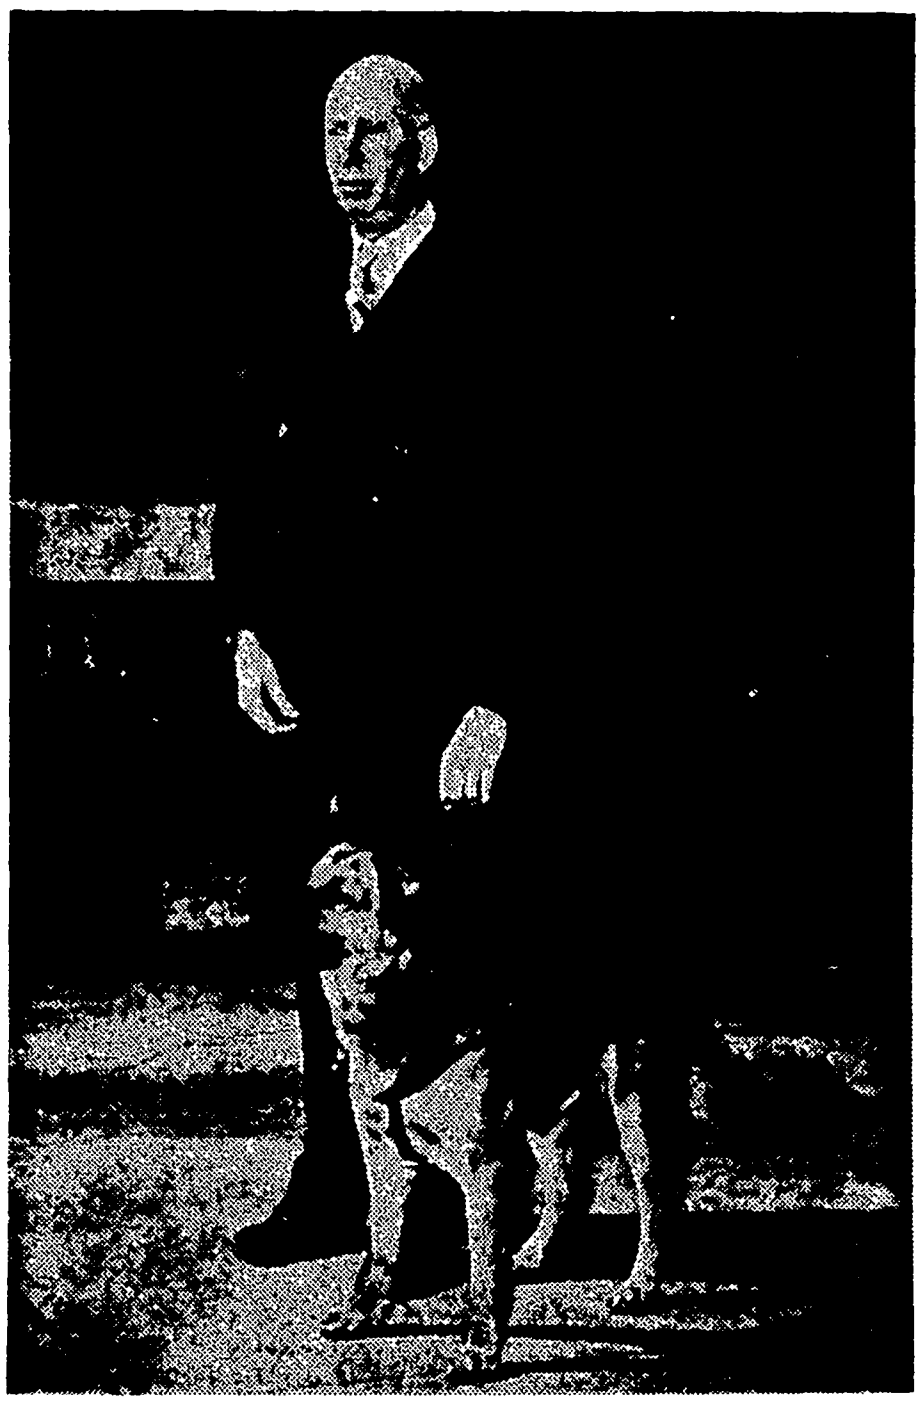
He is the first chlid for the Batchellers and makes Mrs Maxine Kastler a grandmother for the first time. She helped care for the mother and new baby last week. Mrs Batcheller is the former Marian Kastler.

Blind Minister and Seeing Eye Dog Here



The Rev. S Kieser is a blind minister from Springfield, Illinois. He is accompanied by his Seeing Eye dog, Prue, a large and beautiful German Shepherd. With the aid of his dog, Rev. Kieser carries on his regular pastoral duties as minister of the Fourth Presbyterian Church in Springfield. The dog lies quietly at his feet when he is in his pulpit and some of his people insist that she bows her head when he prays.

Rev. Kieser also travels widely with his dog giving his address, "Adventures in Darkness". In his lecture he demonstrates how the dog works, and tells how Seeing Eye dogs are trained. He has many interesting and amusing experiences as he goes about, and these he tells to the delight of his audiences. Rev. Kieser also uses his relationship with his dog to illustrate spiritual truth and brings out unforgetable lessons in faith and guidance. His address appeals to young and old alike and his listeners are thrilled and challenged by his message. They also come away with a new conception of what handicapped people can do, and how they may live useful happy, and normal lives.

Rev. Kieser reads from his Braille Bible and explains how the Braille system is read and written. He has a Braille watch and can tell the time without taking his watch out of his pocket. He uses the touch system of typewriting. He carries on all his outside activities much as sighted people do even though he does not see light. His dog, Prue, acompanies him at all times and they travel together on trains and busses. She has taken him safely through the traffic in many cities and towns throughout the Middlewest and they have no difficulty in getting about in strange surroundings. Prue is a very well-behaved and gentle dog and she and her master have many friends.

Rev. Kieser will speak to the Adult Bible Class Meeting on Tuesday, September 7, at 8:30 P. M. The entire congregation and community are cordially invited to attend.

Heavy Rains Again As Over Five Inches Fall At Mason City

Since Saturday evening this vicinity has been visited with an unusual amount of rain. Although we have not had quite the fall that has visited some neighboring localities, still it has been enough to send the river out of its banks.

A severe electrical and windstorm accompanied the rain which fell here Sunday afternoon and evening. Much of the corn in this vicinity took quite a beating from the wind, but the yield will not be hurt much. Lightning hit mighty close at some people's homes. Blowing out some transformers, melting the inside of telephones, and in one instance setting fire to a barn. The barn was on the Eimbrink farm south of Goodell. It burned to the ground.

In the 24-hour period from early Sunday morning until early Monday morning, Mason City received over five inches of rain. It has been raining intermitently all over the state this week, and last night Des Moines was visited by a fall of some over three inches. This amount made a total of over 10 inches of rain for Des Moines since August 10th, and makes August the wettest month for that city in the 78 years that records have been kept.

The time of year is rapidly approaching, though, when anyone of these thunderstorms could bring a change in the weather, and then we will be going into fall which is usually one of the better times to be alive in Iowa.

Sister of Klemme Women Badley Injured As Car Hits Tree

Illinois Man Killed In Same Accident

Thomas Earl Adee, 23, Sycamore, Ill., was killed instantly Saturday night when his car struck a tree just north of Hampton on Highway 65.

Meanwhile, Mrs Esther Holt, 54, of Thornton, a sister of Mrs Harvey Barz of Klemme, was in serious condition at a Hampton hospital. She had multiple fractures of the legs and arms a fractured skull, a brain injury of undetermined extent, and lacerations. She was moved Monday night to University Hospital at Iowa City, where in all probability brain surgery will be performed.

The highway patrol said that Adee's car apparently went out of control, skidded some 200 feet and hit a tree. Adee had been working in Sheffield the past week.

Highway patrolmen said Adee's death occurred as he was attemping to aid Mrs Holt—a stranger— who had just alighted from a bus.

The officers said Mrs Holt had left her purse on the bus and Adee had volunteered to try to catch the bus for her. It was during the chase that the accident ocurred.

When Mrs Holt was moved to Iowa City, she was acompanied by her son, Dale of Sheffield, her brother, Richard Brouwer of Garner, and Mrs Barz. Her son, Glenn of Arkansas, is also here.

Labor Day Closings

Labor Day will be Monday September 6th. In observance of the day, Klemme stores and business places will be closed, as will the Klemme School.

Marvin Josten Scores High In Accordion Contest At Chicago

Marvin Josten, who recently won first place in an accordion contest at Cedar Rapids, has again come away from a contest with high honors. His win at Cedar Rapids entitled him to play in a contest at Chicago sponsored by the Chicago Tribune.

Appearing in competition with 690 accordionists from all over the country, Marvin received a rating of 96 which placed him 10th position among all those competing. He is a student of the Gerardi School of Music here in Klemme and his instructor is justifiably proud of the showing he has made.

He was accompanied to Chicago by his parents, Mr and Mrs Ewald Josten, his brother, Edward, and E A Gerardi. They left Klemme on Friday, Marvin appeared in the contest on Saturday, and they returned to Klemme on Sunday.

Teachers' Reception Will Be September 10

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!
School is here again!

The afternoon of August 24, members of the Klemme Music Mothers, the Immanuel and Reformed Church, Klemme Methodist Church and Liberty Methodist Church met and made plans for the annual reception for the teachers of the Klemme Community School which will be held Friday evening, September 10, at the auditorium in the Klemme High School beginning at 7:45 P M.

This reception is planned to include everyone living in the newly organized Klemme Community School District.

A program is being planned and lunch will be served.

3-Car Accident

A three car accident occurred one mile south of Klemme on highway 69 Tuesday, August 24. Only minor damage resulted.

A car with a one wheel trailer, driven by Gardner A. Neal of Winnepeg, Canada, stalled on the hill south of Klemme and the following two cars jammed into the stalled vehicle, causing the 3-car collision.

Deputy Sheriff R. E. Nesbit investigated the accident.

Promoted

Relatives here have received word that Virgil Ruter has been promoted to A/2c. He is stationed at an air base at Moses Lake, Washington, and he and his wife, the former Maralee Ridder, live in the town of Moses Lake.

Courthouse to Close

The Hancock County Courthouse at Garner will be closed all day Monday, September 6th, in observance of Labor Day, a legal holiday.

Classes Will Begin Monday, August 30

School will open next Monday, August 30, as the newly formed Klemme Community School District begins its activities with 10 new teachers. Beside the facilities in town, the district will also maintain and operate five country schools; one in Twin Lake Township and four in Liberty Township.

Two of the new teachers will teach in the rural schools. They are Mrs Mildred Robbins of Goodell, who will teach Twin Lake No. 5, and Emily Long, who will teach Liberty No. 9. Teaching the other country schools. will be Ellen Lydia Pearson. Liberty No. 6; Mrs Noreen Barkkema, Liberty No. 7; and Bertha Johnson, Liberty No. 8.

New teachers hired to fill vacancies in the town plant of the district are the following:

Dale Heppler, driver training and math. He previously taught three years at Archer where he was athletic coach.

Orin Holstad, 8th grade. Mr Holstad taught the past two years at Webb, teaching in the elementary school.

Mrs JoAnn Heppler, 6th grade. She taught two years at Archer as an elementary teacher.

Mrs Mary Holstad, 3rd grade. Mrs Holstad taught in the elementry schools at Webb for the past two years.

Dorthe Otteman, kindergarten. She has had no previous teaching experience, having just graduated last spring from Buena Vista College at Storm Lake.

Rachel Peterson, home economics and girls P. T. No previous experience. She is a last spring graduate of Iowa State College at Ames.

Next Monday will be a big day for children of school age in Klemme and in many other communities throughout the nation. They will be starting back to school for another year.

The opening of school means that the motorist will have to use caution. Children know the rules and know what they should do in order to avoid being hit by a car when crossing the street, but they get intent on their play and forget.

Think back to the days when you were a young "sprout" going to school. Do you remember any of the crazy stunts you pulled . . . and got by with . . . thanks to the quick action of some adult whose heart was in his mouth.

Kids today are no different than you were. If you don't want to be the cause of one of them becoming a casualty, you'll have to keep your speed down, your brakes in A-1 condition, and your eyes open.

You'll sleep better if you save a child's life than if you are the driver of the machine that runs him down . . . even though you might not be at fault.

In addition to watching for children on the street, there is another responsibility that falls on the motorist with the coming of school.

School buses will be back in operation. The laws pertaining to your actions when meeting or overtaking a school bus are very clear and read as follows:

The driver of any vehicle overtaking a school bus shall not pass a school bus when flashing stop warning signal lights are flashing and shall bring said vehicle to a complete stop not closer than fifteen feet of the school bus when it is stopped and stop arm is extended, and shall remain stopped until the stop arm is retracted and school bus resumes motion, or until signalled by the driver to proceed.

The driver of any vehicle when meeting a school bus on which the stop warning lights are flashing shall reduce the speed of said vehicle to not more than twenty miles per hour, and shall bring said vehicle to a complete stop when school bus stops an stop signal arm is extended and said vehicle shall remain stopped until stop arm is retracted after which driver may proceed with caution.

As more details are made public about the defection to the Reds of Dr Otto John, it becomes more and more apparent that he has been a stumbling block in the path of EDC. His easy access to western political and intelligence secrets have furnished the Reds with invaluable information with which to stir up anti-EDC propaganda.

It is thought now that he has been a communist agent since 1935. Every step that he has taken seemingly for the benefit of the west, has in reality been a furtherance of Red ideas and ambitions.

The more we read and hear of the trouble EDC is having, the more we think that he has been a successful counterspy. His work has been invaluable to the communists and the detrimental effects of his actions, insofar as the west are concerned, are perhaps beyond measure.

Although there seems to be some doubt as to the constitutionality of the law passed by the 83rd congress outlawing the communist party in this country, still we think it is a step in the right direction.

We would like to see them put more teeth in the law, and really make it rough on these "characters". Anyone who dislikes this country so much that they willingly join an organization which advocates the violent overthrow of our government, has no right to any constitutional protection as far as we are concerned.

In spite of the newly passed law, and the communist party's avowed purpose in being in the United States, what do you suppose a party spokesman in New York said? He had the gall to assert that the party would "continue to function as a legal political party." He declared the new law is "profoundly unconstitutional" and that the party would "join with other groups to seek its invalidation."

We say "phooey" to him and all his like. If they don't like our country the way it is, make it hot for them. Offer them a free ride to Russia and see how they like that.

At the invitation of Don Schaefer, we flew out of Garner, Monday to view the scene of the crash of the Braniff Airways DC-3 south of Swaledale. In sontrast to Sunday evening's wild and turbulent weather which was a contributing factor in the crash, the air Monday was almost perfect for flying. Hardly a bump on the whole route.

As we approached the crash scene, we first saw lots of cars on the road, as people came from miles around to view the wreckage. Then we spotted the plane. We circled the spot several times and tried to piece together what had happened. From the air it seemed impossible that the big plane could have struck the power line. If he had it would have been broken and any poles that were snapped would have been laying to the west; the direction in which the plane was traveling. However the wire appeared to be intact on the five or six poles that were broken off and laying to the east.

From the appearance of the corn in that vicinity, and the way the poles were broken off, it appeared to us that there had been a terrific wind storm that was just too much for the plane.

From the air, it also looked as though the crash might not have been nearly so bad if it had not been for the gully that the plane slid into. It looked as though the craft broke up when it hit the gully and then really scattered wreckage before it came to rest.

As we left Garner and headed southeast, there was no sign of any heavy rain or storm damage but by the time we had gone a couple of miles south of Garner, a dividing line was easily visible. The line ran in a northeasterly direction. North and west of it there was no water standing, but south and east of it, all the pot holes and creeks were full.

The further south and east we went the more noticeable was the wind damage. Corn was pretty flat, some trees were down, and one place we saw where the east end had blown out of a partially completed barn.

We flew at 500 feet and from that height many things are visible which are never noticed on the ground. Small gullies and waterways show up quite well, and if any farmer would like to see where his soil needs building up, we would suggest that he take a plane ride over his farm. The difference in color in the various crops . . . especially corn . . . makes it quite obvious.

Best looking sights we saw on the trip were all the cattle lying around the hillsides in the big pasture at Linden Ranch, and a field where some farmer had struck out three lands with his plow. It appeared to us that the field was about 80 rods long and those three lands were just as straight as could be. They looked like three black strings stretched the length of the green field.

Most out of place looking sight we saw was a field chopper and three large wagons setting smack in the middle of a pond that looked as though it would cover two or three acres. Bet somebody cussed.

In any case we had a good view of the scene, had a pleasant ride, and a good view of the Iowa countryside, which is unusually green and beautiful for this time of the year.

A 51-year old Hopkinton farmer, Virgil Lamphier, was recently seriously hurt by a Holstein bull which crushed him against a stanchion. His wife drove the animal off with a pitchfork.

Jolly Workers Club

The Jolly Workers Club met at the home of Nettie Roths for their August meeting, with fifteen members present. Mrs Verdell Wagner and Mrs Roy Bachman of Goodell were visitors.

We planned to send a gift to Elaine Kuhlers, a patient at the Belmond Hospital, and to Bobby Sheriff, who is a polio patient at Des Moines.

"Thank you" cards the club received were read.

Mrs August Josten was a guest speaker and told many interesting facts on retarded children.

We are planning a trip to Woodward this fall and are going to take lap boards to the hospital. We will work on these lap boards during our September meeting, which will be at Louise Pearson's. Anna Conners will be co-hostess.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess with Edith Kramer as co-hostess.

Cub Leaders' Pow Wow Planned

The 1954 Cub Scout Leaders' Pow Wow will be held on Sunday, September 12, at the Winnebago Council Boy Scout Camp, Camp Roosevelt, near Ventura, it was announced today by Mr and Mrs George Nickerson of Charles City, co-chairman.

Registration will take place from 2 to 2:30 P. M. and the meeting will adjourn at 7:30. In case of rain, the Ventura School will be host to the Pow Wow.

The Pow Wow is an annual event, being held early in the fall to acquaint both new and old Cub Scout Leaders with their duties. Actual experience in each of several Cub Scout Activities is featured—games, ceremonies, and handicrafts. In addition, a section on Pack administration is offered to Cubmasters and Committeemen. Exhibits of Cub Scout handicrafts and participation in the Midway games are open to all.

Experienced Cub Scout Leaders under the direction of Council staff members are in charge of all activities.

The Pow Wow will adjourn following a covered dish dinner and general meeting. Cub Leaders may bring their children, who will be entertained in a separate group by a special committee, assisted by Explorer Scouts.

Cub Packs in this area who expect to participate include the following:

Allen K. Barz, Cubmaster Pack 56; Rev. Vernon E. Jaberg, Assistant Cubmaster; Earl W. Nuehring, Institutional Representative; Laurice A. Lemke, Pack Committee Chairman; Eldon O. Hagen, Merle Schoenwetter, Milvern Barz, members of the Pack Committee; Cecilia Huenemann, Ann Christians, Juanita Clements, Den Mothers.

Invite Suggestions for Material to be Sealed In Vault at State Fair

Iowans were invited today to suggest documents and other material for inclusion in the "Centurlon, the Spire of Time," which will be constructed this year in conjunction with the Iowa Centennial State Fair.

Hundreds of items already have been received according to officials supervising the project. During the fair, all material accepted by the committee will be deposited in a reinforced concrete vault near the Administration Building on the fairgrounds in Des Moines, and a 20-ft. spire will be erected on the site.

The vault will be re-opened at the bi-centennial of the Iowa State Fair in 2054.

Records and publications submitted from sources throughout Iowa include messages from state officials, official proceedings of the state legislature, handbooks and guidebooks from municipalities, and annual reports of industrial, and professional groups. Samples of all common varieties of seed, feed, and fertilizer have been supplied by the Iowa Department of Agriculture.

All suggestions and materials should be sent to the Centurlon Committee, Des Moines Register and Tribune, which is directing the project as a commission from the Iowa State Fair Board.

A golden spike, driven at Ogden, Utah, in 1800, marked the completion of the first transcontinental railway.

SAME FARM

One hundred years of ownership was observed recently, when 62 decendants of William and Mary Spurrier held a reunion at the Spurrier homestead near Amana. William Spurrier purchased the farm in 1854, for $1.25 per acre, and it has remained in the family ever since.

Turkeys Are Plentiful—Eat Them Now

Turkeys Are Plentiful -- Eat Them Now

The grocer explains to today's homemaker that the new, small size turkey is a good buy because there are lots of them available now, they're meaty and tender, and are a nice size for the average family.

Not so long ago, our friend the turkey led a fairly safe life—except around Thanksgiving and Christmas. Not any more. He's rapidly losing the distinction of being a holiday food, and is becoming everyday table fare.

Main reason for the change is a new breed of turkey that gets nice and plump when it's about 3 months old. The young bird is a nice size for the average family. You can serve turkey for a meal or two and not have leftovers for the next week.

Plentiful Turkeys

You've probably seen these small size turkeys at your grocers lately, for this is the time of year when they're most plentiful. In fact, they're at the very top of the August Plentiful Foods list put out by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Broiling, frying or roasting are the cooking methods suggested by Leslie Smith, Iowa State College extension nutritionist, for the young, tender turkey.

Broiling Turkey

The 4 to 5 pound ready-to-cook weight is a popular size turkey for broiling. Here are steps to follow in broiling this size turkey:

1. Place turkey halves or quarters skin down in bottom of broiling pan. Don't use a rack. You want to keep the turkey moist in the juices.

2. Brush thoroughly with butter, margarine, or any other desired fat.

3. Season each half with 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper.

4. Place pan in broiler so the turkey is 7 to 9 inches from the heat.

5. Broil slowly in this position 40 to 45 minutes until surface is nicely browned. During broiling baste with fat.

6. Turn the pieces over. Broil 30 to 40 minutes, basting several times, until turkey is done. Turn pieces again if they get brown but aren't quite done. The drumstick twists out of the thigh joint readily when the turkey is done.

7. Serve in quarters on a warm platter, skin side up. Pour pan drippings over the turkey.

Frying Turkey

If you have a new electric skillet you might like to try it out by frying a 4-to-5 pound turkey. If not, use a heavy kettle or skillet. Cut the turkey into 11 or 12 pieces for frying.

Here's how you pan fry turkey:

1. Coat turkey pieces. Common coatings are flour or egg and flour—both with salt, pepper and paprika added.

2. Heat ½ inch cooking fat in a skillet until a drop of water just sizzles.

3. Brown meaty pieces first, slipping less meaty pieces in between as turkey browns. Don't crowd pieces.

4. Turn as necessary to brown and cook evenly. Avoid piercing the coating—it will cause spattering and loss of juice.

5. When turkey is lightly browned (about 20 minutes) reduce heat, cover tightly and cook slowly until tender (about 50 to 60 minutes). Light browning is important since the turkey will continue to brown during slow cooking. Turn occasionally to assure uniform cooking and attractive color. Cook until thickest pieces are fork-tender.

6. If you can't cover your skillet tightly, add 1 to 2 tablespoons water. Avoid adding more water, for the turkey may lose coating and color, become too moist and lack desirable crispness Uncover last 5 to 10 minutes to recrisp coating.

7. Place turkey on warm platter. Prepare gravey with pan drippings. If the giblets are to be fried, coat the liver and precooked gizzard, heart and neck and cook with turkey the last 20 minutes of frying.

Roasting Turkey

For roasting small size birds, Mrs Smith says follow the same procedure as for your big Thanksgiving dinner turkey. Total roasting time will be less—probably between 3 and 4½ hours.

Hog Marketing to Increase, Report Says

Iowa and Northern Illinois will sell more hogs in the next six months than they did a year ago, a survey of nearly 600 farmers in the area reveals. The largest increase in sales will occurr in September and early October.

November and December sales will be up from last year, but not as much percentage wise as in the earlier fall months. This Chicago Stock Yards survey indicates that hog marketings will reach their peak in November. However, farmers plan to sell almost as many hogs in December.

This is the third report on hog marketing intentions based on a quarterly survey conducted by Iowa State College in cooperation with the Chicago Union Stock Yards. The farms surveyed represent an area in which one-third of all hogs in the United States are produced. The project was initiated and financed by the Chicago Stock Yards Company.

Projected marketings for the next six to seven months—based on pigs born, sows bred and stated breeding intentions—indicated that hog marketings will average 13 per cent above corresponding months a year earlier.

A detailed report of the survey findings, prepared by Francis Kutish, Elliott Clifton, both Iowa State College, and Lyle Fitzgerald, Chicago Stock Yards is available upon request. Write to Union Stock Yards, Chicago 9, Illinois.

4-H Girls Win Trip To Iowa State Fair

Three girls from Hancock County won trips to the Iowa State Fair by winning the demonstration team contest and the Style Revue contest. They were Janice Thompson, daugher of Mr and Mrs Orville Thompson, of Britt, and Rosella Hejlik, daughter of Mr and Mrs Frank Hejlik of Britt, and Dorothy Sloan, daughter of Mr and Mrs Mar Sloan of Corwith.

Janice and Rosella won their trip by being placed top blue ribbon winner of the demonstration contest at the Hancock Co. Jr. Fair. Their demonstration was "Patternless Pleated Skirt". The girls actually made a skirt during the demonstration. They will give their demonstration at the State Fair on Monday, August 30th, at 1:15 P. M.

Dorothy won her trip by being the top blue ribbon winner in the style revue at the Hancock Co. Jr. Fair. She will be a contestant in the State 4-H Style Revue at the Iowa State Fair. The State Style Revue will be held for the public at the 4-H Dining Hall on the Fairgrounds at 3 P. M. on Wednesday, September 1.

LAST RIDE

When Lewis Seiberth died at Grinnell recently, his casket was carried to the cemetery in the old 1914 fire truck of the volunteer fire department. He's been a member for 56½ years and was still on the active list until two weeks before his death. He was 78.

Martha Circle Met

Martha Circle met at the home of Mrs Otto Lemke Wednseday afternoon, August 25th, with Mrs Verner Lewis as co-hostess. There were twelve members and three visitors present. Mrs Virgil Cook gave the devotions, and also had charge of the lesson and was assisted by Mrs C C Kilgore and Mrs John Chambers.

Mrs Don Bacon gave a short talk on the Passion Play which they attended at Spearfish, South Dakota, while on a trip to the Black Hills.

After a brief business session, a lovely luncheon was served by the hostesses. The September meeting will be at the home of Mrs John Waddingham with Mrs Benn Boobs as co-hostess.

Liberty Busy Bees

The Liberty Busy Bees held their local Achievemtnt Show August 4, in the recreation room in the home of Marion Stromer. The meeting was called to order by the president, Patty Legge. Roll Call "How I Have Improved My Sewing", was answered by 16 members. We were happy to have 25 guests who came to see the exhibits. The final plans were made for County Achievement Show.

Darlene Hrubes and Betty Clayton gave their demonstration "Inconspicuous Middles".

Every girl took part in the Style Review. The judges chose Patty Legge as the Senior girl Carolyn Jass as the Junior girl to represent our club in the County Style Revue.

We had many lovely exhibits. Every girl worked hard to make our club year a success. Our judges were Mrs. Drusilla Huenemann, Mrs. Laurice Lemke, and Mrs Carl Wille.

Ask Caution, Courtesy When Driving to Fair

asked Iowans to consider the state fair "the biggest neighborly gathering of the year" and to "drive like friends and neighbors on the way to Des Moines.

Frank Ulish, state safety education director, said, "There will be no tragedy or trouble on the highways if every driver acts as though the families in the cars around him live just down the road a piece."

He warned particularly against improper passing, too much speed and impatience in heavy traffic. "These things are no more than dangerous discourtesies which you wouldn't think of committing against your real neighbors," he added.

The state fair opens Saturday, August 28, and traffic converging on Des Moines from all parts of the state "will be extremely heavy and dangerous to the incautious and inattentive," highway patrol Chief David Herrick warned.

He reminded drivers that there has been a sharp increase this year in serious accidents caused by loss of control. "The reason is too much speed and the result is another car running off the road bringing death or injury to the occupants," he said.

Herrick advised motorists driving to the state fair to "stay in the normal flow of traffic. An attempt to get ahead too fast might lead to disaster.

He reminded drivers that the state fair will be open for 10 days, "and that should give everyone who wants to go plenty of time to arrive safely.

6,000 Attend Hancock County Junior Fair

An estimated 6,000 people attended the Hancock Jr. Fair during the 3-Day period to see the 4-H livestock and girls exhibits, commercial exhibits, machinery displays and car displays. The attendance more than doubled the '53 reord.

The fair board and extension personnel wish to express a big "Thank You" to all of the commercial exhibitors, machinery displays and the car displays, food stands and all other cooperators who helped make the fair the success that it was.

The Fair board has set up a four day fair August 16 through 19 to help make a "Bigger and Better Fair in 55". The fairboard feels that it will allow more people a chance to visit the fair and give more time for judging the girls and boys projects. The extra day would allow time for a 4-H judging contest and a stage program.

The fairboard also wants any and all suggestions anyone may have. Suggestions should be sent to Hancock Agriculture Society, Garner, Iowa. This is the fastest way improvements may be made. Some suggestions have already arrived at the offie.

Future plans of the fairboard are to build a covered showring, a wash rack, rent a tent or build a building for girls exhibit and put more cropland into seeding to give more space for commercial exhibits.

The displays which were an added feature and helped make the fair a success were as follows: International Harvestor, Majon, Allis Chalmer, Oliver and John Deere Machinery displays; Ford, Plymouth, Dodge, Pontiac, Mercury, and Chevrolet were the car displays; Britt Furniture & Appliance, Britt Farmer's Co-op, Schubert Surge Service—Garner, Cassady Furniture and Appliance—Britt, Wayne Feeds, Butz and Artes—Garner and Britt, Stevenson Upholstery—Britt, Zrostlik Goodyear Tire Service—Britt, Mormans Feeds—Garner and Britt, Lindsay Water Softner—Mason City, B P Feeds and Friedows Poland China's—Kanawha, Farm Bureau—Garner, Farm Bureau Insurance—Garner, Stevenson Feed and Supply—Britt, Kyles T V and Chinchillas—Britt, Oakes Plumbing and Heating—Britt, were the commercial exhibitors in the tent.

Vigortone Products—Britt, Felco Co-op—Kanawha, Britt Co-op Hancock Co. Farm Supply had spaces outside.

The food stands were represented by the 4-H officers, Rural Young People, Theta Rho of Rebecca Lodge and Catholic Women of Britt.

Ben Reemtsma auctioneered, Floyd Rummel clerked, Ray Baker, Vigortone dealer furnished the loud speaker, Monte Miller headed the Jaycees parking committee and Don Ross who handled the rides all offered their services free of charge to the fair.

Replace Salt, Water Lost by Perspiration

That tired, worn-out feeling you sometimes have on hot days is partly due to loss of water and salt from the body through sweating.

Iowa State College Extension Health Specialist Merl Whorlow says the best way to offset water losses is to drink water on a regular chedule, whether you're thirsty or not.

He tells us to be sure to drink at least 8 glasses of water each day.

Replace salt in the body by salting foods abundantly, Whorlow says. That's better than taking salt tablets.

CURRENCY

Two Schaller girls recently stumbled across $5,160 in currency, hidden in a dresser drawer. They are Mary and Rosalie Adams, and the money was in a chest which the Adams had bought from the estate of the late George Knowles.

You get EXTRA VALUES WITH MM HI-KLEARANCE PLOWS

★ Quick, High Lift
★ Ample Clearance
★ Light Draft
★ Excellent Scouring
★ Better Results

You do a better job . . . and you do it easier with MM Hi-Klearance Plows. Their greater clearance, 23½" between share points and beam, 26½" between share points, helps eliminate your trash problems . . . greater lift prevents dragging trash or stubble at the end of rows, lets you plow deeper when necessary, makes transport and turning easier.

MM Hi-Klearance Plows are built for strength and durability to meet the needs of modern, high-speed plowing. Longer landslides on the rear bottom act as rudder for entire plow keeping it in alignment with line of travel. Heat-hardened, Carburized shares give you longer plowing life. An adjustable hitch allows you to use Hi-Klearance Plows with all makes of tractors. Friction or Spring Trip hitches, standard equipment with Hi-Klearance Plows, protect shares and beams if plow strikes hidden obstacle.

Let us show you the many advantages of MM Hi-Klearance Plows, Vistaliner Tractors and the Complete Line of MM Modern Farm Machinery.

Cub Scouts Picnic At Clear Lake State Park

Friday, August 20th, the Cub Scouts had their annual "Stew" picnic at the Clear Lake State Park.

We left Klemme at 3:30 P M and went to the shelter house to get our fire built. Then each boy had to prepare their onion, carrot and potato for the stew. While the Den Mothers cooked the stew, the boys enjoyed a swim.

The supper consisted of stew, crackers, pop and fruit.

Daryl Kothenbuetel and Daryl Schlei received their Webelo badge and Robert Ahrenkiel, his Bobcat pin.

There were ten Cub Scouts and ten visitors present. Everyone enjoyed their annual "cook-out" and swim.

Attends World Council

Miss Novella Bredbenner is in Evanston, Illinois this week attending the plenary sessions of the World Council of Churches. The main theme of the Assembly is "Christ, the Hope of the World". Delegates and visitors from one hundred sixty-three church denominations from forty-eight nations are represented at the meeting. Much interest is added to the conference by the various languages and colorful costumes of these delegates from around the world.

Miss Bredbenner is a denominational visitor at the World Council of Churches and is representing Kappa Phi, the national club for Methodist college girls. Miss Bredbenner is a member of the National Executive Committee of Kappa Phi.

Klemme Grandmothers at Mason City Banquet

Seven members and one guest of the Klemme Grandmother's Club attended a banquet at the Hotel Hanford, Mason City, Saturday evening, August 21,, 1954, given by the Mason City Grandmother's Club. The occasion was in honor of their guest, Dorothea Sullivan, the National President of the Federated Clubs.

The Klemme Club was asked to furnish a number for the program. A sextette, Louise Etchen, Elizabeth Kilgore, Gertrude Hummel, Edna Thada, Mary Schoenwetter, and Edna Wille, sang a group of songs as follows: the chorus of "Look For The Silver Lining," "Singing Along The Way," and "Hello Grandma". Accompanist, Mrs Gracka Gerardi. The other member attending was Cora Schaefer.

The National Federation of Grandmothers Clubs of America is a growing organization. From the single club of less than twenty members, organized in 1938, there are now over 200 clubs throughout the United States, with a membership over 20,000. Headquarters are maintained in Chicago, Illinois. Their magazine, "Autumn Leaves" is published quarterly. Their dream —a Grandmother's Village, built motel style in units for one, two or three; shopping center and all. For this there is a growing fund.

The next meeting of the Klemme Grandmother's Club will be at the home of Mrs Louise Etchen on Monday afternoon, September 6, 1954. Mrs Elizabeth Kilgore will be co-hostess.

All members should plan to attend, as there will be election of officers. Also dues for the coming year should be paid, as they are due at National Headquarters before September 30. 1954.

Northern Notural Gas Ups Pipeline Capacity

Construction work is underway on Northern Natural Gas Company facilities to increase daily pipeline capacity from one billion to one billion, one hundred million cubic feet. This additional capacity will permit service to 71 new towns including 50 in Iowa.

Klemme is one of the Iowa towns slated to receive natural gas for the first time this year. Peoples Natural Gas, a division of Northern will distribute gas to Klemme.

O. R. Burden Construction Corporation, Tulsa, Oklahoma is the contractor laying approximately 1½ miles of 2-inch pipe which will carry gas from Northern's main line to Klemme.

C S. Tonsfeldt is acting as Chief Inspector during the laying of the line. Mr Tonsfeldt is Division Superintendent of Northern's pipeline facilities at Ogden, Iowa.

The additional pipeline is part of Northern's $52,600,000 expansion program for 1954 which will see the addition of 24,000 horsepower, approximately 200 miles of main loop lines and over 700 miles of branch lines. These branch lines will make possible natural gas to 71 new communities for the first ime.

Omaha, Nebraska, is the headquarters of Northern Natural Gas Company.

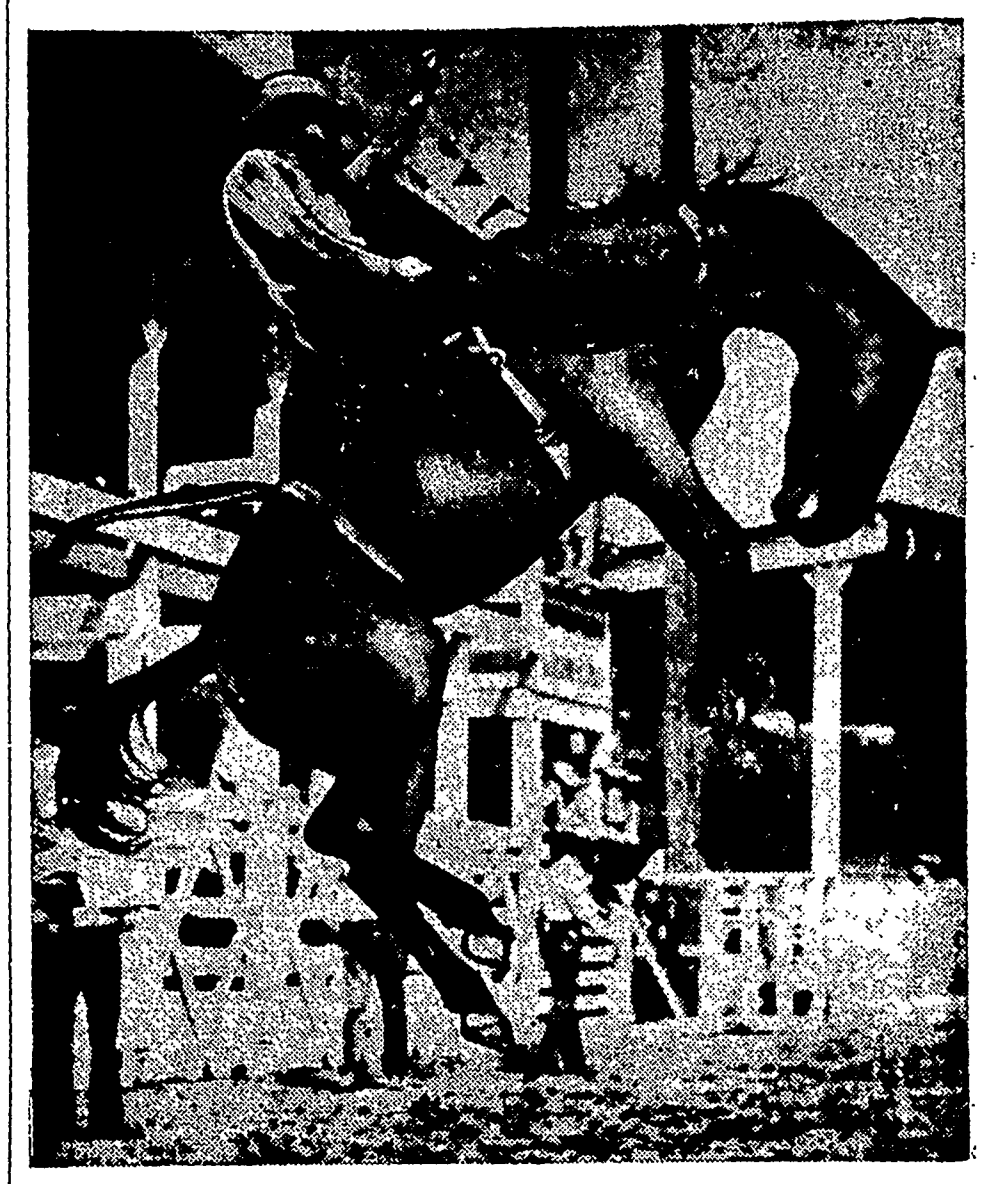
R'arin' At State Fair Rodeo



DES MOINES—What goes up must come down—and it's a plenty rough round trip for cowboys at the Iowa State Fair's annual rodeo. At this year's Centennial exposition here more than 150 champion cowpokes will pit their skill, nerve, and stick-to-it-ive-ness against some of the wildest, wooliest stock from western ranges. Purses total $1,600 each in five events—saddle bronc riding, bareback riding, calf roping, bull riding, and steer riding—for a total of $8,000. In any event it's a rugged way to make a living but lots of thrills and laughs for spectators. Contests are scheduled at the Iowa State Fair for the afternoons of Sept. 3, 4, 5 and 6—Friday through Monday, Labor Day—with Gene Autry and the Cass County Boys as added features. Above is Harry Tompkins, 1953 world champion cowboy on "Sky Rocket".

Taken from Our Files

10 YEARS AGO—

W Henry Galbreth, former superintendent of the Klemme schools and who has been the assistant editor of "Midland Schools", official magazine of the Iowa State Teachers Association, has been elevated to Editor of the publication.

The Stille family held a picnic in the Klemme Park Sunday for Mr and Mrs Cecil Bridges, and two sons of Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin, who were visiting in the community.

Last Wednesday afternoon Mrs Maurice Murray entertained several young ladies at her home east of Klemme in honor of Miss Elsie Ward, who is home from the University of Iowa on a vacation.

Mrs Lyle Wilcox, Mrs Lester Neuberger and daughter, Claudia Jeanne, Miss Marilyn Back and two young ladies from Ventura are vacationing this week at a cottage at Clear Lake.

20 YEARS AGO—

Mr and Mrs Otto Lemke returned last Wednesday from their trip to Wisconsin and Illinois. They visited the Century of Progress at Chicago. Mr Lemke said that the "Little Bit of Heaven" at Davenport was the most wonderful sight on the entire trip.

James Carlson's sister of Ingram, Wisconsin, spent last week visiting here and also with other relatives.

Monday evening, August 13, a miscellaneous shower was held at the Ben Mullin home in honor of Mr and Mrs Awalt Jahnke. One of the main features of entertainment was a mock wedding, in which eleven young folks took part. At a late hour refreshments were served by the self-invited neighbors who departed wishing the newlyweds success and happiness.

H D Shoafstall went to Bricelyn, Minnesota, today, where he will act as station agent for the Rock Island lines. Mrs Shoafstall and children, Wayne and Maxine, are packing household goods and will move to Bricelyn Sunday.

30 YEARS AGO—

Threshing has been in full swing here the past week. Rainy weather put a crimp in the activities the for part of the week.

Charles Gibbs, who was seriously injured at the Northwestern Plant in Mason City a few weeks ago, is out of the hospital and came home Sunday. Harry Gibbs brought him to Klemme in his sedan. Charles is getting along well now.

Karl Kraus has resigned his position as road patrolman on the mile stretch north of Klemme and other sections on the Klemme road. We have not learned who was appointed patrolman.

Mr and Mrs Albert Yahnke and daughter Alva, are on a two weeks vacation visiting different places in Minnesota with relatives and many friends.

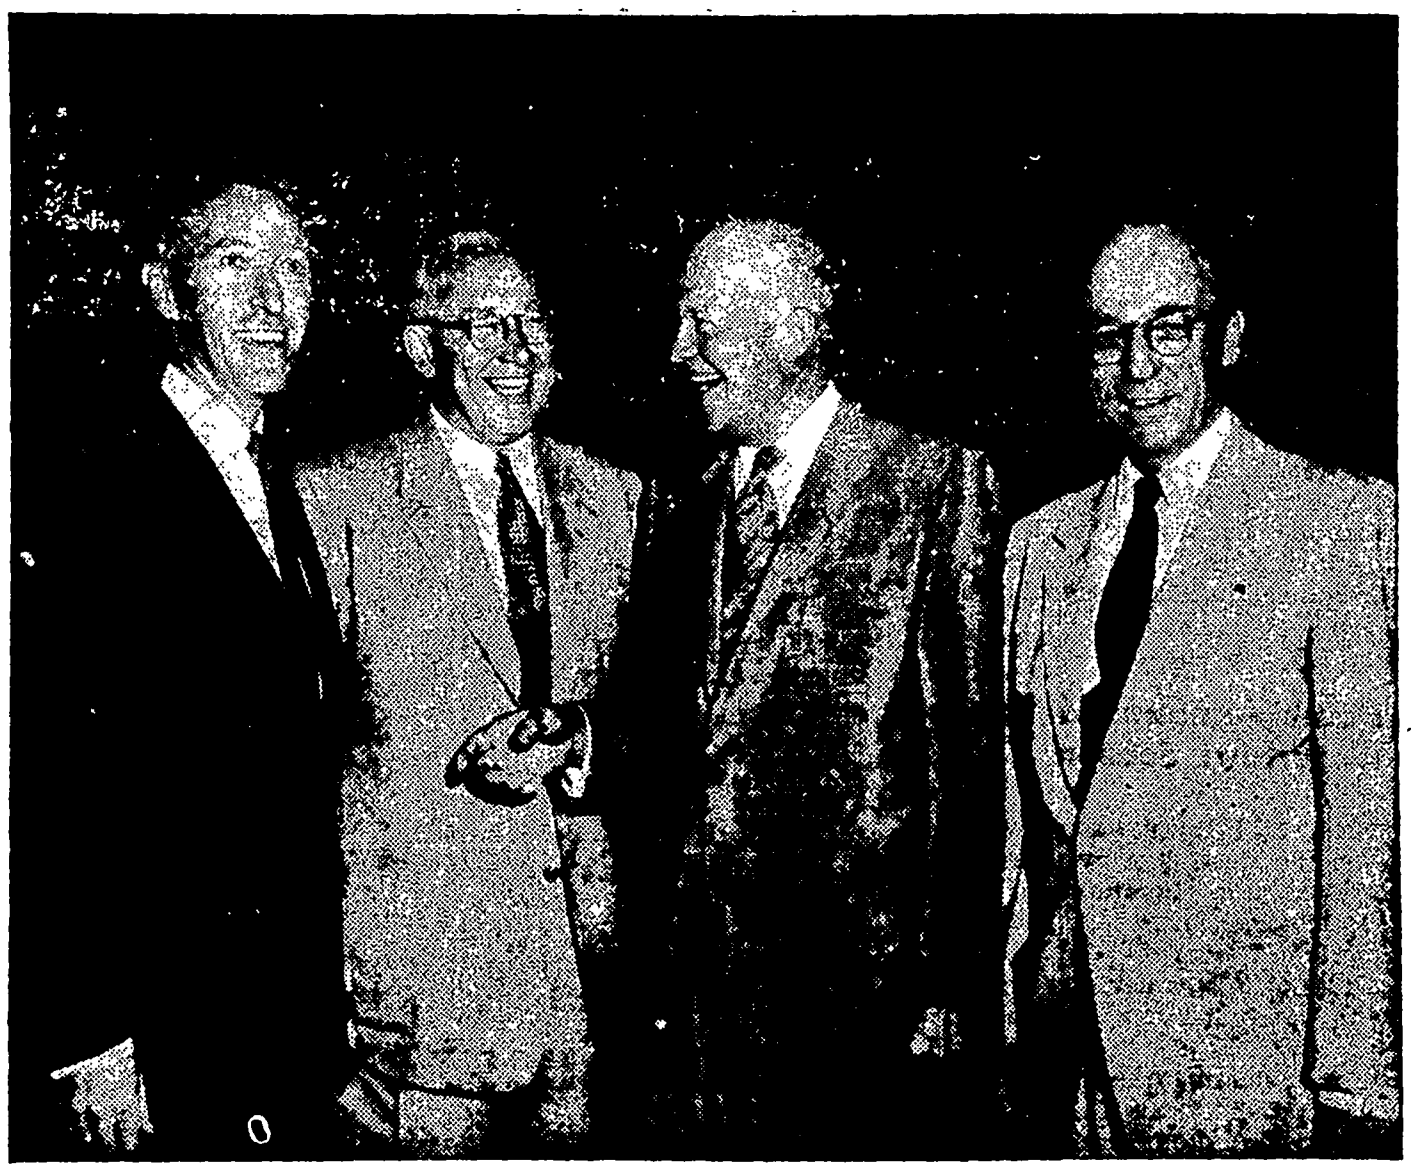
GROCERIES MEATS Larsen's LOCKER SERVICE
C. J. Larsen, Prop. Phone 33 Klemme, Iowa

THE KLEMME TIMES

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | KLEMME, IOWA, SEPTEMBER 1, 1954 | VOLUME 59 | NUMBER 36



President Eisenhower Monday took time out from his Iowa State Fair visit to talk with Iowa Atty. Gen. Leo Hoegh (left), candidate for governor; Rep. Tom Martin, who seeks to unseat Sen. Guy Gillette, Democrat; and Sen. B. B. Hickenlooper. The shaking of hands kept the president busy all evening.

New School District Ups Total Enrollment

Total enrollment in the Klemme Community School is up some over 70 students from last year's enrollment in the old Independent District. Although the Klemme Independent School serviced the area that is now included in the Community District, the increase is due to the fact that those students who formerly attended independent township district schools are now included as part of the Klemme Community District.

Last year's total for the Independent District was 306, and this year's enrollment is 379. Following is a breakdown of the enrollment figures by classes:

High School, 98—27 seniors; 21 juniors; 27 sophomores; and 23 freshmen.

Elementary School, town plant, 33 kindergarten; 35 1st grade; 27 2nd grade; 27 3rd grade; 27 4th grade; 22 5th grade; 20 6th grade; 20 7th grade; and 21 8th grade.

Elemetary School, country plants, 6 in Liberty No. 6, 8 in Liberty No. 7, 16 in Libetry No. 8, 8 in Liberty No. 9, and 11 in Twin Lake No. 5.

Grandmothers' Club

The Klemme Grandmother's Club will meet at a one o'clock luncheon at the home of Mrs Albert Etchen on Monday afternoon, September 6th.

14 Out For Baseball As Fall Season Begins

Coach "Bill" Westberg has 14 candidates for the baseball team. Practice began Tuesday, and the fall schedule gets underway when the Shamrocks meet the Kanawha Bulldogs on the local diamond Friday afternoon, Sept. 3rd.

The rest of the schedule includes Hayfield here on Sept 7, Fertile here Sept 10, Rockwell there Sept. 13, Franklin Cons. there on Sept. 15, first round of sectional tournament on Sept. 18, with the semi-finals on Sept. 20, and the finals on Sept. 22, open date Sept. 24, Crystal Lake here Sept. 27, and Alexander here Oct. 1.

Candidates for the squad ore Cecil Jacobs, Don Thiemann, Don Ausborn, Graydon Barz, Martin Brinkman, Dennis Haefner, Dick Dulmes, Gary Lenz, Larry Ulrich, Doyce Michelson, Harry Anderson, Alan Neuberger, Maynard Weisbrod, and Charles Bacon.

Teachers' Reception Date Moved Ahead

Due to conflicting events, the annual teachers' reception which was to have been held on Friday evening, September 10th, has been moved up to Wednesday evening, September 8th.

The Music Mothers and the churches of the community are cooperating in this event, and it has been planned to include everyone who resides in the new Klemme Community School District.

A program is being planned and a lunch will be served. Activities are to begin at 7:45 P. M.

Open House

There will be open house Sunday afternoon between the hours of two o'clock and four o'clock at the Methodist Church parlors in honor ofthe 45th wedding anniversary of Mr and Mrs Wallace Pavey. Everyone is invited to attend and help make the occasion a memorable one for the Paveys.

Stork Club

Mr and Mrs Vernon Pralle of Hampton are the parents of a baby girl born August 7th. She has been named Catherine Sue. Mrs Pralle will be remembered as the former Betty Lacey.

Mr and Mrs Duane Peck of Crystal Lake are the parents of a seven pound, two ounce baby boy born August 28 at the Forest City Hospital. The new arrival is the first child for the Pecks and makes Mr and Mrs Ed Medaus grandpa and grandma. Mrs Peck is the former Adeline Medaus.

Mr and Mrs Erwin Beenken of Decorah are the parents of an eight pound, eight and three-quarter ounce baby girl born at a Decorah hospital on August 11. This is the first child for the Beenkens. Mr Beenken taught last year in the Klemme School and is this year attending Luther College at Decorah.

Bake Sale

The members of the Libetry WSCS will hold a bake sale at Kluckhohn's Store Saturday, evening, September 4th.

Auxiliary Date Changed

The American Legion Auxiliary was to have met on Tuesday evening, September 7th, but due to conflicting events, the meeting has been postponed to Friday evening, September 10th.

Archery Shoot

There will be a field shoot, Sunday, September 5th, 1:30 p m at the local range southwest of town for the Klemme Archers. Visitors are welcome.

Ruth Jaberg Bride Of Edward Grosshuesch

SHEBOYGAN, WIS. — Promise of marriage were repeated Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock by Miss Ruth Jaberg and Edward Grosshuesch, who were wed in Ebenezer Evangelical and Reformed Church. Blue and white flowers were decorations. Three ministers had a part in the candlelight service. The Rev. Ruben Grosshuesch, brother of the bridegroom, came from Melbourne, Ia., to read the ceremony. The regular pastor of the church, the Rev. John A. Gerber, was in an assistant capacity. A brother of the bride, the Rev. Vernon A. Jaberg, Klemme, Ia., presented his sister in marriage to the son of Mrs Alice Grosshuesch, Marshalltown, Ia., and the late Rev. Calvin Grosshuesch. The bride's mother is Mrs E. C. Jaberg, 1614 Heller Ave., and her father was the late Rev. E. C. Jaberg.

Imported white organza, fashioned with a fitted bodice and an unpressed pleated skirt, was used for the bridal gown. The bodice had a boat neckline, trimmed with rose-patterned Alencon lace, and the short sleeves were tucked. The same type of lace was used on the Juliet cap headpiece to which a veil of elbow length was attached. Pale yellow roses were atached to the white Bible the bride carried.

One of the attendants was Mrs Vernon Jaberg, Klemme, Ia., sister-in-law of the bride, and she had the matron of honor role. The bridesmaid was Miss Gertrude Grosshuesch, Fayetteville, Ark., the bridegroom's sister. They were attired in navy blue organdy dresses. Each had a pleated handkerchief overskirt as a detail of styling and others were a V-neckline, cap sleeves and a high empire waist. Their shell plateau headpieces were of pleated navy organdy; their bouquets, daisies in crescent shapes.

Brothers of the couple were also in the wedding party, Ewald Grosshuesch, Des Moines, Ia., as best man, and Eugene Jaberg, as groomsman. College friend of the bridegroom, Carl Ibe, Elroy, Wis., Eugene Wulff, New Holstien, and John Hanlon, Greenbush, were the trio of ushers.

Vocal numbers for the service were sung by Mrs Eugene Meyer and were "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer." The organist was Miss Anita Nonhof.

Immediately following the ceremony, 150 guests were entertained at the wedding reception that was held in the church basement. They came from Fayetteville, Ark., Decorah, Des Moines, Garner, Klemme, Marshalltown and Melbourne, Ia.; Pekin, Ill., Fond du Lac, Nekossa and West Bend.

Northern Wisconsin is being visited for five days by Mr Grosshuesch and his bride, who will be at home at Random Lake by September 2.

Bridal Shower

A surprise bridal shower was held for Elaine Neuberger, Monday evening at the D. P. Anderson home.

The evening was spent playing games, followed by Elaine opening her many gifts.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses, Neva Anderson, Janice Swanson and Mrs Ronald Karsjens. An enjoyable evening was had by all.

Miss Neuberger will be the bride of Valere Nelson of Forest City in the near future.

Labor Day Closing

Labor Day is Monday, September 6th. In observance of the day Klemme stores and business places will be closed, as will the Klemme School and the Courthouse at Garner.

Suit Filed Against Local School District

A suit naming the Klemme Community School District as defendant has been filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court by Harvey Harberts, Mell VerHelst, Harry Carpenter, Anson Avery, Donald Haupt and John Watne.

The petition filed with the Clerk alleges that the defendant is not a legally organized school district; that the election purporting to establish said school district was illegal and void and that the proceedings leading up to said election were illegal for the following reasons:

Proper petitions were not signed, territory was illegally included and excluded after petitions were filed, the county plan was not legally changed, joint county board meetings were not held, said election included territory where a previous election had been held within twelve months prior, voters were required to vote at improper places and in an improper manner.

Smith and Hanson of Emmetsburg are the attorneys for the claimants, and County Attorney Templeton of Garner, and Buck of Britt are the attorneys for the defendant.

Driver Training

The Klemme Community School District is again offering driver training to high school students. The car this year is a "210" Chevrolet and is being furnished by the Garner Motor Sales Co.

Driver training is a fast growing course in the high schools throughout the country, and is being praised by school men and safety officials alike.

Promoted

A/3c Roger Howard, son of Mr and Mrs Ned Howard, who is stationed in Germany, has been promoted to A/2c. Roger entered the Air Force on November 29 of last year.

Engaged

Mr and Mrs Richard Zerfas of Ellis, Kansas, announce the engagement of their daughter, Doris Arlene to A/1c Arthur Knoke, son of Mrs Louise Knoke, of Klemme. A fall wedding is being planned.

We know that the summer season is rapidly drawing to a close . . . but Sunday it seemed as though a lot of people were trying to end it early. We saw more crazy driving on the highway Sunday than we have seen for a long time. There was lots of traffic, and lots of chances taken.

To cap it all off, when we got nearly back to Klemme we came on the scene of the accident on Priebe's hill south of town. Big Packard upside down in the ditch. Four people were in the car when the accident happened but none of them was very seriously hurt. From the looks of the hole their car dug in the ditch before it turned over we'll bet they were pretty well shaken up and excited.

By means of radio we listened Monday evening to President Eisenhower's speech which he gave at the state fair. We got a large charge out of his paying admission fees to the state fair grounds for both himself and former president Herbert Hoover. We were surprised that the point was ever brought up in the first place, and we got a little sick of reading and hearing all about the controversy for so many days. "Ike" smoothed things over pretty well, but we imagine that someone connected with state fair goings on felt a little cheap about the time, he was handing his dollar to Governor Beardsley.

We wonder if the people of France feel pretty proud of themselves. They should! After being the nation to first suggest and propose the European Defense Community, they turn out to also be the nation that torpedoes the plan and sends it all down the drain. Despite this temporary setback, brought about by what we would call short-sighted statesmen, we think that sometime in the future the plan will still go into effect in some form or other.

Taken from Our Files

10 YEARS AGO—

Paul Mueller, who has been employed at the Klemme Creamery for the past twentyt-two years and has been manager of the plant for the last twelve years, has resigned to accept a position with the Beatrice Creameries at their plant in Des Moines, one of the largest in the mid-west.

V. A. Stromer took one of his American Cream Color draft horses to Webster City Tuesday to exhibit him at the fair there.

Coastguardsman Eugene Kluckhohn arrived home last Wednesday from the east coast to spend a furlough visiting with his parents, Mr and Mrs C E Kluckhohn, and with his wife and baby at the Albert Schmidt home.

The Becker sisters have received word that their nephew, Seaman Eugene Haberkamp, who was home recently on a furlough, has gone to sea.

20 YEARS AGO—

J C Thomas is remodeling his barber shop and is installing new equipment for a beauty parlor. Mr Thomas expects to have the remodeling finished and the new equipment ready to give service the last of the week. Miss Vella Paul, who graduated from the beauty culture school at Waterloo, will operate the beauty parlor.

Mrs Frank Gruetzmacher has been in Chicago for more than a week visiting with relatives and friends. Miss Glenna Gruetzmacher, who went to Chicago several weeks ago, will return home with her mother.

Mr and Mrs Jim Elder and son of Madison, Wis., were dinner guests at the Day home Tuesday. The Elders are visiting at the Sumner Trumbell home and with other relatives.

Mrs Emma Larsen of Centerville, Mary Griffen of Minneapolis and Mrs C B Tice of Mason City, were visiting with the Arnold families in this vicinity Friday.

30 YEARS AGO—

The past few days have been the kind farmers have wanted for corn. Farmers are again in good spirits as a good corn crop is in view.

Miss Myrtle Bell returned Friday from Garner, where she had been visiting for a few days at the D D Ross home.

The Klemme Band played at the Fair at Britt yesterday. There was a large crowd of Klemme people at the evening fair. The fair this year has some very good free attractions and at night the Hazel M Cass Co give an open air theatre show which is far above the ordinary.

Miss Afton Powell came Tuesday for a visit with her many Klemme friends. It will be remembered that her mother was principal in our school about seven years ago.

Dates Announced For Waterfowl Season

The 1954 Iowa waterfowl season has been set by the State Conservation Commission, with few changes over last year's regulations.

This year's waterfowl shooting will open at noon, October 15, and extend through December 8. Daily shooting hours will be from one-half hour before sunrise to one hour before sunset, except on Iowa portions of the Missouri River, where shooting will extend to sunset. This extension was set because Nebraska waterfowl regulations provide for shooting until sunset.

During last year's season, daily shooting ended at sunset. This year, because of a slight decline in the Mississippi's flyway's 1954 duck supply, the Iowa Conservation Commission shortened Iowa's shooting day by one hour. The Commission had been given its choice by the U S Fish and Wildlife Service to end daily shooting at either one hour before sunset. The Mississippi Flyway Committee had recommended earlier closing.

Commission spokesmen said that an earlier daily closing might offset this year's smaller duck crop, since shooting until sunset often results in crippling losses that better light condiions would prevent. The earlier closing would also permit ducks to use the last daylight hour to return to water and settle for the night.

Bag limits on most ducks and geese will remain unchanged, except that there will be a 1954 closed season on wood ducks in all states in the Mississippi Flyway. The bag limit of ducks will be 4, which is also the possession limit for the first day's shooting. Thereafter the possession limit will be 8 ducks. The bag limit for American and red-breasted mergansers is 4, with a possession limit of 8. No more than 1 hooded merganser may be possessed at any time.

Bag and possession limits of geese will be 5. Not more than 2 of the goose limit may be Canada, Hutchins', Cackling, or white-fronted geese. The entire bag may be made up of either blue or snow geese or any combination of them. The bag and possession limit of coot (mud-hens) will be 10.

Iowa's 1954 jacksnipe season will open at noon, October 15 and extend through October 29. Daily shooting hours are the same as for ducks and geese. The bag and possession limit of jacksnipe is 8 birds.

Shotguns used for migratory waterfowl must be limited to a 3-shell capacity, and all hunters limited over 16 years of age must carry a migratory waterfowl stamy, or "duck stamp", while hunting migratory waterfowl.

A schedule of sunrise and sunset times for the Iowa waterfowl season will be released by the Conservation Commission before the season's opening.

PEN PALS

After being "pen pals" for 14 years, Mrs Gordon Kregel of Postville and Mrs Helen Wirth of Yonkers, New York, recently got acquainted in person through a visit at the Kregal home. When Mrs Kregal was nine years old, she wrote her name on an egg, and Mrs Wirth purchased it in New York. They've been corresponding ever since.

DROWNING

A 76 year old Iowa woman, Mrs Bertha Tipple, of Delmar was drowned recently when she fell through a small opening into a cistern. Her body was found some hours later. A workman had left the cistern open for about an hour while he went down town.

Open Agricultural Law Center at SUI

An Agricultural Law center has been established at the State University of Iowa to further cooperation research into problems of farm economics and farm law, President Virgil M. Hancher announced today. The center is the first of its kind in the nation.

The new research and service organization results from an interinstitutional agreement between the university and Iowa State College, with the approval of the state board of education According to Dean Mason Ladd of the SUI college of law, the Agriculture Law center's primary function will be the continued development of joint research studies with Iowa State College in matters pertaining to Iowa agriculture and the development of county extension programs in conjunction with Iowa State's extension division.

The Agriculture Law center will be located at SUI under supervision of Professor John C. O'Byrne of the Iowa law faculty Professor John F. Timmons of the department of economics and sociology and Professor Carl Malone of the extension service will direct the cooperative aspects of the program in research and extension for Iowa State College.

In a statement issued jointly last week by officials of the two schools it was pointed out that the laws relating to agriculture are closely intertwined with the economics of land use and occupancy, and that the solution of agricultural problems demands the best use of Iowa's educational resources.

Last week's statement outlining the function and purpose of the cooperative endeavor between the two schools was issued by Presidents Virgil M. Hancher of the university and James H. Hilton of Iowa State College, and Deans Floyd Andre of the ISC division of agriculture and Mason Ladd of the SUI college of law.

Cooperative research has already resulted in the publication of Agriculture Experiment Station Bulletins 393 and 394, "Transferring Farm Property Within Families in Iowa" and "Improving Farm Rental Arrangements". Plans for the next academic year call for publication of a bulletin on "Farm Tenancy" and articles on wills, settlement of estates, death tax planning, and farmers' income taxes.

"It is intended," Dean Ladd says, "that in addition to furnishing information such publications will point up the role of the family attorney in advising upon such matters. Our conversations with officials of the Iowa State Bar Association have indicted their real interest in the development of the center."

Future projects are planned in connection with land use adjustments, soil erosion control, defining public interests in private land, water rights, flood control, farm taxation, and landlord-tenant relationships. The specific phases studied in any particular year will depend upon the current importance of the problem, Dean Ladd observed.

Results of such studies are expected to be brought to county meetings by the ISC extension service and the new Agricultural Law center. County extension programs relating to lifetime and death transfers of the family farm and farm estate planning have been presented this year upon request, and it is hoped that the new center will make possible an expanded schedule of such programs, Dean Ladd explained.

In addition to its cooperative function, the Agricultural Law center will perform a long-needed service to the attorneys of the state, according to Dean Ladd, by providing a clearing-house for attorneys engaged in farm practice to share ideas and information, and undertaking studies of legal problems which concern the attorney representing farm clients.

An advisory board to the Agriculture Law center is now being formed, Ladd said, representing farm, legal, educational, and state and federal government interests.

the Highway Story

By Bob Hullihan

Love's road may never run smooth, but a stop sign violation on that particular highay can have interesting results.

A highway patrolman approaching a rural intersection one afternoon saw a car slam through the stop sign and take a screaming turn onto the highway. When the officer got the car stopped, he found a driver with a white-knuckle grip on the wheel and a much less steady grip on his emotions. "Gimme the ticket quick," he growled. "I've got places to go."

As is the routine, the patrolman asked first to see the man's drivers license. He didn't have it. "Left it home, back down the road a way."

It was obvious that the driver had just been through some kind of emotional explosion. He was in no condition to drive on the public highway. To gain some time with the man, the patrolman told him to park his car, then they would both go back to his home in the patrol car to pick up the license.

The driver blew up. "I can't go home," he said. "I just had a fight with my wife, and I left there for good." He jerked his thumb toward a hastily packed suitcase in the backseat.

But the patrolman forced the point and the two men drove back. It took about fifteen minutes of talking by the patrolman before the man got out of the car and stomped back up to the house he thought he had left forever.

The patrolman waited for him. The patrolman, in fact, waited half an hour. Then the man returned with his license, meekly accepted the ticket, and climbed in with the patrolman to ride back for his car.

It was a silent ride. The man didn't speak until he was getting out of the patrol car. "Sorry I kept you waiting back there," he said, "but the wife and I patched up while I was in the house. She had to find the license.

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

Cattle marketings during August seemed likely to hang up another new record. It will mark the 19th straight month that a new record in cattle slaughter has been established for the month, according to Francis A. Kutish, Iowa State College Extension Farm Economist. July slaughter was about 8 percent above July of 1953, while August kill is likely to be up about 4 percent over the same month a year ago.

Looking ahead to the rest of 1953, we can expect a larger cow slaughter than during the same period in 1953. But we'll probably kill fewer steers.

Kutish reminds Iowa Cattle Feeders, however, that while fewer grass steers are expected there should be more fed steers and fed cattle marketed—especially during the last three months of the year.

The increased cattle slaughter coupled with the rise in hog slaughter expected during this fall, will combine to make 1954 meat production an all-time high, according to Kutish. The 1954 expected meat output of 25.6 billion pounds will be 3 percent over last year's output. It will top the previous high of 25.2 billion pounds set in the war year of 1954.

This large supply is expected to provide 155 pounds of meat per person. This will mark the highest average consumption per civilian in the United States since 1908. Beef consumption at 78.5 pounds—about 2 pounds over last year's output—will set a record, Kutish points out.

Total meat per person this year will be 11 pounds more than in 1952. These large meat supplies are the reason behind the weaker hog market expected for this fall and the failure of cattle prices to show their usual summer and fall seasonal price rise, Kutish explains.

Handicapped Children Guests At Spencer Fair

Handicapped children from northeast Iowa will, for the fourth consecutive year, be guests of the Clay County Fair at Spencer, September 13, Mr Don C Roe, Easter Seal Sponsor for Hancock County announced today.

A special section of seats in the grandstand is being reserved by the Fair Board to provide an excellent view of the special attractions.

Mr Roe said admission will be free at the entrance gate as well as at the grandstand for children ages three to sixteen with moderate or severe handicaps. One adult will be admitted free with each severely handicapped youngster.

This year marks the eighty-second annual Clay County Fair, now recognized as the greatest county fair in the world. Handicapped boys and girls long remember this special outing and thrill to the spectacular features on the program.

Mr Roe urges parents, clubs and friends of crippled children to contact him for registration details now.

Ell Midgets

Monday night, August 30, the Ell Midgets met at the home of Wendall Humphrey. There were 18 members present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, LuVerne Josten, and the Pledge was said.

Lyle Goll gave a talk on "Beef Rations". We completed our record books.

The meeting was adjourned.

Cancer Workers At Planning Workshop

Representatives of the Hancock chapter of the American Cancer Society attended a ten county area cancer education workshop at Algona on August 27. Attending were Mrs Arthur Ross of Garner, Chapter Chairman and Mrs E E Hunsley of Britt, Co-Education Chairman.

Primary purpose of the workshop was to plan the state cancer education program for the coming year. It was pointed out that at least a third of those who die of cancer do so needlessly, because hey fail to recognize the disease in its early stages. Discussion by the workshop group centered around methods of increasing public awareness of cancer danger signals and the need for regular physical checkups.

Uses of various educational materials and services were reviewed. These include speakers, films, literature, exhibits and a variety of visual aids, all of which are available upon request to the ACS chapter.

Three Official National Dairy Cattle Contests At Waterloo Exposition

The three official national Dairy Cattle Judging contests held in the United States this year, have been assigned to the 1954 National Dairy Cattle Congress, E S Estel, exposition secretary-manager has announced.

The three contests are the Collegiate, the 4-H and the Future Farmers of America. The official national FFA dairy products contest has also been located at the National Dairy Cattle Congress. The dairy cattle contests will be held on Monday, October 4, with the dairy products on Tuesday, October 5.

The collegiate contest, which last year attracted entries from 33 of the land grant colleges of the United States and Canada, serves as a climax to the year's work for the college judging teams. Choicest among the numerous awards provided is the Dean H H Kildee $500 scholarship given to the individual who places high in judging the five breeds of dairy cattle.

Thirty-one state champion 4-H dairy cattle judging teams participated at the 1953 national contest at the National Dairy Cattle Congress. The winning Maryland team accepted the invitation to participate in the International contest in England this summer. Elimination contests are now being held throughout the United States at state and regional shows, with only the winning team being eligible to participate in the national contest at Waterloo.

The National FFA dairy cattle judging contest is the largest of the three, with 37 states participating. The dairy products contest annually attracts about 30 state championship teams. In the FFA contests, also, only the state championship teams come to the National Dairy Cattle Congress to compete for national honors.

With the official national dairy cattle breed shows for the Ayrshires, Brown Swiss, Guernsey and Holsteins, and the nationwide shows of the Jerseys and Milking Shorthorns, the youth of the nation are provided with the country's finest dairy cattle with which to work.

Four Injured Slightly As Car Overturns

There was another accident on Priebe's hill, south of town on U . S. Highway No. 69 Sunday night. The driver and his three passengers were shaken up and slightly injured and were treated at the Belmond Hospital.

W J Heffernan of Des Moines was driving south in a late model Packard early Sunday evening. As he topped the crest of the Priebe hill, he slammed on his brakes to try and avoid a car that had stalled partially on the pavement in attempting to turn west on the gravel road. Heffernan last control of his car and it took the ditch on the east side of the road. It hit nose first, turned over endwise, and came to rest on its badly smashed top.

Sheriff L M Brower's report indicates that the car was demolished.

Minnesota boasts the greatest water area of any state.

County ASC Committee Named at Convention

Leo Paulson of Crystal Township was elected chairman of the Hancock County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee at the annual convention of township ASC delegates which was held in Garner on Monday, August 30.

D. E. Keat of Madison Township was elected vice-chairman and Jesse Smith of Amsterdam Township was named third member of the county committee.

The convention selected Chas A. Hoeft of Concord Township and Grant A. Haugland of Britt Township as first and second alternate members of the committee.

Their terms of office will start September 1st and run for one year.

All of the committeemen are experienced farmers who are familiar with ASC activities, which deal principally with price supports, conservation and production adjustment programs. Their official duties will consist mostly of policy-making and decision-making functions in the administration of ASC programs on the county level, with responsibility of policy execution and day-to-day operations being placed in the hands of the county ASC office manager. A new rule of the federal farm agency prohibits county committeemen from performing any paid services for ASC other than committee work.

When You Shop—

Look For the Label

Read the label on a garment before you buy to see if it tells how to care for the garment and what wear to expect from it. Then save the label. Refer to it when time comes for washing or dry-cleaning and you'll know which method of cleaning the garment requires.

Shopping and caring for clothes today is somewhat like playing a new game—you need a set of rules to follow.

Most people wouldn't think of playing a new game with out directions for its use. Yet the same people will go ahead and buy clothes without knowing what material they're made of, or how to care for them. They'll pay more for their garments than for game and expect longer and better service from the clothing.

It used to be that cotton, wool, rayon and linen were the only fabric names a homemaker had to know about when she went shopping. Not any more. Today's shopper's fabric vocabulary has to include such terms as nylon, Dacron, Orlon, Dynel, Avcoset, resin finishes, and all sorts of combinations, and blends and finishes.

Various properties of new fabrics and finishes make special knowledge more ncessary than ever in buying clothing. You can get this special knowledge from informative labels on the garments you buy.

Informative labels on garments can be your rules or instruction when it comes to buying and caring for clothes for yourself or your family. If you want to know what you're buying and how it should be cared for, be sure to look for the label before you buy. That's the advice of Opal Roberson, Iowa State College extension clothing specialist.

Be sure the label is a good one—one that tells what fibers the garment contains, and how to care for it. Not all labels you will find on garments today are good ones. Often they give inadequate or misleading information. The only way we can be sure of getting good labels in the future is to ask for them now. If we insist on an informative label from the merchant,he,in turn, will insist on one from the manufacturer.

A good label tells what you need to know to get satisfaction from use and care of a garment. Without such information you run the risk of ruining a garment through improper care. You won't know whether the garment can be hand-washed, machine washed, or dry cleaned.

With so many man-made fibers, blends and combinations of fibers being used today, it's hard for the average shopper to know what garments are made of just by looking at them or feeling them. That's why a good label should tell the garment's contents.

One important thing you should remember about a label is that is often refers merely to the basic garment—and not to any extra trimmings or buttons unless it states specically that it refers to trimings,etc. The material in the garment itself may be washable, but perhaps the buttons or trimming will fade or fall apart if washed. In any case, the garment should be dry-cleaned. A good label is one that includes information about these "extras".

A good informative label is protection for you. If you care for the garment as the label tells you to and the garment doesn't hold up, the label is your guarantee. But it must be a good guarantee.

After you buy a garment with a good informative label, remember to keep the label and follow its directions, Miss Roberson urges.

696 Ballots Cast In ASC Elections

Results of the annual ASC township or "community" elections which were conducted by mail from August 14 through August 20 were announced this week by the Hancock County ASC Office.

A total of 696 ballots were cast in the various townships, which is a slight increase over the 688 ballots cast in the elections last year.

The newly elected chairmen and vice-chairmen of the community committees automatically serve as delegates and alternate delegates to the county ASC convention which was held at the REA building, in Garner, on August 30. The principal work of the convention was the selection of a county ASC committee chairman, vice chairman, regular member and two alternate members.

The offical one-year committee terms of newly elected county and community committeemen will start on September 1.

A complete list of newly elected community committeemen for this vicinity follows:

Avery Township

Chairman, Allen Lau. Vice-chairman, Gerald Burk; Regular Member, Lyle Barkema; First Alternate, Albert Ausborn; and Second Alternate, Robert Roths.

Ell Township

Chairman, Mervin B. Groesbeck; Vice-chairman, Paul Goll; Regular Member, Glenn L. Wille; First Alternate, Robert Schulz; Second Alternate, Clifford Anderson.

Liberty Township

Chairman, Robert C. Hartzell; Vice-chairman, Arno Nuehring; Regular member, Dale E. Greiman; First Alternate, Laurice A. Lemke; and Second Alternate, Clarence A. Lenz.

Twin Lake Township

Chairman, Arthur E. Zeigler; Vice-chairman, Harlan A. Nuehring; Regular Member, Harold Eliason; First Alternate, Arthur Lowenberg; and Second Alternate, Ole G. Eliason.

4-H Tour Visits REA Co-op. Plant

The 4-H members enrolled in the electricity project were taken on a tour of the Humbolt Co-operative REA Plant Thursday, August 26th. The tour was arranged by Harvey Mitchell of Garner REA who is helping the Youth Assistant with the electricity program.

The members were conducted through a tour of the plan in 3 different groups. The first item of interest was the furnaces which were burning at 3800 degrees F. which is almost a white flame. The furnaces are automatically fed with natural gas or coal. They use natural gas during the summer when other patrons don't need it for heat but during the winter they use coal because it takes too much gas away from other patrons. They burn 7 train carloads of coal a day during the winter. The temperature in the plant is around 80 degrees F. during the winter.

The second stop on the tour was all the recording devices, gauges and knobs for setting the amount of fuel, water and air. They use only two boilers during most of the day but start all 4 around four o'clock to get prepared for the peak load.

The boys also saw the large turbines in action. They make 60 revolutions a second, so fast that the boys could hardly notice that they were moving. Some of the motors were 400 horsepower motors.

The battery, maintenance, water softening and storage rooms were also viewed in the plant. All water must be softened so it won't lime up the boilers. The boys were amazed at the amount of pipes, motors, values and other apparatuses it took to develop their electricity.

On the outside of the plant the boys viewed the pump house taking water from the river and pumping into the main plant. Another interesting building was where the hot water coming from the plant was cooled before going back into the river so as not to harm the fish.

The trip was declared a success by Harvey Mitchell and Bob Wilson.

Find Hope For Ending Moth Damage

When you shop for woolen clothing this fall, you'll find an increasing number of lines carrying five-year guarantees against moth damage, encourageing news at a time when most housewives are airing the smothering smell of moth repellants out of winter clothes and bedding.

These guarantees mean that you do not have to give any special seasonal care or storage to woolen fabrics which carry them, at least during the life of the guarantee, according to Merle Ramer, instructor in home economics at the State University of Iowa. Nor do you have to worry about finding moth holes in favorite sweaters or suits in spite of elaborate precautions.

The manufacturer of at least one of the new mothproofing agents, named Mitin, claims that his product gives complete protection against moths and carpet beetles for the usable life of the garment. The Mitin guarantee provides for replacement if moth or beetle damage occurs within five years from the date of purchase.

Of mothproofing preparations impregnated in the yarns, tests seem to indicate that the most effecive are Mitin FF, Eulan CN, and Lanoc CN. These are fast to other finishing processes as well as dry cleaning, but are only moderately fast to washing, the tests show.

These mothproofing agents are colorless chemical compounds applied to the fabric or yarn in the woolen mill, usually in the dyeing process. You can't tell whether a fabric has been mothproofed with one of them by looking at it, feeling or smelling it, since they do not change the color, appearance or "hand" of material in any way. But merchandise treated with one of these agents in most cases will be labeled as mothproofed for a definite period of time.

Fabrics made shrink-resistance in materials you will want to wash.

Can you mothproof garments you already own by applying Mitin? The manufacturers say not. They explain that the agent must be dyed in the wool by the mill before finishing the fabric to make the mothproofing durable.

Untreated part-wool fabrics may be more susceptible to moth damage than untreated all-wool, Miss Ramer explains, since the moth or carpet beetle larva must eat more of the fabric to get enough food from the wool. So you will be wise to look for a mothproofing guarantee on any fabric or garment with some wool in it.

If you make sure that woolens you buy from now on, from clothing and blankets to carpets and knitting yarn, are guaranteed against moth damage for five years, your moth worries will soon be considerably less and may vanish altogether, Miss Ramer believes.

Visiting around Iowa

by Joe Marsh

Iowa's First Orchard

Whenever Em and I drive past the dam over at Keokuk, I think about Louis Thesson's famous orchard.

Thesson planted Iowa's first orchard there in 1799. When the dam was built, the river backed up and sent Thesson's grove to a watery grave.

Seems a pity. No doubt lots of folks hated to see it disappear, but they put their own wishes second — and the benefit of the big dam first.

That's Iowa for you. Folks don't let individual wishes, likes or prejudices interfere with the common good, the rights of others.

Some men can't stand vests, but they don't object to others wearing them. Liz Simpson prefers lemon pie, but she'll bake apple pie if the ladies' club wants it. Sam Carruthers chooses lemonade on a warm day, but he's first to agree that other folks have a right to a temperate glass of beer.

Isn't that the best way. I respect your wishes, you take your neighbor into consideration, and everyone gets along fine.

Temporary Storage Costs; Justified for Emergency

Corn storage won't be as much of a problem as was predicted earlier this year. However, a few farmers will be caught short on storage space, and they'll be putting up emergency structures.

Storage in temporary structures is the highest cost on a per bushel basis, says Henderson, county extension director. But, in a matter of an emergency, they are justified.

However, if there's a good chance you will be needing extra storage space for a number of years, it's a good idea o consider permanent storage.

Location is important with either temporary or permanent storage. Sa select a well drained site where you can take full advantage of wind for drying, advises Henderson.

One of the most common, and the cheapest, method of temporary storage is the now fence bin with a roll roofing cover. It can be put up in a hurry, and will usually last for no more than a season.

A little more elaborate, and higher cost, is the pole crib. A rectangular crib, built on a pole fram with siding of slat cribbing, is recommended. The with should be limited to 6 or 8 feet. Set the poles below frost line, about 3½ to 4 feet, so as to escape heaving action.

Silos may be pressed into service. But the corn will lhave to be dried to 13 percent moisture content before storage. Silos should be leak proof, and additional banding hoops may be needed for reinforcement.

Other buildings on th efarm may be converted for corn storage, says Henderson. Remember, however, that other buildings were not designed to carry extra heavy loads of grain storage. Extra bracing and reinforcing may be provided for the increased load.

Red Cross Reports $113,609 Spent to Help 599 Families After Floods

Eight weeks after the '54 Iowa floods, the Red Cross has now completed its mammoth task of helping people get back on their feet after rising waters washed through their homes. Providing without charge basic needs in the form of everything from a dress to a dresser, or a sink to a sofa, the Red Cross spent in all a total of $113,609 to help 559 families.

Each affected family's need was treated as a miniature individual disaster operation. A trained disaster worker met with the family, learned of its problems, its losses and injuries and its assets. After determining what the family needed in addition to what it could do for itself the worker recommended the amount of assistance for Red Cross to give, which was then approved by a committee of local citizens before becoming final.

In all instances, according to traditional Red Cross policy, once an award is made, it becomes a gift of the American people and is never repayable.

Bedding of all types proved the most urgently needed by flood victims. The Red Cross provided families with funds to purchase 176 beds, 366 sheets, 306 mattresses, 198 pillows, and 102 blankets. Families made their own selection in local stores, and Red Cross paid the bill.

Second and third most needed items by Iowa flood victims were chests of drawers and chairs, and the Red Cross replaced 294 of each of these pieces of furniture. Hundreds of linoleums were paid for by the Red Cross, when waters damaged floor coverings in many homes.

Twenty four families had lost electric irons—these were replaced as were twelve sewing machines for women who made all of their own and their children's clothes. Other furniture needed, and provided by the Red Cross, included tables, pots and pans, kitchen equipment, cabinets, couches, all of which were selected by the people themselves at stores of their own choosing. The Red Cross spent $39,261 for household furnishings for 370 families.

Red Cross assistance extended to bigger items, even to the building and repairing of flood damaged houses. In the stricken areas, 264 homes were rebuilt or repaired at a total of $47,-258.

Comparable only to the disasfrous 1947 floods, the '54 Iowa floods touched Sioux City, Fort Dodge, Des Moines, Webster City, Mason City, and Ottumwa, as the Floyd River, the Des Moines River, the Four Mile Creek, and the Raccoon River went on the rampage late in June.

During the emergency period, the Red Cross housed 700 persons in 9 shelters, fed 9,000 meals to evacuees and levee workers.

Fortunately for all, the dikes and levees in most communities held, and cities were spared the awful devastation which had occurred in 1947. However, 2,-224 families had suffered loss and 623 families applied to the Red Cross for assistance.

Dairy Cattle Congress To Offer Many Premiums

Waterloo, Iowa—Homemakers from rural and urban areas of the middlewest will be competing for the regional honors and some $2,000 in cash premiums in the rapidly growing Women's and Girls Department of the 1954 National Dairy Cattle Congress, E. S. Estel, exposition-manager announced today following release of the department premium list.

The exposition, in which all 48 states have participated for the past five consecutive years, will be held this year October 2 thru 9. Eight states besides Iowa, were represented in the Women's department in 1953, and more than 600 articles were entered.

Increased activity in the expanding department has been scheduled for the full eight days of the exposition. Judging in the canned goods and of cakes begins the opening Saturday as does judging in the 4-H Girls Clothing and Home Furnishing Demonstrations. The latter continues on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The Dairy Food Demonstrations, sponsored by the Iowa State Dairy Association, is scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 4 and 5 and will tie in with the "National Cheese Week" promotion which will be underway at that time.

Cookies in the baked goods division will be judged Monday, bread and rolls on Tuesday, candies on Wednesday and pies on Friday. All entries in this division, require butter to be used as shortening, except in pie crust.

Demonstrations, showing the proper preparation of products for home freezing will be done by especially trained home economists. Lectures on home floral arrangements are scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, and a special motion picture program has been arranged for Sunday, October 3.

Ten counties in the state of Iowa will be honored thru the selection of their County Wide Rural Family Living Exhibit to be placed in the Women's building. The exhibits will be under direct supervision of Mildred K. Wellman, district home economics supervisor of Iowa State College.

Other demonstrations including weaving, metal work, basket weaving and hand made jewelry will be conducted under the supervision of the Waterloo Recreation Commission.

Fair-goers to See TV Ground Observer Program

"Video Squadron", the world's most complete television station on wheels, will give visitors to the Iowa State Fair a chance to see themselves on television in the Air Defense Picture beginning August 31st.

Free to the fair-going public, the show will be a television presentation of the part everyone can take in the Ground Observer Corps program from the time an enemy plane is first sighted until it is intercepted by jet fighters. Combining telecasts from the exhibit with filmed scenes of Air Force operations, the show is a graphic presentation of the importance of the Ground Observer Corps in the defense of our country against possible air attack.

Originating in Orlando, Florida, the 1354th Air Force Video Squadron of twenty-six officers and men has made appearances at Riverview Park in Chicago and at the Illinois and Wisconsin State Fairs. Traveling in five giant trucks, the squadron is equipped with complete television equipment, including a control room, kinescope recording apparatus, and facilities for beaming remote telecasts to local television stations. Monitors will be placed throughout the exhibit to give spectators the chance to see the Ground Observer Corps story as it is actually being recorded.

Volunteers from the Des Moines Filter Center will man the Ground Observer post and plotting board which will be operated during the show. As unidentified aircraft are spotted they will be reported to the Filter Center for plotting and reported to the Air Defense Command which "scrambles" the fighter interceptors:

The Air Force Video Squadron display at the Iowa State Fair is sponsored jointly by the Iowa State Office of Civil Defense, the United States Air Force, and the Des Moines Ground Observer Corps Filter Center. It will be located on Grand Avenue in the fair grounds, just east of the Midway and will be open from 10:00 o'clock in the morning until the fair closes each day at 10:00 p. m.

Emergency Drive Nets $33 For Polio Fund

In cooperation with the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the local unit of the American Auxiliary campaigned to raise additional money to be used in the fight against polio.

According to word from Mrs Roy Schaefer, president of the Auxiliary, $33.00 was raised in Klemme by putting contribution containers in the various business places in town. No house-to-house drive was undertaken, but the ladies of the Auxiliary appreciate the contributions that they received through the method they used.

Large Crowd Hears Blind Pastor Speak

The Rev. Robert S. Kieser, blind pastor of Fourth Presbyterian Church of Springfield, Illinois addressed the Adult Bible Class at Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church on Tuesday evening, September 7.

There were many visitors to hear Rev. Kieser and to see his seeing eye dog "Prue". Rev. Kieser spoke of his many interesting and varied experiences during the past eight years in which he has had his companion and guide "Prue". The speaker emphasized how many persons have handicaps and all have limitations and in Christian faith it is possible to meet hardship and conquer it and serve God and man in a useful capacity.

Following the address Rev. Kieser visited with many persons and cited interesting anticdotes. The men of the Adult Bible Class served melon to those in attendance. Rev. Kieser spoke earlier in the day to the school children and to the Lion's Club.

Many Klemme Youth To Attend College

Many of our young people are attending college this fall. Some as freshman and others are going back as upper classmen.

Here are some of the plans of the "54" graduates. Noel Egeland will attend Northwestern University, where he will take up engineering. Roger Terhufen will attend Drake University in Des Moines studying Liberal Arts. Lois Christians is enrolled at Luther College, at Decorah where she is taking elementary teaching.

Lois Ann Jacobs will attend Iowa State College at Ames, taking up dietetic work. JoAnn Bacon will attend Drake University in Des Moines where she will take kindergarten-primary teaching. Delwyn Brede plans to attend Iowa State College at Ames, taking farm operation.

Eleanor Priebe will enter Coe College at Cedar Rapids following a lab tech line. Jo Ann Burgess will attend Mason City Junior College taking up teaching. Ralph Draves will attend Iowa State College in Ames taking up electrical engineering.

Those going back to school are: Maurice Jacobs, Drake University where he is taking accounting. Ronald Draves is studying dentistry at Iowa University, Iowa City. Elwyn Etchen is taking engineering at Iowa State College, Ames as is Robert Baack.

Eunice Helps, Margaret Boland, Marie Nuehring and Reverdy Mace will all return to Waldorf College at Forest City, where Eunice, Margaret and Marie will finish teacher's training and Reverdy will continue engineering. Bill Waddingham will enter Iowa State College, also taking up engineering.

Lions Club Hears Rev. Robert Kieser

The Klemme Lions Club held their first September meeting on Tuesday evening under the gavel of Lion President Andreae with twenty-one members and four guests present.

The guest speaker was the Rev. Robert S. Kieser, of Springfield, Illinois, who gave a very interesting talk. Rev. Kieser lost his sight about fifteen years ago, and told some of his past experiences. He showed how his seeing eye dog, Prue, worked and helped him in his everyday life. The talk was enjoyed by all.

Two new members were admitted into the club.

Parts were assigned for the Variety Show.

Tickets were distributed to be sold for the forth coming Lions Varieties which is to be held at the High School Gymnasium on Wednesday evening, September 29th at 8:00 p. m.

Tickets are on sale now and you may purchase yours from any member of the Lions Club, the Music Mothers, or the Legion Auxiliary.

The Music Mothers and the Legion Auxiliary will receive 50% of the proceeds of the tickets that they sell. The rest will be used for construction of playground facilities in the city park.

Mr. and Mrs. Pavey Honored at Open House

On September 8, 1909, in the home of the bride's parents, Wallace Pavey and Anna Coobs were married. The Rev. Achterman officiated at the ceremony. A big wedding dinner was served by the bride's parents to the invited guests. A reception was held in the evening at the home for the young folks, and a charivari crowd was aslo treated.

The couple went on a two weeks honeymoon to Garrison, Iowa.

They commenced housekeeping in an apartment over what now is the Klemme Post Office.

Mr Pavey worked at the blacksmith trade for Jim Scott for several years and then for Fred Ridder. He then bought his present shop in 1914, which he still operates.

At the reception Sunday, a program was opened by the mistress of ceremonies, Mrs Emilie Arnold. Mrs Emil Beier played a piano selection and Mr Arthur Wellemeyer gave the history of the honored couple. Mrs Gerald Koerner sang "Bless This House" accompanied by Mrs Beier. A poem was read by Mrs Archie Johnson. Rev Melvin Miller gave a short talk and the closing prayer.

At the serving table were Mrs Henry Buseman, who poured, and Mrs D P Anderson, Mrs Irene Swanson and Mrs J C Thomas who served the cake and ice cream.

Marie Blank was in charge of the guest book and Mrs Gerald Koerner took charge of the gift table.

Mr and Mrs Pavey are the parents of two children, Juanita, Mrs John Clements of Klemme; and Wayne of Webster City. They have five grandchildren.

Relatives and friends besides those from Klemme were from McGregor, St. Olaf, Greene, Chapin, Forest City, Garner, Joice, Buffalo Center, Webster City, and Balaton, Minnesota

District Creamery Meet At Hotel Hanford

The Farm Support Bill as recently passed by Congress and its impact to Iowa Creameries and their producer patrons will be discussed at a District Creamery Meeting to be held at Hotel Hanford, Mason City, Tuesday evening, September 14, at 7:30, according to Vernon Lyford, Manly, Director of the Iowa Creameries Association.

"The Dairy Section of the bill places great responsibilities on the Secretary of Agriculture," says Mr Lyford, "and at the same time affords the creamery people and other segments of the industry an opportunity to express their wishes on the type of program they want."

Speakers will be Prof. Homme, Dairy Marketing Specialist, Iowa State College, who will dicuss a "Producers Self-Help Plan" and other support proposals. Mr Bernard Swenson, St. Paul, Minn., Field Director of the National Creameries Association, will report on features of the dairy section of the farm bill as signed by the President. A referendum will be made as to the choice of methods for getting the present stocks of government owned dairy commodities to the consumers. A third speaker will be Mr J. S. Quist, Ames, Executive Secretary of the Iowa Creameries Association, who will discuss Uniform Dairy Legislaton.

"The importance of the local creamery people having information on dairy legislation and policies and expressing their opinions was proven by our experience of a year ago," Lyford says. At that time the majority of opinion of the producers, creamery directors and managers favored an 80% parity minimum for milk and butter fat and opportunities for a roll back plan for implementing the program. These were the two major features of the dairy bill adopted by the Agriculutral Committee of the House of Representatives of which Congressman Charles B. Hoeven was a member.

ACCIDENT

Arnold Beelner, formerly of near Remsen, who lost an arm in a corn picker accident at Round Lake, Minn., two years ago, recently suffered another major accident when he fell from a tractor and was run over by a railing load of feed. The tractor circled and came back for another pass at him, but he was able to arise and shut off the power.

W. S. C. S. Met

The regular meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service was held in the church parlors, Thursday afternoon. September 2nd.

Devotions were given by Mrs John Chambers and the lesson by Mrs Merlin Neuberger.

Four of the G. S. C. S. girls, JoAnne Jacobs, Sharon Blau, Candace Carlson and Cozette Lau, each gave an interesting account of their experience at Camp Quest of the Methodist Camp at Lake Okoboji, which they attended this summer. They also sang two lovely songs, one a "Malayan Fun Song" and "Tell Me Why", their voices blending beautifully.

Lunch was served by the Ruth Circle. There were thirty-eight members present.

68TH

At Lake City, Mr and Mrs Leete Pebles recently observed their 68th wedding anniversary. Most of their married life has been lived in that some vicinity.

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | KLEMME, IOWA, SEPTEMBER 15, 1954 | VOLUME 59 | NUMBER 38

Record Attendance At 4th Annual Teacher's Reception

September 8th, at 7:45 P. M. the Klemme High School Auditorium was filled with , parents teachers, students and friends. The curtain was drawn and a novel sign was on the back drape saying "Welcome Teachers" also a lovely basket of flowers.

Mr Asa Arnold played a new role as "Master of Ceremonies" and did his part exceptionally well throughout the entire evening. Everyone enjoyed his naturalness and humor. After a few words of greeting, he introduced Superintendent T. G. Ahrenkiel who in turn introduced the teachers as they came upon the stage. Mr Ahrenkiel mentioned how the teaching staff has grown since our first teachers reception four years ago.

When all teachers had been introduced, Mr Arnold announced that the Commercial Club of Klemme wished to extend a welcome to the teachers with a gift for each one. These gifts were distributed by two Cub Scouts, Earl Lemke and James Christians.. A hearty welcome was then given by those present, and the teachers took their places in the audience to enjoy the program that was especially prepared for them.

Rev Jaberg of the Evangelical and Reformed Church opened with a welcome and brought out the importance teachers play in the lives of children. He also brought a few of his jokes, which are always enjoyed.

The next number was by a new group called "The Singing Grandmothers", a sextet composed of Mrs C Kilgore, Mrs A Etchen, Mrs Edna Thada, Mrs Dwight Hummel, Mrs Carl Wille and Mrs George Schoenwetter. They sang a sacred number "Singing Along the Way" with Mrs Gerardi as accompanist.

Rev. Miller of the Klemme and Liberty Methodist Churches, gave a very enjoyable welcome. We are indeed fortunate to have two such capable ministers in our community because we all know the church and school are important factors in the lives of our young people and above all both organizations must have the support of the parents and home.

A combined choir of the three churches closed this part of the program with a well loved hymn, "Praise Ye The Father", with Mrs Wm. Reinhart as director and Mrs E A Gerardi accompanist. The group was very impressive in the wine colored robes with white satin stoles.

Mr Arnold announced the next part of the program as being quiet different. Claudia and Franklin Neuberger did a very cute tap number accompanied by Mrs George Lawhorn. The next number was a ballet, by Maurine and Melva Johnson, Sharon Blau, and Roxanne Back. The dance costumes were very attractive and the children did a fine job of dancing.

This was followed by the piano accordion quartet composed of Marvin Josten, Gracka Gerardi, Ruth Marie Pringnitz and Mr Gerardi. They played several special arrangements of "Merry Widow Waltz" and "Repasz" Band.". The accordion music was enjoyed by all. Our four dancing girls returned and showed that they were also capable tap dancers.

The following number on the program made a big hit with all and is still being talked about. The Grandmothers' Club of

Contract Awarded

The Woodford Wheeler Lumber Company of Garner was the successful bidder at a letting held at the courthouse in Garner, Monday forenoon on the furnishing stoker coal for the Hancock county home. The local firm bid $10 per ton to deliver 100 tons to stoker coal, fifty tons to be delivered immediately and the second fifty tons to be delivered about January 1st or shortly thereafter. The board accepted the bid of the local firm and awarded a contract for the delivery of the coal.

Legion Auxiliary Met

On Tuesday evening, September 7, fourteen American Legion Auxiliary members met at the home of Esther Hess.

The unit voted to give $10 to the emergency polio fund, bringing Klemme's total contribution this time to $43.

Cora Schaefer announced that the Fall District Conference will be held Thursday, September 16 at Fort Dodge.

The president also handed out some tickets to be sold for the Lions Variety Show to be given September 29. The Auxiliary will receive 50 percent of the proceeds to the tickets it sells.

Lena Lewis, child welfare chairman, reported that she had purchased clothing amounting to $17.70 for our assigned child. Carrie Schwichtenberg offered to send Billy Joe's gift this month.

We voted to order some of the official American Legion Auxiliary sympathy and get-well cards, as well as a box of baby cards.

Lois Chambers gave a few highlights of the Department Convention which was held in Des Moines in July.

Following the meeting, lunch was served by the hostess and Lena Lewis, co-hostess.

To Celebrate Silver Wedding Anniversary

Next Tuesday, September 21, will be the 25th wedding anniversary of Rev and Mrs E. Morris Egeland, former pastor of the Klemme-Liberty Methodist Churches. Anyone wishing to send the Egelands congratulatory messages, may mail them to Sac City, Iowa.

Music Mothers Met

The Music Mothers met at the high school, Wednesday p. m. September 15. Plans were discussed for the coming year.

Mention was made of some of the benefits derived from the Music Mother organization for the past year. Four band suits purchased, seven caps, a majorette suit, and kettle drums have been purchased. Tickets were sold for Lions Club, served lunch for two concerts, served Lions Club dinner, Farm Bureau Banquet, and also had an ice cream social in July.

The treasurer report showed a balance of $401.38 to begin the school year 1954-55.

Our next meeting is to welcome all new and old members, also to meet our music instructions of the school. Lunch will be served by the officers. Keep that afternoon open and join us in the Home Economics room Wednesday afternoon, October 20, at 2:00.

The officers of the Music Mothers are Mrs E. A. Gerardi, president; Mrs Elmer Beier, vice president; Mrs Verner Stromer, secretary; and Mrs C. E. LaFavre, treasurer.

Republican Report

By Bob Waggoner
Executive Director

The world is a study of contrasts. The little urchin boy that plays in the street as a Cadillac drives by; the bright sun shining through the mist of a summer rain; the black dress and white shoes of the office stenographer—these are contrasts that are familiar to all of us.

The Monday audience at the State Fair witnessed another contrast when President Eisenhower addressed an eager audience. He spoke from a stage that was gaily decorated for the evening show. In less than an hour after his speech the show girls would dance, the tumblers would cavort and the comedians would ignite the fires of laughter in front of those same backdrops.

President Eisenhower used that setting to discuss with his Iowa audience the European Defense Community and the 20th Century challenge to the people of the free world. Perhaps it wasn't such a sharp contrast after all, for the president spoke of courage and hope. There was an undertone of faith and a message of inspiration in his speech. His appearance was worthy of the great world leader that he is.

There were 25,000 people at the fairgrounds. There were 25,000 people that were impressed with his geniality of manner, his human-ness of person, his great devotion to his job and his task. There were 25,000 people who were moved deeply by his appeal for dedication to the principles that he fought to save such a few years ago. From the moment he appeared on the stage with the beloved Herbert Hoover until the last fleeting glimpse as he disappeared through the brightly colored stage wings he held captive his vast audience. The entire audience felt the same emotion—we are hearing a truly great man. we are hearing the President of the United States.

TAXES

The Republican tax revision bill is law. After approximately a half million mass hours of labor and 3,000 changes in the revenue laws the general bill has been adopted. As Iowans begin to compute the changes, it will affect in their income taxes the full import of the law becomes obvious.

The middle income family in Sioux City realizes the benefits that arise from the medical expenses portion of the bill. They made $3,000 last year and their medical expenses were $150. Last year they could deduct nothing for these expenses: this year they can subtract $60. That means something to them.

Jim Wilson of Cedar Rapids goes to the University of Iowa. His father supports him while he attends the University. This year Jim worked on the railroad during the summer but his father had to watch his earnings to make certain they didn't exceed the $600 mark in order to retain him as a dependent. Next year Jim can make $800 or $900 during the summer to aid in his education without penalizing his father. Mr Wilson appreciates that portion of the new law.

Every person who buys on the installment plan in Iowa will

Suffered Fatal Heart Attack Friday Night

Funeral services for Ed Christians, 51, were held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, September 14, from the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church with the Rev. Vernon E. Jaberg in charge.

Mr Christians suffered a heart attack while visiting at the Luverne Christensen home near Ventura, on Friday evening, September 10.

The men's quartet, composed of Raymond Wille, Edwin Thiemann, Edward Barz, and Milvern Barz, accompanied by Mrs Ernest Gerardi, sang "Going Down the Valley" and "Beyond the Sunset".

Pallbearers were: Harvey Hubbard of Swea City, Herman Back, Frank Schulz, Werner Schlawin, Fred Kluckhohn and Alvin Goll.

Interment was in the Ell Township Cemetery at Klemme

The obituary of Mr. Christians appears on page seven of this issue of The Times.

Worthy Advisor of Rainbow Installed

The installation of the Rainbow Girls of Assembly No. 96 was held Sunday afternoon, September 12.

Girls from Klemme who were installed in the Rainbow Girls were Gracka Gerardi, Worthy Advisor; Hope, Eva Thiemann; and Chaplain, Dorothy Kroehnke.

Mrs A H Dulmes sang "A Dreamer's Choice" before Gracka was escorted to the East. While swords wrapped with blue crepe paper and decorated with white and yellow daisies on the handles were held by twelve of her officers forming an arch under which she and her father walked on the way to the East.

The corsages for the installing officers were of small yellow cushion mums tied with blue ribbon. Gracka's corsage was of small yellow cushion mums and bronze daisies tied with blue ribbon. Her mother's corsage was of white daisies tied with blue ribbon also. The boutonnieres were blue carnations.

Two large baskets of daisies the platform.

Miss Neva Anderson of Klemme was installed as Mother Advisor for the year.

Gracka's color for her term is blue and her theme is friendship. She read a poem called "A Friend Who stands By."

Mrs S R Beattie of Waterloo, past Mother Advisor, and Miss Neva Anderson, present Mother Advisor, both spoke for the good of the order.

Rev. Melvin E. Miller, pastor of the Klemme Methodist Church gave the benediction.

10 YEARS AGO—

The Kluckhohn relatives of this community had a family gathering and a dinner at the community hall Tuesday evening in honor of Clarence and Kenneth Kluckhohn and Eugene Kluckhohn and family. The honored guests were home on furloughs and were the guests of honor at a fried chicken dinner. About one hundred relatives were present.

Mr and Mrs George Schoenwetter last week purchased the Paul Mueller residence in Klemme. The Schoenwetters will move to town when they retire from their farm in Liberty township.

Mr and Mrs Roy Smock and daughter, and Grandma Smock, moved their household goods to Waterloo Sunday where they will make their future home.

Mr and Mrs F. A. Arnold last week received word from their son, Sgt. Asa Arnold, who is a patient in a hospital in England, recovering from wounds received in Normandy. Sgt. Arnold was wounded when he was struck in the hip by a shell fragment. He reports that he is making a good recovery from the injuries.

20 YEARS AGO—

Mr and Mrs W C Keraus were guests at a banquet and insurance convention at Clear Lake Wednesday of last week.

John Larsen and son, Elmer went to Chicago with stock Saturday evening and expected to spend a couple of days at the Fair.

Bennie Schaper came home from Sheboygan where he has been this summer. While there Bennie worked for his uncle Ing. Lauristen.

Miss Marie Stille went to Mason City Monday where she will attend Junior College this fall.

30 YEARS AGO—

The "Beautiful Sunshine" threshing outfit lay claims to being one of the first to finish up this season. They pulled into the sheds Saturday noon.

The big day is now close at hand—the Big Klemme Celebration on Thurday, September 11, the celebration being put on by the Farmers Elevator, Creamery, Shipping Association and the business men of Klemme. There is going to be plenty going on all day and evening and the big doings will start at the hour of 10:30 a. m.

The heavy dew early Tuesday morning very much resembled frost, but such was not the case. The corn crop is looking fine and a few days of warm weather will put it in fine shape.

Fred Schlichting has installed a new cistern at his residence in northwest Klemme. George Ulrich was the man who constructed it.

$400

An unimproved tract of land near Sioux Center was sold for $400 an acre recently. The tract contained 72 acres and was purchased from the Walter Vander Wilt estate by Amos Vander Wilt, one of the heirs.

Ell Tip Toppers Met

Wednesday, Aug. 25, the officers of the Ell Tip Toppers met. They decided to have the Sept. meeting at the Josten schoolhouse, two miles east and two miles north of Klemme.

We wish to invite all girls who would like to join the 4-H club to attend this meeting. All girls are to bring their mothers along. The meeting will be held Sept. 18 and will start at 1:30 p. m. Elsie Mae Van Wert will be at this meeting to explain our record books.

The commitees for this meeting are:

Invitations - Doree Lackore, Virginia Schubert, Roxanne Back, and Myrna Barz.

Serving - Gracka Gerardi, Patty Tlack, Eva Theimann, and Ellen Waddingham.

Mix Drink - LaVohn Josten, Rosalie Rosendahl, Melva and Maurine Johnson.

Pickles - Luaine Weiland and Miriam Hartbeck.

Pick-up - Elaine Jurgemeyer, Melva Johnson and Carol Humphrey.

Sweep - Joyce Thieman, Jane Renner, Virginia Kudje, and Lois Weiland.

Form Youth Tour Iowa Industries

Nearly 40 rural youth group leaders are touring prominent industrial plants in ten Iowa communities, this week, as part of the fourth-annual Iowa Farm Youth Tour, sponsored by the Iowa Development Commission cooperating with the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation, according to Ted R. Leighton, tour director.

Delegates selected from agricultural areas througout the state are being rewarded the tour for their outstanding achievements as members of 4-H clubs, Future Farmers of America chapters, Rural Boy Scouts of America troops, and Iowa Rural Young People's Assembly units.

It is the purpose of this 600-mile tour to provide such young men with an opportunity to study first-hand the importance of industry to the state's agriculture, the effects of industry upon community, social and economic structures, and the interdependence between farm and factory in Iowa.

The delegation will visit the Viking Pump Company in Cedar Falls, as well as the Rath Packing Company in Waterloo and the John Deere Company in Dubuque.

The tour is scheduled to inspect the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Company in Clinton, along with the Alcoa plant in Bettendorf and the H. J. Heinz Company in Muscatine. A trip to the Sylvania Electric Co. is included for tour with additional visits to the W. A. Scheaffer Pen Company in Fort Madison and the hydroelectric dam and Electro-Metals plant in Keokuk.

In addition, the expense-paid trip will include attendance at the Old Settlers and Threshers Reunion in Mount Pleasant and a tour of the State Capitol in Des Moines.

District Judge Snell To Hold Court

District Judge Bruce M. Snell of Ida Grove in the sixteenth Judicial District of Iowa, has been assigned to hold court in Hancock County and Winnebago County, when not occupied with holding court in his own district.

The order was issued by Chief Justice of the Iowa Supreme Court, T. G. Garfield. The assignment was made by the Iowa Supreme Court.

The September term of the Hancock County District Court is scheduled to get under way on September 20, with Judge Snell on the bench.

This being the hour and date set for hearing for the budget and there being no taxpayers present desiring to be heard for or against the estimate as published according to law, it was moved by W. F. Pavey and seconded by Frank Schulz, that the budget should be adopted as filed. The vote upon this motion was as follows: Ayes: Henry Buseman, Frank Schulz, Byrnes Lemke, W. F. Pavey and Roy I. Schaefer. Nayes: None.

The clerk was thereupon directed to forward the adopted budget to the County Auditor in form and manner as provided by law.

It was moved by Schaefer that, since the Town would be faced wtih the necessity of tapping a considerable number of water connections with water main extension about to be constructed in Barz Addition, Councilmen Lemke and Buseman contact officials of the Town of Goodell and arrange for the use of Goodell's tapping machine. Upon second to the motion by Schulz, the motion carried.

The Council was informed by the Klemme Fire Co. of the need of fire hose. It was then moved by Pavey and seconded by Schulz that the Fire Co. be authorized to purchase 200 feet of fire hose. Motion carried

10,000 Names for a Fish

Naming a big fish was big business at the State Fair. The fish-naming contest held by the Conservation Commission at the Fish and Game Building received nearly 10,000 entries and contest judges are having a rough time picking winners.

The object of it all is a 60-pound sturgeon, the successor to Old Oscar, the giant lake sturgeon that died during the 1953 State Fair. In an open contest, fair visistors were invited to christen the new fish.

With a presidential visit on their minds, many fair goers chose "Ike", or in view of the Centennial Fair, either "Old Ike" or "Old Centennial".

First, second and third prizes will be awarded when the judges emerge from the small mountain of entry blanks. Although the original award date was set for October 1, it may be mid-October before winners are notified.

Date-nut Cake a la mode

½ pound dates, cut up
1 teaspoon soda
¼ cup boiling water
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup sugar, 1 egg
1¼ cups sifted, all-purpose flour
¾ cup milk, ½ cup nuts, chopped
1 quart vanilla ice cream

Add soda to cut-up dates; pour boiling water over dates and let stand until cool. Cream butter and sugar well, add the beaten egg. Add the date mixture, stirring to blend. Add flour alternately with milk; stir in chopped nuts. Pour batter into an 8x8x2 inch greased cake pan. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 deg. Fahr., 35 minutes or until it springs back to touch. Cool. Cut into serving squares and top with vanilla ice cream. Serves 6 to 8.

Operation 'Squirrel Hunt'

Squirrel hunters are being asked this fall to keep a "log" of their hunting success.

Conservation Commission biologists, in an effort to learn more about Iowa squirrel numbers, breeding success, and health, are looking for hunters to cooperate in a special sqquirrel study.

The information received from hunters will be helpful in predicting future hunting prospects and setting next year's squirrel season.

Hunters wishing to take part in "Operation Squirrel Hunt" will be furnished special hunting report forms to be filled out after each hunt.

Reports and requests will be mailed to the State Conservation Commission, East 7th and Court Des Moines.

New Ice-Fishing Regulations for 1954-55

Although winter is still a few months away, the Conservation Commission has announced two new regulations for 1954-55 ice-fishing in Iowa.

Effective this year, no inside locks may be used on ice-fishing shacks while the shacks are in use. The name and address of the owner must be printed clearly on the outside of the shack, in addition to the regular permit number.

New $100,000 Sweepstakes, 11,000 Prizes Announced

Opportunity knocks twice for thousands of American families with the announcement that a second $100,000 Lucky Lever Sweepstakes will be launched on September 20. Like Mrs. Lizzie Miles (at right), fifty year old grandmother from West Frankfort, Ill., who won the top award in the first Sweepstakes, the Grand Prize Winner will receive $25,000 in cash.

Mrs. Lizzie Miles as she received the $25,000 grand prize check from radio and TV star Art Linkletter, following the first $100,000 sweepstakes.

Free entry blanks for the unique Sweepstakes will be mailed to just about every family in this area. Entrants become eligible for more than 11,000 prizes by just filling out their name and address and sending their entry to Sweepstakes headquarters. Besides the $25,000 cash first prize, ten other top winners will get their choice of a brand new 1955 Ford sedan or $2,000 in cash.

The Sweepstakes windfall was the first prize Mrs. Miles had ever won. She used part of her winnings to buy an 80-acre farm for herself and her family outside the small coal mining community where she lives.

Official starting date of the Sweepstakes which is sponsored by Lever Bros. Company, is September 20, and all entries must be postmarked by October 30. The prize drawings will be held in November with winners being announced shortly thereafter.

Local Dairy Men Get Honors at Conference

About 30 dairy men and others interested in dairying in this area attended the Fourth Annual Cow Conference at Iowa State College, Saturday, September 11. Several men from this vicinity received recognition for outstanding dairy achievements, and all who attended were given information on new developements in dairy feeding or breeding, according to Extension Director Paul Henderson of Garner.

Among those from Hancock County who attended the Cow Conference were V. A. Cook and Myrl Miller of Klemme. Those from this vicinity who received special recognition were: V. A. Cook and Myrl Miller members of the "400" club.

Interesting research developments reported to those attending the conference or shown in the tour of research demonstrations at the College Dairy Farm included such facts as these:

Liquid milk replacements containing 15 percent solids have been used successfully at the Iowa Experiment Station to completely replace whole milk for feeding dairy calves after 3 days of age.

From economic and availability standpoints it appears that sodium metabisulfite at the rate of 8 to 10 pounds to the ton is perhaps the most useful of the chemical silage conditioners tested in Iowa State College experiments.

Ground ear corn at the rate of 11 pounds to the ton, when properly distributed at the time of ensiling, resulted in silage which contained less butyric acid than silage with no added perservative.

Cows given a choice of untreated grass silage and hay preferred the treated silage over the untreated at the rate of 35 pounds of treated to 21 pounds of untreated per cow daily. This treated silage had 100 pounds of ground ear corn per ton of green material added at the time of ensiling. When they had hay available the cows took 46.5 pounds of treated silage to 33 pounds of untreated. When a small amount of grain—4 pounds per cow per day—was fed on top of the silage all preference seemed to disappear.

The feeding of large quantities of milk and complex dry starter feeds to calves for extended periods of time appears on the basis of experiments to be an uneconomical practice. Good growth has been obtained on all roughage and pasture rations provided after 6 months of age.

1954 Pheasant Season

The 1954 pheasant season has been set with few changes from last year's regulations, but with a few more birds.

The season will open on November 11, 1954, at noon, and extend through December 5, in the long shooting zone. Daily shooting hours in each zone are from 12 o'clock noon to 4:30 p. m. The bag and possession limits in both shooting zones are 3 cock birds.

Counties included in the long shooting zone are: Lyon, Osceola, Dickinson, Emmet, Kossuth, Winnebago, Worth, Mitchell, Howard, Winneshiek, Allamakee, Clayton, Fayette, Chickasaw, Floyd, Cerro Gordo, Hancock, Palo Alto, Clay, O'Brien, Sioux, Plymouth, Cherokee, Buena Vista, Pocahontas, Humbolt, Wright, Franklin, Butler, Bremer, Woodbury, Ida, Sac, Calhoun, Webster, Hamilton, Hardin, Grundy, Black Hawk, Buchanan, Delaware, Dubuque, Jackson, Clinton, Scott, Jones, Linn, Benton, Tama, Marshall, Story, Boone, Greene, Carroll, Crawford, Monona, Shelby, Audubon, Guthrie, Jasper, Poweshiek, Iowa, Johnson, Cedar, Muscatine, Cass, Adair, Adams, Union and Taylor Counties.

The 1954 season in the short shooting zone will extend from November 11, 1954, through November 22. Counties in the short shooting zone are: Harrison, Pottawattamie, Madison, Clarke, Lucas, Ringgold, Decatur, Wayne, Louisa, Washington, Keokuk, Mahaska, Dallas, Mills, Montgomery, Fremont, Page, Monroe, Appanoose, Polk, Warren and Marion Counties.

According to Conservation Commission spokesman, this year's pheasant supply is a little better than in 1953. Although heavy spring rains in northern Iowa caused some mortality to eggs and young birds, it is believed that there may be 10 per cent more pheasants this year than last.

Fall Recreational Events

The famous National Dairy Cattle Congress in Waterloo, October 2-9, will highlight Iowa's fall recreational events, according to the Iowa Development Commission.

At Mount Pleasant, the fifth-annual Old Settlers and Threshers Reunion is scheduled for September 15-18. In addition, free bear, buffalo, and beef will be served at a barbeque in Cherokee, during October.

A greased-pig contest will be featured during Swine Day at Hampton, on October 9, while a Goose-Calling Contest will be held at Missouri Valley during October, as well.

National Dairy Cattle Congress, October 2-9

The admission charge to the grounds of the National Dairy Cattle Congress, to be held in Waterloo, October 2 through 9, is being reduced this year from 60 cents per person to 50 cents per person, E. S. Estel, exposition secretary manager has announced.

The reduction in the price of admission tickets, plus favorable fall weather conditions are expected to result in an increased attendance of some 10 percent over the nearly quarter-million persons who flocked through the gates during the eight days in 1953.

In anticipation of the increased attendance, an additional 16 acres of land has been purchased during the year, and a portion of it developed into additional parking facilities. Space for some 500 more automobiles will be available on the grounds this year.

The buildings and other facilities have never before been in such excellent condition, Estel has announced. Streets have been blacktopped, roofs repaired, buildings painted, cement walks layed, a new fence built around the new parking lot, plus additional maintenance work.

Entries in the dairy cattle division appear to be breaking all previous records for number and quality. Late entries from state and regional fairs, now being concluded, continue to arrive, with more entries than usual from the states on both the east and west coasts.

With the official national show of the Holstein, Guernsey, Brown Swiss and Ayshire breed organizations, and the nation-wide shows of the Jersey and Milking Shorthorns, the strongest shows in the history of the exposition are anticipated.

The National Belgian Horse show entries assure another excellent display of these huge massive animals, and one of the top saddle horse shows in the history of the exposition is assured. The spirited saddle horses appear in each of the sixteen programs in the Hippodrome, along with the nation's finest circus acts, the inspirational Parade of Champions and other special featured attractions.

Iowa's "Tiny" Timothy Seed Production Still Ain't Hay

Despite the decline in acreage harvested because of draught and high temperatures, Iowa's relatively "tiny" timothy, Iowa's production in 1954 of nearly 6½ million pounds constitutes nearly 25 per cent of the national production, the Iowa Development Commission reports.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates that acreage harvested this year will total 41,000 acres wih a yield per acre of 160 pounds clean seed, as compared with 57,000 acres harvested in 1953 with a yield of 175 pounds and the 10-year average of 132,500 acres and 166 pounds per acre.

With the national production of timothy seed in 1953 at only 26½ million pounds, Iowa provided more than 36 per cent of the nation's supply and has produced nearly 50 per ecnt of the national prouction during the 10-year average from 1943-1952.

Assessors Meeting At Pocahontas

The Assessors from the North Central Iowa area will meet with the assessors from the Northwest Iowa area for an all-day meeting to be held at the courthouse in Pocahontas on Thursday, September 23. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the proposed agenda of the program which will feature the annual school of Instruction for assessors which will be held at the Kirkwood hotel in Des Moines on October 11, 12 and 13.

Visiting around Iowa

by Joe Marsh

The Cave in the Woods

When Em and I were cleaning the attic the other day I found an old yellowed newspaper with an item about Dutton's Cave.

Back in the 1840's Lorenzo Dutton discovered a cave in the woods near West Union. Picnickers had a great time walking back inside for about 300 feet to a nice little lake. But silt piled up and finally blocked the entrance.

Think of it. Just tiny specks of sand, but they made a barrier big enough to spoil the fun. It sort of reminds you of prejudices. Individually, prejudices may be small matters, but collectively they can interfere with the rightful pleasures of others, such as playing cards, dancing, or enjoying a temperate glass of beer.

Most Iowans are broad-minded folks. They may not agree with their neighbors on many matters — home design, for example, or vacation spots, or tastes in food and entertainment — but they respect the other fellow's right to his own choice.

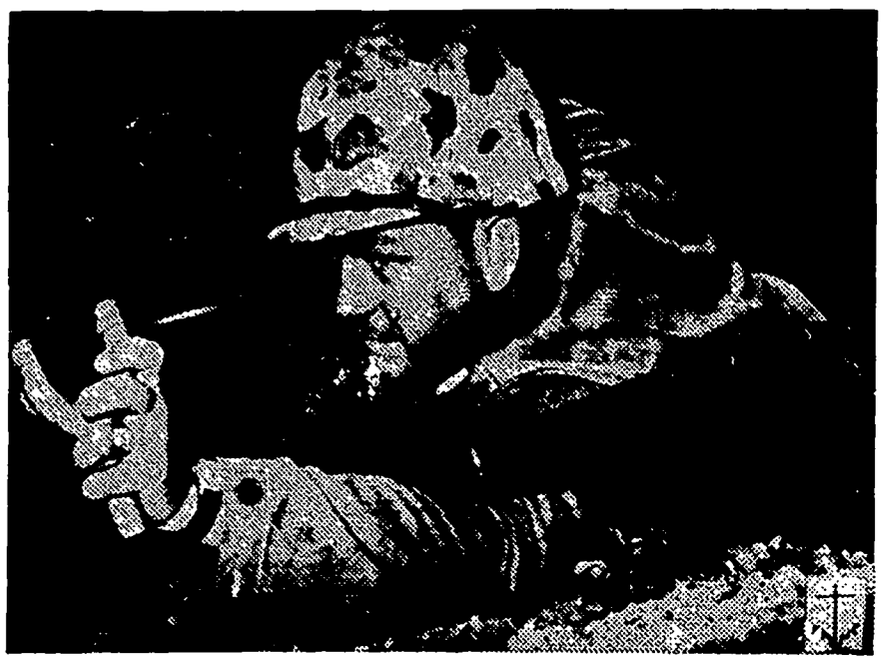
How About This For A Change



Marine M/Sgt. Frank O. Freeman

Many a Marine has heard the cry, "Get a sling shot". The remark usually refers to one's inability to hit a target. However, one Marine took it seriously, got a sling shot and actually qualified on the regular .45 pistol course at the San Diego Recruit Training Center.

He is MSgt. Frank O. Freeman of Pensacola, Fla., now serving with the First Marine Aircraft Wing in Korea. He really does not need a sling shot since he is a distinguished rifle and pistol shooter, and has been firing in Marine Corps and civilian fatch es since 1947.

Last year he missed the Washington State High-Power Rifle Championship by three points. Despite many medals for rifle and pistol shooting Freeman claims his favorite weapon is a sling shot -- and he is never without one. The one he uses in Korea today is made of ashwood with a 12 inch natural rubber sling. He used it since 1949.

Freeman began using a sling when he was five years old. By the time he was of high school age he was shooting in local playground tournaments. The real thrill, says Freeman, is hunting -- and getting that first rabbit. He made money in high school by hunting small game.

"We used to hunt bull frogs with a sling and lead pellets," he says. "Then we would sell the legs to local restaurants and use the money to buy more lead."

He has found that dogwood is the best sling shot material, because it has a steal-like hardness when seasoned.

Freeman's greatest sling shot thrill came last year near Del Mar, Calif., when he flushed a covey of quail. One broke away and circled alone. Freeman pulled the rubber, let go a slug and killed the quail on the fly. That was his first flying target, though he had killed running blue grouse and pheasant.

"Most people don't realize it," Freeman explains, "but a properly used sling shot can be a deadly weapon. With a 200 grain slug and a 35 pound pull a rabcan be killed at 30 yards. I've reached 250 yards without difficulty.

Freeman's experience at San Diego range began when he noticed a young recruit having trouble firing a .45 caliber pistol. Freeman said he thought he could qualify with a sling shot, and did. He used expended .45 caliber slugs and during the rapid fire held four slugs in his right hand. He qualified with a score of 260 -- not bad shooting with or without a sling shot.

Check Your Posture

Are you going to pot?

That's right . . . to pot! The next time you pass a mirror, glance sideways and size up the outline of your figure. In place of a flat abdomen is there a definite protrusion? That, my friend, is a pot.

And . . . ten to one, on second look you'll discover a hump in your back and droopy, hanging chin.

Not a pretty picture, is it?

Immediately you straighten your shoulders, pull in your chin and stomach . . . for a minute. Then, by the time you pass a second mirror you've "rested" back to your original slouch. It is too difficult to maintain good posture . . . it's too tiring. It's more restful to slouch.

Take note: It's the SLOUCH that's tiring!

Poor posture throws the bones out of line so that the muscles must work harder to hold the body up and the joints and ligaments are strained. This causes fatigue, not to mention backache, foot trouble and other various pains and aches all over your body.

The tendency, then, is to slump lower when you're tired, to get under the ache. You can't. Instead rise up and overcome it.

When the body is in proper balance the head is held high, chin in, shoulders back, chest up and forward, abdomen in and up . . . not strained or exaggerated, just comfortable. Try it! Back up against a wall, flatten your head and spine against it and walk away. Feel good? You bet it does because the strain on the muscles is removed.

Make it a habit to walk and sit tall. Anyone can achieve good posture with a little continued effort. The result will be worth it when you realize how much less tired you are and how much better you look.

• TEACHERS RECEPTION

Klemme, which is part of a National organization showed that they may be grandmothers, but that they are still a lively bunch. They presented a skit in which Mrs Clara Barz represented a grandmother dreaming of her life beginning with her first day of school, sweetheart days, children, grandchildren, closing with all the grandmothers singing a rousing song.

The next was the Men's Chorus of the E and R Church, accompanied by Mrs Wm. Reinhart. They sang two songs which indeed will never be heard on Sunday morning in church but were enjoyed by all, "How High The Moon" and "Young At Heart".

The concluding number was entirely different and unexpected. The officers of the groups responsible for the reception decided to also take part and organized a "Kitchen Klatter Band". The ladies had instruments, somewhat musical that came from the kitchen. Each was wearing a novel hat that only a woman could think of. Mrs V. Stromer would have won the prize if there had been one. Her hat was composed of a little bit of everything used in the kitchen. The first number they played was "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles". They had two very good bubble blowers. The next number was "The Little Shoemakers Song" which indeed had some real pounding on shoes. The last was the "Iowa Corn Song" which the audience joined in singing, and as a finishing touch, Asa came on the stage with a corn stalk that was really tall.

This concluded the program and next was the social hour which is all important in our busy way of life. The time to have coffee and meet the teachers an their families, old and new friends. This year the lunch was furnished by the schoolboard. The ladies had a table set up with a very cute red schoolhouse as a center piece. The coffee was served by Mrs Miller and Mrs Jaberg and they had to pour from a water cooler. The tablecloth and napkins were decorated with designs of school activities. The waitresses were wearing dunce caps. All was worked around the theme of School Days.

We have heard from many sources that this has been one of the best teachers' receptions held and all returned home happy they attended.

benefit from the provisions that allows a deduction for interest up to 6 percent on such purchases.

Mrs Johnson of Des Moines lost her husband two years ago. She has worked at the telephone office during the last year but the cost of caring for her four year old child took large bites out of her earnings. This year she can deduct up to $600 for such expenses. When she makes out her income tax next year, she will gain a full appreciation of the benefits of the tax revision for her.

The Iowa farmers was not forgotten when the tax revisions were made. Farmer Jones of Page County is firmly convinced of the value of soil and water conservation programs. Up to now the cost has been prohibitive. Next year he can list deductions up to 25 percent of farm income for these improvements. Mr Smith of Bremer County needs some new machinery and next year he will be able to write off more rapidly such costs when he fills out his income tax. Mr Bennett of Crawford County had tough luck with his cattle last year and had disease. Should that happen next to sell some of them because of year he will not have to pay any tax on the proceeds of that forced sale.

Iowans were not forgotten when the general tax revision bill was drated and they will not forget this Republican achievement when they vote next fall.

Iowa needs 577 new school rooms each year, according to Iowa architects.

Nitrogen Applications

Growing interest in fall application of nitrogen fertilizers has raised many questions in the minds of Hancock County farmers, according to Paul Henderson Hancock County Extension Director.

They want to know if the yield increase from fall-applied nitrogen will be as good as that with spring-applied, whether it will take the place of "starter" hill or row fertilizers in the spring and whether there may be sizeable losses of fertilizer nutrients during the fall, winter and early spring.

Iowa State College research men, Lloyd Dumenil, H R Meldrum and John Pesek, who have studied fall and spring fertilizer application for corn, have some answers to the first two questions. Yield increases may not be quite as high from fall applications as from spring, depending on such factors as when and how the material is applied and weather conditions. In Iowa State College test—which have not yet been made on all the major soils in Iowa—fall applied nitrogen fertilizers that was plowed down gave corn yields the next year that were slightly higher than those followed spring applied disked in nitrogen. The research men think the method of application and relatively dry fall and winter seasons may be factors that account for these results. These are results from only two years of work and should not be considtred as final, because data in additional seasons might change the recommendations somewhat.

There are two forms of nitrogen in the commonest nitrogen fertilizer—the ammonium form or one that changes to ammonium in the soil and the nitrate form. The nitrate form is water-soluble and subject to leaching by movement of water. The ammonium form is held by soil particles and doesn't leach as long as it stays in that form. However, under warm, moist well aerated conditions the ammonium form is changed to nitrate form by soil micro-organisms. When soil conditions are cool and dry this change is slower.

The leaching loss is the main risk in fall application. Although fall rainfall is often not heavy enough to leach the nitrogen out to the root zone, and there is no leaching while the soil is frozen, losses may be expected when the tiles drain in the spring. Leaching losses may occur quickly in sandy soils, according to the research men, but is probably slower in heavy textured soils because water movement is slower.

These research men summarize their recommendations on fall application of nitrogen this way: When soil moisture is normal or below in the fall, leaching losses may not be excessive. The fall-applied and plowed-down and they advise turning the nitrogen under shortly after application should be about as effective as a spring application that's disked in, maybe a little better. However, delay applications of ammonium form well into the fall when the soil temperature is likely to stay below 55 degrees. Delay applying nitrate forms until later fall, too, to guard against too much leaching before the ground freezes.

And finally, plan to apply "starter" hill or row fertilizer at planting time in the spring.

WASHINGTON AND
"SMALL BUSINESS"
By C. WILSON HARDER

There are indications many are puzzled by some campaign oratory being released in November election warm up.

* * *

Most confusing appears to be commonly used assertion to justify anything and everything that "we must not forget we are now THE world power."

C.W. Harder

Yet many people are analyzing this oft-repeated claim. Since days of the Caesars there have been many world powers. Yet in each era, the world power represented a bastion which was accorded world wide respect. But never in history has any nation become the world power, or maintained that position by playing Santa Claus every day of the year, year after year.

* * *

From the Napoleonic Wars until 1914, England was the world power. And with the exception of a little brawl with the Boers, England maintained that position without fighting anybody. In addition, she maintained it without charity, for the sun has yet to set on day England gives away as much as a shilling.

* * *

So today's peculiar happenings provoke many questions.

* * *

As example there is recent transaction of Foreign Operations Administration, chief dispenser of American billions to practically every country, Communist Yugoslavia included. In this particular transaction, it was decided U. S. taxpayers would give the railroad system of India 100 locomotives.

* * *

Two things meet the eye immediately. One is that India's boss man, Nehru, is on record as not being too annoyed by Communists; in fact many feel he is quite friendly. The second point is that the Indian railroad system is a government operated socialistic venture.

* * *

Also in line with New Look in shovelling American taxpayers billions to world in form of goods, everybody was invited to bid on building the locomotives.

* * *

Successful bidder was Japan Rolling Stock Exporter Association, part of Japanese cartel system that reappeared after General Douglas MacArthur was recalled. This cartel bid $81,470 each, less than half the lowest American bid of $178,200 each.

* * *

Japanese cartel gets the business. American business and labor which pays the taxes, receive nothing. Thus American free enterprise system is taxed to pay cartel to produce goods for use of socialistic operation with communist sympathies.

* * *

Other fantastic manipulations are being revealed in Washington. For example, Paul Kermick, chief investigator for Senate Appropriations Committee headed by Sen. Styles Bridges, has filed report to effect U. S. taxpayers are paying heavily to build up a British aircraft monopoly under guise of defense necessity.

* * *

Meanwhile there appears tendency to yawn whenever a campaign speaker defends extortion of U. S. taxpayers as necesary because U. S. is now THE world power. Many feel situation is similar to that which would exist if a bank embarked on a campaign to become community's leading bank by giving away money to any and all comers with free hand.

EASY MADE BUTTER ROLLS

This basic butter-roll dough is a boon to the busy housewife—easily made and lends itself to many varieties of rolls and coffee cake. Its rich butter flavor is delightful and satisfying.

For dinner rolls, just shape the dough into cloverleaf, butter-horn or other fancy shapes. Vary sweet rolls and coffee cakes with a little cinnamon, or simple butter frosting. For variation bake coffee cake in ring mold. Always serve piping-hot with butter.

Butter Rolls or Coffee Cake: 2 cakes compressed yeast; ¼ cup lukewarm water; 1 teaspoon sugar; 1 cup milk; ½ cup butter; ¼ cup sugar; 2 teaspoons salt; 1 egg, beaten; 4½ cups sifted all-purpose flour.

Crumble yeast into the lukewarm water and stir in 1 teaspoon sugar; let stand at room temperature. Heat milk to scalding point, add butter, ¼ cup sugar, and salt. Cool to lukewarm and combine with yeast mixture in large bowl. Stir in beaten egg, and add about half the flour. Beat until batter is smooth; then stir in remaining flour. Turn out onto floured board and knead until smooth, elastic, and no longer sticky, adding as little flour as possible. Place dough in a clean buttered bowl, rub surface with softened butter, and cover with a clean towel. Set in a warm place, (about 80°F.), to rise until doubled in bulk, about 1½ to 2 hours. Turn out on lightly floured board, and knead about 2 minutes. Shape into dinner rolls, coffee cakes, or sweet rolls. Place on buttered baking sheet or in buttered muffin pans, cover with towel, and put in a warm place to rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375°F., 20 minutes for rolls or 30 minutes for coffee cake. Makes about 2 dozen rolls or 2 small coffee cakes.

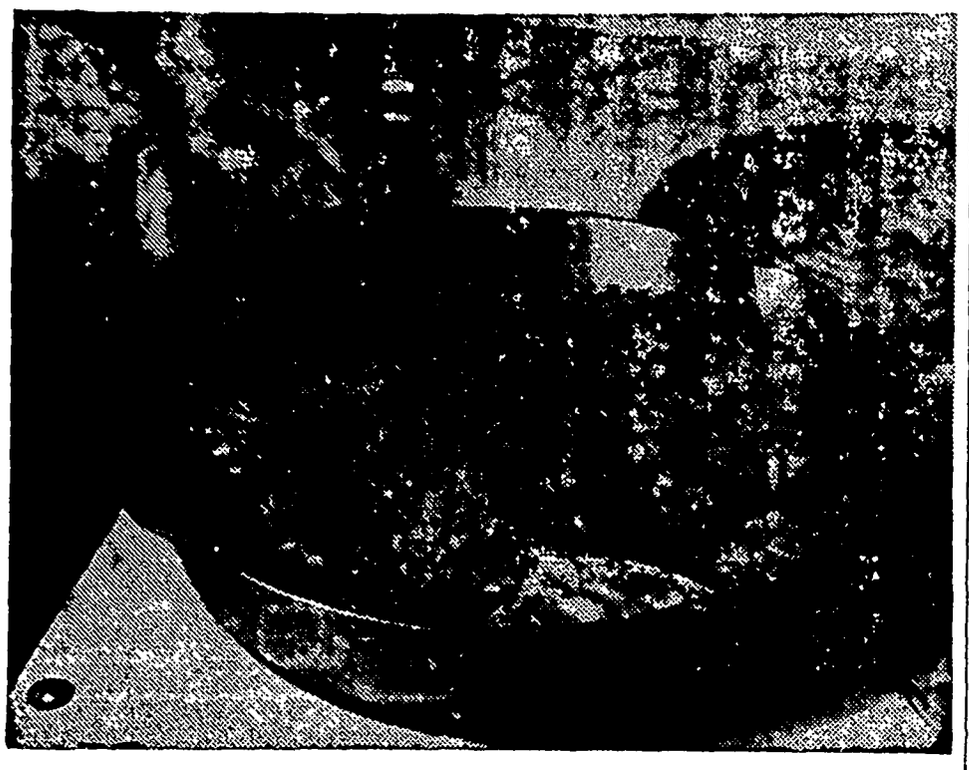
Beef is Plentiful—

Serve It Often in Months Ahead



Knowing how plentiful beef is these days, this homemaker serves in many different ways. Here she browns it as the first step in making Swiss steak.

You've heard a lot recently about how plentiful beef is—and you'll be hearing more about it in the months ahead.

So for dishes that are easy on the budget, yet popular with the family, plan to serve beef often in lots of different ways. Jewel Graham, Iowa State College extension nutritionist, suggests several ways to fix beef that you might like to try.

Ground Beef Casserole

This recipe makes enough for about 16 people. Miss Graham suggests you serve it to a group you want to entertain inexpensively but well; or make up the whole recipe, then package and freeze it in meal size amounts; or cut the recipe down to the size you need to feed your family.

2 pounds ground beef
1 medium size bunch celery
6 medium size onions
¼ cup fat
1 package macaroni (2 cups uncooked)
1 No. 2 can tomatoes (2 cups)
1 tablespoon salt

Saute diced celery and onions until almost tender in fat in a dutch oven or heavy kettle. Add seasoned meat and cook until meat is gray. Meanwhile cook the macaroni in salted water. Combine with meat mixture. Add tomatoes, simmer on top of stove until the flavors are blended.

To vary this dish, Miss Graham suggests you bake it in a casserole in the oven and top with pastry strips, baking powder biscuits or mashed potatoes.

Swiss Steak

For Swiss steak select about 2 pounds of beef from the rump, round or chuck, cut fairly thick. Season with salt and pepper, sprinkle with flour. Pounding helps to make the meat tender. Cut steak into individual portions and brown in cooking fat in a heavy frying pan or kettle.

Add canned or sliced tomatoes, or water to cover. Cover and simmer for 2 to 2½ hours, or until meat is tender enough to cut with a fork. Serve the gravy over the meat.

If you like your Swiss steak smothered with onions, follow the recipe above, and add sliced onions during the last few minutes of cooking.

Meat Loaf

Here's a variation for your favorite meat loaf recipe. Make meat loaf in a casserole—not in a loaf pan. When the meat loaf is about one-half done, arrange fresh, diced vegetables that have been partially cooked in boiling water in a ring on top of the loaf. Cover and continue baking. Or you might use frozen mixed vegetables. The frozen vegetables are already partially cooked so you will want to omit that step.

Mexican Tamale Pie

For living in a corn state, Iowans don't eat as much corn meal as they might, says Miss Graham. So she suggests this recipe using corn meal:

1 cup corn meal
4 cups water, 1 teaspoon salt
1 medium onion
1 green or chili pepper
3 tablespoon cooking fat
2½ cups cooked tomatoes
2 cups ground cooked meat
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon chili powder (or to taste)

Cook corn meal, water and salt in top of double boiler for 45 minutes. Chop onion and pepper and fry in hot fat. Add tomatoes, meat, salt and chili power. Cook until thickened.

Line greased baking dish with half the mush, pour in meat mixture, cover with remaining mush and bake in a hot oven (375 F.) 30 minutes or until top is lightly browned. Serves 6 to 8.

Liver Loaf

1 pound pork or beef liver
½ pound ground beef
1 pound pork
2 to 4 cups soft bread crumbs
1 to 1½ cups milk or tomato juice
1 to 2 eggs
¼ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery
¼ teaspoon black pepper
1 tablespoon salt

Simmer liver in water until firm and gray. Cool and grind. Soak bread in tomato juice or milk. Combine all ingredients and blend thoroughly. Pack in greased baking dish or pan.

Cook at 350 F. for about 1 hour. Unmold on a large platter and garnish with tomato slices or wedges and parsley. Serves 10 to 12.

the Highway Story

IOWA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

He stood on a corner that hot afternoon and looked into the nearly empty streets that square the Court House. A truck pulled in by the feed store. A dog shambled up to slump against the cool tile front of the drug store. The young man took his last, long look at the familiar scene and cared for nothing he saw.

All summer he had talked about leaving and now he was going to do it. But before he left he wanted to give the town one good jolt of excitement; leave his mark on the place. The quiet streets gave him an idea.

Back in the drug store he told his friends about it. "Bet I could drive through this town a hundred miles an hour and the cops would never catch me", he said. That boast had been heard before and no one was impressed.

So, a few minutes later, the young man was flashing past the Court House at seventy miles an hour. Three blocks later he was hitting eighty-five when he entered a slight curve in the street. His right front tire touched the curbing.

The car swerved sharply across the street and traveled along the opposite curb until it struck a raised driveway entrance. Only a short distance away is the spot where the young man left his mark on the town. A tree along that quiet street is stripped of bark on one side to a height of five feet.

Except for a few details, this fatal accident actually happened in Iowa.

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

Cattle slaughter this year will run in the neighborhood of 40 million head, according to Francis A. Kutish, Iowa State College Farm Economist.

This slaughter should be large enough to provide no increase in cattle numbers or possibly a slight reduction on January 1, 1955. Looking ahead to next year, Kutish expects cattle slaughter to hold near its present level—but not quite enough to provide the 78 or 80 pounds of beef that each American is eating this year.

For several years calves have been the best buy for cattle feeders in the Corn Belt, but Kutish points out that some Corn Belt cattle feeders apparently haven't learned yet that if you are going to feed calves a ration which costs more than the selling price of the steer per pound you have to buy calves enough cheaper to make up for the difference.

Feeders paid too much for calves relative to other cattle last fall, according to Kutish—and apparenly the same thing is taking place this fall.

Feeding profits last year were made mostly in feeding for the margins. Costs of gain were relative to fat cattle prices. Kutish expects the same condition likely to prevail again this year.

Farm Outlook

The next two months probably will mark the worst period of the fall hog market, Francis A. Kutish, Iowa State College farm economist, says. This is the time when the big boost over last year's marketing will take place.

Our big increase in hog farrowings last spring came in February and March. These pigs now are beginning to move to market in volume. The price drop which had been held up during the mid-August breathing spell once again has been resumed.

We had a rush of hogs to market in late July as farmers tried to beat the fall price drop, Kutish points out. The hog market was over-sold. Nearly every pig that was of marketable weight was shoved off to market. The result was a price recovery, until the next wave of hogs was heavy enough to be ready for market.

That time now is here. We are entering the period when the nerves of the hog producer will be put to test, says Kutish.

Turning to cattle, Kutish points out that cattle feeders must look to feeding margins for the chief source of their feeding profits during the coming season. Farmers can expect a little higher feed cost during the coming feeding season than in the one just ending.

Feeder cattle have been selling higher relative to fat cattle than at this time last year, Kutish reports. Feeding profits on cattle bought last fall have been good. So cattle feeders are bidding part of these profits into the price paid for feeder cattle.

Kutish suggests that Corn Belt cattle feeders sharpen their pencil. They should be sure that under their own cost conditions they can come out with a profit on a fat cattle market next year no higher than the current one.

People in the dry country must sell cattle this fall. Those in the wet country will try to hold as long as possible—remembering that it paid to sell late last year.

Too many unmeasurables are in the picture to actually forecast the best time to buy feeder cattle this fall, Kutish believes. Rather, he suggests that when feeders can get cattle at a price that will enable them to come out on a profit next year with a fat cattle market no higher than that of today, there may not be much point in waiting further to buy.

4-H Girls Win KGLO Award Trip

Joan Nelson, daughter of Mr and Mrs Orville Nelson and Jane Tegtmeyer, daughter of Mr and Mrs Clarence Tegtmeyer both of Britt were awarded the trip to Chicago to the International Livestock Show sponsored by KGLO. The best girls blue ribbon demonstration team is selected each year from the District Demonstration Contest at the North Iowa Fair. It is this team that is given an all expense paid trip to the International Livestock Show by KGLO.

Joan and Jane demonstrated "How to Put in Zippers". They showed their audience how to put a side zipper in a dress and also how to put in a neckline zipper in a blouse.

They will go to Chicago November 25-29 on the KGLO special train. This train will also carry many other 4-H'ers from several counties in North Iowa.

Obituary of Mr. Edward J. Christians

Mr. Edward John Christians, whose departure from this life is sincerely regretted and sorrowfully mourned by his family, neighbors and friends, was born December 19, 1902, at Hartsburg, Illinois. He was the son of John Christians and Sena nee Alberts Christians.

Mr. Christians was dedicated to the Lord in the Sacrament of Holy Baptism as an infant in the Methodist Church in Illinois. He was received into the fellowship of the church through the rite of confirmation on March 31, 1918, in the Klemme German Methodist Church by Rev. A. H. Meyer. His confirmation blessing was taken from Psalm 38: 21, "Forsake me not, O Lord: O my God, be not far from me". Later he affiliated with the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church of Klemme.

On December 2, 1925, he was united in the bonds of Holy Matrimony with Anna Merkel of Klemme, by Rev. A. W. Gauger, at the home of her parents. God in His providence blessed this marriage with three sons and one daughter; Clarence of Garner, Raymond of Klemme, Lois Ann who is attending Luther College at Decorah, Iowa, and James at the parental home in Klemme.

Mr. and Mrs. Christians made their home in the vicinity of Klemme for a number of years and more recently moved to their present home in the village of Klemme. Mr. Christians held the office of elder of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church at the time of his death. He served in this capacity for about two years.

On the evening of September 10th, Mr. Christians suffered a heart attack and was called to his eternal reward, having reached the age of 51 years, 8 months and 21 days.

He is survived by his wife, Ann, three sons and one daughter, Clarence, Raymond, Lois Ann and James; two daughters-in-law, Bonnie and Marjorie, and five grandchildren. He is also survived by two brothers, Peter of Ventura, Iowa; and John of Denver, Colorado. He also leaves three half brothers, Karsjen of Edina, Missouri; Harold and Duane of Klemme; and five half sisters, Anna, Mrs. Lloyd Smith of Hines, Minnesota; Etta, Mrs. Arthur Tibbets of Clear Lake, Iowa; Emma, Mrs. William Neuberger of Klemme; Sena, Mrs. Luverne Christensen of Ventura, Iowa; and Elsie, Mrs. Bill Wilson of Ventura, Iowa.

Mr. Christians was preceded in death by his parents, a brother, Harm, and a sister, Grace, Mrs. Herman Merkel of Des Moines.

1954 Raccoon Hunting Season Set

A four-month raccoon hunting season has been set by the State Conservation Commission, running from October 10 through February 10. There is no bag or possession limit, and the entire state is open.

Iowa hunters are reminded by the Commission that it is unlawful to train fox hounds, raccoon hounds or trailing dogs on any fur-bearing animal between sunrise and sunset from September 10, to October 10.

Trapping season for raccoons and other fur-bearers has not yet been set.

More Storage Space Needed for 1954 Corn

There may be a shortage space for the 1954 corn crop. Some Hancock County farmers will be pressed into making room for more corn on their farms.

If you put up new structures, be sure it's strong enough to withstand the pressures from stored grain, advises Paul Henderson, Hancock County Extension Director.

Or, if you plan to convert another building, remember that it was probably designed for far lighter duties. Additional bracing an reinforcing may be necessary.

Stored corn must be kept free of contamination and spoilage that rob it of palatability as a livesock feed and cause heavy market discounts. Include protection from rodents and birds, and provide for fumigation of insects, Henderson advises.

Labor saving features should be considered also. With careful planning, much of the labor in filling and emptying can be reduced. And, if the corn is under loan, it should be easy to inspect and sample.

Before you start building, you'll want to consider new trends in harvesting and storing. Henderson says many growers are using picker-shellers to speed up harvesting. Also, more mechanical dryers are being used.

Plans for about 30 different corn storage structures are available from the Midwest Plan Service, a cooperative service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Midwest Land-Grant Colleges.

The plans are working drawings, and even amateur carpenters will be able to use them. Many of the plans are easily modified.

Catalogs of the building plans are available at the Hancock County Extension Office located in Garner.

Liberty 4-H Boys Elect 1955 Officers

A new president, Mickey Brouwer, was elected at the regular meeting of the Liberty Go Getters held at the home of Eugene Zwald. Don Kopacek was elected vice president, June Mayland secretary, Winola Zwald treasurer, and Alan Jass reporter. As leader, we elected Kenneth Zwald and Walbert Mayland. Mickey Brouwer is our delegate for county office and Vincent Buzicky is the voter. Mickey Brouwer also is the representative from our club to the meeting on the construction of a swimming pool at Garner. A meeting of our new officers is set for September 27 at Kenneth Zwald's. We will make out our schedule for the coming year.

Freeze Peaches Now For Good Eating Later

Had your fill of fresh peaches yet this year? If you have—and even if you haven't—you'll want to can or freeze some for good eating next winter.

For good frozen peaches, Jewel Graham, Iowa State College extension nutritionist, offers these suggestions: Choose well-ripened peaches; work with a small quantity at a time; work fast; and follow through with one small bach until it's done.

If you can put the whole family to work, you might set up an assembly line.

The first person can scald and cool the fruit. Determine how many peaches you'll need for each jar and scald that many at a time. You can expect to freeze about 60 pints from a bushel of peaches.

The second person can slip the skins off and slice the peaches.

The third member of the assembly line can fill containers with sirup, put the peaches in and seal.

Miss Graham suggests making sirup the day before and keeping it in the refrigerator until you're ready to use it. You'll want to use a sugar sirup. It gives good coverage and helps prevent darkening. Use 5 cups sugar to 4 cups water for a 50 per cent sirup. Each pint container will need about ½ cup of this sirup.

Just before you use the sirup dissolve some ascorbic acid in a little water and add to the sirup. You can use crystalline ascorbic acid available at any drug store, or mixtures of ascorbic acid sold under various trade names.

The container for frozen peaches should be leak-proof and air-tight. Gless freezer jars, glass canning jars, plastic boxes or plastic bags that can be tied with a goose-neck closing after the air is forced out are all satisfactory. A cardboard tub is not recommended.

You can keep the color bright by defrosting peaches in the sealed package and eating immediately. They're best if there's still a little frost left in them.

Twin Lake Go Getters Elect 1955 Officers

The meeting of the Twin Lake Go Getters 4-H club was held at the home of Betty Lauden on September 11th, with twelve members and three leaders present. Since this was the last meeting of the 4-H year we finished our record books.

We will sell cards again this year and leaders will order them.

Election of officers was the main event for the day and an exciting one. The new officers elected are as follows:

President, Patty Burk; Vice president, Carol Kurtz; Secretary, Betty Lauden, Treasurer; Luann Waage; Historian, Marcella Nuehring; Reporter, Dorothy Roul and Photographer, Faye Janssen. The program committee consists of Maxine Robbins, Faye Janssen and Carol Kurtz.

Since our July meeting, we have had another meeting at the home of Patty Burk to work on our record books for Achievement Show.

We visited the Eagle Grove Fair. Their project was cooking, so it was very helpful and interesting to us since cooking is our project for the coming year.

The leaders presented each girl with a gift and also a special gift to the girls on the demonstration teams who worked together so faithfully.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Faye Janssen.

Reporter, Faye Janssen

1954 Iowa Deer Season Set

Iowa's second modern deer season has been set by the State Conservation Commission, with open season dates running from December 1 through December 12.

The season is a split one, with part of the hunting season open for the bow and arrow only and the remainder of the season open both to bow and arrow and shotgun.

Deer ofany age or sex may be taken by bow and arrow only from December 1, 1954 through December 12, 1954, in Cherokee, Black Hawk, Clinton, Polk, Wapello and that part of Pottawattnmie County lying east of Co. Road V.

Deer of any age or sex may be be taken with shotgun and bow and arrow from December 10 through December 12 in Lyon, Osceola, Sioux, Plymouth, Woodbury, Monona, Harrison, Mills, Fremont, Montgomery, Taylor, Page, Adams, Union, Ringgold, Decatur, Clarke, Lucas, Monroe, Guthrie, Adair, Dallas, Madison, Warren, Marion, Mahaska, Keokuk, Iowa, Johnson, Cedar, Benton, Linn, Jones, Jackson, Dubuque, Delaware, Buchanan, Clayton, Fayette, Allamakee, Winneshiek, Howard, Chickasaw, Bremer, Butler, Floyd, Mitchell, Worth, Winnebago, Hancock, Kossuth, and that part of Pottatamie County lying West of Co. County Road V.

All other counties are closed to deer hunting.

The daily bag limit is one deer, and the possession limit is one deer.

Shooting hours each open day are from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Ten, 12, 16 and 20 gauge shotguns, shooting rifled slugs and bows of 40 pound pull or more shooting broadhead arrows only will be permitted. Crossbows or any mechanically operated bow is prohibited.

The use of dogs, domestic animals, automobiles, aircraft, or any mechanical conveyance, salt or bait is prohibited.

A metal locking seal bearing the license number of the hunter and year of issuance must be affixed to the carcass of each deer between the tendon and bone of the hind leg before the carcass can be transported. Owners and tenants of land and their children living on said land may hunt, kill and possess one deer provided it is not removed from said land, whole or in part, unless tagged with a seal affixed to animal.

All hunters required to purchase licenses must possess a 1954 deer license and wear red license number and insignia provided when hunting deer. Owners or tenants of land and their children must wear red insignia provided when hunting deer. Although farmers do not need licenses to hunt on their own lands, they must make application for identification card, deer tag and safety insignia. The identification card must show a description of the lands under the farmer's control, and must be in his possession while hunting.

A hunt report postal card provided with each license must be mailed to the State Conservation Commission in Des Moines within three days after close of the season, stating whether a deer is killed or not. Licensees failing to return this card may be refused licenses for subsequent seasons.

Applications for deer hunting licenses for the 1954 season must be made on forms provided by the State Conservation Commission and returned to the Commission officers in Des Moines, accompanied by check or money order for $15 not later than November 15, 1954. Only Iowa residents may obtain deer licenses.

If the number of applications for deer licenses exceed 5,000, a drawing will be held to determine applicants who will receive licenses.

More Farm Jobs

More farm jobs—both short time and year round—are available now than have been for some time, reports John Schaal. Farm Placement Representative for the Iowa State Employment Service. He said that most of the jobs for married men specify that the men have small families, but where 4 or 5 children might be that there are two jobs open now acceptable since one employer has a 7 room house and another has an 8 room house. Jobs for married men range in location from Cresco to Dumont and Osage to Britt. These jobs vary in starting pay from $150 a month to $165 a month with house and the extras furnished in each case.

Many well qualified single men are also needed now, said Schaal, particularly in the area right around Mason City. He stated that in one job the farm hand can even live right in Mason City and drive the short distance to work. These jobs for single men range in pay from $100 to $130 a month with room, board, and rough laundry provided, and consist of duties varying from doing only chores on a small place, to doing both farm work and chores on 600 acres.

Schaal urged that anyone interested in farm work contact either the Iowa State Employment Service at 19 Third St. N E in Mason City or Marvin G. Lemke in Klemme who acts as the local volunteer representative for the employment service for information about one of these available farm jobs.

Marriage Licenses

Hancock County Clerk Doris Young issued marriage licenses the past week to Earl O. Kilber, 27, Watertown, South Dakota, and Marjorie Ann Nelson, 22, Kanawha; and to James M. O'Connor, 19, Belmond, and Carolee Studer, 17, Kanawaha. During the period from August 9 to September 9, 1954, the Clerk's office issued a total of nineteen licenses, breaking all records for a similiar period. A year ago the office issued seventeen licenses in the same period which was a previous record. The month of August in recent years has exceeded the romantic month of June in the number of licenses issued.

Community Chest For East Hancock

All of us have at some time or other have wished that there was some way to stop what to be an endless round of drives for this fund or that fund. In every community it seems that it is pretty much the sam egroup of people that got stuck with the job of collecting for these various drives . . . and we think that in all probability, they are the one who really got tired of so many fund raising operations.

With this in mind, a group of citizens from the east half of Hancock County got together last winter and began work on setting up a Community Chest. The organizational work has been done and the unit has been chartered under the name of "East Hancock Community Chest". The idea behind Community Chest is to consolidate all these various fund raising drives into one, thereby eliminating a lot of work on the part of drive workers, and allowing contributors to get all their donating done in one "shot" instead of having some calling on them every so often during the year.

Community Chest is also a means of protection for citizens. Any worthwhile cause will be included in the Chest budget and will have a share of money collected. If they are not worthwhile they will not be included in the Chest, and will not be allowed to make any drive for funds.

Various Community Chest organizations throughout the country will begin their drives in October as will the East Hancock County Chest. We are not certain of the date on which the drive will begin locally but should have that announcement for you next week.

Sunday, September 26, both TV and radio will have "kick-off" shows for the whole community chest movement. The radio shows will originate in Hollywood and will be carried by ABC at 9:00 P. M., and by CBS, Mutual and NBC, at 9:30 P. M. The telecast times will be staggered throughout the day Sunday on NBC, CBS, and ABC. Consult your program for the times the different networks will carry the show.

The officers and directors of the East Hancock Community Chest are all reputable people from the eight townships included in the Chest. On Friday evening, September 24, there will be a meeting at 8 o'clock in the Reformed Church for local workers. The general public is invited to attend this meeting and learn what they can about Community Chest.

In a letter to the heads of executive departments and agencies, President Eisenhower in talking about the coming Community Chest drive, concluded with the following paragraph:

"It is my hope that all employees will give generously—not because they must, but because they may—keeping in mind the wide variety and large number of organizations they will be supporting through their gifts to this single appeal."

Gas For Klemme As Mayor Opens Valve

Officials of Peoples Natural Gas Company and the town of Klemme got together Monday afternoon in a brief ceremony which saw Mayor Cook open the valve that put natural gas in Klemme for the first time in history.

Pictured here is Mayor Cook opening the valve while watching the proceedings with interest are: back row, left-to-right, A. R. Arnold, Town Clerk; Howard Gannon, district manager of the Forest City District of Peoples; and C. P. Harrison, district manager of the Spencer Disrtict of Peoples. Front row, left-to-right, Don Bacon, president of the Klemme Commercial Club; Wallace Pavey, Councilman; and Byrnes Lemke, Councilman.

Both Harrison and Gannon stated that gas users should be receiving service in a very few days.

New Highway Post Office For Klemme

Postmaster Franklin Kluckhohn announced today that on October 1, 1954 a new Highway Post Office service will be placed in effect between Albert Lea, Minnesota and Tama, Iowa. Receipt and dispatch of this new mail schedule will be at 8:48 A. M. emanating from Tama, and 4:48 P. M. arriving from Albert Lea, Minnesota.

Kluckhohn stated the inaugural trip of this service will be made on September 30, arriving in Klemme at 2:20 P. M. The vehicle will stop in front of the post office for 15 minutes and will be open for public inspection during that time. The postmaster also said that representatives of the Post Office Department will accompany the Highway Post Office on its inaugural trip.

Rev .Kieser Loses Prue Due to Illness

Klemme folks will remember the blind minister, Rev. Robert S. Keiser, who recently talked here. They will also remember his seeing-eye dog, Prue. The following letter was received by Rev. Jaberg, telling of Prue's death:

September 14, 1954

Dear Jabergs:

I thought I should write you and tell you the sad news that I lost Prue. Perhaps you have already seen it in the papers or heard it on the radio. I think the news went across the nation.

I knew that Prue had begun to fail but I had hoped to have her for sometime yet. She seemed alright when I was with you but the next day she refused to eat. She did not eat anything at all after that. She had Urinia, an acute kidney infection. But she did her job and we went through our engagements. I was at Ames Friday and I saw Dr. Smith there. He is a very fine vet. He told me there was not any hope for Prue. But she brought me safely home. She went to church with me Sunday morning and took me down the aisle after the service to greet the people as they went out. I had told them at the close of the service that it was the last time they would see Prue. They were all so grief sricken. They gave her a last pat and then she was quietly put to sleep.

Prue was more than just a dog to so many who knew and loved her and I believe she has helped many to find new faith and courage and has taught us all to be more loving and kind. It seemed as though the whole city mourned for her and we have been deluged with telephone calls and letters.

It was very hard to give her up and it hurt me deeply, but I knew it had to come sometime. I will go and get another dog as soon as one can be made available.

You and your people were so kind to us and I am so glad we could be with you. They gave us such a wonderful offering. Thanks for all your kindness. We will long remember the pleasant time we had with you.

With kindest Christian regards,

Sincerely,
R. S. Kieser

Lions To Present 2nd Annual Show

September 29th Is Date Set for Event

Those who were on hand last year for the Lions Varieties presented by the Klemme Lions Club won't want to miss out on this year's presentation. You won't either. Last year's show was well received and apparently enjoyed . . . even by those in the cast.

This year's show, which will be presented starting at 8 o'clock next Wednesday evening. September 29, will include skits and novelty acts, as well as a bigger and better hillbilly band. The members of the hillbilly band, one of the most popular features of last year's show, have been working on some new numbers, and rumor has it that some great singing will be featured in the organization this year.

The accordion band will take part in the show again this year, and there will be tap dancing and special musical slections between acts of the show. It shapes up like a good evening's entertainment . . . one that you won't want to miss.

Tickets are on sale through the Music Mothers or the Legion Auxiliary, or you can get one from any member of the Lions Club. Proceeds from the show will be used for the same purpose as from last year's show. The Music Mothers and the Auxiliary will each get 50% of the money they take in from ticket sales with the rest going into a fund the Lions Club is building up to improve playground facilities in the town park.

Mother of Mrs. Helen Stille Died Monday

Mrs Lydia Hartzell, 92, mother of Mrs Helen Stille, passed away at her home in Cedar Falls, Monday morning at 10 o'clock. She had been in failing health for some time.

Funeral services will be held from the Methodist Church at Britt at 2:30 P. M., Thursday, September 23.

Mrs Hartzell was well known to many in the Klemme community. The Times will publish more details and an obituary next week.

On TV Friday

"Ernie" Gerardi, local accordionist, will appear on KGLO TV at 6 o'clock this Friday evening, September 24. He will be a guest on the Doug Sherwin Show. He has appeared with Sherwin before, both on radio and TV, and the two always put on good entertainment.

Porter Appointed

Hancock County Supervisors Monday appointed Herb Porter of Britt as depository for Public funds (receipts at the Hancock County Memorial Hospital) to succeed Gordon E. Soncrant, present administrator, effective October 1. Porter will become administrator on October 1st succeeding Soncrant who resigned recently to accept a similar position at the County hospital in Webster City.

Marriage Licenses

Hancock County Clerk Doris Young issued marriage licenses the past week to Donald Arneson, 22, Mankato, Minn., and Doris Hormann, 21, Titonka; Henry Samuel Hendrickson, Forest City, and Gaylene Yvonne Hanson, Forest City; Raymond Delbert Miller, 21, Forest City, and Diane Elaine Johnson, 17, Ventura; and to Herbert B. Satterlee, Deerfield, Wis., and Mrs Pearl B. Hughes, Garner.

Renwick Minister to Talk Here Sunday

At 7:30 o'clock this Sunday evening, September 26, at the Klemme Methodist Church, Rev. C. E. Custer of Renwick will talk on the World Council of Churches which was held recently at Evanston. He will also show pictures which he took at the Council.

The public is invited to attend this isteresting and informative meeting.

Klemme Co-op. Grain To Build New Elevator

Will Spend $130,000 For 185,000 Bu. Unit

At a special meeting of the members of the Klemme Cooperative Grain Co. held at the grade school basement last Friday evening, September 17, it was voted that the company should build a new concrete elevator. The proposed structure will cost approximately $130,000 and will have a capacity of 185,000 bushels.

The new elevator will be located some 75 feet south of the mill and will be 156 feet high. The main building will be 48 feet wide by 52 feet long plus additional space for entranceway or vehicles. It will be 120 feet from the ground to the top of the bins and the head house will extend another 36 feet.

According to manager Marvm G. Lemke, placing the new elevator in the proposed location will make it possible to transfer grain from the elevator to the mill through chutes, eliminating extra handling. The 20 bins in the new building will also make it possible to handle grain more rapidly and to hold more grain here for local sale.

Preliminary work on the building is now underway and it is hoped that footings can be poured this fall, with work getting underway in earnest next spring. Present plans call for the structure to be done in time to handle next year's oat harvest.

Plans also call for the eventual removal of the present outmoded elevator with which the company has been doing business.

The new, modern elevator together with the large mill which the company now operates, will make their facilities among the best in the state . . . something Klemme residents can be proud of.

Bob Baack Injured

Bob Baack was injured Sunday night when he apparently dozed at the wheel and ran into the ditch near the driveway at the Louis Jurgemeyer farm, northeast of Klemme.

Bob was quite badly bruised and cut around the face and neck and is in the Mercy Hospital receiving treatment. He is getting along fine and should be home by the end of the week.

10 YEARS AGO—

Miss Avis Barz spent the week end in Klemme visiting with her mother, Mrs Clara Barz. Avis is enrolled as a student this fall at Hamilton's School of Commerce at Mason City.

Last week, Mr and Mrs Lloyd Smith sold their house and lots in the north part of town to C. K. Finders, manager of the Federal North Iowa Grain Company. Lloyd Smith and family will move to Garner where Mr Smith operates a cream route for the Garner Creamery.

Pvt. Elmer Trampel of Tyler, Texas, spent part of his furlough here this week visiting relatives and friends.

Emil Beier has just completed the job of painting his entire set of farm buildings in Liberty township. The Elmer Beier family reside on the farm.

20 YEARS AGO—

Quentin Stille has purchased the cream route formerly owned by Georgee Alden and began hauling cream Monday for the Klemme Co-operative Creamery.

We note that a heavy frost in this part of the state Saturday night. Sunday morning such vines as cucumbers, melons and sweet potatoes were blackened by the frost. Tomato vines were slightly nipped but seem to still survive.

Last Tuesday evening the senior class held a watermelon party at the Johnson hills. It was a gala affair, not excepting the sacrifice of Mr Hunter's hat in the frantic attempt to build a fire, and the mysterious disappearance of the watermelons for a short time.

Mr and Mrs Wallace Pavey celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at a park in Waverly, September 9, meeting there as it was more convenient for the relatives who attended.

Last week it was decided we were to have a weekly school paper. Tuesday the Student Council met and nominated two candidates for each office. Wednesday afternoon nominations speeches were given before the assembly and then these candidates were voted upon. As a result, we have Bessie Larson, editor; Milvern Barz, ass't editor; Franklin Kluckhohn, sports editor; Carmen Kluckhohn, feature editor.

30 YEARS AGO—

G. W. Kluckhohn and sons store had a little celebration all their own Saturday night. A vinegar barrel in their warehouse back of the store blew up and threw vinegar all over a pile of sacked sugar, ruining about $75 or $80 worth of fine sugar.

The corn is pretty well dented in this locality and farmers look for a fairly good crop here.

Earl Josten and Marie Gauger left Monday for Sioux City to take up their studies at Morningside College. Earl is entering his third year and Miss Gauger her second year of study.

The Camp Fire Girls went to Bayside Tuesday evening to roller skate. They were chaperoned by Mesdames Wiles and McConn. All had a fine time.

Gubernational Candidates Give Views on Aid For School Construction

Iowa's two candidates for governor both support increased state aid to schools, but differ on where the additional money should come from, according to the Iowa Chapter, American Institute of Architects.

The architects recently presented questions on the state's school problem to Attorney General Leo Hoegh, republican candidate, and Polk County Attorney Clyde Herring, democratic candidate.

Hoegh told the architects he favors taking additional school funds from state income and sales tax returns; reorganization of school districts; and increasing the present limits of bonded indebtedness.

Herring said he felt increased school money should be raised by an overall state millage to be returned to schools on the basis of average daily attendance. He also favors making funds from the state sales tax available to schools.

The architects pointed out that many communities do not have the money to build additional school facilities needed now and during the next ten years of expaning enrollments.

Hoegh said he doubted that state funds—increased or not—could be used for school construction. He said broadening the tax base and increasing debt limits are "absolute necessities" to obtain needed school building.

Herring said he did not favor Federal aid to Iowa school construction, but said he felt "we have the potential in Iowa to solve our own school problems." He charged Iowa now ranks forty-fifth in the nation in state aid to schools.

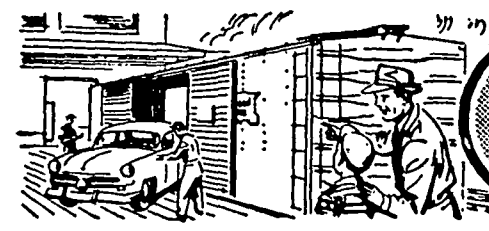
The architects questioned the candidates "to learn their views on this issue if vital importance to present and future generations of Iowans," a spokesman said.

This Railroad...

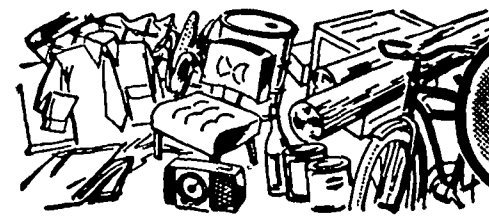
Rock Island

is the Lengthened Shadow of Many Men

ROCK ISLAND, though directly serving 14 mid-continent states, is as much a local business as your corner drug store or your favorite food market.

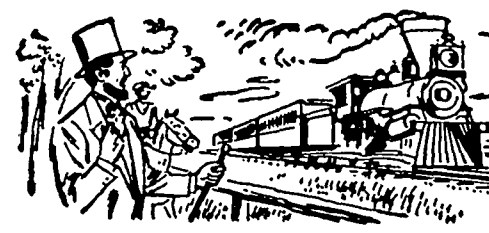


ON EVERY side you see evidence of the essential part this railroad plays in the life of your community and its importance to your well being.

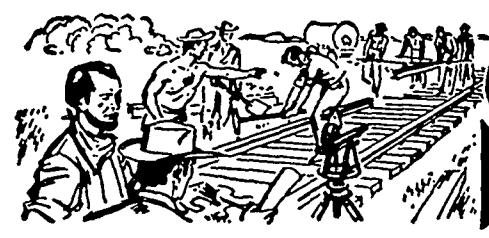


COMMITTED to the task of providing efficient transportation, it brings you food, clothing, wearing apparel, building materials—everything to make life more livable.

KEEPING busy serving others has compensated us in many, many ways. Not the least of these are the friends we have made—there are thousands of them.

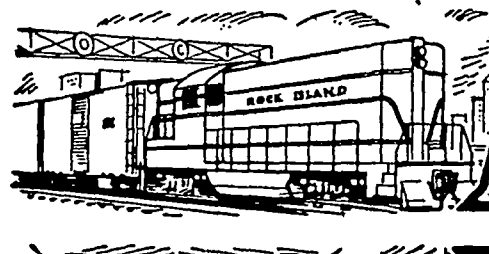


IT IS frequently said that a business is the lengthened shadow of one man. This is hardly true of the Rock Island. It is the lengthened shadow of many men.

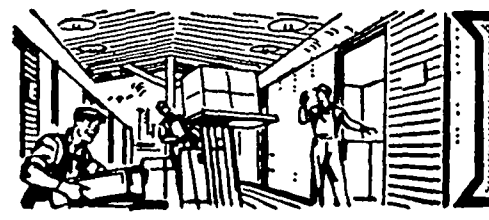


SOME were engineers, some surveyors, others were car builders, track layers, or what have you. Most of them were conscientious, service-minded persons.

LIVE AND LET LIVE was their motto. They believed, just as their successors do, that free enterprise is an American heritage—something to keep and to cherish.



AND they believed, too, that really good service depends not only on an experienced, willing personnel, but also on modern equipment and up-to-date rolling stock.



NEVER, may we add, has the Rock Island been in the position it is today for providing a freight hauling service that satisfies the most finicky.

DIRECT your shipments, therefore, over Rock Island rails whenever you can . . . and know what it means to have a shipping service a bit better than you'd expect!

Directly serving Arkansas, Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas

Homosapiens Freshmanus

As I write this the students are looking forward to Thursday, September 16. All the students, that is, except the freshman, for tomorrow is the first phase of initiation. What does a freshman think, indeed if that sub-human speciman of natural fauna called Homo Sapiens Freshmanus by the biologists, does think, on the eve of initiation?

But do they really dread it? Who can say? Not even one of the species, for their collection of grunts and moans that passes for speech, is but the merest of gibberish to sophomores, juniors, and even the highly intelligent senior.

Perhaps we can gain some idea of the warped and twisted working of the low-grade freshman mind by means of diligent observation.

For instance: here is a fine speciman. Well built, a fine set of teeth, a head that would denote an above average I. Q. in the higher orders, and a light of challenge in his eyes. Probably he is thinking: "Duh—well, tomorrow's the day. Yup. Tomorrow. Yup, yup. Duh-uh—yup. Those them there seenyors ain't a'gonna make a fool out of meuns. Nossir-Duh."

(memo: empossible. Not smart enough.)

Poor lad. Tomorrow he'll be wearing an outfit that even the most unbalanced of maniacs would shudder to think of wearin. And this freshman will think it clever!

Aha! Here is another example, A girl (I think it's a girl) this time. From the looks on her face, it can be deduced she is thinking along these lines: "I'm skeered. I think I'm skeered. I think. I mus' be. I'm a'shakin' and a a'quiverin' and a chilly all over. I heered tell it's like that when yore skeered. I must be skeered."

Actually, she isn't only cold. The window beside her is wide open.

There are many more freshman around, sitting in their desks, the dull light of germinating knowledge glinting in their beady eyes, and sweat beading their bestial brows; or they scurry about the halls, struggling with their books, and getting in everybodys way.

Even the teachers show the strain of Homo Sapiens Freshmanus' low presence. Maybe someday (by the efforts of our courageous faculty) the freshman will be converted into civilized, useful, and perhaps intelligent, human beings.

We certainly hope so.

—Class News—

To finish Chapter 4 in History, we had a panel which consisted of Terry, Cecil, Graydon, Alan, Gary, and Doyce, to discuss the American Revolution. September 17th, we had a test over Chapter 4 and 5.

The girls in Home Ec. II have studied Home Management finances and are now learning how to select proper clothing.

There are ten girls, including juniors, taking Short Hand this year. They have learned brief forms and are now reading short letters.

General Arithmetic reviewing, writing checks, and multiplying by aliquot dollar parts has been the main subject in Business Math.

The seven seniors taking Sociology this year have had a test over heredity, natural environment, communications and the need for social association.

In bookkeeping we have learned the use of a balance sheet, journal and the ledgers.

American Lit. finds us back in the seventeenth century, when America was first beginning to be settled.

The physics class just finished a test over the properties of matter, and are now beginning a new chapter on molecules and their behavior.

Typing II has proven that some of us have gotten a little rusty over the not so long summer vacation. With taking off ten points for each error, some of us land in the hole. So far we have been having timed writings on services and different forms of letters.

Teacher Interview

Mr Dale R. Heppler is one of the two new teachers we have at Klemme High. Mr Heppler grew up in Harris, Iowa. He went through the first 12 years of school at his home town. He decided to take up teaching as his profession and spent his freshman year studying at Morning-Side College ot Sioux City. He then transferred to Buena Vista for his sophomore year and completed his four years there. He has taken additional schooling at Iowa State Teachers College. Mr Heppler has a B. A. degree.

His favorite pastime and hobbies are hunting, fishing, and sports. His favorite song is "Three Coins in the Fountain". Ray Milland is his favorite actor. Apple pie ala mode is his favorite dish. Reckless drivers are his pet peeves. His favorite school sports are basketball and baseball. Mr Heppler has no other plans for the future than to continue teaching.

The Once Over

Our first assembly this year was presented by Rev. Kieser a blind gentleman from Springfield, Illinois. He had with him his seeing-eye dog named Prue. This dog has guided him eight of the fifteen years he has been blind. He overcame his handicap of living in the darkness. Prue has guided him through many large cities of the United States. Prue answers only to the command of his master. The cost of training a dog of this type is approximately $2,000. The dog itself cost Rev. Kieser $150. He also explained how he and his dog had to be trained together at a kennel in New Jersey. He also told how happy he was to have a dog like Prue and to be able to talk to people in schools. He told of some of the remarks people make when they see Prue guide him about. All in all this was a very interesting and educational assembly program.

Sixth Grade News

We started out our year with twelve boys and eight girls. We have two new boys in our room. They are Robert Abele and Paul Sonnerholm.

We also have two different classes. Mrs Griesy teaches us music and Miss Peterson and Mr Westberg have our physical training classes.

Daryl Schlei and Melva Johnson have given the room birthday treats.

Joan: "When are you going to stop chasing women?"

Dick: "When they stop running."

I Ask You Now

When we asked the freshman what costumes they had to wear for Initiation Day, we were greeted with groans of despair. The freshman sounded as though it was really the worst thing that had ever happened to them.

All the freshman had to wear a sign on their backs with their names on them. The freshman girls had to wash their hair the night before initiation, but there was one obstacle, they couldn't pin it up.

Dorothy K.: I had to wear my bedroom slippers without anklets, a pair of blue jeans, my mother's dress and a plastic raincoat which I had to wear backwards.

Roger O.: I was told to wear a dress with a bustle and a woman's hat.

Gordon J.: My orders were to wear high-heeled shoes, garters and socks. I wore short pants with a corset over them.

Betty C.: I wore my mother's dress wrong side out and backwards. I also wore long cotton stockings which I had to wear unfastened.

Joyce L.: I had to wear three skirts and a pair of men's socks.

Elaine J.: I was told to wear pedal pushers and a sweatshirt with a bathing suit on top of them, and a pair of boots over my shoes.

Chuck B.: I was dressed up as Little Bo Peep.

Notes About Notes

The music department of Klemme Schools is proud to have Mrs Griesy from Belmond teaching vocal music this year. The girls high school chorus started with an enrollment of 35 which includes 15 sopranos, 9 altos, and 11 second sopranos. We hope to organize many small vocal groups including duets, trios, quartettes, and Mrs Griesy suggested that maybe a madrigal group with eight boys and girls could be organized, The girls met on Monday.
met on Monday.

The high school boys chorus has an enrollment of 16 boys. They met on Tuesday. Later on, a mixed chorus of selected voices from each chorus will be started.

Meanwhile, the band has been rolling along with songs like "Letter to a Friend" and "The Happy Wanderer". This year there are 3 seniors, 6 juniors, 8 sophomores, 6 freshman, 6 eighth, 9 seventh, and 2 sixth graders in the band.

Frank: They say Jim's wife had triplets after reading "The Three Musketeers".

Will: Good Heavens, mine was reading "Birth of a Nation." when I left.

Spectator: Have an accident?
Victim: No, thanks, I just had one.

Senior Interview

This weeks senior is Harold Arthur Anderson. He was born at home in Twin Lake Township on November 4, 1937. Harold has a twin sister Harriet, three elder brothers, and three elder sisters.

Harold attended school at Twin Lake No. 6 until he came to Klemme High as a freshman.

Harold's favorite sports are hunting and fishing. Favorite pastime: Listening to mystery programs on the radio. His favorite band is Tex Beneke. Favorite actor: Randolph Scott. Actress: (you guessed it) M. Monroe. Favorite food: T-bone steak and french fries. Saying: "Oh No!" His pet peeve:—people that brag. Harold plans to farm when he finishes high school.

Hairpins & Tennis Shoes

This year instead of having a girls basketball team, we are having organized physical education under the direction of Miss Rachel Peterson. This includes all the girls from fifth grade through the twelfth. The grades of 5, 6, 7, and 8 are playing circle games such as variations of dodge ball and marching. The high school girls have been learning the different ways of catching and throwing a softball which proved very interesting. On Tuesday we play hand-hockey, a game similar to ice hockey, the principal being to roll the basketball through the opponents line of defense to the goal. Oh, how our bones creaked and groaned the next couple of days from the unusual exercise. But all in all, it is proving to be fun, as well as an educational course.

Eighth Grade News

On Monday, August 30, twenty-one children came up the steps to the eighth grade room to meet our new teacher, Mr. Holstad. This is the first year of town school for five of these students.

In History, we've covered 4 chapters about the discovery of life in America.

The parts of speech have been keeping us busy in English. So far we've covered nouns, pronouns, verbs, adjectives, adverbs, prepositions, conjunctions, and interjections.

We've been doing review work with decimals, fractions, and whole numbers in arithmetic.

In civics we've been learning how to be a good citizen.

Nutrition and food have been the main topics in health.

This keeps very busy.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE HANCOCK COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

REGULAR SEPTEMBER MEETING

Garner, Iowa
September 13, 1954

The Hancock County, Iowa, Board of Supervisors met in regular session on above captioned date as provided by law, with S. A. Barber, Clarence Bird and Clint Daniels present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read.

On motion and second the following are hereby approved: cigarette permit to Fenton's Shell Service, Garner; Class "C" Beer Permit to Garner General Store, Dunham; and Official bonds of Wm. Henschen, Engineer on D. D. No. 1 & 2, L. No. 13B, D. D. No. 138, L. No. 81, D. D. No. 141, D. D. No. 107, and George J. Gray petition.

Supervisor Daniels is hereby appointed a committee to investigate and cause repairs to be made in D. D. No. 1 & 2 West Main, D. D. No. 138, D. D. No. 142 Supervisor Barber on D. D. No. 26, and Supervisor Bird on D. D. No. 1 & 2 West Main.

This being the 13th day of September 1954, a date heretofore set for a letting for two carloads of oil treated stoker coal for use at the Hancock County Home, the hour for said letting having arrived, the proof of publication being on file and the Board being fully advised said hearing was held as advertised. The chairman of the Board proceeded to open all bids on file and the bid of Woodford-Wheeler Lumber Company of Garner, Iowa was found to be the lowest and best bid on file.

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED that the bid of Woodford-Wheeler Lumber Company of Garner, Iowa is hereby accepted as the lowest and best bid on said coal bid and all other bids are hereby rejected.

This being the 13th day of September 1954, a date heretofore set for hearing on the establishment of a drainage district petitioned for by D. G. Quist, et al, the hour for said hearing having arrived the proof of publication and report of the Engineer being on file and the Board being fully advised, said hearing was held as advertised. The petition and report of the Engineer were read by the drainage clerk and objectors and proponents were given an opportunity to discuss the necessity and feasibility of said establishment, as petitioned, and as recommended by the Engineer. After thorough discussion, with no objections, written or present, the Board deemed it advisable to establish said drainage district to be known as D. D. No. 162, as petitioned for and as recommended by the Engineer and date of letting is hereby set for the hour of 1:30 P.M. on the 27th day of September, 1954, at the Courthouse in Garner, Iowa.

The County Auditor is hereby directed to cause notice of such letting to be published in The Britt News Tribune, a newspaper of general circulation published at Britt, Iowa, which bid shall request bids for labor and material for said construction, time of commencement and completion, approximate kind and amount of work to be done and that the Board reserves the right to waive technicalities and to reject any or all bids, all in accordance with Chapter 455, Code of Iowa, 1950.

The foregoing resolution was offered and read by Supervisor Barber who moved its adoption, was seconded by Supervisor Daniels, whereupon the Chairman, Clarence Bird, placed the motion of its adoption and upon roll call the vote thereon was S. A. Barber, Clint Daniels and Clarence Bird, ayes. Nays, none. Whereupon the Chairman declared the resolution duly adopted.

On motion and second the report of tax-exempt acreage in D. D. No. 141 is hereby approved as submitted by Wm. Henschen, Engineer.

On motion and second the Board adjourned to September 20, 1954 at 9 o'clock A M

ATTEST.

Maynard Schoneman,
County Auditor

Buttery Cheeseburger

Butter that bun generously. Broil with cheeseburger. Top with onion and olive. Then sink your teeth into that buttery-hot goodness.

Butter Fried Egg Sandwich

The come-hither aroma of sizzling butter draws the crowd. Butter melted, browned in the pan... there's nothing like an egg fried in butter.

Swiss Cheese and Ham

An old favorite with rye bread, made soooo tempting with plenty of Butter. Serve with pickle slices and lettuce leaf... open faced.

Buttered Grilled Cheese

Butter that grilled cheese sandwich well. Let the butter toast right into the bread while the cheese is melting. Only Butter toasts bread to flavor perfection.

And remember... all good sandwiches begin with butter

Every pound of Butter is made from four pints of rich cream.

Farmer and Sportsmen Have Much In Common Says Conservation Man

With the opening of hunting seasons the relations between farmers and sportsmen are again brought to our attention reports Vernon Moss, Soil Conservation Service Technician assisting Hancock County Soil Conservation District. For many years there have been minor frictions between sportsmen and farmers.

From the farmers viewpoint some of the dude hunters who invaded his peaceful countryside, leaving pasture gates open and occasionally shooting beef instead of venison, were a distinct menace. From where the disgruntled hunter sat, looking at "no trespassing" notices posted along many country lanes, the farmer was a distinct grouch.

Only in recent years have many farmers and hunters begun to realize they have much in common. Both love the great outdoors and many farmers are also keen sportsmen. For one city sportsman who left pasture gates open, 50 were considerate of the other man's property and for every grouchy farmer there are 50 "good fellows".

Much of this improved understanding can be credited to the good work one by sportsmens organizations and to the progress of soil conservation districts. These districts, farmer-operated, have served to bring city and country people closer together in bonds of mutual understanding.

The city sportsman who is well informed, realizes he must depend upon the farmer for the bulk of his hunting and fishing. What benefits agriculture also helps those who enjoy the outdoor sports.

A soil conservation program which checks erosion and increases farm income, also improves wildlife. More cover for birds, a more ample food supply and clear streams all result from soil conservation and all benefit hunting and fishing.

More recently, however, a new note of discord has developed to disturb the improved relationships that have slowly formed between farmers and sportsmen.

Farmers in the nation's 2,500 soil conservation districts have been accused of damaging wildlife by draining farm lands. Such accusations could only arise from misinformation or from ulterior motives.

The answer to such complaints has been made by a man qualified to know the real facts, Wallace L. Anderson of Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Anderson, who is a regional biologist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, works closely with farmers and soil conservation districts throughout the Middle West, and is well posted on the national drainage picture.

"Most of the drainage acerage," Anderson declared, "is farm land which was already under cultivation and was never devoted exclusively to wildlife However, it was not producing crops to maximum capacity because it was wet. And the principal part of this drainage consisted of repairing and improving drainage systems which were already in existence."

A review of soil conservation drainage by the Wildlife Management Institute shows that there has been widespread misunderstanding concerning the kind of drainage that is represented in SCS reports. The Service recently disclosed that less than one percent of the total drainage reported could conceivably affect waterfowl habitat.

A total of 4,629,784 acres of farmland have been drained by farmers and ranchers in legally organized soil conservation districts receiving technical assistance from the SCS.

Of this total only 39,684 acres were in swamp, marsh, or open water. Only part of this area was considered useful waterfowl habitat—the total include alder swamp and similar wet areas.

On a percentage basis, the area of swamp, marsh, and open water drained constitutes less than one percent of the total. In no region did the percentage exceed 1.8 percent.

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

Profits in cattle feeding will probably average somewhat less during the coming year than they did in the past year, according to Francis A. Kutish, extension farm economist at Iowa State College.

This conclusion is based on a United States Department of Agriculture prediction that prices of fed cattle next spring and summer are likely to be almost the same as this year. As August closed, however, Kutish points out, stocker and feeder prices were $1.50 to $2.50 higher than a year ago, and feed grain prices are likely to average higher than this season. Fat cattle prices at the same time were actually below last year. Since cattle feeders made money last year, Kutish says, they seem willing to buy today at a narrower price spread at this time than last year. The United States Department of Agriculture believes that fat cattle prices are not likely to change much this fall, while prices of grass cattle may make about their usual further seasonal decline.

In the hog market, Kutish says, evidence still indicates that the worst of the hog price drop will be over by the end of October and early November. He says, however, he wouldn't expect as sharp a price recovery for hogs in December as last year. There will be more sows on the market at that time. There was a 10 percent increase in summer and fall farrowing this year. This also means there will be more butcher hogs to market in the winter months than a year ago.

Kutish says there will be plenty of turkey for family dinners this fall. This year's turkey crop is 9 percent greater than last year's crop. The marketing pattern will be about like last year's. The percentage of the crop to be sold each month is not likely to be much different from that of 1953 except that a smaller percentage is headed for the September market and a slightly larger percentage for the October market.

54 YEARS

It's been 54 years between reunions for the five Wyant sisters of North English. They include Mrs Mattie Chappell, of Warsaw, Indiana. She's 84. Also, Mrs Alma Penn and Miss Zelpha Wyant of North English; Mrs Edith Allan and Mrs Lulu Ochs of Las Vegas.

Iowa Farms Provide Stable Market For Power Machines

Iowa farms provide a stable and increasing market for power machines employed in agricultural production, notes the Iowa Development Commission.

Last year, there were 270,570 tractors reported on Iowa farms an increase of approximately 10,000 over the 1952 total of 260,286 tractors, or 1.3 tractors for every Iowa farm, according to the Annual Farm Census of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

In addition, the number of grain combines on Iowa farms increased by about 5,000 in 1953 as compared to the previous year, while the number of corn pickers increased by some 3,000 over the same period.

The number of pickup hay balers increased by 4,000 and the number of motor trucks by 6,000 on Iowa farms, from 1952 to 1953.

BIG ONE

Largest catfish reported on the Wapsipinicon River this year was hauled in Sept. 6 by George Knutson, Anamosa. It weighed 37 pounds and was 41 inches long.

Joint Board Meeting On Drainage District

The boards of supervisors from Hancock and Wright counties met at the courthouse in Garner at 10 o'clock A. M. on Thursday forenoon. The Joint Board organized to discuss drainage matters on Joint District No. 54-121 and elected Sam Barber of Kanawha, chairman of the joint board and Bertha Brown, secretary. The joint board approved the report of Drainage Engineer William Henschen recommending the construction of an improvement petitioned for by Mildred Sorenson et al and will hold a letting on the project at the courthouse in Garner at 10 o'clock A. M. on Tuesday, October 5th. Present for the hearing Thursday were Supervisor Daniels, Bird and Barber from Hancock County and Supervisors Trowbridge, Kelling, Greenlander, Hill and Christopher from Wright County.

HONORED

Members of Zion Lutheran Church at Manning recently honored Rev. J. M. Ansorge on his fiftieth anniversary as a pastor. What made the occasion even more memorable was the fact that he had spent the entire 50 years in one congregation.

Contact X-ray Program Helps In TB Control

"What do you mean by a 'contact' x-ray program?" That's a question frequently asked Miss Lemke, R. N. public health nurse now working in Hancock County on the current annual contact program.

"I suppose it's really sort of medical language," said Miss Lemke but whenever anyone has an active case of tuberculosis there are persons who may be close to the patient before he is hospitalized.

"These persons are said to have been in 'contact' with tuberculosis. These are the people whom we hope to meet in our current program", the nurse continued.

During the past year, more than 400 possible cases of tuberculosis were discovered in Iowa by the 'contact' program.

The nurse visits the physicians in the county who advises her of any persons they know who have been in contact with a case of active tuberculosis. These individuals, plus and others the doctors recommend, are visited by the public health nurse.

The doctor makes many of his recommendations on the basis of tuberculin skin tests which indicate whether the person has ever had tuberculosis. The family physician advises the individual to have a chest x-ray when the mobile x-ray unit visits the county.

"You see, we are trying to find tuberculosis in its early stages, when these is the best opportunity for satisfactory treatment," Miss Lemke pointed out. "It is possible to have tuberculosis and not know it."

"It's just good sense for persons who have been exposed to tuberculosis to protect themselves," the nurse added.

Although there is no charge for the x-ray, the costs are borne in part by the purchase to this community by the Hancock County Tuberculosis and Health Association. The mobile x-ray units are owned and operated by the Iowa Tuberculosis and Health Association and the Iowa State Department of Health.

Livestock Numbers Up In Hancock County

The 1954 assessor's farm census released recently by the State Tax Commission discloses that Hancock farmers kept more brood sows for farrow in the spring of 1954 than in the spring of 1953. Farmers intended to keep 19,828 for farrowing in 1954 as compared with 18,939 in 1953. Total number farrowed in the fall of 1953 was 5,098 as compared with 4,614 in the fall of 1952.

The number of cattle also increased in the county with 9123 milk cows reported on January 1st 1954 as compared with 6166 on January 1, 1953. A total of 16,402 fat cattle were marketed in 1953 as compared with 13,756 in 1952. Sheep marketing decreased with 1504 fat lambs reported sold in 1953 as compared with 2302 in 1952.

Total number of chickens reported on January 1st, 1954 was 513,668 as compared with 485,242 a year earlier.

Seventh Grade News

The seventh grade started the new school year with an enrollment of twenty pupils. Two new members joined our class. Daryl Brager came from Liberty No. 7 and Lewis Sonnerholm came from Crystal No. 9. We are glad to have them with us.

We have decided to continue the class club which we started in sixth grade. New officers were elected. Lynn Hunemann is our new presidnt; Maurine Johnson, vice president; Roxanne Back, secretary; and Barbara Clayton, treasurer. These people will elect new officers.

We are enjoying our new physical education and vocal music classes very much.

Fifth Grade News

We have been moved into the high school building this year for the first time. During the past 3 weeks we have learned where to find every place we need.

This year the same number of people are in fifth grade. We have seven girls and fifteen boys.

Judy Swanson had a birthday last Tuesday. She brought treats for us.

Our boys and girls are very happy with the new classes, physical training and music, we have this year. Some of the boys were very stiff from the exercises in P. T.

Off The Bat

Baseball season came to a start on August 31. The following reported for practice:

Seniors: Harry Anderson, Dick Dulmes, Graydon Barz, Don Thiemann, Doyce Mickelson, Alan Neuberger, and Cecil Jacobs.

Juniors: Dennis Haefner, Warren Terhufen, Donald Ausborn, and Maynard Weisbrod.

Sophomores: Gary Lenz, and Martin Brinkman.

Freshman: Chuck Bacon, and Larry Ulrich.

This year the requirements for eligibility were changed. It is required that you maintain a C average weekly to stay eligible for athletics.

The first game was on September 3, with Kanawha. Inexperience and loss of last year's seniors proved to be a major factor in the game. Ten errors were committed by Klemme's team. The final score was 12-4, Kanawha.

The following, Thursday we met Hayfield on our home diamond. this, too, ended with us on the wrong end. Hayfield defeated Klemme 8-4.

Friday, September 10, was Fertile's day. The game got off to a poor start on our behalf. Six runs were scored by Fertile in the first inning, putting them in the lead. By the third inning we were slowly getting started. At the bottom of the seventh inning Klemme came to bat. The score 11-4. We rallied. Haefner led off with a single; Thiemann with a single with 2 out. Lenz walked; Jacobs singled. Thiemann and Haefner scored. Bacon was on by an error. Dulmes' double drove in two scores. With the tying run at bat, the rally was finished by Barz flying out to center. The final score was Fertile 11, Klemme 8.

September 15, we left for Franklin Cons. Klemme lost no time in starting. The first 2 batters were out, but they were followed by a home run by Barz; Haefner following, singled but gained third on an error. Thiemann walked. An out followed.

In the third Barz scored after getting on by an error; sacrifice by Haefner, and a hit by Thiemann.

In the fourth Haefner, on the mound, got in trouble, walking three. A run scored on a passed ball thru the catcher. Thiemann relieved Haefner on the mound. Another run scored on another passed ball by the catcher. Thiemann retired the side.

During the bottom of the fifth, a walk was given. On a stolen base and two passed balls he was allowed to score. The score 3-2, Franklin.

The top of the seventh. Jacobs got on on an error, gained second on a steal. Bacon and Dulmes flied out. Barz singled to short center, scoring Jacobs, the tying run. Haefner came to bat, but the side was retired; Barz was tagged out on a steal to second.

The eighth inning was ours. Haefner lead off with a pop fly to right. Thiemann followed with a walk, stole second, took third on a passed ball. Terhufen walked. Neuberger flew out to shortstop. Michelson broke it up by singling to right field, scoring Thiemann. The bottom was closed by two strikeouts by Thiemann and a fly ball to first. Klemme 4, Franklin 3. Our first victory of the season.

The losing pitcher Spran, collected five strikeouts. Haefner got 7, the winning pitcher Thiemann collected 8.

BOYS' P. T.
(Physical Torture)

Exercise, Exercise, Exercise.

My but it's hard on the old men of Klemme High. This is the first year that all of the fellows have had to do any exercise, except for that they get coming and going to and from school.

All boys will have forty minutes of P. T. every other day.

As of now it has been the learning of exercises and the fundamentals of marching. Due to the weather, the last week has been spent in the gym.

It looks as if it may prove interesting.

You will hear more from us later.

Auditor Notes Decrease In Personal Values In Tax Levy Computation

Hancock County Auditor Maynard Schoneman this week began the task of computing the tax levies of the various taxing subdivisons in Hancock County on budgets approved at recent hearings. Total taxable valuations in the county decreased slightly from a year ago due mostly to a drop in the valuation of personal values on farms.

The total valuation for 1954 as filed with the County Auditor by the County Assessor and State Tax Commission is $37,630,787.00 as compared with $37,564,182.00, a decrease of $66,605.00. Personal values on Hancock County farms decreased from $4,506,954.00 in 1953 to $4,164,593.00 in 1954, a decrease in the sum of $332,361.00. Personal values in the towns decreased by a total of $28,197.00 in 1954.

While personal values decreased Utilities increased by a valuation of $116,643.00 and real estate values increased by approximately $177,310.00 because of new buildings added in 1953. Utility values were $4,503,366.00 in 1953 and increased to $4,620,009.00 in 1954.

Money and Credits increased $269,427.00 in 1954 over the previous year. In 1953 total moneys and credits listed for taxation over exemptions was $1,931,584 and in 1954 the total is $2,201,011.

NATURAL GAS IS HERE!

Put It to Work Now in Your Own Home!

Get set for a new way of living! Economical, dependable natural gas is now available . . . to heat and air condition your home . . . cook your meals . . . heat your water . . . run your refrigerator . . . dry your clothes . . . incinerate your garbage and trash!

Your local utility is now "on the line" . . . connected with the huge gas fields of the southwest through giant pipelines of Northern Natural Gas Company.

Heat and Cool with Natural Gas

You'll want year 'round natural gas air conditioning eventually. Why not save money and install a combination heating and cooling unit now? The same silent, dependable flame that heats your home can air condition, too . . . automatically keep every nook and cranny at just the right temperature, just the right humidity for comfort and health.

Cook Your Meals with Natural Gas

Get instant heat . . . from a whisper of flame to keep foods cozy warm to a fiery heat that boils 6 cups of water in less than 2 minutes. The new natural gas ranges are so automatic, they do your remembering for you . . . so beautiful, they look as though they came out of the "kitchens of tomorrow" pages of your favorite homemaking magazine!

Heat Your Water with Natural Gas

No need to invest in a large storage tank or ration your hot water needs when your water heater is fueled with natural gas. Natural gas is faster than other fuels . . . gives you gloriously hot water on demand for laundering, dish washing and bathing. And, of course, the cost is considerably less than with other types of fuel.

Refrigerate with Natural Gas

Imagine, a refrigerator with no moving parts . . . so silent you can't hear it work! The "motor" is the constant, dependable natural gas flame which never wears out. It's no wonder the natural gas refrigerator outwears any other type and is almost completely trouble free.

Dry Clothes with Natural Gas

Natural gas is the "natural" fuel for drying clothes because—it does the job at less than half the cost of other fuels . . . it dries clothes faster . . . and the installation cost is often as little as one-fifth the price of other types of dryers.

Incinerate with Natural Gas

You can throw away that messy, germ-laden garbage can . . . eliminate dangerous, sooty backyard bonfires and trips through the snow to the trash burner . . . if you own a natural gas incinerator to dispose of garbage and trash. You'll be surprised at how little it costs to put this modern, sanitary disposal unit in your home.

Convert your home to natural gas and enjoy all these low-cost luxuries! Make your plans today!

Why Economical Natural Gas Is Now Available . . .

For centuries, natural gas was hidden beneath the sagebrush deserts of the southwest . . . in the legendary Pecos River country of Texas and New Mexico.

Now . . . these and other areas have been tapped . . . and natural gas is available to serve more and more communities.

Northern Natural Gas Company transports this premium fuel in huge pipelines from the wellheads, hundreds of miles to your community—under wheat fields . . . over rivers . . . through forests. Northern's pipelines now stretch almost across the entire United States . . . from near the Mexican border to close to the Canadian line.

Making this modern miracle possible is a far-flung industrial enterprise—with its own fleet of airplanes, its own radio stations, and even its own weather bureau!

More than 2½ thousand Northern employees and millions of dollars worth of equipment make natural gas the most dependable, most economical fuel of modern times. Take advantage of it in your own home!

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | KLEMME, IOWA, SEPTEMBER 29, 1954 | VOLUME 59 | NUMBER 40

East Hancock Community Chest A Reality

For many years a Community Chest has been desired by many people in East Hancock County, but nothing was done about it. Several times one would hear comments, particularly in the fall of the year when many campaigns for funds for various charitable, health, and welfare causes were carried on, with regard to why a Community Chest was not organized.

In October of 1953, the Community Service committee of the Garner Rotary club called a meeting of representatives from the Garner Lions club, Garner Chamber of Commerce and Garner Rotary club, with the thought in mind of organizing a Community Chest in Garner. In the discussion in this meeting it was brought out that many of the organizations had organized their annual drives on a basis of the east eight townships in Hancock county, which included the towns of Miller, Hayfield, Garner, Klemme, and Goodell, and if the town of Garner would isolate itself from the other territory in east Hancock county it might work a hardship for soliciting in the remainder of this territory.

This committee then decided that an opportunity should be extended to the east eight townships of Hancock county and all towns in such townships, to be included in the Community Chest, before anything further was done. W. L. Baggs of Garner was chosen temporary chairman and the committee instructed him to organize a survey of the east eight townships and the towns therein, to determine whether or not they wished to be included in the Community Chest.

The temporary chairman scheduled a meeting at the REA building in Garner on November 13, 1953, and representatives from the townships of Ellington, Madison, Concord, Garfield, Ell, Liberty, Avery, and Twin Lake were asked to come to this meeting, and also representatives from the towns of Miller, Hayfield, Duncan, Klemme, Goodell, and Garner, were requested to be present. In all, fifty-six persons were contacted and at the meeting every township and town was represented.

It was emphasized at this meeting that if any of the towns or townships did not want to be included that they should so express themselves. The representatives from each township and town expressed approval of organizing a Community Chest. These representatives were then asked to name individuals from their town or township to serve on the original board of directors, and it was agreed that the directors would be selected on the basis of one director for each 300 of population, or fractional part thereof. On this basis the following were proposed as directors from the various towns and townships:

AVERY township: Raymond Wille and Leonard Kaduce.
GOODELL: J. J. Cook.
TWIN LAKE township: Mrs Herman Heginger and Russell Hansen.
ELL township: Alvin Goll and Mrs Harvey Goll.
KLEMME: Don Schaefer and Pete Kilgore.
LIBERTY township: Ben V. Greiman and George Kern.
CONCORD township: Mrs C. D. Daniels and Conrad Hollatz.
GARNER: Mrs Mildred Whitney, Mrs Catherine Ross, C. D. Elling, C. L. Strate, the Rev. Dallas Gibson, and Mrs Anna Williams.
GARFIELD township: Louis G. Urich, Ed Formanek, and Elmer Jante.
ELLINGTON township: Martin Bleich, Stanley Boman, and Mrs Harvey Sorenson.
MADISON township: Lyle Jefson, John Kester, and Carroll Andersen.

Twenty-eight people were, therefore proposed for the board of directors and when all twenty-eight were contacted everyone named accepted and agreed to act as a director. The board of directors then organized with the following named as officers:

The Rev. Dallas Gibson, Garner, president; John Kester, Madison township, first vice-president; Don Schaefer, Klemme, second vice-president; Anna B. Williams, Garner, executive secretary; and Ben V. Greiman, Liberty township, treasurer.

The Community Chest was then incorporated by the board of directors, by filing articles of incorporation and the board subsequently adopted a constitution and by-laws.

It was resolved by the board that the name of the corporation should be East Hancock Community Chest. Later this chest became affiliated with the Community Chest and Councils of America, a national organization which formulates promotional material for all Community Chests in the nation.

Various committees were appointed by the president with the approval of the board of directors, included in which was the budget committee.

The executive secretary, acting for the budget committee, sent invitations to all charitable, welfare, and health organizations and agencies to become a part of the Community Chest. The budget committee met on June 29 and June 30, 1954, and on such dates the state or local representatives of the various agencies appeared before the committee with their credentials, stating the causes which they served, and made their request for an appropriation from the Community Chest. The budget committee heard representatives from the following agencies: United Fund of Iowa; Winnebago Council of Boy Scouts of America; The Iowa Children's Home Society; The Council for Retarded Children; Sister Kenney Polio foundation; The American Cancer Society; The North Iowa Council of Girl Scouts of America; Garner Recreational club; Salvation Army; American Red Cross, and the Iowa Crippled Children's organization.

The committee invited the county chairman for the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis and every effort was made to have this organization included in the Community Chest, but the county chairman stated that the National organization had a policy which did not permit participating in any Community Chest or any United Fund organization, as the national organization insisted on making its own drive for funds.

The budget committee determined also that for the present no suitable arrangement could be made to include the Iowa Tuberculosis and Health Association, which cooperates

OMVI Counts Bring Fines Totalling $1800 To Four Offenders

Four people paid fines totaling $1800 in the Hancock County District Court this week for OMVI violations.

Lawrence C. Weig of Wesley was fined $500 and costs by District Judge Bruce M. Snell when he pleaded guilty to a County Attorney's information charging him with the operation of a motor vehicle while in an intoxicated condition. The offense was his second. Weig was arrested by highway patrolman near Corwith on February 27, 1954, and arraigned in the Justice Court of R. J. Fritsch.

Clifford Clark of Garner was fined $300 and costs by Judge Snell when he also pleaded guilty to a county attorney's information charging him with OMVI. He was arrested on July 21, 1954 and arraigned in the Justice Court of L. M. Naser at Britt.

Clarence Baumgartner of Garner also was fined $500 and costs by Judge Snell when he pleaded guilty to a county attorney's information charging him with OMVI (second offense). He was arrested by State Highway Patrolmen on August 27, 1954, and was arraigned in the Justice Court of R. J. Fritsch on August 28, 1954.

Olaf Jack Olson of Garner was fined $500 and costs in the Hancock County District Court here Tuesday by District Judge Bruce M. Snell when he pleaded guilty to a county attorney's information charging him with operating a motor vehicle while in intoxicated condition. Olson was apprehended by highway patrolmen on March 24, 1954, and arraigned in the Justice Court of R. J. Fritsch.

Drivers and Chauffers permits were revoked by Judge Snell for sixty days in each case.

Reformation Day Service At Britt, October 24th

The Sixth Annual Hancock County Reformation Day service will be held on Sunday, October 24, at the Britt High School Auditorium. The guest speaker for this special service will be Dr. Mendle Taylor of Kansas City, Missouri. Dr. Taylor is the Dean of the Nazarene Theological Seminary in Kansas City. He formerly occupied the chair of professor of church history and is very much qualified to speak on this occasion.

Special music will be provided by a county youth choir, composed of young people from the various churches of Hancock County. Miss Barbara Rankin of Garner has been secured as the director of this youth choir. It is also planned that laymen from various sections of the county will lead the devotional portion of the service.

A good attendance is desired to attend this annual county-wide Reformation Day Service.

This service is sponsored by the Hancock County Ministerial Association. The officers of this association for 1954-55 are Rev. Vernon Jaberg, president; Rev. Bell of Britt, vice-president; and Rev. Melvin Miller, secretary and treasurer.

School Suit

County Clerk Doris Young reports that suits involving the Klemme School District will not be tried this term of Court. They may come up for trial in November.

Rev. Twente to Speak To Adult Bible Class At Reformed Church

The Rev. Theophil H. Twente of St. Louis Missouri, will be the guest speaker at 8:30 P. M., in the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church, at Klemme, Iowa, announced Rev. Vernon E. Jaberg today.

Dr. Twente is an associate secretary of the Board of International Missions of the Evangelical and Reformed Church. Before being called to his present position, he served as a missionary and subsequently was a pastor in North Tonawanda, New York. As administrative secretary of the fields of his denomination in India, Honduras and the Gold Coast, West Africa, Mr. Twente has made a number of visits to these countries in the discharge of his duties. Early in May he returned from a secretarial visit to India and Iraq. He also holds a number of important positions on committees of the Division of Foreign Missions of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America.

Mr. Twente is a graduate of Elmhurst College, Elmhurst, Illinois, and Eden Seminary, Webster Groves, Missouri. He received his B. A. and M. A. degrees from the Oberlin Graduate School of Theology and Washington University respectively. In 1950, Elmhurst College, his alma mater, gave him the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity in recognition of distinguished service rendered as minister and administrator.

Dr. Twente is impressed with the unprecedented opportunities which face the Church in every land because of the present world-wide political, economic and social revolution. He firmly believes that only in Christ and His teachings can be found the answer to a better social order.

The congregation and community are cordially invited to hear this outstanding speaker.

Scouts Plan Action Fair

A huge Scouting in Action Fair will be presented by the Pilot Knob District Boy Scouts of America at Forest City Auditorium, Saturday, October 9th, 7:00 to 9:30 P. M. Pilot Knob District includes all packs, troups, and Posts in Winnebago and Hancock Counties.

This is a show for the entire family and will feature a series of booths depicting the entire field of Scouting. Everyone should make every effort to attend. Tickets will be available from the local Scout troop.

Hummel Buys Business In Waterloo After 27 Years in Klemme

Dwight Hummel, who has been in the oil business in Klemme for the past 27 years, has purchased a business in Waterloo and will begin operating it on October 15th.

Mr Hummel's oil business activities here include two years as tank wagon man for Skelly Oil Co., and twenty-five years with the Hancock County Cooperative Oil Association. He has not disposed of his truck yet, but expects to do so before the 15th.

The business he has purchased in Waterloo is an Automatic Laundry Self Service. He and his wife are this week running a "Thank You" ad on the back page of The Times..

Services at Mason City For Mary Greffin, 74

Funeral services for Mary Greffin were held Monday, Sept. 27, at the Major Memorial Chapel in Mason City, with Dr. Lloyd Gustafson, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Mason City, officiating. Interment was made in the Ell Township Cemetery at Klemme.

OBITUARY

Mary Greiffin was born to Carl and Hannah Greffin in Clayton County, Iowa, September 22, 1880. While still a child of four, her mother was killed in an accident while the family was living in the state of Oregon. Shortly thereafter, the family of three children returned to Iowa, and the father began farming near Klemme, Iowa.

At the age of 14, Mary came to live with the senior Fred Arnold family she grew to womanhood. For twenty-two years, her affections and activities were closely interwoven with the family of her adoption.

In the next few intervening years, she resided in Minneapolis, Minnesota, where her circle of devoted friends enlarged.

The past twelve years, her home has been with Dr and Mrs C. B. Tice, Mason City, Iowa.

Affectionately known as "Aunt Mary" to the sons and daughters of the Arnold and Tice families, and families of other close friends, she became an inspiration of Christian living and thought to all she knew.

Generous above all in her service to others, in her affection to children and friends, and in her devotion to her Christian principles which guided her life, she passed from this world on September 24, 1954, at Mason City, Iowa.

Surviving are one sister, Mrs Clara Runge, Klemme, Iowa; one brother, Charles Greffin, Morris, Minnesota; and a half-sister, Alvina Greffin, Garner, Iowa.

October 3rd, World-Wide Communion Sunday

This Sunday is World-Wide Communion Sunday. Increasingly, church people are looking forward eagerly to the hour when they will join with millions around the world in renewing their pledges and refreshing their spirits at the communion rail.

In this critical hour of our shrinking world when so many forces seek to divide mankind, it is highly important for all Christians to participate in a service that brings closer together those who love our Lord. It is good for us to remember that in Red China, behind the Iron Curtain in Europe, and in other lands where Christians suffer for their faith, devoted brethren will unite in praying not only for the Church of Christ but also for its enemies. Your Church invites you to join in this uplifting experience when we shall remember "Jesus Christ as our Lord and Savior".

Marriage Licenses

Hancock County Clerk Doris Young issued a marriage license the past week to Raymond Eldon Annis, 28, of Troy Center, Wisconsin., and Dorothy Jean Meyer, 26, East Troy, Wis.

10 YEARS AGO—

Mr and Mrs Erich Meyer and three children from Sheboygan, Wisconsin, have moved to Klemme and are residing in the house recently vacated by Roy Smock and family in the northeast part of the town. Mr Meyer is a painter by trade. We welcome the Meyer's to our little city.

Miss Doris Spitler entertained a group of young people at a wiener roast at her home Friday evening in honor of Seaman Russell Wade, who is home on a 30-day furlough.

The Becker sisters have received word from their nephew, Seaman Eugene Haberkamp, that he is now in New Guinea.

Junior Roths arrived home last Thursday from Van Couver, Wash. to spend a vacation visiting with his parents, Mr and Mrs Tom Roths. Junior has been working in the shipyards at Van Couver.

20 YEARS AGO—

Friday at the home of Mrs George Lawhorn, all the neighbors held a farewell party in honor of Mrs Allie White and Mrs Carl Wolfe. Mrs White has moved to Goodell and Mrs Wolfe leaves Monday for a short visit with relatives of her husband, before going to California for the winter.

The condition of Jack Etchen who broke his leg below the knee in an auto mishap a week ago Sunday night, is reported as better. He is able to sit up and will no doubt be able to get around with the aid of crutches in a short time.

Mr and Mrs Fred J. Arnold entertained in honor of his aunt, Mrs Larson of Centerville, last Wednesday evening at a six-thirty dinner. Others present were: Mr and Mrs Fred A. Arnold and son Asa; Mrs Amelia Arnold and Minnie Lenz.

Miss LaVohn Larsen went to Ames Tuesday to begin her second year of study at Iowa State College. Miss LaVohn was a bit late in enrolling this year as she was ill with a siege of mumps. Miss Larsen is studying Home Economics.

30 YEARS AGO—

The city water system was on the blink Monday and Tuesday. The pump went bad and had to be fixed. Pressure was again on Tuesday evening.

Pete Merkel brought us in two ears of fine white corn last week. It is just as good as the samples all over the field Pete informed us. It is good corn and as good as any in any year.

The girl's sewing club was held at the home of Edith and Margaret Halfpop. After the sewing hour, light refreshments were served by the hostesses. All report a good time.

Threshers meeting of the Northeast Avery ring was held last Tuesday night at the George Thiemann home. After the business meeting, ice cream and cake was served to the crowd present.

After a long period of heated discussion, the Administration finally hammered a new farm program through Congress.

The new Farm Act provides for small reductions in support prices for several crops next year, according to Francis A. Kutish, farm economist at Iowa State College. Supports for the "basics"—corn, cotton, wheat, rice and peanuts—are to be set within the range of 82½ to 90 percent of parity in 1955. The exact level within this rnge is to be determined by the crop supply in relation to "normal" supply, as defined from each of the commodities in the act.

Tobacco doesn't "flex". It stays at 90 percent of parity as long as growers continue to vote marketing quotas.

Then the year after next—1956, that is,—corn, wheat, cotton, rice and peanuts will be supported within a range of 75 to 90 percent of parity. The exact level again will depend upon the supply.

This is a point about which some people are confused, Kutish points out. The 82½ percent of parity lower limit to price supports applies only to 1955. Supports can drop to as low as 75 percent of parity in 1956.

Another feature of the 1954 act provides for modernized parity to be used for corn, cotton, wheat and peanuts. This also begins in 1956, says Kutish. However, it limits the resulting reduction which may be made in any one year to 5 percent of the parity price. The full effect of this provision would be to reduce parity price of corn about 22 cents per bushel; wheat on corn the first year will be about 40 cents per bushel. Effect about 9 cents; wheat 12 cents.

The 1954 Act also provides new "gimmicks" for handling stocks. Up to 2.5 billion dollars of commodities acquired by the Commodity Credit Corporation from the 1954 and previous harvests are to be "set-aside". According to Kutish, they will not be counted in the total supply level when determining the support level for 1955 and later years.

However, these "set-asides", Kutish points out, will be counted in the total supplies when the USDA is figuring acreage allotments. What's more, these "set-aside" stocks can't be put on the regular market unless the market price on them gets to 105 percent of parity.

Results of all this are expected to put the 1955 corn loan between 86 and 88 percent of parity. The exact level depends upon how this year's corn crop finally turns out, the amount exported and some other variables, Kutish explains. Wheat loans will be pulled down to 82½ percent of parity.

Here are a few of the other features of the new farm program: Milk and milk products are to be supported in the range of to 90 percent of parity—tung nuts and honey at 60 to 90 percent. Wool is to be supported up to 110 percent of parity for the next 4 years. The goal is to induce a wool output of about 300 million pounds per year. (That is 30 percent above this year's clip!)

Once this output is reached, then support must be placed between 60 and 90 percent of parity for the purpose of including wool production to a level of 360 million pounds.

Calf Killed

A car driven by John Haspenann of Appleton, Iowa, crashed into a three hundred pound calf owned by Ray Waddingham just south of the Fox Service station on Highway No. 69 north of Garner, at 9:30 P. M. on Saturday night. The calf was killed instantly by the impact and Haspenann's car was badly damaged according to Hancock County Deputy Sheriff R. E. Nesbit, who investigated. Haspenann was traveling north at the time.

Farm Bureau Craft Deadline October 9

The Hancock County Farm Bureau women's committee is sponsoring Crafts schools again this year in four towns in the county during the first two weeks in November. October 9 is the deadline on signing up for the craft you are interested in taking.

The crafts offered this year are leather tooling (belts), styrofoam ornaments, wrought iron figures, and aluminum trays. These lessons will be taught by women in the county who have had experience in working with each craft.

Any person in Hancock county who is interested in any of the crafts offered this year needs to sign up for it by October 9th. Material will be ordered only for those who sign up for the crafts by that date.

Senior Interview

—Gary Day

Our starry-eyed little beauty this week goes by the name of Harriet Arlene Anderson. "Brown eyes" was born November 4, 1937, at her parents home in Twin Lake Township.

Harriet has a twin brother Harold, who is also a senior, and three older brothers and three older sisters.

Harriet's hobby is collecting napkins; favorite pastime is dancing; favorite song, "Till We Two Are One". Harriet's favorite band is Ray Anthony's; favorite actress, Betty Hutton. Her favorite food is "A nice big shrimp dinner," and her favorite saying when excited is "Oh Golly!"

"Brown eyes" pet peeve are people who are two-faced, and her favorite sports are basketball and swimming.

When Harriet graduates she plans to take a business course in college.

Second Grade News

There are twenty-seven boys and girls in the second grade this year. Connie Kulhers, Janet Ruiter, Douglas Schlei, and Judy Blank the the new pupils in our room.

In arithmetic we are learning to make change. We have a "Toyland Store" in our room where we buy and sell toys.

The "Blues" have finished reading the book "We Three" and are now reading in "The New Friends and Neighbors" reader.

Our dental train now has three cars as Marlene Kothenbeutel, Kenneth Jernegan, and Janet Ruiter have returned their dental cards.

I Ask You Now

Do you think it is best for all concerned to have the keys of the students who drive, placed in the superintendent's office for the day? Why?

Terry K.: It is probably the best, because of the way some of the kids drive; however, as I see it, it's up to the town council, not, I repeat, not, the school board. The cars are the boys' own; the school board has no right or privilege to interfere with rights of private ownership. which they definitely are doing.

Denny H.: I don't think the school board has any right to make them hang the keys up. If an accident happens, it is the responsibility of the student's, but a stop should be put to fast or reckless driving.

Maynard W.: I don't think they should hang up the keys because some of the kids that drive now wouldn't know what to do after dinner.

Mr. Heppler: I believe it is best to have the students' car keys turned into the office because the students who have been driving during noon period have proved, in my estimation, that they are not driving safely and sensibly. They are given the power to destroy when they get behind the wheel and so far some drivers are not adult enough to accept this responsibility so they must be curbed.

Mr. Hiller: Due to certain individuals who have little regard for the lives of their fellow students, I feel that the new ruling of putting the keys in the superintendent's office was the only course of action left for the school board to take. While it might seem to have unfair aspect to the student who did drive carefully, the probable injury and perhaps worse to some child justifies the new ruling.

Lorraine M.: Yes, I agree halfway, but I do feel it is unfair for the students who do not drive every day. Of course there are those who drive recklessly and endanger the lives of others, but I don't feel it is the school board's responsibility to put a stop to this. I believe it is the parents'.

Jo Ellen C.: It probably is the best, for some of the kids do drive in a reckless manner, but I do not believe the car keys should be kept up in the superintendent's office because I believe the car and car keys are the private property of the student. If anyone should decide, I believe it should not be the school board, but the town council.

Kindergarten News

The 31 kindergarteners began the school year with a unit on "The Bears" during which they each made a "Three Bears Booklet" containing bowls, chairs, and beds for each of the three bears.

Since then they have begun to learn to print their names, and are now about to begin a unit on pets.

They are also making plans for the construction of a playhouse made of orange crates for their room.

Off The Bat

The week of September 20 was the Fall Sectional Tournament at Kanawha. Klemme was paired against Goldfield. The batteries were Thiemann, pitching; Dulmes catching for Klemme; and for Goldfield, Johnson pitching; Madison catching.

First inning: Goldfield up to bat. Two runs were scored by Lrotter and Madison by a sacrifice by Hossman and by an error on Klemme. The following batters were grounded out. Klemme up. Bacon leading off, grounded out: Dulmes and Barz drew walks, followed by a strike out by Haefner and by Thiemann hitting a fly to center. The score: Goldfield 2, Klemme 0.

Second inning: Goldfield was retired almost in order, a double being hit with two outs, followed by an out.. Klemme was retired in order.

Third inning: Goldfield again scored 2 runs, by a walk and two errors on Klemme's post. Klemme again went scoreless in the bottom of the third leaving the score, Goldfield 4, Klemme 0.

At the top of the fourth Klemme began to click. Goldfield was retired in order. Klemme came to bat, Thiemann leading off with a bunt, gaining second on an error. Terhufen got on on an error, followed by a single to center by Neuberger, driving Thiemann and Terhufen in. Neuberger took second on passed ball, third on infield out by Jacobs, scoring on an error which put Bacon on first. Dulmes grounded to second, retiring the side. Golfield 4, Klemme 3.

Fifth inning: Goldfield was again stopped. Haefner and Thiemann scored for Klemme on hits and stolen bases and an error committed by Goldfield. This put Klemme in the lead, 5-4.

Sixth inning: Goldfield scored a run by a walk, an error, and a hit. Klemme was held scoreless. The score tied 5-5.

In the seventh Klemme held fast, Goldfield was stopped. Klemme came to bat, breaking up the game with Neuberger getting on by an error, stealing second, third on a passed ball, and scoring on an error, clinking the game for Klemme, 6-5.

Wednesday Klemme met Rowan. The batteries for the team were Rowan: Alrich and Leist; for Klemme, Haefner and Dulmes.

First inning: Rowan was at bat first. One was scored on four walks. We were off to a bad start, which proved fatal to us in the end. Klemme came to bat. Bacon led and got on by an error. Dulmes walked, Barz flew out, Haefner struck out, Thiemann on by an error. Terhufen was hit which brought in a score, Neuberger struck out retiring the side. Score was tied up at the 1st.

The second inning both held. Both teams were retired in order.

Third inning: Rowan scored one run. Klemme was again retired in order. This put Rowan in the lead 2-1.

Fourth: Rowan scored again on a walk, 2 passed balls and a double. Klemme was again retired in order, leaving the score 3-1.

In the fifth both teams were stopped short.

In the sixth Klemme held Rowan, but Haefner for Klemme singled, but this still wasn't enough to ignite a spark in Klemme's team.

The seventh, Rowan scored, but from then we held. Klemme came up. Michelson got on by an error, Jacobs doubled. An error was committed by Rowan, scoring a run for us. But this too wasn't enough. We were retired. The final score was Rowan 4, Klemme 2.

Hairpins & Tennis Shoes

Because of the rainy weather, we have been playing in the gymnasium. The students of the fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth grades have been playing human obstacle relay, hand hockey, and softball this week. The high school girls have been playing hand hockey and inside softball. The rules of inside softball are somewhat different than regular softball, for a soccer ball is used instead of a softball. This soccer ball is kicked with the feet instead of hit with a bat. Another rule is that the ball must be first thrown to first base, then to second base, third and home base. If the ball reaches the base before the player, the player is automatically out. There can be more than three outs as each player has a chance to bat. When each player has batted, the side goes out into the field, and the other side has a chance to bat and score.

When the weather cleared up, we went outside to learn more about how to play softball—to catch, throw and bat.

Plans are being made for tournaments between classes in basketball, volleyball, and softball to find the class champion.

Perhaps I forgot to mention last week that we have physical education only twice a week, but we learn many things and have fun during these two periods.

Notes About Notes

The Girls' High School Chorus is enthusiastically working with favorite songs like "With a Song in My Heart" and "Praise Ye The Father". We enjoy chorus very much and regret we can meet only one day each week. Those wanting to do solo work are now trying out.

The band has been practicing "Norwegian Folk Song" and a popular theme song "Dragnet".

One ensemble group has been planned. Those in that group are Cecil and Jo Anne Jacobs, LaVurne and LaVohn Josten, Val Stromer, Arthur Carlson, Chuck Bacon, Rosalie Rosendahl, Candice Carlson, and Carrol Priebe.

Inside K. H. S.

Bookkeeping keeps us pretty busy in proving our cash and in balancing our trial balance sheets.

Understanding the "Constitution of the United State" helps us students in American history to be law-abiding citizens.

In shorthand we are learning the brief forms of long words and phrases, such as words beginning with "de", " dis", and "mis", or words ending with "ure", and "tual". We learn something new each day!

Memo to the Mortorists

As of 9-22-'54, no noon driving was established in K. H. S. And whether you're for or against does matter—not only to the authorities, to the pedestrians, but to you.

In opposition, you advocate that your auto saves you time going from and to school in the short noon recess. But remember, precious time saved will not compensate for a precious life lost. This will not only be the pedestrian's, but yours as well. For the grief and guilt you would bear would wreck your life, too.

Now you may contend that you're not a reckless driver. You don't go fast and you don't cut corners. Still, you're not a perfect driver; no one is. Neither is your reaction or stopping time quick enough to avert an accident. So remember, we protect wild life; so why not child life? Give the kids a brake!

Freshman News

In science we have been studying about the different kinds of pumps, air and water pressure. We have had a few experiments in science about pressure.

From science we all go to study hall.

Our next class is math. In math we are reviewing on addition, subtraction, multiplication, divisions and fractions.

From math we have study hall in which either the boys or girls have P. T.

In the afternoon the girls have home ec in which we have been studying home furnishings and are now starting cooking. The boys have shop in which they are drawing outlines of their projects.

We then have English or literature. We have been reading stories in literature and working in our workbooks.

We then have study hall in which you can go to the library or do your assignments.

I've Got a Secret

I hear JoEllen C. has someone new on the string now. We wonder who.

It seems that every time Miss Peterson walks to school we hear whistles from the boys.

Someone said Marlene W. is going with Gene W. Is this really true?

Does anyone know who the two people are who sit in study hall making eyes at each other? They are none other than Shirley Barz and Gary Day.

I suggest that all Klemme High School students work harder so they can all make A's.

I also suggest that the senior girls be more quiet in study hall.

Ell Tip Toppers Divided Now Have Two Clubs

The Ell Tip Toppers met at the August Josten school house with their mothers present on September 18.

Gracka Gerardi called the meeting to order. Roll call was answered by twenty-four members with nineteen mothers and ten visitors present.

Doreen Lackore presented a bill of $1.31 to the club; it was voted to be paid.

We received an invitation to a wiener roast and skating party at Clarion. The party will be held at the place where the Liberty's Club held their first 4-H meeting.

It was suggested that due to a great number of members the club should be divided. The mothers and Elsie Mae VanWert discussed dividing the club. Doreen Lackore made the motion that the club be divided on a probation basis for a year. The club passed this motion.

The clubs were named the South Ell Tip Toppers and the North Ell Tip Toppers. The new clubs went into separate rooms and decided who their new leaders would be.

The leaders of the South Ell Tip Toppers are Mrs Walter Rosendahl and Mrs John Waddingham. The officers are as follows:

President, Margaret Haefner; vice president, Rosalie Rosendahl; secretary, Eva Thiemann; treasurer, Virginia Kudje; historian, Jane Renner; reporter, Myrna Barz; and photographers, Melva and Maurine Johnson.

The leaders of the North Ell Tip Toppers are Mrs Gordon Schubert and Miss Ruby Schram. The officers are as follows:

President, Carol Humphrey; vice president, Joyce Thiemann; secretary, Delores Grieman; treasurer, Virginia Schubert; reporter, LaVohn Josten; nad photographer, Lois Weiland.

Miss Elsie Mae VanWert explained the record books to the mothers and girls.

Lunch was served by the lunch committee.

The South Ell Tip Toppers are to meet October 16, at 2:00, at the home of Ellen Waddingham.

Sale of Christmas Seals Begins Nov. 22

Mrs Gaylen Haes was announced as County Christmas Seal Sale chairman by Mrs Ernest Lewis, president of the Hancock County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

The Christmas Seal Sale begins Monday, November 22, extending through Christmas.

"With the 1954 Christmas Seal Sale," Mrs Lewis said, "the TB association observes two Golden Anniversaries: It was in 1904 that the first Christmas Seal to help fight TB was sold in Denmark; in 1904 the National Tuberculosis Association was formed to work for the control of TB in the United States."

The Christmas Seal which the local tuberculosis association will mail to home and offices in Hancock county has a row of happy children dancing across its face. Those who buy this Christmas Seal, each of which bears the red Double Barred Cross, registered symbol of this world wide fight against TB, are contributing to a local and state wide health program conducted by people of this community.

"Since its first use in Denmark," the organization's officer said, "the Christmas Seal has been the principal source of funds to support the TB associations which have done so much to lower the death rate and bring about a degree of effectiveness of tuberculosis control.

In Iowa during the last five years, the Christmas Seal Sale has also supported the local, state and national activities of the heart association. Here is this state, each county TB association is affiliated with the Iowa Heart Association, paying a portion of its Christmas Seal income to support that health agency. Mrs Lewis said Christmas Seal funds are spent in this community for case-finding, health education, and community services, and contribute to the state and national program of research and health legislation.

Marolee Neuberger had birthdays just before school started so they each brought us birthday treats.

We're busy learning to read, write, count, learn sounds, and to learn to color and draw nicer.

Third Grade News

School days are here again. Everyone enjoyed being back with their old friends although everyone seemed to have had a very nice summer vacation.

We have 27 in our grade this year. There are 14 boys and 13 girls. We have a boy new to our grade this year. We are very happy to have Dennis Schoenwetter with us.

There have been several birthdays lately. We hope Joyce Bock, Leslie Christians, and Carolyn Paulsen had nice birthdays. We want to thank them for their treats.

Also we have had visitors. We hope Mrs Christians and Mrs Bock will join us again someday, and we would enjoy having many other visitors.

Fourth Grade News

School opened with twenty-seven pupils in our room. We have three new people this year. They are Janice Blank, David and Linda Abele. Julie Stokesbary, Harlan Langlitz, Dean Burk, Charles Clayton, and Linda Jernegan have all treated the class for their birthdays.

Those who have returned signed dental cards are Linda Jernegan, Nancy Guth, Earl Lemke, Lois Block and Vernon Jurgemeyer.

Jokes

Two taxis ran into each other and the first driver got out and yelled at the other "Whatsa matter; ya blind or something?" The other replied "I hit ya didn't I?"

Scrib: "What would the little chicks say if their mother laid an orange?"

Dip: "I don't know. What?"

Scrib: "Look at the orange mama laid (marmalade)."

David: "What is the difference between a hill and a pill?"

Curaiss: "I don't know."

David: "One is hard to get up and the other one is hard to get down".

To Observe Special Day At Methodist Church

World-Wide Communion Sunday will be observed during the worship hour. A special offering will be received for the Fellowship of Suffering and Service. The last General Conference has directed that one-half of this offering go to the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief, one-fourth to the Methodist Commission on Chaplains, and one-fourth to the Methodist Commission on Camp Activities.

MCOR continues to bring much needed emergency aid to the victims of war and disaster in Korea, India and many other countries. The other two agencies have an ever increasing responsibility in guiding the spiritual life of hundreds of thousands of our young men and women who are serving in the Armed Forces of our country. Most of us will agree that these three worthy causes call for our whole-hearted support and a generous offering.

Don't Scrub Your Floors Away—

Use Proper Care for Floor Coverings

Careful waxing after a good scrubbing reduces the number of thorough cleanings necessary each year for smooth-surface floor coverings.

More floors are worn away by scrubbing than by traffic, according to June Brown, Iowa State College extension home furnishings specialist.

Chances are you have a smooth-surface floor covering, such as inlaid linoleum, painted felt base, asphalt rubber or plastic, in your home. Here's how you should care for them:

Daily Care

Dust your floors frequently, wipe up spills immediately, and freshen constantly used floors with a mop wrung out in cool, clear water. Follow these suggestions and you won't have to do a complete scrubbing and waxing job so often.

To dust your floors, Mrs Brown suggests using the brush attachment of your vacuum cleaner, a soft-bristled broom, or a clean dust mop free of oil or furniture polish. Oil, solvents or grease soften asphalt and rubber tile. Some colors even bleed and run if an oil-treated mop or cloth is used for dusting.

Occasional Washing

When the floor gets really dirty, then's the time to mop or wash with a solution that will dissolve the wax and dirt.

Cleaning compounds containing strong alkalies harm smooth-surface floor coverings when used frequently and not removed by a thorough rinsing. Liquid floor cleaners are recommended by most manufacturers and are available under many brand names. Follow directions and the cleaner will remove wax and soil but will not harm the covering. You can use a light suds or mild soap or mild detergent on some floors.

Inlaid linoleum — Syndets are usually not recommended so if you don't have the manufacturer's directions, play safe: omit syndets and use either a solution of linoleum cleaner or mild soap.

Painted felt base — Never use scouring powders or harsh soaps. Mild soaps or syndets or a solution of a good floor cleaner can be used.

Rubber tile — Soap and syndets usually are not satisfactory Use a solution of liquid cleaner recommended by the manufacturer.

Asphalt tile — Strong alkalies and solvents such as turpentine or gasoline harm it. Get a "care" booklet from your dealer.

Plastic — Use clear water for solutions not strongly alkaline. (Soap powders or syndets recommended for hand laundry are usually mild.)

Rinsing Is Necessary

Whatever cleaning solution you use, thorough rinsing is necessary after washing any smooth-surface floor covering, Mrs Brown says.

A carefully rinsed floor stays clean longer than one on which some of the cleaner remains; the covering will last longer. A cleaner strong enough to remove dirt embedded on the surface or in the wax contains some alkali. The alkali becomes concentrated as the floor dries. When wax is applied on the invisible alkali, trouble starts. The wax won't harden, and the alkali combines with the wax to form a gummy, sticky coating that attracts and holds dirt.

Wax Floors

Most manufacturers recommend waxing smooth-surface floor coverings, Mrs Brown says. Waxed floors look better and wear longer. Wax protects them against scratches, stains and moisture.

The right kind of wax, applied according to directions on the container, will reduce the number of thorough cleanings necessary each year.

Two basic kinds of wax are polishing (liquid or paste) and self-polishing (liquid). The solvent base of polishing wax makes it unsatisfactory for use on asphalt or rubber tile; however it is recommended for inlaid linoleum, painted felt base and plastic. Self-polishing wax is unreservedly recommended for asphalt and rubber tile floors.

TWO NOSES

At Maquoketa, a black Angus calf on the Glenn Luskey farm has two well developed noses, and a part of a third. Otherwise it's quite normal.

the Highway Story

By Bob Hullihan

Apparently it wasn't an easy question to answer. The highway patrolman thought back carefully over his ten years on the force; ten years of "beating" the highways, as they say.

He had been asked what single highway incident of those years still remained clearest in his mind. From one of his experiences you might have expected a quick answer in the story of some particularly brutal accident one of those tragic smashes in which five or six persons died together.

"No, it isn't that easy," the patrolman said. "You cover a fatal accident and think you'll never forget it and then there are so many more over the years that you can't remember them all.

I suppose the thing I remember best is something a driver said to me years ago. I covered the accident he caused. Two cars were pretty well smashed and a young woman was injured.

After we got things cleared away I gave this driver a ride to the next town. He had made the mistake that caused the accident and he knew it. During the ride back he said just one thing:

'If I could only drive that last quarter mile over again that accident would never have happened'."

That regretful little remark is the one best remembered by a highway patrolman who has seen more than his share of death, damage and violation on the highways.

Why does it stick in his mind? Probably because it illustrates so well that the traffic accident is created by the driver. In the time it takes to cover a quarter mile — perhaps 15 seconds — he makes a mistake he can never correct.

"If I could only drive that last quarter mile over again—"

FIVE YEARS

In the Edward Haskell family of Massena, there's just five years difference in the ages of members of the family. Mr Haskell is five years older than his wife. Then, their oldest child Marilyn is 25; Edward is 20, Gene is 15, Joan is 10, and Susan, five.

Blanks Will Be Mailed Soon for Big Farm Census

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Within the next few weeks Iowa Farmers will find in their mail boxes copies of the detailed questionaire through which the C. S. Census Bureau will bring its information about agriculture in the Hawkeye state up to date.

There are approximately 100 questions to be answered and those in charge of the census hope that farmers will be ready with most of the data requested before the enumerators start knocking on their doors November 6.

They will have close to a month to get ready. In addition to the usual questions about family names, ages, sex, etc., farm operators and tenants will be expected to provide accurate reports on:

The size of their acreages and their crop outputs; details on livestock production, payments for labor, machinery, feed and similiar items; inventories on equipment and facilities, including trucks, tractors, animals, television sets, radios and whatnot.

The enumerators also want to know about the value of each farm and the amount of any mortgages against it.

This information, gathered by the Census Bureau once every five years, is strictly confidential and is to be used for statistical purposes only.

DOG FIGHT

The Jim Marshall family of Cairo had quite a dog fight on their hands last week. They had just stopped the family car near Cairo to let their dog get in. As the family dog came in one door, a neighbor dog came in the opposite door and they staged a battle royal, with Mrs Marshall in the middle. Both she and her husband were bitten.

Auditor Reports On Exemption Increases

Hancock County Auditor Maynard Schoneman reports that military service credit will be extended on property valued at $560,004 in 1954 as compared with $557,706 in 1953. Homestead Tax Credit applications filed this year total $5,714,326 as compared with $5,696,624 in 1953. Both reports have been forwarded to the State Tax Commission by Auditor Schoneman.

Claims for Agricultural Land Credit in 1954 totaled $107,772.12 and Auditor Schoneman has been notified by State Tax Commission officials that these claims were prorated and allowed in the sum of $52,374.12, which is 48.5980931% of the amount claimed. Agricultural land credit will be credited on the current tax list by Auditor Schoneman.

with the Iowa Heart association, since they obtain contributions by mail and by sending out seals, and the same applied to the Iowa Crippled Children's organization, which sends out Easter seals, and, therefore, these organizations are not included in the Community Chest.

The board of directors have approved two solicitation cards, one applying to the town of Garner only, in which ten organizations are included, and one card applying to the rest of the area in the East Hancock Community Chest, with eight organizations included. Two organizations, the North Iowa Council of Girl Scouts of America and the Garner Recreational club, are obtaining all of their funds from solicitation in the town of Garner, and the eight other organization included in the Community Chest will obtain their contributions from solicitation in the whole area, including the town of Garner. These cards are made so that every individual, if he so desires, may contribute to the organizations of his choice, or if no choice is made allocation of the funds contributed will be made by the board of directors, in accordance with the amount allocated to each organization by the board of directors.

The board of directors adopted a budget of $14,000.00 for the period ending December 31, 1955, and for which a campaign for funds will be made in October of this year, and from this budget of $14,000.00, in addition to paying the amount allocated to the ten organizations included, the board of directors want to set up a small reserve, so that in case of any emergency the Community Chest's board of directors could allocate funds for relief, rather than resorting to the usual manner of individual solicitation. It also was necessary to allocate a small amount for administrative purposes.

The campaign committee of the Community Chest is headed by co-chairmen Ben V. Greiman of Liberty township, and W. L. Baggs of Garner, and they are at present meeting with the township and town chairmen and captains, who have been selected to carry on the campaign for funds.

Each township is divided into nine sub-districts, each sub-district including the area included in what was or is a school sub-district, and each town has been divided into blocks, and solicitation in areas such as these will be carried on by the various captains selected by the campaign committee.

The campaign for funds will be carried on between October 11 and 24 of this year, and the funds received will be paid over to most of the organizations included in the Chest sometime after January 1, 1955.

Each captain soliciting will have a card for each family in his particular area, and this card may be used as a pledge card, if full payment cannot be made of the amount to be contributed, and a person pledging may make his contributions in quarterly payments, or as he may otherwise agree with the solicitor. It is expected that many people who are on salaries will prefer to contribute towards the Chest on a quarterly basis.

It is not the purpose of the Community Chest to attempt to minimize giving to those worthy organizations included in the Chest, but it is the purpose of the Chest to encourage giving to legitimate organizations and agencies through a united effort. Each organization in the Chest has been thoroughly investigated and by contributing to the Community Chest one can be assured that his money will go to some worthy organization or agency.

The East Hancock Community Chest will have a red feather insigna as it is one of the Chests included in the National organization.

It is hoped by all the members of the board of directors and by all those serving on the various committees of the Community Chest that all of the people included in the area served by the East Hancock Community Chest will contribute liberally, in order that this Chest may be a success.

It is suggested that if one will check his income tax returns for last year, listing his contributions, and in addition thereto add to this amount a sum of money which he can afford to give, this will insure the success of the Community Chest.

It is expected that this Community Chest will save a considerable amount of time and travel expense each year for many people in the East part of Hancock county, since there will be one drive for funds instead of eight, and in the town of Garner there will be one drive instead of ten, and each family could easily add $10.00 to the amount shown to have been given to these various organizations on their last year's income tax returns.

All amounts contributed to the Community Chest are deductible on your income tax returns.

When someone from your community or someone in your town calls upon you for your contribution to the Community Chest, treat him as a welcome visitor, as he is a representative of an organization of which you are a part, which organization is worthy, in that it seeks to cause your contributions to go to worthy organizations, with the least effort, loss of time, and travel expense.

When you contribute to the Community Chest, contribute generously to insure its success.

This, the first year of the Community Chest in east Hancock county must be a success in order to insure the continuation of the East Hancock Community Chest.

Notice To Taxpayers!

Emergency Polio Drive Nets $2,455.99 In County

The Polio Emergency drive in Hancock County has been very lucky in obtaining the assistance of such good workers in an emergency drive.

We want to thank all the contributors, and the workers who gave good public information on the need of the drive which has enabled them to collect $2455.99.

If there are any desiring to make a donation, send it direct to the county chairman. Joe Osman, Britt. Iowa. Do it now, as we want to make our report next week to the State Chairman. John McCarthy, Des Moines.

W. Schubert Service Was Held Monday

Funeral services for Wilhelm Schubert, 69, who died Thursday, were held Monday at 2 P. M. at St. James Lutheran Church in Mason City, with the Rev. Eric A. Biedermann officating. Burial was at Memorial Park Cemetery.

Mr Schubert was born at Elk Creek, Nebraska, September 15, 1884. When he was 7 years of age the family moved to Iowa and settled on a farm northeast of Britt.

On October 8, 1914, he was married to Dorthea Lau at Klemme. They lived on the parental Schubert farm near Britt 27 years where he engaged in farming and dealing in machinery.

In the fall of 1941, they moved to a farm northeast of Mason City, then to a farm near Rockford and later retired in 1948, when they moved to Mason City.

Surviving are his wife, four sons, Herbert, Garner; Ewald, Dubuque; Walter, Kanawha, and Wilbert, Rockford; three daughters, Mrs Howard (Alida) Baack, Mason City; Mrs Louis (Norma) Navratil and Lena Tibbets, Mason City and a sister, Emilie Vescelius, Britt. He was preceded in death by his parents and two brothers.

Services for Mrs. Lydia Hartzell Held at Britt

Funeral services were conducted Thursday, September 23, in the Chapel of the Western Old People's Home in Cedar Falls at 9:00 A. M. or Mrs Lydia Hartzell, 92, formerly a resident of Britt, Iowa. Mrs Hartzell died on Monday, September 20, in the Western Old People's Home. She had been a resident of the home since January 1, 1949. Prior to that time she had made her home with her children.

Rev. J. I LeFavre, pastor of the Evangelical United Brethren Church of Cedar Falls, of which she was a member, conducted the services in the home chapel.

Following this service the remains were brought to Britt, where services were held in the Methodist Church with Rev. W. B. Tarr, Supt. of the Western Old People's Home at Cedar Falls in charge assisted by Rev. R. M. Bell, local pastor.

Mrs. Hartzell was born in Lyons, New York, June 13, 1862, the daughter of Wm. and Wilhelmina Puls. At the age of 17, she came to Cedar Falls, Iowa with her parents where she grew to womanhood.

She married George W. Hartzell in 1881. They lived in Cedar Falls until 1898, when they moved to Hancock County living on farms near Britt and later moving to town. Her husband passed away in 1913.

She is survived by eight children, four sons and four daughters: Ben of Dows, Iowa; Clarence of Britt; George of Des Moines; and Harry of Chicago; Grace, Mrs J. D. Bailey of Cedar Falls; Mina, Mrs R. C. Ludeke of Clear Lake; Helen, Mrs L C Stille of Klemme; and Gladys Mrs Charles Van Zanten of Shelby, Michigan.

Besides her children, she is survived by twenty-seven grand children and many great grand children and great great grand chilren, also three sisters and one brother.

Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery beside her husband who passed away so long before.

Ronald Barz Graduates Radio and TV School

Ronald A. Barz of Klemme has been awarded a diploma for successful completion of a 36 week residential training program in Television and Radio Servicing tute, affiliated with DeForest's Training, Inc., 4141 Belmont Avenue, Chicago, one of the largest and best equipped training organizations of its kind in the country.

Ronald, a veteran of World War II served in the Navy. His service took him to the Pacific theater of war.

Commenting on Ronald's graduation, J. J. Gershon, Director of the DeVRY Technical Institute resident school, said, "I offer my congratulations to this man on completion of his training for a start in one of today's out standing opportunity fields—Television, Radio and Electronics.

Rust Singers To Be At Methodist Church

The Rust College Singer, of Holly Springs, Mississippi, will appear in a program of Spirituals, Semi, Classical and Specialties, this coming Monday evening, October 11, at 8 o'clock, at the Klemme Methodist Church. They come highly recommended, and promise to bring a real musical treat.

The public is cordially invited.

Farewell Party For Hummels

The 50-50 class of the Klemme Methodist Church is giving a farewell party for Mr and Mrs Dwight Hummel at the church at eight o'clock Friday evening, October 8th.

The entire congregation of the church is invited to attend. Those who come are asked to bring either cake, cookies, or doughnuts.

Cub Scouts See Fishing And Hunting Movies

The Cub Scout Pack meeting was held in the Grade School basement the evening of Oct. 1 at 8 p. m.

The theme for September was "Gold Rush"

The meeting was opened with Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag by the group the three Lion Cub Scouts being Flag Bearers.

This was followed by Den I showing their costumes and things they made to go with the Gold Rush theme. They also made a model town with stores, stage coach, etc . . . as well as the big covered wagon drawn by four horses.

Then Den II showed their things for the month. They painted stones with gold paint to represent gold nuggets, made a scale to weigh the gold, and even had a horse which was entirely made by two scouts.

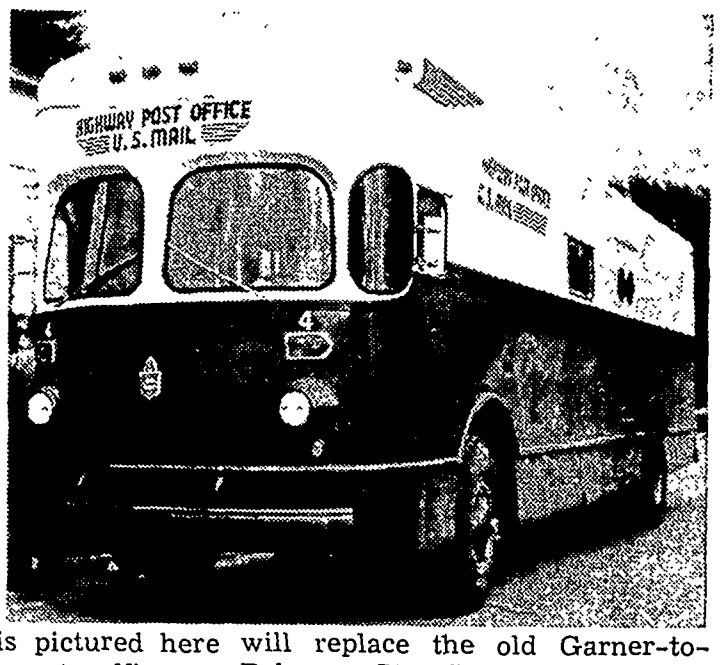
Herb Greimann and son, Junior, showed us some pictures they took of an elk hunt, and another film on shooting fish with bow and arrow. Everyone enjoyed the pictures very much.

The following awards were given the boys:

Glen Alden, Bobcat pin; Merlin Bachman, Bobcat pin; Jerry Clements, Wolf badge; Collyn Bridges, Bear badge; Jimmy Bock, two silver arrow points; Bruce Waddingham, two silver arrow points, Jim Clements, one silver arrow point.

Jimmy Bock and James Christians demonstrated how to fold the American flag.

"Hypo" for Mail Service in Klemme



Last Thursday was the inaugural run for the new Highway Post Office which operates daily between Tama, Iowa and Albert Lea, Minn. Civic leaders, post masters, and school bands greeted the arrival of the "Hypo" in towns along its route, and Klemme was no exception.

The new Highway Post Office is pictured here in front of the post office in Klemme as it stopped briefly for short welcoming ceremonies last Thusrday. S W Griffin, assistant district superintendent, P. T. S. of Des Moines acted as Master of Ceremonies and introduced Hon. Benjamin Adams, administrative assistant and editor, Washington D. C. Post Haste, who gave a short talk extolling the virtues of the Highway Post Office.

Post master Franklin Kluckhohn gave a brief welcoming talk as did Mayor Cook and president of the Commercial Club, Don Bacon. Kluckhohn and post master M. L. Swaney of Garner accompanied the "Hypo" to Belmond where they took part in the ceremonies.

This new service will bring mail to Klemme twice daily and will replace the old Garner-to-Belmond Star Route. It will improve mail service from some points and in addition—through interconnecting Star Routes and trains—will bring us mail from both the north and the south twice daily. It will arrive in Klemme from the south each morning at 8:48 enroute to Albert Lea, and will be back at 4:34 each afternoon enroute to Tama. Star Routes from Mason City to Algona and from Mason City to Belmond will make possible the delivery of mail from both the north and the south twice daily.

About the only place south of Klemme from which mail will not come twice a day is Goodell. It is north of the Star Route terminal point at Belmond and northbound mail from there will reach here only once a day—on the morning run.

2nd Annual Lions Varieties Drew Large Crowd

The gymnasium at the high school was filled to capacity last Wednesday evening as people turned out to see the 2nd annual Lions Varieties. Some 450 people came to enjoy the show and they weren't disappointed as was indicated by the laughter.

Proceeds of the show went partly to the Klemme Music Mothers and partly to the Legion Auxiliary, with the share retained by the Lions Club to be used for playground facilities in the city park. It was hoped that something could be done in the way of playground equipment for the park the past summer, but the club's bank account just wasn't big enough. However, the next summer should see some action.

Lion President Robert Andreae would like to thank everyone in behalf of the club for the fine way in which they turned out and supported this second annual show.

Construction Company Begins Work on Elevator

The T. E. Ibberson Co. of Minneapolis is this week begining work on the new $135,000 concrete elevator for the Klemme Cooperative Grain Co.

They are clearing the site and getting ready to pour a huge concrete slab on which the bins will rest. The slab will be steel reinforced and will be two feet thick. It will extend beyond the sides of the building for approximately six feet.

Getting this slab poured this fall will enable the construction company to go right to work in the spring with pouring the cement for the building.

Annis-Meyer Wedding Is Held In Klemme Church

Mr and Mrs Raymond Annis are making their home in Troy Center, Wis., following a wedding trip. Their marriage took place in the Klemme Evangelical Reformed church where the Rev Vernon E. Jaberg performed the ceremony.

The bride who was Dorothy Meyers, daughter of Mr and Mrs Eric Meyers, was attended by her sister, Mrs Frank Hougland, matron of honor and Beverly Loeft of Mason City, bridesmaid. Her father gave her in marriage. Sue Hougland and Bonnie Schleiger were flowergirls.

Robert Welsh of Troy Center was bestman and ushers were Leo Bonkalla of East Troy, Frank Hougland and Ronald Brinkman, brother-in laws of the bride.

Candle lighters were cousins of the bride, Shirey Melyer and Diana Christensen. Allen Barz sang with Mrs E. A. Gerardi as accompanist.

A reception was held in the church following the ceremony.

W.S.C.S. To Hold Turkey Supper

The ladies of the W. S. C. S. of the Klemme Methodist Church are putting on a turkey supper starting at five o'clock next Wednesday evening. Tickets are on sale now. You can get yours from any member of the W. S. C. S. at $1.25 for adults and 60 cents for children.

If past suppers that the ladies have served are any indication, you won't want to miss this one. The food is always delicious and there is always lots of it.

Marriage Licenses

Hancock County Clerk Doris Young issued a marriage license the past week to Valere H. Nelson, 25, Forest City, and Elaine S. Neuberger, 19, Klemme.

Choice of Three Brucellosis Plans

All Three Will Meet State Market Milk Law

Three approved plans for brucelosis control and eradication are available to farmers who are preparing this fall to meet the state market milk law requirement which goes into effect January 1, 1955.

Dr. John B. Herrick, extension veterinarian at Iowa State College, says Plan A provides for annual tests of all cattle more than 8 months of age, except steers and official calf-hood-vaccinates within 36 months following the date of vaccination. Under this plan all reactors are slaughtered, with indemnity payments provided by state and federal regulations. All reactors are to be hot-iron branded on the left jaw with a letter "B" when the test is completed. Official calfhood vaccination is optional with the herd owner under this plan.

Annual Tests

Plan B provides for annual tests of all cattle more than 8 months of age, except steers and official calfhood-vaccinates within 36 months following the date of vaccination. All reactors are to be identified by a hot-iron brand as in Plan A, and with an ear tag, and quarantined on the farm. The owner may at his option retain such animals for breeding purposes in accordance with regulations of the State Department of Agriculture If a calfhood-vaccinate reacts, it may be quarantined on the farm and retested within 60 days. All female calves must be officially calfhood vaccinated between the ages of 4 and 8 months.

Plan C provides for official vaccination of all female calves between the ages of 4 and 8 months. The herd must be composed entirely of official vaccinates.

Milk, Blood Tests

A herd may be certified brucellosis-free after a minimum of three negative milk tests conducted not less than 90 days apart and followed by a clean blood test.

All cattle which react to an agglutination test for brucellosis must be permanently branded with a hot iron on the left jaw with a letter "B" and must also be tagged in the left ear with a reactor identification tag. The reactors must be kept in quarantine on the owner's farm until sent to slaughter. This requirement does not apply to official calfhood-vaccinates, which may be quarantined without branding and retested later.

Fall-applied Phosphate Problems Solved With Aid of Research

Chances are that Hancock County farmers will be hearing more about fall applications of fertilizer. When considering the possibility of fall-applied phosphate, they'll be able to lean on findings from Iowa State College research, says Paul Henderson, Hancock County Extension Director.

The advantage seems to be with the fall-applied phosphate especially in the fall-plowing areas. Extensive field trials showed that fall plowing under of superphosphate was often superior to spring disked-in applications in raising corn yields.

Most of the advantage of the fall plow-under phosphate appears to be due to its deeper placement in the soil. Since phosphate moves very little with water, the plow-under application is in moist soil while disk-in phosphate often lies in dry surface soil in July and August—right when the needs are highest. The advantage of the deeper placement is even greater in dry seasons and dry areas. In addition, plowing under gives some baning effect which may result in less phosphate fixation than the disked-in application.

The studies were conducted by three Iowa State College agronomists: Lloyd Dumneil, H. R. Meldrum and John Pesek. And the tests were conducted in the cheif fall-plowing areas of the state—the Galva, Primghar and Marcus soils in northwest Iowa; the Clarion and Nicollet soils in central Iowa; Tams soil in east-central Iowa; and the Carrington and Floyd soils in southeast Iowa.

Corn yields were consistently higher with the fall-plowed-under applications in all 1952 trials. They ranged from 4 to 12 bushels over the yields obtained from the spring disked-in applications.

Yields were generally better in 1953 tests also, although the difference was not so great.

The research men pointed out that different methods of application were involved. But these are the practical times and methods for fall plowing areas. Since few farmers have deep-placement equipment or spring application, they have two choices. First, they may get deep placement by fall plow-under applications. Or, second, they may settle for shallow placement by broadcasting in the spring, and disking in the phosphate on fall-plowed ground.

Three Mistakes Often Made in Fall Lawn Work

An Iowa State College horticulturist points to three mistakes which homeowners often make in their fall lawn work.

The first mistake, according to Ed Cott, is a thorough "combing" of the lawn in raking fallen leaves. It's only necessary, he says, to rake off the excess leaves.

When you comb the grass, you take out the dead grass which provides the lawn with much of its organic matter.

Cott says the dry leaves may be taken care of with a rotary lawn mower or leaf pulverizer—unless the covering is heavy enough to cause smothering. Then wet leaves will have to be taken up with a lawn broom. The new lawn sweepers are satisfactory, too.

Of course, lawn brooms and rakes will do a good job—if they're not used too vigorously.

The second major mistake is burning the leaves. When you touch a match to a pile of leaves, a lot of valuable organic matter goes up in smoke.

Leaves can be composted, or they can be used with commercial fertilizer on the vegetable garden as a good substitute for manure.

Also fallen leaves may be used as a winter mulch on strawberries. Usually, leaves will become matted after they're soaked with rain, thus smothering the strawberry plants.

Mistake No. 3 is to let the lawn grass go into winter with 5 to 6 inches of growth. Cott advises mowing at regular intervals—at a height of 1½ to 2 inches—until frost stops growth.

Call The Dogs! 'Coon Season

Dark fields and river valleys will ring with the voices of coon hounds the night of October 10, when the 1954 Iowa raccoon hunting season gets underway.

Only the raccoon hunting season has been set, to extend from October 10 through February 10. 'Coon hunting will also be permitted during the trapping season for raccoon, but the raccoon trapping season has not yet been set.

The entire state will be open to raccoon hunting, with no bag or possession limit. The animals may be taken by any lawful hunting method.

Raccoons are almost always hunted with dogs, usually along river valleys, and nearby fields at night. In an old, purely American sport, many veteran 'coon hunters follow their dogs most of the night, claiming that they would rather hunt than sleep.

Fox Trapping School October 13, 1954

Fox trapping school to be held on Nels Jenson farm directly west of Eagle Lake on October 13th, at 9:00 A. M. Different methods of trapping, and locations of sets are to be demonstated for the benefit of farmers who are suffering damage from fox and other predatory animals. All farmers are urged to attend according to Bill Ayers, Game Conservationist.

A hot month calls for hotter salesmanship.

I Ask You Now

As we are entering the third week of writing our paper, we thought it would be a good idea to get some opinions on how to improve it.

Roger B.: More gossip, but not about me.

Marvin M.: Less gossip and more jokes.

Pete H.: No improvement is needed.

Karen C.: Take it out of the Klemme Times and have one of our own.

Leila A.: I like it as it is.

Notes About Notes

Mixed Chorus met for the first time on last Friday and this Wednesday. We had a nice turn out. We sang "I Love Paris" and "We Thank Thee, Lord". We also sang the religious classic, "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You", which was composed by Meredith Wilson, a native Iowan.

P. S. Don't forget the Fall Festival which is coming up.

Freshman News

In science class we have been studying sound, fire, air and living things. This week we looked through a microscope at blood and different cells.

In math we have been having addition, subtraction and pultiplication of fractions. We have been trying to get a goal so that no one gets over three errors.

One study hall each day is devoted to either boys or girls P. T.

In Home Economics the girls are studying the proteins, carbohydrates, etc. The boys in shop are working on their projects.

In ltierature we are still reading storiesand discussing the questions at the end of the stories.

Then comes our last study hall in which we can do our home work or else go to the library.

Sixth Grade News

We have two new pupils starting band lessons. They are Ellen Waddingham and Robert Abele.

We received sixteen new library books and a dictionary for our room. The library books have already been checked out and have been found very interesting. On a chart we are keeping a record of all the books we have read.

We are happy to have a new girl enroll in our room. She is Charlotte Peters from Des Moines.

Dental cards have been sent home so we will try to have them back as soon as possible.

In art we colored a picture of a potted plant on graph paper. Most of them turned out very well.

Jokes

Dad: Some money is gone from my billfold. That son of ours must have taken it.

Mom: You shouldn't accuse him without evidence. For all you know, I might have taken it myself.

Dad: No, I know you didn't take it. There's some left.

First Banker: So you're looking for a cashier. I thought you hired one only last week?

Second Banker: I did. He's the one we're looking for.

Ben: I just swatted five flies —two males and three females.

Nan: How can you tell?

Ben: Two were on the card table and three were on the mirror.

Off The Bat

September 26 Klemme met Crystal Lake on our home diamond.

Crystal Lake was held down by Klemme's pitching in the first inning.

Klemme, at bat, made first two outs with their lead off men. Bacon flew out to left; Dulmes struck out. Barz started it off by singling to short center. Haefner was hit by a wild pitch. Thiemann knocked out a long double down the left line, which scored Barz and Haefner.

The second inning. Crystal Lake was again held by Thiemann's pitching, retiring them in order.

Klemme got only one hit in that inning, a hit by Neuberger. But he was unable to score and died on base.

The third inning Crystal Lake came back. They tied the score, scoring two runs on two errors, a walk and a hit. Klemme was retired in order.

The fourth inning Crystal Lake was held. Klemme started again after Thiemann grounded out. Terhufen got on by an error; Neuberger knocked out a double to left, placing Terhufen and himself in scoring position. The two scored on passed ball. The score—Klemme 4, Crystal Lake 2.

Crystal Lake kept the fight up. They scored one in the top of the fifth by a double on which the runner scored on errors committed by Klemme. From this part in the ball game, Crystal Lake held Klemme scoreless till the end. Crystal Lake scored one run in the seventh to tie the game 5-5.

This held until the top of the ninth when Crystal Lake scored three runs. Klemme was unable to come back. The game finished —Crystal Lake 7, Klemme 4.

Sophomore News

This news will be more of a summary of what we have been doing the first month of school. than it will be a specified account of the news.

In algebra we have mostly been reviewing what we had last year in equations, and we are just starting signed numbers.

World history is a new subject for us this year, and we find it very interesting. We have studied prehistoric man, the Egyptian civilzation, the Greek civilization and are just finishing a study of the Roman Empire.

In English, except for the past week or so, we have been studying different types of literature and writing themes. We tried to summarize a whole story in twenty-five words or less which proved to be more difficult than it would seem at first thought.

Biology is another new subject to us and is also quite interesting We've studied the structures of different plants, and now we are studying some of the simpler animals such as the amoeba, paramecium, sponge, hyrda, etc.

Another brand new subject on our curriculum is organized P. T. (physical training).

This cuts our study hall time almost in half, but it is a lot of fun and we all enjoy it very much. The boys have been playing football, volleyball, and I mustn't forget those good old body building calisthentics. The girls have been playing volleyball and learning how to catch and throw a ball and other things.

CUT

At Wesley, as Mrs Ray Muller tried to open a window, she put her right arm through the glass. Eleven stitches were required.

Inside K. H. S.

Bookkeeping: Today we started working on a "Work Sheet", this is a new project which we put to use six columns to prove if we have a net profit or loss.

History: After a week of studying the Constitution, we have started chapter six which consists of when George Washington became president. We have learned something new, or rather different, in typing II; it is the typing of Western Union telegrams. We have also receiv- work books.

Last Friday, the girls in Home Ec. II had a test over what they have covered to far this year. Also the girls have been fixing up the bulletin board with attractive decorations.

More strokes, words, and letters to be read in shorthand. And as in all subjects the lack of study hinders.

English class is devoted to our Shamrock newspaper articles on Wednesday of each week. But the other days include little surprise tests plus working out of our workbooks. Monday a test was given to us to see how much knowledge we had of parts of speech, punctuation, and sentence construction.

Finding areas of circles and triangles is the main attraction in Business Math class.

In sociology we have been studying the interesting problems of struggling for social position and adjusting to other personalities.

Fifth Grade News

We are making a unit on birds in science. Many of us brought pictures to illustrate the different kinds of birds. These we have displayed on our bulletin board. We have bird books on our library table. When we finish our unit we will combine all our work into a booklet.

This year we are having a dental card race. Jimmy Bock and James Christians are our captains. They were the first people to return their cards. Inez Nuehring, Janet and Jerry Murray have returned their cards. Jimmy's side hsa four cards back and James side has only one.

Eighth Grade News

We now have had 5 weeks of school and going on our 6th. The past weeks have just seemed like a week because we like our teacher and our studies.

In language we have studied nouns, verbs, pronouns, adjectives, adverbs, conjunctions and interjections.

In Civics we are learning to become better citizens.

In health we are learning our body functions and elements.

In history we are learning our nations government and the forming of the United States.

We are planning a roller skating party for October 29th and we have invited the 7th grade to go along.

We were treated by Craig Larsen

Ginger Kudje

Editorial

What's the matter with our student council? Everything!

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary to dissolve the bands that bind us to a totally uneffective and somewhat useless student council, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and natures God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that we should declare the causes which impel us to complain.

We hold these truths to be self-evident: that adults and high school students are equal, that we, too, are endowed by our creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, the pursuit of happiness, and the right to govern ourselves.

Our council has become nothing more than a party sponsoring group, and the parties aren't as regular as they should be.

They have suffered us to enjoy ourselves, as best we could, with inferior equipment.

They have let school spirit dissolve by allowing our school to become an ordinary establishment.

What can be done about it? Plenty! Double the members from each class, give them more power. Appoint a special time to meet. Give them at least three times a month to hold social functions, let them choose one, then keep it open! Let them charter clubs, organize student groups, and throw tradition away to gain the desired effect.

Then:

Back them up!

Come to their parties, comply with their rules. Give them your time and your support.

Then our student council will be as effective and important as it should be.

Seventh Grade News

This week we have been making graphs in Arithmetic and Geography. We started by making bar graphs and are now on line graphs.

We took our first unit test in Language last week. We all found out that we could try a little harder.

In art we have been making border designs. We have some very nice looking ones. We plan to use some of our border designs for our geography booklets.

Junior News

English: We have started the second act of our play.

Typing: Guess What! We're typing!

Shorthand: Reading business letters written in shorthand.

Government: We're studying the three branches of our government.

Shop: No boys around but they must be working on their projects.

Home Ec: We're studying management and good grooming.

I've Got a Secret

What is this I hear: Barb S. has a new guy. What happened to Roger S., Barb? Why not tell us all about it?

It seems that Lorraine had lots of fun at the skating party. Could it have been because she saw some of her Forest City friends? By the way, who was that you were talking to, Lorraine?

I see that Blanche drove up to the party. Didn't Chuch make it.

Say! Marlene W. and Lorraine, who were you girls with Saturday night? Huh?

Say, Mart, did I hear you say you were going to save a seat on the bus for Miss Peterson? What happened? Did someone else beat you to it?

I wonder who took Berleen to the Garner Home Coming? Does anyone know?

I wonder if Harlan Anderson had fun at the sophomore skating party? And afterwards? Ask Marlene W. for details! !

Say Karen! Who are you going with now? Won't you please tell us?

Gary Day must have had quite a time Sunday night, because he wasn't in school Monday.

It seems Lyle Goll was hoping he was back in school again, when he saw Miss Peterson. Better watch out, Miss Peterson.

It seems Gary L. and Eva T. are on very friendly terms and I mean friendly terms.

Lois H. seems to go to bed pretty early (on the wrong nights!) JF?

Shirley B. has the boys singing their favorite song to her "I Wonder".

Lois H. and Jo Ellen C. seem to have the dancing blues, huh kids?

There seem to be a couple juniors in school who are pretty interested in Crystal Lake. Girls, not boys.

I hear Jo Ellen C. has got a new man on the string. Who could it be? Why not tell us all about it, Jo?

Liberty Busy Bees Journey to Clarion

Do you know the first 4-H Club in Iowa was organized? The Liberty Busy Bees do. On Saturday, September 25, the Liberty and Ell 4-H girls and their leaders motored to Clarion and were met by the Dayton Dandies Club of Wright County. The three clubs and their leaders enjoyed a picnic dinner and wiener roast at a Clarion park.

After dinner the Liberty Busy Bees chose Mrs George Legge and Mrs Frank Hrubes for their leaders for next year.

The group visited the little school house where the first 4-H club was organized. The school house has been moved into a park in Clarion. Some remodeling is being done, so the orginal records are not in it as yet. They are kept in the lobby of the court house at present. The custodian opened the court house and we examined the old records and also saw the stone dedicated to Mr Benson who organized the first 4-H club. One of the ladies from Clarion with us was a member of one of the first clubs. She told us about the work of the first clubs. The boys first learned how to choose and dry the open pollenated seed corn they used in those days, and the girls learned how skillful they could be in peeling potatoes. A contest was held to see who could peel a potato the fastest. The peelings had to be very thin and all in one long piece going around the potato. Try it sometime girls!

After this tour, the girls, numbering fifty, from the three clubs enjoyed roller skating at Lake Cornelia.

We wish to thank the Dayton Dandies for their hospitality and hope sometime they will come to Hancock County and visit us. We found many new friends and learned the interesting things they do in Wright County. Needless to say, we had a lovely time.

Scouts to Hold Open House at New Home In Mason City, Sunday

The Winnebago Council, Boy Scouts of America will officially open their new home, located at 229-2nd Street N. E., at an open house dedication, Sunday, October 14, at 3 P. M. it was announced by Peter S. De Jong, Boy Scout Executive. Mr O. A. Kitterman, Executive of Region 8, Boy Scouts of America, with headquarters in Kansas City, will speak at the dedication ceremony. Following the dedication the building will be open for inspection until 5 P. M. The new Scout headquarters building was originally built by Judge J. C. Sherwin and was purchased by the Winnebago Council from Mr and Mrs Henry Hebel. The purchase and remodeling program was made possible by funds donated by Mr and Mrs Tom Albrecht of Greene, Iowa. The building not only provides business quarters for the Chief Executive, 3 Fieldmen and an office staff of 3, also provides meeting places for the Executive Board and other adult leaders meetings. The furnishings and decorations follow a rustic, western motif in keeping with Boy Scout activities. The dedication ceremonies will be held on the lawn of the new headquarters. Scouts and Explorers from Greene, Iowa will conduct the opening and closing ceremonies. Ushers will be comprised of Eagle Scouts of the Winnebago Council. Judge William P. Butler will be in charge of the dedication ceremonies.

$180 For Fishing and Hunting During Sept.

County Recorder Edith Sonquist has filed her report for the month of September 1954 with the State Conservation Commission. The report lists total license fees collected at $180. These consist of six fishing licenses, ninty-four hunting licenses, seven combination and five non-residence six-day licenses. The report also includes fees for seventy-five trapping tags sold. Recorder Sonquist urges all persons who wish trapping tags to get them early as each year the supply becomes exhausted during the trapping season causing some delay and inconvenience for trappers at the opening of the season in December.

Half-a-Dozen Recipes—

For Cranberry Festival Time

Cranberry shortcake—a special dessert for a special occasion, and so easy to make. See recipe below.

What does October make you think of besides Halloween, football and falling leaves? Cranberries, of course. This versatile red fruit is at its prime during October. In fact, part of the month has been designated as "Cranberry Festival Time."

You'll want to serve cranberries often, both raw and cooked, in lots of different ways. To help you find new ways to fix them, here are half a dozen cranberry recipes okayed by Iowa State College Extension Nutritionist Leslie Smith.

Cranberry Apple Relish

4 cups (1 lb.) fresh cranberries
2 apples, quartered and cored
½ of a lemon
2 cups sugar

Put cranberries, apples, lemon through food chopper. Mix with sugar. Chill. Makes 2 pints.

You might want to make several batches at once. Store in jars in the refrigerator and it will keep well for weeks. Or freeze it for eating next winter.

Cranberry Carrot Relish

4 cups (1 lb.) fresh cranberries
2 large carrots, quartered
1 cup sugar
4 tablespoons orange juice

Put cranberries and carrots through food chopper. Mix with sugar and orange juice. Chill. Makes 1 pint. Store in jars in refrigerator or freeze for later use.

Salads

You might want to make a cranberry fruit relish salad from either of the two relish recipes mentioned above. Here's how:

Follow directions on 1 package raspberry, cherry, or strawberry flavored gelatin. When mixture begins to gel, fold in 1 cup drained cranberry apple relish (or cranberry carrot relish.) Pour into molds and chill until firm. When ready to serve, unmold and decorate with fresh cranberries and sprigs of parsley.

Whole Cranberry Sauce

2 cups sugar
2 cups water
4 cups (1 lb.) fresh cranberries

Combine sugar and water in saucepan. Boil for 3 to 5 minutes. Add cranberries and bring to a boil again. Cook without stirring until skins of berries pop open (about 5 minutes). Cool and serve. Makes 1 quart.

Shortcake

Here's a recipe for cranberry shortcake:

1 cup canned crushed pineapple
1 cup finely chopped or shredded red-skinned apple
1 cup whole cranberry sauce

Combine ingredients and let stand at room temperature ½ to 1 hour before serving. Make individual fruit shortcakes from your favorite recipe. Split biscuits while piping hot and serve shortcake style with fruit mixture. Serves 6.

Spiced Cranberries

1 cup water
1¼ cups brown sugar
¾ cup sugar
½ cup vinegar
2 teaspoons whole cloves
2 sticks cinnamon
4 cups fresh cranberries

Bring water, sugar, vinegar, cloves and cinnamon to a boil in a medium-sized saucepan. Boil rapidly 5 minutes, strain. Add cranberries and cook 5 minutes, or until cranberry skins pop open. Remove from heat, cool thoroughly before serving. Spiced cranberries are especially good with ham or cold meats.

Soil Conservation District Makes Monthly Report

Perhaps you have noticed the last few weeks there has been very little in your local newspaper about the Hancock County Soil Conservation District. It seems there are many small things happening every day; however none of them are large enough to write a news story about. That's why we are going to try to write one news story each month, made up of many small items to tell you what the District is doing.

The District Commissioners met on Wednesday afternoon, September 22, and approved applications for assistance from Jacob Kurtzleben of Bingham township, John J. Lickteig and Mrs Mary Otis of Orthel township, Margaret Z. Paine of Magor township, and Mitchell Bock of Ell township. Urban Lickteig operates his father's farm; Edmund Otis, his mother's, while Donald Engh is the operator of Margaret Paine's farm.

Planning meetings with farmers who have planning maps but who do not have rotations set up were discussed. We are trying to arrange these into about eight groups, so that farmers who have similar soil and water conservation problems can attend the same meeting. Vernon Moss, Farm Planner, hopes to have one meeting with each group sometime during the late fall and early winter months.

Cards will be sent out from the District office to farmers with planning maps. However, we do not want to limit attendance to those armers who have maps. Notice will be sent to local newspapers, and any farmers who are interested in conservation farming are invited to attend, without any obligation.

Very little farm planning work has been done during the last month. One crew (instrument and rodman) has been kept busy almost all the time checking tile for ACP payments. Mr Moss has laid out several contour lines for fall plowing. The weather has been rather uncooperative: nasty enough to make staking and checking work impossible, but not bad enough to hold up the tilers very much. Technicians can usually get to your farm at a time convenient to you if you give them about a week's notice of what work you want done and when you want it done.

Darwin Hoeft, one of our rodmen left to go back to Iowa State College on September 17th. We wish Darwin the best of luck in his studies.

At their meeting, Commissioners Ben Riemer and S. A. Barber filled out a questionaire on the amount of conservation work to be done in Hancock County. This information will be complied with information from the nation's more than 2,500 soil conservation districts and will be presented to the Congressional hearings on appropriations, next year.

Outdoor TV Shows Being Scheduled

The first in a new outdoor television series will be released to Iowa TV stations on Monday, October 11.

The fall and winter series of "Outdoor Shop Talk", produced by the State Conservation Commission, will include programs on gun safety, animals, birds, fish, reptiles, an amphibians, winter lake and river fishing, fox hunting, and quail, duck and pheasant hunting.

The programs will be released to Iowa TV stations and stations in neighboring states having Iowa audiences on each Monday from October 11 through December 13. The series is the second of its kind, following a spring and summer outdoor series on fishing and other subjects.

Program times for "Outdoor Shop Talk" will be announced in the TV schedules of local newspapers.

Truck Stolen

An International pick-up truck owned by the Midwest Farm Industries at Britt was stolen from the firm's property on Saturday and reported to Deputy Sheriff R. E. Nesbit on Sunday morning. At about three P. M. on Sunday afternoon Deputy Sheriff R. E. Nesbit received a call from the Sheriff's office at Algona advising that the stolen vehicle had been found at Algona.

the Highway Story

FROM DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

Often it is the small things in life that are meaningful to a man—the almost incidental decisions or acts that suddenly become a measure of progress or failure.

So it was with Fred the day he drove into a gas station and told the attendant: "Fill 'er up with ethyl."

It was not until later in the day, noticing the smoother powers of his car, that Fred decided the tank of more expensive gas was a milestone in his life.

For years he had driven on regular, then, for a few years, his habit had been to mix five gallons of regular and five gallons of ethyl. And now it was "Fill 'er up with ethyl" without even thinking. The extra few cents didn't matter anymore. He was coming into the "high-powered" years of his life.

The little review of his combustion-progress gave Fred a pleasant feeling of accomplishment and pride. He began to express the feeling with just a little more speed, just a little more authority as he made his way through the five o'clock traffic.

He was driving West and the low autumn sun was in his eyes when he pulled across the center of the street to pass a slower car ahead.

He saw the pedestrian standing in the middle of the street just before he heard the sound of the human skull breaking against his car.

Conservation Commission Gives Warning On Guns Not Thought Loaded

Gun accidents are not confined to hunting grounds. Many shooting tragedies occur in places where they are not expected—in homes and automobiles.

They are always caused by idle guns that were not being used for shooting but which were kept loaded, anyway. To keep an idle, loaded gun in a home or automobile is a good way to sign someone's death warrant. Children in particular are attracted by guns, and every year there are pathetic newspaper stories about children, unlocked closets, and loaded guns. Every year there are other tragic reports about hunters who wanted to save some time by putting loaded guns in their cars. They saved a few seconds, but it cost their lives.

Guns have only one purpose: to kill. When they are not being used for hunting, it is criminal neglect to keep them loaded. At the end of a day's hunt, empty your gun's magazine and chamber and then take a second look to make sure. At home, keep guns and ammunition separate and locked away. Idle guns must be unloaded guns. There is no other safe way.

Farm Population In County Decreases As Farm Size Increases

Hancock County farms increased slightly in size from 1952 to 1953 according to a recent report of the assessor's farm census released this week by the Iowa Crop and Livestock reporting service. In 1952 the average farm size in the county was 187.33 acres and in 1953 the average was 188.95. Farm population decreased in the same period from 7776 in 1952 to 7619 in 1953.

Farmers listed a total of 3314 tractors in Hancock County in 1953 as compared with 3264 in 1952. There were 1056 combines in 1953 as compared with 1008 in 1952, while mechanical corn pickers increased from 1250 in 1952 to 1266 in 1955. Pickup balers increased from 209 in 1952 to 257 in 1953 and farmers owned 842 motor trucks in 1953 as compared with 758 in 1952.

Hancock County farmers reported that they planted a total of 141,270 acres of corn in 1953 as compared with 135,570 in 1952. The average yield for 1953 was 58.1 while in 1952 it was 66.1. Total number of bushels produced in 1953 was 7,904,428 as compared with 8,557,861 in 1952. Oat acreage was less in 1953 and average yield was drastically less with 82,150 acres reported in 1952 with an average yield of 39.8 while in 1953 farmers planted 76,670 acres with an average yield of 27.8. Total number of bushels produced in 1953 were listed at 2,133,175 as against 3,266,798 in 1952.

The soybean acreage varied but slightly in the two years covered in the report. In 1952 Hancock County farmers planted 29,593 acres of beans and produced a total of 700,499 for an average yield of 23.7 bushels per acre while in 1953 they planted 29,568 acres and produced a total of 658,043 bushels for an average yield of 22.3 bushels per acre.

Farmers applied a total of 3110 tons of limestone in 1953 as compared with 4177 tons in 1952. However, the fertilizer trend was reversed with farmers using a total of 9,681 tons of commercial fertilizer in 1953 as compared with 8,235 tons in 1952.

Mobile X-ray Unit To Be In Garner

Is Part of Plan To Eradicate TB

The climax of the 11th annual search for unknown tuberculosis among those persons who may have been in contact with the disease will come on Wednesday, October 20, when a mobile x-ray will be in Garner, Iowa.

Miss Helen Lemke, R. N., public health nurse, has spent the past several weeks interviewing these people as referred by the family physician. Tuberculin sk testing is advised by the State Department of Health. For those whose skin test was positive, the physician recommends that an x-ray be taken.

"Practically everyone I visited has been willing to participate in this program," said Miss Lemke. "We anticipate about 30 persons to be x-rayed when the mobile unit parks at the Court House in Garner Iowa. Appointments have been given to those who are to participate in the program.

It's this kind of cooperation which will lead to the ultimate eradication of tuberculosis," the nurse said, adding her appreciation to all persons who have helped in the carrying out of the project.

The x-ray films will be read at the State Department of Health by a radiologist. The confidential findings are mailed to the family physician. It is from him that the individual may receive his x-ray report.

The contact case-finding program has been sponsored by the Hancock County Tuberculosis and Health Association. A portion of the cost is borne by the sale of Christmas Seals each year. The program has had the approval of the Hancock, Winnebago County Medical Society, and is conducted by the Division of Tuberculosis, State Department of Health, and the Iowa Tuberculosis and Health Association.

After the physician receives the x-ray reports, the follow-through work in the county will be done by Miss Helen Lemke, R. N.

Ron Barz Opens TV And Radio Service Business in Klemme

Ronald Barz, who recently completed a 36-week course in Television and Radio Service at the DeVRY Technical Institute in Chicago, has returned to Klemme and has opened a TV and Radio Service Shop. His place of business is in the rooms back of Duke's Cafe.

Ronald, who was an electrician in the navy, and who worked some as an electrician for a local hardware store after his discharge from the service, has good background experience for the business he is starting, and the school from which he has just graduated prepares him extremely well for the work he wants to do.

Although, he hopes eventually to sell television sets, for the present he plans to stick to the service end of the business. He will service and repair TV sets, radios, and electric motors.

Co-op. Oil Association To Build Underground Bulk Plant in Klemme

For years, Klemme tank wagon men of the Hancock County Cooperative Oil Association have had to drive to Garner to load their trucks . . . but that is going to cease.

The company has decided to expand their facilities and improve their service by putting a bulk plant in Klemme. The new plant will be installed just south of the station here, and will be of the latest design. It will incorporate two 6,000 gallon tanks for fuel oil and an 8,000 gallon tank for gasoline in an underground unit. Pumping equipment will be the best available, and the whole plant will be as safe as modern-day techniques can make it. It will be practically accident proof.

It will also make a shorter drive for Elmer Keininberger Goodell tank wagon man, as he will be able to load out of the Klemme plant instead of driving clear to Garner.

Construction of this new plant will bring the total number of bulk plants operated by the company to three. They already have two plants in Garner . . . one that they own and one that they lease.

The new plant should also make possible better service to customers, as tank wagon men will not have to spend so much time driving back and forth between here and Garner.

$14,000 Goal for East Hancock Community Chest

Dr. Taylor to Address Reformation Day Service

Dr. Taylor will address the Hancock County Reformation Day Service. at the Britt High School Auditorium on Sunday, October 24, at 8:00 P. M. The community and entire county is most cordially invited to attend this annual service.

Rev. Mendell Taylor, M. A., Ph. D. is dean and professor of church history at Nazarene Theological Seminary, Kansas City, Missouri. He is also an outstanding youth leader in the Church of the Nazarene, having directed the international Nazarene Young People's Society from 1948-1952.

Well known throughout the church as an able preacher, writer and educator, Dr. Taylor came to the Seminary in 1945 from Bethany-Peniel College, Bethany, Okla. where he served as dean of liberal arts and professor of history from 1935-1945.

Dr. Taylor received the A. B. degree from Bethany-Peniel College and the M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from the University of Oklahoma. He also has done special study in church history at Garrett Biblical Institute. In 1949 Bethany-Peniel College conferred upon him the honorary D. D. degree.

Dr. Taylor is the author of "Nazarene Youth in Conquest for Christ", and the recently published volume, "Fifty Years of Nazarene Missions."

A native of Texas, Dr. Taylor now makes his home in Kansas City with his wife and son.

Banner Year for Tax Collections

97% of Tax Now Collected

By Roy L. McMillin

Roy L McMillin, County Treasurer for Hancock County makes the following report on tax collections:

Total tax levied for the year	$1,586,267.23
Total tax collected for 1st 9 mo.	$1,538,431.61
Drainage collections	$ 101,811.00

Collections of these taxes is the first big job for the County Treasurer's office and now comes the apportionment of this collection so that each school district, each township and each corporation get the exact amount that they levied.

It is the aim of the department to have this complete and checks in the mail by the 10th of the following month.

The books of the Treasurer's office are audited once a year by the state audit department and the findings of corrections or errors are shown by the Auditor. 1953 has just been completed and they have for their findings one item that had to be corrected.

Homestead exemptions for the years amount to $141.711.66. This amount is credited to the taxing district, and each taxpayer gets their share—25 mills on the value of the property up to $2,500.00, $62.50 being the most anyone can receive.

Military exemptions amount to $13,936.60 and this is credited to each returned soldier, as per his credit according to the war in which he served: 1st World War, $750.00; 2nd World War, $500.00.

Hancock County is very fortunate in not having a lot of outstanding bonds. The only bonds outstanding at this time are those given for the Hancock County Memorial Hospital. This did amount to one hundred thousand dollars. It has been pai off so that at this time we show a balance due of thirty thousand dollars which will be paid off in the following three years.

Automobile and truck license are due and payable December 1st, delinquent February 1st—making December and January busy months. Also so far this year we have issued 6050 auto plates and 1635 truck plates. You cannot sell or transfer your auto or truck without buying a title for it. The cost is 75 cents. We have issued 5841 titles up to date. You can buy a title at any time and then you are set for your present car or truck.

At the present time we are busy getting receipts ready for the 1954 tax payable in 1955.

All receipts for land and town real estate along with all the personnels are to be ready by January 1st. Drainage receipts are also ready to collect at that time.

All unpaid real estate taxes are advertised after the 15th of November and tax sale is always for first Monday in December.

Drive Got Underway Monday; Will Continue Until October 24th

Volunteer workers throughout the east half of Hancock County began Monday to contact people for contributions to the East Hancock Community Chest.

The Chest Drive which includes eight organizations, has for a goal in its first year, $14,000, and will continue until October 24. If you have not yet been contacted by a worker, you will be in the near future. Treat them with courtesy and respect for they are working for a good cause, and the chances are they are your neighbors.

All of the organizations that are included in this year's community chest drive are beneficial locally and deserve your support. Chest officials ask that you remember this fact; remember that there are many drives included in this one effort, and make your contributions as liberal as possible.

If this year's drive is a success no doubt other organizations will be included in next year's drive, eliminating individual drives, an making possible the use of more of the money contributed for beneficial purposes. The more individual drives that are conducted, the more money has to be spent for administrative costs. Inclusion of another organization in the Chest, means that much less administrative expense, and that much more money to be used for charitable purposes.

It is hoped that everyone will contribute liberally when contacted, display their Red Feather prominently, and insure the success of this, the first drive by the East Hancock Community Chest.

Hummels Move to New Home in Waterloo

Mr and Mrs Dwight Hummel and Joyce left Tuesday for their new home in Waterloo. They will run an automatic self-service laundry in that city after Dwight had spent the past 25 years as tank wagon man for the Hancock County Cooperative Oil Association.

Last Wednesday evening the Hummels were feted at a farewell party at the Air-O-Room at the Mason City Airport. The party was put on by the Hancock County Cooperative Oil Association and was attended by officers and employees of the company as well as by their wives. Dwight was presented with an Elgin wrist watch in honor of his 25 years of service with thecompany. There were some over 40 people in attendance.

Friday evening, the 50-50 Class of the Methodist Church Sunday School sponsored a farewell party for the Hummel's to which all members of the congregation were invited. A social evening was enjoyed and the Hummels were presented with a purse of money in appreciation of their work in the church.

Arrangements are at present incomplete in regard to a successor for Dwight on his tank wagon territory west of Klemme, but Roy Railsbeck, manager of the company, says that several applicants are being considered. In the meantime, Graydon Back, who handles the territory east of town, will also take care of customers to the west.

Marriage Licenses

Hancock County Clerk Doris Young issued marriage licenses recently to Robert Lewerke, 18, Britt, and Gloria Simpson, 17, Wesley; Dale F. McClure, 24, Garner, and Judith A. Brede, 19, Klemme; and to Valere H. Nelson, 25, Forest City, and Elaine S. Neuberger, 19, Klemme.

Methodist Church Scene of Wedding Ceremony

Elaine Neuberger Bride Of Forest City Man

Miss Elaine Neuberger, daughter of Mr and Mrs Melvin Neuberger of Klemme, became the bride of Mr Valere Nelson, son of Mr and Mrs Russell Nelson of Forest City, Sunday evening, October 3, at 8 o'clock, at the Klemme Methodist Church with the Rev. Melvin Miller officiating at the double ring ceremony. Candles and baskets of white mums decorated the church.

Maurice Jacobs, who was organist, played nuptial music and accompanied Mrs Russell Thorsen who sang, "I Love You Truly", "Because", and "Our Wedding Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white floor length gown of chantilly lace, and net over taffeta. Her fingertip veil of nylon tulle fell from a hat of lace trimmed with seed pearls. Her necklace of three strands of pearls was a gift from the groom. She carried a bouquet of bronze and white mums.

Miss Janice Swanson was maid of honor, and Miss Nevá Ann Anderson, bridesmaid, both friends of the bride. They wore identical gowns of mint green taffeta and carried bouquets of bronze mums.

Ruthie Ostlund, niece of the groom, was flower girl, and wore a floor length gown of white net over taffeta and carried a basket of yellow and white baby mums and petals. Russell Suralley, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer and carried the rings on a white satin pillow. He wore a white jacket and dark trousers.

Duane Nelson, brother of the groom, was best man, and Lester Nelson, a cousin, was groomsman. The candle lighters were Claudia and Franklin Neuberger, cousins of the bride. Alan Neuberger, the bride's brother, and Richard Nelson, brother of the groom, acted as ushers.

The brides mother wore a copper blue dress with dark brown accessories. The groom's mother wore a black dress with orchid trim and matching accessories. Both wore corsages of yellow, bronze and white baby mums.

Refreshments were served to about two hundred fifty guests after the ceremony. A four-tiered, white decorated cake topped with wedding bells was baked by Mrs D. P. Anderson. Mrs John Ostlund, sister of the groom served the wedding cake, while Mrs Byrnes Lemke and Mrs Donald E. Neuberger poured. Four cousins of the bride, Connie Halverson, Bonnie Halverson, Marilyn and Suzanne Smalley, were waitresses. Sondra Bridges had charge of the guest book. Mrs Freddy Sprung and Lois Halverson took care of the gifts with Pamela Lemke and Perilyn Brown assisting.

Following a wedding trip to the Black Hills, the young couple will be at home on his father's farm north east of Forest City. The bride wore a gray knit two piece dress, with navy blue accessories for traveling.

Mrs Nelson is a graduate of the Klemme High School class of 1953 and for the past year has been employed at the First National Bank of Klemme.

Mr Nelson is a graduate of the Forest City High School and has served with the armed forces in Korea.

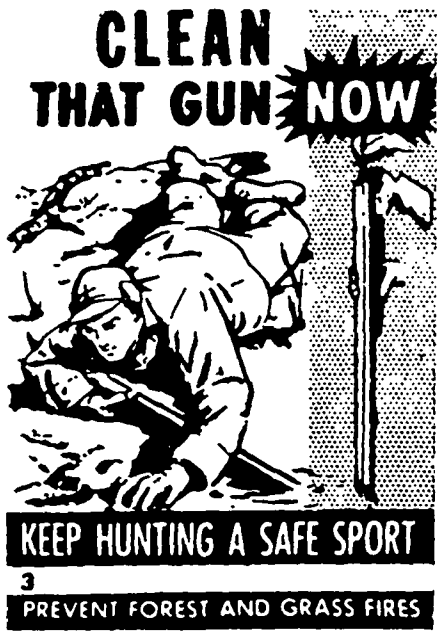
The Conservation Commission come up with the following good advice now that the fall hunting season is here:

If a shotgun barrel is plugged with mud, dirt or snow, that gun can be a bomb.

When such a plugged shotgun is fired the pressure within the barrel builds up so rapidly that the gun often bursts before the obstruction is shot out.



While crawling through fields after ducks and geese, don't dig your gun's muzzle into the ground.

If you fall in mud or snow look through your gun barrel from the breech end and if it is plugged don't try to shoot the obstruction out. Poke it out with a stick or cleaning rod. Shooting it out can cost an arm, an eye, or even your life.

We hope that the people in the east half of Hancock County will go all-out in support of the East Hancock Community Chest. Think back and remember what you have given to the various organizations included in the drive in past years. Then pledge at least that much. Remember, there are eight drives included in this one. If the chest is not supported at least as well as the individual drives in the past have been supported then it is doomed to failure, and again we will have a continual round of drives each year.

Farmers in this vicinity would like very much to see a few good days of sunshine. Their soybeans are shattering out of the pods and every day that they are unable to get into the fields is costing them money. Corn needs some good drying weather, too, if they are going to get it picked before winter sets in.

We don't know much about politics, but we do know that we hate to see men of supposed stature in our country stand up and hurl insults at one another. They sometimes get as bad as small boys fighting in the street. We'll be glad when the election is over and things simmer down a bit.

Public Letting for Grazing Privileges

Hancock County supervisors will hold a public letting on the leasing of the Southeast Quarter of section No. 27, Orthel township, at the courthouse in Garner at 2:30 P. M. on Monday afternoon, October 18. The farm is the property of Hancock county purchased for gravel purposes. The lease will be for one year and cover grazing privileges only and will go to the highest bidder for cash.

Memory "Joggers"

Taken from Our Files

10 YEARS AGO—

A large number of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr and Mrs Eugene Greimann on Monday evening for a party honoring Seaman Ronald Barz and family. Ronald was home on a furlough and left today for the west coast.

Chester Ward, son of Mr and Mrs Frank Ward of Klemme, is another former Klemme youth who has gone into business for himself. Chester has opened a watch repair shop in Los Angeles, Calif., and from all reports is enjoying a good business.

J. W. "Bill" Johnson closed a deal Tuesday whereby he became the owner of the Gabeli property in the northeast part of town. The place is at present rented by William Wilson.

Duane B. Josten, son of Alfred V. Josten, was recently promoted to corporal in a tank destroyer battalion in New Guinea. He had previously been in Australia. His unit was cited by General Douglas MacArthur for its fine performance, willingness to accept a difficult job and determination to see it through.

20 YEARS AGO—

Harlan Trees has leased the Gibbs Building, the former post Gibbs Building, the former post office location, and will put in equipment for a restaurant. The building is being remodeled and George Lawhorn is repainting the interior at the present time.

Mr C C Kilore began work at the Klemme Cooperative Grain Co. here as manager, October 1st. Mr Kilgore was managing an elevator at Goodell for some time. He is now at his office here every day.

Quite a number of people from this vicinity took in the celebration and dedication of the Pilot Knob State Park Sunday. The park is one of the most beautiful in Iowa and the work has been nearly completed by the CCC organization which has been located there for several months.

Harold Shoafstall was absent from his work at the post office a couple of days last week as he was at Iowa Falls on relief work at the depot there. Mrs Shoafstall took his place at the post office while he was away.

30 YEARS AGO—

We believe Dorance Day is going to be a farmer when he grows up as he already has quite an assortment of livestock. Dorance has a Shetland pony, a cat, some chickens, a few ducks, a little pig, and has just added some rabbits to his family of pets.

A good time was had at the bowery dance on Griemann's floor last Thursday evening. The music was first class.

Mr and Mrs Sumner Trumbell moved into their residence formerly occupied by Mr and Mrs Barr, Monday.

Mr and Mrs D W Seney, accompanied by Dr Anderson and Miss Geneva Schuldt, drove down to Des Moines, Sunday afternoon.

Army Shortens APO Address for Servicemen

Army efficiency has snipped a line from its overseas address system and eliminated the phrase "c/o Postmaster" from the mailing address to personnel in Europe, the Far East and other trans-ocean points, it was learned today from Colonel John N. Green, Chief, Iowa Military District.

The new streamlined address now three lines instead of four, was adopted on October 7. It will simplify the mailing process for letter-writers and for postal clerks. A glance at the last line will indicate the routing of mail to the proper channels.

As example, APO mail should now be addressed in this fashion:

Pvt. John Doe, RA 32000000
Company A, 167th Infantry
APO 801, New York, New York

This is the first change made in APO procedure since June 23, 1941.

The new plan is also being adopted by the Air Force.

Christmas packages for military addressees overseas should be mailed between October 15 and November 15, Colonel Green said.

Boxes should not exceed 70 pounds in weight and 100 inches in length and girth combined They must be of double-faced corrugated cardboard, strong wood, metal or fiberboard, tightly packed, securely tied with strong cord, and the loose flaps sealed with gummed tape.

The inclusion of matches of all kinds and lighter fluid is prohibited.

Civil Service Opening At Vets Hospital

The Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Veterans Administration Hospital, Iowa City, Iowa, announces a Civil Service examination for the position of Recreation Leader, GS-5 to GS-7, $3410 to $4205 per annum, for appointment at the VA Hospital in Iowa City. Applicants should file Forms SF-57 and 5001 ABC with the Board of Civil Service Examiners, Veterans Administration Hospital, Iowa City, Iowa. Information as to where forms can be obtained may be secured from any post office or from the Board of Examiners, Veterans Administration Hospital, Iowa City, Iowa.

Grandmothers' Club

The Klemme Grandmothers' Club met at the home of Mrs Esther Barz on Tuesday afternoon October 5th. There were 19 members and one guest present.

Plans are being made for the club to visit the County Home sometime in November.

County Hospital Auxiliary Annual Meeting Friday

The annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Hancock County Memorial Hospital will be held at the Hospital in Britt on Friday, October 15 at 2:00 P. M. There will be an election of officers for the coming year and a summary of the past year's work, plus plans for next year. All those who have put in at least fifty hours of work for the Auxiliary will please notify Mrs John Mullins at Corwith, as there will be a presentation of Service Pins at this meeting.

Tea will be served by the Hospitality Committee of the Auxiliary. A good attendance at this meeting is desired.

Applications for Farm Census Enumerators to Be Accepted Oct. 18th

Applications for employment as enumerators for the 1954 Census of Agriculture in Hancock County and the North half of Cerro Gordo County will be accepted beginning October 18, 1954, it was announced today by Field Supervisor W. A. Rekers.

Persons interested should notify Mrs Anna B. Williams at 660 West 8th St., Garner, Iowa, who is serving as crew leader for this area. Application forms can be obtained also from the agriculture census field office at 214 Snell Bldg., Fort Dodge, Iowa.

Applicants for enumerators jobs must be citizens of the United States, have a high school education or furnish evidence of comparable experience, be in good physical health and of excellent character and be between the ages of 18 to 65. They must have sufficient financial resources to sustain themselves for approximately four or five weeks from the date of appointment until they receive their first salary check. Applicants with veteran preference who meet all requirements will be given priority over non-veteran applicants.

Enumerator job applicants must be licensed to operate and must provide a privately owned automobile in good condition. Pay rates will provide for the cost of operating cars on official Census business.

Visiting around Iowa

The Way to Go

One of those big, gleaming coast-to-coast busses roared past Carl Johnson's gas station the other day, and someone mentioned how much travel had changed since the good old days.

"How do you mean, good?", laughed Carl. "You call slow schedules, rough rides, poor connections, and frequent breakdowns good? Not for me!"

No, and not for me, either. Give me today's transportation. It's fast and comfortable, and I can take my choice of rail, plane, bus, or my own car.

When you come right down to it, freedom of choice should go with everything. Take refreshment for example. Freedom to choose is important because different things hit the spot with different people.

With me it's a temperate glass of beer. Now, lots of folks agree with my choice, but not all. Some have different preferences of their own. Seems to me each of us should choose what he likes, and let the other fellow have the same privilege. That works out fair for everyone, whether we're choosing ways of going places or refreshments to enjoy.

"The Play's the Thing"—Shakespeare

With the time of the junior class play approaching, we all are daydreaming of future or past plays. And rightly so, for nothing ever added so much enjoyment or experience to the human life as did plays. They have delighted young and old for ages and ages past and for ages an ages to come. But not only the spectators find enjoyment, the players, as well. For it is enjoyment just to be on the stage, playing a part in pretense.

But it is not all play, for there is both work and play in a play. Memorizing, enunciating, acting, and practicing are all work—sometimes driving the actor to despair and disregard. But remember, the labor brings benefits. The actor engaging in acting with the public and before the public gains confidence, co-operation, sociability, loyalty, expression, efficiency, and the art of acting. Also, amusement, releasement of energy, personality development, and success are achieved. Thus the work is worth the applause, delight, and wonder of the stage. "Si" ? ? ?

If you say "si" you should prepare and participate in a play production; or if this is impossible, be sure to attend the presentation of the Klemme Junior Class Play, "Janey's One-Track Mind," on October 26, 1954.

I Ask You Now

Because our Halloween party is coming up soon, we asked this question:

What would you like to do at the Halloween party?

Rosalie R. Pass the grapefruit and play wink'em.

Don K. Scavenger hunt and have plenty to eat.

Marvin M. Have a Scavenger hunt, dance, and lunch.

Marcella N. Pass the Life-saver and have a Scavenger hunt.

Jeanne B. Have a marshmallow race and dance.

Norma, JoEllen, and Lois: Have a costume party and dancing.

Jokes

Little Girl: "Mama, I never saw a picture of an angel with a beard or a mustache. Do men ever go to heaven?"

Mother: "Oh, yes, but it's always by a close shave."

Even an honest man arouses suspicion if he stoops to tie his shoe in his neighbors melon patch.

Lady: (On the phone) Doctor, my little boy just swallowed my fountain pen.

Doctor: I'll come at once. What are you doing in the meantime?

Lady: Using a pencil.

Hairpins & Tennis Shoes

Since the high school girls have been playing volleyball this past week, I thought it would be wonderful if we could summarize and learn the rules. If we know the rules, it will help us to play better. Volleyball is composed of eight persons who stand on opposite sides of a net. Volleyball differs from tennis in this way—the hand is used instead of a racket. The object of the game is to keep the ball volleying back and forth without touching the ground or floor. The teams have special positions and the server stands behind the boundary line, right back position, of the court. To serve he hits the ball with the heel of the hand, driving it low and deep over the net. He continues to serve until "side out" is declared.

If the ball touches the net in going over into the correct court, it is a "let serve" and the serve is repeated. But if the "let serve" goes out-of-bounds it is an illegal service and is not repeated. The receiving side sends the ball back, and this volleying continues until one side allows the ball to drop or drives it into the net and/or out of the court. Then the opposite side to serve. Only the serving side scores, and it wins one point for each ball which the receiving side fails to return, either in service or in play. The teams rotate positions when a "side out" is called, allowing each player to serve in turn. Some illegal plays are: (1) Stepping on or over end line. (2) Serving out of turn. (3) Catching and holding the ball. (4) Striking the ball more than twice in succession. (5) Being the fourth player to play the ball. (6) Playing the ball with any part of the body except the hands. (7) Touching the net with hands or any other part of the body. (8) Reaching over the net.

This week the grades played soccer baseball and other games in the gym.

"Doc Dougherty's Dolls"

'Doc Dougherty's Dolls" includes all types of puppets, marionettes, guignols (hand puppets), ventriloquist figures, and magic dolls in a very informative and entertaining program featuring ventriloquism, or talking puppets.

"Doc" has become the outstanding ventriloquist in the school assembly field. His work has drawn high praise from schools where he appeared. This program has both educational and wholesome entertainment value.

Doc's career started at the age of nine when his aunt married Ray Lafollette, the Famous Magician and Puppeteer of France. He saw the youngster was very much interested so he taught him the fundamentals and saw to it he received the proper background to make a good entertainer. Doc attended St. Marys, West Virginia High School, University of Cincinnati, and Schuster-Martin Dramatic School of Cincinnati, Ohio.

His first public appearance was at a father and son banquet in Canton, Ohio. His first professional entertainment was in 1928, and since then he has entertained thousands from coast to coast.

"Doc Dougherty's Dolls" is an unusual entertainment. He is a personality with a wide range of talent and a rare sense of humor. This is an all laugh entertainment and is enjoyed by all ages from three to ninety-three.

Notes About Notes

"Virgil" a Christmas song, has been added to the Mixed Choruses selection of songs, and the girls' chorus is working on a new number, also, "The Lost Chord". Vocational Rehabilitation Helpful to Handicapped

Des Moines—More than 8,000 handicapped Iowans have been placed in useful employment during the last 15 years by the Iowa Vocational Rehabilitation Division.

Figures made available in connection with National Employ the Physically Week, October 3-9, show that 8,245 Iowans have been rehabilitated into employment in the last 15 years.

This number includes 785 persons rehabilitated during the Iowa fiscal year ending June 30, an increase of 25 over the 760 rehabilitated during the previous 12-month period.

Of these 785, 86 per cent were unemployed when referred for rehabilitation. The remaining 14 per cent were losing work time, or were not suited, because of their handicaps, to the jobs they were holding.

The average wage of these handicapped persons before rehabilitation was $5.82 per week while after rehabilitation the average weekly earning was $47.08. In their first year of work these rehabilitated workers will earn $1,725,036 if there are no wage increases. This figure does not include 80 rehabilitated family workers, farmers and others whose wages cannot be readily computed.

During the past year, the division had 11,144 persons interviewed, and diagnosed as having a disability severe enough to hamper their vocational activities. The division, now beginning operations on an expanded level because of recent action of Congress, has a backlog of more than 3,000 cases in the process of investigation, diagnosis, or job preparation.

Worry is the interest paid on trouble before it is due.

UNION

Not a reunion, but a union, was enjoyed by Mrs Emilia Caesar of Skovde, Sweden, and Mrs Ellin Wahlstrom, of Alta. The two ladies are sisters but had never seen each other until recently. Mrs Wahlstrom is 84, and left Sweden at the age of 16, before the birth of her younger sister, who is 68.

Don't Take Chances With Corn Picker

Picker Operator Has Twice the Accident Chance of Car Operator

Why gamble by taking a risk with your corn picker? That's the question asked by Norval Wardle extension farm safety specialist at Iowa State College.

At best, you may gain a couple of minutes. At worst, you could lose an arm—a leg—or your life.

As an example of the odds you face, Wardle says that the operator of a corn picker has over twice the probability of an accident that the operator of a car has.

In the past 7 years, 24 Iowans have been killed and 2,295 persons injured in corn harvesting accidents. Almost half of these injuries lead to amputation of an arm, leg or finger.

Chief Danger Points

According to the number of accidents, the chief danger points of a picker are the stalk ejectors, husker rollers, snapper rolls, chains and elevators.

Several years ago, more accidents involved the snapper rolls than any other part of the picker. However, this is no longer true. More accidents are occurring with the husker and stalk ejector rolls.

Does this indicate that the snapper rolls are becoming less dangerous? No, says Wardle. Picker opertors are beginning to recognize the snapper rolls as a danger point, but they still regard the husker and stalk ejector rolls as relatively safe. The facts don't justify the faith since the stalk ejector rolls and the husker rolls actually grab objects—such as gloves and loose sleeves—quicker and more vigorously than do the snapper rolls.

Elevators are becoming involved in more accidents. Over half of these accidents occur on the power shaft that operates the elevator. Since the shaft moves slowly, it often is left uncovered.

Two Major Types

There are two major types of tratcor accidents during corn harvest. One involves the power take-off while the tractor is being operated in the field. The other involves falls from the tractor.

Wardle blames hurrying and the use of unsafe methods as the causes of about 90 percent of all corn harvest accidents. But adequate training should overcome these causes.

The major share of accidents occur in midmorning or midafternoon when the operator has become tired. Wardle advises the operator to "take a break" during these critical times.

For a safe corn harvest, Wardle suggests the following rules:

Train all operators in the efficient, safe operation of corn pickers, elevators and tractors.

Always stop all rolls—stalk ejectors, huskers and snappers—to clean them or brush off trash. Always stop the picker, elevator or tractor for any adjustments and for lubrication.

Be particularly cautious during midmorning and midafternoon when you become tired and fatigued. A "break" at these times is helpful.

Wear close-fitted clothing so it won't catch on parts of the picker.

Never hurry. Lose a minute and save an arm.

Always keep the power takeoff shields in place.

And, finally, never use a stick or cornstalk to push clogs through the rolls while they are in motion.

BULL

A 2,000 pound Holstein bull caused considerable excitement in Decorah recently. The animal jumped out of a large stock truck into the streets. Fortunately, it fell on its head and was stunned, and was trussed up with a log chain before it could do any damage.

Farmer-Merchant Dinner Set for November 9th

The Public Relation Committee is promoting a Farmer-Merchant Dinner which is to be held November 9th at the Garner Memorial Hall. Ken Thatcher, secretary of the IFBF will be guest speaker.

This is an opportunity for the business men of the farm and the business men of main street to have dinner, become better acquainted, and spend a social evening together. Two hundred eight tickets will be sold by your township director and farmers are asked to contact them, buy two tickets, invite your merchant friend and bring him into the dinner.

The Music Mothers of Garner are serving the meal. Members of the Public Relation Committee are Orville Johnston, Charles McLaughlin, Clarence Aitchison, Carl Wille, Art Mulholland, Alvin Townsend and Jacob Helms.

OVERLOOKED

Burglars broke into the safe at theExira Seed Service and stole about $20 in silver. They threw aside a bank book, in which there was a bundle of currency totaling $354.

CHOPPER

John Jesse, Crawford County farmer, lost his left arm in a farm accident a few days ago. He was operating a silage chopper and the arm became entangled in the machine.

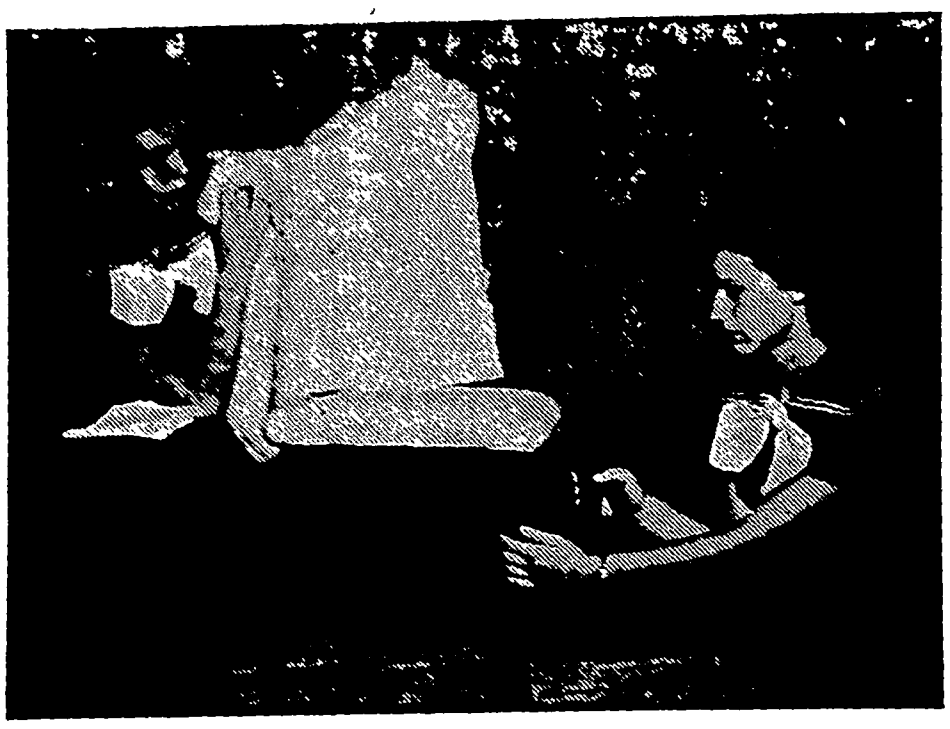
For Lots of Activity—

Look to the 4-H Club Girl



As part of their 4-H club project in home furnishings this year, these two girls learned to upholster furniture. They are shown giving a demonstration at the Iowa State Fair.

October is 4-H enrollment month throughout the nation. It's that one special month out of the year when members of this busy organization take time to tell others about 4-H and urge those eligible for membership to join.

Lots of Iowa girls belong to 4-H. In fact, the latest available figures show more than 1,500 4-H clubs in the state, and more than 22,000 girls belonging to them.

Maybe you don't know too much about 4-H clubs and the activities they carry on. Here's a resume of what 4-H girls do in this state.

Yearly Program

Each year the 4-H girl works on a special homemaking project. It might be in clothing, home furnishings or foods, whichever subject the girls' 4-H clubs in her county are taking up that year. Each year a different project is emphasized.

Starting learning homemaking skills when she's young (10 years old is the minimum age requirement) proves invaluable to the 4-H girl when she marries and has a home of her own.

The 4-H motto is "To Make the Best Better." The 4-H girl carries out each project with the motto in mind.

Clothing Project

The year she studies clothing the 4-H girl learns about fabric, design and color. She has practice in applying what she learns when she selects new cloths, or fabrics and patterns to make new clothes. She is given training at the sewing machine too.

Food and Nutrition

In food and nutrition she studies her own diet and gets an understanding of what good nutrition can do for her. She gets practice in planning and serving appetizing, attractive and health-boosting meals.

She learns how to use food resources wisely, how to preserve foods, and how to make the most of her time and energy in all these activities.

Home Furnishings

In her home furnishings project the 4-H girl learns to recognize beauty and good taste. She develops ability to select and make tasteful and practical home furnishings.

Other Projects

Other program activities she can carry out each year include: citizenship, health, music appreciation, picture study, recreation, better grooming, dress revue, gardening, conservation (nature study), parliamentary practice, courtesy, fire prevention, personal expense accounts and home grounds improvement.

So whatever her interests, the 4-H girl finds opportunity to learn and enjoy them in her 4-H club.

Recreation

But 4-H isn't all work. There are special recreational and social activities each year.. Camps are held during the summer, and the annual convention is held at Iowa State College each June.

4-H Leaders

It takes lots of capable homemakers to lead the girls in their 4-H activities. Volunteer local women head up each club. At the county level a leaders' committee of about seven similar homemakers meets frequently with the local leaders and the county extension home economist to plan and develop the year's program for that county.

At the state level, there's State 4-H Girls' Leader Esther Whetstone and her staff at Iowa State College. These women, along with subject matter specialists in textiles and clothing, home furnishings, food and nutrition, music and recreation, direct state events and train and guide county home economists and local leaders.

the Highway Story

FROM HEADQUARTERS OF HIGHWAY SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

By mid-morning the sun had warmed away the autumn chill and the young children fell heir to the neighborhood of backyards, empty garages and quiet alleys.

After a time, seven children too young for school were wandering about together easily creating whole new worlds as they went—worlds where cowboys shot indians who suddenly became football players chased by lions that just as quickly became spacemen traveling between planets.

An occasional mother coming out to the cloths lines intruded briefly on these worlds with mild warnings or a handkerchief for a running nose, but none of them wished to destroy the blessing of preoccupied children.

Late in the morning the youngsters became interested in the heavy fall of leaves in the yards. They pushed together one huge pile and spent some time throwing themselves tino it.

Then they collected smaller piles of leaves, one for each, and began a game of hiding and creeping and surprise. It was an excellent game and lasted until the lunch hour began to cause casualties in the group.

Shortly after 12 o'clock, only two children were left with the seven piles of leaves. They went from one to another to hide silently for a moment then burst out with cries of triumph.

One of the piles of leaves was in a driveway. One of the children, a four-year-old boy, was hiding there, silently, when the car turned in quickly and headed for the garage.

Every year in Iowa at least one child is killed when a car runs over the pile of leaves that is his hiding place.

Traffic Accidents Target Of New Organization

The State Department of Public Safety has recently undertaken a vigorous campaign to reduce the number of traffic accidents in Iowa.

The campaign will be conducted on a "grassroots" level through the agency of reorganized county Traffic Safety Committees with chairman appointed by Governor William S. Beardsley.

So far 88 county organizations have been formed. Soon all the counties of Iowa will be participating and perhaps eventually the campaign will become nationwide.

Composing the membership of the Hancock County committee will be the chairman, county attorney, county sheriff, county engineer, county superintendent of schools, town mayors, and delegates from each township representing local civic organizations and law enforcement agencies.

The purpose of the committee will be to continue Public Safety Education aiming to create more safety-minded drivers, to promote better law enforcement and local safety conditions throughout the county.

A specific target will be the formation of Teen-Age Driver's Clubs in each of the high schools in those localities where they have not already been organized. Also better safety conditions at county road intersections is currently a problem.

The committee will meet monthly at alternate county locations; the first meeting tentatively scheduled for October.

There have been twenty-five Hancock county citizens killed in-or by automobiles over the past nine years. There were eight fatalities last year and seven so far this year. The highway patrol alone has handled twenty-six accidents in Hancock county in 1954.

Agriculture Farm Census Crew Leader Appointed

Appointment of Mrs Anna B. Williams of 660 West 8th Street, Garner, Iowa, as a Crew Leader for the 1954 Census of Agriculture was announced October 5, by Field Supervisor W. A. Rekers of the Fort Dodge office of the Bureau of the Census.

Mrs Williams will direct a force of twelve enumerators who will canvas all farms in Hancock and the north half of Cerro Gordo Counties. She reports on October 11th to the Census Agriculture Field office at Fort Dodge, for a week of training.

The Crew Leader is one of the key people in the field operations of the Census of Agriculture. It is her responsibility to train the enumerators and supervise their work; plan and allocate work assignments; review the work of the enumerators, and take remedial action where necessary and to conduct difficult enumerations.

After attending the training conference, Mrs Williams will return to her district where she will spend three weeks recruiting enumerators, checking enumeration district boundaries, and training enumerators in preparation for the start of the Census on November 9th.

Fall Colors Will Dim . . . See Them Now

Fall colors are at their peak now, but the masses of red and gold in Iowa woodlands won't last long, Conservation Commission foresters said today.

With the first hard frost, the woodsmen predict that bright colors will dim, and that leaves will begin to turn brown and fall rapidly. Reports from Commission foresters say that the fall foliage should be brightest in mid-October, barring any severe frosts.

October's beauty may be seen in any state park or large timber area in the state, but is usually most brilliant in northeastern Iowa where there are large, unbroken tracts of oak, elm and maple.

Fertilizer for Fall Application

- Recent tests have proven that fall-applied fertilizer gives a much better boost to next year's corn crop than does disking in the fertilizer in the spring.
- The advantage of plowing the fertilizer under in the fall seems to be in the fact that the deeper placement of the fertilizer puts it in moist soil, while disking often leaves the application in dry soil, . . . right through July and August . . . when it is really needed.
- Tests conducted in 1952 showed that the gain from the fall-applied fertilizer ranged from 4 to 12 bushels of corn per acre over the yield realized from disked in spring applications of fertilizer.

Duck Season Opens; Prospects Good

Tomorrow is D. day for thousands of Iowa nimrods as the 1954 Iowa waterfowl season begins.

With the wettest fall in several years, prospects for this year's season are good. Heavy rains in many areas have filled sloughs, ponds, and lakes, and although federal and Canadian authorities say Iowa's duck supply will be lower than usual, many hunters are optimistic. Most ponds and marshes that were nearly dry last fall are now well-filled with water.

Marshes and sloughs in northern and northwestern Iowa are filled with water, and will probably continue to furnish the most concentrated duck shooting in the state.

This year's season will extend from October 15 through December 8. Shooting will begin at noon on opening day and one-half hour before sunrise on all other days of the season. Daily shooting will end one hour before sunset, except on Iowa portions of the Missouri River, where daily shooting will extend to sunset. Daily sunrise-sunset time schedules have been released to all local newspapers of the state, and may also be obtained from the Conservation Commission in Des Moines.

The daily bag limit of ducks is 4, with a possession limit of 8. Wood ducks may not be killed this year.

The bag limit and possession limit of geese is 5, not more than two of which may be Canada geese, their sub-species, or white-fronted geese. The entire bag may be made up of either blue geese or snow geese or any combination of them.

Federal duck stamps are now available at all post offices, and are required for every migratory waterfowl hunter over 16 years of age. Full federal waterfowl regulations are also posted in all post offices.

Legion Auxiliary Votes $25 to Community Chest

On October 5th, the American Legion Auxiliary met at the Grade School Building with Lydia Bock and Cora Schaefer as hostesses. Nineteen members were present.

The membership committee reported that there are 63 members paid up. It is hoped that our quota can be reached by October 20.

We voted to set memorial gifts at $3.00. It was also decided to give $25.00 to the Community Chest Fund and $5.00 toward the dish cupboard.

Cora Schaefer agreed to send the package to Billy Joe this month.

Following the meeting, lunch was served by the hostesses.

Lions Club Met

The Klemme Lions Club met last Wednesday evening in the basement of the grade school building, with president R. C. Andreae presiding. Twenty-two members were present and one new member was voted into the club.

After dinner and a short business meeting, president Andreae showed colored movies that he had taken in Colorado.

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | KLEMME, IOWA, OCTOBER 20, 1954 | VOLUME 59 | NUMBER 43

Appoint New Agent For Blue Cross and Blue Shield Insurance

George T. Cummins, formerly of Osceola, Iowa, is the new Blue Cross-Blue Shield special representative in Hancock county, according to an announcement made by Russell A. Nichols, Blue Cross-Blue Shield Rural Enrollment supervisor. Cummins will also serve Winnebago and Wright counties, Nichols said.

Cummins has been selected by the Hancock County Health Improvement Association and Blue

Cross - Blue Shield to do service work with subscribers in Hancock county and to cooperate with our HIA board in its activities, Virgil A. Cook of Klemme, president, said. He will answer questions of present members, accept applications of new members and of those who wish to make changes in there contract coverage. He will also write and service groups in the county.

Before coming to Blue Cross-Blue Shield 13 months ago, Cummins did production and service work for Farmers Hybrid Co. He has been the special representative in Clarke, Decatur, Lucas and Warren counties. He is a member of the Kiwanis Club.

Cummins is married and has four children. The family will live in Garner. He may be reached through the HIA secretary at the Farm Bureau Office in Garner.

Pancake Supper

There will be a Pancake Supper at the Liberty Methodist Church on Friday, October 22, sponsored by the W. S. C S. The serving of pancakes, sausages, pie and coffee will begin at 5:30. Adult tickets will be 75c and children 50c.

Marriage Licenses

Hancock County Clerk Doris Young issued marriage licenses the past week to Allan Keith Nall, 26, Des Moines, and Lois Barbara Bugh, 18, Des Moines; and to John W. Emerson, 24, Grand Meadow, Minn., and La Vaune Velorus Verlo, 20, Woden.

October Moisture Hard on Crops

The first fifteen days of October, 1954, have been a serious disappointment and a real threat to the soybean and corn crop from the weather standpoint. According, to records kept by Earl Henschen, custodian of the Hancock County courthouse, a total of 2.46 inches of precipitation was recorded in the first fourteen days of the month and measurable amounts were recorded on ten of the first fourteen days of the month. Dry weather is badly needed. During October in both 1952 and 1953 less than one tenth of an inch was recorded as a total for both years.

Reformation Day Service At Britt

Rev. Mendell Taylor of Kansas City will address the Hancock County Reformation Day Service at Britt on Sunday, October 24, at 8:00 P. M. Everyone in the county is invited to attend and hear Rev. Taylor's address. He has a fine background of teaching church history asd is an outstanding youth leader.

In addition to Rev. Taylor's address, those who attend will hear the singing of the interdenominational Youth Choirs of the county.

Legion Dance

According to Thomas Roths, Jr., commander of Adam-Schaefer Post No. 625, the post will hold a dance at the Duncan Community Hall on Thursday, November 18. Final arrangements have not as yet been made but music will be furnished by Malek's Accordion Band.

County Auxiliary Meeting

"Peace Through War", a pageant featuring events in America's history from the time of Pilgrims and Indians to present 1954 is being prepared by Britt Memorial Hospital Ladies.

People from all the towns in Hancock County are taking part. The play will be presented two evenings, November 9 and 10, at the Britt High School auditorium.

Will Observe 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr and Mrs Herman Stromer of Garner, long time resident of the Klemme Community, who will observe their fiftieth wedding anniversary Sunday, October 24, by holding open house from 2:00 P. M. to 5:00 P. M. at the Garner Memorial Building.

The Stromers hope that their many Klemme friends will be on hand to help them make the occasion a memorable one.

Republicans Will Have Free Dance At Duncan

Hancock County Republicans are sponsoring a free dance at the Duncan Community Hall os Thursday evening of this week.

Purpose of the dance is to present to the people of the county as many as possible of the Republican candidates for office in the November election.

On hand will be James I. Dolliver, C. S. Representative; Leo Elthon, Lt. Governor of Iowa; Dudley Weible, 6th District Chairman for Tom Martin for U. S. Senator, and all county Republican candidates.

Everyone is invited to the dance which si to get underway at 8:30 P. M.

Weather Settles In Favor of Farmers

North Central Iowa weather, which has been a problem to farmers in this vicinity all fall, seems to have settled. We have had killing frost for several nights now, since skies have cleared.

Farmers have been busy at the long delayed soybean harvest and this week should see most of the beans in the bin. Reports indicate that the wet weather has caused considerable shattering damage to the bean crop.

Corn picking has not gotten underway to any extent as yet, but some corn has been picked Moisture content on the corn is pretty high at this time; running as high as 28 percent. Normal fall drying days will drop the moisture at the rate of one-half percent per day, so several days are going to be required before all the corn drops to a safe-cribbing 21 percent.

Two Fined In Mayor's Court Here Monday

Two traffic offenders appeared in Mayor V. A. Cook's court here Monday and both paid fines for their violations.

Luvern Fanter of Estherville, employee of Peoples Natural Gas Co., paid a one dollar fine and costs of one dollar for making an illegal U-turn on Main Street. He was arrested by Marshal Herman Paul at 10:00 P. M. Saturday.

Dennis Haefner was fined $10 and costs of $7.50 for careless driving. In addition, his driver's license was suspended for 90 days in compliance with Ordinance No. 13. He was arrested by Marshall Herman Paul during the noon hour Monday.

Hospital Aux. Ladies To Present Pageant

There will be a county meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary at Crystal Lake at 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening, October 26.

As many mmbers as possibly can are urged to attend.

Open House At Garner, Sunday

Mr and Mrs Herman Stromer of Garner, who were married on October 21, 1904, will observe their 50th wedding anniversary by holding open house at the Garner Memorial Building between the hours of two and five in the afternoon on Sunday, October 24.

The Stromers were long time residents of the Klemme community, having lived here from the time they were children until 1946 when they retired from the farm just north of Klemme and moved to Garner. Mrs. Stromer, who was Mary Katter before her marriage, was born in Liberty Township and Herman who was born in Germany, came to this country with his parents to settle in Liberty Township when he was seven years old.

The Stromers were married in Peace Reformed Church north of Klemme and then lived on the place just west of Klemme now occupied by Albert Swanson until they moved to a farm a mile north of town on highway 69.

Both Mr and Mrs Stromer were active in community affairs; she in church work and women's organizations, and Mr Stromer in business and social ways. He helped to form the Klemme Cooperative Grain Co. and the Klemme Cooperative Creamery, and for years led the Klemme band. In addition, Mr Stromer loved to fish; a sport to which he is still addicted.

They have four children, Aaron, Verner and Harold, who live on farms near Klemme, and Nellie (Mrs Heald), who lives at Ames. They also have 12 grandchildren and 4 great grandchildren.

A special feature of the open house Sunday will be a short program which has been arranged to get underway at two o'clock. The Stromers hope that all their friends will be on hand to help them observe this special day.

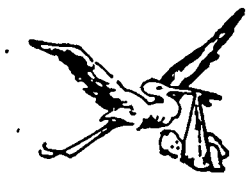
Couple At Home Near Forest City

Mr and Mrs Valere Nelson are at home on a farm near Forest City following a wedding trip of a week to the Black Hills of South Dakota.

Mrs Nelson is the former Elaine Neuberger, the daughter of Mr and Mrs Melvin Neuberger.

The couple was married at the Methodist Church in Klemme on October 3rd.

Stork Club



Mr and Mrs Marvin Lemke now have a boy and a girl in their family. Latest arrival is a baby girl born Friday, October 15, at the Belmond Hospital. She tipped the scales at eight pounds, one and three-fourths ounces and has been named Susan Jean. Her brother, Michael, is now 2½ years old. Mrs. Lemke and Susan Jean came home from the hospital today (Wednesday).

New Device Prevents Accidents

MANITOWOC, WIS.—This farmer is in for serious injury or possible death because his tractor ran off the road into a deep ditch—a common occurrence as accident reports from all over the country indicate. He was saved from injury because his engine is equipped with a new device designed to automatically stop the tractor engine when the tractor is operated at a dangerous angle, such as the position illustrated.

The engine will stop regardless of what position the tractor tips—backwards, forwards, sideways, or any position that is not normal operation. The operator has nothing to do with shutting off the engine; it is automatic. If the tractor should tip over, this little device shuts off the engine and thereby reduces to a minimum injury or possibly death by revolving wheels, fire or exhaust. Even if the tractor operator is not caught beneath the tractor, much damage by fire can be prevented by the engine automatically stopping. Re-setting to start engine is done in a matter of seconds without any tools. This new low-priced device, easily installed and adjusted on all tractors, is manufactured by Newton Mowers, Inc., here.

Compare Before You Buy—

Get More Food Value for Your Money

The wise homemaker makes many comparisons when she does her grocery shopping because she knows some foods give more food value for the money than other foods in the same basic group.

* * *

You hear a lot about the importance of planning nutritional meals around the "Basic 7" foods But if cost of food, as well as nutritional value, is important to you, remember some foods in the "Basic 7" give more food value for your money than others, says Jewel Graham, Iowa State College extension nutritionist.

To give you an idea of some of the foods which give more food value for your money, Miss Graham offers the following comparisons:

Group I

Of the leafy, green and yellow vegetables, turnip, mustard, chard, cabbage, carrots, and green beans give more food value for your money than head lettuce, leaf lettuce out of season, asparagus, cauliflower and artichokes.

Group II

When buying foods belonging to the second group (citrus fruits, tomatoes, raw cabbage) Miss Graham says you'll get more food value for your money if you select grapefruit in season, fresh or canned; tomato juice and tomatoes in season; and raw cabbage. Make a careful comparison between fresh, canned and frozen oranges and juice. Season and supply influence cost of the different forms. Frozen orange juice might be your best buy when oranges out of season would be more expensive.

Group III

The third group includes other potatoes and vegetables. You'll get more for your money if you serve potatoes baked, boiled or other ways than if you buy potato chips. Fruits fresh in season, canned or dried give you more food value for your money than fruits frozen or fresh out of season.

Vegetables in season, or canned or dried are a better value than vegetables frozen or fresh out of season or canned fancy packs.

Group IV

When you buy milk remember that skimmed, evaporated or dried milk gives more food value for the price than chocolate milk or fresh whole milk (though milk is always a good buy nutrition-wise). American cheddar cheese and cottage cheese are better buys, compared with Roquefort-type cheese or packaged cheese spreads.

Group V

When buying meat, expect to get more food value for the money from commercial and utility grades, less tender cuts and pork liver, than from prime and choice grades, tender cuts and calves liver.

Stewing chicken is a better buy than fryers and boilers.

Grade B and C, small eggs will give more food value for the money than Grade A, extra large.

Frozen fish fillets and ocean perch are a better buy than shrimp or oysters.

Bulk dried beans and peas give more food value for the price than canned or baked beans or frozen limas and peas.

When buying nuts, remember peanuts are a better buy than pecans, walnuts or cashews.

Group VI

You'll get more food value for the money if you buy whole grain or raw cereals than if you buy ready-to-serve cereals. Enriched whole wheat and general purpose flour and homemade rolls are a better bargain than white, fancy rolls, cake flour and ready-made cakes and pastries.

Group VII

Fortified table fats, meat drippings, rendered fat trimmings and lard give more food value for the money than butter, bacon, hydrogenated fats, cream and salad oil.

the Highway Story

By Bob Hullihan

The boy behind the wheel didn't talk back, but he made every effort to show the highway patrolman that he wasn't at all impressed. He casually lit a cigarette as the patrolman talked. The girl with him took the cue and actually yawned as the patrolman began to write the ticket.

The patrolman glanced at the girl and started to speak. He could tell her about the time he had picked up the head of a girl just about her age. He had found it in the middle of the highway near where a car had hit the back of a truck at high speed.

But he didn't tell her the story She was young, probably not more than 16. She was simply not old enough to believe she could die in an automobile.

Checking the boy's drivers license, the patrolman found he was only 18—another one who didn't believe death could take him.

He was just about the age of a boy the patrolman remembered from a year before. He had stood by a car and looked in at that boy, too. But there was a difference.

That car had been a mass of junk speared on the iron railing of a bridge. That boy had been unconscious and the patrolman remembered how he had prayed the boy would stay that way, because the iron railing that pierced the car also pierced the boy's body.

The patrolman tore the summons ticket out of the book and handed it to the boy who stuffed it into a pocket and said "zat all?" The patrolman looked at the two youngsters who, a few minutes before, had been passing on a hill at night at 70 miles an hour. "That's all for now," he said.

Every Person Should Have Birth Certificate

Diapers are important to a child—so is a birth certificate! Diapers will wear out— a birth certificate won't. It will be on record forever.

There are quite a number of reasons why every child needs a copy of his birth certificate. For instance he must have one to enter school, to obtain a first work permit, to receive a driver's license, to marry, to vote, to enter military service, to obtain a pension, social security or other benefits and to prove citizenship. He'll need it too if he inherits property, needs to establish identity or wants to trace his ancestory.

In 1950 a national survey showed that 99½ percent of all births in Iowa were registered. That's a record to be proud of and to uphold.

If you do know whether or not your baby's birth (or your own) are registered, or to obtain a copy of a birth certificate, write to the State Department of Health giving your name, date and place of birth, and parents' names and enclose a fee of 50c.

James Martin, Independence contractor, is recovering from severe burns. He opened the furnace door in the Central City school house, and an explosion followed, knocking him unconscious.

SPILLED

As he crossed a bridge near Clarinda, Bill Peve of Quitman, Mo., let his big semi get too close to the bridge, and ripped out one side of the truck body. He lost about 250 bushels of shelled corn.

Visiting around Iowa

Seeing Things Straight

We were talking about Halloween bugaboos, down at the store . . . and that reminded Bill Simpson of a scare his grandson had the other night.

"Sat up in bed and yelled to his ma there was a ghost by the dresser," Bill chuckled. "It was his own shirt hanging over a chair."

It's funny how things we were afraid of as kids fade into insignificance with knowledge and understanding. Seeing things in their right light is a part of growing up. Maybe we don't always see eye to eye with our neighbors, but we recognize the other fellow's right to his point of view.

For example, along about this time of year some folks put on long underwear. Others keep theirs short and lightweight. It's a matter of personal choice, that's all. Like a preference for pork chops or steak . . . detective plays or comedy on television . . . pop or a temperate glass of beer.

Like I said, maybe we can't always see things from the other fellow's point of view . . . but let's never lose sight of his right to have them.

4TH ADJOURNED SEPTEMBER MEETING

Garner, Iowa
October 5, 1954

The Hancock County Iowa Board of Supervisors met in session on above captioned date pursuant to adjournment with Clarence Bird, S. A. Barber and C. D. Daniels present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read.

This being the 5th day of October, 1954, a date heretofore fixed for an adjourned hearing on the report of the Commissioners heretofore appointed to view and classify lands and assess benefits in Drainage District No. 108, Lat. No. 1, Hancock County, Iowa, the hour of said hearing having arrived, and the Board being fully advised, said hearing was held as scheduled.

On motion by Supervisor Barber and second by Supervisor Daniels, the report of the Assessment Commission is hereby approved as amended.

On motion and second the Board adjourned to October 11, 1954 at 9 o'clock A.M.

Clarence A. Bird,
Chairman

County Auditor

Reports College Tests Of Rodney Oat Variety

What is this Rodney variety of oats?

That question has been brought to Paul Henderson, Hancock County Extension Director, frequently in recent days.

According to information Henderson has received from agronomists at Iowa State College, who have tested Rodney in statewide variety trials, Rodney is a tall, rank-growing, very late variety that was developed in Canada. The variety has a desirable combination of disease resistance, being resistant to races 7 and 8 of stem rust and having some resistance to race 202 of crown rust.

In 1954 tests at nine locations in Iowa, Rodney yielded an average of 62 bushels per acre. That yield ranked it fifteenth among 18 varieties that were included in all tests. Rodney made its best yield in central Iowa, averaging 71 bushels per acre at three locations. That 71-bushel yield ranked Rodney fifteenth among the 18 varieties tested in central Iowa. It made its best comparative yield ranking in northern Iowa, with its 63-bushel yield there placing it sixth among the 18 varieties. In southern Iowa, Rodney yielded 53 bushels per acre, lowest of all 18 varities in that area.

Rodney is the tallest variety of those tested and has big, thick stems and desirable resistance to lodging. It is the latest of the 18 in maturity—9 days later than Nemaha, Cherokee and Bonham, the three recommended early varities for Iowa. Its bushel-weight is relatively low. On this characteristic, 10 of the 18 varieties tested ranked higher than Rodney, two others had the same bushel weight and five had lower bushel weight.

Rodney is not included among the 19 oat varieties that are being recommended for Iowa farmers by Iowa State College. The recommended varieties for 1955 are:

Early maturing varieties—Cherokee, Nemaha and Bonham.

Medium maturing varieties—Andrew, Clington, Clintland and Mo. O-205.

Late maturing varieties—Ajax, Branch and Clintafe.

Acreage Allotment Rules Changed

Main Regulation Switch Concerns 'Diverted' Acres

Following recent changes in acreage allotment regulations, some Iowa farmers are wondering just how things stack up now.

In general, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture, compliance with all individual acreage allotments is still a requirement for price support eligibility on any price-supported crop.

Use of Diverted Acres

The main change in the regulations concerns use of acres diverted from allotment crops. The diverted acres may be used as the farmer wishes. Under the previous "total acreage allotment" provision, these diverted acres could be used only for hay, pasture or certain other specific crops.

Another change affects small acreages of wheat. An Iowa farmer may harvest up to 15 acres of wheat without affecting his eligibility for other price-supported crops, such as corn. There will be no marketing penalties on wheat harvested up to 15 acres. But if a farmer exceeds his actual alloted acreage, even though it's less than 15 acres, he can't qualify for price support for his wheat.

Another Regulation

These regulations according to the Department of Agriculture, concern a farmer's eligibility for price supports. There is another important regulation that concerns eligibility for Agricultural Conservation Program cost-sharing for conservation measures. In 1955 a farmer must comply with all acreage allotments assigned to his farm to be eligible for the cost-sharing.

A farmer may exceed his actual farm allotment for wheat —up to 15 acres— and not lose his eligibility or price support on other crops, but this is not true in eligibility for ACP. His wheat acreage, as well as acreage for other crops, must be held within the amount assigned to his farm for that crop for him to be eligible for ACP in 1955.

BROKEN

Emil Boge of Delaware drove on Highway 20 recently, resting his let arm on the window with his elbow sticking out. After meeting a truck, he noticed his arm became rather painful and found it had been broken, just below the elbow.

Mrs Alma Nuehring, who entered Mercy Hospital at Mason City last Thursday, has undergone surgery and is coming along fine. However, she will continue to be confined to the hospital for at least the rest of this week.

Karen Netland, daughter of Mr and Mrs George Netland, who was severely burned some time ago, is about all through with the skin grafting that was made necessary by her burns. She is getting along well, but will be in the hospital for at least a couple of weeks yet.

John Josten is spending the winter at the Good Samaritan Home in Mason City. His son, Rev. Earl Josten of Ankeny, visited with him Saturday and drove him to the home.

Sunday afternoon visitors at the Edgar Buss home were Mr and Mrs Jake Wearda and Ella of Ackley, and the Misses Nettie and Anna Wearda of Applington.

Mr and Mrs Will Riemer of Miller and Mr and Mrs Emil Beier were in Albert Lea, Minn., Friday. While there they toured the large turkey processing plant in that city.

Mr and Mrs Sumner Trumbell, Clarence Waterman and Mrs Hulda Wiles drove to Spencer, Sunday to visit with Mr and Mrs Lyle Wilcox. Enroute they picked up Mrs Rose Mitchell of Swea City, who accompanied them to Spencer to visit at the Wilcox home.

Sgt. and Mrs Eugene Beier and baby of Oceanside, Calif. left Tuesday for a visit with Mrs Beier's parents in Kansas, after having spent the past week visiting at the parental Elmer Beier home. Eugene was enjoying a 20 day furlough from his duties at the Marine Base at Camp Pendelton.

Ike Breaks Promises While Benson Breaks Farmers

A Report To Farmers, Business and Professional Men and Women

Ike said he favors more farm props and 100% parity — — Kasson, Minnesota speech, September, 1953.

A Republican congress passed a law providing 82½% of parity for 1955 and 75% of parity for 1956. Here is a farmers fact sheet under this Republican law:

	CROP OR COMMODITY	LOSS PER 1000 BU. OR PER 1000 LBS.
	82½% PARITY
1955	Corn	24c per bu. $240.00
	Oats	5c per bu. 50.00
	Barley	9c per bu. 90.00
	Flaxseed	65c per bu. 650.00
	Soybeans	34c per bu. 340.00
	Butterfat	11c per lb. 110.00

	CROP OR COMMODITY	LOSS PER 1000 BU. OR PER 1000 LBS.
	75% PARITY - NEW FORMULA
1956	Corn	43c per bu. 430.00
	Oats	8.5c per bu. 85.00
	Barley	15.3c per bu. 153.00
	Flaxseed	$1.105 per bu. 1,105.00
	Soybeans	67.8c per bu. 678.00
	Butterfat	16.6c per lb. 166.00

Senator Irving Ives (Rep. N. Y.) has declared that New York farmers will benefit from the administration's flexible support program, because they can buy midwestern feed at a cheaper price.

Agriculture is Iowa's basic industry and if the farmer is prosperous it follows that business men and professional men should also be more prosperous.

GUY M. GILLETTE

For a better farm program for Iowa farmers, vote for the re-election of Iowa's distinguished statesman, who has proved that he can serve Iowa's people well in the United States Senate — Vote For Senator Guy M. Gillette.

L. F. WILCOX

Vote for L. F. Wilcox for U. S. Representative, a farm owner, Veteran of World War II and was a prisoner of War for 27 months, favors 90% price supports and has challenged anyone to debate on flexible price supports vs. 90% parity. Vote for L. F. Wilcox for Congress.

CLYDE L. HERRING

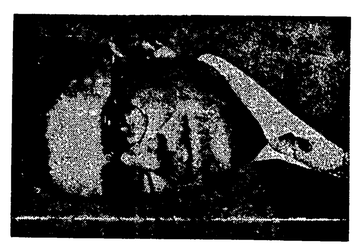
For better State Government, vote for Clyde L. Herring for Governor. Veteran of World War II. Favors a planned road program and an adequate social welfare program. He has proved himself as a capable public officer as Polk County Attorney. It's time for a change in State Government. Vote for Clyde L. Herring for Governor of our great State of Iowa.

AL LOVELAND

Vote for a farmer for State Secretary of Agriculture—Al Loveland. He is a land owner, was State Chairman of PMA from 1942 to 1946. Advocate of 90% of parity and County elected Committees to administer Agricultural program. He was U. S. Under Secretary of Agriculture from 1947 to 1951. Vote for Al Loveland as Iowa's Secretary of Agriculture.

JOSEPH J. LORENZ

We take pleasure in introducing to the voters of Hancock County a candidate for the office of County Supervisor—Joe Lorenz of Duncan, and recommend him for this important office. Known by his neighbors and friends as a successful farmer and businessman. His promise if elected is to conduct the affairs of this high office to the best of his ability in a fair and impartial manner in the best interests of all regardless of party affiliation. It is not a healthy condition for a county to be governed by a one party system all the time. Help make that change by voting for JOSEPH J. LORENZ for County Supervisor.



H. REX AUSTIN

Vote for H. Rex Austin for State Representative from Hancock County. A farmer advocating 90% of parity, Veteran of World War I. A believer in the two party system of government, and each party having a reasonable representation in Iowa's General Assembly. Vote for H. Rex Austin for State Representative.

Funds Available Now For Soil Conservation

Funds are available in Hancock County to assist a number of farmers to establish needed conservation practices before the close of the year, it was announced this week by Alfred V. Josten, office manager for Hancock ASC.

He declared a great amount of valuable soil and water conservation can be accomplished in the next 60 to 90 days if farmers will promptly take advantage of the opportunity offered them through the federal cost-sharing plan commonly known as ACP. Farmers themselves, he said, should be able to devote considerable time to such work in the next couple of months and in addition they will find extra workers and required materials available now.

Manager Josten, urged farmers interested in carrying out cost-sharing work this fall to make inquiry at the county ASC office at once and to file their requests at the earliest possible time. The county committee, he said, will meet on Tuesday of each week to consider all requests on file.

Several types of work which can be done this fall and which are especially needed on many farms in this county are included in the list of approved ACP practices on which the government will share the cost. Among these practices are the spreading of limestone where a soils test shows the need, construction of terraces, tiling, land clearing, land leveling and earth work on sod waterways. In the case of a sod waterway, the seeding would probably be delayed until next spring but otherwise the project could be substantially completed this year and thereby qualify for cost-sharing from 1954 funds when entirely finished in 1955.

Manager Josten, pointed out that this is an excellent time to have soil tests made because they will be required in the 1955 ASC conservation program the same as in the 1954 program for any cost-sharing practice involving the application of limestone or fertilizer. Complete information on getting soil tested may be obtained from either the county ASC office or the county Extension office in Garner.

Commission Sets Seasons For 1954-'55 Trapping

The 1954-55 Iowa trapping seasons have been set by the State Conservation Commission, with several changes over last year. Because of a severe muskrat shortage and a decline in mink numbers, this year's mink-muskrat season is only half as long as last year's. The 1954 mink-muskrat trapping season will open over the entire state at 12 o'clock noon, November 20, and close at midnight, December 4.

The trapping season for raccoon, skunk, civet cat, badger, opossum and beaver will open at 12 o'clock noon, November 10, and will extend to midnight, January 10, 1954. There is a continuous statewide open season on weasel, red and gray fox, groundhog, and coyote. There is a continuous closed season on otter.

Owners and tenants of land and their children may trap upon their land without a trapping license. All other trappers are required to hold a trapping license and mark each trap with tags furnished when the license is purchased.

Seventh Grade News

We have been enjoying a unit on the "Forests of the World". Last Thursday afternoon, in connection with this unit, we visited the lumber yard where Mr Sherwood told us about the different trees in the United States and Canada, from which lumber is obtained. He gave us a sample of each kind of wood and told us how each was used. We are using these samples in our exhibit of woods. We had a very interesting trip and we all wish to thank Mr Sherwood for helping us.

We are also planning an exhibit of forest products.

We have been learning about direct objects, transitive and intransitive verbs, the active and passive voices in language. We find that some of them are confusing.

We are learning decimals and per cent in arithmetic.

We have a new girl in our class, her name is Margarite Keeper. Margarite is from Michigan.

—Sherryle Clabaugh
—Maurine Johnson

Eighth Grade News

In English we've been studying the parts of speech.

In history we've been studying about early America and the American government.

In civics we've been studying about our community.

In health we've been studying about the organs.

In arithmetic we've been studying about decimals.

Sixth Grade News

This week in language we have been busy making reports. Some of them were very interesting and the class learned about different things from listening to others as well as securing information about their own report.

In health we are making note books about the Seven Food Groups.

We are busy making Halloween decorations for our room. Only two weeks left and then Halloween will be here.

In arithmetic we have begun adding and substracting fractions. We enjoy these very much.

Editorial

Originally, this editorial was to be about manners, but this subject is so extensive, it has been reduced solely to manners for men and dates.

Suppose we take a sample date. Johnny Jones has been attracted to a pretty little sophomore who is rather interested in him. Since our fair haired boy is a junior, he is no square. He know's enough to call at least a day before D-day (date-day for you lower classmen). Betty, who is a smart chick, snaps at her joyously, retains his senses long enough to say he'll stop for her at 7:30 and would she like a movie? Before he faints on the floor.

The big hour arrives and so does Johnny, but also, he arrives too early (which is just as bad as too late) and pretty Betty isn't ready, so he chats with the folks while Betty scrambles through her preparations. Then the vision of feminine beauty floats down the stairs, sure that her hair is a mess, her slip is showing, and Johnny is a thoughtless cad.

Johnny gulps and rushes for her arm, while she smiles demurely and silent vows that if she has her way, this clumsy oaf will be a polished gentleman within the next two weeks.

She manages to pilot him to the coat closet without letting him fall over an end table and break his leg, which would ruin their date.

As they pause before the closet, he takes the hint and helps her into her coat, and then turns, opens the door, and walks out.

Basketball season tickets will go on sale soon.

What can Betty do but stifle the desire to kick him and follow him down the walk.

They leave, Johnny making smart remarks about her stealing the car which he ran around the front, (he remembered enough to open the car door for her) and she thoughtfully gains comfort from the fact that he didn't sit out in the yard and honk for her.

They reach the theater and like any normal boy, Johnny gets out and leaves Betty to shift for herself. Left with the alternatives of throwing a rock at his retreating head or chasing him, she chooses the latter and speeds down the sidewalk in time to catch him under the marquee.

Johnny is no dope. He buys her ticket.

In they go. Johnny first (there's no rules) then Betty. Time passes uneventfully. When the show is over, Betty leaps to her feet and beats him to the aisle, thus preventing another faux pas on his part.

Both are normal youngsters, so they stop at a restaurant. Johnny opens the door, selects the booth and sits down, leaving poor Betty to struggle with her coat.

Under his rough surface, Johnny has the material gentlemen are made of. He asks her what she wants, then orders for them both.

Back to the car and straight home, Johnny boy. First date, remember? Now Johnny has talked to enough seniors to know it's acceptable to kiss a girl on the first date,—if you've known her a long time.

They've been friends since kindergarten, so we lift our collective feet and tiptoe silently into the night.

Basketball season tickets will go on sale soon.

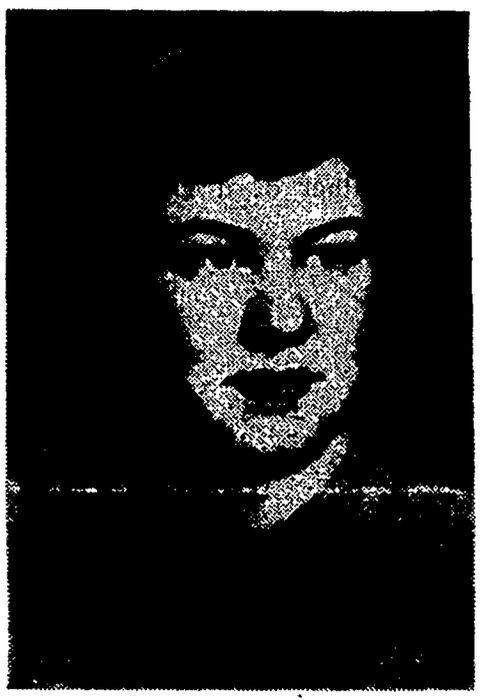
Teacher Interview



We have introduced you to Mr. Dale Heppler, one of the of the new teachers. Today we interveiw another teacher, Miss Rachel Arlette Peterson. Miss Peterson was born on a farm near Eagle Grove. The family then consisted of three girls and two boys. Miss Peterson's high school life was spent at Clarion. During high school she was very active for she participated in Band, Orchestra, Glee Club, Rainbow, and was a 4-H member. After high school she went on to college at Iowa State-she spent her entire 4 years there; obtained a B. S. Degree, and participated in the Pep Organization and Women's Athletic Association. Miss Peterson has many and varied interests. Among her favorites are music and sports. Blue Tango is her favorite song, Ralph Flanagan is her favorite band leader. Watching T-V and writing letters are her favorite pastimes. People who are continually late is her pet peeve. Her most embarrassing moment was when a girl friend dropped a plate of food on her in a cafeteria at Ames.

One night, while baby-sitting, Miss Peterson got two dogs mixed. Sound complicated? Not really. It was simply a matter of letting the house dog out, and mistakenly letting the farm dog in. "So what?" you say. So the dog now in the house had a chip on all four shoulders, and was looking for a fight. Need we say more?

The students at Iowa State are allowed to sleep till noon if they like on Parent's Day. Or, at least they could until one morning Miss Peterson and a friend started a snake dance at five o'clock. Why? To wake everyone up for coffee and doughnuts.

—Cecil Jacobs

Freshman News

In science we have been studying water, water faucets, and heat and how it travels.

In mathematics we are reviewing decimals and decimal fractions and have started multiplying and dividing by tens, hundreds, and thousands.

In home ec. we had a test over proteins, carbohydrates, fats, vitamins, and minerals. We have started making breakfast and preparing grapefruit, oranges, and apple sauce.

The boys in shop have been planing down their projects and squared them. Charles B. gave a demonstration on planing.

In Literature we have been reading stories and working in our workbooks.

Off The Boards

Hi, basketball fans. Here we are back once again to keep you informed on the happenings of our coming basketball season.

The first day when the hopefuls reported for practice, there was a noticeful difference in the representation for the Klemme High School basketball squad. Gone were some of the members from the previous year's team, who had helped Klemme attain a fairly successful season.

But the past is gone and it is the desire of the members of this year's team to attain and surpass last year's record. May we now introduce our hopefuls for this year, with a nucleus consisting of four lettermen: Don Thiemann, Cecil Jacobs, Graydon Barz, and Denny Haefner, and ably flanked by --Seniors-- Dick Dulmes, Alan Neuberger, Lee Gruis, Harry Anderson, Doyce Michelson, Gene Wilkinson; -- Juniors -- Don Kramer, Warren Terhufen, Roger Bachman, David Waddingham, Maynard Weisbrod; -- Sophomores -- Bob Larson, Keith Nuehring, Martin Brinkman, Gary Lenz, Marvin Josten; -- Freshman -- Chuck Bacon and Larry Ulrich.

We wish to extend a "thank you" to the fans, who proved to be so patient and supporting last season, and we hope that your response is even greater this year.

Junior News

English: We've started on the third act of our play which will be October 26. Don't forget to get your tickets.

Typing: We've started to try to compose short notes out of our heads while we are typing instead of using the book to look at. The results are quite amusing.

Shorthand: Writing letters.

Government: We just took a unit test. Oh me, Oh my!

Home Ec.: We've started sewing and all are diligently working on their projects.

Shop: They're working on their projects too.

Fifth Grade News

Many of our people have visited the dentist in the past two weeks. Those who returned their dental cards are Billy Renner, Jim Clements, Keith Christians, Billy Clabaugh, and Raymond Howard.

Joyce Hummel left our room last Friday. She has moved to Waterloo. We were very sorry to have her leave as now we have only six girls and fifteen boys.

In social studies we are completing a unit on the southeastern states. We made maps to illustrate the main industries and products of each state. Each one of us also made a sketch of an early plantation.

We are reviewing the parts of both friendly and business letters. Each of us wrote a friendly letter to send to a friend or relative. We are writing business letters to imaginary companies.

Goals of Girls Physical Education

Physical education is a part of education which is as old as the story of mankind and as modern as the atomic age. This need for it is old, but the point of view is modern.

Today we think about the education of the whole child. Day by day he lives and grows through experience. All of his experiences contributes to changes which make him feel more like an adult, less as a child. Vigorous work and play are part of his experience. They are necessary for complete physical growth and also for mental and emotional maturity. This brings us up to the true definition of physical education. Physical education is the education of the whole person by means of vigorous physical activities. The general purpose of physical education for high school girls is the same as the general purpose of all education. To help each student to grow to her fullest capacity as a member of a democratic society. There are also others. Playing together means self discipline, putting the team first and giving ones best to a cause. Sportsmanship added to team play make a strong foundation for emotional stability and mental health.

Learning the ways of democracy—Social democracy appears in the democracy of sport. By understanding, remembering, and using these simpler forms of democracy such as discussing, planning, and carrying out of plans. Young citizens learn, so they may contribute to an adult democratic society.

A modern program takes time good facilities, and equipment as well as understanding and co-operation between the student and teacher. But it pays big dividends and the whole outcome is great.

Basketball season tickets will go on sale soon.

"Sloppy Sops"

In English we have been learning how to look up things in different types of introductions such as, "Mr. Hiller, this is Keith Nuehring, who is interested in studying English for awhile."

In biology, Mr Smith has introduced to us, a very pretty worm. We were to disect it and learn the parts and their functions. On Tuesday we had the test over the parts and on Thursday we had a test on the functions.

In algebra we are still reviewing some of last years work yet in equations.

In history we found if we outline our history, we understand it better. We just got through studying "The Quest of Government".

For 16 Years Your "Work-Horse" in the house

TOM MARTIN

Today . . . Iowa's Best Man for the

U.S. SENATE

There comes a time when only the best — and nothing but the best — will serve the purpose. That's when the experienced, reliable man . . . the seasoned, tried-in-the-fire man — comes through as the one on whom to rely. This is such a time and Tom Martin is Iowa's logical choice to serve in the U. S. Senate — with the same devotion with which he's served state and nation in the House.

Turn the pages of his record. See where — far back in 1939 — he envisioned the need of defense for his country. Tom Martin authorized the very first law for stockpiling strategic and critical war materials this country ever had!

See how Tom Martin worked hard and faithfully, through discouraging years. and then, in these last years, he had the opportunity for magnificently constructive work for his state. His was the sponsorship of bills giving farmers substantial taxation benefits. One of his laws permits farmers to deduct up to 25% of gross farm income each year for money spent on soil and water conservation.

Yes . . . Tom Martin has been your "work-horse" in the House — he'll pull his heart out for you in the Senate! He's Iowa's choice . . . her best man for the U. S. Senate to help support the Eisenhower program.

THE PRESIDENT SIGNS A MARTIN-SPONSORED BILL

And every law Tom Martin sponsors is good for every Iowan. For 16 years, he's been in Washington, working for you. Recently Ike recognized Martin's legislative contributions to America with these words: "Dear Tom: I want you to know how deeply I appreciate your contribution to the legislative program just completed. With warm regards." Dwight D. Eisenhower

Corn Belt feed costs will be higher than in the year just ending. And if the present trend in the feeder market continues, Corn Belt cattle feeders can look for less than normal feeding profits in contrast to the above normal profits of the past season, predicted Iowa State College Farm Economist Francis A. Kutish.

Feeder cattle were bought at favorable prices last fall, Kutish continued, and feeders made good margins. Some operators tell of making up to $40 or more per head, clear profit, on cattle bought before January 1. These profits of the past year seem to be the major force behind the current bull market is feeder cattle.

California operators appear the biggest bulls this fall. Recently, they've outbid packers by as much as $1 for thin cows on the Denver market. They've been strong bidders for heavy cattle through the West for a short feed.

Western reports indicate that California and Arizona have 25 percent more cattle on feed than a year ago, according to Kutish. Land that was shifted out of cotton this past season and into feed crops is now being utilized to feed cattle.

Analyzing the market, Kutish pointed out that a feature of this year's market is the unusually narrow spread between (1) low choice, and (2) strictly choice to fancy cattle. It hasn't taken a very high quality bunch of yearlings to bring $20 to $20.75 in the West.

On the other hand, cattle that were strictly choice—pushing fancy—have gone at $21.25 to $21.35.

Moisture conditions in the Southwest will have an effect on the feeder cattle market, Kutish explained. If moisture continues to fall, then demand will probably rise. However, if the reverse happens, demand will slacken.

Another factor, often overlooked, is the native cattle that are to be sold yet this fall, stated Kutish. Stubble growth and fall pastures have been good, so farmers have a lot of cattle that have been kept on the farm. When these cattle move later this fall, they could cause a weakening factor.

Thus, we have so many "ifs and ands" involved that it is difficult to do much more than hedge on what will happen to feeder cattle prices, Kutish concluded.

Off-year Election Important for Both Parties

Dagny Anderson Is Bride Of Luther Schmidt

Couple Will Make Home in Klemme

Miss Dagny Anderson, daughter of Mrs Henry Nonnweiler of Grafton, became the bride of Luther Schmidt, son of Mr and Mrs Albert Schmidt of Klemme Sunday afternoon, October 3, at the Emmanuel Lutheran Church at Grafton. The Rev. A. J. Seegers officiated at the double ring ceremony. Baskets of yellow and white mums decorated the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Chris Anderson of Forest City, wore a gown of white lace and net over white satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice and pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt was floor length with a train, her coronet veil was one worn by her sister-in-law, Mrs Calvin Anderson, and was being worn for the third time. She carried a bouquet of white carnations. A double string of pearls was a gift from the bridegroom.

The matron of honor, Mrs Calvin Anderson, wore a pale green gown and carried a bouquet of bronze mums.

The bride's mother wore a dusty rose outfit with navy blue accessories and the bridegrooms mother was dressed in light blue. Both had corsages of white mums and pink rosebuds. The bride's grandmother, Mrs Neils Jensen, wore a wine colored dress.

Calvin Anderson was the best man. Ushers were Melvin Jensen and Vern Lau.

Harold Boettcher sang "Because" and "Wedding Prayer". Mrs A. J. Seegers accompanied him and also played the traditional wedding music before and after the ceremony.

A reception for 100 guests was held in the church parlor's with the ladies of the Americar Legion serving the tables for the wedding party. The tables were decorated in pale green and yel-

Election Outcome Will Have Bearing On 1956 Race

Next Tuesday's off-year election takes on importance for both of the major political parites, with most observers giving the democrats a slight edge nationwise . . . some even going so far as to give them control of the senate by 5 seats, and control of the house by 30 seats.

It is important to the republicans that they keep control of congress for two very good reasns. One: they feel that President Eisenhower will get better support and be able to more efficiently carry out his program with republican legislators, and two: President Eisenhower is showing more of an inclination not to run for office again in 1956, and they feel that should the democrats gain control, he will be sure to return to private life, leaving them with a new candidate to sell to the public.

The election is important to the democrats, because they feel that by controlling congress they can get more of their ideas across to the public, will have more of a say in shaping policies, and will be in a better shape to present their party's candidates to the voters in the election of 1956.

Aside from the reasons stated above, both parties feel that it is important to the welfare of the country that they control congress. Both have their ideas and policies which are quite often opposed, and both are quite certain their party can do the most for the nation as a whole.

Of interest locally to voters is the race for county supervisor with Joseph J. Lorenz, Duncan democrat, challenging Clinton D. Daniels, incumbent republican. Other county candidates are republicans and are running without opposition.

Curtis G. Riehm, republican of Garner, is seeking election to the office of state representative and is opposed by H. Rex Austin, democrat of Crystal Lake. Opinion seems to indicate that Riehm will be the voters' choice.

Leo Hoegh, republican candidate for governor, seems to have the edge over Clyde E. Herring, democrat, who is seeking that office, but what will probably be the hottest fight in the election will be between incumbent democratic Senator Guy M. Gillette and his challenger, republican Thomas E. Martin. Political experts concede Gillette a slight edge in the race, but due to Martin's activities in congress in behalf of the farmers, would not be surprised if he were to unseat his democrat opponent.

(Editor's Note: The hue and cry from both political parites is to vote down the line for their candidate, and help put the country in better shape. They can't both be right about putting the counry in shape, but they are right when they tell you to vote.

In the past some over fifty per cent of the voters in Hancock County have turned out for off-year elections . . . a rather poor percentage. It means that nearly half the people in the county forfeit their right to have a say in who runs their government.

Remember, if you don't vote, you have no license to squawk about how the country is run, and remember that in all probability your vote in this off year election is also going to make a difference in what happens in 1956.

To be able to go to the polls and cast their ballots in a free election is a privilege that the people of many oppressed countries would dearly love. Here, the privilege is yours. Excercise it! Vote!)

Basketball Season Gets Underway At Franklin Next Week

Shamrocks Will Play In Two Jamborees

Basketball fans will begin to "live" again when the season gets underway next week. First action for the Klemme Commuity High School Shamrocks will be the first annual North Star Conference Jamboree which is to be held at Franklin Consolidated next Wednesday, November 3. Each team in the conference will play one quarter and every team in the conference will be represented. The teams have been paired off so that the north teams in the conference will be playing the south teams.

Following are the pairings and the times that the different teams will play:

7:55, Dows vs Fertile
8:20, Klemme vs Franklin
8:55, Rockwell vs Sheffield
9:20, Ventura vs Kanawha.

Kanawha is a guest team for the jamboree as they are not a member of the conference.

On November 9, the first regularly sheduled game of the season will be played when Woden comes to Klemme for a twin bill. Opener, which will start at 7:00 P. M., will be between the freshman-sophomore teams, and then the varsity will tangle.

The Shamrocks will also participate in the North Iowa Conference Jamboree this year. The Shamrocks feel that it is quite an honor to have been invited to take part in this jamboree as the guest team, and they will tangle with the Northwood team for half a game.

This jamboree will be at Forest City on the evening of Friday, November 12, with first action being between Belmond and Forest City at 7 o'clock. Klemme and Northwood will be next on the floor, followed by Buffalo Center vs Britt, and Lake Mills vs Garner.

Both of these jamborees should produce some good basketball and will give fans a chance to see most of the better teams in this area in action. Be on hand for these jamborees and all the Shamrock games this year. Enjoy some good basketball and boost the Shamrocks.

Judith Brede Bride Of St. Charles Man

Wedding Was At Methodist Church

Miss Judith Brede, daughter of Mr and Mrs Dale Brede of Klemme became the bride of Mr Dale F. McClure, son of Mr and Mrs Harley McClure of St. Charles, Sunday afternoon, October 10th, at two thirty o'clock, at the Methodist Church in Klemme.

The pastor, the Rev Melvin Miller officiated at the double ring ceremony, and was assisted by the Rev. Arnold Edwards of the Ellington Prairie Church. Candles and yellow and bronze mums decorated the altar.

Mrs Paul Jenison of Belmond, presided at the organ, playing nuptial music, and also accompanied Mrs Leland Lieuwen of Kirksville, Mo. who sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white acetate slipper satin. Her finger tip veil of nylon net, fell from a pearl trimmed hat. Her only jewelry was a necklace of triple strand pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of white fugii mums on a white Bible.

Miss Mary Twinan, of Crawfordsville, served as maid of honor and Miss Shirley Spear of Tipton, as bridesmaid, wearing

Republican Rally Draws Large Crowd at Duncan

A crowd estimated at between 400 and 500 people attended the county-wide republican rally at the Duncan Community Hall Thursday evening.

Headlining the speaking program were Congressman James I. Dolliver of Fort Dodge, Lt. Governor Leo Elthon of Fertile, Dudley Weible of Forest City and Curtis G. Riehm republican candidate for State Representative from Hancock County, who also served as master of ceremonies.

The speakers pointed to the record of the iEnsenhower Administration and the 83rd Congress and asked the voters of Hancock County to study carefully the record of both parties and their candidates for office, and to make their choice between the republican record of ending the war, cutting taxes, cleaning out corruption and restoring efficiency in government, or the democratic record of 5 percenters, deep freezes, mink coats, war and corruption and inefficiency in government.

The evening was concluded with dancing following the speaking program. Malek's Accordion Band furnished the music. The rally was one of the best ever held in Hancock County

Pictured above are the men who occupied the speakers' platform at the rally. From left-to-right they are Curtis G. Riehm, republican candidate for state representative; Clinton D. Daniels, incumbent county supervisor, and Chairman of the Hancock County Republican organization; James I. Dolliver, congressman from the 6th District; Dudley Weible, chairman of the 6th District movement for Tom Martin for Senator; and Leo Elthon, Lt. Givernor of Iowa.

Klemme Musicians Try Out for All State Band

Charles D. Whitford, band instructor for the Klemme Community School, took three of his musicians to Hampton, Saturday, where they tried out for positions in the all state band.

This band will practice during the Thanksgiving vacation and will present a concert in the KRNT Theatre in Des Moines on Saturday evening, November 27. The concert will be broadcast over radio station KRNT, Des Moines, on Sunday afternoon, November 28.

The three musicians from the Klemme school, who took part in the try outs were Arthur Carlson, trombone and Fred Arnold, Jr. and Val Stromer, cornet. Arthur Carlson was one of three trombonists, who were chosen from the fifteen who tried out, to actually be a member of the band.

Fred Arnold, Jr. and Val Stromer were not quite so fortunate. There were 39 cornetists trying out for the band and only seven were chosen. The two Klemme musicians were not fortunate enough to satisfy the ear of those judging the try outs.

Lions Club Makes Plans For Future Activities

The Klemme Lions Club met Wednesday evening, October 20, at the grade school basement with 19 members present and Lion President R C Andreae presiding.

Discussion was held on having a Ladies Night and it was decided that the first Wednesday in December would be the date for such an event. It is also planned to present several awards that evening.

Plans were also made whereby the club would entertain each month as honorary Lions two senior boys from the Klemme Community High School.

A report was made on the activities of the Lion sponsored Ground Observer Corps. Their last activity was on Sunday, October 17, when an exercise was held. The local unit reported eight aircraft to the defense filter center at Des Moines.

Plans were also made to send delegates from the local club to the district conference to be held at Clear Lake on October 31.

Music Mothers Met; Concert November 17

(By Mrs E. A. Gerardi)

On Wednesday, October 20th, the regular meeting of Klemme Music Mothers was held in the Home Ec room. There was a fine attendance and many newcomers were present.

After the short business meeting, Mrs Griesy gave a short resume of the vocal organization and Mr Whitford of the band.

This year we have 20 members in the Junior Band and from all reports they are doing fine. November 17th is the date set for the Fall Concert. The program will include both vocal and instrumental. We are looking forward to a very enjoyable evening of music presented by our own youngful musicians under the direction of two capable instructors. We urge everyone to plan to attend. Ticket sale will begin soon with a contest between students, so help someone to win.

The officers of the year served coffee and home made cookies. The social hour was very pleasant. We hope to see everyone back November 17 for a very short meeting.

This is your organization, as parents, and we do need support at regular meetings.

Don't forget the November 17 meeting at 2 p. m. The concert will be that night in the school gym.

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

The latest USDA report on fall farrowing intentions indicates farmers in the six Corn Belt states raised about 18 percent more summer litters (June through August) than a year ago, according to Francis A. Kutish, Iowa State College Farm Economist.

Farmers will market these hogs during December and into the winter months. The increase is sharp enough to prevent a repeat of last year's runaway winter hog market, Kutish predicted—although we should get some winter price rise.

Meanwhile, back in June, farmers were planning only a 2 percent increase in litters for September through November. But in September their plans called for an 8 percent boost over the September-November farrowing of a year ago.

Even so, marketing increases during the spring months will not be as much over a year earlier as they will during the winter months, continued Kutish.

Farmers in these Corn Belt states are planning to raise 11 percent more winter pigs than a year ago. This means larger sales and not as high prices next summer as prevailed this year.

However, because of the drouth, a larger proportion of the 1955 pig crop will be produced in the northern Corn Belt than in former years. For example, Kansas predictions show 13 percent less pigs than last year. Meanwhile, Wisconsin and Minnesota are making sharp increases in winter litters, according to Kutish.

Hog slaughter so far this fall has closely paralleled that of last year during the same period. But there are more hogs coming in. Compared with 1953, the kill has been running 50,000 to 150,000 heavier per week at the major terminals.

With the increased weight of supplies, Kutish pointed out, prices have dropped to new lows since early in 1953. However, the price drops have been on the gradual side, with the spread between barrows and gilts and packing sows becoming very narrow. We can expect this spread to widen as winter approaches.

Since mid-summer, the cost-per-pound of protein in concentrates has shown some decline while the cost of protein in roughages has increased, according to Kutish. With the appearance of the new soybean crop on the market, soybean oilmeal has taken first place in protein feed economy, moving ahead of cottonseed meal with linseed meal showing a slight cost increase.

An increase in hay prices has sent the cost-per-pound of protein in roughages back up to the levels of last spring, concluded Kutish.

HANGS "UP"

A log chain holds up the mail box at the Clarence Edeker farm near Allison. But the box isn't suspended from the chain; it's on top. Mr Edeker welded the links of the chain together and it makes a unique "post".

Success should be a journey, not a destination.

It left me breathless!

My cold was so bad that I could hardly breathe. And a chicken must have air, you know. Then the Boss sprayed the house with Can-Pho-Sal, an inhalent that loosens mucus in nostrils and throat. Can-Pho-Sal means easier breathing. In bad cases, Can-Pho-Sal can be used as a nasal wash by means of a syringe. You'll find Can-Pho-Sal where you see . . .

the Highway Story

By Bob Hullihan

Mother finally had her day in court and, for the good of her family, she made it count. This is what happened.

A safety education fieldman was traveling between towns when the speed of a passing car caught his attention. He kept the car in sight long enough to see it swerve to the shoulder in meeting traffic then go on at the same speed.

Thinking he might soon be called on to bind up wounds and call an ambulance, the safety man pushed up his own speed to keep the car in sight. The pace was 85 miles an hour. In the 20-mile speed zone of the next town, the pace was still 60.

The safety man decided to call a halt. He stopped the speeding car and found an 18-year-old girl driver accompanied by her mother.

"She was driving 85 miles an hour on the highway," cut in the mother. "I told her she was. And she was driving 60 through this town. I told her that, too."

With that the safety man decided to give the mother a chance to complete the education of her daughter. He took them to a justice court where, once again, the mother answered the questions sharply and to the point.

"Are you guilty of speeding in a restricted zone?" came the final question.

"Guilty? I'll say we're guilty. And her father drives the same way." Mother was having her day in court.

When the court levied a reasonable fine, mother began to soften. She opened her own pocketbook. But by this time the daughter was feeling the pangs of guilt. She insisted on paying her own fine, shook hands with the safety man and promised through tears that she would never do it again. In fact, there was a whole round of hand shaking.

Mother summed it up with a great deal of satisfaction: "I'm glad this happened," she said.

Season Tickets

The Basketball Season Tickets went on sale Tuesday. The basketball squad will be around selling tickets. The tickets will be $4.00 for an adult and $2.00 for a student. If anyone is interested is buying a season ticket but is not approached, please contact any player. They will be available at the ticket office November 9th, the Shamrock's first home game.

I Ask You Now

What would you like to do after you get out of high schol?

Ione R.: Go to college and become an elementary teacher.

Gene W.: Earn my living as easy as possible.

Doyce M.: Work in a filling station.

Barbara A.: Take up nurses' training.

Sharleen S: Go to Mission House.

Freshman News

Science: Studying about heat and how it travels, different types of heat and a test.

Math: Short cuts in multiplication and division, changing decimal fractions and per cents.

Home Ec: Making cocoa that is good to drink, preparing different kinds of fruits.

Shop: The boys are still having a tough time squaring up boards with a file.

Editorial

Have you been noting the politicans in the newspapers and/or nodding to sleep at the speeches on radio and TV? It seems that the politicians are here to stay, at least, until November 2. Well, we could shut our eyes and ears, but we really shouldn't. We should take an interest in this election of 1954, because although it's not a presidential election, it is important. It will be a deciding factor in your future, your children's future. Now that is a worthwhile cause, don't you think? Thus, your effort should be exerted for this election.

In many cities teenagers form active political clubs, discuss the voters' views with them, do odd jobs for the campaigns and attend political rallies. However, these activities are almost impossible for us Klemme teenagers but you can do something important. Urge your parents and neighbors to vote. Each of their votes counts and is a vote, not only for your future, but for the future of America, a land of freedom, equality, and opportnity.

Notes About Notes

Nothing new has been added to our music seletions because we now have our numbers selected for the Fall Festival. We are improving our singing gradually as each group practices its' range independently of the other groups. I'd like to put in a reminder that the whole girls' chorus would run more smoothly if certain girls would keep quiet and show more interest.

A Neolite tan leather case has been added to the music department. It is a Columbia 360K record player and plays three speeds: seventy-eight, forty- five, and thirty-three.

Second Grade News

Melford Velau, Connie Kuhlers, and Marilyn and Rosalyn Arnold have returned their dental cards. This makes a total of eleven cards returned.

Jim Stahl and Douglas Schlei each treated their classmates on their seventh birthday.

We are studying the short vowel sounds in phonics.

In language we are learning the difference between a statement and a question.

The Elves are busily working on their "New Friends" booklets.

The Fairies have finished reading the unit "Old Friends" and have begun the "New Friends and Neighbors" unit.

Kindergarten News

The Kindergarteners are beginning the construction of a playhouse in their room, are making Halloween decorations and are making plans for their Halloween party. Their present unit is on the home.

The Once Over

During the past week many girls were trying out for cheer leading. Friday an election was held and the high school elected Gracka Gerardi, JoEllen Clabaugh, and Margaret Haefner. Carol Bridges was a cheer leader last year and was a carry over for this year. As there are two boys teams, the high school decided to have two sets of cheer leaders. Those elected for the second team cheer leaders were as follows: Karen Clabaugh, Dorothy Kroehnke, Eva Thiemann and Berleen Bridges.

Monday a meeting was held by those who wanted to from Pep Club. Club officers were chosen and they are as follows: President, Lyle Pannhoff, Vice-President, Merlyn Olson; Sec.-Treas., Ina Van Buskirk. Those who want "beanies" are to bring their money to the secretary.

The beanies will cost sixty cents each. We hope this year's club will be even a greater success than last year's and encourage all students, if possible to follow along with this year's Pep Club.

Fourth Grade News

In social studies we have just finished a unit on Boro Indians in South America. We have had several committees make bulletin boards for our unit. We had a fine display on "Jungle Animals" and another on "Rubber". Mark Hueneman and Julie Stokesbary made a miniature animal trap, Kathy Koerner made a blow gun, and Vernon Jurgemeyer made a spear.

Mark Hueneman and Verlinda Stahl have treated us for their birthdays.

For reading time our teacher selected Loid Lenski's new book "Corn-Farm Boy" We especially like it because it's about a farm family in our own state.

Language has become quite a puzzle. We are now learning whether a group of words is a sentence or whether it isn't.

Reading group the "Jets" went to the third grade and read a story to them. The name of it was "Whiskers Steals the Show".

Kathy Priebe returned her signed dental card. We now have nine cards returned.

Third Grade News

We have been enjoying the nice fall weather and are looking forward to Halloween. Our room is beginning to look very scary with jack-o-lanterns, bats, witches, and black cats.

We have also been working very hard. In science we have learned about simple and compound leaves. In social studies we have been studying about fruits and are now ready to learn how we get our milk.

We have had four birthdays—Judith Rasmus, Janette and Janelle Greimann and Zelda Heginger. We were very pleased to have visitors. They were Mrs. Alden, Mrs Rasmus, and Mrs Schmidt.

We have a new girl and boy in our grade—Judy Keeper and Russell Hanson. We now have 29 in our grade.

Jokes

Cowboy: "Your putting your saddle on backwards."

Dude: "That's all you know about it, Smarty. You don't even which way I'm going."

"What happened to Briggs?"

"He was getting shaved by a woman barber when a mouse ran across the floor."

Reckless Driver: "Hear those cylinders knocking?"

Frightened Passenger: "It's not the cylinders, it's my knees."

Hairpins & Tennis Shoes

Guess what? We have decided on our new gym uniforms. We will send for new blue shorts and will wear our own white shirts. This will make an improvement in the appearance of our classes because each girl will wear a white shirt and blue shorts instead of all different colored clothes.

Our time has been devoted to volley ball. We have learned to spike and block the ball so it won't go over the net. We have also learned rotation and non-rotation games. In rotation games players move clockwise to serving position (right back) when side out is called. In non-rotation games the player in serving position exchanges positions with each player as he would in a rotation game.

The girls are not only learning to play volleyball, but they also get a chance to officiate a game. This makes us keep our rules polished and up to date.

Because of the great interest of the high school's playing volley ball, the enthusiastic seventh and eighth grade girls wanted to learn—which they are doing now.

The fifth and sixth grades are learning to tumble. They have learned how to do front and back somersaults and also to stand on their heads. Have they acquired flat heads and red faces yet?

Did you know the first basketball game is November 9? Yep, the basketball season is almost here again. Our first opponent is Woden. Let's all come and cheer the boys on to victory and a good start into a new season.

Senior Interview

The senior interviewed this week was a tall, dark and handsome lad that goes by the name of Graydon Barz. "Ding" was born February 11, 1937 in Klemme and has gone to school here all his life.

"Ding's" favorite pastimes include; reading, dancing, and going to the movies. His favorite musical piece is "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue".

His favorite band leader is Louis Armstrong. Jane Wyman and Rock Hudson, who played in his favorite movie, Magnificent Obsession", are his favorite actress and actor.

Graydon enjoys eating when he isn't playing basketball, baseball, or participating in track, and his favorite menu is T-bone steak, French fries, and a tossed salad.

Of the three sports mentioned before, basketball is "Ding's" favorite.

Graydon is planning to major in medicine at SUI after high school.

Marilyn Hall of Garner, friend of the couple, as flower girl, wore a dress of white slipper satin, and carried a basket of yellow pompons. David McClure of St. Charles, brother of the bridegroom, wearing a navy blue suit, served as ringbearer, carrying the rings on a lace covered satin pillow.

Richard Harmon of Garner, friend of the couple served as best man and Dellwyn Brede, brother of the bride as groomsman wearing navy blue suits.

Candle lighters were Nancy Guth of Klemme, friend of the bride, wearing a gown of gold slipper satin, and Leland Halfpop cousin of the bride, wearing a navy blue suit. Ushers were Dean Bagby of Stockport and Glenn Peterson of Ames, friends of the couple, both wearing navy blue suits.

The bride's mother wore an aqua blue dress with red accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy costume with black accessories, and each wore white fugii mum corsages. The bride's father wore a grey suit and the bridegroom's father a navy blue suit. The men and boys taking part in the services including the bride's grandfathers, Roy Halfpop of Kanawha and Henry Brede wore white carnation boutonnieres.

Refreshments were served to about 220 guests, immediately following the wedding service, at the church parlors. A four-tiered cake, decorated with yellow and white, topped with an ornament of swans, bride and groom wedding bells was baked by Mrs D P Anderson of Klemme, and served by Mrs W W Kline of Chula, Mo., an aunt of the bridegroom and Mrs Alfred Jurgemeyer of Klemme, friend of the couple. Mrs Roger Halfpop of Kanawha, cousin of the bride and Shirley Beier of Des Moines, friend of the bride, poured. Miss Carole Finn of Iowa City, friend of the bride had charge of the guest book.

Waitresses were Barbara Doty, Patrica Branscom, Sue Kauzlarich of Ames, Mrs Dean Bagby of Stockport and Yvonne Olson of Forest City, friends of the couple.

Eunice Helps of Klemme and Ila Mae Anderson, Goodell, close friends were in charge of gifts.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in an apartment at Duncan. The bride wore a red wool suit with black accessories for traveling.

Mrs McClure is a graduate of Klemme High School Class of 1952 and has completed two years of study at Iowa State College at Ames.

Mr McClure is a graduate of St. Charles High School of 1947 and is now D. H. I. A. Supervisor of Hancock County.

Mayor Recommends License Suspension

Roger Lyons appeared in Mayor Cook's court Sunday afternoon and paid a fine of $10 and costs of $5.20 on a reckless driving charge. In addition Mayor Cook recommended that his license be suspended for 90 days.

Lyons committed his offense on September 24th, but Marshal Ulrich was unable to catch him to bring him before the Mayor. The state patrol was given the information and they made the arrest Sunday after a chase on the highway between here and Garner.

Hospital Auxiliary Presenting Pageant

Mrs E E Hunsley, of Britt, has just completed the writing of a history, "Peace Through War", to be used as a pageant on November 9 and 10 at the Britt High School Auditorium.

Starting with a beautifully dressed Indian girl singing, "The Indian Love Call", and her tribe joining with Pilgrims for a Thanksgiving dinner, the story carries such outstanding events as Paul Revere, his horse and his famous ride; Betsy Ross making the first flag; beautiful colonial ladies and a minuet, gold rush prospectors, cowboys; old time pioneers; singing colored plantation men and boys; Abe Lincoln, and the Gettysburg Address; on to Irving Berlin's 'White Christmas', following with events of World War I and II. All branches of the armed services will be honored, then V E and V J day, the Korean War and finally "Peace Through "War".

Folks from all corners of the county are participating, and the dressing and acting should prove most colorful.

As was mentioned last week, this is sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Hancock County Memorial Hospital. Mrs Clifford Schayer of Britt is chairman of this project.

Tickets are now being circulated and your purchasing and attending this outstanding event will help to promote the worthwhile work of his organization. Final details will appear next week.

Tickets for the pageant will be on sale locally at the Wellemeyer Store.

low. A three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the table The miniature bride and groom was the same one that the bride's mother had used.

Mrs Delbert Sankey cut and served the cake and Mrs Ray Urbatsch poured. Mrs Melvin Jensen, cousin of the bride, had charge of the guest book. Mrs Wayne Greiman took care of the gifts and the waitresses were Janice Waddingham, Karen Baker and Frances Urbatsch.

For going away the bride wore a grey and black suit.

Mrs Schmidt has been employed at various homes, mostly in the Garner area. Mr Schmidt is a stock buyer. The couple will make their home in Klemme.

Jolly Workers Club Met

The Jolly Workers Club held their October meeting at the home of Irene Waddingham with fifteen members answering roll call. Betty Ann Kramer was a visitor.

Election of officers was held and our new president will be Alvina Helps, vice president, Anna Conners and secretary and treasurer, Ruth Trampel. Wemkie Cavitt will take care of the flowers and cards. Mildred Gruis Lillie Pearson and Maude Bachman are on the entertainment committee.

We voted to send $5.00 to the Community Chest Drive. We will again have the Farm Bureau lessons at our meetings this year.

We are going to serve lunch at the farm sale of John Lass.

The November meeting will be at Wemkie Cavitt's with Luella Boelman as co-hostess.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess with Ruth Trampel as co-hostess.

Return from East

Mr and Mrs Raymond Wille and daughters returned home Friday last week from an 11-day trip to Mountainside, New Jersey and New York City where they visited with Mrs. Wille's brother and family, Mr and Mrs Leo Blumer and Barbara Jo. They drove up to Yonkers, N. Y. for a visit with Dr and Mrs Paul Schuldt and to Nyack, N. Y. to visit Mr and Mrs Charles Sheridan who have visited Iowa several times. The Willes report that New York was having beautiful weather then and the scenery through the mountains was at its most colorful.

CAVE-IN

A Mississippi pipe-line worker was killed near Glidden recently, when an eight-foot ditch caved in on him. The victim, LeRoy Blanchard of Biloxi, was covered with dirt for about 30 minutes and never regained consciousness.

FRANK GOTCH

The Frank Gotch state park was formally dedicated, at Humboldt, September 26. About 250 persons attended the services in honor of the famous Humboldt resident, who was at one time the world's heavyweigt champion wrestler, retiring undefeated.

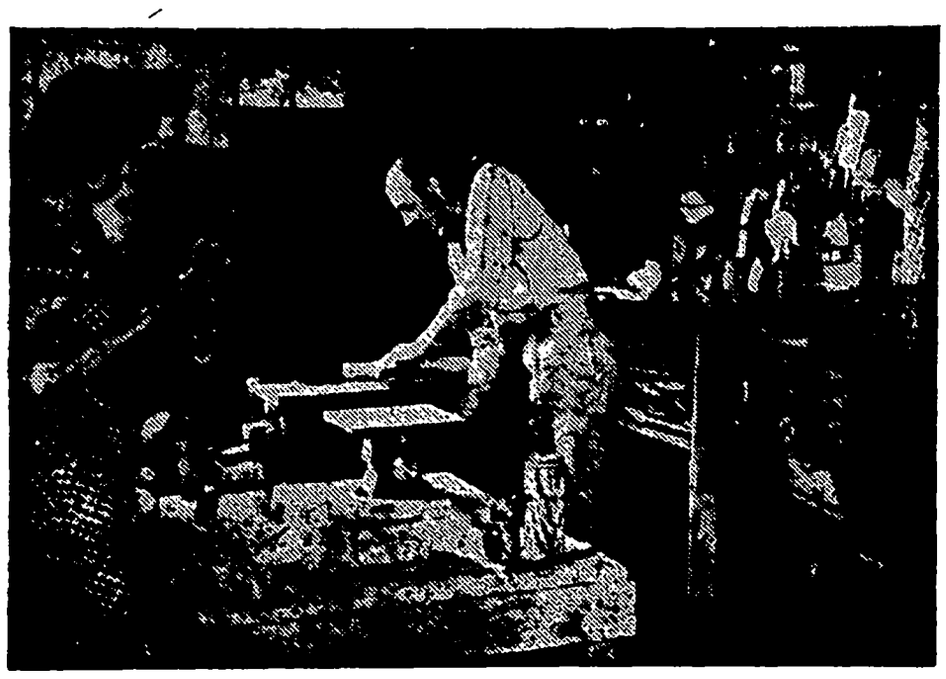
For a Fuller Life—

Develop a Hobby



This Iowa farm couple enjoy working together on their hobby of making lamps and other useful articles from cactus wood. They have a workshop in their basement where they can keep equipment and have plenty of room to spread out their materials and finished products.

* * *

"You're never too young to start a hobby and you're never too old to continue it," says Iowa State College Extension Recreation Specialist George Wilkinson.

In fact, the sooner you start, the better. Then when you get older and have more free time you will be skilled in doing something you enjoy.

What Is A Hobby?

You may ask what we mean by a hobby. Hobbies have been defined as advocations or recreations you have a continuous interest in. So you see, a hobby can be nearly anything you want it to be if it is something you are really interested in.

Right now there is a trend toward "do it yourself" activities and other hobbies you must buy commercial materials for.

Some of these activities are wonderful ways to start a hobby. However, real satisfaction comes from starting with raw material and ending with a finished product you created yourself. Wilkinson says in our age of specialization too often we neglect educating our hands while we educate our minds to do complex problems.

Hobbies Vary

Not all hobbies have to be something you mold with your hands. Many people enjoy hobbies merely for intrinsic values they receive from them—that is, just for pleasure they receive from doing something, and not for any end product.

Bird Watching

One such hobby might be bird watching. Much satisfaction can be gained from having the ability to recognize calls of various birds as you walk through the woods.

Like To Read?

Other people get great satisfaction from belonging to a good book club. Even reading for reading's sake can be a hobby.

Some people become experts on a subject by reading everything they can about it.

Working With Groups

Still other people find working with groups a very satisfactory hobby. They can see over the years how their imprint has been left upon personalities of the younger folks.

Collections

Many people find an outlet in the collecting field. This sometimes proves very worthwhile.

Wilkinson tells of an elderly lady who was without funds or relatives to care for her. She was unable to make a living where she lived so went back to the old stamp collection she had been keeping for years. She sold it for a sum adequate to keep her many years.

Mental Health Insurance

Wilkinson says not to look upon hobbies as a means of security in old age. But, he adds, there is a great deal of mental health insurance in a hobby. Tensions or present, high-voltage living can be released through the relaxing activity of hobbies.

So, for fuller living, Wilkinson advises you to get on the hobby horse of your choice.

Struck By Car

Efrain Ortiz, 40, Garner, was painfully injured at about 8 P. M. on Thursday evening when he was struck by a car driven by Gus Schulz while walking along highway No. 69 just west of Garner. Ortiz was walking south and Schulz was approaching from the south and an approaching vehicle made it impossible for Schulz to leave his lane of travel according to Hancock County Deputy Sheriff R. E. Nesbit who investigated. Ortiz was rushed to the Mercy Hospital in Mason City where he was treated for lacerations and bruises. Attending doctors expected he might have to remain in the hospital for several days.

Public Health Nurse To Hold Prenatal Classes In Klemme

Expectant mothers in the Klemme community are invitted to attend a series of six prenatal classes to be held in the basement of the office of Dr. Dulmes, and conducted by Public Health Nurse, Miss Helen Lemke.

The classes will be held each Tuesday from 1:30 to 3:30 P. M. from November 2nd until December 6th.

The classes are sponsored by the Klemme American Legion Auxiliary, and are approved by the County Medical Society. They are free and will be conducted in an informal manner.

Those who are interested are urged by Miss Lemke to attend. She hope that those who cannot attend every class will attend as many of them as they feel they can. She extends a welcome to everyone whether it be for one class or for the whole series.

"Outdoor Shop Talk" Scheduled For TV

The fall series of "Outdoor Shop Talk", the TV shows being produced by the State Conservation Commission, have been scheduled by most Iowa stations.

The 15-minute programs will be shown weekly on every Iowa TV station and on stations in neighboring states having Iowa audiences. Ten programs will be produced in the fall series, covering such subjects as fish, animals, reptiles, birds, trapping, hunting, and winter fishing.

Stations in this area showing the programs are:

WOI-TV, Ames — Saturday — Immediately following football games in afternoon; WHO-TV, Des Moines — Saturday — 12:30 P. M.; KGLO-TV, Mason City — Thursday — 9:15 P. M.; KWWL-TV, Waterloo — Friday — 2:45 P. M.; and KMMT-TV, Austin, Minn. — Monday — 6:30 P. M.

These viewing times are subject to change, but such changes will be announced in the program schedules of local newspapers.

You don't make a mark in the world with ditto marks.

Farmers Need To Understand New Tax Law, Says ALC

Iowa City, Iowa, Oct. 21—Although 1954 income tax deadlines are still some three to five months in the future, it's none too soon to begin planning how to meet them since the pay law which Congress passed this summer sets tax rules for all of 1954.

So say tax specialists of the Agriculture Law center in the State University of Iowa's college of law. The Center is a cooperative venture between SUI and Iowa State College to further research into farm economics and law.

Although nothing that more persons than ever before will need the advice of their attorney and tax advisor, the Agricultural Law center staff says that an understanding of the new law is important and worthwhile to the taxpayers. In the following paragraphs the ALC reports on some of the important tax provisions of the new Internal Revenue Code of 1954. You pay tax on what the new law defines as "taxable income". You have to know what income to leave out and what deductions to take to find your true taxable income.

Gross Income: This includes compensation for services (including fees, commissions, etc.); income derived from business (farming); gains from dealing in property; interests, rents, dividends; annuities; income from life insurance and endowment contracts; your share of partnership gross income; income from your interest in an estate or trust and several others.

Exclusions: These are not treated as income at all. Old exclusions and new ones must be considered this year. The first $50 of dividends are not income. Nor are some payments you receive for sickness and injuries or in lieu of wages while sick. Rents, dividends, interests and pensions may not be taxable under the new retirement provisions. Insurance paid at death and some death benefits paid by an employer can be excluded from income. The new law adds many other tax saving exclusions, for example, scholarships, fellowships, meals and lodging furnished by your employer, servicemen's combat pay and mustering out pay.

Deductions: Deductions are subtracted from gross income to determine taxable income. The new law includes practically all the old educations and some important new ones like faster depreciation, soil and water expenses, research costs, transportation expenses, more medical expenses, expenses of taking care of a child while you work, cost of fighting tax assessments theft losses and many other.

Exemptions: Taxpayers with children get a new tax break. Even though your child earns more than $600 you can still claim him as a dependent. If he or she is over 19 and is in school or in an on-farm training program, you still get an exemption. Of course, you have to provide more than half of the child's support. You also get a new exemption this year for anyone (even a non-relative) who lives with you and is a member of your household.

Taxable Income: After you subtract all exclusions, deductions and exemptions from gross income, you have your taxable income. The tax is figured on this.

Elections: Under the new law, the taxpayer must specifically "elect" to use many of the tax savings provisions, or he doesn't get them. The way you file your return may be an "election" It is important to know what, when and how to make these elections.

The new 1954 tax law is more than 1,000 pages long. There is something in it for every taxpayer. You can save money if you know how the law applies to you.

The Basic Idea Behind the All-New 1955 PONTIAC

On Display October 29 and 30

ABOUT 30 years ago General Motors Corporation presented to America a new car called Pontiac. This new car was the direct result of a very specific idea.

The idea was this: to create a car which took its style, its engineering principles and its features from the very best and most expensive in America—and to build these into a car priced just above the very lowest!

Naturally, such an idea produced a wonderful and highly popular car—a car which millions of satisfied owners have driven with outstanding pride and pleasure.

Now, nearly three decades later, an entirely new Pontiac has been created for 1955—a car completely new from the ground up!

One thing, however, about the 1955 Pontiac remains unchanged—its basic idea—to offer the American public the very finest car that can possibly be built to sell at a price within easy reach of any new-car buyer.

When you see the new Pontiac on Friday or Saturday—Oct. 29 or 30—you will be immediately impressed by its remarkable new styling. No other car in the world looks like this new Pontiac!

When you drive it you will be astonished at its performance. For the 1955 Pontiac introduces the powerful new Strato-Streak V-8, an all-new engine that has already been proved in more than 3 million test miles!

When you price the new Pontiac you will come face to face with the basic Pontiac idea—you will be agreeably surprised that so much car, so much sparkling newness, so much luxury, so much downright goodness can be priced so near the very lowest.

We cordially invite you to come in on Friday or Saturday and see for yourself what a superb all-new General Motors masterpiece has been created to carry the wonderful name "Pontiac" for 1955.

Low . . . and behold!

The motoramic Chevrolet for '55

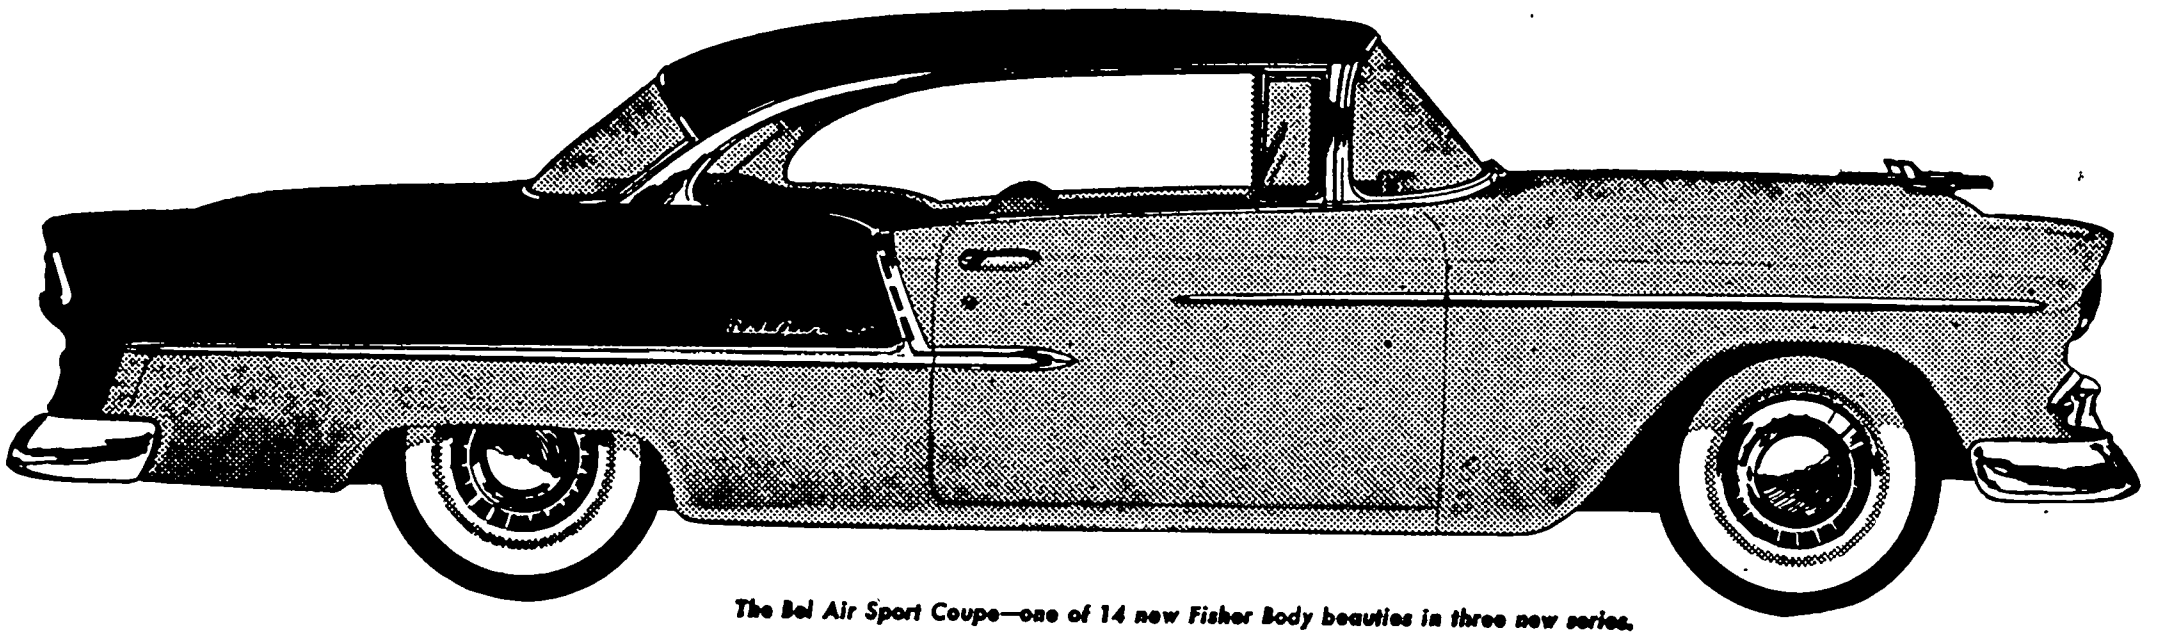
Chevrolet and General Motors took a whole new look at the low-cost car—and just look what happened!

FIRST SHOWING TOMORROW!



The Bel Air Sport Coupe—one of 14 new Fisher Body beauties in three new series.

The valve-in-head V-8 as only the valve-in-head leader can build it!

Now Chevrolet, the leading builder of valve-in-head engines, introduces the "Turbo-Fire V8." It carries the V8 design to a new high in efficiency with its high horsepower (162), high-compression (8 to 1), high performance and surprisingly high gas mileage. Available with standard transmission, or with the extra-cost options of Overdrive or Powerglide.

You can choose from two new sixes, too!

Chevrolet also offers the last word in six-cylinder performance and economy! There's a new "Blue-Flame 136" teamed with Powerglide and a new "Blue-Flame 123" with either standard transmission or Overdrive.

Can't you tell just by looking that Chevrolet and General Motors have come up with a completely new idea about the low-priced car? The idea is this: to build a car that offers the very newest thing in styling, the most modern features, the finest kind of performance and the highest quality of manufacture—all at a modest price. It's something that took a lot of doing and that only the world's leading car builders could do. Everything's new in this Motoramic Chevrolet from its lower top right down to its tubeless tires. Come in for the most fascinating visit you ever made to an automobile showroom!

The motoramic Chevrolet

More than a new car—a new concept of low-cost motoring!

Near Deadline On Deer License Applications

With the deadline on deer license applications only two weeks away, the Conservation Commission said today that only 500 applications have been received.

Iowa deer hunters planning to hunt this December are urged to submit their application now, since no license applications will be accepted after November 15.

A similar trend was shown last fall when license sales lagged until the deer season opening and conservation officers were swamped with requests and local license supplies were soon exhausted. This year no licenses will be sold during the deer season.

Applications for deer licenses may be obtained from local conservation officers and many sporting goods stores. They must be completed and returned to the Conservation Commission in Des Moines with a check or money order for $15 not later than November 15, 1954. A license and deer tag will then be issued to the applicants. Only 5,000 licenses will be issued.

Farmers and tenants of land are not required to buy licenses, but must submit an application describing the land on which they will hunt.

The only exercise some people get is jumping to conclusions.

Lots of Rain

Mr and Mrs John Neuberger of Brownsville, Texas, came Monday for a couple of weeks visit with relatives and friends in this vicinity. John says that they really had rain in Texas recently. They had twelve inches of rain in six hours and that came on top of eight inches that had fallen in the two weeks previous. The alrealy water soaked ground wouldn't take in any more moisture and John says there was water everywhere. Lots of damage in the towns but very little crop damage as the cotton was already taken care of for the year and that fall crops weren't as yet planted.

First to Return All Dental Cards

Hancock County Public Health Nurse Helen Lemke reports that Liberty township school district No. 4 is the first school to report a 100 percent in dental card return. The teacher is Mrs Asa Legge. Parents in the district are to be congratulated for their co-operation in providing proper care of their children's teeth.

Experience teaches that a high percent of all school children have one or more dental cavities that need attention and when the 100 percent goal has been reached in all schools the proper care of all children's teeth will be assured.

Late Campaigning Increases Vote Election Day

Commercial Club Makes Xmas Plans

The Klemme Commercial Club met on Thursday evening, October 28, and made plans for this year's Christmas activities. Committees were appointed for the various activities and a lunch was enjoyed at the close of the meeting.

One of the highlights of this year's Christmas activity will be an improved repetition of last year's "poultry scrambels". Poultry will be released on four successive Saturdays beginning the first Saturday in December. Many people had turkey, goose, duck or chicken for Christmas dinner last year by corraling some of the poultry released in the scrambles, and since this activity proved so popular, it was decided to duplicate it this year.

Other Christmas activities were iscussed and it was decided to decorate the streets for Christmas during the last week in November.

Christmas is the time of the year when the Commercial Club members go all-out to show their appreciation, for the patronage and good will of their customers during the year, and they are making some elaborate plans to insure a good time for all.

School Suit In Court

Hancock County District Court will convene on Monday, November 8, 1954, with the Honorable Tom Boynton of Forest City on the bench. Trial notices have been filed for a number of cases among them the State of Iowa Ex Rel, Harvey Harberts, Mell Verhelst, Harry Carpenter, Anson Avery, Donald Haupt and John Watne et al, vs the Klemme Community School District of Hancock County, Defendant. Plaintiffs allege that proceedings in the establishment of the Klemmt Community School District are illegal and void. Smith and Hanson, Emmetsburg Law Firm are representing the Plaintiffs.

Named Board Member

Miss Marie Blank was named as one of the board members of the North Iowa Flying Club at a reorganization meeting held at the Mason City Municipal Airport recently.

An Air Force movie depicting the advancement in aviation was shown at the meetng and plans were made for a mass flight to McGregor. No date for the flight has been set.

Stromers Celebrate Golden Anniversary

On Sunday, October 24, Mr and Mrs Herman Stromer celebrated their golden wedding anniversary by holding open house at the Garner Memorial Building. Approximately 250 guests were on hand to help the Stromers observe the day.

Verner Stromer acted as master of ceremonies for the program which consisted of a short talk by the Rev. Carl Mohr; "My Old Gray Bonnet", sung by Velere Stromer and Betty Heald; Mrs Nellie Heald gave the life history of her parents; Val Stromer and Joyce Heald played a cornet duet.

The old time band broke in and played three selections with B C Berge, Paul Shurts, Jeff Rensink, and Clark Pollock singing a selection.

Following the program, the guests saw the interesting display of original wedding gifts and old pictures of the Stromer and Katter families.

Lunch consisting of cake and ice cream was served with Mrs Aaron Stromer, Mrs Harold Stromer, Mrs Nellie Heald and Mrs Verner Stromer pouring. Miss Vivian Stromer and Mrs Norman Stromer cut and served the wedding cake.

Guests and relatives came from Eagle Bend, Minn., Blue Earth, Minn., and neighboring towns around Austin, Minn., Remsen, and Fort Dodge.

All of the family was present except Mr and Mrs Delwyn Stromer and two children, who are living at Colorado, Colorado.

The entire family attended the Zion Reformed Church in Garner, Sunday morning.

Chest Drive Nets $1,367.83 To Date

According to Martin Barz, chairman of the community chest drive for Klemme, contributions to date total $1,367.83. This total comes from 201 donations and makes the average donation $6.80.

Mr. Barz says there are still some who have not been contacted and their contributions will no doubt raise the total. If for some reason you were not called on by a drive worker, you can leave your contribution with Mr. Barz. He thanks everyone who contributed and worked toward making the drive a success locally.

To Be Married

Mr and Mrs Cecil A. Fuller of Clear Lake are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Ruth to Robert Baack, son of Mr and Mrs Herman Baack of Klemme.

Chase Ends In Fine For Klemme Youth

Robert Cavitt appeared in Mayor Cook's court Tuesday evening and paid a fine of $10 and costs on a reckless driving charge. He was apprehended about midnight Saturday night by Marshal Richard Ulrich, after a chase which led from Klemme to the corner by Warren Bier's farm, four mlies south of town.

In attempting to make the corner at too high a rate of speed, Cavitt lost control of his car and went into the ditch. He was not injured and their was no appreciable damage to his car.

In addition to the fine, Mayor Cook recommended that his driver's license be suspended for 90 days.

Teachers' Convention

Klemme schools will dismiss at noon Thursday, November 4, so that teachers can attend the teachers' convention at Des Moines. School will also be closed Friday as the convention lasts through Saturday.

In addition to the closing this week, pupils will also be dismissed next Thursday afternoon, Armistice Day. That is also the day that the pheasant hunting season opens, and letting school out for the afternoon will give many students hunting enthusiasts a chance a get in on the opening day sport.

Stores To Close

Next Thursday, November 11th, will be Armistice Day. In order that employers and employees may observe the day in the way of their choosing, Klemme stores and business places will be closed, as will the post office. The Klemme school will also be closed in the afternoon.

The courthouse and other government offices at Garner will be closed for the day.

Dates Announced for Women's Craft School

The Hancock County Farm Bureau Women's Craft School dates have been set for the first two weeks in November.

Four crafts will be taught at each school. This year they are leather tooling, styrofoam ornaments, wrought iron figures, and aluminum trays.

The dates for each meeting is as follows: Wednesday, November 3 at Kanawha High School; Monday, November 8 at Crystal Lake School; Wednesday, November 10 at Klemme High School; and Friday, November 12 at Hayfield School. All classes will start at 7:00 P. M. this year.

The women who have signed up for a class have received their cards on what equipment they will need to bring to the meeting.

Designated Service Point

Harson's Sewing Service of Klemme has been a growing concern for the past several years, and has been acquiring a good reputation throughout this section of Iowa. The reputation has also become known to the manufacturers of the Necchi and Elna Sewing Machines.

They have appointed the firm as a factory service point for the territory in Iowa north of Highway 20. Instead of shipping machines to Chicago, dealers in this territory will now send them to Klemme where they will be serviced.

The firm now handles Necchi and Elna exclusively.

Hospital Auxiliary Will Present Pageant 9 and 10

The Hancock County Memorial Hospital Auxiilary Pageant will be next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, November 9 and 10, at the Britt High School Auditorium.

American History will be relived from beginning to present time, using a cast of around one hundred people from all parts of Hancock County.

Your presence will honor all service veterans and their families and show your appreciation for everyone giving of his or her time and talents in this big undertaking. Narrating, organ music and acting throughout will hold your interest.

Tickets are on sale locally at the Wellemeyer Store or you can get tickets at the door for either evening's performance.

WSCS Bazaar

WSCS of the Klemme Methodist Church will hold a bazaar on Thursday, November 18. Activities will begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and continue until 8 o'clock in the evening, with lunch being served throughout the time of the Bazaar.

Iowa Republicans Win As Martin Upsets Gillette for Senate

Tuesday's off-year general election brought out more voters than had been anticipated as the last couple of weeks took affect. The cry from both parties before the election was that there was a lot of voter apathy. However, interest ran higher than anyone expected and a heavier than normal vote for an off-year election was recorded.

Although the democrats showed more strength than usual in the contest for most offices in Iowa, still the republicans won . . . even going so far as to unseat aging democratic Senator Guy M. Gillette, who had been in the senate for the past 18 years. His Republican conqueror, Thomas E. Martin of Iowa City, has been in the house of representatives for the past 16 years.

The race between these two was figured to be a hot one and it was. The lead went from one to the other several different times before Martin finally began to pull ahead.

The race for the office of governor was also close, with republican candidate Leo Hoegh finally winning out over his democratic opponent, Clyde E. Herring.

Hancock County was strong for the republican candidates giving Martin 2881 votes to 1966 for Gillette; 2900 votes for Hoegh and 1956 for Herring. Ell Township voted 242 for Martin to 103 for Gillette, and 246 for Hoegh to 101 for Herring.

The margin was pretty much the same all down the line as far as voting in the county went. The only two races in the county itself were Curtis G. Riehm and H. Rex Austin for the office of state representative and between Clinton D. Daniels and Joseph J. Lorenz for the office of county supervisor. Republican candidate Riehm outdistanced his democratic opponent 3102 to 1512, and republican Daniels had a total of 3089 to his opponent's 1582.

Unopposed county officials and the way the vote went for them is as follows:

"Dutch" Brower, sheriff collected the most votes with a total of 3462; Maynard Schoneman, county auditor, 3446; Doris Young, county clerk, 3442; Roy L. McMillin, county treasurer, 3432; Edith Sonquist, county recorder, 3408. G. W. Templeton, county attorney, 3387; Kenneth Boughton, county coroner, 3338; and Clarence Bird, county supervisor, 3251.

James I. Dolliver was again elected representative from the 6th district. His total in Hancock County was 3106 votes, while his democratic opponent, Lumund F. Wilcox, drew 1486.

Shamrocks Will Open Season Against Woden

Game Time At 7 O'clock Next Tuesday Night

Coach "Bill" Westberg and his Klemme High School Shamrocks have been working hard the past four weeks trying to get a smooth working combination ready for the opening of the basketball season. Next Tuesday night, November 9, will see Woden here for the opener with the first game between the Little Shamrocks and Woden reserves getting underway at 7 o'clock. The feature game of the evening will be between the varsity teams of the two schools.

Coach Westberg has 22 candidates for the team but only four are lettermen from last year's squad. They are Graydon Barz, Don Thiemann, Cecil Jacobs, and Denny Haefner. As a result of this shortage of experienced men, he has been experimenting with several combinations, trying to find what will make the smoothest working, most effective team. He says that several of the younger players show promise, but that only actual competiton will prove ther worth.

The squad is to travel to Franklin Consolidated tonight to participate in the North Star Conference jamboree. Westberg thinks that after he sees his players in action there, he will have a better idea what to expect of them. At present time his opinion is that they won't be world beaters to begin with, but that they would come along through the season and get tougher as they go.

In any case, fans should see some mighty good basketball if they follow the team this year. The players can use all the encouragement they can get and one of the best morale builders is good support. Make your plans now to be on hand for next Tuesday's game, and then see all the games you possibly can throughout the year.

We were rather apprehensive about the weather when we left Saturday morning for Iowa City to see the Iowa Hawkeyes and the Wisconsin Badgers play football. It was spitting a little snow here when we left and we ran in and out of flurries all the way to Tama, the worst being at Jewell, where there was enough slush on the pavement to make the highway slippery. However, when we got to Tama, the clouds began to break up, and by the time we gt to Iowa City, the sun was shining. Of course it didn't stay out for the whole game, but at least it was much warmer and more pleasant than it was here when we left.

The game was really a good one, with Iowa squeezing out a 13 to 7 victory. The outcome was in doubt, however, right down to the final gun, and a fumble in the closing minutes by Wisconsin's all-American fullback, Ameche, quite probably saved the day for Iowa. We felt sorry for him when he fumbled as he had really been playing good football and was one of the few men in the field who had played without rest. We were glad he fumbled, though, for if he had not, we are quite certain that he would have scored on that play or the next one, and then the game would have been a tie . . . and if Wisconsin would have kicked the extra point they would have won.

Nothing happened, though, to mar Iowa's victory, and we thoroughly enjoyed the game and all the color and activity that goes with a big football game. The marching band of both Iowa and Wisconsin entertained before the game and at the half, as did the University of Iowa's famed Highlanders. For a downright thrill, there is nothing quite like the roar that goes up from some over 50,000 people when an exciting play is run off . . . and those of you have attended a big game will know what we mean. For something to bring a lump to your throat and yet feel good all over, there is nothing that comes close to the playing of the National Anthem as the flag is raised and everyone in the stadium stands at attention. The game is interesting and is the main reason for the crowd, but all the other activity and color adds to the enjoyment.

It took us an hour to get through Iowa City after we left the stadium, and from there to Davenport we were in a solid string of cars. Slow driving but everyone pretty much stayed in line. We stayed Saturday evening with relatives in Moline, Illinois, and then Sunday morning started for home. We took our time and drove up the east side of the Mississippi as far as Dubuque before crossing into Iowa. The fall scenery was beautiful along the river all the way to Dubuqne, but by the time we got that far north more of the leaves were gone.

In any case, it was a very pleasant week end trip, and our apprehensions as to the weather were for naught. We would be ready to go again next week end if the weather would be good, and we had tickets.

The State Conservation Commission offer the following good safety advice to hunters:

There is only one reason for tragic hunting accidents: a gun's muzzle was pointed at someone when that gun went off.

In the excitement of the hunt, or in the letdown after a hard day's walking, it's easy to forget where your gun is pointing. In the course of a day's pheasant hunt, someone usually has a gun pointing at him at some time. If that gun happened to go off at just that moment, it could mean a dead or maimed friend.

Keep your gun pointed into the air or off to the side of other hunters. If a friend points his gun at your beltbuckle, tell him about it. Don't be so foolishly congenial as to let him have a second chance to shoot you. And watch your own muzzle. Remember at all times that a gun has only one purpose . . . to kill.

Although the country as a whole showed a decided democratic trend in Tuesday's general election, still Iowa stayed pretty much within the republican fold . . . even going so far as to unseat Senator Guy M. Gillette. Most observers thought that Gillette would defeat his republican challenger, Tom Martin, but the close race showed Martin to be the winner. The democratic vote was much heavier than usual in Iowa, but about the only place where the democrats really went to town was in Polk County.

Nationally, the democrats gained control of both the House and the Senate, indicating that there is some dissatisfaction among voters with the present administration. However, the dissatisfaction must not be as great as pre-election polls showed it to be, for the margin of control isn't nearly as large as had been indicated.

Anyway the hullabaloo and the shouting is over for another two years and we can go back to enjoying our favorite programs on radio and TV, rather than seeing and hearing a lot of political harangue.

Editorial

One of the greatest topics of interest around Northern Iowa lately has been the Ford Thunderbird. We saw it. We had been to Pritchard's twice and were just leaving for the second time when it pulled up. It was roughly as large as the Ford Mainline, though much lower.

For the girls, (and there were two or three among the crowd that gathered almost immediately), it was wintercrest green with a black top. The upholstery was wintercrest green and cream leather. The dash was a darker shade of green. It sat well, with plenty of leg room for the average person. I'm 5' 6" and my feet just came to the fire-wall. I should mention that the seat was as far forward as it would go. One six-footer tried to get in and couldn't make it. He just sat there with his knees around the steering wheel. As comfortable as this car is, it is no place for a person with a hat or claustrophobia when the top is up.

Now the boys are probably wondering about the performance. The car isn't rated as to horsepower but the salesman told us it was over two hundred. When we asked about top speed, all he would say was, "He may be able to keep up with you but he'll never get around you." The speedometer is drawn to 150 but whether the Thunderbird will make it or not is another matter.

To sum it up: The Thunderbird is not a sports car. A salesman brought out that the Thunderbird is just a personal car on the luxurious level. However, it will probably perform in the same class as the Jaguar XC-120's and Austin Healey 100-S's.

I Ask You Now

If you weren't in the teaching profession, what other profession would you choose?

Mr Hiller: I'd like to run a nice fabulous fishing resort in Alaska where you would have to fly in and fly out (summer) (winter) real estate business.

Mr Heppler: I would like to own a farm where I could go fishing and hunting most any afternoon I choose.

Mr Westberg: I would have liked to relieve Mr Hiller on his off days at his resort.

Mr Johnson: I would like to own a farm or a fishing resort up in the North woods.

Miss Peterson: I would like to be a homemaker in practice. It is a profession you know.

Mr Smith: I have often felt that I would like to be a dentist. Some day before I become too old to do this I may go back to school and study dentistry.

Bookkeeping: We have just finished studying the ways we use the Sales Journal and the Cash Receipts Journal. The Sales Journal consists of the Sales of merchandise on account, and the Cash Receipts consist of receiving money for merchandise. We had our nine weeks test this morning and we are all curious to see our grades.

Typing: As usual we are having timed writings. Some of us are having trouble reaching our goal which has been set; this means extra writings for us. We have also been making letters out of form paragraphs. We are now using letter head paper and envelopes.

Sociology: They are studying how juvenille delinquency is related to family and community life. Also they have studied the tragedies of divorce and the effect it has on the child involved.

Volleyball teams have been set up for our tournaments. If one class has enough players for two teams they will be divided and these two teams will play each other. The winning team will play another class. There will be four teams three games. These games will be played the last period of the afternoon to find the team champion. After these tournaments we will start our basketball season. We will also have tournaments in basketball later.

Our gym shorts have been ordered. Each pair will cost $1.99. Only the high school girls are getting these shorts—the grades are not.

The grades fifth and sixth are playing indoor games such as soccer baseball and also have been doing some tumbling. They can now stand on their heads, turn somersaults and handsprings. The seventh and eighth grades are learning more about volleyball, but they will not have any tournaments.

That's all for now. Bye.

Seventh Grade News

These last two weeks we have been doing quite a few things.

"Life in the Farming Regions of the World" is a new geography unit which we have just started. We plan to make booklets to go with this unit. We are trying to find pictures of all the farming regions to make our booklets more attractive.

We have been introduced to per cent in arithmetic. We each made a design using 36% of one hundred squares, then we made a bulletin board to show our work. All of us thought per cent quite easy, so far.

We have finished another unit in language and have had our unit test. "Social Letters" is the title of the next unit, and we think maybe it will be easy.

We have finished most of our "scratch pictures" and have them up. Some of them are pretty cute.

Last Friday Jane Renner and Roxanne Back gave a Halloween party for our class, which we all enjoyed. Now we are looking forward to our skating party with the eighth grade on Oct. 29.

Lowell Greimann had a birthday October 27, and he treated the class.

We sent for some books from the state library, and received them October 27. We may keep them for two months. Mrs Proper said if we are careful with these we may send for more.

Eighth Grade News

One-fourth of the year has already passed and we are having our nine weeks test.

We were favored by an assembly program Tuesday. Jack Raymond's specialty was Herpetology, having to do with snakes. We also had an assembly about glass-blowing staring Ralph Melville.

In history we have covered four units or seven chapters.

In English we've studied about the eight parts of speech. Now we are studying the two parts of a sentence.

In health we are studying about food control and food sanitation.

In civics we are studying about the interests in the community.

We are sure everyone has enjoyed school these first nine weeks.

Sixth Grade News

We have been busy this week. We had two assembly programs, some of us went to the Junior Class play matinee and we also had two movies. One of the movies was on current events and the other was on drawing with pencil. Our assembly programs were very interesting. One man had several snakes with him to show us and the other man was a glass blower.

Tomorrow we will have our Halloween party. We chose a committee for games and food. We also are planning on wearing costumes.

This is the ninth week of school so we're having a few tests to see what we have learned so far.

Hope you all have a "sane" Halloween!

I've Got a Secret

The Junior Class play really brought out the couples in K. H. S. Harry, Lyle, Gordon and Dennis all had Garner girls here.

A fuchsia neckerchief is being sported around by Donald A. Is the owner a blonde from M. C.? P. S. She is being fought for by Martin B.

Carol Bridges must have gotten lonesome since Roger left. It seems a sophomore boy driving a green Ford has been seen with her lately. Better be careful Bob, Roger might get mad.

We are beginning to believe Roger B. is undecided. Every morning and night he is seen with Barbara A. and Karen C. and then with Nancy.

Was Marvin Sandry seen passing a note to Darlene E. in study hall? Maybe a new romance in K. H. S.

Say! Marcella! Do you still like that Larry L. from Belmond.

Say, does anyone know who Dorothy and Karen were with the 20th? We had information that it was Bob L. and Roger B. Then someone else said it was Marvin M. and Donald A. Could someone tell us who it really was?

Where did Berleen and Rosalie go the 20th? It couldn't have been to Jr. play practice at Garner, could it?

I wonder who that guy Barbara A. likes from Minnesota? Won't you tell us, Barb?

Who was sitting behind Karen and Dorothy Tuesday night at the Class Play? Could it have been T. R. from Garner?

Elaine J. and Chuck B. seem to get along all right in literature class, don't they?

What is this we hear about Eva going on a hayride with Gary L. We thought she was going steady with Larry H. How do you work this Eva?

Martha Circle Met

Martha Circle met Wednesday afternoon, October 27, at the home of Mrs Chet Renner with Mrs Norval Renner as co-hostess.

The meeting was opened by Mrs Don Bacon with a reading. Mrs Herman Back gave the lesson, and the meeting was closed with a prayer.

After the meeting a lunch was served by the hostesses to the ten members and one guest present.

Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs Virgil Cook on November 10th.

Delwyn Stromer in Colorado Maneuvers

Fort Carson, Colorado—Cpl. Delwyn D. Stromer, 24, is engaged in round-the-clock, mock combat this week during "Exercise Breechblock," an artillery maneuver being held at the foot of Pikes Peak.

Over 2500 ground troops, as well as jet and B-36 bombers, are supplementing the 105 mm. and 155 mm. artillery units during the exercise.

Corporal Stromer, son of Mr and Mrs Aaron A. Stromer, Garner, Iowa, is a fire direction computer in Battery C, of the 538th Field Artillery Battalion at Fort Carson, Colorado.

He entered the Army in March 1953 and served at Fort Riley, Kansas, before his present assignment.

Returns From Club Convention in Seattle

Mrs Albert Etchen returned to Klemme Saturday after having attended a 4-day convention of the National Grandmothers' Club in Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. Etchen left from Mason City for St. Paul where there was a special train for the grandmothers. After the convention, the train took them through Oregon and California and then back east.

Special tours and trips were arranged including sight-seeing trips at Portland, Oregon, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Hollywood, and San Diego, California, and Tiajuana, Mexico.

The grandmothers were also guests at several TV shows originating in Hollywood.

Cub Scouts Met

Cub Scout Pack meeting was held Wednesday evening October 27 in the Grade School basement. The theme for the month was "Musical Hoedown".

The Cubs opened their meeting with the Flag Ceremony. Each boy made his own instrument for the "Hoedown". Then each told what they used to make their instruments. The music was so good, we had a community sing with the band playing in the background.

Our Lion Cub Scouts are in a Den by themselves and they had a Fireman's quartet. They made their own scenery and did a swell job.

The following boys received awards for their work:

Bob cat pin, Glen Sobek; Wolf badges, Roger Schmidt, Mark Hueneman, and Robert Ahrenkiel; and Gold Arrow point, Jerry Clements.

We closed our meeting with the Living Circle and Benediction.

Lunch was coffee, doughnuts, milk and orange juice.

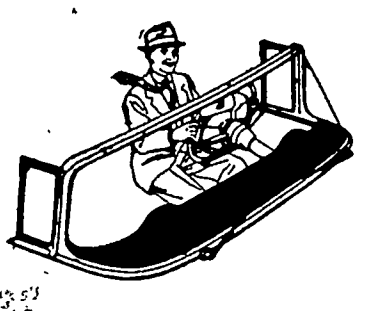
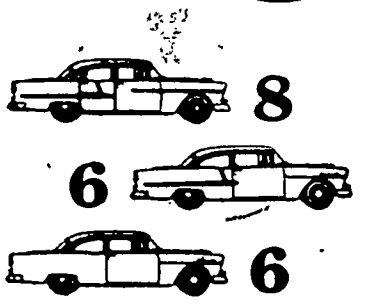
What's new with Chevrolet?
everything!



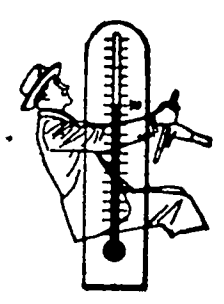
And look what you see from the driver's seat
Chevrolet's new Sweep-Sight Windshield curves around to vertical corner pillars, giving you a wide, full view. And you can see all four fenders from the driver's seat!

Wonderful new Glide-Ride Front Suspension
New spherical joints flex freely to cushion all road shocks. New exclusive Anti-Dive Braking Control, assures "heads up" stops.

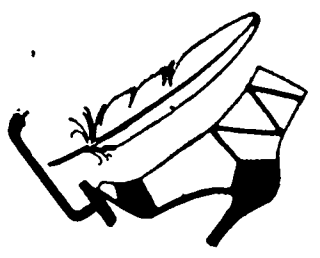


New Outrigger Rear Springs
Rear springs are longer—and they're attached at the outside of the frame. This means they're spaced wider apart, outrigger-fashion, to give you greater stability in cornering. And Chevrolet's new Hotchkiss drive cushions driveline shocks through the rear springs!

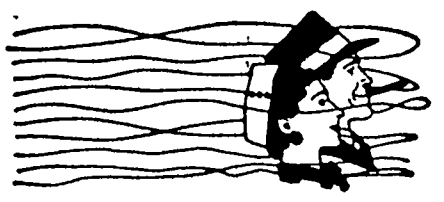
Even Air Conditioning, if you wish
Air is heated or cooled by a single unit that fits compactly into the front of the car. Requires no trunk space! (V8 models only.) And that's only one of the wonderful extra-cost options you can get!



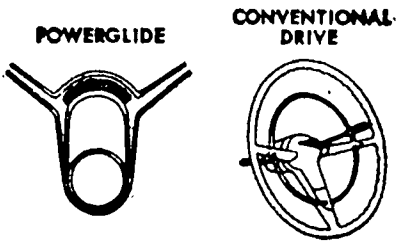
Great new V8—two new 6's
New "Turbo-Fire V8" delivers 162 h.p. with an ultra-high compression ratio of 8 to 1. You can choose from two new 6's, too—the new "Blue-Flame 136" with Powerglide (optional at extra cost) and the new "Blue-Flame 123."



Easier steering, stopping, clutching
The new Chevrolet steers with ball-bearing ease, thanks to new friction-cutting Ball-Race Steering. New Swing-Type Pedals pivot at the top.



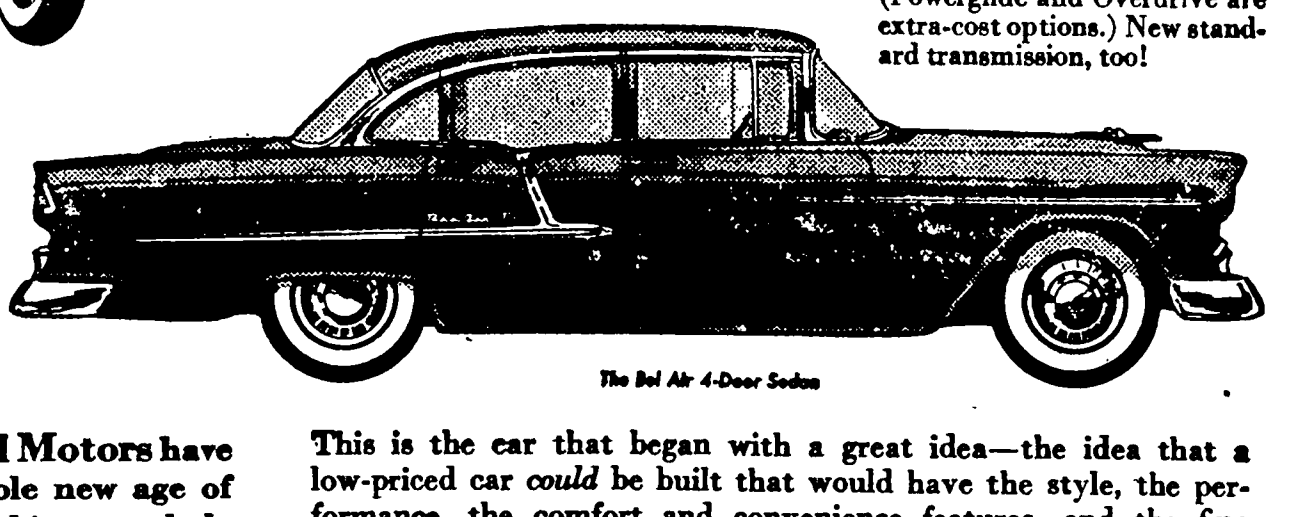
A ventilating system that really works
Chevrolet's new High-Level Ventilating System takes in cleaner air at hood-high level—away from road heat, fumes and dust.



Three drives, including Overdrive
There's Powerglide teamed with the new V8 or the new "Blue-Flame 136." New Overdrive teamed with the new V8 or the new "Blue-Flame 123." (Powerglide and Overdrive are extra-cost options.) New standard transmission, too!

Tubeless tires as standard equipment
On all models! Proved tubeless tires give you greater protection against a blowout . . . deflate more slowly when punctured.

. . . and Chevrolet's got that long, low "let's go" look
It's a show car from the word go! Longer looking—and lots lower. There's plenty of glamor inside, too—plus more room for hats, hips and shoulders!



The Bel Air 4-Door Sedan

Chevrolet and General Motors have started something—a whole new age of low-cost motoring—by taking a whole new look at the low-cost car. Here are new ideas, young ideas . . . and some of tomorrow's ideas, too! And they're all rolled up in the most glamorous package that ever wore anything like a Chevrolet price tag!

This is the car that began with a great idea—the idea that a low-priced car could be built that would have the style, the performance, the comfort and convenience features, and the fine quality "feel" of high-priced cars.

This is the car that only the world's leading car builders—Chevrolet and General Motors—could have built. The Motoramic Chevrolet!

Come in and see how the Motoramic Chevrolet for '55 is far more than a new model. It's more, even, than a completely new car, It's a whole new idea about cars!

Come in and meet the motoramic Chevrolet

Multigrade Lubricants Offer Many Advantages

Three companies—two oil manufacturers and one maker of cars—recently sized up multigrade lubricants on one or more counts. None of the three came up with exactly the same answers as the others, according to Dale Hull, extension agricultural engineer at Iowa State College. But generally, their tests did indicate that multigrade motor oils offer some definite advantages to the motorist and tractor operator..

Hull says a report of those tests, appearing in the authorative Society of Automotive Engineers' Journal, listed these advantages:

These new improved lubricants give greater gasoline economy during the first miles of operation.

They have at least as good anti-wear characteristics as heavy-duty reference oil containing better than minimum level of compounding.

Their use resulted in less accumulation of deposits in the combustion chamber of the engines tested as compared with another good grade of oil.

Multigrade motor oils are being marketed as SAE 5 W-20 and SAE 10 W-30. A heavier grade is being considered for summer use.

The multigrade motor oils are a definite advantage so far as stability is concerned. For example, the SAE 5 W-29 has the "ease of starting" characteristic of a 5-W motor oil at temperatures of 25 to 35 degress below zero, but has the viscosity of a 20-W to protect bearings and engines when the oil is warmed up. These oils are being sold by most major refineries, but you'll have to pay something extra to take advantage of their premium quality.

The pains we take often measure the gains we make.

You'll never feather your nest on a wild goose chase.

Liberty Busy Bees Hold Meeting

The Liberty Busy Bees held there regular meeting at the home of Carolyn Jass, Monday evening October 18. After the entertainment by the hostess, the meeting was called to order by the president Patty Legge. Thirteen members answered roll call (synthetic fabrics). Our leader passed out our new record books and told us how to keep them up. The club decided to buy a camera, American flag, and 4-H flag to be used at our meetings.

Election of officers was held as follows:

President, Winola Zwald; Vice-president, Virginia Hughes; Secretary, Patty Legge; Historian, Barbara Hughes; Reporter, Carolyn Jass; Music committee, Patty Greiman, Darlene Hrubes, Marion Stromer; and Card committee, Marion Stromer.

Three new members, Joyce Huenemann, Janet Hrubes, and Linda Hughes, joined our club.

Carolyn Jass, reporter

the Highway Story

By Bob Hullihan

As the lights of the patrol car flashed over the scene, the patrolman saw the automobile piled up like a drift of junk against the wall of the underpass. Two men were pulling at the wreckage with their bare hands.

The unbelieveable thought hit both patrolmen at the same time: "Someone's still alive in there." Almost before the patrol car stopped, the younger officer was running back up the highway to set out warning flares while the older officer hurried toward the wreck.

One look and he knew it was the kind of accident he sometimes had nightmares about. Two teenage boys were dead in the front seat, their faces incredibly young in the glare from the flashlight.

From the back the white, drained face of another boy stared at the light. He was apparently so far beyond the threshold of pain and fear that his mind did not comprehend all that had happened.

"Lie quietly, son. We'll get you out of there in a second, the patrolman said. He kept repeating the phrase while the patrolmen worked to pry away the twisted metal. When he stopped talking, one of the patrolmen reached in to feel for a pulse. There was none.

From down the dark highway came the wail of the approaching ambulance. The young patrolman held his light on the face of the dead boy. "I guess there's no hurry now," he said softly.

"Turn off the flash," the older man said. "He almost looks like my own boy in there. I guess they all look something alike when they die that young."

Visiting around Iowa

by Joe Marsh

Iowans Are Friendly

Visitors to Iowa frequently comment about the friendliness of Iowa people.

Did you ever notice that when your car stalls, some friendly motorist is glad to give you a push. If a farmer is sick, his neighbors help with the chores, or harvest his crop for him.

If there's a fire or an accident or any kind of trouble, Iowans are quick to lend a helping hand. And the important thing about this friendly helpfulness is that it is offered without "any strings attached."

It just isn't our way to insist that a man must agree with our ideas on government, economics, or way of living, in order to share in our sympathy or friendship.

That's what makes friendliness so easy, here in Iowa. When neighbors come to our house, some like a cup of tea, some coffee, some a temperate glass of beer. Some talk one brand of politics, some another.

But we all respect each one's right to his choice and preferences.

Local Man Gets Favorable Verdict

Glenn Terhufen, who on August 24, became involved in a traffic case in which an off duty patrolman had a part, was found not guilty by a six-man jury in Justice W F Pavey's court last week.

The patrolman alleged that when Mr Terhufen made a left turn off of Highway 69 to come into Klemme that he had to slam on his brakes to avoid hitting him.

Mr Terhufen in turn alleged that he didn't think there was any immediate danger and that if the patrolman had slowed properly for the intersection, he felt quite sure that there would have been no danger . . . and several witnesses backed his stand.

In any case, Mr Terhufen was found not guilty.

Community Chest Stands Good Chance Of Reaching Goal

When the two-week campaign for funds for the East Hancock Community Chest was completed only 20 of 138 captains had handed in their envelopes to the chest headquarters in Garner, and according to B C Berge, president of the chest, they were in no position at that time to make a report.

However, since the end of the campaign, various captains have been turning in their envelopes anl latest figures show that there are now $12,532.58 in cash contributed toward the $14,000 quota. There are still nineteen captains to report on their contributions, and in addition to the cash received there are pledges which have been made.

It is hoped that by the time all the captains have reported the quota will have been reached.

Would Like Letters

We received a letter from Mrs Gilbert Jones of Tama telling of the injury of her son Douglas. Klemme folks will remember him from when the family lived here while Gilbert was manager of the local telephone exchange.

We quote the following paragraph from the letter:

"Douglas had the misfortune to have his ankle broken and also has a spiral break in the leg as a result of an accident at the football game last Wednesday. He is in a cast up to the knee, and will be till after the Holidays. So far he is confined to home, but after the next few days he will be around on crutches and in a couple of weeks they will alter the cast so he will be able to walk on it. In the meantime he would be very happy to hear from some of his Klemme friends, as he is really lost."

Klemme Co-op. Grain Co. Gets Mill Recognition

Is Ideal Setup According to Trade Magazine

In the November 6 issue of "Feedstuffs", a weekly magazine published for feed manufacturers, jobbers, brokers and dealers, the Klemme Cooperative Grain Company comes in for some very complimentary publicity.

A complete story with pictures on the layout and operation of their mill appears in conjunction with an article setting forth the best qualities for a mill operation the size of the local one. In his description, the writer must have had the Klemme mill in mind, for what he calls an ideal setup is patterned almost exactly after it.

Since the opening of their mill some three years ago, the company has been doing more and more custom work for other companies. Their hulled and rolled oats are sold pretty much all over the state of Iowa, and in some cases are even sacked here under another company's brand.

One interesting sidelight to their mixing business is the fact that since they have begun operation of their mill, they have mixed some over four tons of Warfarin and grain rat poison for counties that have had a rat extermination program underway.

With the completion next spring of their new concrete elevator, the company will have one of the most modern and efficient plants in the state. As it is, their mill operation is so nearly patterned on model lines that they have had an average of two companies a month visiting their plant with an eye to getting ideas for building mills for their use.

The complete story on the Klemme mill will appear in the next issue just as it appears in "Feedstuffs".

Klemme School Case On Docket for Nov. 22

The Cause No. 12128, State of Iowa, Ex Rel Harvey Harberts et al VS the Klemme Community School district will be heard in the Hancock County District Court at 10 o'clock a.m. on Nov. 22, according to a report from the office of County Clerk of Courts, Doris Young. The time for trial was set in District Court here Tuesday afternoon Much interest has been shown in the case which involves the validity of the establishment of the Klemme District which Plaintiff allege should be set aside. Smith and Hanson, Emmetsburg law firm, are representing the plaintiffs and Garner Attorney G. W. Templeton and Senneff and Buck of Britt are defending.

Canvass Shows 5,507 Voters Went to Polls

The Hancock County board of supervisors met Monday and organized as a Board of Canvassers to canvass the results of the general election on November 2. The board found the unofficial tally submitted by the various election boards to the County Auditor as substantially correct and only one or two minor corrections were necessary by the Board.

The official tally revealed that 5,057 Hancock County electors went to the polls on November 2. This is approximately 55.9 percent of the eligible voters according to County Auditor Schoneman.

Receives Promotion

U. S. Forces, Korea—Calvin F. Josten, 21, son of Mr and Mrs Ewald V. Josten, Klemme, Iowa, recently was promoted to corporal while serving with the 60th Engineer Depot Company in Korea.

Josten, an engineer storage specialist with the company, entered the Army in April 1953 and arrived overseas in October of the same year.

Shamrocks Drop Opener to Woden Quintet

Look Good for Three Quarters But Fade As Experience Tells

A smooth and experienced Woden five proved too much for the Shamrocks as the locals opened the basketball season on the home floor Tuesday night. Playing with all five of last year's regulars back, the Woden five got stronger as the game wore on. They displayed good shooting and passing ability and cleared both boards in fine shape.

Although the Shamrocks got off to a good start and led 19 to 10 at the end of the first quarter, they were unable to keep up the pace and finally bowed to the visitors by a score of 62 to 41. Woden came on strong in the second quarter and by the half were trailing by only one point 27 to 26. During the third quarter the teams held pretty much even with that period ending 36 to 36. It was in the final period that the more experienced Woden team pulled away from the Shamrocks and really poured it on to pile up their large margin.

Tegtmeyer led the scoring for Woden with eight field goals and two free throws for 18 points, while Kramer led the Klemme scoring with fourteen on five from the field and four from the charity lane. Haefner had 10 points for Klemme, Thiemann had nine and Barz, eight.

Only consolation for Klemme fans was in the opening game when the Little Shamrocks outscored the Woden reserves by a score of 35 to 21. Brinkman garnered 12 points to lead the scoring for the game, while Minders of Woden had 10.

Next action for the local teams will be this Saturday night, November 13, when Luverne comes here for a double header. Then on Tuesday, November 16, the locals travel to Ventura for their first conference game of the year.

A NEW DAY
NOVEMBER 11, 1954
by BRUCE CATTON
1954 Pulitzer Prize Winner
Author of
"A Stillness at Appomattox"
A long time ago, Rudyard Kipling remarked that the soldier is a national hero during a war and a forgotten man as soon as peace comes.
In a democracy, that is only natural. We have no militaristic tradition and we do not want one. The citizen-soldier steps forward in emergency to do his duty—doing it so heroically and faithfully, incidentally, that to date he has always turned out to be a better fighter than the hopped-up, over-drilled professionals from the totalitarian states—and then he goes back to civilian life. His war-time experiences belong with the past. They become part of the haunting and abiding memories that go to make up our national heritage.
But in thousands of cases the soldier does not get off so easily. He has something that he cannot simply file away with his memories: a painful reminder that he can never escape from—not even for a moment, as long as he may live—of the price that is sometimes exacted of the man who serves his country in battle.
That man is the disabled veteran: the man who took wounds that will not heal, who went back to the peace-time round wholly or partially handicapped and for whom there can never be a complete and final healing.
He cannot forget. His tragedy is that the rest of us unfortunately can. Too often we do forget, even though we are permanently in his debt.
November 11 is Veterans Day: a day set aside, by act of Congress and Presidential proclamation, to honor the memory of those who served in war. It has particular reference to the living—for it is on Memorial Day that we pay our tribute to the men who never came back—and unless the day is to be a complete mockery it must include a renewed awareness of our obligation to the disabled ex-soldier. The Disabled American Veterans—the D.A.V.—aptly points out that the disabled serviceman is asking for nothing more than a fair chance to make his own way in the world.
He doesn't particularly want tears, and he is not demanding huge appropriations from the public treasury. What he does want is the kind of sympathetic understanding and active support that will make it easier for him to resume his place, in spite of physical handicaps, as a regular member of society.
That is not very much for him to ask, and it is assuredly the very least that we can give. If we feel a sense of continuing obligation for services rendered, and make it a point to discharge that obligation in the attitude that we carry over into our regular workaday routine, life for the disabled veteran will be a good deal easier and happier.
There could be no better time than Veterans Day for us to renew our awareness of what we owe to the man who took wounds in battle—for us.

Supervisor Daniels is hereby appointed a committee to investigate and cause repairs to be made in D. D. No. 81, No. 125, No. 13, and No. 43.

RESOLUTION

This being the 18h day of October, 1954, a date heretofore set for hearing on the establishment of a drainage district petitioned for by Herman Buns, et al, the hour for said hearing having arrived, the proof of publication and report of the Engineer being on file and the Board being fully advised, said hearing was held as scheduled. The petition and report of the Engineer were read by the drainage clerk and objectors and proponents were given an opportunity to discuss the necessity and feasibility of said establihment, as petitioned and as recommended by the Engineer.

The written objection of Genevieve E. Couper was read by the drainage clerk. John Hayungs was present and made oral objection. The written claim for damages of Genevieve E. Couper was read. The objection and claim for damages of the said Genevieve E. Couper being on file with the auditor prior to the time of hearing fixed on said proposed drainage district.

All persons owning land within said proposed improvement were present personally or represented by counsel.

After thorough discussion and the Board having been advised that said improvement could not be established until the matter of damages had been disposed of and the owners having stated that they desired said improvement to be immediately established and constructed, and all owners, either by themselves, or by counsel having stipulated and agreed that said improvement should be established immediately by the Board and having stipulated and agreed that Genevieve E. Couper should be paid the actual damage to crops, fence, and tile on her property located within said drainage improvement which she may suffer by virtue of the establishment and construction of said drainage improvement, said damage, if any, to be paid from drainage fund as part of the cost thereof and the Board being fully advised deemed it adviseable to establish and does hereby establish said drainage district to be known as D. D. No. 164, as petitoned for and recommended by the engineer in his report, as amended, and the date of letting is set at the hour of 1:30 p.m. on the 2nd day of November, 1954 at the Courthouse in Garner, Iowa and the County Auditor is hereby directed to cause notice of such letting to be published in the Britt News-Tribune, a newspaper of general circulation published at Britt, Iowa which advertisement for bids shall request bids for labor and material for said construction, time of commencement and completion, approximate kind and amount of work to be done and that the Board reserves the right to waive technicalities and to reject any or all bids, all in accordance with Chapter 455, Code of Iowa, 1954.

The foregoing resolution was offered and read by Supervisor Barber who moved its adoption, was seconded by Supervisor Daniels, whereupon the Chairman, Clarence Bird, placed the motion of its adoption and upon roll call the vote thereon was S. A. Barber, Clint Daniels and Clarence Bird, Ayes. Nays, none. Whereupon the Chairman declared the resolution duly adopted.

This being the 18th day of October, 1954, a date heretofore fixed for a hearing on the establishment of a sub-drainage district of D. D. No. 44, petitioned for by George J. Gray, the hour for said hearing having arrived, the proof of publication being on file and the Board being fully advised, said hearing was held as scheduled. The petition, report of the the Engineer and objections were read by the drainage clerk. After thorough investigation of objections by the Board and interested parties, it was motioned by Supervisor Barber and seconded by Supervisor Daniels that objections on file be and the same are hereby overruled and said district is hereby established as D. D. No. 165 and date of letting is hereby set at the hour of 1:30 p.m. on the 2nd day of November, 1954 at the Courthouse in Garner, Iowa and the County Auditor is hereby directed to cause notice of such letting to be published in the Kanawha Reporter, a newspaper of general circulation published at Kanawha, Iowa which advertisement for bids shall request bids for labor and material for said construction, time of commencement and completion, approximate amount and kind of work to be done and that the Board reserves the right to waive technicalities and to reject any or all bids, all in accordance with Chapter 455, Code of Iowa, 1954.

The foregoing resolution was offered and read by Supervisor Barber who moved its adoption, was seconded by Supervisor Daniels, whereupon the Chairman, Clarence Bird, placed the motion of its adoption and upon roll call the vote thereon was S. A. Barber, Clint Daniels and Clarence Bird, Ayes. Nays, none. Whereupon the Chairman declared the resolution duly adopted.

On motion and second Wm. Henschen of Garner, is hereby appointed Priliminary Engineer to make an investigation and report on the petition of Allen Hallet, et al, filed October 15 1594 and on the petition of George A. Madison, et al, filed October 18, 1954. Said Engineer to report to this Board at his earliest convenience.

On motion and second C. F. Merten of Garner is hereby appointed Preliminary Engineer to make an investigation and report to this Board at his earliest convenience.

On motion by Supervisor Daniels and second by Supervisor Barber the bid of Onno H. Onnen and Henry J. Weiland is hereby accepted as the highest and best bid for the leasing of the SE¼ of Section 27-96-26, Orthel Township, for a period of one year from and after March 1, 1955. Said bid being in the amount of $525.00. All other bids are hereby rejected.

WHEREAS Wm. Henschen, Engineer, Wm. Boehnke and J. N. Steil were heretofore appointed commissioners to view and classify lands and assess benefits in D. D. No. 163, and to designate separately the tax per cent each tract shall pay on the system for future repairs, in accordance with Sections 455.45 to 455.66, Code of Iowa 1954 and

WHEREAS said commissioners did qualify as by law directed and did file their report on October 16, 1954, which report sets out in detail the classification against each tract and parcel of land, highway and railroad in the district as provided by law.

BE AND IT IS THEREFORE RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors acting for and in behalf of D. D. No. 163, that the report of the commissioners is herby entatively approved and further hearing tentatively approved and further hearing Garner, Iowa, on the 29th day of November, 1954 at the hour of 1:30 p.m. at which time taxpayers in said district will appear and show cause why said classifications and assessments designated shall not be accepted and assessments taxed against the lands in said watershed.

All objections to such assessments of benefits shall be filed in writing in the office of the County Auditor in Garner, Iowa, at or before the hour set for hearing thereon. The County Auditor be and he is hereby directed to cause notice of such hearing to be published in the Britt News-Tribune, a newspaper of general circulation published at Britt, Iowa, said notice to set out the description of the real estate and the designated assessment, each tract, parcel, highway and railroad in the district is charged with.

The foregoing resolution was offered and read by Supervisor Barber who moved its adoption, was seconded by Supervisor Daniels, whereupon the Chairman, Clarence A. Bird, placed the motion of its adoption and upon roll call the vote thereon was S. A. Barber, Clint Daniels and Clarence Bird, ayes. Nays, none. Whereupon the Chairman declared the resolution duly adopted.

On motion and second the Board adjourned to October 25, 1954 at 9 o'clock a.m.

To Be Inducted

The following registrants of Hancock County have been ordered to report for induction and will be delivered on 15 November 1954.

Roger Lewis Love, Louis George Urich, Richard James Formanek, and Joseph Alvin Pavelka.

The Hancock County Selective Service office will be open from 8:00 A M until 12:00 noon until November 29th at which time regular hours will be resumed.

Return from South

Mr and Mrs Henry Ludeke and Mrs George Schoenwetter and Ralph Ludeke of Clear Lake returned home November 4th from Jennings, Louisiana where they went to see Mrs Carl Suckow, who has been very ill. They left her somewhat improved. Mrs Suckow has been confined to her bed for the past 6 weeks.

Other visitors in the Suckow home on Sunday were Mrs Maude Stille and daughters, Mrs Claude Shirley and family and Miss Miriam Stille and Miss Irene Bridges, all of De Ridder, Louisiana.

The Iowa folks enjoyed the grandeur of the Ozark Mountains which are so beautiful at this time of year.

Grand Jury Dismissed

The November term of the Hancock County District Court convened here on Monday forenoon with the Honorable Tom Boynton of Forest City as the presiding judge. Only routine matters were disposed of on Monday.

The Grand Jury has been dismissed for the term but it appears the petit jury will be called as scheduled. Cases were to be set for trial on Tuesday afternoon.

DOUBLE

Howard Randolph of Guthrie Center aimed his rifle at a deer in the Umcompadre National Forest, in Colorado—and bagged two animals with one shot. He didn't know the second deer was in his sights until he found both of them on the ground. The deer were running, side by side, when the one bullet killed them both.

Britt Woman to Head Cancer Society

Has Been Active In Many Groups

Mrs E. E. Hunsley, of Britt, was named chairman of the Hancock County Cancer Society at the annual meeting of the group held Monday at the Congregational Church in Britt. She succeeds Mrs Arthur Ross, of Garner.

Several Cancer Society citations were awarded by Wanda Rex, field representative from the state office. Those awards were given to Mrs Ross, Rev Baskerville, Helen Lemke, county nurse, and Mrs C. Pannhoff, of Garner; Mrs E E Hunsley and Mrs Don Eisemann, of Britt. Mrs Eisemann was elected secretary-treasurer of the society.

The dessert luncheon was followed by a program and business meeting. Eldon Baker sang a solo accompanied by Mary Jane Harvey; song by girls' trio—Janis Bartik, Mary Harvey and Jane Tegtmeyer, accompanied by Mary Hunsley.

Reports were given by Mrs Ross and Miss Lemke. Miss Rex showed the new cancer film, "146,000 Could Live".

The new president, Mrs Hunsley, has served as educational chairman for the past year working through every school and town in the west half of the county. On Oct. 8 and 9, Mr and Mrs Hunsley attended the Iowa Cancer Society meeting in Des Moines.

Mrs Hunsley is active in community affairs, serving as president for the Women's Fellowship of the Congregational church, county vice-chairman of the Federated Clubs, Cub Scout den mother, flower show chairman, president of the Britt township Homemakers, and active in the P. T. A., Hospital Auxiliary, and Mason City Community Concerts.

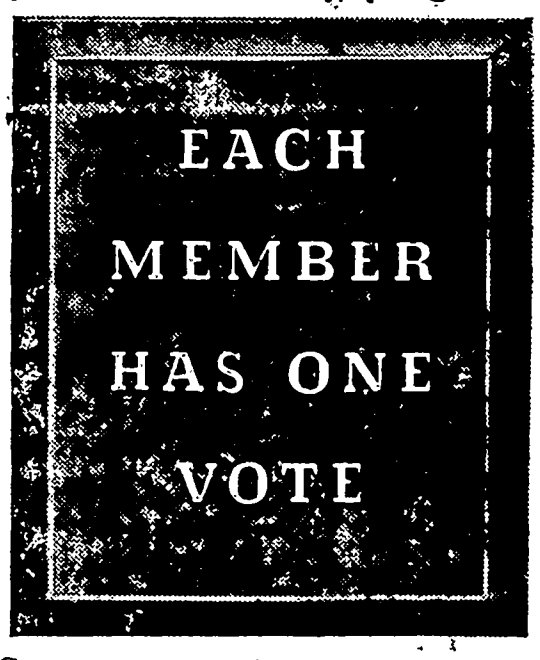
THIS IS WHY CO-OPS GROW!

Here's another of the basic principles behind co-op progress



Co-ops are organized to serve; not to make a profit. Control should, therefore, remain in the hands of all those who need and use the co-op's goods and services.

Each member has an equal voice in co-op affairs regardless of how many shares he owns.

There is no method of owning and operating a business that is more democratic than co-op organization.

the Highway Story

By Bob Hullihan

The farmer was busy greasing his corn picker but he kept talking while he worked as a man will when something troublesome keeps tagging his mind.

"The business starts to get a little dangerous right about now," he said. "You're going to read about a lot of arms and fingers lost in these machines. But that doesn't worry me too much because when a man's working with a machine, he's just got himself to worry about. He can be careful and take nis time and come out all right.

"But I'll tell you what does worry me. It's when I have to take my tractor and equipment out on the highway. When you do that, your life can depend on a highway sometime and listen to some of those cars coming up behind you. You hear them coming and you know they are coming fast and you wonder if they've seen you yet.

"Ever want to feel like a sitting duck? Well, just take a tractor out on the highway sometime and listen to some of those cars coming up behind you. You hear them coming and you know they are coming fast and you wonder if they've seen you yet.

"If you're just over a hill or around a curve you know darn well they haven't seen you. That is when I start for the shoulder, if there is one. All the time you are sitting up there on that tractor seat with nothing in the world around you to give you any protection.

"You feel like there's someone behind you pointing a gun at your back and when those brakes start to scream you don't know if you are going to live to bring in the crop or not."

"I ll tell you," the farmer said straightening up, "I never take my tractor or wagons out on the highway unless I've got a ten-foot pole with a red flag on top standing up on the last rig. Some folks laugh at me and claim I'm fishing for birds but I know some driver might see that flag over hill and have just a few more feet to stop and save my life and his."

National Retarded Children's Week

Throughout the nation the week of November 14 - 23, is being observed as National Retarded Children's Week. Purpose of the observance is to seek understanding for all mentally retarded people and funds to carry on projects and research programs.

Though many agencies have been established in the interest of those afflicted with various illnesses and handicapped conditions, mental retardation has been ignored and kept in the shadows.

With parents and friends of these children banding together in an organization from the community to the national level a program of benefit to the children and their families can be developed. The Council for Retarded Children of Hancock and Winnebago Counties is one of the local groups in this area pioneering the program, and are participating in National Retarded Children's Week campaign.

The local group at the present time is sponsoring a classroom in the library at Forest City, two afternoons a week for children not accepted in the public school program at the present time. Mrs Arlo Johnson is the teacher this year. Last year the mothers took turns in conducting the class. Other projects are being planned such as a program for older handicapped girls and a classroom in another section of the area.

The Council also takes on projects of benefit to the children of the area living at the State Hospital and School at Woodward. Only as citizens take pride and have an interest in the residential centers can they become true training centers for all the children, and provide adequate care an overcome crowded conditions.

Funds received in the campaign will be used to expand community facilities, to continue projects of benefit to the children in residential centers, toward scholarships to encourage personnel to go into the field; and the most lasting benefits will be the portion of the funds used for research at the national and state level to find the means of preventing many of the cases. Research in this field has been limited.

The causes of mental retardation are many. There are 70 known diseases which can cause mental retardation. Injuries to the infant before birth such as infections to the mother, glandular disorders, and toxic conditions; injuries at birth or as the result of children's diseases.

Recent studies have brought to light ample evidence to prove that more than half of all the cases of mental retardation come from causes which have nothing to do with inheritance. A mentally retarded child can come into any family regardless of race, color or creed and to families of all walks of life.

The Council for Retarded Children will have representatives on the following radio and TV programs to explain the program of working for the benefit of retarded children: KSMN radio, Mason City, Nov. 13, 11 a. m.; KGLO radio, Mason City, Nov. 15, 11:15 a. m.; KGLO TV, Mason City, Nov. 16, 6 p. m.; and WOI TV Ames Nov. 18, 4 p.m.

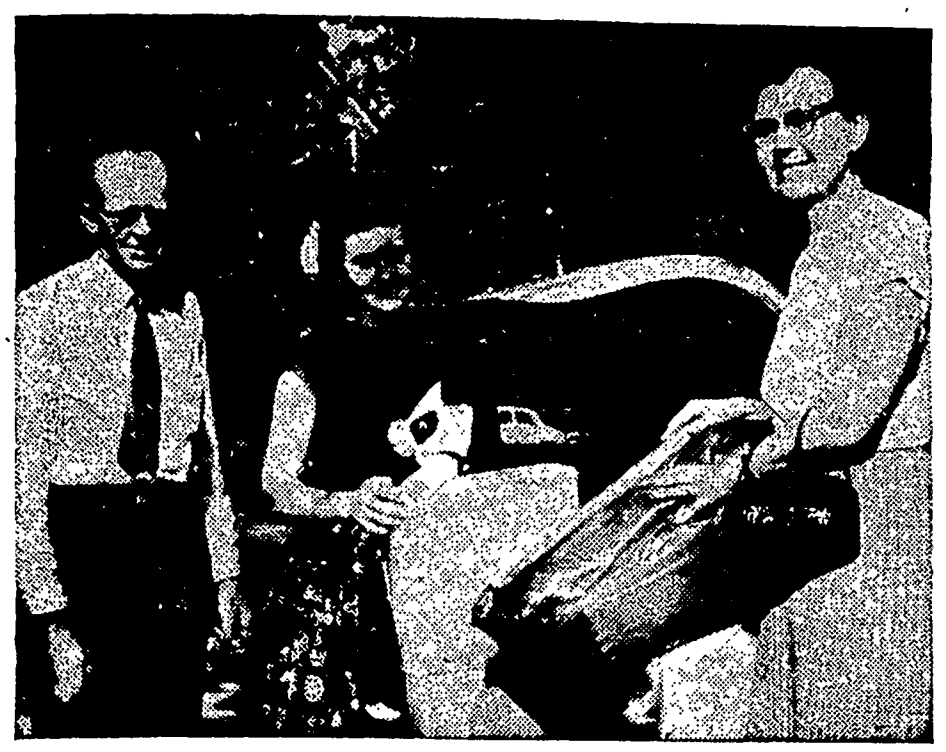
When Your Family's Growing Up—

Money Management Is Important



Getting your son or daughter off to college is only half the problem. It costs money to keep them there, but if you've planned expenditures wisely, an education for your family shouldn't deprive you of too many things you need or want to buy.

* * *

Let your children help plan family spending as soon as they are old enough to want money of their own to spend.

Get together in family councils (either pre-planned or casual). Talk over what goals you as a family, most desire, and how you can best spend your income to reach these goals. Including the children in these councils will give them an understanding of how to handle money.

When the children realize how many things you need to get with the money you have, they'll be more willing to cooperate in saving money to buy most wanted items, says Margaret Liston, head of the Department of Home Management in the Division of Home Economics at Iowa State College.

Allowances

It's a good idea to start the children's allowances when they demonstrate a need for money and have an elementary understanding of its function. Sound habits of spending, giving and saving can be developed at an early age.

Get together with the children when you decide how large their allowance should be, what it should cover, and when it will be given. Help them understand that when their allowance is gone they won't get any more until next time.

Planning Is Important

Planning expenditures is important during years when the children are growing up because you'll find so many varied ways to spend your money.

In addition to current expenditures you'll want to make plans for paying off debts, educating the children, making insurance payments, buying a home, and eventually retiring.

To Reach Goals

After your family has decided upon its goals you have to decide how each member can contribute most. You can save money in lots of ways—let the older children baby sit with the younger ones instead of hiring a baby sitter. Make over clothing for younger children. Refinish furniture when possible instead of buying new pieces and so forth.

If it is convenient, let the children work outside of the home to contribute to the family pocketbook.

Payment Plans

When buying large pieces of equipment, such as a home freezer, consider if having the item now is really worth the cost. Rather than paying the extra cost of credit why not set aside a certain amount of money regularly earmarked for the freezer? If you have enough money saved to buy it now, decide if it would be worth it to deplete your savings to such an extent.

Miscellaneous Expenses

Be prepared for that sudden, unexpected doctor bill or car repair expense. Remember, too, that social and recreational expenses are necessary and should be included in your plans. Anticipate extra spending money for your son when he reaches dating age, and for your daughter especially when she becomes clothes conscious.

How Are You Doing?

Make your money spending plans and your family planning councils fexible. Have a check-up periodically to see if you are accomplishing your goals—or maybe your goals have changed. See if you're making progress—particularly in family cooperation and understanding.

Auxiliary Will Collect Butternut Coffee Strips

The American Legion Auxiliary met at the home of Nellie Arnold Wednesday, November 3, with Cora Schaefer, the president in charge of the business meeting.

The Klemme unit can send a girl to Girls State next summer, so Marie Blank was elected to check the qualifications of the Girl Staters and possible candidates from the Klemme School who might go.

Irene Barz offered to send the gift this month to Billy Joe at Woodward.

We have been asked to make 10-12 Christmas stockings for our Veterans' hospitals. These stockings, for candies, fruit, and nuts are to be made from netting or sheeting in red, white or blue. The pattern was handed out. These stockings should be returned to Cora Schaefer by November 15.

We voted to send $2 to Miss Lemke, County Nurse, to be used in purchasing supplies for the prenatal classes she is giving throughout the county. Miss Lemke is holding a prenatal class in Klemme at the present time, which the local unit is sponsoring.

We were also reminded to save Butternut Coffee strips, which the Auxiliary will be collecting early in December. The last 2" which are unwound from the coffee can is all that is needed, so it will save space and postage if only that portion of the strip is saved.

Some entertainment followed the business meeting. Then lunch was served by the hostess and her co-hostess, Thelma Arnold.

BREAKS HIP

As he helped combine beans on a farm near Belmond, Ed Tracy received a broken hip when an un-manned tractor ran into him. He was knocked down, and the wheel passed over both legs.

PICKED CORN

Neighbors made short work of picking 100 acres of corn on the Howard Stirling farm, near Allison recently. Both of the Stirling sons, Kenneth, 19 and Hal, 16, are hospitalized; one with polio one with rheumatic fever.

Positions Open For DHIA Supervisors

There will be openings for at least 10 new Dairy Herd Improvement Association Supervisors in Iowa on January 1, 1955. according to Extension Director Paul Henderson of Garner.

Henderson suggests that anyone interested in this kind of work may get in touch with him at the extension office in Garner to discuss the opportunities in the field.

A training course for prospective Dairy Herd Improvement Association Supervisors will be held at Iowa State College, Ames, December 13, with three days out for Christmas. Satisfactory completion of this course is required for appointment to the position of Dairy Herd Improvement Association Supervisor in Iowa.

Extension Director Henderson says anyone who would like to qualify for one of the expected openings may send in his application for enrollment in the course to Donald Voelker, extension dairyman, Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa. Dairy Herd Improvement Association members who know a man they would like to have as a supervisor next year, Henderson adds, should be sure the prospective supervisor is enrolled in the training course so he can qualify for the job.

Temperance Speaker At Methodist Churches

Mr. Harold A. Young, Superintendent of the Iowa Temperance League, will speak at the Klemme and Liberty Methodist Churches during the regular worship hour, this Sunday, November 21.

Mr Young is a native Iowan. He was born at Waterloo, and graduated from the Estherville High School, at Estherville, Iowa. He is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, having majored in Business Administration.

Mr. Young started Temperance work in Minnesota in 1938, and continued in that work in a full or part time capacity until in 1947. During the war era, he was employed as an Investigator for the Federal Government. From 1947-49, he was engaged in Temperance work in Colorado, Kansas, Arizona, and New Mexico, as a representative of the National organization. Early in 1949 he became Superintendent of the United Temperance League of South Dakota. On April 1, 1952, he came to Des Moines as Superintendent of the Iowa Temperance League. Since then he has been spending most of his time in church contacts and speaking activity, in addition to promoting legislative campaigns.

He is a member of the Windsor Heights Methodist Church, in Des Moines.

Governor-Elect Leo Hoegh opens his Christmas Seal letter while Chariton friends look on. They are John Neighbor (right) president of the Lucas County Tuberculosis and Health Association, and Mrs. Sylvia Guernsey, Chariton Christmas Seal Chairman, who mailed the seals to Mr. Hoegh. The annual Christmas Seal Sale, to provide funds to support the fight against heart disease and tuberculosis in Iowa, begins November 22.

Cost of Patient Care

Hancck County's cost for care of patients at the Mental Health Institute at Cherokee for the third quarter of 1954 totaled $4,247.95. The report covered the period ending September 30th and listed the average per person cost for the quarter at $239.25.

Shamrocks Lose to Luverne and Ventura

Win Over Northwood In No. Ia. Jamboree

The Klemme Shamrocks are not doing much in the way of winning ball games as yet, but Coach Westberg is juggling the lineup and trying to find a combination that will click for him. He has hopes that he will get the team on the winning side of the ledger, and that by the end of the season they will be a smooth working outfit.

Saturday night, Luverne downed the Shamrocks by a score of 71 to 44. The visitors held the edge all the way, but the Shamrocks were trailing only 38 to 37 at the end of the third quarter. However, the final quarter was a bad one for them and before it was over with, Coach Westberg used every man on the squad.

Henderson was the big gun for Luverne with 28 points. He is one of the most relaxed heady high school players that we have —ever seen, and will be a thorn in the side of any team he runs up against.

Denny Haefner led the Shamrocks in their attack with 21 points, while Kramer had eight and Jacobs, six.

The Little Shamrocks had an exciting game with Luverne reserves but lost it by one point, 32 to 31. The lead see-sawed back and forth several times and it looked as though the local reserves might get the job done, but it was not to be.

Bob Larson led the attack in this game with 10 points while Warren Terhufen had 8.

Tuesday night, the Shamrocks journeyed to Ventura for their first conference game and lost it by a score of 37 to 35. Coach Westberg started a revised lineup consisting of Denny Haefner, Cecil Jacobs, Donny Kramer, Martin Brnkman and Bob Larson.

The Shamrocks trailed all the way and with a minute and half left to play in the game were trailing by 10 points. In that last minute and a half, Ventura had a rough time. The Shamrocks stole the ball consistently from them and came within a hair of catching them.

Some of the younger players showed up well in this game and are going to provide plenty of competition for positions on the team.

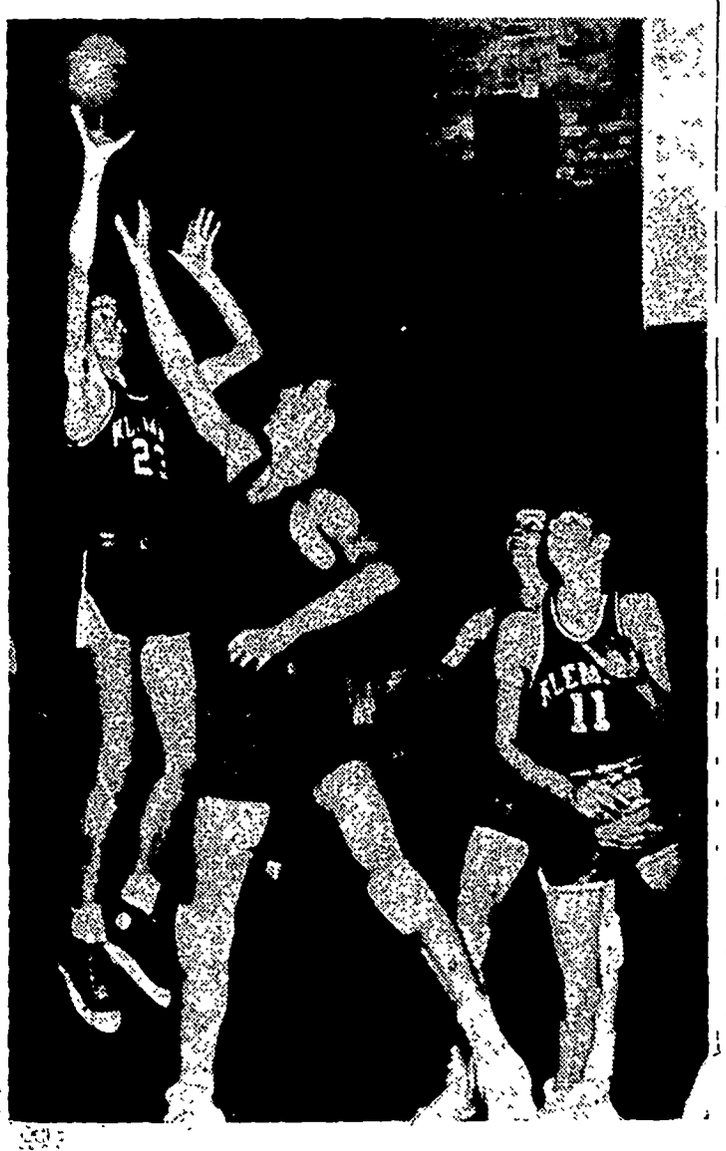
Haefner again led the scoring with 10 points, while Thiemann had seven, Larson 6, and Brinkman and Jacobs each got 5.

Monson led the Ventura scoring with 14 points.

Last Friday night the Shamrocks were at Forest City where they were the guest team in the North Iowa Conference jamboree. They played half a game with Northwood and came out on the long end of a 23 to 20 score, acquitting themselves quite well in the large school conference.

Next action for the Shamrocks will be on the 19 when they travel to Dows for a conference game. Then on the 23 they play at Britt.

Two More for Klemme in Season Opener



High in the air for a shot that resulted in two more points for the Shamrocks in their season opener with Woden last week is Denny Haefner. The bucket was to no avail, though, as they went down in defeat 62 to 41. No. 11 for Klemme is Donald Kramer.

President's Thanksgiving Proclamation

Early in our history the Pilgrim fathers inaugurated the custom of dedicating one day at harvest time to rendering thanks to almighty God for the bounties of the soil and for his mercies throughout the year.

At this autumnal season tradition suggests and our hearts require that we follow that hallowed custom and bow in reverent thanks for the blessings bestowed upon us individually and as a nation.

We are grateful that our beloved country, settled by those forebears in their quest for religious freedom, remains free and strong, and that each of us can worship God in his own way, according to the dictates of his conscience.

We are grateful for the innumerable daily manifestations of divine goodness in affairs both public and private, for equal opportunities for all to labor and to serve, and for the continuance of those homely joys and satisfactions which enrich our lives.

With gratitude in our hearts for all our blessings, may we be ever mindful of the obligations inherent in our strength, and may we rededicate ourselves to unselfish striving for the common betterment of mankind.

Now, therefore, I, Dwight D. Eisenhower . . . do hereby proclaim Thursday, Nov. 25, 1954, as a day of national thanksgiving, and I call upon all our citizens to observe the day with prayer.

Let us demonstrate in our lives our humble thanks to God for His beneficence in the year which is past and let us ask His guidance in the year to come.

Mental Retardation—Greatest Handicapping Condition of Children

The mentally retarded are those individuals whose intellectual development is impaired from the time of birth or an early age—usually associated with slowness to develop and limited ability to learn, reduction of social aptitudes and limited vocational capacity.

There is no cure for mental retardation, but the mentally retarded can be helped. Often the mentally retarded are considered to me mentally ill. Mental illness is a disease and many times can be cured, while mental retardation is a permanent crippling condition of the mind.

It is important for the family and the community to accept the menally retarded person as a human being with the same basic needs of all individuals. When we realize that in the vast majority of the cases, mental retardation is "normal development in slow motion", we can realize that the child comes first and then his handicap. In judging the actions of any mentally retared person it is important to take into consideration his mental age and not his chronological age.

Yet, because of the involvement of the handicap these handicapped individuals need special help during all or part of their lives so that they and their families can live successful lives. A special help to give the children is training programs at their place of learning.They too become frustrated and behavior problems when they are placed into learning situations they cannot cope with. They too know satisfaction in the accomplishment of a task no matter how simple.

Most authorities agree that about 3% of the population is mentally retarded. This means 1% of the children and 3% of the adults. Three per cent of the babies born each day are mentally retarded or are destined to be!

A recent study in the state of Washington indicated that mental retardation is the greatest handicapping condition among children. The following tabulation lists the most common handicapping conditions according to numbers: mental retardation, hearing defects, emotional disturbances, speech defects, epilepsy, congential defects and accidental crippling, polio, cerebral palsy, blind and severely sight handicapped, and rheumatic fever.

The above estimated indicate that the problem is a serious one in terms of numbers alone. In terms of heart-ache and emotional frustration it frequently has devastating impact on the families of the afflicted. Beyond that it presents a social problem, for many of the retarded are or may become dependent.

What does it mean to help retarded children? It means no less than to help other children to play their part in life. It means that we stop talking about what the mentally retarded cannot do and help them become what they can be. Their cup is not as large as the normal persons, but it can be filled.

Every child has a soul. Therefore, every child is entitled to be considered eligible for the best treatment that society can give him as a human being. It is not a problem of the lowness of the child's intellectual ability, but the highness of man's ability to serve the child.

Your contribution during National Retarded Children's Week will help to meet the challenge of the greatest handicapping condition among children.

BROTHERS

A car accident took the lives of two brothers near Burt recently. George and Harold Droessleer, 28 and 25 years of age, were killed instantly when their car collided with a transport truck. A third brother, James, 23 was killed last April, also in an automobile collision.

BOLD

Thieves with a grim sense of humor rifled a safe and cabinet in the office of the city police, at Independence, during the noon hour recently. They took about $75 in small change and bills. No one was present in the building.

The Once Over

Last Monday night, November 8th, the students of Klemme High School held a Snake Dance. The students met at the high school at 7:30 p. m. They then started their procession through main street and then held a pep meeting. After the meeting they returned to the school house and held a pep rally. Being this was the first dance Klemme has ever held, it turned out to be a real success with many students participating. In all the school spirit seemed to be very high for the coming basketball season.

Tuesday night the Shamrocks met Woden with the result of the second team winning their game, but the varsity squad lost in a very well-played game. For this being the first game of the season, there was a good turn out and the boys were well backed by the pep of those attending.

—Senior News—

Bookkeeping: We are working on project 3, which includes the five journals we have studied in the past. They are Purchase, Sales, Cash Receipts, Cash Payments and the genaral journal.

History: We are now studying the reasons why immigrants settled in the West, the argument over the boundary of Alaska and the United States, the war with Mexico, when Texas became a republic and later when it joined the Union.

Typing: Last week we got by with having only four timed writings, but since this week we only have a half day of school vacation, we will still have five or six writings. We are using our tabulator stops to set reports which we have to type. Some are a little difficult.

English: Reviewing for tests over all that we have learned this year. These 20 lessons include: Making good grades, sentence construction, common usage, letter writing, parts of sentences, spelling, use of the library, pronoun problems and where words come from.

Shorthand: We are taking up Lesson 32. All in all we have 70 assignments which we are trying to finish this first semester. Then we graduate to a new book.

Socialogy: They have been studying prison reforms and have found that generally speaking, it is better to have a prison for means of correction and encouragement, rather than as a place of punishment. We have also found that there is no such thing as a "born criminal".

Physics: Doing different experiments and studying the chapter, "Bodies in Motion".

Home Ec: Sewing is at a standstill because of certain complications such as the lack of willingness to share the sewing machines.

Business Math: They have been studying per cent and their use there of. They have finally completed the floor scale plan of the public school.

Notice of Mourning

Due to the recent slaughter and massacre on the Klemme basketball floor on the nights of November 9 and 13 respectively, this column is in deep mourning for the spirits of past Klemme ball teams who are, in all probability, turning 3,000 r p m in their graves.

Hairpins & Tennis Shoes

The fifth and sixth grades have been having self-testing skill such as the chicken walk, lame dog walk, human loop, rocking horse, standing on one foot and then the other with eyes closed, and sitting down and standing up with arms and legs crossed.

The seventh and eighth grades have learned the non-rotation rules of volley ball.

Here are our volleyball teams:

Team A: JoEllen Clabaugh, Norma Draves, Gracka Gerardi, Lois Heginger, Anita Katter, Ruth Pringnitz, Lorraine Meyer Carole Montgomery and Ione Rosendahl.

Team B: Eva Thiemann, Beverly Christiance, Dorothy Kroehnke, Sandra Mickelson, Marcella Nuehring, Rosalie Rosendahl, Fonda Bier, LaVohn Josten and Winola Zwald.

Team C: Janice Stokesbary, Sharleen Swanson, Joyce Lassahn, Berleen Bridges, Jean Barz, Elaine Jurgemeyer, Betty Clayton, and Beverly Lemke.

Team D: Donna Carolus, Leila Anderson, Marlene Blumer, Harriett Anderson, Joan Lemke, Shirley Barz, Blanche Shoop, Marlene Weisbrod and June Mayland.

Team E: Marvalyn Carolus, Karen Clabaugh, Lois Boland, Ina VanBuskirk, Carol Bridges Margaret Haefner, Barbara Shoop, Juda Stahl and Darlene Eichorn.

In the first round, team D under their captain, Shirley Barz, went down in defeat to team E, captain, Carol Bridges.

In the second round team E defeated team A. Their captain is JoEllen Clabaugh. Team B was defeated by team C which put teams E and C into competition for championship crown.

In the grades (5th and 6th) we have been concentrating on volleyball. They are learning the very elementary rules. Because of the changing of the furnace, it has been quite chilly in the gym. We (the 7th and 8th grades) have been doing exercises to keep warm and also playing volleyball.

"Congratulations" to the cheer leaders. They looked real sharp Tuesday night. Keep up the good work, girls.

Junior News

English - We have begun to work in our English workbooks and are now studying the parts of speech.

Typing - We are trying to cut down on the number of errors we have been making, thus improving our typing skill.

Shorthand - We have now started taking dictation.

Government - We are learning more about civil rights and liberties.

Home Ec. - We are still sewing our projects.

Shop - From the noises coming from shop, I gather they're still working on their projects.

Eighth Grade News

The 8th grade has had a nice school year so far.

We have gotten our report cards and are pleased with them.

Last Friday the junior high boys had their first basketball practice.

We did not have school on the 4th, 5th and 11th of this month, because of the Teacher's Convention and Veteran's Day. Many of us took advantage of this and went pheasant hunting.

In history we have studied about the Civil War.

I Ask You Now

Who are your favorite movie stars? Why?

Terry K.: John Wayne, Alan Ladd, and Jean Simmons. I don't know why.

Merlyn O.; Jane Wyman. Good Looking and plays her roles well in any picture. Jimmy Stewart, his method of acting.

Gene W.: Mickey Rooney, Dick Powell, and John Wayne. No definite reason for liking them. Marilyn Monroe and Jane Russell. If you don't know why I like those two, I won't tell you.

Marlene W.: I like Grace Kelly, Jennifer Jones, Deborah Kerr and Charleton Heston. They're cute!

Darlene E.: Sterling Hayden. (Wow!!)

Harriet A.: Tony Curtis. Because he is a good actor and I like tall, dark, and handsome men. Betty Hutton because she's peppy and cute.

Barbara A.: Debbie Reynolds and Guy Madison, because they are good on the screen and also good looking.

Sixth Grade News

Thanksgiving time will soon be here so we're getting some turkeys and pilgrims made to remind us of all the things we can be thankful for.

In our social studies we have finished studying Italy and have crossed the Mediteranean to Spain and Portugal.

Our new chapter in arithmetic is on multiplication of fractions. We all know adding and subtracting of fractions well so hope we enjoy our new chapter.

Charlotte Peters is leaving us this week. We enjoyed having her with us, even though she was here only a short time.

We'll be writing friendly letters in language this chapter. So far we've been thinking of interesting things we could write about in a letter and also reviewed the five different parts of a letter.

Notes About Notes

Since there was a future teacher's meeting at Forest City, there was a small attendance at Girls' Chorus, but we feel that we got quite a bit accomplished anyway. The Fall Festival is post-poned until December 8th.

The Girls' Chorus will contribute "Praise Ye The Father", "The Lost Chord", "Jesu" and "Jesu Bambino" on that evening program. The boys might surprise you that night with small vocal groups, so make it a point to circle the 8th on your calender. The Mixed Chorus will sing "Vigil" and "I Love Paris" and others.

We played several games and then we had our treats. Dean Burk and Kathy Priebe brought some additional treats for Halloween.

Kathy Priebe's mother and little brother visited our Halloween party.

Sharon Heginger treated us to Cracker Jacks for her birthday.

I've Got a Secret

I wonder who Joyce Lassahn, Eva Thiemann, and Berleen Bridges were with Sunday. I heard they went to Garner and had a gay time. Did you girls?

It seems the Freshman boys have pretty good times in study hall. You had better be more careful, don't you think, boys?

When Lois found Roger W. got a new car she changed her view point towards him.

Did Gracka and Lee have fun Nov. 3 at the Grill or was it at Hull's Cafe? There were also other cheerleaders there with Bob L.

How are Fonda and Marvin getting along?

It seem Dorothy K. is getting quite serious over Don K.

Say, Karen, what is it that keeps you so busy at night? Could it be cheerleading?

It seems JoEllen, Carol, and Margaret had a pretty good time on their way home from the Franklin - Klemme game.

The senior girls that went to Forest City Monday to the "Prospective Teachers Day" sure had a time. There sure were a lot of good-looking college men running around.

New attraction is KHS! Elame J. is wearing someone's ring. Could it be Chuck Bacon's.

It seems Sandra has a crush on Roger B. What about this?

What happened to Larry and Donna? We thought this was going to be a new romance.

Elmer H. was sick a couple of days and could not come to school. It about broke Betty's heart.

Lorraine kept looking for some one at Forest City last Monday. Did you see him, Lorraine?

Be Careful! Cross That Fence Safely

In hunting, there is no time more dangerous than when an armed hunter crosses a fence.

He is off-balance, does not have good control of his gun, and is usually close to someone else. Any experienced hunter knows what a 12-bore gun can do at close range.

There's only one safe way: have that gun unloaded and on the other side of the fence before you cross over. If you're with someone, unload the guns and hold them while he climbs over the fence, hand him the guns, and then climb over yourself. If you're alone, unload that gun, put it on the other side of the fence, and then climb through. Don't try it any other way.

A hunting season never passes without a few nimrods killing themselves in fences. If past records hold true, it will happen again this year. Don't let it happen to you.

The Highway Story

The boy is 7 years old now, but he has never been to school. The children in the neighborhood hardly know him. Only one or two of the children can remember that the boy once came out to play with them a long time ago.

Now they only see the boy when his parents take him away in the car or when his mother brings him out on a fine day and follows him closely as they walk about the more deserted part of the neighborhood.

The adults in the neighborhood know the story. For the first four years of his life, the boy was a bright, normal youngster. All that changed forever in a few crashing seconds.

The boy was riding with his father one Sunday morning in November. The car approached a stop intersection, but it didn't stop. A thin, almost invisible patch of morning frost was on the highway.

The car slid into the intersection into the path of a truck. The boy was thrown from the car in the crash. His brain was so damaged that he became mentally retarded for life.

But that is only half of the story. For this boy and the many more like him whose brains were damaged at birth, the community provides little. There is no special class room where he can be taught the things he is capable of learning.

Worst of all, there is more fear of the boy than understanding among the neighbors. He is a child in the dark, and it is a darkness where his parents, too, must dwell, until our communities turn to help and understand the mentally retarded child.

In Iowa and the nation, this is Mentally Retarded Children's Week—a time to help these least known of the handicapped.

New Custom Feed Mill

The Klemme (Iowa) Cooperative Grain Co. feed plant is an example of a new modern custom feed mill designed and equipped to do custom grinding and mixing and branded feed manufacturing efficiently and economically.

The feed operation is a relatively large one, and various services are performed for the farmers in this particular area. The plant was completed last spring.

The mill makes a large amount of custom-mixed and branded feeds and concentrates, and it also is equipped for such things as corn shelling, grinding and oat rolling and crimping.

A description of the things shown in the accompanying pictures will show essentially how the plant is built and operated.

Figure 1. This picture is an exterior view of the Klemme Cooperative's feed plant, built by the T. E. Ibberson Co., Minneapolis. Not shown but to the right of the feed mill is the company's grain elevator for its grain operations. To the left another new elevator is to be built later, and it will have spouts to the feed unit shown here.

On the right in this picture is the warehouse for storage of bagged feed ingredients and finished feeds. Alongside the warehouse is the loading dock for handling sacked feeds.

Rising behind the warehouse is the feed plant, with its space for bins above and the mill equipment and work floor. It is an all overhead house. The basement contains the hammermill, electric room, drag feeder taking material from the driveway, etc.

The bins are studded and sheathed with dressed and matched lumber, and the plant is ironclad.

On the left is the enclosed driveway for unloading grain and loading out ground grain or feed. On the outside of the building on the left is a spout for loading. Since this picture was taken, another driveway has been built to the left of the one shown here.

The bin space includes 32 overhead bins of various sizes for storage of grains, feed ingredients and finished feeds.

Figure 2. This picture shows a portion of the work floor in the Klemme mill. On the right may be seen a control board with the plant's bin plan. Beneath the board are controls for opening and closing the slides on certain bins from which materials may go to the hammermill. Controls for certain other bins are in other locations in the work area.

A sacker from one of the bins may be seen in the back part of the area shown in this picture.

In the center foreground of the picture is an aerator which picks up dust in the air. The dust is drawn up to a cyclone, from where the material is directed back into a bin.

Also in this area are electrical controls for legs serving the various machines.

The plant has four elevator legs, and they may be seen on the right, behind the control board.

On the left is a Weight-O-Bulk buggy for weighing out concentrates, ground grains or other materials for mixing. This buggy is wheeled to the opening over the pit into which ingredients for the mixer go. A gate on the bottom of the buggy is opened, and the materials for the batch empty into the pit. The material is then elevated to the mixer.

When feed is to be weighed out from the mixer, a scale is placed under the spout from the mixer. It is also possible to spout the mixed feed from the mixer down into a pit, and then the feed goes into a leg and is elevated to a bin for loading out or sacking later. Feed can be weighed and sacked off from other sacking outlets in the plant.

On the right in Figure 3 may be seen a Strong-Scott feeder-scalper-magnetic separator which removes metal, sticks, and stones ahead of the plant's Jacobson Universal hammermill.

All starting equipment for machinery is in a special electrical room in the basement. The controls for the machines, though, are as close to the various machines as possible.

Figure 4. This picture is an interior view of the driveway area shown from the outside in Figure 1. In the foreground is an overhead lift for trucks bringing in grain. The grain is dumped into a pit in the back part of the picture. Overhead are four loading chutes, with canvas attachments, for loading bulk mixed feed or other materials into the trucks.

On the right is a dock, and also seen there are two sacking outlets for mixed feed which is to be sacked.

Truck weighing is done at the elevator.

The plant is designed and equipped with legs, bins and other facilities so that the various individual operations—such as grinding, oat rolling, or mixing can be carried out at the same time. That is, one operation or unit does not have to be shut down so that another operation can be carried out.

The 32 bins help provide flexibility in operations, and they are used for holding various materials, including mixed feed. It is possible, for example, to run the branded feed mixing operation at certain times, elevate the feed back into bins, and then weigh and sack it off at another time.

(Editor's Note: The foregoing story of the Klemme Cooperative Grain Company's feed mill is the one that appeared in the Nov. 6 issue of "Feedstuffs", a weekly magazine for feed manufacturers, jobbers, brokers, and dealers.)

Obituary of Mrs. George Albers, Sr.

By Rev. Vernon E. Jaberg

Evawina Reenstina Wientjes (Mrs George Albers, Sr.) was the daughter of Mr Joest Wientjes and Theodora Wientjes nee Overlander and was born on February 11, 1873 at Ehrhover, Ostfriesland, Germany.

Mrs George Albers was received into the fellowship of the church through the sacrament of baptism on March 16, 1873, in the Lutheran Evangelical Church in Germany and was confirmed on Palm Sunday, March 22, 1891. Her confirmation blessing was taken from Romans 8: 28, "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are called according to his purpose."

Mrs Albers came to America as a young woman and arrived here on May 2, 1895, and found employment in various homes around Belmond, Iowa. On October 13, 1897, she was united in holy matrimony to Mr George Albers at Belmond, Iowa, by the Rev. Reeverts, pastor of the Immanuel Reformed Church, near Belmond.

The Albers lived southeast of Klemme for three years and in 1901 they purchased their home place two miles east and three-fourths mile north of Klemme. Here they lived for forty-three years until they retired from farming and moved to Klemme in January of 1941.

Mrs Albers was a member of Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church of Klemme and was a member of the Ladies Aid for several years. Mr and Mrs George Albers observed their Golden Wedding Anniversary in 1947 and observed their Fifty-seventh Anniversary in October of this year.

Grandma Albers attained the age of 81 years, 9 months and 2 days. Mrs Albers was a beloved wife and mother who was not given to complaint even as her health failed, but sought to provide a pleasant home for her husband and her children.

Grandma Albers is survived by her husband, Mr George Albers and by five sons and five daughters. The sons are: John Albers of Klemme, Theodore Albers of Swaledale, George Albers, Jr. of Clear Lake, Menno Albers of Klemme, and Lubbe Albers of Ventura. The daughters are Jennie, Mrs William Rueben of Kanawha; twin daughters Carrie, Mrs Fred Pringnitz and Winnie, Mrs Edgar Buss both of Klemme; Elsina, Mrs Walter Lauster of Thornton and Helen Albers who teaches at Ventura, Iowa. Grandma Albers is also survived by ten grandchildren and four great grandchildren, and many nieces and nephews and other more distant relatives and friends.

Mrs Albers was preceded in death by her parents, by three brothers and one sister in Germany and by one sister, Mrs Harm Menke of Belmond, Iowa.

IS 90

At Grand Junction, Mrs Mary Kennedy recently observed her 90th birthday. She was born in Mercer county, Illinois, coming to Iowa in 1893.

Fifth Grade News

In social studies we are studying about the New England States. We had a quiz about the New England States. We learned that Mass. and Conn. raise tobacco. Vermont and New Hampshire raise maple trees and get pails of maple syrup. Maine raises potatoes and cranberries.

In arithmetic we are learning new ways in division. We are dividing fifth numbers from 10 to 50.

For Thanksgiving we colored pictures of Pilgrims and turkeys.

We put up some pictures of Pilgrims and the Mayflower. Keith Christians and Billy Clabaugh drew and colored a church.

In science we are finding how we can get rid of poisonous bugs. The poisonous bugs are corn borer, Japanese Beetle, scale insects, and boll weevil.

Marriage Licenses

Hancock County Clerk Doris Young issued marriage licenses the past week to Curtis Lewerke, 20, Britt, and Mary Johnson, 17, Britt; and to Heinz George Engel, 23, Ionia, and Shirley Elizabeth Sonius, 19, Britt.

AVALANCHE

At Martelle, Arnold Corne found some 15 tons of earth dumped into his garden. Rains had loosened a strip of earth from the side of a nearby via duct, and the huge mass of dirt went down the steep slope and kept right on going for about 100 feet. Mr Corne's tomato plants were right up to his back door.

DEER

When a herd of deer ran across the highway near Lime Springs, one was struck and killed by a car, throwing the vehicle into the path of another car. Six persons were injured in the head-on collision which followed. Drivers of the vehicles were Doris Bantz, Rochester, and Clarence Zeck of Rockford, Iowa.

Room For Everybody In Iowa

Iowa is famous for its hog production and its amazing corn crop.

But Iowa is also the home of the world's largest cereal plant, fountain pen manufacturer, cellophane plant, and biggest aluminum rolling mill. And in addition to these giants, you'll find prospering industry in just about every Iowa town.

Amazing, isn't it, when you realize that Iowa was almost entirely an agricultural state not too many years ago.

Just goes to prove that there is room for every way of life in Iowa. Among my best friends, there is Joe, who is a farmer, and Bob who works in a factory. I work in an office. And each of us think our own choice of work is best.

Joe prefers milk, Bob likes coffee and I prefer a glass of beer. But our differences, in jobs, tastes, or opinions, don't prevent us from working and living together happily.

Grinding and Mixing

Our 102 horsepower mill has been grinding ear corn and small grains in a minimum of time with maximum efficiency since our mill was built three years ago.

In addition to grinding, our 2-ton triple action mixer has been giving excellent service. The feed that we mix here is good. It combines FELCO ingredients with your home-grown grain.

Hulling and Rolling

Since our mill began operation, Klemme hulled and rolled oats have been gaining a reputation all over the state.

Our equipment for hulling and rolling is separate from the other mill equipment and can serve your needs rapidly while doing quality work. You need no appointment as there is no delay to wait for other types of work to be done.

This is a democratic, free enterprise business, owned and controlled by its patron members. It pays all taxes, including federal income tax, and promotes local, state and national welfare.

With the completion of a new concrete elevator next spring, you will be better served, both in grain handling and more efficient mill service.

Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr and Mrs William Wenz were pleasantly surprised on Sunday, November 21, when 75 friends and relatives called on them in their home to help them observe their 50th wedding anniversary. Their marriage took place Thanksgiving Day, November 25, 1904. They have resided on their farm south of Klemme all of their married life.

Their only daughter, Mrs Alvin Swalve and husband from Sibley Iowa, were there to help them celebrate the occasion. Mrs Wenz's sister, Mrs Pauline Wessels, was also among the guests.

Those attending from other than Klemme included the Paul Wessels family, Blooming Prairie, Minn.; the Fred Wessels family, Meservey; the Wm. Wessels family, Clarion; Mrs Tillie Peterson, Clear Lake; and Wm. Henschen, Garner.

A nice lunch was served in the afternoon to the guests. A beautiful anniversary cake, which was baked by Mrs George Beek of Goodell was a part of the refreshments. Mr and Mrs Wenz received many nice gifts as well as money and cards.

Everyone left wishing them many happy returns of the days and many more years of wedded life together

Klemme Creamery to Get Efficiency Award

The Klemme Cooperative Creamery has won third place in a State Brand efficiency program. The program ran from March 8th to August 21st with 122 creameries competing.

The Klemme creamery was rated in the Master Craftsman group with two other creameries and will be awarded a plaque in recognition of their achievment. In addition to the plaque, manager Karl Huenemann will receive a check for $50. He will split the check with assistant butter maker Wayne Buseman.

In the efficiency program which was run just prior to this one, the local creamery was just one grade below the Master Craftsman group and Huenemann and Buseman were able to split a $25 check.

Lions Club Sees Hawaiian Pictures

The Klemme Lions Club met last Wednesday evening at the grade school with Lion President Andreae presiding. There were 23 members, one guest, and two honorary Lions present. The honorary Lions were Merlyn Olson and Gordon Lemke, Klemme High School Seniors. Present plans call for two high school seniors to be honorary Lions at each meeting.

Plans were completed for a Ladies' night to be held on the first meeting in December. At the time of this meeting some awards will be presented, and checks will be presented to the American Leigon Auxiliary and the Klemme Music Mothers for their share of the returns from the Lions Varieties.

A Past President's pin was presented to Lion Don Schaefer. Then Lion Art Kudje presented Mr Plager of the Hormel Packing Company. He showed some interesting colored slides taken on a five day vacation in Hawaii this summer. His slides were of scenes in Honolulu and the surrounding countryside, dealing mostly with agricultural subjects. He had a good talk worked up to go with the slides, making an interesting program.

A board of directors meeting was held immediately following the close of the regular meeting.

No New License Plates for 1955

According to word received from County Treasurer Roy McMillin there will be no new license plates issued for 1955 . . . just a corner tag.

Sale of the 1955 tags will begin on December 1st. McMillin says that the cards they have been sendnng out with your licenes fee on them contain your registration number, not your license number. He says that they have been receiving numerous telephone calls saying that the wrong number appears on the card. These calls are from people who assume that the number shown is the license number. McMillin says to check it with your 1954 registration number and see that they match.

Although cars will not be issued new plates for the coming year, trucks and trailers will carry new ones.

Checks for the 1955 tags can be mailed to the Treasurer's office and your tags will be mailed to you. If you do not have your 1955 tags by February 1st., your license will be delinkuent and there will be a penalty attached to the fee..

County Gets Funds For Flood Damage

Hancock County Enigneer Charles Paulson, received word that State Highway Commission officials approved on November 2, the petition filed by Hancock County Supervisors for funds to match Emergency Relief Projects and have accordingly transferred $16,400 from the State Emergency Farm To Market Road Funds to the Farm and Market Road Fund of Hancock County when contracts are awarded for construction work.

The heavy floods of last June severely damaged Hancock County roads and bridges and exhausted available funds. The local highway officials then petitioned for some emergency relief funds authorized by State and Federal officials which now have been made available by recent action of the State Highway Commission.

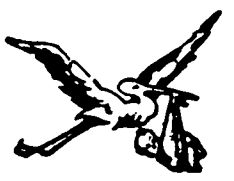
Stork Club



Mr and Mrs Arlin C Olsen are the parents of a seven pound five ounce baby girl born at the Belmond Hospital, Tuesday, November 23. The new arrival is the first girl for the Olsens. They have four boys in the family.

165 Pounds of Carp

Sunday was pretty late in the season to be carp fishing, but some of the local nimrods have been having pretty good luck lately, and thought they would try it again. Marvin and Donald Lemke, Walter Lemke and son, Earl, and Worthie Usher went to the Iowa River southeast of town, and their luck was good. They came home with 30 carp. Total weight of the fish was 165 pounds. This makes an average of about 5½ pounds per fish.

They say that the fish aren't as lively this time of the year as they are in the summer time, but say that they can put up a good tussle.

Film for Swine Men Will be Shown Here

The latest developments in the swine industry will be discussed at a swine meeting to be held at the high school in Klemme on Thursday evening, December 16, 1954, at 8:00 p. m.

Dr. Maynard Spear, Extension Veterinarian from Iowa State College, will discuss a 12-month swine sanitation program with things that farmers can do each month to do a better job in sanitation and disease control.

The new colored film, "Producing Pork in Iowa" will be shown. It covers feeding, management, and swine type. It was produced by the Iowa State Swine Producers' Association.

Bernard Ebbing of The Rath Packing Company, Waterloo, will show some cross-sections of hogs which is a new and unique method of showing how hogs get fat, the amount of meat or muscling they have, and the importance of quality in our swine raising program.

Cooperating are the Extension Service and the Vocational Agricultural Departments.

State RYP Meet Held in Des Moines

The State RYP Talk Meet and Talent Find was held November 16 in Des Moines.

One person from each of the nine districts was eligible to compete at the finals in Des Moines.

Ardith Pueschel of Britt represented District 2 in the Talent Find. She sang Jerome Kern's "Romance" and was accompanied on the piano by Donna Jean Willrett. Those attending the meeting were very much impressed with Ardith's beautiful voice.

Others attending the meeting from Hancock County were Lois and Rachel Hueneman, Irma Bird, Vincent Woiwod and Calvin Bredlow. These were accompanied by the County Extension Director Paul Henderson and County Extension Youth Assistant, Doyle N. Gorden.

Third Annual Band Festival at Garner

The third annual Hancock County Band Festival will be held at the Garner Memorial Building on Monday, December 6.

Selected students from the bands of the eight schools in the county will spend the afternoon rehearsing under the direction of Kenneth Carpenter of Storm Lake, Iowa. In the evening at 8:00 p. m. a massed band numbering 160 members will play a concert for the public. There will also be several solo and ensemble numbers.

The individual bands are now working on the numbers in preparation for the intensive rehearsal and concert.

The Hancock County Schoolmasters Club sponsors this event as well as a Choral Festival which will be held after the first of the year. The festivals provide an opportunity for cooperation between the county's schools as well as a chance to show the public what is being done in the area of music in Hancock County.

The following directors are participating in the festival preparations: Leroy Nagel, Kanawha; Barbara Rankin, Garner; Charles Whitford, Klemme; Max Miller, Corwith; Steve Rich, Crystal Lake-Hayfield; J. G. Westby, Woden; and Mike Hall, Britt, Iowa.

Tuberculosis Contact Program Concluded In Hancock County

During the twelfth annual case-finding program in Hancock County, 27 persons were x-rayed according to reports from the Iowa Tuberculosis and Health Association and the Division of Tuberculosis—State Department of Health.

Findings included four probable cases. The program was directed by Helen Lemke, public health nurse who interviewed persons believed to have been exposed to tuberculosis. She took 40 case histories, called in 25 homes and had conferences with 20 physicians.

The case-finding program is sponsored jointly by the Hancock County Tuberculosis and Health Association, the Iowa Tuberculosis and Health Association and the State Department of Health. It has the approval of the Hancock County Medical Society. Local Christmas Seal funds help defray the expenses of the program.

Besides the tuberculosis findings, 25 non-tuberculosis findings were also revealed in the chest x-rays for which further medical study was recommended. There were 17 persons for whom miniature x-ray films showed healthy chests.

The Contact Program was initiated in Iowa in 1937 and it has gained momentum until there are now approrimately 80 counties participating in this case-finding survey to detect tuberculosis in its early stage when it is most curable.

Through the continuous effort to find the case and treat the patient, the eventual goal of the more than 3,000 Tuberculosis Associations in this Nation will finally be achieved—THE ERADICATION OF TUBERCULOSIS.

48 to 47 Thriller At Britt First Win Of Season for Locals

In conference competition at Dows, Friday evening the Klemme Shamrocks came out on the short end of a 73 to 57 score. Trailing 44 to 29 at the half, the Shamrocks went to work in the third quarter and were behind by only four points, 54 to 50 as the period ended. However, they lost Haefner, Brinkman and Barz on fouls shortly after the fourth period began, and the Dows club walked away from them.

Meyer of Dows was the big gun for the game with 25 pionts, while his team mate Westlund had 17. Kramer had 15 points for Klemme, Haefner, 14, Thiemann, 11, Barz and Brinkman, 7 each, and Jacobs, 2.

This defeat made a conference record of two defeats and no wins for the Shamrocks.

Tuesday night the locals journeyed to Britt and finally got on the winning side of the ledger. The game was a hard-fought affair from the start. The Shamrocks led 12 to 10 at the end of the first period, 24 to 20 at the half, 34 to 33 at the end of the third quarter, and it was tied at 43 all at the end of the regular playing time. In the overtime period, the locals outscored the Eagles 5 to 4 to make the final score 48 to 47.

Kramer led the scoring for the game with 19 points, while Barz had 9, Thiemann, 8, Haefner and Brinkman, 5 each and Jacobs, 2. D Nielsen looked best for Britt with 17 points.

The Little Shamrocks also won at Britt when they defeated the Britt reserves by a score of 47 to 37. They trailed 17 to 21 at the half but by the end of the third quarter were in front 31 to 30.

Warren Terhufen led the attack for the Little Shamrocks with 14 points. Neuberger had 11, Bachman, 8, and Nuehring and Larson each got 7.

Next action will be next Tuesday night, November 30, when the Shamrocks play at Garner. Then on Friday, December 3, they will make a home stand against Sheffield in conference competition.

Closing Out Sale

Melvin Schlei has sold his farm and is having a closing out sale on Tuesday, December 7th. Next week's issue of The Times will carry a sale bill listing the items that Mr Schlei has to sell. He has a full line of machinery and some livestock.

Sometime after the sale he will move his family to Klemme into the house which they recently purchased and remodeled in south Klemme.

Harvey Harberts purchased the Schlei farm and George Christie in turn bought it from Harberts. His son, Charles, will farm it next year.

Seasons Close

Iowa hunters are reminded by the Conservation Commission that the Hungarian partridge season and the pheasant and quail seasons in the short hunting zones are now closed.

Pheasant season in the short zone closed November 22, and the quail hunting short zone season closed November 15. Pheasant hunting in the long zone counties will close December 5, and the quail long season zone closes December 15.

The migratory waterfowl season will end December 8.

We suppose that Thanksgiving will seem rather a meaningless day to the family of Governor Beardsley. That he should lose his life in such a useless way seems a horrible tragedy . . . more especially since he had campaigned so hard for traffic safety in the state.

Perhaps, though, his death will focus more attention on traffic safety and road improvement in the state. If so, his death will not have been useless, but may perhaps bring about the saving of many lives . . . something for which we would all be thankful.

We read last week that a group of surgeons have recommended several safety devices for automobiles. Chief among these were seats so fastened to the floor of the car as to be able to withstand a terrific shock without coming loose, and safety belts for all passengers. They say that a passenger in a car doesn't have much chance when there is a collision. They are loose and can bounce around the inside of a car, hitting sharp objects and solid objects, and taking an awful beating.

Perhaps Governor Beardsley would still be alive if he had been wearing a safety belt. In all probability, he would not have been thrown into the steering wheel hard enough to crush his chest.

We have watched enough jalopy races to know that if it wasn't for the safety belts they wear that a lot of them would get hurt. As it is they wear belts and crash helmets both, and although they have some awful smashups, still it is very seldom that one of them gets hurt. Could be there is a lesson there.

If there is any country in the world which should have a national Thanksgiving Day, this is it. We are blessed with more of the things which make for a good life than is probably any other country. We are thankful that we live here.

Life goes better for people who take things as they come.

Iowa Turkeys Gain National Prominence

Iowans might well count their blessings and their dollars, this Thanksgiving, as the state's turkey production trots to national prominence, reports the Iowa Development Commission.

With a record production high of 4,150,000 birds raised on Iowa farms, this year, an increase of 11.5 per cent over last year's crop of 3,676,000 birds, the Hawkeye state will again rank among the top turkey producing states in the nation.

Last year's turkey crop showed an increase of 7 per cent over the previous record of 3,415,000 birds in 1952.

This rapid and constant increase in turkey production in Iowa is a source of real Thanksgiving to turkey growers, with the state ranking fourth in the U. S., this year. Fourteen years ago, Iowa's turkey industry ranked only 34th in the country.

Although California leads the nation, this year, in turkey production, followed by Minnesota and Virginia, Iowa's quality flocks are excelled by none.

Iowa is noted for having some of the largest turkey farms in the nation, and wholesale meat buyers have recognized the small farm operation as a top-quality producer of the high-protein meat.

In Hamilton County, Ellsworth and its surrounding community have laid claims to being the turkey center of the world, with the most concentrated turkey production. The area around Wellman, in Washington County, is considered the most highly populated turkey production community in the world, with more than 600,000 birds. Both sections of the state are prominent in the rapid development of this "fourth estate" of Iowa's farm production.

Cash receipts from turkey marketings, in Iowa last year, totalled $23,799,000, or more than the 1953 cash receipts from either oats or sheep and lambs.

People throughout the nation are eating 10 per cent more turkey, each year, with an emphasis on year-'round consumption of this popular poultry product. Farmers across the country are raising 61,045,000 turkeys, this year, or 9 per cent over last year's total, according to a preliminary estimate of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Roy Bowman, president of the Iowa Turkey Federation, states that the industry is a $35 million per year business in this state.

As the traditional Thanksgiving turkey ends up in the gravy, this season, Iowa turkey growers should end up the year in the gravy, too!

Editorial

On November 25, each of us will be enjoying a holiday—in one way or another. But besides being a day of pleasure, it is a day of praise. And the following words, simple and thoughtful, speak for themselves.

"Thanksgiving"

Three centuries ago there came
Unto a strange, new land
Pilgrims journeying from afar,
A grave, God-fearing band.
Crossing an unknown ocean
That their children might be free,
They made their home where forests grim
Shadowd a lonely sea.
And down the years the story comes
Of men and women brave,
Who knelt in thankful worship
Beside an alien wave.
No gold had they, or silver
No cities rich and fair,
But grateful hearts gave thanks to God,
Whose guidance brought them there.
So now when dark November comes
And winds grow bleak and cold,
When all the land is rich with food,
And grain is bright as gold,
With simple words we thank our God,
And firesides are gay,
When homefolk gather from afar,
To keep Thanksgiving Day.

—Mary Billings

Basketball Blues

The season had started, the boys, they were there.
The suits were all cleaned and ready to wear.

They had practiced and practiced and practiced some more.
They yelled and they shouted as they sped 'cross the floor.

They had looked good at Franklin, least that was the claim.
Now to trounce poor old Woden became their one aim.

But, something was wrong, things weren't going right.
That old Klemme team just hadn't the fight.

Klemme was hurt; they were battered and shaken.
Luverne came to town and Klemme was taken.

Now this wasn't right; something had to be done.
Their line up was changed, and not just for fun.

Next game, Ventura, on Ventura's own floor.
Klemme went there to win, but was beaten once more.

But the score was much closer. The game, better played.
So much better, in fact, that the spectators stayed.

But the inevitable happened. Time had run out.
And Klemme had lost another basketball bout.

So what'll happen at Dows we can not disclose.
For what will happen that night nobody knows.

But still come to the ball game to watch them play.
We're going to start winning. You mark what I say!

—Terry, Graydon, and Don

Notes About Notes

Various groups in Girl's Chorus and Mixed Chorus have been working individually in trios and sextettes to add interest to the music classes of Klemme High. One sextette will be singing independently in parts of "I Love Paris" and a trio group is working on "I Love a Little College" which is a pretty folk style song. Grade school music students have been singing Thanksgiving songs.

Seniors at Lions Club

Monday, Mr Andreae extended a cordial invitation to the senior boys to attend one of the Lions Club's meeting. The aim is to get the older men of the community and the younger generation acquainted. Since there are quite a few senior boys only two are allowed to go to each meeting. The two boys for this month's meeting were Gordon Lemke and Merlyn Olson.

I Ask You Now

What are you going to do over the Thanksgiving holiday?

Graydon B: Probably spend most of my time eating. Maybe go hunting part time.

Donnie T: Probably spend most of my time eating, hunting, and working.

Dorothy K: Go down to my aunt's and watch TV.

Donna C: I plan to go to my grandmother's place for dinner.

Gary D: Eat, sleep, drink, and be merry. Maybe a little hunting on the side.

Lorraine M: Haven't thought too much about it, but I suppose we will stay home for a duck dinner and then waste time or else work.

The Once Over

Since last Thursday was opening day of pheasant season we were excused at 11:20 a. m. so that we could all get to our favorite hunting grounds by noon. The results seem to be good for some and bad for others. Four of the high school teachers seem to have done all right, too. Mr Heppler, Mr Hiller, Mr Johnson and Mr Westberg got 11 birds among them. Most of the students who went seem to have gotten at least a shot at one. Whether they got the bird or not is another question.

First Grade News

We will soon be finished with our final pre-primer "We Come and Go". We will all be ready to read "Fun With Dick and Jane". This is our first grade book.

We all can write to 100 now. It has been fun learning them. Many of us know how to write beyond 100.

We are busy learning many new spelling words. It is fun to see how quickly we can learn them.

Terry Kaduce had a birthday recently. His mother visited our room and brought his treats.

Third Grade News

We would like to report the third grade has been working very hard in learning about the Dairy. We have studied about the different work on the dairy farm, dairy cows and the feed they eat. We are now ready to learn how the milk is put in bottles and how ice cream is made.

All of the third graders were glad to see Margie Katuin back and over the mumps. We hope that no one else gets them.

The third grade is looking forward to Thanksgiving vacation next week. We hope everyone has a happy Thanksgiving.

Fourth Grade News

Linda Abele gave us treats for her birthday last week. After eating our treats we played "Squirrel and the Nut".

Robert Anderson returned his signed dental card.

We have a spelling chart. It looks like a book shelf. If we get an A in spelling for the whole week we get to put our book with our names on the shelf. We had ten people who used the shelf last week. They were Kathleen Koerner, Nancy Guth. Robert Anderson, Linda Waddingham, Janice Blank, Julie Stokesbary, Lois Block, Mark Huenéman, Velere Stromer and Earl Lemke.

"Quippy Quotes"

"Why do you lead me a wild goose chase", (Miguel De Cervantes), Carol by Bob

"Patience and shuffle the cards", (Miguel De Cervantes), Dick D.

"True love is like ghosts, which everyone talks about, but few have seen", (Frances Duc De La Rochefoucauld), Joan L.

"Can we ever have too much of a good thing?", (Miguel De Cervantes), JoEllen and Tom

"Let us make hay while the sun shines.", (Miguel De Cervantes), Ina & Jack

"There is no love lost between us", (Miguel De Cervantes), Gracka & Lee

"There is no sorrow like a love denied.", (Richard Hovy), Martin to Dorothy.

"Absence makes the heart grow fonder", (Thomas Haynes Bayly), Lorraine & Art

"The fly of the coach" (J. De La Fontaine), Coaches Johnson and Westberg

"My fair one, let us swear eternal friendship", (Jean Baptiste Maliere), Chuck to Elaine

"Rome was not built in one day", (John Hayward), Don T. and his shorthand lessons.

Kindergarten News

We are bringing records to listen to during resting time, and we like to rest much better now.

We have been thinking about Thanksgiving, and are making turkeys, pilgrims, and fruit for our big "horn of plenty".

We have some toys and furniture in our playhouse now, and we really like to play there.

Christmas is coming soon, and we have drawn names for our Christmas party.

Second Grade News

Nancy Reinhart has returned her dental card making a total of sixteen cards returned.

The Fairy reading group made a mural illustrating the story, "Billy Calf Runs Away". The Elves have completed their "Animal Friends" booklets.

It was fun making a Thanksgiving scene of shocks, pumpkins, a log cabin, etc. on our reading table.

Richie Trample and Larry Kluckhohn treated their classmates to treats on their birthdays.

the Highway Story

By Bob Hullihan

How patient he was. He sat in the car, his head leaning forward on the steering wheel, and waited without moving. He made no comment when red flares blazed in the night 200 yards up the highway.

He didn't look up when two highway patrol cars pulled in on either side of the highway and sent their flashing red lights up and down the road.

He didn't call out when shadowy groups of men moved along the bank with flashlights, and, when someone—a woman—kept asking "Who is it? Who is it?" he volunteered no answer.

And still he did not move when a news photographer came and stood on the bank of the road and took pictures though the flash of the bulbs gleamed on the bald spot on top of his head. He had learned such patience that he was beyond vanity, and how quickly he had learned it.

Less than half an hour before the lights and flares clustered around him, he had been driving comfortably through the night, the radio tuned quietly to music, the engine tuned quietly to 65 miles an hour.

In the instant that a black, unlighted car loomed in front of him, he learned that he had been driving too fast for his headlights.

A few careening, rolling seconds later his car stopped upright and he leaned his head on the steering wheel and learned the ultimate patience of death.

So he waited and from all of him that could be seen in the flashes of light from the highway, he seemed to be only a patient man who had learned something that needed to be considered deeply and without interruption.

Manpower Demands Call for Early College Qualification Tests

Colonel Ralph A. Lancaster, State Director for Selective Service for Iowa, has announced that the College Qualifications Tests will be given on Thursday, December 9, 1954 and Thursday, April 21, 1955. Colonel Lancaster further emphasized that continued manpower demands make it important that draft-eligible students who have not taken the test should do so as soon as possible.

To be eligible to take the test, an applicant must (1) intend to request deferment as a student; (2) be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction; and (3) must not previously have taken the test.

Applicants for the test will secure application blanks and self-addressed envelopes from their local board. They cannot obtain them from any other source. Applications for the December 9, 1954 test must be postmarked not later than midnight November 23, 1954 and mailed directly to the Science Research Associates, Inc., Chicago, Illinois. Applications postmarked after midnight of that date cannot be accepted for the December 9, 1954 test.

The criterion for deferment consideration as an undergraduate student is first, a College Qualification Test score of 70 or better; second, or a class standing as follows, (upper one-half of the male freshman class; upper two-thirds of the male sophomore class, or upper three-fourths of the male junior class.

Students entering graduate school after January 1, 1955 must have been in the upper one-fourth of the full-time male students of their class or attain a score of 80 or more on the College Qualification Test during their last full-time under-graduate academic year.

Colonel Lancaster pointed out that it is important that registrants realize that the test score does not in itself constitute a directive to the local board to place the student in a deferred classification, nor does the test constitute an exemption of any kind. He emphasized that the test score simply constitutes additional evidence to be considered in connection with a request for deferment.

A bulletin containing complete information with regard to eligibility, application procedure, and scope of the test, will be available at all local board offices, junior colleges, colleges and universities in the state.

I've Got a Secret

Does Ruth P. have a new romance? Could it be Doug Jones, Ruthy? We hear he asked you to go riding with him last Saturday night. Tell us more, Ruthy! Please!

Who gave JoEllen a ride home the night of the Snake Dance? I wonder!

It seems Lois' brother should leave Lois and Barbara without a way home more often? Right, girls?

What was so funny the other night at the Shamrock? (You kids that were there?)

Did Terry K. really have a date with Nancy Bradwell last Wednesday night?

I wonder who the girls were that Donnie T. had Saturday night. Maybe they were from Klemme.

Lost—One ring, if found return to Barbara S.

It seems Carole and Marlene B. got into a few arguments with a couple of boys from Belmond.

How come Raymond H. thinks his name can't get in the paper.

It seems that Joyce L. has a crush on some eighth grade boy. I wonder who.

Who was Karen C. with Saturday night that she got home so late?

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | KLEMME, IOWA, DECEMBER 1, 1954 | VOLUME 59 | NUMBER 49

Arthur Knoke Married to Kansas Girl

Miss Doris Arlene Zerfas, daughter of Mr and Mrs Richard Zerfas of Ellis, Kansas, became the bride of Mr Arthur E. Knoke, son of Mrs Louise Knoke of Klemme, Iowa, at a double ring ceremony performed by Rev. C. Meyn Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, October 17, 1954, in St. John Lutheran Church of Ellis.

Mrs C. Meyn, organist, played a prelude of wedding music and the traditional wedding marches. She accompanied Miss Elaine Tomasheck who sang "Oh Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer." Miss Tomasheck wore a gown of deep rose lace and net and a corsage of white carnations.

Mr Carroll Kaduce, nephew of the groom, lighted the altar candles. Bouquets and yellow gladiolas and baskets of green fern decorated the altar.

The bride chose a chapel-length gown of pleated nylon tulle and acetate satin. The bodice and peplum were imported French lace; a tiny round collar edged with tiny seed pearls was over lace with a scroll design; and tiny seed pearls trimmed the lace in the peplum. The full bouffant skirt was entirely permanent pleated tulle. The long tapered sleeves of lace came to points over the wrists. Her full circular veil of imported silk was held in place by a rippled bonnet of lace, edged with satin piping and trimmed with a row of seed pearls, matching the trim on the collar of the wedding gown. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow mums and white maiden hair fern.

Mrs Lyman Armbruster, matron of honor, wore a floor length gown of rose satin and net; she carried a tailored cascade bouquet of lavender asters. Miss Anita Jean Rathburn, bridesmaid, wore a floor length gown of blue satin and net and carried a tailored cascade bouquet of pale pink asters.

Mr Ronald Shannon attended the groom as best man. Mr Theodore Connally served as groomsman. Mr Lyman Armbruster and Mr William Fisher were ushers. Mrs Lillian Mourlam, sister of the groom, had charge of the guest book.

The bride's mother wore a green dress with brown and gold accessories. The groom's mother wore a navy blue dress with black accessories. Both wore bronze pompom mum corsages.

A reception was held in the church parlor following the ceremony for one hundred seventy-five guests. The reception table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with a four-tiered wedding cake, decorated with yellow roses an topped with a minature bride and groom standing beneath white wedding bells. Burning white tapers in crystal holders on both sides of the cake completed the table decorations.

Mrs Esther Kaduce, Miss Dorothy Armbrister, Miss Wilma Tomashesk and Miss Esther Keller, presided at the reception table; all had corsages of white carnations.

Mrs Knoke is a graduate of Ellis High School, class of 1953, and Brown-Mackie business school; she was formerly employed with Federal Civil Service at Smokey Hill Air Base, Salina, Kansas. Mr Knoke attended high school at Klemme, Iowa, and served three years in the U. S. Air Force. He was recently discharged.

After a wedding trip to Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona, they will make their home at Yuma, Arizona.

Fall Concert

The music department of the Klemme Community High School will present its annual fall concert next Wednesday evening, December 8th, at 7:45 P. M. The program will include both vocal and instrumental selections.

Holiday Poultry Scrambles Begin This Saturday

Shamrocks Bow to Garner 65 to 45

The Klemme Shamrocks took it on the chin at Garner Tuesday night. In a game in which they were never in contention, the Shamrocks had to come home on the short end of a 65 to 45 score.

Garner held the lead at the end of the first quarter, 17 to 10, and were out in front at the half 30 to 22. The third quarter, with Klemme reserves playing, the Cardinals increased their lead to 43 to 31 and in the final period they scored 22 points to the 14 for Klemme.

The Shamrocks did a good job on Daryle Jass. He had scored 37 and 47 points in two previous games this season, but was held to 21 by the locals. However, his team mate, Nielsen, dropped in 28 points to lead the scoring for the evening. Haefner led the Klemme attack with 16 points while the rest of the scoring was divided up among eight other Shamrocks.

The Little Shamrocks won over the Garner reserves in the final seconds of play by a score of 25 to 24. The scoring for both teams was very evenly divided.

The Shamrocks will be the host team Friday night when Sheffield comes here for a conference game. Then on Tuesday, they go to Fertile for more conference action.

Spends Leave in Japan

Camp Hakata, Japan — Army Cpl. Calvin F. Josten, 21, son of Mr and Mrs Ewald Josten, Klemme, Iowa, recently spent a seven-day rest and recreation leave from his unit in Korea at Camp Hakata on Japan's southernmost island of Kyushu.

Sight-seeing and extensive entertainment facilities at the camp provided him with a welcome break in the task of maintaining security on the Korean peninsula.

Corporal Josten, a member of the 60th Engineer Depot Company, has been in the Far East since October 1953. He entered the Army in April 1953 and completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Judge to Rule Later On Klemme School

Arguments in the case of the State of Iowa Ex Rel Harvey Harbers et al vs the Klemme Community School District, tried in the Hancock County District Court on Monday and Tuesday, were concluded late Tuesday and the Honorable Tom Boynton, presiding judge, took the case under advisement and will render his decision at a later date. Attorneys for the plaintiff were Smith and Hanson of Emmetsburg and Henderson of Belmond while Erwin Buck of Britt and G W Templeton of Garner appeared for the defendants. The case held widespread interest due to school reorganization problems in many areas. Plaintiffs sought to set aside proceedings in the Klemme Community School District alleging them to be illegal.

Watermiller Gets 150 Days for Drunk Driving

Herman D Watermiller, 26, Klemme farmhand, Monday was sentenced to 150 days in jail for non-payment of a $500 fine for second offense drunk driving arising from an auto collision Thursday.

District Judge William P Butler also forbade Watermiller to apply for an Iowa driver's license or to drive a vehicle for 60 days after his release from county jail.

Watermiller was arrested last Thursday by highway patrolmen after an auto collision six miles east of Klemme. He waived preliminary hearing in justice court at Clear Lake Friday.

Watermiller's car sideswiped another driven by Irvin Ax and both cars received extensive damage. Mrs Lydia Ax, who was riding with her son, Irvin, is in the Belmond Hospital as a result of the accident, but her injuries are not considered to be serious.

DIES

Ogden lost its oldest resident Nov. 10. She was Mrs Frances Pfaff, who had reached her 100 birthday last September.

Turkeys, Geese, Ducks, and Chickens to be Given Each Week

Last year the poutry scrambles put on by the Klemme Commercial Club proved quite popular with people in this community, so the club has decided on a repeat performance for the event this year.

Beginning next Saturday afternoon, December 4th, at 2 o'clock, the first of four "scrambles" will be held. The other three will be on Saturday afternoon Dec. 11, Dec. 18, and Friday afternoon, Dec. 24.

Last year the poultry was released from the top of store buildings on main street. This proved to be a little hard on some of the prospective catchers. A big turkey coming off a roof lands pretty hard. At any rate, this years plans call for the release of "Banty" roosters from the top of the stores, with each "Banty" tagged as to whether he is worth a turkey, goose, duck, or chicken.

On each day that a "scramble" is held there will be three turkeys, three geese, ten ducks, and ten chickens given away. This means that quite a few people are going to have fowl for dinner on Christmas day with the only cost being the energy expended in catching the "Banty".

Main Street will be blocked off on the afternoons that the "Banty" roosters are released, and there should be some hilarious moments before these lively birds get themselves caught.

For an afternoon of good fun and a chance at some fine free poultry, plan to be in Klemme on the afternoons that these "scrambles" are held.

First Snow

The first measurable snow of the season fell here Tuesday, leaving about two inches of the "white stuff". Roads were slippery from Tuesday afternoon through Wednesday morning, but are preety well cleared off now. The only bad stops left are in sheltered places.

Community Chest Reaches Goal in First Drive

Klemme Contributions Amount to $1,382.83

The East Hancock Community Chest has completed its campaign for funds, and the first year's drive has been successful, to say the least. The contributions and pledges went over the campaign's goal by several hundreds of dollars. This is a fine tribute to the efforts of the solicitors, and the giving to the people in the eight east townships of Hancock County.

The cash contributions totalled $14,477.08, and the pledges still outstanding amount to a little better than $1,000, and is anticipated that the majority of these will be paid soon after the first of the year, or at least by income tax time. It is noteworthy that the pledges turned out to be such a low figure, which is another grand tribute to the persons participating in this newly organized Community Chest. Each and every contributor is to be commended!

It is a known fact, of course, that additional worthy agencies will be included in the Community Chest next year. Two additional agencies have their application in already. And, it should be pointed out that since this was the first year for this organization, the allocations to the participating agencies were reduced to the minimum, consequently, some of the allotments will have to be increased to deserving agencies next year. So at the present time—it appears the contributions will have to be increased next year to assure the Chest's success in 1955.

This year's campaign results are as follows:

Avery	$ 723.00	$ 5.00
Concord	727.00	94.00
Ell	937.00	28.50
Ellington & Miller	912.50	65.00
Garfield & Duncan	717.00	18.00
Liberty	992.00	120.50
Madison & Hayfield	788.00	60.00
Twin Lake	918.00	21.00
Klemme	1367.83	15.00
Goodell	337.00	14.00
Garner	6057.25	978.00
Totals	$14,477.08	$1419.00

The contributions designations, and those that were marked out or the wishes of the contributors will be carefully carried out by the board of directors and the officers of the Community Chest. All allotments to the various agencies will be paid as the appropriate requests are received by the organization.

One of the cardinal principles of the Community Chest was to eliminate so much duplication of effort—it called for a one overall campaign in the year for the participating agencies. The officers of the Chest feel this principle has been accomplished, and it certainly was highly acceptable to the canvassers. Dozens of persons in East Hancock county gave their time without stint to launch this first campaign; then it was put up to the public—and the contributors did famously—we are proud of the organization and of everyone in this area..

10 YEARS AGO—

Lt. Harold Jost visited for a short time in Klemme Sunday on his way to another army camp. His father H F Jost met him at Des Moines and brought him to Klemme.

Keith Albertson, who has been manager of the Northern Lumber Company yard here for the past 4 years, left Sunday for Atlantic to join his family who have resided there for a month. Mr. Albertson has a position as salesman for a cement company.

Pvt. Wesley John Suckow, son of Mr and Mrs John Suckow, has arrived at Camp Wolters, Texas, to begin his basic training as an Infantryman. He has been assigned to a battalion stressing heavy weapons training.

Pvt. Wayne Chambers arrived home from overseas last Wednesday evening and spent Thanksgiving with his parents, Mr and Mrs John Chambers. Pvt Chambers left Friday night for the west coast.

20 YEARS AGO—

Mrs A G Koerner entertained her neighbors at a quilting bee on Monday and Tuesday afternoons. Lunch was served.

The Misses Jeanne Thada, Irene Harms, Ethel Barz and Norma Wille went to Cedar Falls Friday evening to attend the Home Coming celebration at Iowa State Teachers College.

Miss Marie Stille, student at the Junior College at Mason City spent the week end visiting in Klemme.

Mrs Jennings Anderson and children were at Garner Friday to attend a birthday party given in honor of her mother Mrs Chris Nelson.

30 YEARS AGO—

Frederick Zinn, father of Dr. George Zinn of Klemme is 94 years young but is still old enough to vote and did so in the recent Canadian election when the prohibition question came up before the people at Hanover, Ontario, where he voted.

Mesdames Levi Neese and Paul Grange entertained the members of the school board at an oyster stew at the Neese home Tuesday evening after the board meeting.

The Creamery has ordered a new ventilating system for their plant which will be installed soon. They have also ordered two recording termometers and will perhaps install new vats and other equipment soon to comply with the new state regulations requiring pasteurization.

Mrs Arthur Kudje entertained the Camp Fire Girls at her home last Thursday evening. The girls all report an enjoyable evening. The hostess served a delightful lunch.

Avery-Twin Lake Hustlers

The regular meeting of the Avery Twin Lake Hustlers was held at the home of Marcella and Eldon Nuehring. The meeting was called to order by Vice President Jerry Janssen with fifteen members and two leaders present. Our record books were returned and we held discussion on how we could make our record books better. The meeting was adjourned and lunch was served by the hostess.

Commission Warns Drivers Against Deer

Wild deer are beginning their fall wanderings, and the State Conservation Commission today warned motorists to be on the lookout for deer on roads and highways.

Spurred on by their late fall mating season, Iowa's wild deer may move many miles each day, crossing roads and highways and showing little fear of traffic. Several bad accidents have already been caused this fall, two by buck deer that weighed nearly 300 pounds.

Commission spokesmen said that drivers should be particularly careful while driving on roads and highways running through wooded areas and along or across river bottoms. Special care should be taken while driving at night. Deer often lie in deep ditches until the last moment, and then leap onto the road. There have been no fatal car-deer accidents in Iowa, but several motorists have been seriously injured and hospitalized.

Through September of this year there were 114 car-deer collisions, amounting to about $8,582 in damags. For the same period in 1953, there were 157 accidents causing an estimated $12,089 in damages.

Sometime within the next thirty days, one of the most powerful players Klemme has ever had is destined to join the basketball squad.

We're not too sure of the eligibility requirements for him, but we're sure of one thing. Somebody's going to raise a stink.

His name is Pepe La Puegh. It is pronounced Pay Pay La Peu. Despite the French influence on his name, he is 100 per cent American. He comes from the family Mephitis. Although a gentle type, he can lick 20 times his weight in wildcats, or a family of grizzly bears. You'll find him under S in the dictionary. If you're interested, that is. In fact you'll find under s-k-u-n-k.

He's our future mascot.

The Once Over

Last Wednesday we had with us Jeff Hayes, creator of cartoon strips. He gave us first hand information on the production of comic strips. He took a few students from the audience and drew their pictures as they would look to a cartoonist. There was not much of a resemblance when he was through, but he had an explanation for this. Among those whom he drew a picture of were: Don Ausborn, Margaret Haefner, Mr Andreae, Mr Heppler, Graydon Barz, and Duane Kramer. After he was finished with the picture he autographed them and gave them their pictures. This was another educational program, yet entertaining.

Hairpins & Tennis Shoes

Since most of us know the rules of basketball, we have started to play the game. Puff, puff, how did we ever stand a whole game last year? Five minutes of hard play is enough for us to fall wearily and collapse. It's time we get our rusty bones in condition again.

In the fifth and sixth P. T. period the girls have been trying to do back bends, walk on their hands and do the fish flop—a backward somersault and land on their feet. On December 3, there is to be a Band Festival at Garner in which Mr. Whitford and the band will participate. Other bands from nearby will also participate. See your last week's Garner paper for further details as to time and other events in the festival.

We hope to see a large attendance at the Fall Program on the 8th of December. We know you will enjoy the program. The program starts at 7:45 p. m.

Senior Interview

Today I interview my partner in business. Gary Byrnes Day. He is more commonly known by his close friends as "Buttons" Day. Gary was born in the great metropolis of Mason City on November 9, 1936. Schools, schools, and more schools. Gary has studied in quite a few. He has been honored with the knowledge of the following: (hold on) El Segunade Elementary, California, Washington Elementary and Monroe Elementary of Mason City, Riley Elementary, Callanan Jr. High, and Franklin Jr. High of Des Moines, and last but not least, good old Klemme High School of that fine community of Klemme. Praise God. Like the number of schools, Gary has quite a few things that he likes to do in his spare time. These include the following: (here we go again) watching TV, reading, listening to good records, going to movies and dancing. Gary seems to like outdoor hobbies such as fishing, hunting, and traveling. The stars of the "Glenn Miller Story," June Allyson and Jimmy Stewart are his favorites in the movie field. T-bone steak seems to be Gary's favorite food. "September" is his favorite song. The soft, smooth music of Glenn Miller's old band is the music he likes best. Gary, a driver of a convertible naturally doesn't like, "Old duffers who drive 30 miles an hour on the highways." SUI is Gary's next school. Gary would like to become a rich dentist.

Today we have the pleasure to interview Miss Lois Mae Boland. We wish to be informal so we will call her by her nickname which is "Lou". Lou, born on October 8, 1939, was the last of three girls born to Mr and Mrs Henry Boland. Riverside School, about a quarter mile from Lou's home, was the first school she went to. Because of the lack of pupils, the school had to close; so Lou went to town school and has continued here ever since third grade. Reading books is the way Lou likes to spend her spare time. Knitting and painting are her hobbies. Her favorite actress and actor is June Allyson and Victor Mature. "String of Pearls," as played by Glenn Miller's original band is her favorite song. Lou's pet peeve she expresses with strong emotion, she absolutely doesn't like men who complain about women drivers. Mr Cappon seems to be the cause of Lou's most embarrassing moment. It seems Lou was down on her knees by the door of the English room picking up her tube of lipstick when who should come along, but Mr Cappon. He didn't say anything until she looked up. Then he simply said, "I'll accept your proposal." Lou is a little undecided about her future plans. She would either like to be a nurse or a medical secretary.

EXPENSIVE

Nine teenage Cedar Falls boys were fined a total of $490 recently, for turning on fire hydrants in Dike. As a result of the acts, more than half the town's water supply was released. In a separate incident at Cedar Falls, 150,000 gallons were lost due to open hydrants. The youths were seen turning on the hydrants at Dike and over 230 persons turned out to hunt them down when they fled into a corn field. They surrendered when the town marshal, Buster Posekany, fired a shotgun blast.

Jokes

"Dad, it says here that a certain man was a financial genius. What does that mean?"

"That he could earn money faster than his family could spend it."

the Highway Story

By Bob Hullihan

The late Governor William S. Beardsley was killed just a few days before he planned to issue an official proclamation setting December 15 as Safe-Driving Day in Iowa.

The purpose of the special day is one that matched the Governor's own philosophy of traffic safety—"to increase each driver's sense of individual responsibility."

Governor Beardsley was convinced that all the pieces needed to solve Iowa's traffic safety puzzle were present, though scattered—one piece in the heart and mind of each Iowa driver.

The great task, he felt, was to make each driver aware that he held an important piece to the solution of the puzzle and then to bring all those pieces together in an interlocking pattern of "grass roots" safety—a term the Governor was fond of using.

That approach to the safety problem was a result of the Governor's faith in people; a result of his belief in the value and strength of "local action".

He was determined to pursue that philosophy as far as it would take him and, during the past year, he devoted more time and thought to the safety problem than any previous Governor of the state.

The huge teen-age traffic safety conference he called in Des Moines, and the rapid organization of county safety committees—"local action committees", he called them—remain as part of the work he was not allowed to finish.

One of the most lasting impressions this writer has in that of Governor Beardsley rising vigorously from his chair at the end of each safety conference,, slapping his hands together sharply, and saying: "Let's get to work. We'll lick this thing."

He would ask no more fitting memorial than that Iowa drivers make Safe-Driving Day on December 15 a day without a single accident. He believed we could do it.

The world may owe you a living, but by the time you collect you'll be an old man.

Waiting for a lucky break wouldn't be a bad policy if pay days weren't so uncertain.

I've Got a Secret

We see that Elaine still has Chuck's ring.

Marcella! Do you still like the guy from Belmond?

Say, Donna! Lo you still like Larry V.?

I wonder who Jeanne B. likes? Is it anyone in this school or is it from some other town?

Blanche still seems to be going with Chuck. She got a necklace from him for her birthday.

Say, Joyce! Who is your new heart throb?

Gary and Shirley are a pretty steady couple since school started.

Does anyone know who the girl Harry had to the ball game?

It seems there are 3 girls chasing Roger B. There names are Dorothy, Karen and Barbara.

I heard Margaret H. is going with David W. Is this true Maggie?

3734 Deer Hunters Apply For Licenses

A total of 3734 applications for 1954 deer hunting licenses have been received by the State Conservation Commission from Iowa sportsmen, only 61 under the 1953 figure.

The regular deer license applications were under a November 15 deadline, and floods of license applications were received in the Commission offices in the last few days before the deadline. A limit of 5,000 licenses had been set.

Commission spokesmen said that all licenses should be mailed out to applicants by December 1.

Although the regular $15 deer licenses can no longer be obtained, free farmer deer hunting certificates are still being issued. Any farm occupant wishing to hunt deer on his own land may obtain a free license to do so by sending a completed application, containing a full legal description of his lands, to the State Conservation Commission in Des Moines.

Riverside Club Met

The November meeting of the Riverside Club was held at the home of Mrs John Waddingham. Mrs Leonard Kaduce led the lesson and discussion which was the follow-up on "Selection of Small Appliances." After the business meeting, lunch was served by the hostess asisted by Mrs Maxine Kastler.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs Mercer Bruggeman with a Christmas party and gift exchange.

November Drier Than 1953; Temperature Same

November 1954 went into the record books with about the same average temperature as November 1953 according to Earl Henschen local weather observer. The average temperature for the month was 38.20 as compared with 38.14 for the same month a year ago. The average maximum temperature was 48 degrees with the average minimum reported as 28.40.

The highest temperature recorded during the month was a balmy 70 on November 7th and the low mark recorded was 16 on the morning of November 30.

Precipitation for the month was considerably less than for the same month last year with only .52 of an inch recorded as compared to 2.5 inches in 1953.

The precipitation fell in the last eight days of the month with the heaviest amount coming in the 24-hour period ending at 7 A. M. on November 27. Four inches of snow fell during the month with three inches falling on the last day of the month. Eighteen days of the month were listed as fair with twelve listed as cloudy or partly cloudy.

The relatively dry weather followed an October that was wet and farmers rushed the bean and corn harvest and more fall plowing was done in November than in any other month. The weather during the month was ideal for all types of farm and construction work.

Cub Scouts Receive Awards at Meeting

The November Pack meeting of the Cub Scouts was held Tuesday, the 23rd in the grade school basement.

The following program was given. The theme was stars, planets and space.

The Scouts sang "America."

Den I had "Stars" and they made a big sky design with stars, the Milky Way etc and also explained the positions of the stars.

Den II had "Planets and each boy told how long it would take to get to each planet by airplane.

Den III made a telescope and they had several slides showing the different positions of the stars. It was all real interesting.

Allen Barz showed films of the flood water around Belmond and the Klemme area, all taken from a airplane. He also showed a film of a flight breakfast showing Jets and Helicopters.

The following awards were given:

Wolf badge: Glen Alden, Merlin Bachman and Roland Sobek.

Bear badge: Earl Lemke.

Lion Badge: Jim Clements, James Christians and Jimmy Bock.

Gold Arrow Point: Roger Schmidt, Robert Ahrenkiel, Collyn Bridges and James Christians.

Silver Arrow Point: Roger Schmidt, Robert Ahrenkiel and Collyn Bridges received three silver arrow points.

The meeting was closed with the "Motto".

Lunch was pie, coffee and milk. About 40 person attended.

Ell Midgets Met

The Ell Midgets met at Donald Anderson's home, Monday evening, November 29, 1954.

We decided to give a Christmas party for the South and North Ell Tip Toppers. It is to be held December 15 in the REA building at Garner. It was decided to have each person bring a $.50 gift. The committees are as follows:

Entertainment: Larry Grieman, Wendall Humphrey and Vernon Grieman..

Lunch: Doug Jass, Egon Weaver and Bill Hann.

Invitations: Joyce Thieman, Jane Renner and Elaine Jurgemeyer.

The Ell Midgets are going to weigh in their calves at the Rath Stockyards, December 29, between 9 and 12 o'clock.

We are to practice for the skit Award Night, Thursday, December 2, at 7:00 o'clock. We are to meet at Rosendahl's in Klemme.

Vernon Grieman and Larry Thieman gave a demonstration on "How to Use a Rip Saw and Cross-Cut Saw".

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

Farmers are taking price docks as packers look with a critical eye at hogs carrying excess weight, stated Francis A Kutish, farm economist at Iowa State College.

Reports from Sioux City indicated more of the butchers are grading No. 3. Also, that market is beginning to discount both weight and finish. Such discounts for weight and excess finish can be expected to widen in the weeks ahead, predicted Kutish. Lately Chicago has reported a two-way price trend—steady on choice light butchers, off on the heavies. Besides a few packers are paying more for light sows than for butchers of the same weight.

Meanwhile, slaughter lags behind last year. Part of this is the result of the shift to earlier litters this year; part may be the result of holding back hogs to use up corn. If we had some storms, Kutish predicts, we would see farmers rushing hogs from the corn field to market. Unless this happens we are probably near the low on top quality butchers.

Feeder Cattle

Demand for feeder cattle has held strong. Prices are $3 to $5 higher than the seasonal low set in late July when the drouth was at its worst, says Kutish.

There are two differences in the feeder market when compared with last year, according to Kutish. First, calves now are selling at the same price as, or higher than, 500 to 800 pound steers at Kansas City. Last year, theh yearlings sold higher all through the fall.

Second, the spread between choice, good, and medium feeder steers at Kansas City is wider than last year—but narrower than in 1951 and 1952. Spread between good and choice grades.

Also, we must remember that last year's spread between grades of feeder steers was usually wide. The main reason was the speed-up in the sale of cattle off grass last year. These low-quality grass-fed cattle normally are low in price compared to the high quality cattle in years when beef supplies are large and cattle producers are not expanding numbers rapidly.

Viewed in this perspective, says Kutish, prices of lower-grade feeder steers do not appear as far out of line as if we just compared them with last year. In recent weeks the spread between them was a little wider than average.

Meanwhile, concluded Kutish, we continue to ship feeder cattle at a fast clip. Total in-shipments of feeder cattle into the nine Corn Belt states July through October are 16 percent ahead of last year. In early November the eight markets sold 83 percent more calves and 10 percent more steers than a year ago.

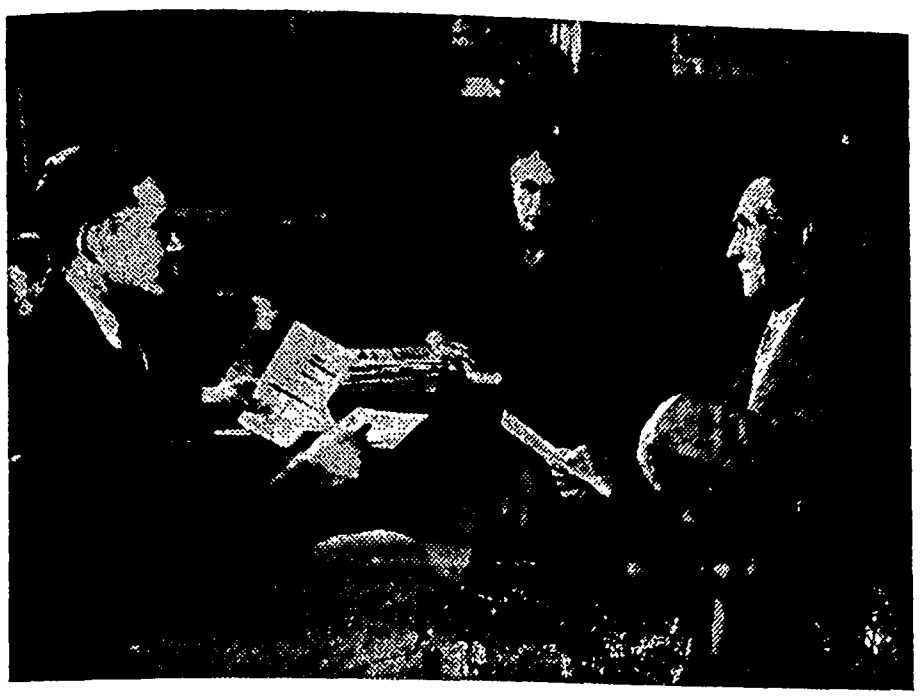
Want to Retire Some Day?

Plan Your Future Security Now



Wise couples look ahead to the future by planning early for retirement. By planning early they can look forward with more assurance to living their lives out in comfort and security.

* * *

The later years of your life can be some of your happiest years, says Margaret Liston, head of the Department of Home Management at Iowa State College. Then you and your husband will have more time to be together many of the things you've always wanted to do.

Plan Retirement

You'll want to plan for these future years while you're still young. By so doing you can gradually accumulate savings to draw upon as old age income. Consider many different ways of accumulating these savings. You'll probably find a combination of ways will suit your purpose best.

Analyze different ways you now have money invested, or are planning to invest. Perhaps you should allocate more money to annuities or a retirement savings plan of some form.

If you and your husband have jobs covered by federal old-age an survivor's insurance or by private pension plans, you'll want to consider their worth when you plan other savings.

If you're buying a home try to arrange payments so they will be completed before your steady income is decreased through retirement. A home of their own usually provides security and comfort for an older couple. If you've had a large family you may want to rent out some of your extra rooms for additional income in your later years. Or you might want to consider buying or renting a smaller home when you're older and won't need so much room.

As you get older your energy and ability to do heavy work will decrease. So you may want to plan for buying more labor-saving devices, or setting money aside for more paid help around the home.

Plan for Emergencies

Recognize the fact that illnesses and even death can occur unexpectedly when you're older. Plan some form of savings so you can have money readily available for emergencies such as these.

You may want to invest in hospitalization insurance. Or put some money in savings (such as postal savings) that you can draw out at any time.

Don't forget the importance of making a will and keeping matters much easier for your family to handle at a difficult time for them.

Plan for Recreation

Your recreation and way of living may change somewhat after retirement. You'll want something to do with your additional free time. Perhaps you could develop a hobby to enjoy now as well as later. It might even prove a source of income.

If you're living on a reduced income, but have more spare time, you might consider giving more of your services and less of your money to your church and their organizations. Often service is more difficult for a church to recruit than is money.

By giving thought now to the ways you use your time, energy and money, you can do much to lay a foundation for happy, comfortable and useful later years, Miss Liston reminds us.

Grass Waterways Help Prevent Gullies

Grass waterways dispose of excess run-off from sloping land in orderly fashion. The main purpose of a grass waterway is to keep gullies from forming, Paul Henderon, Hancock County Extension director says.

Cultivated drainageways quickly develop into gullies. Each year a gully digs deeper and wider, and as the gullies grow, land value goes down and production costs go up.

"Plowing in" these gullies each year just to permit crossing with farming equipment without seeding is actually worse than doing nothing, according to Iowa State College agricultural engineer Ted Willrich. Loose top soil stolen from the field washes away much easier than the subsoil into which the gullies had already cut. Such practice is certain to make the gullies more serious, he believes.

Instead the "plowed in" gully should be shaped so that the finished product is a wide, almost flat-bottomed watercourse, Willrich explains. Don't crowd the water by leaving the waterway too narrow. After shaping, fertilize or manure the area before seeding perennial sod grasses. A nurse crop, or preferably a mulch, should be used to protect the new seeding.

Grass waterways alone do not protect the soil from erosion. They do stop gully erosion. Contouring, strip cropping or terraces should be used to check the more serious sheet erosion on the field. However, establishing good grass waterways in drainageways or along fence line turn rows or headlands is the first step in solving the erosion control problem.

To assist the farmer in paying the expense of shaping and seeding, the Agricultural Conservation Program for 1955 offers to share the cost in establishing grass waterways, terrace outlets and headlands. See your County ASC Office for details.

White lies often have to be whitewashed to prevent them from turning black.

Many more people get on in the world than up in it.

Tip to motorists: Watch out for school kids—they weren't brought up to be run down.

Postmaster Gives Hints On Christmas Mailing

Postmaster Franklin Kluckhohn said today that mailing for distant states should be deposited in advance of December 15, to assure delivery before Christmas Day.

Kluckhohn stated that unsealed Christmas greeting cards sent as third class mail without unauthorized writing enclosed are mailable at 2 cents postage the same as last year. Holiday greeting cards at the first class rate of 3 cents per ounce, however, may be sealed and contain written messages. These are dispatched and delivered first, forwarded, if necessary, without additional charge, and, if undeliverable, returned at no further expense to the mailer.

It was requested by the Postmaster that all mail should be posted as early during the day as possible, explaining that considerable delay is made necessary in postmarking, sorting and tying out letters for dispatch. Patrons having a large number of greeting cards to deposit are urged to separate and tie Klemme mail from out of town mail.

For those mailers who may wish to expidite handling and delivery of cards and gifts, there are the air mail, special delivery and special handling services. Perishable articles likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation should not be mailed.

Poultry Scramble On Main Street Again This Saturday P. M.

Pictured at left is a part of the crowd that was on hand Saturday for the poultry scramble.

On top of the building is Graydon Back, who has just released a "Banty."

Byrnes Lemke, was stationed on top of the Klemme Hardware Co. building and was also releasing birds.

Several nasty spills were taken as it was slick underfoot but everyone enjoyed the fun and there were 26 lucky winners who caught "Bantys" and turned them in for turkeys, geese, ducks and chickens.

This Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Klemme Commercial Club will again put on a poultry scramble. It will be conducted the same as was last week's scramble, with "Banty" roosters being released from the roofs of stores on both the north and south side of main street, and the lucky ones who catch them turning them in for larger poultry, fit for the Christmas dinner table.

Last Saturday, the footing on main street was rather bad, due to an accumulation of slush, but the crowd went after the birds just the same. The poor footing resulted in some nasty spills, but just the same the birds were all caught. Each "Banty" was banded with a colored band on his leg, and the lucky one who caught him turned him in at Bell's Produce and received whatever prize he had coming.

There were three turkeys, three geese, ten ducks and ten chickens given away last week, as there will be this week.

There will be two more poultry scrambles after this Saturday. One will be on Saturday, December 18, and the last one will be on Friday, December 24.

Shamrocks Take 2 Conference Games

Down Sheffield 67 to 39; Then Fertile 49 to 48

By virtue of two wins over conference foes during the past week, the Klemme Shamrocks now are at .500 in the North Star Conference standings. In previous games they had lost to Dows and Ventura in conference play, but during the past week they defeated Sheffield by a score of 67 to 39, and knocked off high ranking Fertile 49 to 48. It was the first conference loss for the Fertile aggregation.

Last Friday night, the Shamrocks took on Sheffield on the Klemme court and had an easy time of it. They led 12 to 5 at the end of the first quarter, 28 to 16 at the half, and 51 to 25 at the end of the third quarter, with the final score being 67 to 39.

Haefner led the scoring for the Shamrocks with 20 points, while Brinkman had 18. Nolte looked best for Sheffield with 15.

The Little Shamrocks defeated the Sheffield reserves 42 to 29 with Bachman collecting 16 points and Neuberger, 15.

Tuesday night the Shamrocks journeyed to Fertile, in a game that Fertile was doped to win without too much trouble. However, the Shamrocks have been coming into their own the last few games and proceeded to upset the dope bucket. They jumped away to an early lead only to see Fertile take it away from them and lead by four points at the half, 31 to 27. They came back strong in the third quarter, though, and led at the end of that period by a score of 38 to 35. The last quarter was a ding dong affair with the lead changing hands several times, but the Shamrocks managed to maintain a slim one point margin at the end of the game, winning out 49 to 48.

The whole team played good basketball in the Fertile game and all of them deserve a pat on the back for their performance. Haefner led the scoring with 23 points, Thiemann had 12, Kramer, 8 and Barz, 6.

LeRoy Luther was high man for the Fertile team with 19 points.

The Little Shamrocks took it on the chin from the Fertile reserves by a score of 43 to 33. Larson led the scoring for the locals with 10 points, while Jacobs and Neuberger each got 8. Harglen looked best for Fertile with 14.

Next week the Shamrocks go into action against two conference foes. Tuesday night they will be after revenge from Ventura for the two point defeat they suffered at their hands on November 16. Then on Friday night, December 17, they will go to Franklin Consolidated for another conference battle.

Mr and Mrs Karl Huenemann now have three boys in their family. Latest arrival is a six pound, fourteen ounce boy at Mercy Hospital in Mason City today (Wednesday).

Extension Veterinarian To Speak Here Dec. 16

The latest development in the swine industry will be discussed at a group of area swine meetings at the Klemme High School on Thursday evening, December 16, at 8:00 p. m.

Dr Maynard Spear, Extension Veterinarian from Iowa State College, will discuss a 12-month swine sanitation program with things that farmers can do each month to do a better job in sanitation and disease control.

The new colored film, "Producing Pork in Iowa", will be shown. It covers feeding, management and swine type. It was produced by the Iowa Swine producers association.

Bernard Ebbing of the Rath Packing Co., Waterloo, will show some cross-sections of hogs which is a new and unique method of showing how hogs get fat, the amount of meat or muscling they have, and the importance of quality in our swine raising program.

Cooperating are the Extension Service and the Vocational Agricultural Departments.

Free coffee and doughnuts will be served.

Judge Rules In Favor of Klemme School District

Says Plaintiffs Failed To Prove Case In Irregularities Charges

The Honorable Tom Boynton of Forest City, District Judge, filed his decision in the school cause of the State of Iowa Ex Rel Harvey Harberts et al vs the Klemme Community School District, Tuesday. The Court states that the Plaintiff's have failed to prove their case and it is therefore ordered and adjudged that Plaintiff's petition should be and now is dismissed at Plaintiff's cost and that judgment so enter.

The Court stated that the function of the Court is not and cannot be legislative. It can only interpret the legislative intent. While the Act under consideration, to this Court seems badly written, vague and confusing. It seems to have been the law makers intention to leave the matter redistricting and reorganization in a state of flux. The Court doubts the wisdom thereof but feels that its correction, if it is to be corrected lies with the Legislature, not the Court.

Plaintiff's had alleged irregularities in the proceedings in the establishment of the Klemme Community School district and had petitioned the Court to enter a decree finding them to be deemed null an void and of no effect and that the defendant is acting as a corporation without being authorized by Law so to act and that the said defendant was not organized under the provisions of Chapter 275 of the Iowa Code and that the defendant be precluded from asserting any claim of authority or jurisdiction over the territory it purports to be comprised and for such other relief as may be equitable in the premises.

The case created widespread interest at this time because of problems in other districts now in the process of or recently reorganized.

Farm Census Now In Final Stages; Cooperation Requested

The 1954 Census of Agriculture is in its final stages locally and can be completed within the next two weeks if farmers will fill out their questionaires and have them ready for the enumerator when he calls, according to Field Supervisor, Mrs Anna B. Williams of Garner.

The farm census questionaires were mailed in advance of the start of the field enumeration for the purpose of giving farm operators time to consult their records and fill out the forms before the enumerators began their rounds. This procedure was planned to insure greater accuracy and to save time for both the farmer and the enumerator. Completion of the farm census on time will not only help in keeping costs down but will aid in prompt publication of the results.

These goals cannot be reached, however, unless farmers assist, the supervisor pointed out, urging local farmers to fill out their questionaries and have them ready when the enumerator calls. To date, approximately 45,033 farms have been enumerated in the 29 counties under the supervision of the Fort Dodge.

The nine-month old daughter of Mr and Mrs Charles Claypool of Williamsburg was injured recently, when her mother fell while carrying the child. As she fell, Mrs Claypool managed to protect the baby's head but the infant received a broken arm in the fall.

Shelby county's oldest resident recently observed her 97th birthday. She's Mrs Christina Berger, who was born in Denmark and has lived in Shelby county since 1900. Her husband died in 1922.

Trademark Against TB

The Double-Barred Cross is just a plaything to four-year-old Tommy recovering in the hospital from tuberculosis of the spine. When he's older he'll know it as the trademark of the National Tuberculosis Association and its 3,000 affiliated associations which conduct the annual Christmas Seal Sale to raise funds to fight TB.

John Schwichtenberg Experimenting With New Crop In South

John Schwichtenberg, who formerly farmed near Klemme and now manages a large farm near Grand Bay, Alabama, was recently featured in a story in the Mobile, Alabama Press. The story had to do with a new sorghum called sart. This new feed will produce from 20 to 40 tons of silage per acre, depending on rainfall and fertilization, but does not require as much moisture as do other varieties.

When the paper says that the yield depends on fertilization, they aren't kidding. We quote as follows:

"Developed over a period of years at the U. S. Sugar Station in Meridian, Miss., by crossing a number of African varieties, sart requires a rate of fertilization of from 400 to 500 pounds of complete fertilizer at planting time and side dressing with from 100 to 200 pounds of nitrate. It should be planted after frost."

John had 20 acres of the new crop this year, and it yielded about 25 tons to the acre. It would have no doubt yielded much heavier, but rainfall was very scant in that area this year.

A large picture accompanying the story showed several extension service men watching John as he harvested the crop with a field chopper.

TRAIN-LOAD

Fifty-four carloads of beef left Schleswig recently, the "Blue Ribbon Specials" of Crawford county, headed for the Chicago markets. The special shipment is an annual event, for the Monday before Thanksgiving.

77TH

Mr and Mrs Walter Shriner, who've probably been married longer than any other Iowa couple, recently observed their 77th wedding anniversary. They are residents of Salem.

The important thing is not where we stand, but where we are going.

TRAIN

Careless pheasant hunters left a farm gate open, and brought death to two of Don Forsman's favorite riding horses. The pets of the Fredericksburg man wandered out onto the railroad track; one was hit by the train, and a second broke its neck in leaping from the track down a steep grade.

If you aren't happy in your work, you have the wrong job.

Remember Pearl Harbor?

Yes, it's been 13 years ago that the lives and ways of millions of Americans were changed. To most people this is all past and they would like to forget about it, but today we have a new enemy that is killing people right here at home. He does his lethal work on what might be called "Hiway Butcher Shops".

The president has set aside December 15, 1954, as "Safe-Driving Day", in the hope that for 24 short hours no Americans will lose their lives on the highway. This sounds very easy, but let's wait and hope.

Won't you drive a little slower and use just a little common sense on December 15, and maybe we'll all be around to see St. Nicholas again this year.

"Those boards are beautiful," was the recent remark in KHS, referring of course, to the four new tables in the study hall. Thus, with this addition our high school is almost completely equipped with blonde desks and tables—something that we in Klemme should be proud of.

These furnishings were purchased at the taxpayer's expense for the efficiency and comfort of present and future students and should be preserved for posterity. However, at the rate at which they are currently being marred, they will not last their expected lifetime. No doubt you have heard these facts repeatedly but it still seems that a few students haven't absorbed this knowledge. Who they are I don't know, but I do care. These vandals are not only inconsiderate and unintelligent, but they must think their time useless if they waste it by doing such foolish deeds. There might be other reasons for their destruction, but I can't discover any excuses.

Cackles from Band Coop

Beware band members! Mr Whitford has some tests for you that, we hear, are really hard.

On December 6th, the all-county Band Festival was held at the Garner Memorial Building. The band of 175 members was directed by Ken Carpenter, band director at Storm Lake.

The band certainly missed our first flute player, Gracka Gerardi, in the fall concert.

And so ends this column till next week.

Notes About Notes

Girls Chorus met in the gym for rehearsal last Monday. We have been practicing in the little school house just east of the high school, but we wanted to test our volume in the gym. Tickets for the program are now being sold. A silver dollar is being awarded by the Music Mothers to the chorus participant who sells the most tickes.

The high school girls have been reviewing the rules of basketball. On Thursday we started a game. The girls have not only had a chance to be forwards and guards, but also have had the opportunity to act as a referee. Now we know why the refs don't see all the fouls committed during a basketball game. You really have to be on your toes to see everything and know all the rules to be a successful referee.

Sixth Grade News

We've been learning to multiply one fraction by another. Also, we've been doing them with cancellations. We think they're fun and enjoy doing them.

Now that Thanksgiving time is over with we're beginning to think about Christmas. We drew names for our Christmas party and will be putting up decorations.

In language we wrote some business letters asking for information on different topics. We hope to be receiving that before too long.

We only have six dental cards brought back so far. Let's see if more can be in before December is over.

Fifth Grade News

In fifth grade we're getting ready for Christmas in our room and for our Christmas progam, too.

In social studies we are studying about the Middle Atlantic States.

In spelling we had nine A's last Friday. They are: Clarice Ann Arnold, Keith Christians, Billy Clabaugh, Jim Clements, Linda Meinders, Jerry Murray, Franklin Neuberger, Inez Nuehring and Judy Swanson.

"Safe-Driving Day" Step Toward Saving Lives

State Safety Commissioner Pearl W. McMurry Thursday appealed to all Hancock county for a "perfect record of no traffic accidents on December 15."

That date is "Safe Driving Day" in Iowa and the nation, a 24-hour period in which safety leaders hope drivers will give all past traffic accident records an unforgetable belting.

"If we can keep one complete day free of traffic accidents in this state, we will have taken a tremendous step toward better accident prevention," McMurry said.

"Drivers then will realize that they, personally, can beat down this traffic accident menace that yearly robs us of some 600 lives and thousands of able-bodied citizens," he continued.

McMurry appealed to all Hancock county organizations to join in local campaigns to keep the county free of all traffic accidents on December 15.

"This is one day when the performance of the individual driver will be high-lighted as the all-important element it is in our traffic problem," McMurry said.

A smile is the lighting system of the face.

Success comes from service; he profits most who serves best.

the Highway Story

By Bob Hullihan

Several hundred hopeful people in Iowa are trying to manufacture a miracle. More than that, they are going to try to make this miracle last 24 hours.

The day the man-made miracle is supposed to operate is Wednesday, December 15, "Safe-Driving Day". The attempt will be to complete that 24-hour period without a single traffic accident in Iowa.

Last December 15, there were 197 traffic accidents in the state, resulting in six deaths. An even more discouraging background is the last half century in which deaths have increased almost continuously in Iowa and the nation.

In addition, no one in an official position can recall a day when Iowa passed a 24-hour period without a reported traffic accident.

So, the odds against the complete success of "Safe-Driving Day" would contribute just andous. And that is one side of a tragic paradox, because the success of "Safe-Driving Day"—one full day without an accident in Iowa—is really quite possible.

All it would take is the cooperation of each individual driver; a little extra effort to avoid accidents.

The success of "Safe-Driving Day" in Iowa might strike the spark of recognition in the minds of drivers that they have the power to reverse the traffic accident trend anytime they decide to do so.

The failure of "Safe-Driving Day" woul contribute just another layer to that partition of apathy and individual hopelessness that separates us from great success in accident prevention.

Let's make a miracle!

List Rules for Hunting Deer on Own Land

A reminder to farmers with respect to the coming Deer Season, which starts December 10.

Section 8 of Administrative Order No. 186 reads as follows: Owners or tenants and their children living on said land, may hunt, kill and possess one deer (without purchasing a license) provided that it is not removed from said land, whole or in part, unless with seal affixed to the animal.

Attention is called also to Section 10 of the same Administrative Order, which reads as follows:

Occupants of farms desiring to hunt deer on their own land (without license) must make application for certificate, deer tag and safety placard. The safety placard must be worn and the legal description of property in possession of hunter when hunting on said land.

Application or letter giving legal description of property must be sent to the State Conservation Commission, East and 7th Court Ave., Des Moines, Iowa. There is no charge on this application.

For further information you may contact your local conservation officer, W E Ayers, Goodell.

DANISH CHRISTMAS IN IOWA

Customs and traditions of Denmark, land where the tuberculosis Christmas Seal originated 50 years ago, are important to the Maurice Jensen family of Castana. They cherish Christmas Seals as part of their Danish heritage along with appleskivers (a special Danish cake) and Christmas Eve hymn singing around the Christmas Tree. In Iowa, Christmas Seals help fight TB and heart disease.

Ruth Circle to Meet

Ruth Circle, No. 1 will meet Thursday, December 16th at the home of Mrs Verner Nelson.

There will be a fifty cent gift exchange.

Please bring one-half dozen Christmas cookies and a poem or something pertaining to Christmas.

Former Coach Visits

Wesley "Pat" Patterson, former high school coach here, was in town Tuesday and Wednesday. He was here on business for Patterson-Sargeant Paint Co. for whom he does special assignment work, but he took time out to attend the Fertile-Klemme basketball game Tuesday night. His comment was, "The team looks pretty fair and should be tough by the end of the season."

Celebrate Silver Wedding Anniversary Sunday

Relatives and friends of Mr and Mrs Donald Neuberger gathered at their home near Clear Lake Sunday evening to honor them on their 25th wedding anniversary which is on Friday, December 10th.

Miss Bena Blank, daughter of Mr and Mrs George Blank of Osakis, Minn, and Donald Neuberger, son of Mr and Mrs Lewis Neuberger of Klemme, Iowa, were married December 10, 1929 at the Klemme Methodist parsonage by the Rev. Harry Whyte, pastor. They were attended by Miss Pearl Neuberger, (now Mrs Clarence Lemke) and Melvin Neuberger, sister and brother of the groom. The bride and bridesmaid wore blue dresses and the groom and best man wore the conventional dark suits.

A 6:30 wedding dinner was served that evening at the home of the groom's parents, to the immediate relatives. Later that same evening they were given an old fashiond charivari by relatives and friends.

The newlyweds started housekeeping on a farm 3½ miles northeast of Klemme and lived in the Klemme vicinity for 15 years. In 1944 they moved to a farm north of Clear Lake where they now reside.

They are the parents of two sons, Donald Eugene and Roger Dean, and have one grandchild, Diane.

A short program was given with Mrs Clarence Lemke giving the history of the honored couple. Two songs "Side by Side" and "I Love You Truly", were sung by Claudia and Franklin Neuberger and Pamela Lemke. Several poems were read by Mrs Lester Neuberger and Mrs Donald E. Neuberger.

After the program a delicious lunch was served. The table was beautifully decorated for the occasion with long white tapers and a prettily decorated wedding cake topped by a silver numeral 25 and baked by Mrs D P Anderson of Klemme. Mrs Clarence Lemke poured and Mrs Donald E Neuberger served the wedding cake.

Those present were Mrs Johanna Westendorf and Mr and Mrs George Carmen, of Buffalo Center; Mr and Mrs Paul Lemke, Mr and Mrs Marvin Prilipp, Mr and Mrs Eugene Howland and Lois Ann and Mr and Mrs Donald E. Neubeger and Diane all of Clear Lake; Mr and Mrs Valere Nelson, Forest City; Mrs Lewis Neuberger Wert Loger, Mr and Mrs Melvin Neuberger and Alan, Mr and Mrs Lester Neuberger, Claudia, Franklin, and Mark and Mr and Mrs Clarence Lemke and Pamela, all of Klemme.

Mr and Mrs Neuberger were presented a gift of money in remembance of the occasion.

ELECTROCUTED

A 20 year old Sioux Center youth was killed in a power-line accident, near Biddleburg, recently. Apparently, as Ronald Mulder guided a steel I-beam as a boom truck lifted it, the truck slipped off a shoulder or the roadway and the boom came in contact with the highline. As much as 12,500 volts may have passed through the youth's body.

SAVED

Mrs Wayne Thomas, Burlington, had a narrow escape recently. Trapped in the burning Thomas car, she was pulled to safety by a truck driver Don Oberman, of Danville, whose truck was also involved in the collision. He beat out the flames on Mrs Thomas' hair and clothing with his bare hands.

"WINDED"

At Grinnell, Albert Hockett enjoys riding about on his home-made tricycle, which he built from bicycle parts. But he says he gets winded pumping the machine uphill. He is 85 and built the machine this fall.

REGULAR NOVEMBER MEETING

Garner, Iowa
November 8, 1954

The Hancock County, Iowa, Board of Supervisors met in session on above captioned date as required by law with S. A. Barber, Clarence Bird and Clint Daniels present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read.

On motion and second C. F. Merten is hereby appointed preliminary Engineer on D D No. 130 petitioned for by Joe Hadecek, et al.

Supervisor Daniels is hereby appointed a committee to investigate and cause repairs to be made in D. D. No. 7 Sec. 5 and D. D. No. 122, L. No. 30.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, Hancock County held the title to the South East Quarter (SE¼) of the South West Quarter (SW¼) of Section Thirty-one (31), Township Ninety-six (96) North, Range Twenty-three (23), West of the Fifth P. M., by Quit Claim Deed recorded in Book 1, Page 393 of Farm Land Deed Records, Hancock County, Iowa; and

WHEREAS, the Town of Concord in Hancock County, Iowa, was subsequently platted on said described real property; and

WHEREAS, it appears necessary for Hancock County to execute a Quit Claim Deed to cure a number of defects in the title to the real property hereinafter described, which is a portion of the real property first hereinbefore described:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that Hancock County execute a Quit Claim Deed to Howard F. Ruka and Edna E. Ruka, husband and wife, as joint tenants with full rights of survivorship and not as tenants in common, conveying all the right, title, and interest of Hancock County in and to the following described real property situated in Hancock County, Iowa, to-wit:

All of Block Seven (7), in the Town of Concord, Hancock County, Iowa, including Lots One (1), Two (2), Three (3), Four (4), Five, (5), Six (6), Seven (7), Eight (8), thereof, and all alleys or parts of alleys within the boundary lines of Block 7 in the Town of Concord, Iowa, and all that part of Second Street in the Original Town of Concord, lying and being between Ellington or Front Street and Main Street in said town plat, and which is more particularly described as follows: Commencing at the Southeast corner of Block 7 in the Original Town of Concord; thence running West on the South line of said Block 7 to the Southwest corner of said block; thence due South Sixty-six (66) Feet; thence due East on the North line of Block A of said plat to the Northeast corner of said Block A; thence due North Sixty-six (66) Feet to the place of beginning

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that Clarence A. Bird, S. A. Barber, and Clinton D. Daniels, being all of the members of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, are hereby authorized to execute said Quit Claim Deed in due form of law, for and on behalf of Hancock County, conveying the real property hereinbefore described to the above named parties, for the consideration of One Dollar Twentty-five Cents ($1.25).

The foregoing Resolution was read by Supervisor S. A. Barber, who moved its adoption. The motion was sceonded by Supervisor Clinton D. Daniels. Upon roll call, the vote was as follows:

Ayes: Supervisor Clarence A. Bird, Supervisor S. A. Barber, and Supervisor Clinton D. Daniels.

Nays: None.

Whereupon, the chairman declared said Resolution duly adopted.

expect 1955 farm income to be Most Iowa farm families can sort of "in between"—a year of neither feast nor famine, according to Iowa State Farm Economist Francis A. Kutish. It should be good compared to the late '30's, but not as the late '40's.

However, Kutish continues, there are some exceptions to the above. Farmers with low crop yields will not do as well. They have less to sell. Also some Iowa people are out of a job—not many though.

Nationally, the employment trend looks steady with a possibility of a slight rise. Kutish thinks that employment will remain close to 1954 levels. Building of new roads, new schoolhouses, new homes and the like will expand. However, building of new factories and stores, along with defense spending, is easing off a bit.

The biggest change in 1955 outlook is that business men are now buying as much as or more than they are selling, says Kutish. In 1954, part of these sales came from liquidation of stocks on hand.

Farmers as a whole are maintaining a "wait and see" attitude about the coming year, says Kutish. Costs are likely to decline only slightly, and prices for most items won't change much. Meanwhile, taxes are expected to be higher. That all adds up to a slightly lower net farm income, except where crops are good on cash grain farms.

Farm prices are not likely to change much either. Corn will average higher than in 1954; oats, fat cattle and dairy products the same; eggs and hogs a bit lower, predicts Kutish.

Living costs won't vary much from 1954, continues Kutish. Some foods may be a little lower but list prices of consumer good will be about the same. Special deals will be offered, but not as many as during 1954.

In conclusion, Kutish points out that jobs available off farms in 1955 will be the same as 1954. Farm machinery companies will depend on exports for any sizable expansion. Packing house jobs will be about the same. With more public building, road construction work and house building, there might be a few more construction jobs.

North Ell Tip Toppers

The North Ell Tip Toppers met at the home of Joyce Thiemann on Saturday, November 20. The hostess had charge of entertainment and announcing the program. There was a demonstration on making Carmel Candy by Delores Greiman and Patty Tlach. Virginia Schubert gave a demonstration on Hows and Whys of Fruits for Breakfast. A talk on "Is He a Good Egg" was given by Doreen Lackore. The meeting was then called to order by President Carol Humphrey. Roll Call was answered by "Naming a Food I Will Try to Eat This Year." The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Supervisor Bird Gives Safety Hints for S-D (Safe Driving Day)

Issuing an appeal to all residents of Hancock County to prevent traffic accidents on S-D (Safe Driving Day), December 15, C. A. Bird, chairman of the Board of County Supervisors said today that the challenge of highway safety is one that must be met on rural roads as well as urban streets.

Roads outside the incorporated limits of cities and villages may be the proving ground where the success of S-D Day is decided, Mr Bird said. He reminded:

"More than twice as many deaths in traffic occcur in the country as in the city. That has been the national experience for several years. In 1953, for example, there were 27,200 deaths on rural roads compared to 11,100 on urban streets according to statistics compiled by the National Safety Council.

"Traffic safety is particularly important to persons who live on farms and in rural areas. That's because no other segment of the population is more directly dependent on highway transportation.

"The aim of farm people is urgently needed to assure the success of S-D Day and the whole continuing program of highway safety. Last year more farm people died in traffic accidents than from any other cause. This fact points up the farmer's personal stake."

City drivers venturing on the open road were urged by Mr Bird to be particularly attentive because driving on the rural highway differs from driving on the urban street in many important respects.

With more than 3,000 pedestrian deaths on rural roads last year it behooves drivers to remember that there are walkers in the country as well as in town, Mr Bird stated.

S-D Day, which is being sponsored by President Eisenhower's Action Committee for traffic safety in cooperation with public officials and numerous national organizations, has as its objective the elimination of all traffic accidents for December 15. Its purpose is to demonstrate that the solution to the traffic accident problem is within the grasp of any community when its citizens are willing to accept their responsibilities as drivers and pedestrians.

Motorists and pedestrians in Hancock County can assure the success of S-D Day locally. Mr Bird said, if they will do these three things:

First, observe the letter and the spirit of all traffic regulations;

Second, be courteous to every driver and pedestrian—practice sportsmanship;

Third, give full attention to driving and walking.

In other words, drive and walk as they would have all others drive and walk.

The record so far this year, Mr Bird pointed out, shows that people can cut down accidents if they want to and will work at it. For the first nine months of this year accidents are below the same months of last year. Such barometer periods as the Fourth of July and Labor Day weekends show that the trend is down and can be further reduced.

Do Holiday Activities Together

Younger children in the family can help wrap packages, trim the tree, and do lots of things at Christmas time. If older brothers and sisters or mother and dad work with them, the whole family can have lots of fun doing things together.

* * *

When you think back to your childhood what are some of the things you remember your family doing together?

Many of your memories are probably closely tied in with the holiday season—such things as oyster stew you always had on Christmas Eve, the whole family decorated the tree or reading a Christmas story together.

Blaine Porter, assistant professor of child development at Iowa State College, says many of these family activities seem more a part of yesterday's family than of today's. Changes in our society seem to make it harder for the family to do things together. Schools, marriage, and job opportunities frequently take family members long distances from each other.

Porter believes it's important that parents take time to think about building warmth and closeness between members of the family. Achieving family unity while the children are still young and living at home will give them a lasting feeling of security.

Family unity has to grow and many things. It isn't something you can bring about over night. Famliy unity has to grow and develop.

Family Celebrations

Such things as special family events, celebrations and holiday activities help establish bonds between family members.

Since Christmas is a time of year that has deep significance for most people, it's a good time to work on building family unity.

Do Things Together

The simple task of sending greeting cards can be turned into a family affair with mother, dad and children old enough to write, addressing envelopes and signing cards. Younger children can lick and attach postage stamps and Christmas seals.

Trimming the Christmas tree can be fun for the whole family. The finished tree may not look like the one in the department store display window, but you'll find your hearts get mixed in with the lights, tinsel and colored balls.

Christmas Program

Maybe your family could have a special Christmas program put on for themselves, by themselves. You might even want to invite some close friends to join you.

Porter tells of one family that puts on a Christmas Eve program with each family member participating. Some parts are traditional events—others are prepared by individuals to surprise the rest of the family.

The youngest children repeat simple poems or nursery rhymes. Older children say "The Night Before Christmas", tell stories, sing songs, or play their musical instruments. Mother and dad read or tell the traditional Christmas stories.

If the church has a Christmas program, its' nice for the whole family to attend it together.

Giving Gifts

Some families go together when they distribute gifts to friends and relatives. The whole family gathers at the front door. When it is opened, they sing a special carol and leave their gift.

There are lots of other things your family can do together at Christmas time—open gifts, play games, light candles, hang stockings, and so forth.

It isn't what you do, or how many things you do, says Porter. The important thing is having a good time doing them together.

Deer-Checking Stations Set Up for Coming Season

Eight deer-checking stations have been set up by the State Conservation Commission in various parts of the state open to deer hunting.

The stations will weigh and age deer killed during the hunting season, and all hunters are urged by the Commission to bring their deer to the stations. Commission biologists and officers will be on hand to give hunters the ages and weights of their deer and answer any hunters' questions. The primary purpose of the deer-checking stations is to learn the age and sex ratios and general health and condition of the Iowa deer herd. The checking stations will be open daily during the deer season from about 9 a. m. to 5 or 6 p. m.

The station in this area will be located at the junction of highways 9 and 332, 1 mile north of the west entrance of Pilot Knob State Park.

Possibility of County Participating in Surplus Commodity Program

Hancock County will participate in the Surplus Commodity Program, if there is a sufficient number of individuals eligible for and willing to apply for the Commodities.

The November report from the State Department of Social Welfare indicates that Hancock County has 184 recipients of Old Age Assistance, Aid to Dependent Children recipients number 90 persons, and there are two recipients of Aid to Blind. Besides these categorical cases, those eligible for General Relief, Soldiers and Sailors Relief, and the unemployed, may also be determined to be eligible for Surplus Commodities, pending investigation.

We request all interested parties to contact the County Welfare Office by phone or letter, before January 1, 1955. The number of applicants will determine feasibility of the program for Hancock County.

Items available at the present time are as follows: butter, dry milk, cheese, shortening, and lima beans.

W S C S Regular Meeting

The regular meeting of the W S C S of the Methodist Church was held in the church parlors on Thursday, Dec. 2, with 50 members present.

Mrs C C Kilgore gave the lesson, "The Prince of Peace", and Mrs M L Harson gave the Devotions.

Mrs Marvin Lemke, sang "Bless This House", Mrs C C Kilgore sang "Bethlehem", and a ladies sextet sang "Star of the East". Earl Lemke played two selections on his accordion. The ladies in the sextet were Mrs Roy Arnold, Mrs George Schoenwetter, Mrs C A Arnold Mrs Merlin Neuberger, Mrs Carold Larson, and Mrs Gerald Koerner.

Lunch was served by the ladies of the Martha Circle.

BIGGEST

Audubon county's "Operation T-Bone" was the biggest yet this year. Over 100 farmers and business men participated in the special train-ride to Chicago, with 63 carloads of Audubon county cattle bringing $400,000 in the Chicago market.

SHOT GUN

Near Scarville, Kenneth Hage is looking for the hunters who blasted a hole through his mailbox with a shot gun. The box was liberally punctured with pellets. Over 30 mail boxes in that area were reported as damaged by vandals.

The carp are slower in cold water than they are in the summer time and the men caught them on fly rods. They had four 10 pounders in the string.

DIED

Clarinda lost one of its oldest residents recently, in the death of Walter Parker, who had lived there since 1913. Mr Parker was 96.

Cub Scouts Hold Annual Christmas Party

The annual Cub Scout Christmas party was held Thursday afternoon December 9th in the recreation room of Dr and Mrs Dulmes' home.

There was a nicely decorated Christmas tree for us to put our gifts under. Lots of homemade candy was sent in by the committee.

The boys played games after which we had a grab bag. Everyone seemed pleased with their gift.

The lunch consisted of hot dogs and pop.

There were 13 Scouts present. We are sorry Robert Ahrenkiel was sick and unable to attend. Two Den Mothers and a Den Dad were also present.

Thanks again to the Dulmes for asking us to their home.

Legion Auxiliary Has Christmas Party

The regular monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary was held at the home of Louise Etchen on Tuesday evening, December 7. The president Cora Schaefer, presided over the business meeting.

It was reported that the rehabilitation chairman has sent the gifts to the Veterans' Hospital Christmas Gift Shop. There were twelve Christmas stockings for fruit and nuts made by the members of the Auxiliary. They will be used in the Veterans' Hospitals this Christmas.

Cora Schaefer was appointed to have signs made to show the location of the Klemme Public Library in the Bank basement.

Carrie Schwichtenberg was appointed to handle the Butternut Coffee strips. She reported that 2011 strips were sent in. Thanks to those in the community who saved and brought in their strips We hope everyone will start saving the strips again for next year.

Lydia Bock was appointed to purchase a $3.00 Christmas gift for both our assigned child and our sponsored child. Two packages have been sent to our service men.

We voted to purchase the official Historian's Book.

Following the business meeting the group enjoyed a 50c Christmas gift exchange. Then the hostess and co-hostess, Eloise Kuhlers served refreshments.

Hostesses for the January meeting will be Neva Hartzell and Veletta Schlei.

Martha Circle Met

The Martha Circle met at the home of Mrs C C Kilgore, Wednesday afternoon, December 8. There were 15 members present and four guests.

Mrs Bacon gave a reading, the definition of "Home".

Mrs E J Arnold gave the history of the Christmas carol, "O Little Town of Bethlehem." Mrs Arnold also had charge of the lesson, a most interesting one in regard to mission work.

After the meeting adjourned, there was an exchange of gifts.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and co-hostess, Mrs John Chambers.

The January meeting will be at the home of Mrs Lee Ridder.

Music Mothers Meeting

Music Mothers met in the school library Wednesday afternoon for their December meeting and Christmas party.

After the business meeting a short program, consisting of the reading of a Christmas poem by Mrs Thiemann and the history of the Christmas Carol, "Silent Night, Holy Night" by Mrs Arnold was represented.

Band instructor Whitford discussed the point system, a merit system by which the pupils can gain awards for band work. Also he discussed the achievement tests which were being given to the students at his time and also to be given again in late spring. He felt this was an excellent way to determine each ones progress.

The meeting was adjournd to the home economics room where doughnuts and coffee were enjoyed while the Christmas grab bag gifts were distributed.

Hope to see you members of the Music Mothers organization at our next meeting, January 19, 1955.

Do come and enjoy the social time over a cup of coffee, January 19, 1955.

Iowa Farm Land Values Increase

General Rise; Prices Dip Only in Southern Part

Iowa farm land values increased an average of $7 an acre in the year ending Nov. 1, 1954.

W G Murray, head of farm economics at Iowa State College, says that land values increased in all sections of Iowa except southern Iowa. The drouth forced the values down in that area.

A significant trend, Murray says, is the widening gap between the prices for the best and poorest farms. High quality farms are becoming more valuable in comparison with low-quality farms. Murray says this is partly because the incomes from high-quality farms are better and partly because owners of high-quality farms invest more in their homes,, buildings and soil productivity.

Reserves Trend

The rise in land values reverses the trend of declining values which started 2 years ago. Murray says sales activity continued low in all regions of Iowa during the past year, but prices went up everywhere except in the southern counties.

Murray makes this survey of land values in Iowa each year in cooperation with real estate brokers. This year 404 brokers throughout the state replied to the survey.

Until 1954 the upswings and downswings of land values in Iowa had been long-term affairs. Prices went down each year from 1920 to 1933. They went up every yar from 1933 to 1951. Thy started down in 1952 and 1953. The rise in 1954 has broken the down swing.

Land Value Stabilized

Murray says the average value of land in Iowa on Nov. 1, 1954, was $205 an acre. For the moment, he says, it looks as if the average land value has stabilized near $200 an acre.

He says this stabilization probably results from two things.

1. Farm prices and income seem to be holding fairly stable at levels that seem to justify the $200-an-acre average price. Since 1950, teh prices received by Iowa farmers have averaged between a low of 270 percent and a high of 317 percent of the 1910-14 average.

2. Farm values haven't been bid as high in relation to income as they were in eariler high-price periods.

Free Movie and Treats for Kids

At one o'clock on Friday afternoon, December 24th, there will be a big time for all the kids in the Klemme vicinity. Santa Claus is going to put in an appearance at the high school gymnasium and will pass out treats to all the youngsters. In addition to the treats there will be a full length movie for the kids to enjoy.

Santa is making his appearance through the courtesy of the Klemme Commercial Club, which is also sponsoring the free movie and furnishing the treats for him to pass out to the children.

Be sure and have the youngsters on hand for this afternoon of entertainment for them. Christmas comes but once a year and they really enjoy everything that goes with it.

In addition to Santa Claus and the movie at the school, there will also be a poultry scramble that afternoon. It will be the final one of the season and will be held one hour later than the usual starting time. It will start at three o'clock instead of at two o'clock as have the others, so that the kids who are old enough to participate will have time to attend the movie at the school.

Don't get the scramble times confused though. This Saturday's scramble will start at the usual two o'clock. Be on hand and run down a "banty". Win yourself a turkey, goose, duck or chicken for Christmas dinner.

The members of the Klemme Commercial Club are grateful for your patronage during the past year and are putting on these special events as a measure of gratitude. They hope that you take advantage of them and enjoy them.

Inland Fish Spearing Season Has Ended

Although the 1954 rough fish spearing season ended on October 31 for most of Iowa's inland waters, spearing is still permitted in the overflow waters of the Mississippi River and in Cedar and Iowa rivers in Muscatine and Louisa counties, and waters of the Winnebago River in Worth and Cerro Gordo counties.

Conservation Commission officials said that all other waters will be closed to rough fish spearing until May 1, and that game fish may not be taken by spear or bow and arrow at any time.

Courthouse to Close

The Hancock County Courthouse at Garner will be closed on Friday and Saturday, December 24th and 25th. There will be no drivers license examinations on that Friday.

Shamrocks Avenge Earlier Defeat by Ventura

Win 58 to 39 In Fast Game

The Shamrocks won their fourth straight game Tuesday night when they got revenge from Ventura for an earlier two-point loss. The game started out at a fast gait and stayed that way to the final gun. The fast action made for a lot of fouls with 24 being called on Ventura and 19 on the Shamrocks. The locals lost two men via the foul route, and the visitors lost four . . . two of them in the final minute or two of play when they were pressing hard to get the ball from the Shamrocks who were in control of the game.

The lead see-sawed back and forth in the opening minutes of the game and then Ventura went ahead by 7 points. However, by the end of the first quarter the Shamrocks had cut the lead to two points and were trailing 16 to 18. In the second quarter the locals began to play more of a control game and gradually pulled ahead, gaining a five point lead, 28 to 23 at the half. By the third quarter they had built it up to 49 to 32 and in the final period they gained a couple more points to win with a nineteen point margin, 58 to 39.

Brinkman, who came into the game in the 2nd quarter was high man for the Shamrocks with 16 points, but the scoring was pretty well divided. Thiemann had 15, Haefner 14, Barz 8, Kramer, 4, and Terhufen,1. Monson scored best for the losers getting 13 points.

This win gives the Shamrocks a three and two record in the conference, and their next game is against Franklin Consolidated, a conference foe. That will be this Friday night at Franklin. Next Tuesday night they play Kanawha here in a non-conference game.

The Little Shamrocks put up a rugged second half defense against the Ventura reserves Tuesday night and won 42 to 18. They were leading 21 to 12 at the half and shut the visitors out until late in the fourth quarter when they managed to tally six points. Bachman led the attack for the locals with 20 points while Neuberger and Nuehring each had 9.

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

Mor cattle were aslughtered during the first nine months of 1954 than in the same period of 1953. However, in late September, slaughter numbers began to lag.

Noting thse trends, Iowa State College farm economist, Francis A. Kutish erplaised that the drought in the South and Southwest accounted for part of the heavy spring and summer cattle slaughter. The drouth, in part, caused an earlier marketing of cattle that normally are slaughtered in the fall. On the other hand, the light slaughter also represents a movement of cattle into feeder markets, rather thas selling for fall slaughter.

One of the reasons for the stronger slaughter cattle market is this present light kill. According to Kutish, this slaughter is expected to continue lagging during the rest of 1955.

When cattle are counted on January 1, 1955, sumbers are expected to be slightly lower than last year's count. Kutish believes the main decrease will be in heifers and steers.

Farmers will probably feed as many cattle in 1955 as they did in 1954—the way things look now. But with good weather there will probably be a somewhat smaller slaughter of grass cattle, predicted Kutish. Thus, the average price of fed cattle will continue at near 1954 levels—if the appraisal of the business outlook fo steady to up a shade for 1955 is correct. But the spread between utility and prime grades of cattle may be more narrow.

Judging by the sumber of calves going on feed this fall, we should see more long-fed cattle during the latter part of 1955—and there may be fewer of the utility kind to kill if we get a normal rainfall throughout the country, predicted Kutish.

Looking ahead to 1956, this cosdition means that there will be as many, or more, cattle as are now in the lots and on the rangeland—assuming normal conditions—concluded Kutish. But if the routh sets in again, total nhmbers could drop by 2 million in 1955. In that case, the price spreads etbween the grades will be wider, with utility kinds slling at a lower figure next fall.

Things are bound to come to the man who advertises while he waits.

Naomi Circle Met

Naomi Circle met on Thursday afternoon, December 9th at the home of Mrs Gerald Koerner.

Mrs Dale Brede had charge of devotions and Mrs Clarence Larsen, Jr., gave the lesson.

A Christmas gift exchange was enjoyed. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Eighteen members and two visitors were present.

KILLED

Senior Interview

This week's senior and scholar is Mr Dick Mutch Dulmes. "Doc" was born June 27, 1936, in Des Moines. Our little cherrub attended school at Grundy Center until he woke up our educational institution by coming here in the third grade. Dick's favorite pastime is quote, "Messing around on weekends". Baseball is "Doc's" favorite hobby. When it comes to movies, Dick's favorite actor and actress are as follows: Debbie Reynolds and Humphrey Bogart. Cauliflower is his favorite chow. "There Stands the Glass" is his favorite high brow musical piece when sung by Web Pierce. "Pee Wee" Hunt is his favorite band. Into the widespread fields of pet peeves, Dick lists his as, "School teacher who won't admit they're wrong". "Doc" says his most embarrassing moment was the day he was born. Dick plans to attend college when he finishes high school at this good old Alma Mater.

Notes About Notes

Silver dollars and cash awards went to four participants of the junior and senior band who sold the most tickets. They were Margaret Pringnitz, Sharon Blau, Cozette Lau, and James Clements. Each chorus sang songs and both junior and senior bands also played. The brass ensemble played the "Concerto for Tympani" with JoAnne Jacobs playing exciting rhythm on the tympani solo. The program was approximately two hours long, and a lunch was served afterwards by the Music Mothers.

Something New!

As gossip columnists, we have decided to change the gossip column to a lovelorn column. This includes students and teachers alike. Write about your problems and we will try to answer them. Please don't sign your name. We will have a new suggestion box in study hall so don't be afraid to put your letters in it. This will take effect immediately!

Remedial Reading

We have had many inquiries in the past few weeks regarding our remedial reading program which was added to our system this year. This program is comparatively new in many schools throughout the state and it appears to have considerable value. The program in our system is under the supervision of Mrs Aline Burgess who has had special training in the field of remedial reading. Her room is located just inside the front entrance of the elementary building.

Th purpose of the program is to assist any student in the elemenary grades who in the teacher's judgement is not working up to their capabilities in reading. This means that the student might be slow in reading, or that the student is average or better but needs additional practice. The program in our school is primarily for two groups; one group includes those students who are slow and need help in overcoming the various reading difficulties so that they might improve and catch up with the students in their class. The other group, which is much larger, includes those students who have no particular difficulty but who need extra practice to enable them to do as well as they are capable of doing. This instruction that the students receive in this program is in addition to their regular classroom reading classes. Mrs Burgess at the present time is working with students in all grades from one to eight. She is also doing a small amount of special education work rather than the remedial work.

The program in addition to the above is also devoting a certain amount of time to recreational reading. Each grade in the elementary building is assigned a period a week for recreational reading. Any student may take advantage of the remedial reading room to read books of their choosing or may check out library books which include books from the school library as well as books secured from the State Traveling Library.

We hope that this program is proving beneficial to those students who are receiving this additional help. We hope that no student or parent feel that the program is detrimental to them since we feel sure that through this program it will help the student in doing better school work and eventually be of great help to them in later life.

Hairpins & Tennis Shoes

The high school has set up a system to test our accuracy and improvement in shooting baskets. We are given 10 shots each p. t. period with a choice of three different positions—close, medium or long. By recording how many baskets we make on a chart we can see how we progress.

Our gym shorts have come. They are $1.95 each. Each girl must pay for hers before she can get hers and wear them. So, come on girls, let's see which class can get theirs the quickest.

We have been playing short basketball games trying to improve our passes, shots, and guarding. We also get a chance to play guard and forward, and also act as a referee.

Because of the interest created by the grades, they have been playing elementary basktball. Other times they have been tumbling. Miss Peterson has made some of the students act as her assistants to help her with the other classes.

—Senior News—

Bookkeeping: We had a test yesterday and the grades were very encouraging. Can you feature that? Also we received bound books consisting of a general ledger, accounts receivable and accounts payable, ledger, and journals. This makes up our "Hunter Practice Set", which includes everything we have learned so far this year.

English: English has been the same as always. Reading stories written by famous authors, who were also interested in improving our scientific field, has taken up this part of the week.

Typing: Mr Johnson surprised us students yesterday with a movie in class, it was very interesting to see how different time saving methods are used in the field of typing.

Sociology: We have been studying race-group and nationality group problems and have found that the Negro presents the major part of this problem. We also have discussed ways in which to improve the human stock of coming generation, some of the ways we can do this is by controlling immigration, and eugenics (which is the science of improving the human stock through the intelligent control of reproduction.)

Physics: I asked one of the students and here was my answer: "A little football, basketball, and tumbling." Is that a class, boys?

Home Ec.: Most of the girls have finished their first project and have started their second which either is a blouse or jacket.

I Ask You Now

What do you want for Christmas?

Mr Westberg: I just hope we keep on winning our basketball games.

Gordon L: New Cadillac.

Jeanne B: Wardrobe cabinet full of clothes.

Karen C: I hope to get along better with my boyfriend.

Joan L: Money. (Lots of it)

Lorraine M: To be able to see someone when he gets home from the Army!

Blanche S: I would like to have what Gordon, Jeanne, Karen and Joan want.

Harriett A: I would like a new fountain pen.

Junior News

English: We have been working in our workbooks trying to place apostrophes in the correct places. Also, we are busy selecting books to read for reports.

Typing: We have been typing business letters and having 5 minute timed writings.

Government: Now we are getting somewhere. We students get to teach the class.. Margaret H. was teacher last Wednesday, and Donald K. last Thursday. Friday a test. We are studying diligently to learn about courts and law. Watch out you boys we juniors will be arresting you for violation of the law.

Shorthand: The four juniors and six seniors work very hard to satisfy Mr Johnson. They are supposed to be able to write from 60 to 90 words a minute. I can say that we try very hard. We average 60 and sometimes more words a munite. Don't we Mr Johnson?

Shop: The boys are still working on their projects. Slow workers.

Home Ec. II: The girls are all busy sewing on their projects. Most of them are practically finished. We can soon see what kind of jobs they have done.

Second Grade News

Our dental train now has a total of eighteen cars, as Jim Stahl and Dorothy Bruggeman have returned their dental cards.

In reading the Elves have begun the unit "Work on Pleasant Street". The Fairies are now reading stories in the "New Storybook Friends" unit.

Recent visitors in our room were Mesdames Harson, Albro, Kluckhohn, Arnold, and Hanson. We hope they enjoyed their visit and will come again.

Vicki Bridges treated the room to candy on her eighth birthday.

We are now busily working on our Christmas gifts for our mothers.

Third Grade News

We went to the Garner High School and had a speech and hearing test.

We went to a program November 24. We saw Jeff Hayes who is a cartoonist. He made the cartoons.

We saw some filmstrips. The fourth grade came in and saw them too.

We have been studying more about the creamery. We have to make up mock-ups of the different machines in the dairy.

The Jets, a reading group, made a mural. It was a winter scene.

We drew names for Christmas.

First Grade News

Our room looks very much like Christmas now. We are all anxiously awaiting our party at school. Of course, we're really waiting for the big time when Santa comes.

We are all busy reading from our first grade book. We are reading very nicely now and doing well in our workbooks. It's more fun now to read from our hard covered books than from paper covered books.

Sheryll Sobek and Lon Barkema have returned their dental cards. We now have 22 returned. Some of us are going to the dentist during Christmas vacation.

Steven Smith is ill at his home and won't be with us for awhile. We miss him very much.

Mid-season Arrow Kill of 3 Deer

During the first five days of Iowa's 12-day bow and arrow deer season, State Conservation officers reported archers taking three deer.

The first kill of the season was by a Low Moor farmer, Henry Tretjens of Clinton County. Hunting in the Wapsipinicon River bottoms near Folletts, Tretjens killed a 4-point buck on the morning of December 3.

The second deer taken was by Neil Strupzenberg, a farmer near Manson, who killed a 120-pound doe along a river bottom north of Cherokee. Strupzenberg, who killed a large buck with a gun last year, said that "he got 10 times the thrill by killing a deer with bow and arrow".

The third kill was another from Clinton County, also from the Wapsie River bottoms near Folletts. John Mullins of Goose Lake was hunting with Tretjens on December 4, and killed a 4-point buck weighing 155 pounds. Like the other hunters, Mullins had only 2 weeks experience with bow and arrow. All three deer were killed with single arrows, and all were taken from river bottoms.

Gerald Kastler, son of Mrs Maxine Kastler, has had a change in his service address. It is as follows:

Following the bame between Ventura and Klemme, Tuesday night, visitors at the Don Bacon home were Mrs Myrtie Bacon and Mr and Mrs Vern Bacon and family of Clear Lake, and Mr and Mrs Louis Bacon and family of Ventura. They gathered to help "Chuckie" celebrate his 15th birthday.

Mr and Mrs Don Bacon drove to Des Moines Sunday, to attend the "Messiah" put on by Drake University in the KRNT Theatre. Their daughter, Jo Ann and Maurice Jacobs son of Mr and Mrs Roy Jacobs, sang in the presentation.

Spread Christmas Cheer—

With A Full Cookie Jar

Here are three cookie recipes air, or it may just be the wonderful smell of good things baking in the kitchen. Whatever it is, there's always a good feeling around the home about this time of year, says Jewel Graham, Iowa State College extension nutritionist.

During the holiday season, Mother always tries to keep the cookie jar full for hungry younsters just home from school and for neighbors who drop in for coffee.

It may be Christmas in the suggested by Miss Graham. Once the youngsters taste these cookis, Mother may have trouble keeping the cookie jar full for very long.

Raisin Drop Cookies

2 cups sifted enriched flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup brown sugar
¾ cup new-type hydrogenated shortening
1 egg
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup raisins

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add brown sugar, shortening, egg, milk, and vanilla extract. Mix to blend ingredients. Then beat 300 strokes by hand or 2 minutes at medium speed on electric mixer. Add raisins and mix thoroughly. Drop by spoonfuls on ungreased baking sheet and bake in moderate oven (375 dgrees F.) 10 to 15 minutes. Makes about 4 dozen 2-inch cookies.

Snowberry Cookies

2 cups sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup brown sugar
¾ cup new-type hydrogenated shortening
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 tablespoons milk
½ cup chopped nuts
½ cup chopped candied or marashino cherries
½ cup coconut

Sift together flour, soda, and salt into mixing bowl. Add sugar shortening and egg. Mix vanilla extract with milk and add too flour mixture. Stir to combine ingredients, then beat 2 minutes (300 strokes). Stir in nuts cherries and coconut. Drop by spoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 10 to 15 minutes. Makes about 4 dozen 2-inch cookies.

Sprite Cookies

4½ cups sifted enriched flour
¼ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups shortening
1½ cups sugar
3 eggs, beaten

Sift together flour, soda and salt. Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs. Add flour mixture, mxing well. Force dough through cookie press onto cookie sheets. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 minutes. Makes about 6 dozen 2-inch cookies.

A Merry Christmas to Everyone

Corn Allotment Figures Announced

Over 45 percent of the cropland in Iowa was operated in compliance with corn acreage allotments in 1954, it was reported this week by Alfred V. Josten, office manager of the Hancock County ASC committee.

Corn allotments were observed fully on 94,164 or 43.4 percent of the 216,896 farm units in the state, and the complying farms contained 45.2 percent of all Iowa cropland.

In Hancock county, 50 percent of the farms, or 1108, containing 53 percent of the cropland in the county, were in compliance with their corn acreage allotments this year, Manager Josten said.

Under the 1954 corn allotment program, a total reduction in planted acres of 1,934,071 was sought. On the basis of the latest official estimate made by the Agricultural Marketing Service, the number of harvested acres in the state this year will be 768,000 less than in 1953. This reduction represents approximately 40 percent of the total cut sought through the allotment program.

Corn allotments were proclaimed last February for this crop year and only recently for 1955 as a step required by law to encourage production adjustment in the face of near-record supplies on hand in the nation. Compliance with allotments is required to qualify for price support loans.

The highest percentage of compliance in Iowa in 1954 was reported principally from north central and northwestern counties commonly known as the heavy corn producing areas". Lower compliance was found mostly in southern Iowa (but three northeastern countries were the lowest in the state.

Many farmers in southern counties hit by drouth in 1953 planted about their normal corn acreage this year in an effort to replenish local feed supplies. Generally lower compliance was the rule in areas where a substantial percentage of farmers produce no more corn than they feed and consequently are not influenced by the allotment compliance requirements to qualify for price support.

Emmet county led the state with 72 percent of its farms and 74 percent of its cropland in compliance. Eighteen counties had over 60 percent of their cropland in compliance, while only three counties had less than 20 percent.

The 1955 corn acreage allotment program will be effective in all Iowa counties, the same as in 1954. Detailed information in now being assembled by the Department of Agriculture in Washington for use in determining the 1955 allotments for the commercial corn-producing areas. When that is done, the individual counties will be notified of their allotments so that they may fix individual farm allotments and notify all operators during the month of February.

OVER HALF

Shelby county has recently passed the half-way point in the surfacing of the county roads. The county now has more surfaced roads than unsurfaced, engineer Stanley Clay recently announced.

Average of $109.86 Per Person is in Line With Other Counties

County Auditor Schoneman and his employees have completed the computation of the 1954 property tax bill for Hancock County and total taxes to be collected in 1955 are $1,656,338.59 as compared with $1,586,267.23 last year, an increase of $69,071.36 over 1953. This bill is $109.86 for every man, woman, and child based on the 1950 census and is the largest in the history of the county.

Taxes generally will be higher in rural areas and lower in corporations due in part to school districts reorganization and an attorney general's ruling that the two mill road levy previously spread against all property in the county cannot be levied against property in cities and towns controlling their own bridge levy. The two mill levy for road maintenance was not levied on town property this year. Last year this two mill levy on town property added a total of $14,025.00 to the road fund. This shift of levy has caused and increase in road levies in rural areas.

Total road levies in 1954 are $378,092.00 as against $263,004.00 in 1953, an increase of $115,088.00 or 43.76% and this increase falls on rural areas. Hancock County highway officials were faced with a deficit for road maintenance and construction due to excessive loss by floods in 1954 and the adoption of a long range stabilized base road program. County Engineer Charles Paulson advises that the additional money from road taxes will be used to match State and Federal road funds and should result is at least 100 miles of all weather stabilized base road in a period of ten years. The modernization of existing bridges will also be included in the new program. Last year at least four serious highway accidents were reported on county road bridges.

The day is rapidly approaching when cheap surfacing material will be exhausted in Hancock County and to maintain the high standard of roads, highway officials must plan now to meet the situation and plan a road program with more permanency.

While Hancock County road levies are high, a survey shows they are in line with levies which have prevailed in surrounding counties for a number of years.

The 1954 tax bill broken down in rural areas finds 51 percent of the total going for school purposes; 28.81 percent for roads and 20.19 percent for general administration.

In corporations the 1954 tax dollar will be spent in approximately the following manner; Schools 52. 28 percent; town tax 30.42 percent; general county 15.31 percent and roads 1.69 percent.

The general county expenditures include county general, court expense, poor, state institution, assessor, county board of education, county hospital, Tuberculosis, and bangs eradication, fair ground, county extension service, emergency, soldiers relief, federal and state retirement and social security and to retire service compensation bonds.

Grandmothers' Club Has Christmas Party

The Klemme Grandmothers' Club held their December meeting and Christmas Party Tuesday afternoon, December 14th at the home of Mrs George Schoenwetter with 25 members and three guests present.

Christmas Carols were sung. The sextet sang two numbers and Mrs Kilgore sang a solo. They were accompanied by Mrs Ernest Gerardi.

A surprise guest at the party was Santa Claus. He saw to it that each grandmother got her gift, and added much to the enjoyment of the afternoon.

Installation of officers was held and new members were pledged and welcomed into the club. The new members are Ella Rosendahl, Mary Lemke, Edna Paul, and Mable Elder.

Lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants, Maggie Lange, Lena Schroeder, and Ida Pringnitz.

Open House

Mr and Mrs Harry Pringnitz will hold open house from 2 til 5 in the afternoon at the Methodist Church in Swaledale on Sunday, December 26, in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary.

They hope all their Klemme friends will be on hand to help make the observance of this event memorable for them.

Fern Peck Katter In Auto Accident

Deputy County Recorder Fern Peck Katter suffered severe head lacerations in an automobile accident Saturday afternoon at an intersection near the Fiero home in South Garner when her car collided with one driven by Donald H. Juehring of Iowa Falls, who was traveling east on the paved highway on the south edge of Garner. Mrs Katter was taken to the Mercy Hospital in Mason City where her injuries were dressed. The cars were badly damaged according to Hancock County Sheriff L. M. Brower.

Surprise Party

A group of retired Liberty Township farmers and a few close freinds gathered at the George Schoenwetter home Sunday evening to surprise George and help him celebrate his birthday.

A short program was given and the rest of the evening was spent in a social way. It being the Christmas season, gifts were exchanged among the forty-five people present.

Lunch was served, including two lovely birthday cakes—one for Mr Schoenwetter and one for his grandson, Maynard Weisbrod, who will be 16 on the 24th of this month.

Shamrocks Post Wins Over Franklin, Kanawha

Now In Second Place In North Star Conference

After getting off to a shakey start this year, the Klemme Shamrocks have come along in pretty good shape. They lost four in a row—two of them to conference opponents, won a close one from Britt, and then dropped one to a strong Garner team. Since then they have won five straight and are now in second place in the North Star Conference, behind Fertile and Dows, who are tied for first with one loss each.

The Shamrocks have lost one to Dows and won once from Fertile. They play each of these teams again and have a good chance of beating them. Both of these games will be on the local floor.

Last Friday night the Shamrocks journeyed to Franklin Consolidated and took an easy 67 to 40 decision from them to improve their standing in the conference. They led 16 to 12 at the end of the first quarter, 32 to 22 at the half, 53 to 26 at the end of the third quarter and with reserves playing most of the final quarter went on to win 67 to 40. Nearly everyone broke into the scoring column with Barz out in front with 14. Kramer had 13, Haefner and Thiemann each 9, and Brinkman 8. Sprau was high for the losers with 12.

The little Shamrocks did not play at Franklin as the Franklin girls had a game scheduled for the opener that evening.

Tuesday night, the Shamrocks tangled with the Kanawha Bulldogs and even though they played rather raggedly in the last half, they held on to win by a score of 69 to 54. They led 46 to 27 at the half and then some ragged playing in the third quarter, combined with the loss of Haefner and Kramer via the foul route, slowed them down.

Again the scoring was evenly divided. Thiemann and Kramer each got 19, Haefner had 12, Brinkman 10, Barz 6, and Terhufen 2. Mewes of Kanawha was high man for the game with 22 points.

The Little Shamrocks had a rough time in the opener but finally won out 35 to 26 over the stubborn Kanawha reserves. Neuberger and Dulmes led the attack for the locals with 10 apiece, while Jacobs had 7.

Next action for the Shamrocks will come after the holidays.

Christmas is commercialized,
And its customs standardized.
Pocketbooks are slenderized,
From buying gifts as advertised.
Still, the season, when analyzed,
Brings loads of joy—you'd be surprised.
But best of all, we have surmised,
The reasons for it realized:
We honor Him immortalized,
Whose birth the day has commemorized.

Kids will go to bed Christmas Eve with all sorts of visions of what will be under the tree for them on Christmas morning.

Parents will go to bed with all sorts of visions of how the kids' faces will look in the morning when they open their packages.

In fact, the visions in the minds of people in the world will be many and varied as they retire on Christmas Eve.

We wonder what visions will appear to that sizeable group of Americans who are held captive in Communist China. We have no doubt but what they would like to be at home sharing Christmas with their families and we wonder if maybe they aren't getting just a little disgusted with "Good Ol' Uncle Sugar".

In years gone by, the United States has tolerated no mistreatment of their citizens by any country, and now it seems that the best they can do is to wait and see on what terms the Communists will offer to release the men they hold.

It seems to us that a good Christmas present for everybody in this country . . . and for everybody in the free world, would be for the governmental backbone to stiffen so that in some manner these captive American citizens could be brought back to their own people and so that the world could see that the U. S. still had some pride and took care of her own.

So far, this winter has been an exceptionally mild one. As yet we have had no sub-zero weather, and only a very few days when the temperature was even close to zero. As far as we're concerned, it will be quite alright if the weather continues mild throughout the winter. What snow we have had has not amounted to much and although we have had some of the white stuff with us for some time now, still it looks as though the chances for a nice white Christmas are about gone. Christmas sleds and skis will probably have to wait for a spell before they can be broken in.

A near tradgedy took place here Tuesday evening when the small daughter of Mr and Mrs Donald Smith was struck by a car driven by Keith Nuehring. The little girl was only bruised, which was extremely fortunate for everyone concerned, but there is a lesson to be learned from the accident. Keith and his passengers all said that they did not see the little girl, so in all probability the accident was unavoidable. However, it bears out the point that has been made so many times in the past: children forget the danger of automobiles when they are interested in their play. It's too bad they do, but it's a fact, and puts an increased responsibility on the operator of a motor vehicle . . . especially during those hours of the day when children are going to and from school. The whole community rejoices for both the Nuehrings and the Smiths, for if the accident had been a serious one, Christmas in those two families would have been a sad day.

If the true spirit of Christmas could be instilled in the hearts of all the peoples of the world, what a fine place it would be. No more wars, no more bickering, no more wasteful spending for purposes of destruction. All the material wealth in the world could be put to use for the benefit of the human race; scientists could turn their experiments wholly to things which would make for better living, and neighbor would be at peace with neighbor.

Deer Season Much Like Last Year's

The 1954 deer season has been termed "successful" by Conservation Commission officials who pointed to generally good deer hunting and a repeat of last year's no-accident season.

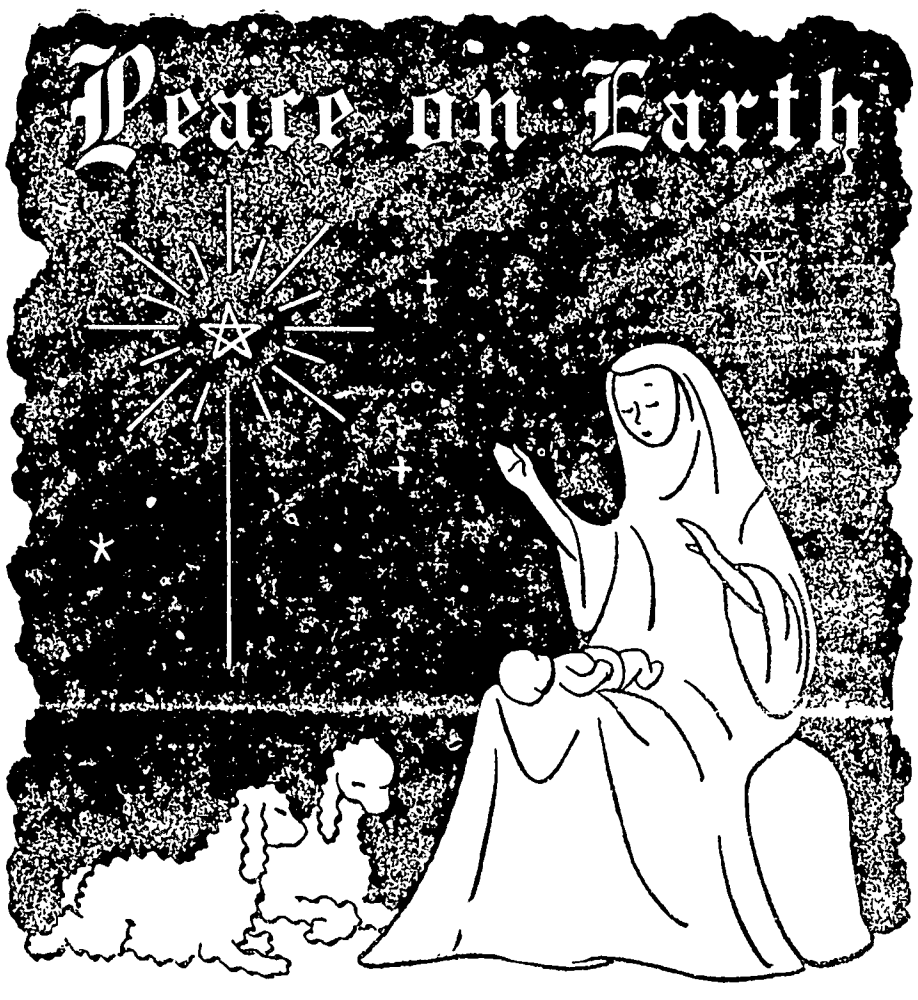
The 8 deer-checking stations scattered over Iowa averaged 100 deer per day during the 3-day season, about the same average as in 1953. A total of 306 deer were brought to the 8 checking stations this year, as compared to 521 deer brought to stations during the 5-day 1953 deer season.

Hunters were not required to bring deer to the checking stations, but were asked to do so for information on the general health, age and sex composition of the Iowa herd.

The biggest buck brought to a checking station was at Pilot Knob, and weighed 215 pounds dressed or an estimated live weight of 268. The second biggest buck was checked at the Lansing station, and weighed 196 pounds dressed, or about 245 pounds live weight.

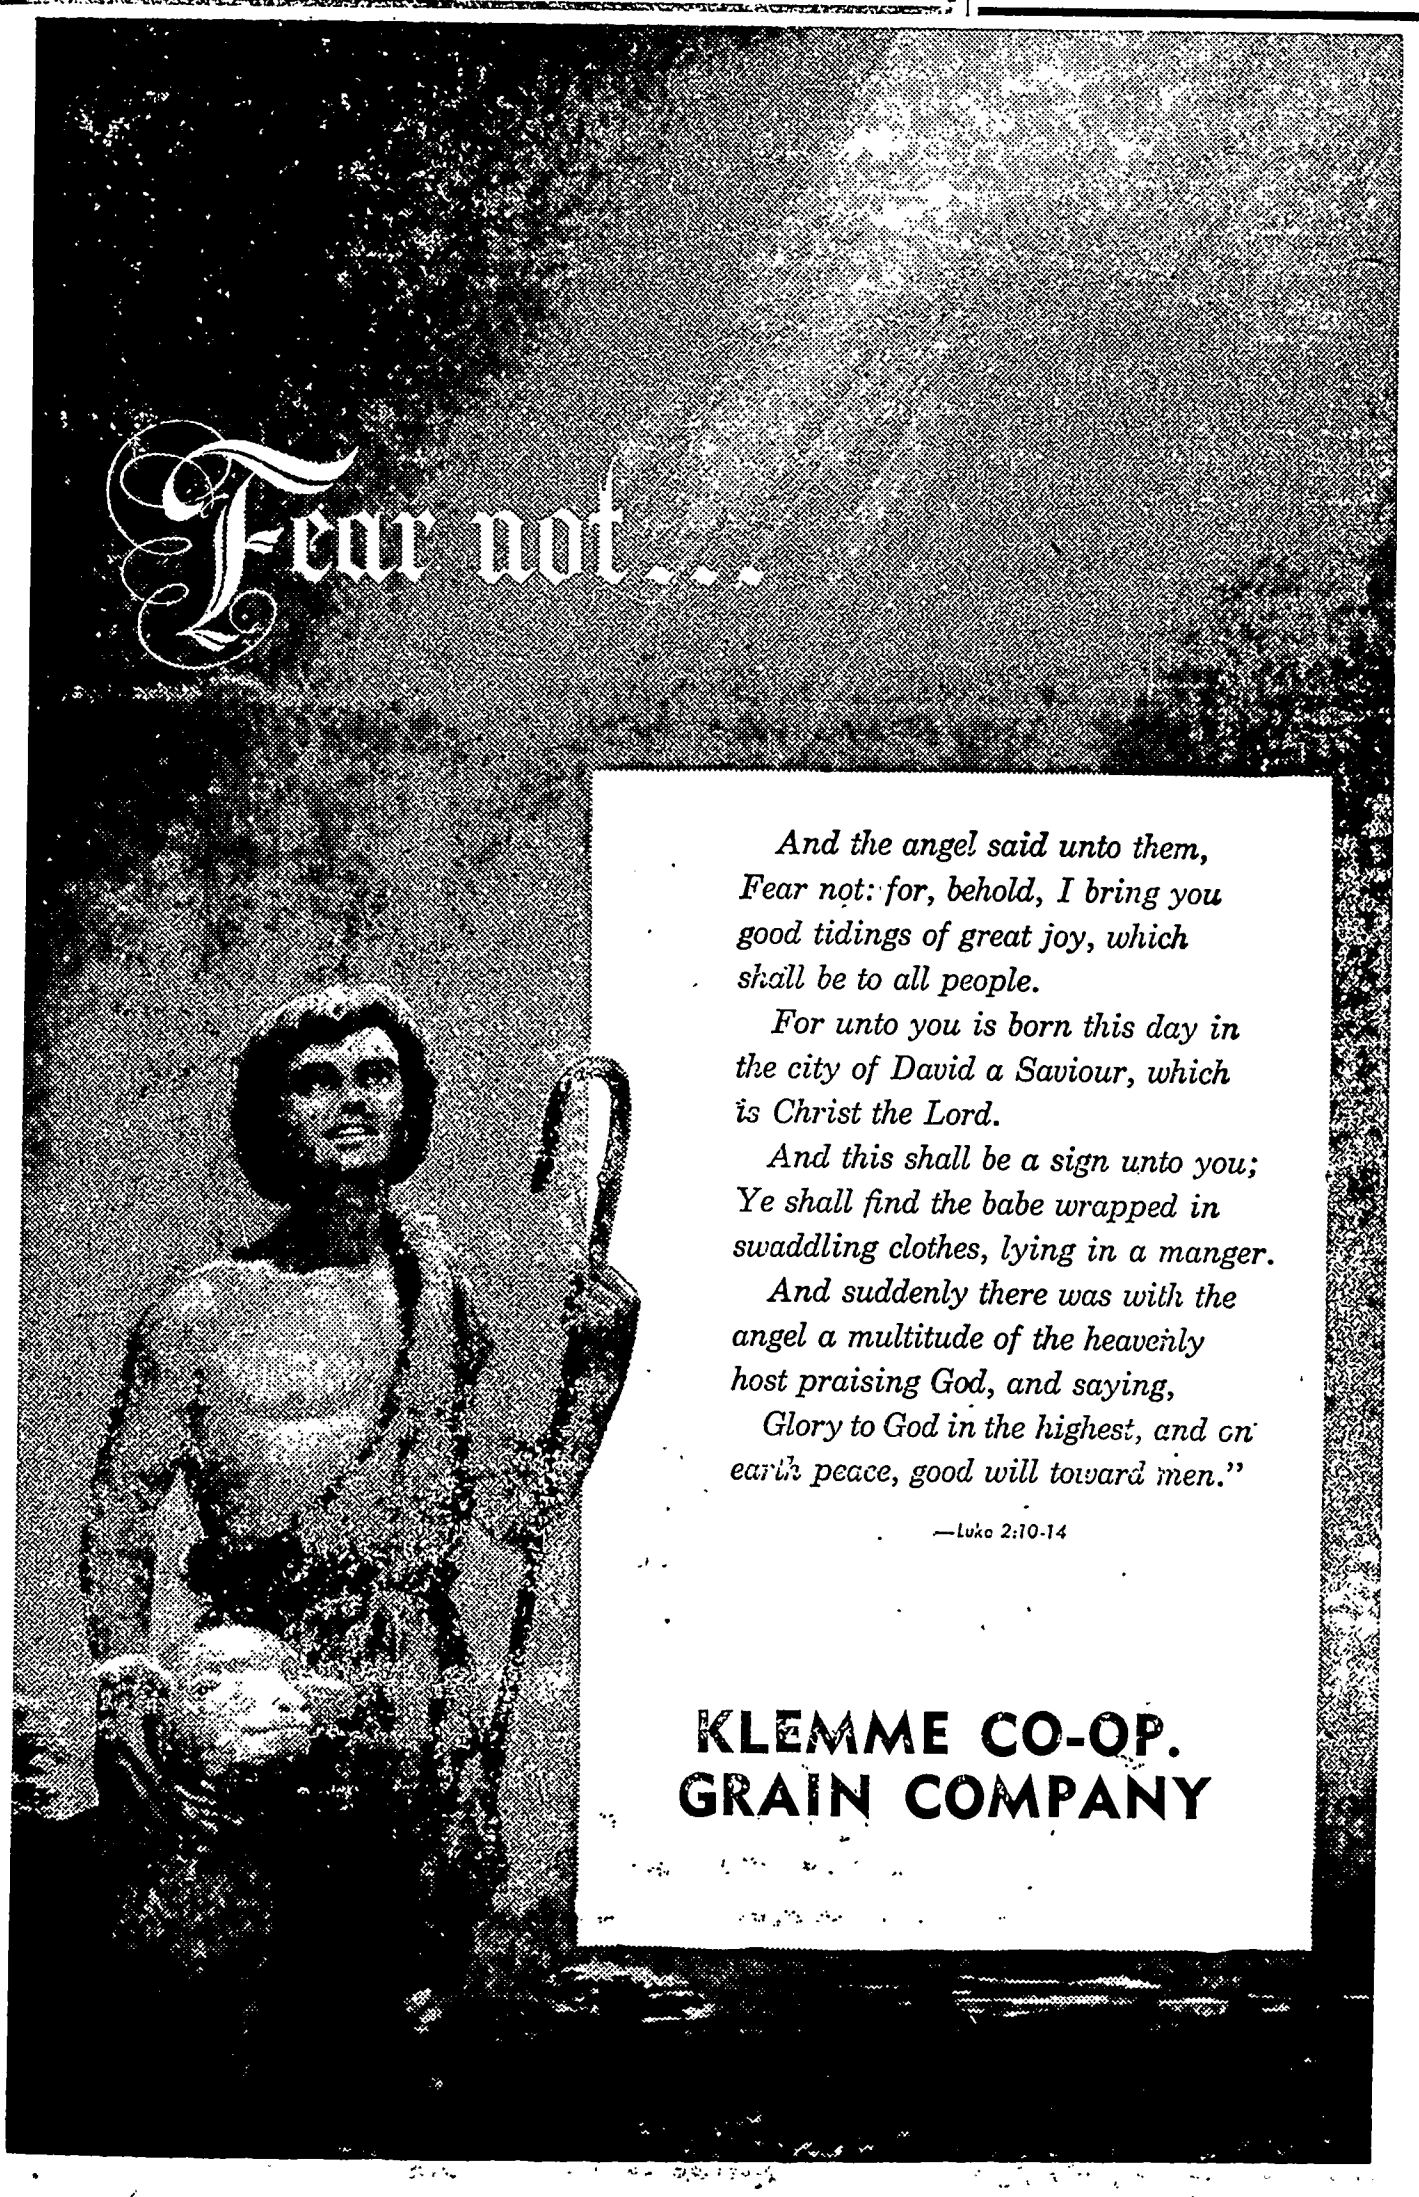
Commission spokesmen said they had received no reports of shooting accidents, either of hunters or livestock, and believed that farmer-hunter relations during the deer season were generally good.

A full summary of the deer season, including a final estimate of the total 1954 season kill, should be available by late winter.



This is our wish for all time to come.

OSMAN FUNERAL SERVICE



And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

Christmas

Christmas is the time of year
When sleigh bells ring,
Trees lights glow,
And presents we bring
To those we know.

From this act of giving and receiving each of us receives warmth, gratitude, and happiness. But sometimes in these glad tidings we overlook the real meaning of Christmas. We become so materialistic that we forget the spiritual significance of the year—the glory of Christ's birth.

Lovelorn Letter

Dear Lovelorn:

I would like to go to some southern state for Christmas vacation but I don't have enough money to go. Do you think it would be alright if I wrote to my boyfriend asking him if he would send me some money so I can go out to him? He hasn't mentioned sending me any money and I don't know if I should ask him.

Broke

Dear Broke:

We advise you not to because boys are sensitive about girls asking them for money. Most boys don't like forward girls and are easily frightened away. So I think that you should go if you have the money but it should be your own, and do not ask your boy friend for any.

Your truly,
Lovelorn

Off The Boards

Due to the fact that the boys' basketball games are reported elsewhere in this paper, we are confining our boys' sports stories to oddities novelties, and news tidbits.

On December 30, Thursday afternoon, Mr Westberg will take the boys' team to Iowa City for the Iowa-Stanford basketball game. The 14 boys making the trip will leave Thursday afternoon. The team will sleep in the recreation room of Mr and Mrs Frank (Bucky) O'Conner, Mr Westberg's brother-in-law and sister. The team will return somctime December 31. If you have any extra cots, please contact Mr Westberg.

Mr Johnson was not on the bench during the Ventura or Franklin cons. games due to a severe cold.

If you haven't already noticed, Mr Westberg wears the same shoes at every basketball game. When asked if he were superstitious, he replied, "No, these shoes have more spring than any other pair I own."

Miss Peterson informed us that class tournaments will start for the girls' gym class after the Christmas holidays.

Senior Interview

This week's senior, Marlene Marie Blumer, was born December 3, 1937, at Klemme, Iowa. "Shorty" attended Avery No. 2 until she came to the school here at Klemme in the 8th grade.

Pastimes? Well, she has many, but favorites among these are going to movies, skating, and watching TV. Her favorite hobby is writing letters, although I don't know exactly what kind.

Marlene listed two actors and two actresses as her favorites. They are Humphry Bogart and Marlon Brando for the actors, Susan Hayward and Audrey Hepburn for the actresses. "Shorty's" favorite food is southern fried chicken, and her favorite song is "That Old Feeling". When it comes to bands, Miss Blumer will take Les Brown's to anyone else's. As far as movies are concerned, her favorite is "Dial M for Murder". Marlene listed her pet peeve as "People who have talents and special abilities and don't use them".

She plans to attend college after graduation but is not sure what vocation she will enter.

The seniors skip day has now been planned. The class decided to take a trip to Des Moines and visit the many places of interest in our state capitol. Some of the places are the Capitol Building, Art Center, Police Station, WHO, Register and Tribune office and the KRNT Theatre and inquiries are being made to see whether we can plan our skip day so we can see a stage show at the theatre. The day will probably be in the latter part of March or April. All of us are looking forward to this and saving our pennies.

Chrstmas is almost here. For decorations we have made angels, Christmas trees, a Santa Claus three feet high and of course have decorated our tree.

Our Christmas program is coming along better with every practice. We hope everyone comes to see it.

In social studies we are studying Germany. We find this country very interesting because most of us know someone who has been there.

Cackles From Band Coop

If you can't stand sour notes, don't come near the band coop from 8:30 till 9:20 any school morning because the notes emitting from there are definately sour! The reason for this is that the band received some new (new to us anyway) music.

We can't understand how Mr Whitford can stand us at times like these but maybe he is just living in the hope and expectation that it can't stay this bad for too long.

Safe Winter Driving Requires More Care

Two highway killers—low visibility and poor traction—will be particularly evident on highways during the next several months.

Surveys show that the number of highway accidents increase as the hours of darkness lengthen during the winter. Skidding increases not only because of ice and snow, but also because drivers are able to see less clearly.

They may be called upon to use brakes suddenly and with too much force.

The Driving Research Laboratory at Iowa State College gives these recommendations for safe winter driving:

If you can't see clearly ahead, slow down. Keep at safe following distance at all times.

Pass only when absolutely necessary. Then make sure roadway is clear ahead.

Be alert for unexpected frost and ice on the pavement.

Keep your speed 10 to 15 miles lower on the average than you do in summer.

Check traction on ice by light pressure on brakes. Be careful to avoid skidding car sideways. When starting on ice, use second gear.

Check tires. A blowout is even more dangerous at this time of year because of skidding.

Beware of pedestrians wearing dark clothing. They're hard to see when visibility is low.

Special treads for ice and snow help but are not perfect cures for skidding.

Always exercise caution.

Check your car's front-end linkage. Steering deficiences are more dangerous in winter.

I've Got a Secret

Karen and Barbara surely are having a lot of fights over Roger B. Tell us which one it will be, Roger.

Bob L. was transporting Roger, Karen, and Dorothy last Saturday night. Whom were you with Bob?

Lorraine is having trouble. What happened Friday night at Forest City?

Say, Ruth, do you have your hold on LaVerne J. It surely looked that way a couple of nights ago. Maybe this will be a new romance.

So Eva has been going with Tom W. lately. I saw JoEllen with him at noon a few days; I thought maybe they would go back together again. I guess Tom likes to play the field.

Say, Barbara S., who were your visitors Sunday from Hantontown?

Some people seem to think clocks were made to enable them to tell just how late they'll be for appointments.

May Santa fulfill all your hopes.

This prize beef will appear on the January, 1955, menus of all Rock Island dining acrs. Wilson and Company will butcher and dress the beef and will keep it for aging in the coolers of the Davidson Meat Company, its Chicago subsidiary for handling hotel, dining car, restaurant and club accounts.

Henderson Forecasts Plenty of Seed Oats

Hancock County farmers should have no trouble in finding plenty of seed oats of the recommended varieties for the coming season.

Large acreages coupled with a good growing season have assured a larger supply than usual. Supplies should be plentiful enough to meet the probable demand, according to Paul Henderson, Hancock County Extension Director.

Agronomists at Iowa State College have recommended these varieties: Cherokee, Nemaha, Bonham, Clinton, Clintland, Mo. 0-205, Andrew, Clintafe, Ajax and Branch. They are listed in their approximate order of maturity.

Although Bonham has shown some advantage over the other early varieties Cherokee remains a favorite for many Hancock County farmers.

Took there will likely be a heavy demand for Mo. 2-205 next year. Clintafe and Clintland performed well in some areas but the yield and quality of these varieties were cut by their susceptibility to race 7 of stem rust which has given plenty of trouble the past two years.

Clinton which is susceptible to crown rust races may soon be replaced by the new Clintland.

The Iowa Crop Improvement Association reports that a large acreage of oats was field inspected for certification this year. The acreage was the largest on record, and there was a large increase in Cherokee, Mo. 0-205 and Clintafe. Acreages of other varieties were also higher than usual.

Considerable contracting for next year's oat crop has already started. And several things should be kept in mind by the farmer who is thinking of contracting his oat crop.

First, he should deal with a reliable company, and the contract should be thoroughly understood by both parties. It should be certain that specifications of the contract such as class of seed, eligibility for certification and delivery date can be met.

Henderson says that while some other states have several classes of seed, Iowa has only one—certified—which can be generally produced. Also, laboratory analysis of crops for certification does not begin until about November 1 of each year so that certification cannot be completed until after this date.

One more precaution. their is no reason to pay unreasonably high prices for any seed oats in this year of plentiful supply. There is no one variety which shows superiority over all other varieties under all conditions. Therefore, moderate prices for direct sales and sales under contract should be the rule. If you want Clintland contact your County Seed Distribution Committee by writing to the County Extension Director.

International Champion Shows Value of Simple Ration For Calf

It doesn't take a "fancy" ration to make a world champion baby beef. Extension Director Paul Henderson of Garner says that's one conclusion Hancock county's 137 4-H baby beef club members can draw from the recent victory of Janice Hullinger of Manly at the International Livestock Show and Exposition in Chicago.

Henderson says he learns from Tom Wickersham, extension animal husbandman at Iowa State College, that Janice fed her grand champion Black Angus steer a simple, practical commercial cattle feeders' ration of hay, oats and corn with protein supplement and minerals. This is in contrast to the varied and complicated rations used by professional show feeders. Wickersham was assistant superintendent of the junior ivetock show at Chicago and kept in touch with Janice and her calf as they advanced through the junior show and went on to take top international honors.

Wickersham said the success of the practical commercial ration points up the value of 4-H training, as the young person who learns to use economical commercial rations successfully is learning a skill that can pay him in commercial feeding. Wickersham says this is not always true of the person who uses complex rations prepared with less regard to cost and the market value of beef but with most attention to feeding for show finish.

Extension Director Henderson says the Hancock County baby beeves now on feed that were bought m October or November should be on full feed.

Wickersham says the calf needs about 2 pounds of grain (grain and oats) for each 100 pounds of body weight. This means that with most of the Hancock County calves weighing around 500 pounds now, they should be taking about 7 pounds of shelled corn and 3 pounds of oats plus a pound of 35 to 40 percent protein supplement daily.

In this feeding program, Wickersham adds, the hay must be good, but it doesn't have to be the "best". The calf will take about 6 pounds of hay daily. These calves will thrive on good first-cutting alfalfa put up without rain, or on alfalfa-brome hay or red clover timothy hay. They don't have to be pampered with the finest third-cutting alfalfa to get winning finish.

The amount of grain they get will increase as they grow bigger. Wickersham says the amount of protein need not be increased so much, but ta least the pound daily must be continued through the feeding period. With this ration plus complete minerals and salt always available free choice and plenty of fresh ice-free water, Wickersham points out you can do a good job.

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

Shipments of feeder and stocker cattle from terminal markets have fallen off in recent weeks indicating near completion of the seasonal movement from range to market, reports Francis A. Kutish, Iowa State College farm economist.

However, shipment of feeder cattle into the Corn Belt states has continued at the fast pace set earlier this fall. Since late summer, this has been about 20 percent greater than last year, according to Kutish. And the sharpest boost has been in calves.

This year's movement of feedlots started earlier than usual. But it is not certain that they will continue ahead of last winter and spring's large movement, Kutish points out.

Thus the number of cattle on feed January 1, 1955, will be about equal to or above last year, he predicts. But the prospect is for somewhat smaller shipments of feeder cattle this winter. Consequently this means the total 1955 feeder volume should nearly equal last year.

And that in turn means it will be large in relation to past years, indicating continued ample supplies of slaughter cattle next year. Prices of choice cattle probably will average about the same as in 1954.

General Business

Business prospects are for steady to slightly better business in 1955, Kutish believes. Major uncertainty is the amount of consumer spending.

Behind this prediction, Kutish points out, is the fact that construction of new homes roads and schools will offset part of the expected drop in the building of new industrial plants and equipment. Also a halt has come in inventory cutbacks.

Inventory and defense spending cutbacks were the two main forces responsible for the 1954 business drop. Both of these are expected to be more stable in 1955.

If a sucker is born in this world every minute it is about time to stop the clock.

"Selfish" Oil Titan Gives Millions Away

Hardly anybody blinked an eye when Hugh Roy Cullen gave two and a quarter million dollars to the University of Houston last winter. Hardly anybody in Texas, anyway.

This big-hearted, impulsive, outspoken, ruggedly individualistic oil millionaire has given away over $160,000,000. In one 48-hour period he gave over a million dollars to each of four separate hospitals, setting an all-time record in generosity. And in 1947, he set up the Cullen Foundation to dispense his wealth in systematic if somewhat overwhelming fashion.

"My wife and I are pretty selfish about our giving," he explained recently. "We want to see our money spent while we're still alive, so we can enjoy the spending." The story of what one newspaperman called "the biggest heart in Texas" is told in a new book, "Hugh Roy Cullen, A Story of American Opportunity."

Cullen acquired his wealth as a wildcatter in oil, starting from scratch, with little more than courage, faith, obstinacy and uncanny instinct. His philanthropies started early in life. "I've always wanted to help people," he says. "I guess I was as eager to help people when I was poor as I am now. It is my conviction that unless a man is generous to begin with, the richer he gets the tighter he gets."

Years of hard work and determination made Cullen the [illegible] crowned king of the wildcatters, a legend in his own time. By [illegible] middle years, still drilling vigorously, his unbounded wealth [illegible] matched by his unstinting [illegible] philanthropies, since he felt that the riches he had extracted from American soil should be used to serve the needs of his less fortunate fellow-citizens.

As Speaker of the House Joseph Martin commented on his absorbing life story, "The story of Hugh Roy Cullen should be required reading for any pessimists who believe that America is a nation of vanishing horizons. . . . As long as our country produces men of the character of Roy Cullen, it will go

It's Easy to Create—

"Holiday Hospitality" All Year Long

Extend "holiday hospitality" to your friends throughout the year, says Emelda Kunau, Iowa State College extension home furnishings specialist. Be sure too, that your children feel free to entertain their friends in your home.

* * *

During the Christmas season when you're particularly joyful, it's easy to create an atmosphere of " holiday hospitality" in your home. But don't let it end there. Extend this spirit throughout the whole year, suggests Emelda Kunau, Iowa State College extension furnishings specialist.

Don't reserve "holiday hospitality" just for guests, either. Make it a part of your everyday family living. .

When Guests Arrive

First, let's look into this matter of guests. Are you ready for company to drop in any time? That is, do you have enough chairs for people to sit on? Is your table space adequate to feed more than your family?

Miss Kunau has a suggestion for you if you're short on seating space.

If your home is large enough for extra chairs but you feel you can't spend much money to buy them, perhaps you would like to see what you can find at an auction or second-hand store. A coat of paint and the addition of a chair pad can turn a comfortable (but homely) chair into an attractive addition for your room.

Look in your basement, attic garage, or even a second-hand store for folding camp stools, too. Paint the wooden part to match living room furnishings, and cover the canvas with colorful corduroy, denim or Indian Head. Fix several camp stools like this. They'll fold up easily for storage in the closet, where you can quickly get at them when company arrives.

The same stool can serve as a tray stand for a large metal refreshment tray. Or use it as a luggage rack for overnight guests.

Family Hospitality

It's easy enough to put on "company manners" for guests, and do all you can to make them happy, while they're visiting isn't it? But do you do as much for your own family?

Home is the place to develop individual personalities to their fullest. Miss Kunau says to do this each person must have an opportunity to develop his own interests.

Hospitality within your family might include giving each member a place to do what he wishes, and time to do it in. Arrange a definite place for each family member to carry on his hobbies and interests.

It's important that each one have storage space of his own. Then make it each one's personal responsibility to keep his clutter out of the way of others.

Family Interests

Examine your home to see if it is centered around the family interests. Miss Kunau says that decorating a home is making the house comfortable for all family members; making it clean and attractive, a place the family is proud of and can enjoy, a place they like to bring their friends.

A bulletin board or blackboard is helpful to have in a handy place in the home for family members to write messages for each other.

If you like to display the children's art work, and other things they make, here's a suggestion you might like to try. Make or buy picture mats with standard size openings to mount the art work in. Then hang them in adjustable picture hanging brackets. It will set the pictures off to great advantage.

Deer Hunters Urged to Send in Report Cards

Deer hunters who hunted during the 1954 Iowa deer season are being urged by the State Conservation Commission to fill in their hunt report cards and return them promptly to the Commission, whether they killed a deer or not.

These report cards were attached to deer licenses and deer certificates, and are needed badly by Conservation Commission biologists. The biologists stressed the importance of the report cards in making a full summary of the hunting season including the hunting success, number of deer taken, sex ratio, and general condition of the Iowa deer herd.

Of the 3,782 deer hunting licenses sold last year, 3,575 hunt report cards were returned to the Commission.

Free Game Storage Permits For Sportsmen

Conservation Commission officials reminded sportsmen today that there is a time limit on storage of game after the close of the hunting season.

According to state law, game may not be held in freezers, lockers or by other means for more than 10 days after the close of the open season without a special permit. Such a permit may be obtained, free of charge, from the Conservation Commission offices in Des Moines.

With this state permit, game may be held until June 30 of the following year. The federal law of a 90-day time limit on storage of waterfowl was discarded this year.

Game held in lockers may at no time exceed the legal possession limit and permits will be granted for each license under which game is taken.

Verle Keraus came up from the CCC camp at Council Bluffs and remained in Klemme until Sunday evening visiting with his parents Mr and Mrs W C Keraus.

The members of the official board of the Methodist Church and their husbands and wives were entertained at the home of Rev and Mrs Wm Zabilka last Thursday evening. The Zabilkas had a real treat in store for their guests when they served a popular dish of India for dusch.

Mr and Mrs Art Kudje entertained the Klemme teaching staff and a number of friends at six tables of bridge Monday evening.

30 YEARS AGO—

The past week has been a stormy one and ice and sleet caused a great amount of damage to telephone and telegraph wires and high tension transmission wires. The electricity has been uncertain and The Times was somewhat delayed on that account as we did not have power to run the machines of the plant.

Mr and Mrs Ing. Lauritzen's new bungalow is being built rapidly and it will soon be enclosed for the interior work.

"Happy" Johnson and family are now comfortably settled in the M E Parsonage. They moved in last week.

"Jip" is back at work at the McCullough Barber Shop after a leave of a few weeks spent at Manly at a shop there.

the Highway Story

IOWA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

By Bob Hullihan

The most useless danger to which highway patrolmen are exposed is caused by the driver who knows he's about to be stopped for a minor violation then tramps on the gas in an attempt to "get away".

Here's a fairly typical example. A patrolman met a car on the highway that appeared to have a red light mounted on the windshield.

He turned around to stop the car but the driver apparently noticed the maneuver in his rear vision mirror and started heating up the highway at 90 and 95 miles an hour.

The patrolman had no choice but to think the driver had something serious to hide so he gave chase. The pursuit went on for six miles, most of it down a gravel road with the patrol car moving at top speed in a cloud of dust.

Time and again both cars careened toward the steep ditches on either side of the road or slid dangerously around curves. When the patrolman finally drew close enough to read the license on the car ahead, he stopped. The fleeing driver roared on, not knowing that the chase was actually over.

For the patrolman simply checked the license number through radio and, in five minutes had the name and address of the driver of the car.

He drove to the address and found the boiling car in the garage. The "red light" turned out to be red paper Christmas bells hung in the windshield.

The driver, instead of friendly advice to remove the bells, got a summons for reckless driving.

Happy New Year to One and All

Blanks Are Mailed For Listing Property

Dates of Field Assessments Set

Blanks are being mailed from the assessors office in Garner for the 1955 personal property assessment and field assessors will begin their task meeting taxpayers in Ellington township on Monday, January 3rd. Field assessors will spend two days in each township or at some centrally located point near the township to afford taxpayers an opportunity to make their listing of personal property.

Blanks are being sent to each taxpayer about ten days prior to the date that fieldmen will be available to assist with the listing. In addition to the listing of property fieldmen will also take the applications for Homestead tax credit, Soldier's exemption and for a dog license. The fees on dogs has been fixed by the board of supervisors the same as for some years previous. This is $1.50 for each male dog and $4.00 for each female in townships and in towns having no town license. Dog licenses become delinquent on May 1st and a penalty of one dollar applies on all delinquent licenses after that date.

Fieldmen who will work in the rural areas this year are E H Olson of Britt; D L LaBounty of Erin township and J B Haan of Crystal township. After the completion of the rural assessment the listing of personal property and inventories will begin in the various towns. Valuation will also be placed on all new buildings added to real estate since the 1st of January 1954.

Dates of field assessments in rural areas have been set as follows: Ellington township, Center schoolhouse, January 3 and 4; Madison township, center schoolhouse, January 5 and 6; Crystal township, Legion Hall, Crystal Lake, January 7 and 8; Bingham township, town hall, Woden, January 10 and 11; Orthel township, basement schoolhouse in District No. 8, January 12 and 13; Britt township, Legion hall, Britt, January 14 and 15.

Avery township, Miland Cafe, Goodell on January 17 for the south half and the former Council room in the grade school in Klemme on the 18 for the north half; Twin Lake township, north half, Klemme on the 19th and south half at the Miland Cafe in Goodell on the 20th; Amsterdam township, VFW hall, Kanawha, on January 21 and 22; Erin township, township hall, January 24 and 25; Boone township, township hall on Jenuary 26 and 27; Magor township, City hall, Corwith, January 28 and 29.

Garfield township, courthouse in Garner on January 31 and February 1st; Liberty township, courthouse, Garner, February 2 and 3; Ell township, courthouse in Garner, February 4 and 5, and Concord township, courthouse, Garner, February 7 and 8. Fieldmen will be on duty at the above respective places on dates listed between the hours of 9 A. M. and 4 P. M.

Klemme Folks Involved In Highway Accidents

Sunday night, while enroute to Belmond, bright lights and ice combined to put Roger Bachman into the ditch with his father's pickup. The passenger with Roger, Norma Draves, was shaken up considerable and is in the Belmond Hospital for observation.

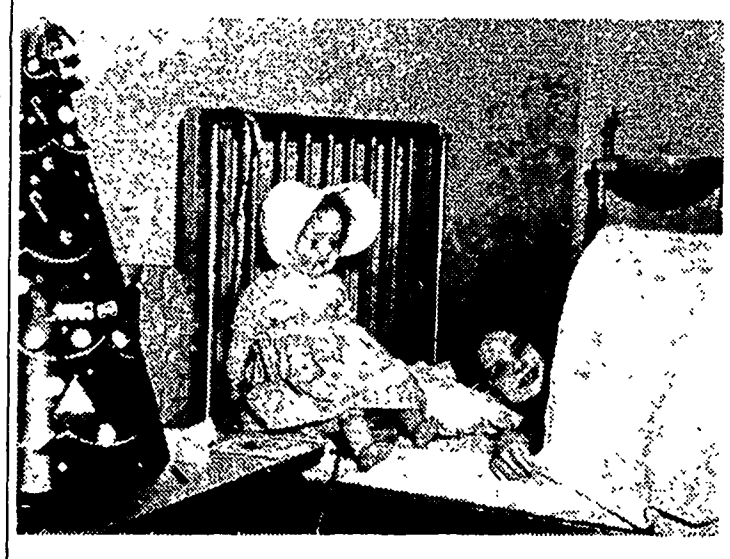
Roger stated that the bright lights of an approaching car blinded him and as he pulled over to be sure he would miss the oncoming vehicle, he got over too far and the ice took over. The pickup received considerable damage, but Roger was unhurt, and it is thought that Norma's injuries are not of a serious nature.

As a result of another accident, Bobby, son of Supt. and Mrs T G Ahrenkiel, is in a hospital at Eldora with a fractured pelvis. Bobby had been visiting with his aunt and uncle, Mr and Mrs Hugh Clark, near Conrad, and his aunt was taking him to Hubbard to spend a few days with his grandmother. On a gravel road near New Providence, they came up behind a pickup truck, and as they attempted to pass, the driver of the pickup swerved his vehicle to the center of the road, forcing Mrs Clark into loose gravel where she lost control of her car.

The car rolled over in the ditch and was pretty much demolished. Mrs Clark was shaken up but not injured, while Bobby was thown from the car and was lying in the snow unconscious. He was taken to the hospital at Eldora for treatment and is in good condition.

The driver of the pickup was unaware that any accident had happened and did not stop, but passers by and people living in the vicinity came to the aid of Mrs Clark and Bobby.

Santa Claus was Extra Good to Karen Netland



The above picture shows Karen Netland in her room in the Belmond Hospital and the large stack of presents she received for Christmas.

The picture at left shows Karen and the largest of several dolls she received. It also shows the cheerful smile that she has for everyone . . . despite the fact that she has undergone numerous skin grafts and has been in bed since she was severely burned early last August. . . . and will probably be hospitalized for some time to come.

Santa Claus and some good-hearted Belmond merchants worked together to see that Karen had an enjoyable Christmas. She said Santa brought just what she wanted: an ironing board and a "Doctor Set".

She is the daughter of Mr and Mrs George Netland.

Yaung People's Class To Present Play

The Young Peoples Bible Class of Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church will present their annual New Year's Eve play on Friday night at 8:00 p. m. The play "The Christmas Miracle", is written by Iva Fern Luther. The characters are as follows:

Melody Ann Martin, Shirley Barz; Carol Martin, Sharlene Swanson; Mrs John Martin, Ione Rosendahl; Private James Lyons, Graydon Barz; Sergeant Ted Holmes, Fred Arnold; Holly Mills, Beverly Christiance; Mrs Mills, LaVohn Josten; Chaplain Howard Williams, Warren Terhufen; Mary, Eva Thiemann; Joseph, Luverne Josten; Wisemen, Gene Wilkinson, Larry Thiemann and Dick Dulmes.

Marvin Josten is in charge of the special music.

The congregation and the entire community is cordially invited to attend this annual play.

Shamrocks to Play Two Conference Foes

Next Tuesday night, the Klemme Shamrocks will travel to Rockwell for their first game after the holiday layoff. It will be a North Star Conference game and will find the Shamrocks trying to make their conference record 5 wins to 2 losses, while Rockwell, who is right behind Klemme in the standings, will be trying to add another victory to their 4 and 4 record.

On Friday night of next week, the Shamrocks will be host team conference tilt. One of the two conference losses for the Shamrocks came at the hands of Dows and the locals will be out to avenge that one. The game should be a good one.

The Times was in error last week when we stated that the Shamrocks were in second place in the conference. We had thought that Fertile and Dows were tied for first place, but since Dows has played more conference games than Fertile, and since they have both lost only one, Dows is in first place Their only loss came at the hands of Fertile, and Fertile's only defeat was administered by Klemme.

Following are the complete standings for the North Star Conference before the teams resume action after the holidays:

Dows	7	1	.875
Fertile	5	1	.833
Klemme	4	2	.667
Rockwell	4	4	.500
Sheffield	4	4	.500
Ventura	2	6	.250
Franklin	0	8	.000

Bonds Approved

Hancock County supervisors Monday approved the official bonds of County Recorder Edith Sonquist: County Clerk, Doris Young and Deputy County Clerk Garnet Gelner; County Auditor Maynard Schoneman and Deputy County Auditors Helen Patrick and Hattie Jass; County Treasurer Roy L McMillin and County Supervisor Clinton D Daniels.

A Gladbrook couple has been married since 1894. Mr and Mrs J D Wollesen recently observed their sixtieth wedding anniversary.

January First to See Business Changes Here

Barz and Kothenbeutel Will be Partners in Electrical Concern

January 1st will see some changes made in business places in Klemme.

Harold Kothenbeutel, who has been manager of the Hancock County Co-op. Oil station in Klemme since his return from army service during World War II, has resigned his position and effective January 1st will be in partnership with his brother-in-law, Ronald Barz, in Ron's T V Service.

The concern will specialize in TV and Radio service work, but will also handle repair of all types of electrical appliciance and motors and will do wiring. They will move into the part of the Wiles Building formerly occupied by the Klemme Shoe Shop and that firm has gone out of business.

Kenneth Kluckhohn, who was the owner of the Klemme Shoe Shop, decided to close the business and has taken a position with the Hancock County Co-op Oil Co. here in Klemme. He will be second man at the station in place of Henry Kaduce who has moved into the managership job left open by the resignation of Harold Kothenbeutel.

Mr Kluckhohn has had some five years of station work, as he was employed by Carold Larson in what is now Don's D-X Service.

Mr Kaduce has been with the Hancock County Co-op Oil Co. for five years, having worked all that time in the local station. His knowledge of the workings of the business should make him well qualified for the position.

Our section of the state was lucky as far as the weather was concerned Sunday night and Monday. A good share of the state had freezing rain and considerable snow, but we have had none of either one. Highways have stayed normal here, while other sections of the state have had a rash of accidents due to slippery pavements. Hope we can remain that lucky throughout the winter.

The Christmas week end brought forth eight traffic fatalities in the state and boosted the year's traffic toll to 629; an all-time record. Officials express concern over the ever-mounting number of fatal accidents on our highways and say that in all probability some legislative action will be sought to cut down the appalling total.

We don't know just what they have in mind, but we'll wager that out of the next session of the state legislature will come a law limiting speeds on our highways. What the limits will be, we don't know, but we have heard talk of 60 by day and 50 by night, or possibly a 65 and 55 restriction. Either of these plans would be fast enough so that a driver could cover a lot of territory in a day's driving.

We have heard a lot of argument pro and con on the speed limit law, but in our opinion, about the silliest reason for not having a speed law is that it cannot be enforced. Naturally it cannot be 100 percent enforced. Neither can any other law. But, there are a lot of people, who will comply with laws, and some of those who don't will get caught and punished. Publication of their punishment will also act as a deterrent to those who feel the urge for excessive speed.

We don't think that speed is the whole answer to the traffic problem, but we do think that it will help some in cutting down both the number of accidents and the number of resulting fatalities.

In the past we have been pretty much a 70-mile-per-hour driver, but in the past couple of years, we have found that traffic often demands that the pace be slowed. If our lawmakers feel that a 60 or 65 speed limit will help cut down the accidents, we'll go along with them . . . and probably live longer.

Speaking of highways and driving . . . we had occasion to go to Mason City Tuesday noon. We had to take the pictures of Karen Netland and her Christmas gifts to the engravers to have cuts made in order that we might have the pictures in this week's issue of The Times. At any rate, on our return trip, we had an experience that gave us quite a kick.

As we came over the Garner viaduct, headed south, a late model Chevrolet with dual exhausts passed us. He definitely had the noisiest exhaust system that we have ever heard on a car. When he passed us, the windows in our car vibrated so hard that they actually rattled.

We figured that the lad had an illegal deal, but since he was cruising at about our speed we followed him on to the intersection west of Klemme. When we approached the Peace Reformed Church, we noticed a car pulled off the pavement, just into the church yard, with a couple of men engrossed in something under the hood. Apparently the driver ahead of me had a wild idea, for he eased up a bit before we got to the church and then just as he passed the parked car, he floor boarded his throttle. The resultant bellow, we are sure, could have been heard in his county, Polk, and the effect on those two men who were looking under the hood was violent and instantaneous. It's a wonder that one of them didn't break his head on the hood, getting out from under there, but they made it.

It really tickled us, but we figured that they had murder in their hearts for the guy making all the noise . . . just as some residents of Klemme would like to warm a good hickory switch on the backsides of some of the loud muffler enthusiasts around Klemme. They are neither pleasant to the ear or conducive to good sleeping.

Everything that we have read in the past months points toward 1955 as the biggest and best year in American history. The general concensus of opinion seems to be that there will be more of everything for everybody. We hope that the experts in economy know what they are talking about. We rather enjoyed ourselves in 1954, and if 1955 is going to be an even better year, we want to be a part of it.

If the year shapes up as most people in the know seem to think it will, we think that most everyone should have that prosperous and happy New Year that people all wish for one another as the old year bows out and the new year comes in.

Start The New Year Right—

Balance Your Books

Is this you sitting down lieisurely to catch up on your reading? It could be if you made a reading plan for the coming year.

* * *

Balance your books—the ones you read during the past year—before the new year gets a good start, suggests Buena Mockmore, Iowa State College child development family life specialist.

Think back to last year at this time. Was one of your New Year's resolutions to catch up on your reading during the year? How many of the books you resolved to read can you actually check off your list?

Maybe the reason you didn't get all the reading done you wanted to last year was because you didn't plan what you wanted to read and secure the books or pamphlets. Select the material when it's available. Then when you have a little time to fit your reading in, you'll be all set.

"Finding Time"

A big problem of most busy homemakers seems to be "finding" time to do the reading they want to do. No one ever "found" any extra time, Mrs Mockmore reminds us. She tells of a lesson taught by an old Latin teacher to whom a student offered the ragged excuse "I didn't have time". The teacher asked, "Didn't you have 24 hours in your day? I understood God was very fair about giving everyone the same amount of time." Our job is just one of dividing wisely the 24 hours.

Build a Plan

Making a plan is an important step in "finding time". Build a plan for your reading, suggests Mrs Mockmore. Don't just read haphazardly, picking up whatever happens to be close at hand when you sit down to read. Reading purposefully doesn't necessarily mean reading heavy, dull books. It can be reading for pleasure or reading because you want to learn more about something.

Read for enjoyment, but also read books and pamphlets that will have other values. They can help solve your problems and increase your efficiency around home.

To make your reading purposeful you might make a list of books you want to read this year. Obtain a few of them now—enough to start on. Then you'll have them on hand and ready to read when you have time.

Books Are Free

Books are free—you needn't buy them. You probably have a lending library in your town that loans books for about a 2-week period.

Don't overlook the Iowa State Traveling Library. You can borrow books from it by paying postage both ways (usually about 10 cents under special library book rates).

If there is a library in your town, you should request books there. If they don't have the particular book you want, they can get it from the traveling library for you. However, if you live in the country, you can write directly to the traveling library at the Historical Building in Des Moines.

On the other hand you may want to build a library of your own in your home. In this case, you'll want to buy some of the books you read. You'll find good book stores in many of the towns throughout the state. Or you might like to join a book club, where you buy books through the mail on a monthly plan.

Family Reading

In your plan for reading, sometimes select a book the whole family would enjoy. Read it together. Different ones might take turns reading aloud. You might set aside a few minutes after dinner or just before bedtime each evening.

If you can't seem to find time to get together to read aloud, family members might still read the same book, and have fun discussing it.

Pole Buildings Grow in Popularity in Midwest

Pole construction for farm buildings is growing in popularity with farmers in Iowa and the Midwest.

Ralph Hansen, extension agricultural engineer at Iowa State College, says the pole construction technique offers some advantages, but may have some disadvantages, too. In many cases, he points out, pole construction reduces the building cost because of some advantage in speed of construction and less expensive materials.

But inexperienced folks may find trouble in trying to build with the poles—particularly if they tackle some of the larger buildings. The long poles that are used in barns and larger buildings are tough to put up without equipment to handle them.

Pole construction is proving its merits, Hansen says. But he advises farmers to consider all the factors before they decide to us it.

That advice goes for any building problem, he adds, whether it is the type of construction or the plan for the building. The time spent in considering the alternatives and selecting the right plan is often the most important single factor in getting a building that does just the job you want.

Many a man thinks himself a big shot—until he is fired.

cian in the nation, to come to what was, medically speaking, still pretty much of a wilderness.

During Miss Smith's service as nurse for the pioneer doctors, she often spent all night making emergency calls and then showed up early in the forenoon in rustling whites to greet the office callers.

In those days, what with old-style cars and muddy roads (with recourse to horse and buggy and even horseback at times) it was a day's trip to get into the Upper Cowiche area. Doctors went out on calls at all hours. Miss Smith thought nothing at all of helping to reduce a hernia or take out an appendix on a rough kitchen table and then stay overnight to help the family learn pioneer home hospital routine. For herself she never did learn about such modern developments as the 40 hour week but she kept up with every development in the nursing field.

In recent years she has made her home in the country where she lived quietly as befitting her 85 years. She never thought, even when she was slaving away to meet the calls for her skilled professional aid, that she was doing more than her simple duty. She would be utterly amazed if she could hear the comment about her in medical and nursing circles toady.

Wonder if she'll be happy in heaven? There won't be a thing for her to do, unless perhaps St. Peter, out of the goodness of his heart, at times calls in all the baby angels for some of the TLC (tender loving care) that Miss Smith lavished on all her patients as a matter of course.

Treasurer Gives Tax Information

(By Roy L. McMillin)

Our tax lists have been changed and they are now set up according to the description of your land. We look for the section that your land is in. When you come in be sure you have your description, as to section, township, and range.

These tax receipts will be ready for collection after January 1st. Drainage assessments are not complete as yet and it will be some time after this till they are ready.

After January 1st or as soon as we get the drainage on the receipts we will be glad to give you a statement of your tax. Just drop us a post card and we will do this for you.

All taxes are due and payable after January 1st, they become delinquent April 1st on the first half. Second half is delinquent October 1st.

The new school districts or Community Schools as they are now called, put your tax in the new district and make your levy higher or lower as that new district shows.

Most of the tax in Hancock County shows an increase, unless you happen to be in a small area. Now they have taken on added lands and this may reduce the tax for this year.

HANCOCK COUNTY CO-OP. OIL ASS'N

Numbers of Cattle May Be Off in '55

Peak in Current Cycle Probably Came in 1954

The peak of the current cattle cycle probably came in 1954, according to Rex Beresford, extension animal husbandman at Iowa State College.

This means that numbers of cattle in the country may be slightly less on January 1, 1955, than they were a year ago. Beef cow numbers are not likely to show much decline, because cow slaughter has not been any more than the number of heifers kept for replacements — perhaps not as much.

If History Repeats

If history is repeated, the number of cattle will go down some more in 1955 so the total will be still lower by January 1, 1956. This comes after a steady increase from the low of 1949.

During the past year, the slaughter of cows increased 16 percent over 1953, and the slaughter of heifers increased 22 percent. Calf slaughter was up 8 percent.

Beresford says the cattle cycle seems to be following a normal course so far. However, continued acreage restrictions on cash crops may bring an early end to the downturn. This would follow if farmers keep more cattle in an attempt to maintain income and use additional forages. Relatively stable cattle prices and strong demand for beef will also be factors in this.

As Many On Feed

However, the prospects for cattle on feed January 1, 1955, indicate there will be about as many on feed as there were a year before—possibly a few more. Thus cattle slaughter should be about the same, in total, during 1955 as it was in 1954.

Beresford says farm economists believe the prices of slaughter cattle in 1955 will be about like prices in 1954. However, feed costs will be a little higher. Farmers paid more for the feeders this year. So their profits are likely to be lower than in 1954. The economists believe they will be a lot better than 2 years ago, however.

REVERSED

Lamoni won't spend $110,000 to extend and re-construct its water works, after all. The election for a bond issue was held last February and was believed to have carried by a thin margin. In district court recently, the ballots were re-counted and the bond issue declared to have lost, by three votes.

the Highway Story

By Bob Hullihan

A fatal traffic accident often takes on the aspects of a grim kind of spectator spor. Here's one highway patrolman's estimate of what happens.

The minute you get out on the highway and start directing traffic past an accident, people start to slow down and ask, "Is anybody killed or hurt?" If you say no, they drive on. If you say yes, you can't hold the crowd back.

Late one afternoon we had a fatal accident on a sharp curve. Two were killed and three injured. We were so busy with the injured that we didn't have a chance to keep traffic moving.

By the time we did all we could for the injured there must have been 100 people standing around watching. We had asked a couple of people to go either direction down the highway and set warning signals, but you're always worried about that driver who won't pay any attention to any kind of a road sign and just comes barreling right ahead.

Well, that was in my mind when I got back up on the highway and saw about 50 people standing along the outside edge of the curve, watching. They didn't seem to realize it, but they had just set themselves up to be mowed down if some wild driver should come around that curve and have to bank to the outside.

It would have taken some time to get all those people moving to their cars so we just moved the whole crowd straight across the highway to the inside of the curve.

And I'll swear, we hadn't got that crowd moved a minute before the driver we'd been afraid of came around the curve. He must have been doing 65 miles an hour because he slammed over to the outside of the curve like he was on the Indianapolis speedway. I was still standing there and I had to jump a barbed wire fence to get out of his way.

If you can't help—if you aren't needed—at an accident, don't stop, don't crowd around. It can be dangerous.

See Smaller Increase In Hog Numbers in '55

Lower hog prices and a less favorable corn-hog ratio will help slow down the increase in hog numbers in 1955, according to United States Department of Agriculture foficials.

Some increase is likely to continue into next year, however, although the drop in corn production for 1954 will also help hold it down. After 2 years of cutting back hog numbers, farmers increased their hog production in 1954. They had 12 percent more hogs on farms than they did in 1953. A 2 to 5 percent increase in next spring's farrowings was indicated this fall, the economists say.

Total hog slaughter in 1955 is expected to be about 5 million head more than in 1954. The total will remain well under the 87 million slaughtered in 1952, however. Early winter slaughter in 1955 is expected to be up slightly, but late winter and early spring slaughter should surpass the past spring by 10 to 15 percent. The rate of slaughter during early fall will probably not surpass 1954 by quite as large a percentage, they believe.

Your patronage this past year has been greatly appreciated..

THE FARM OUTLOOK

By Paul Henderson
County Extension Director

As hog slaughter drops off during the coming weeks, Francis A. Kutish, farm economist at Iowa State College expects some recovery in hog prices. The average price of barrows and gilts at Chicago for the second week of December was $17.51 per hundred. That's about $6 below last year at the same time.

Meanwhile, price discounts on heavy hogs are wider than a year ago. Prime 200 to 300 pound hogs will be in a stronger position than heavy butchers in the next few weeks, predicts Kutish.

However, this fall hog slaughter pattern has been different than the same period last year. Slaughter was up sharply in September. There were two reasons: the large increase in farrowing last January and February, and a rush of hogs to market to beat the fall drop.

Then during mid-October, farmers began to hold back their hogs. Thus November kill dropped below the same month in 1953. Some of the hogs that should have come in November were sold in October. Many that should have come to market in November came in December, heavier, on the average, than in 1953. Average weights during December are the heaviest since 1948 in some areas of the Corn Belt.

Turning to cattle, the slaughter pattern in 1954 was just opposite to 1953. One reason for the change of pattern, according to Kutish, was that 1953 cattle prices were falling sharply during the first few months of the year. So, farmers held stock back in hopes for better prices.

This year many farmers and ranchers marketed their cattle earlier because of drouth conditions, sending the slaughter numbers climbing during the summer months.

Slaughter of grass cattle has lagged this fall, because more cattle have moved into the feedlots. Besides that, many farmers in the Corn Belt have had less fed cattle to sell. Also, cow marketings have fallen off in the last 3 months. Because of this, Kutish says we have a relatively good cattle market now.
